FIRE DESTROYS CITY CAFE HERE

FLAMES ORIGINATED FROM STOVE IN KITCHEN IS BELIEF

Fire of undetermined origin which broke out in the rear end of the City Cafe on the north side of the square this morning about 1:30 completely gutted the building, and destroyed all the contents. The blaze, it is supposed, originated in the ceiling, catching from the cook stove in the kitchen, and when discovered had gained considerable headway. Several streams of water were played upon the building from both ends and the top, and the flames were confined to the one structure, although it was thought for a time it would be impossible to save the Earhart Motor Co., and Answorth Market No. 2, which adjoin the rear structure on the east and west respectively.

TWO ARRESTED 5 HOURS AFTER ROBBERING GARAGE

Police received an anonymous telephone call informing them of the location of an apartment where two men lay wounded. Their arrest followed.

CLEW FOUND IN FURNACE DEATH

CHEMIST SAYS WOMAN WAS DEAD BEFORE BODY ENTERED FURNACE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 21.—The first definite clew to substantiate the theory that Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, the clergyman's wife whose charred bones were found in the Lutheran parsonage furnace at Bexley, had not herself crawled into the fire box to commit suicide, is believed uncovered. C. H. Long, a chemist is understood to have gathered from an analysis of the burned remains of Mrs. Sheatsley's body that the woman was dead before her body entered the furnace. He has withheld his report pending the return here from Canton, of prosecutor King who has been the principal proponent of the theory that Mrs. Sheatsley was murdered, but it reported that a portion of the dead woman's esophagus seemed to show, upon examination that the ministers wife had not breathed after her head went into the furnace.

Long would neither affirm or deny this story, but if it is true, the body of Mrs. Sheatsley must have been crammed through the furnace door after death. This would leave two theories: 1. That she was murdered and that the murderer cremated the body to hide evidence of his crime, or that: 2. She committed suicide and that

MRS. WESS HYATT ACQUITTED AFTER BRIEF TRIAL

TWO DAIRYMEN FATALLY SHOT OVER MILK WAR

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 21.—John Perry, dairy employe and Antonio Silva, independent dairy man were shot fatally in a renewal of violence in the Elgin Bay milk war which was believed under control. The shooting took place Friday near Stockton, California when a band of dairymen attempted to stop two truck loads of milk enroute to Oakland for a parley with the drivers. A volley of shots from the armed guards was the answer to the request and the trucks sped on. At a late hour Friday the drivers of the trucks had not been found. Save for a few minor outbreaks of violence, the milk war between producers and consumers was believed under control.

DEMANDS ALCOHOL TAKEN WHEN HE WAS ARRESTED

FT. WORTH, Nov. 21.—Liberated from the county jail here Thursday without a trial after being held a prisoner for 170 days, W. P. Record demanded 16 gallons of alcohol taken from him when he was arrested. Record is minus both hands. According to authorities they were blown off in the explosion of a still several years ago in Dallas. Record declared he wanted the alcohol to make hair tonic, his only means of livelihood. Record gained considerable notoriety several years ago when arraigned before Federal Judge Atwell of Dallas, for violation of the liquor laws. Judge Atwell had sentenced him to 30 days in jail and was delivering a lecture with the sentence, when Record is alleged to have interrupted with: "Judge, if it's just the same to you, leave off the lecture and increase the jail sentence."

FAHY TO TAKE STAND TODAY

WILL ENDEAVOR TO PROVE HE WAS "GOAT" INSTEAD OF "BRAINS" OF DEAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Wm. J. Fahy, one time ace of Chicago postal inspectors who is being tried in federal court here charged with being the brains of the $2,000,000 mail train robbery at Rondout, Ill., last spring, will take the stand Saturday in an effort to prove that he is not the "brains" but the "goat." The government closed its case against Fahy, James Murray, the politician and bootlegger and Walter McComb late Friday with the testimony of Chief Inspector Charles H. Clarahan, of New York, who told a dramatic story of how Fahy had implicated himself to his superiors, in the robbery. Clarahan related how he had approached Fahy with a suggestion that his conduct had been open to question. He charged Fahy with associating with Mrs. Ernest Fontana, the wife of one of the alleged train robbers. "Yes," admitted Fahy, according to the inspector's testimony, "but I didn't meet her here until after this thing happened," the inspector testified that Fahy admitted having met Murray several times under suspicious circumstances, some times in hotel rooms under assumed names. "Why did you do this," the inspector asked. "I was working on the case," Fahy replied.

Again the inspector charged that Fahy had walked into three or four traps that had been laid for him. At one time he telephoned and reported a telegram that Clarahan had sent from New York. Fahy finally admitted doing this but declared that he had done it for a purpose. What he expected did not turn out as it hoped," he added. The inspector said that on this occasion, just before Fahy was placed under arrest, three other inspectors sent from New York and Washington were informed of Fahy's admissions, and that his badge, keys and commission were taken from him. One of the inspectors paused while removing Fahy's badge to ask him if he had secured any evidence on the Rondout robbery. The inspector testified that Fahy's voice faltered, and he replied that he had not. After the inspector's testimony the government rested its case. All but $500,000 of the $2,000,000 in currency and securities taken in the robbery had been recovered it was announced at the trial Friday.

ARMED GUARDS SEEK TO STOP FIRING OF KLAN HALL

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 21.—Armed with shotguns and pistols, Ku Klux Klansmen, working in layers, were guarding Beehoven Hall, Klan headquarters, here tonight following the third unsuccessful attempt to fire the hall. Several shots were fired at two men Wednesday night by W. Terry, watchman, when he surprised them as they attempted to set fire to the building with oil soaked cotton. Klan officials today disclosed that on two previous occasions the rear wall and one gallery had been found soaked with oil. Following closure on the destruction of the Fort Worth Klan hall two weeks ago by a mysterious fire, belief was expressed that an organized attempt to destroy all Klan halls in Texas was under way.

END CAME AFTER PROTRACTED AND PAINFUL ILLNESS, BURIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD MONDAY

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 21.—As the wires into Marion bring from all over the world messages of sympathy to the few remaining members of her family, the people of Marion are preparing to bury their most famous daughter, Florence Kling Harding, wife of the 29th president of the United States. The funeral of the former first lady of the land will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon when two clergymen of the town and a host of its citizens will pay Marion's final tribute to the lady beloved by all the community. Mrs. Harding's death came early Friday after a protracted and painful illness.

TRAGIC STORY ENDS IN DEATH

MRS. HARDING'S DEATH BRINGS END TO TRAGEDY IN HARDING CIRCLE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—With the death of Mrs. Florence Kling Harding the tragic story of the Harding circle comes to an end. Death, or misfortune, has come to almost every member of the group of intimates which went to Washington with Harding after his election just four years ago. Mrs. Harding had a premonition of what was to come, for about the time of the 1920 convention, when her husband seemed certain of being the next president she said to a friend: "Why anyone should want to be president during the next four years I cannot see. I can see but one word written over the head of my husband if he is elected and that word is 'tragedy.'"

Fought Through Troubles Mrs. Harding herself came near being the first victim when she became critically ill in the fall of 1922 and was practically given up by her doctors. But she fought through previous dangerous illnesses and by the following June was strong enough to start out on the Alaskan trip. She brought her husband back to be buried and many of her close friends then thought that this blow would be too much for her strength, but she survived. Then came the senate investigations, which while she spared the late president, drew a cloud over some of those closest to the Harding personal circle. Finally a few weeks ago, her physician, Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer died suddenly at his White Oaks farm in Marion where Mrs. Harding was resting. The Sawyers and the Hardings had been life-long friends. This series of tragedies slowly depressed Mrs. Harding though she fought them off with her courage and pluck. But her spirit as well as her frail body began to give under the strain. She weakened gradually for the last few weeks and finally, in a recurrence of her former kidney trouble, with other complications, she died.

Troubled in Early Life Her early life, as well as her life later, was shadowed by personal trouble. Her father, Amos Kling, the richest and most powerful man in Marion county, wanted a son to carry on his affairs. Instead he had a daughter. He trained her in business affairs and she in later years was circulation manager of the Marion Star. As she neared her twenties she married Henry De Wolfe, a dashing, captivating youth. But the marriage was an unhappy one and Mrs. Harding obtained a divorce soon after the birth of her only child, Marshall DeWolfe. He grew to manhood, and died of tuberculosis only a few years ago, leaving two children. Soon after Mrs. Harding's divorce

CALLES IS LEDGED SUPPORT LABOR IN MEXO

By United News.
JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 21.—Organized labor of Mexico Friday pledged its economic and physical support to the new cabinet to be presided over by president-elect Calles.

This action was taken by the convention of the Mexican confederation of labor, facing the receipt of reports that their revolution was brewing against the so-called workers government.

Informed by Rdo Trevino, general secretary of Confederation that arms and munition purchased by British capitalists in England and are to be shipped to Belice, British Honduras, for use of enemies of labor, were planning another revolution to overthrow the Calles regime.

Informed here terms purchased in England are used to British Honduras to be against the Mexican labor government. Urge upon you to have action raised in parliament and everything possible prevent return. Also inform Daily Herald, trade union congress.

Cramp and Swales fraternal delegates from the British labor movement, addressed the Mexican delegates, pledging themselves to do everything possible bring about recognition of Mexico's Great Britain. They said that the present "break" in diplomatic relations between the two countries was due to a misunderstanding, which they would try to clear on their return home.

"I promise on behalf of the British labor movement representing 4,500,000 unionists," said Swales, "our whole-hearted support and assistance to see that a peoples government of Mexico all have its due recognition."

The convention unanimously adopted a resolution calling upon President Obregon under the removal of the so-called "White Guards" on duty in strike zones in the oil fields. Pal Mendez, personal representative of government, Tejada, of Vera Cruz, condemned the "White Guards" as private troops of the oil companies being responsible for a "degenerated condition in the oil region."

MRS. LOVE BURIED HERE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Mrs. H. G. Love, who died at her family home here Wednesday night, were held Friday afternoon at three o'clock at the First Baptist church.

The deceased had been a member of that church for a number of years, and special mention of her faithfulness as a member of the congregation was made by the pastor, Rev. W. A. Bowers, who conducted the services.

One of the most impressive features of the service was the large floral offering which attested the high esteem in which Mrs. Love was held by her many friends here.

Her son, Ralph Lee, chief clerk for the American Railway Express company at Fort Worth, was here to attend the funeral.

A large procession accompanied the remains to the Lubbock cemetery where the final services were conducted.

The husband of the deceased has been identified with the business life of the city, and many friends in Lubbock realize the incalculable loss he has suffered, for well it is known that Mrs. Love though seriously afflicted with the malady that ended her life, was one of Lubbock's most influential women whose devotion to her husband and their home was shown in the patience with which she endured the suffering to which she was subjected during the last months of her life.

MORE THAN 8,000 BALES OF COTTON GINNED

(Special to The Morning Avalanche.)

LOCKNEY, Nov. 19.—The total ginning of cotton in Floyd county up to Wednesday night was more than 8,000 bales, with all the gins in the county running time and all gin yards with numbers of bales standing in wait for their turn. The gins in Lockney are running night and day, and possibly no more than a fourth of the crop has been ginned up to this time, as the most of the cotton is just now getting in shape to make good picking. Most all of the cotton in this section is opening, and there will be considerably less boll pulling, according to the size of the crop, than there has been for several years.

Floyd county has ginned more than 4,000 bales up to date, Joe Bailey gin about 700 and Lakeview gin around 650, and the gins here in Lockney about 2500, however the ginning season opened at Lockney about two weeks behind the south and eastern part of the county, and there is considerable more cotton in the fields in this section at present than in the sections where the ginning season started earlier.

Cotton sold on the streets of Lockney Wednesday for as much as 24c and many bales brought between 23 and 24 cents.

In all probability the gins will be running in Lockney until well after the first of the year, but with favorable weather the gins will have 24 hour service for a good many days yet.

9,987 Bales at Ralls.

(Special to the Avalanche.)

RALLS, Texas, Nov. 19.—Wednesday noon 9,987 bales of cotton had been ginned in the Ralls territory. The four Ralls gins had a total of 6,587 bales. Cone 2,950 and League Four 1,350. Seed was selling in Ralls at $20 a ton and cotton at from 20c to 24c per pound.

The cotton on the average this fall has perhaps averaged bringing $120 a bale, the seed $13.00 a bale making a total of $132.00 for every bale sold. Of course the gins and the pickers share in the receipts of the farmers but rough calculations place the amount of money turned over in the Ralls country to date on the cotton crop at $1,320,000.00. Think of it, nearly a million and a half dollars and the crop still moving in a big way.

Present estimates by those familiar with conditions place the crop in the Ralls country at 13,000 to 14,000 bales when the final whistle blows on this year's crop. If prices hold their own, and it now looks as though they would be raised, nearly $2,000,000 worth of cotton will be ginned in Ralls territory.

No wonder the merchants are selling silk pajamas, the automobile dealers fine cars and the grocery men extra fancy shows of sundry varieties. Even the Banner is selling a subscription now and then. Sure, business of all kinds is great just now in the Ralls country. King Cotton works wonders.

That new tunnel in the Andes of South America will be about 15,000 feet above sea level. It sounds more like an elevated railroad.

BROADWAY PROPERTY OWNERS AND PAVING CONTRACTORS WILL SETTLE DIFFERENCES IN 72ND DISTRICT COURT

Suits brought by J. S. Johnson, Claud B. Hurlbut, et al, against the Panhandle Construction Company, seeking to restrain the company from proceeding with the paving project on Broadway were set down for trial in the 72nd Judicial Court here Friday but were continued to Wednesday of next week.

Those involved in the cases are in hopes that all differences can be adjusted in such manner as to permit continuance of the paving project along that street which leads to the Texas Technological College, and is one of the two streets the steering committee for the Tech promised the locating board would be paved all the way from the business district to the edge of the Tech site.

In the opinion of those who have given the cases the closest attention, and who are familiar with all details connected with the procedure thus far taken, the matter is one that can be adjusted satisfactorily for all concerned providing a spirit of cooperation between both sides is brought into play.

The sewer ditches are being dug on Broadway at this time, the steam shovel equipment having been started at work on this street Friday morning from near the old paving on Avenue K, and while this work has no bearing whatever on the paving project other than it must be completed before the paving can be started, it is well that this work is being done to make way for immediate progress on the paving project, when the legal barriers that have served as fetters, restraining the contractors from carrying on their work along this street as doubtless would have been the case under other conditions.

The paving foundation crew and the brick layers are now at work on 13th street, but meantime the dirt is being moved off Main street on the two-block gap between the paving that was completed two weeks ago and the old paving, and the crews will move back to complete the two blocks on Main when they have completed work east on 13th street.

Keen interest is being shown in the trial of the cases that were continued Friday, and it is hoped that an agreement favorable to both parties to the suit will be reached.

WARE HOTEL IS TO BE GREATLY ENLARGED

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 21.—The Ware hotel in this city is to undergo considerable improvements. The interior of the building will be repainted, new furniture and rugs put in each room, and electric elevator will be installed, and it is possible that a fourth story will be added to the hotel.

This announcement was made by Francis Hart, this week, who will take charge of the hotel February 1st. Mr. Hart has been connected with the St. Angelus Hotel at San Angelo for five years and is an experienced hotel man. He is the son in law of R. C. Ware, who with J. N. Donohoe, owns the hotel.

J. A. Testman, who has had the hotel for eight or ten years, has not announced his plans.

Mr. Hart will leave Friday for Chicago to buy the new furnishings for the hotel. He says the hotel is crowded nearly all the time and that the fourth story is needed to take care of the increased business. The addition would give the hotel about 100 guest rooms.

ATTRACTING INDUSTRIES

Smaller communities have advantages when it comes to attracting new industries. Land is cheaper, taxes lower, overhead expenses less, and living conditions for the workers better.

These are some of the reasons why industries are seeking to get away from large centers of population.

This movement is made possible by improvements in power and light, transportation, communication and the public utilities services generally.

It is made definite for a given community by the extent and character of these services that are available there.

In this movement to take advantage of opportunities Lubbock is cooperating with the people here by supplying Light and Power that meets the needs of a growing community that expects to add more and more industries and business.

Sunday School Lesson

By REV. P. B. FITZGERALD, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Co. 121, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 23

THE TRANSFIGURATION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:28-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—This is my beloved Son; hear Him.—Luke 9:35.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Shows His Glory.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Beholding Christ's Glory.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Glory of Jesus Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Transfiguration a Preparation for the Cross.

While it is true that in this lesson the disciples are witnesses of Christ's glory, the full truth is that the manifestation of Christ in glory was to give to the discouraged disciples a foregleam of the Messianic Kingdom. The hopes of the disciples were crushed when Christ announced His death on the cross. They were unable to see how victory could issue from death. Jesus took with Him Peter, James and John and went into the mountain to pray. His chief aim in retirement was to get the disciples apart and into a state of receptivity so that He might show them the method of the kingdom. Before going to the mountain He declared that there were some standing in His presence who would not taste of death till they should see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom (Luke 9:27; Matt. 16:28). That their drooping spirits might be revived and their confidence restored, He is transfigured before them. Two men from the upper world are sent to converse with Him about His approaching death in Jerusalem (v. 31)—the very thing about which the disciples refused to talk. Then, too, God's own voice was heard in words of approval of Christ's course, directing them to hear the Master. Surely they cannot doubt His ability now to carry into execution His kingdom plans. The purpose, then, of the transfiguration is to give the disciples a foregleam of the coming kingdom, to enable them to see the kingdom in embryo. That this is true is not only shown by the context and circumstances, but by the inspired interpretation of one who was with Him and knew all that transpired (II Peter 1:16-19 R. V.). Note the outstanding feature of the kingdom as displayed in the transfiguration.

I. Jesus Christ the Glorified King on Mt. Zion (v. 29).
The glorified king on this mount was intended to symbolize the Messianic kingdom when Christ returns to the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem (Zech. 14:4-17). This is still in the future and will be literally fulfilled.

II. The Glorified Saints With Christ (v. 30-31).
(1) Moses, who was once deeded an entrance into Palestine, appears now in glory, representing the redeemed of the Lord who shall pass through death into the kingdom. Many thousands of the redeemed have fallen asleep and at the coming of the Lord shall be awakened to pass into the kingdom.

(2) Elijah, now glorified, represents the redeemed who shall pass into the kingdom through translation. Many shall be living upon the earth when the Lord shall come, and shall without dying be changed, and thus pass into the kingdom (I Cor. 15:50-53; I Thess. 4:14-18).

(3) They talk of the very thing which the disciples refused to believe, namely, the death of Christ.

III. Israel, in the Flesh, in Connection With the Kingdom, Represented by Peter, James and John (v. 28).
Israel shall be called from their hiding place among all nations of the earth and shall be gathered to Jesus Christ the King, as the central people in the kingdom (Zech. 2:11-17).

(1) Peter proposes to build three tabernacles (v. 33). The Feast of Tabernacles looked forward to the glorious reign of Christ. Peter caught a glimpse of the significance of the transfiguration. His proposition showed that he thought of the Feast of Tabernacles, and therefore of the Millennium.

(2) The divine voice (v. 35). At this time God Himself uttered His words, assuring them that this One in glory was His Son Jesus Christ.

IV. The Multitude at the Foot of the Mountain (v. 37-43).
This is representative of the nations which shall be brought into the kingdom which shall be established over Israel. See Isaiah 11:10-12. The people here were grievously oppressed by the devil. About the time of Christ's first coming, Jesus did his best to harness men. Just before Christ's coming again he will be especially active, for he knows that his time is short.

CONSCIENCE FUND IS SHOWING LARGE INCREASE

By CHARLES McCABE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The American conscience has been stirred by the "see small" voice with increasing frequency, and affect since the world war and since the income tax was imposed.
The Treasury Department, where money from repentant defrauders eventually finds its way, not for the moment suggesting that either one of three events had anything to do with the increase, merely points out to the mounting "Conscience Fund" total.
A dirty, wrinkled letter, postmarked Santa Cruz, California, yesterday brought $170 and increased the sum to approximately $580,000 since 1811 when a $5 note started the "fund."
The $100,000 increase of recent years gives rise to the belief that the war or the income tax amendment was the stimulus. However, it was believed these exigencies regarded as excellent opportunities to defraud the government, will be felt more as years go on the present generation reaches the "repentant age."
The thousands of unknown contributors, from every State and many foreign countries, have paid sums ranging from a two-cent postage stamp to $30,000.
A man writing from Illinois sent three stamps because "he believed when he was about 13 years old he had used two cancelled stamps on letters."
"In a special package I am sending you $30,000," one man wrote from an unpostmarked location. "This amount makes $80,000 which I have sent to the United States, or four times the amount I stole years ago."
An Indiana Civil War Veteran, many years after the war, when he was "old and feeble—about to die" sent $200 for a mule he said he had stolen during the conflict. Likewise, another veteran from Illinois sent money to pay for a saddle blanket he had purloined.
The money is turned over to the Internal Revenue Bureau where it is recorded as "revenue." It then goes to the Treasury Department general fund, to be used for all government purposes. The "Conscience Fund" itself is mythical, being merely the tabulation of the amounts received.
Many letters from persons unfamiliar with the procedure of the Treasury, suggests ways of spending the money.
"I think it should go to organized charities," one woman wrote. Most of the communications make this suggestion. The department assures the writers that the money is spent for the benefit of all.

MR. AND MRS. POLY TICKK WILL BE A GOOD PROGRAM

"Mrs. and Mr. Polly Ticks," a musical comedy depicting life in 1975 will be presented at the Lubbock high school auditorium Wednesday evening, November 26th.
Regardless of whether one is hard to please or of the more jolly nature, this play will offer an evening's entertainment that will not be easy to forget.
"Mrs. and Mr. Polly Ticks" will be presented under the auspices of the Business and Professional Woman's Club of Lubbock and is being directed by a highly paid and efficient player.
The expense to which the club has gone in making preparation for the presentation of this play should have some effect in stimulating interest in the entertainment and to say the least, the members of the club deserve the heartiest patronage of everyone.
The club is composed of the leading business and professional women of the city, and they have never asked the people of Lubbock to contribute to their organization in any manner, and on presenting this play they will see that one hundred per cent value is returned for the small admission price paid.
Seldom is such high class play presented here at the price of only 50 cents for general admission, and the club is to be complimented upon getting up such program as will be remembered.

Unless you see Mrs. and Mr. Polly Tick you will miss the big laugh of the season.
7,200 BALES WEIGHED IN TERRY COUNTY TO WED
(Special to the Avalanche).
BROWNFIELD, Nov. 19.—Up to Wednesday noon, 7,200 bales of cotton had been weighed in the Brownfield and Meadow yards, and the way cotton was rolling into this city, gin men were confident it would be one of the biggest days of the present season.
We had been under the impression that the cotton season was about over until we drove to See-graves last Saturday afternoon. When we found that a very small percent of the cotton patches showed evidence of being black. Most of them were "white until the harvest" and a very few "give evidence that a sack had ever been dragged through them. Folks there in lots of cotton to be picked in old Terry yet, at least on the Seagraves road.
Brownfield yard 5,275
Meadow yard 1,925
Total 7,200.

GERMANY HAMPERED BY HER TAXATION PROBLEMS

By CARL DEGROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Germany's experimentation with the turnover tax, is providing a tremendous dislodgement to speeding up the wheels of production which the nation seeks for accomplishment of the Dawes Plan.
The government, realizing that the 2-1/2 per cent tax is raising the cost of living and hampering export of German goods, pared down this tax to 2 per cent.
Now, however, the finance ministry has completed a thorough investigation, which led it to conclude that it would be well gradually to abandon this tax completely.
The ministry found, that the tax is being passed along many times multiplied to the ultimate consumer. This ultimate consumer is not only the home worker but also the foreigner wanted for export of German goods.
For instance, it was found that the turnover tax—as a result of passing through many middle men—resulted in levying about 9 per cent on the cost of a loaf of bread on the buyer. At the same time, there is an artificial increase in the price of beef, the selling price including about 6.4 per cent of tax passed on through various stages from the cattle grower to the beef eater. Textiles for the ultimate consumer bore more than a 7 per cent tax as a result of this hand-to-hand transfer of the tax burden.

The problem confronting the German government is in a word the following:
The workman's wages must be kept down as low as possible and at the same time his living costs must be on a low level, if Germany is to compete successfully on the world's markets and achieve an export surplus whose worth to meet the Dawes obligations. But under the turnover tax the cost of living has been, and still is mounting.
For this reason it is anticipated in most government and business quarters that the turnover tax will gradually disappear.
Incidentally the question of tax calculation is proving serious at the moment. The government has been compelled to permit postponement of tax payment by some of the hard-hit agrarians. And it was found necessary to extend this special privilege system to certain industrial and commercial undertakings. These were permitted to pay half of their so-called half-year taxes by the 8th
