Blood Stains in Furnace Basement Found Monday

NEW EVIDENCE OF POSSIBLE MURDER FOUND AS SHEATSLEY HOLDS TO SUICIDE THEORY

By the United News.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 24.—Blood stains found Monday in the basement of the Lutheran parsonage at Bexley have led Prosecutor John R. King to believe that Mrs. Addie Sheatsley may have been shot or battered to death.

New evidence and new theories in the mysterious death of the Lutheran pastor's wife, whose cremated body was found in the parsonage furnace a week ago, came in rapid succession as investigators conducted a thorough search of the Sheatsley basement.

Late Monday afternoon 15 cubic centimeters of blood were found on a fruit jar lid in the fruit compartment of the basement. During the day numerous stains, thought to be marks of blood, were discovered on doors and asbestos covered furnace pipes. These stains along with the bloody fruit jar lid have been sent to state chemists for examination.

Murder Theory Gains. Monday's disclosures at the parsonage convince me further that Mrs. Sheatsley was murdered. Prosecutor King declared Monday night.

I have felt all along that we should be directing our efforts toward looking for those who are criminally involved and now this work will be taken up in earnest.

Tuesday investigators will check the stories of several persons who called at the Sheatsley home the day of Mrs. Sheatsley's mysterious death.

This work has been interrupted by the revelations at the parsonage.

The Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, husband of the victim and his four children are expected to return from Canton on Wednesday and will then come before the prosecutor for a further investigation of their stories of the finding of the body and the events which led up to the discovery.

The Rev. Mr. Sheatsley's explanation of the bloodstains found Monday was that they "are undoubtedly rabbit blood." "I had been hunting and cleaned several rabbits in the house," the pastor said. "I am sure that the analysis will show the stains to be rabbit blood."

The minister reiterated this despite the new evidence, he was still inclined to believe that his wife took her own life.

Acid Bottle Found. Another development Monday was the finding of a half filled bottle of carbolic acid which was missing from the parsonage immediately after Mrs. Sheatsley's death. The bottle had been returned to its place on the bathroom shelf, where it was found in the search.

"This is a merely further proof of the absurdity of the theory that Mrs. Sheatsley committed suicide," King said.

Two live guinea pigs were sacrificed in the furnace which swallowed up Mrs. Sheatsley's body as pathologists began the first of a series of tests to determine whether the victim was dead or alive when she entered the fire box.

The reaction of the pigs to the hot fire was observed by the scientists who are also examining several charred organs from the body of Mrs. Sheatsley.

McAlister authorities Monday agreed to surrender d'Aumont to Muskogee police pending word from the Salem, Oregon, authorities regarding his identity. Federal postal inspectors have also taken up an investigation of his confession.

Declaring he had rather face a jury in Oregon, where he said he could prove an alibi which would exonerate him, than go to trial in Oklahoma for passing a "cold check" d'Aumont went so far as to attempt to inveigle a member of the McAlister police department with one of his yarns. He said he would confess to the Oregon robbery and thus give the McAlister officer a claim to $4,800 offered for his arrest provided the policeman would take up several worthless checks that the prisoner has put into circulation in the state. The officer refused to accept the proposition.

Monday a special court order released the fighter again. At the Little Church of the Flowers, in Glendale, McCoy broke down and sobbed bitterly. When he turned from the grave in Forest lawn cemetery his face was still wet with tears.

As his two guards ushered him quietly back into his cell McCoy was talking softly to himself. "She was my best friend," he was saying.

MYSTERY IN PASTOR'S WIFE'S DEATH IN FURNACE

DEATH FURNACE & SHEATSLEY FAMILY

Great mystery surrounds the finding of the charred body of Mrs. C. V. Sheatsley, wife of the pastor of a Columbus, Ohio, Lutheran church, in a burning furnace in the parsonage, the furnace door being closed. Dr. Sheatsley, at first charging murder, finally indicated his belief that his wife, stirred by religious fervor, purged herself of fancied sins through the ordeal of fire, as practiced by the ancients of Europe. He said knowledge she gained during eight months in India, when he did missionary work there, may have shown her the ability of human beings, through religious fanaticism, to make their bodies practically insensible to pain. A strange episode in the woman's death was the admission of her sixteen-year-old son, Clarence, that he saw his mother's body in the furnace, but said nothing about it until his father found the body. Above are shown Rev. and Mrs. Sheatsley and their children and the death furnace.

FARM BLOC HAS LIGHT PROGRAM

WILL CONFINE AIMS TO THE UNCONTESTED POINTS IN SHORT SESSION

By THOMAS L. STOKES. WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The farm bloc once considered a mild terror to the administration will keep step rather closely with President Coolidge in the coming short session of congress and will confine its aims to a few matters of agricultural legislation around which there is not a great difference of opinion. Its program, as outlined Monday by Senator Caper, its head, is in general accord with the ideas of President Coolidge and comprises:

1. Enactment of a joint resolution expressing the opinion of the house and senate that agricultural freight rates are unfair and asking the interstate commerce commission to establish a revision.

2. Adoption of one of the measures now pending which would put the government squarely behind the co-operative marketing efforts, but not by any financial aid.

3. Enactment of the froth-in-fabric bill which compels manufacturers to state the amount of wool in their products.

Capper does not expect much legislation at the short session, except the regular appropriation bills and has confined his aims to these measures as important and necessary. He is opposed to an extra session of congress and thinks that the new congress a year hence should go further with an agricultural program.

The people in my section of the country do not favor a continual session of congress," he said. "They think congress should settle down to business, do its work, and go home."

PLANES DO STUNTS AS BANDITS SCOOP-UP TEXAS BANK CASH

MINERAL WELLS, Texas

Nov. 24.—A whole fleet of airplanes can loop the loop, fly upside down all afternoon or do any number of trick stunts, but their antics will only make Texans in this vicinity keep a sharp eye to windward.

The whole town of Loving, near here, reaped up in amazement as a stunt plane did its stuff above the town Monday. Meanwhile, right under all those uplifted eyes, four bandits entered the State Bank, and cleared out its cash.

As soon as the bandits headed out of town, the plane whose antecedents nobody knows, sped away into the sky.

Labor contends that the insurance combination is "one of the most powerful single units in the financial obligatory in our land." And charges that the tremendous resources at the disposal of the insurance combine have been and are used in an attempt to crush organized labor.

FURTHER PUNITIVE ACTION IS PLANNED TO ENFORCE DEMANDS, EGYPT IS PREPARING PROTEST

By the United News.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Egyptian chamber of deputies has decided to send protests against the British ultimatum which followed the assassination of Sir Lee Stack to all countries of the world, and the League of Nations, according to a dispatch from Cairo to the Morning Post.

By CHARLES M. McCANN. LONDON, Nov. 24.—Despite further capitulations of the Egyptian government to the severe demands of Great Britain for reparation in connection with the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, Sir Dar of the Egyptian army and government's general of the Sudan, the initial hesitancy of Egypt has resulted in further punitive action and the end is not yet in sight.

Great Britain is moving naval and military units toward Egypt and with the seizure of the Alexandria customs as a "first measure," the punishment of Egypt for refusing immediate compliance to the British ultimatum has begun.

The warship Ben How has arrived at Alexandria. The battleship Iron Duke is steaming toward Alexandria and the Malaya is headed for Port Said.

The Cruza Cadaoc and two destroyers have been ordered to the Mediterranean entrance of the Suez Canal.

Further movements of troops to Egypt have been ordered by the British cabinet. The East Lancashire regiment at Malta, will embark for Egypt Wednesday. The border regiment at Malta, will follow soon after. The east Kent, now at Gibraltar, have been ordered to proceed to Egypt Saturday.

Indemnity is Paid. Egypt has paid the $2,500,000 indemnity demanded by Great Britain. A check of the amount was delivered to Lord Allenby, British high commissioner in Egypt, 15 minutes before noon, the dead line set for payment in the British Ultimatum of Sunday.

Egyptian troops stationed in the Sudan have begun a belated evacuation. The Egyptian government has expressed regret and promised to capture and to punish the Sir Dar's assassins.

Britain's demand relative to protection of foreign rights, irrigation in the Gezira district in the south, remuneration and pension for foreign officials of the Egyptian government and retention of certain officials to advise Egypt concerning finance have not been complied with. It is to enforce acceptance of these demands that Britain is bringing further military and naval pressure to bear upon Egypt.

Premier Baldwin hoped that the Egyptian crisis will pass with the formation of a cabinet by Ziviar Pasha who now is trying to complete a government. If Ziviar succeeds in forming a ministry of moderate it is authoritatively stated that he will have complete British support and that the present restrictions in Cairo will be relaxed.

Martial Law Not Intended. There is not important intention to impose martial law in Egypt. Great Britain realizes that the entire country is a tinderbox. Lord Allenby however is authorized to take Eugene T. Barnes, aged twenty-eight years, died at a local hospital at three o'clock Sunday morning as a result of injuries received when he was hit Monday at 11:15 o'clock Monday morning by a fast going Santa Fe passenger train.

Barnes' condition was realized by the attending physicians to be fatal when the first examination was made after he had been taken to the hospital, and the fight he made for life was marked by stout resistance against overwhelming injuries. A deep gash at the back of the head was fatal, while other painful injuries were received.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE ON PAVING

72 PER CENT STORM SEWER AND 15 PER CENT OF PAVING COMPLETE

With seventy per cent of the storm sewer contract completed and fifteen per cent of the paving finished, the Panhandle Construction Company has made good progress during recent days, and the big building program that means so much to Lubbock will doubtless be completed on schedule time.

H. N. Roberts, of the engineering firm of Hawley & Roberts, employed to look after the city's interest during the paving and storm sewerage work, stated Monday that property owners on business streets have made application for estimates on paving costs with the view of making arrangements to extend the paving program.

The cases that Broadway property owners have filed against the paving company will be heard in the 72nd Judicial District Court here Wednesday, and may have some effect in clarifying the situation with regard to starting work on that street again.

Efforts of the property owners committees to have the width of the paving on that street increased from forty to sixty feet are meeting with encouragement and concrete action on the proposition will doubtless follow the disposition of the court cases.

Selection of Jury In Forbes Bribery Case is Under Way

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The business of selecting a jury to determine whether or not Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States Veterans Bureau and John W. Thompson, a contractor, were guilty of defrauding the government and of accepting bribes in building veteran's hospitals got under way in federal court here Monday.

A panel of prospective jurors was called before the first day's session of the trial was adjourned.

Practically the entire day was spent in arguing the motion of the government attorneys to have the indictments against Forbes and Thompson united. It was argued that the indictments had come out of the same transactions. Federal Judge Geo. A. Carpenter denied this motion, however, and a technical victory was chalked up for the defense. One of the defense attorneys, Randolph Laughlin of St. Louis pointed out that there was no similarity between bribery and fraud, and that if the indictments were united an injustice would be done, the defendants.

BRITISH FORCES ARE MOBILIZING IN EGYPT

such measures as appear necessary. Suggestions of a party from French official sources, that a judgment of the Anglo-Egyptian trouble is a matter for the league and negotiations have been met with freerzing silence. Great Britain regards the present situation as a private fight and of strategic stations scattered among the seven seas which now are held by British troops or sailors. The Suez canal is on the route to India. Both of the canals are Egyptian. Because of that the British domination of Egypt is vital in the life of the empire.

Following the seizure of Egypt at the outbreak of the war in 1914, British troops deposed the Turkish Khedive and set up a protectorate under the leadership of former Premier Zaghul Pasha, who resigned office Sunday, Egyptian nationalists endeavored to gain independence for their country. A scheme finally was worked out whereby Egypt became independent. Independence became effective February 28, 1922.

Under the agreement, Great Britain reserved for future settlement the question of Egyptian defenses, security of communications, protection of foreign interests and minority and at last but most important, the determination of Egypt's rights in Sudan, where lie the headwaters of the Nile.

The Turkish Khedives, Egypt has gradually extended her influence in the Sudan until, in 1882, Egypt controlled that vast area. In that year, the fanatic Mahdi who claimed that he could not be killed, and seemed to rule it by his faith against the Egyptians, had a revolt that made him ruler of the Sudan. He was a tyrant. His successor the Kahlifa was even worse.

A British army helped Egypt turn the Kahlifa out in 1889 and Anglo-Egyptian agreement providing for joint rule of the Sudan and control of both Egyptian and British flags and the administration of the area by a governor-general appointed by Egypt and approved by Great Britain.

Troops Patrol Streets

CAIRO, Nov. 24.—British troops continue to patrol the streets of Cairo as a visible warning to angry Egyptians.

Outwardly the city is calm. The populace is impressed by the show of military force and despite its poverish state of mind has refrained from demonstrations.

British marines and sailors are guarding the customs house at Alexandria which is also quiet.

Canada Officially Advised

OTTAWA, Ont. Nov. 24.—An official communication from the British government dealing with the situation in Egypt as a result of the assassination of the Sidar was received by the Canadian government Monday afternoon, but the contents of the note were not revealed.

It is generally believed that the note was sent to ascertain Canada's attitude should the situation come to a crisis.

A number of Canadian officers who served during the World War have eabled the British war office offering their services should they be needed.

By LYLE WILSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Whether Great Britain will feel compelled actually to nullify independence, which has functioned indifferently since it was granted in 1922, or whether she will be content with thoroughly frightening the Egyptian people and retaining complete control of the whole Nile Valley thru occupation of Sudan, is not yet apparent. Whatever the intention the result will be the same. Great Britain must dominate Egypt. She will continue to do so until the British empire crumbles or new means of intra-empire communication and trade, such as that potentially of-

"HER EXCELLENCY" TO BE TITLE OF NEW GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Nov. 24.—It will be Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, "her excellency."

Ever since Texas, the cradle of democracy, chose Mrs. Ferguson to be its next governor, a curious and interested nation immediately concerned itself with what the woman governor's title would be. It would not have been proper Mrs. Ferguson argued to be referred to as Governor because, that term referred to something altogether different. And no one ever called her predecessors "Mister Governor" did they, she asked. The problem was solved Monday when elaborate, steel engraved invitations and dance programs were completed and ready to be sent out for "Ma's" inaugural ball on January 20. They referred to her as "Her Excellency."

Overflow crowds and dancers will be taken care of in the ball rooms of the two leading hotels here, according to tentative plans for the monster celebration at the seating of the state's first woman governor.

A resolution passed at the state meeting of the Baptists at that time which provided that the state buildings be denied to the governor-elect for her reception, will be ignored in planning the blow-out, ac-

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 24.—The establishment of the board of pardons will be one of the first acts of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, governor-elect of Texas, when she assumes office, according to her husband, James E. Ferguson, now on a tour of the prison farms of the state.

Assurance that the board of pardons would again become effective in the coming administration was made by Ferguson before a group of Mexican convicts at Blue Ridge farm Sunday afternoon. He assured the Mexican prisoners that all requests would receive consideration, and that pardons would be granted to those deemed worthy of them.

Governor Neff has issued but two pardons during his tenure of office.

RED CROSS CHAPTER TO CONTINUE DRIVE FOR FUNDS UNTIL AMOUNT NEED FOR YEARS' PROGRAM HAS BEEN SECURED

Due to the fact that many Lubbock business men have not been given an opportunity to contribute to the Red Cross fund, the campaign will be continued for an indefinite length of time, it was announced Monday.

Contributions to the Red Cross have been equally as liberal this year as during other drives, but the number of contributors does not represent nearly all the business men of the city, and the amount donated will not take care of the work for another year.

Those who assisted the Red Cross by working on the canvassing teams that went from business to business seeking donations found many of the heads of the businesses too busy to be interrupted who would doubtless contribute liberally to the fund, and because they do not wait for an interview they are not able to work in other businesses.

Several business men who had intended to contribute to the fund through solicitors have taken their checks to the Red Cross office because they realized the work that was ahead of those soliciting and understood why it was possible for them to be passed by without being asked to contribute.

Due to the fact that the Red Cross is going to be depended upon to look after the charity problems of Lubbock to a large extent during the next year, it is necessary that the amount of money provided for this year be in excess of the amount available during the past year, and those who wish to relieve themselves of contributing to, or refusing to contribute to those seeking aid by personal appeal to the public by referring them to the Red Cross are asked to help the organization carry on.

The good women of Lubbock and the various communities in the county have exhibited a fine spirit of helpfulness toward the organization and it has been through their efforts that a large part of the money that has already been placed at the disposal of the organization was donated.

The businessmen of Lubbock, many of them at least, have given unselfishly of their time to aid the local chapter of the American Red Cross, and in several instances those who gave most of their time to the campaign also topped the list among large contributors.

Labor Chief Breaks As Ladies Present Approval of Work

By United News. EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 24.—Samuel Gompers, leader of organized labor for more than 40 years was completely overcome and slumped into his chair with his hands covering his tear stained eyes, when the International Ladies Garment Workers union presented to the American Federation of Labor president a life sized bust of the "grand old man of labor" in recognition of his faithful service to the cause of labor.

After several feeble efforts the 74 year old labor veteran arose and with a voice trembling with emotion, thanked the garment workers and declared that he wanted to "live on, if only for one thing alone—to leave a better labor movement in America, and in the whole world, than when I entered as a boy the field of human struggle for better and for right."

Complete silence reigned as the aged labor chief struggled on with tears trickling down his cheeks, "I owe much to the great rank and file for the many opportunities of service that have been presented to me," he said. "I have tried to give my best. I knew if I could not help the men and women who yearned for a better life, by all that is holy, I would not harm them," Gompers said.

"I would rather see the American laborer put $1 in the pay envelope at the end of the week, and cut an hour from his day of toil than cast votes once in every four years."

"After all, the great aim of labor is progress, economics more than political. Hungry stomachs may create a riot, but never a successful revolution."

"I know of no other way to show my appreciation, and gratitude to you men, and women than to give the best service that I can without sparing myself no matter what the cost may be."

Truth is not only stranger than fiction, but also it is a stranger to some people.

"Are women qualified for places of authority?" queried an editor. Ask dad; he knows.

APPROVAL MILITARY TRAINING VOTED BY LABOR

By United News. EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 24.—Organized labor of America declared for preparedness Monday when the convention of the American Federation of Labor endorsed the citizens military training camps.

The federation will also become a recruiting arm of the government in the promoting of these camps, as long as they are not conducted so as to "incite the spirit of militarism or tend toward the exultation and glorification of war."

The executive council was empowered to appoint three civilian aides to the secretary of war at large and one civilian aide in each of the 48 states, to co-operate with the government in recruiting candidates from the ranks of labor.

"Pacifism in any form is obnoxious," said the declaration approved by the convention. "We are in agreement with the purpose of simply aid fully safeguarding our nation and its people, and democratic institutions against any and all invasions."

The American Federation of Labor and the Mexican Confederation of Labor are the only large organizations of labor in the world that have declared for preparedness. All European movements including the international federation of trades unions, with which they are affiliated, have adopted a pacifist attitude, announcing their intention to call a general strike in event of a new world war.

Other resolutions adopted were: Disapproved a ship subsidy but urged maintenance of an American merchant marine.

Urged Governor Richardson of California to give Thomas J. Mooney an unconditional pardon.

Demanded new trials for Sacco and Vanzetti, labor leaders, imprisoned in Massachusetts for murder.

Authorized investigation of United States passport system looking to greater freedom of international travel.

Asked full citizenship with self-government for people of District of Columbia.

POLITICAL DIFFERENCES CAUSES MEN TO FIGHT

By International News Service. BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Nov. 24. Possibly in search of more business, Jess Warren, local undertaker, staged a fight with Mayor T. B. Riddell, a knife being drawn, and several shots fired during the fracas.

The mayor was making a speech at the Lions Club when he made reference to a political matter. Warren leaped to his feet and challenged the statement. Heated words followed and when Warren hurled a missile at the mayor, the latter dodged and drew out a long, murderous looking knife. Warren drew a pistol and fired twice.

The affair was a frame-up for fun at the Lions Club, but was so realistically staged that those not on the "inside" stamped.

Another great danger a woman faces is she is always likely to fall in love with some man who has a mustache.

SEEKING REFORM THROUGH LAWS

The State Federation of Women's Clubs in session at Amarillo made the same mistake of seeking reform through enactment of laws. The public is told through the press of the State that the State convention went on record as favoring more stringent laws regarding pistol toting. This is just an instance which impresses forcibly the fact that reforms are not obtained in the way of the law. There is not a criminal in Texas today who has not in his or her possession a pistol. There is not a person in Texas contemplating a criminal act who cannot get a pistol within the next half hour. And this despite the fact that Texas has more stringent laws against the carrying of a pistol and the sale of a pistol than any other state. Texas also has a greater number of homicides than any other state, population considered—and the carrying of pistols is not the cause. If the women of Texas want to discover the real cause of the disregard of laws in this state they may well look for it in the homes of the State; and among the mothers of the state. They may search out those homes where the mother spends hours every week with her daughters and her sons and her Bible—they will not find many such homes producing the criminals of Texas.—The Commercial World.

There is no mistake in the fact that the home training is one of the neglected things of this life at this time, and while the women's clubs of today are doing a great deal of good, but at the same time we are of the opinion that they are causing neglect of the home in many instances, and the children are turned over to others to look after or left to themselves, and in this way are very apt to form habits, and get into trouble that otherwise would not be possible.

The home life counts. A wise proverb has said that if you train up a child in the way it should go, when it grows old it will not depart from it.

Many of the laws are good, and the country could hardly get along without them, but the trouble seems to be that we permit things to go from bad to worse and end disastrously to many. Begin the work at home.

We doubt the wisdom of the law against the sale of pistols, for there seems to be plenty of shooting irons available when there is any trouble in the community, and when there is any suspicion that there is to be trouble between any two or a group of men.

The failure on the part of the men and women of the community to administer justice to those who commit crime is another one of the things that stands in the way of reform. When hard criminals are turned loose on the people, and when those who are accused of minor crime are given punishment out of line of the crime, there will be more disregard for the laws and if the men and women of the community will do their duty along this line they will not be such a great need for the making of new laws and there will be less crime in the country.

PLANT A TREE.

The South Plains country is settling rapidly. Thousands of people are coming to the South Plains. New farms are being opened by the hundreds. Thousands of new homes are being built. There is no native growth trees in this country. It is bare—with the exception of the heavy coat of grass that covers the entire face of the earth, and the new homes—the fence posts, and the windmill towers.

This condition was slightly changed by the first settlers of this country. Nearly every old settled place shows that there had been planted groves of shade trees and some orchards in this part of the country—this helped and was a great relief to the people as they looked across the broad prairie to see dotted here and there clumps of trees.

The trees planted then were mostly for shade and ornamental purposes. Some of the trees in the court yard are still there that were planted when the court house was built—the old court-house. As the years have rolled by, and time has tested out the climate, and the conditions and the adaptability of the various woods and shrubs, it has been found that the best fruit in this section—by best we mean the most certain crop is the cherry and the grape—these two are almost certain, while the apple, under proper care, will yield most every year, and the wiser heads have decided that the best plan is to plant a tree that will make fruit as well as shade, and we find that the apricot tree is a very fine shade tree, and bears fruit occasionally and along with it the cherry, the apple and the peach. And the very latest discovery is that the pecan tree will grow splendidly in this section, and will yield fruit within a few years after being planted from the nut itself. These trees are of very long life, and are a bout as healthy and free from disease as any of the trees. The pecan tree we are sure could be grown in great abundance here for the fruit that they will produce, and should be one of the foremost trees of the country. If you have a new place in the city, or beginning a new home on the farm, just as well plant pecan trees and in a few years they will bring you a good revenue year by year.

Plant trees. The tree less plains will be no more, but will be a beautiful plain dotted with fine trees and shade and rich in fruit.

Cotton is fine, grain crops are good, and the watermelon industry will be wonderful, the peanut and truck business will be colossal, but the pecan business may some day be the most profitable of all, and the sooner we plant them, and the more we plant the richer we will be and the more pleasant.

WE TOLD YOU SO.

You have heard that before. Some fellow that wants to give himself glory is always popping up and claiming that he told you this and that, and many other things; some times something that they had never even thought of, but you will readily remember that we have on various occasions, and in many different ways, warned the people about crossing railroads without looking for the train.

This is very forcibly brought to mind by the recent accident that caused the death of one of our citizens. It is indeed sad and very regrettable that this accident happened. It takes from the community a good citizen, it takes some man and woman's son. It takes away the provider for a wife and child, all because of the failure to look for the oncoming train. This man was no more careless than hundreds of other men and women are. Every day people are flirting with death and the undertaker in this way, and the sum total of the accidents that occur and the number of deaths in a year amount to big figures.

The same might be said of many of the other foolish things that are done by people during the year. They take many chances on the street and at the street crossings rushing pell mell across without looking to see if some other car is coming. When people, who are walking, are often equally as careless. They start across the street without looking to see if a car is approaching, and go with their head down looking neither to the right or the left and endanger their lives in that way.

In a busy city like Lubbock people should keep their eyes open while driving a car or crossing the streets in any way, for there is always a chance that you will not be able to get across without some accident.

Safety first is one of the biggest and most far-reaching slogans that has ever been put out, and the Santa Fe Railway Company has saved many thousands of dollars, possibly a million dollars, by preaching this warning to the employees of the company.

We told you so may not sound good, but you will have to admit that you have been repeatedly warned against the very things that people are being killed for most every day in the United States.

OUR DUTY TOWARD NEAR EAST ORPHANS

It's no great luck to be an orphan in an orphanage.

The only thing to be said for it is that it's better luck than to be an orphan who hasn't even an orphanage to take care of him.

But the worst luck of all would be to be an orphan who had been in an orphanage and had been turned out. If the heart of such a child were filled with everlasting hate against the world, nobody would have any right to blame him; in fact, the world on that score would be getting just what's coming to it. True enough, nobody signs a contract with an orphan taken into an orphanage; that he is going to be kept there until he is grown. But there is one who has repeatedly announced that He is a Father to the fatherless, and anybody who stirred up an orphan's hope to believe in love and care and then disappointed that hope would certainly have to reckon with Him.

These are thoughts that creep into one's mind when the Near East Relief is heard asking for gifts on Golden Rule Sunday, December 7, to continue a living provision for the tens of thousands of fatherless and motherless Armenian boys and girls whom its workers are caring for in Palestine, Syria, Greece and the Arrat country—all Bible lands.

There is no danger of the Near East Organization shirking its duty to any of these helpless charges. Its will is definite and strong to shelter, feed, educate, train, every one of these children till they reach the age of proper adult self-support.

But that's something that can't be done without money. If there's failure and short coming in the task, it will only be because money is lacking. And that blame would come back straight to us Americans if we didn't give. The curse of orphans would be on us.

But this town of ours—we know it well enough to be sure no such curse is going to rest here. Whoever fails, our people won't. December 7, puts that much up to us.

CHAPLIN WEDDING IS BELIEVED CERTAIN DESPITE DENIAL

By H. O. THOMPSON.
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24.—Charles Chaplin seems fond of surrounding himself with an air of mystery. Particularly in his romances, of which there have been many, Chaplin likes to do the unusual in highly picturesque fashion.

Hollywood believes that the actor who became famous with baggy trousers and a twitching canny, is going to marry Lita Grey. They have been together in cafes, at parties, among the movie crowd and only last Saturday Chaplin felt called upon to deny rumors of a wedding engagement with his young and pretty leading lady.

But despite the denials which, once started, came voluminously studio folk nudge each other with an air of sagacity and say, "Well I guess he is going to do it this time."

The last heard from the couple late Monday placed them both in the vicinity of Guaymas, Mexico. Chaplin was speeding southward from Nogales, Arizona, and Miss Grey was waiting.

Charlie's adventures in love have been cloaked in secrecy. The screen fun maker married Mildred Harris, October 17, 1918, and no one knew about it for several weeks. When they separated Chaplin denied any engagement until their divorce case appeared suddenly on court calendars.

May Collins was believed engaged to Chaplin at one time. Then came Charlie's offer of $7,000 reward for the finding of Claire Windsor after she had been "lost" in the Hollywood hills. Talk of a love affair immediately spread until Lita Lee was brought forward in 1922 as another Chaplin fiancee.

Pola Negri flamed into Charlie's life as a lovely vision that overshadowed all else for three months. They became engaged, the wedding date was set. Then something, no one ever knew just what, threw the romance harshly into the discard.

Estelle Taylor, Peggy Joyce and others were linked to Charlie's name. Lita Grey was picked as Chaplin's new leading lady and rumors of an engagement circulated widely about Hollywood.

Miss Grey chose a quaint method of denying any marital plan when last asked it here. "Why yes, we go about together a good deal," she said. "But I guess everybody goes out a good deal with his leading lady."

BARBER USES CHAIR FOR COMB ON UNRULY PATRON

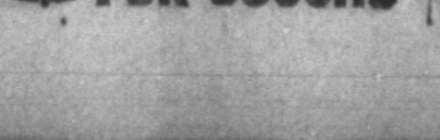

International News Service.
FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 24.—It is a time-honored custom for barbers to use a comb in parting their customers' hair, but C. B. Holder, proprietor of a local barber shop, used a chair on the hirsute adornments of E. M. Sanderson, with disastrous results.

Sanderson, owner of a small grocery store, became abusive on entering the shop, and in argument that followed received a nip "snack" on the head from a chair in the hands of Holder.

Old-Time Cough Remedy—Pine Tar and Honey—Still Best

According to specialists, there is really nothing better, quicker-acting for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and throat irritation than good old pine tar and honey. No matter whether the cough is dry and tight, or hoarse with much mucus, the pine tar quickly aids in the removal of the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, also relieves soreness, while the honey both soothes irritation and gives a pleasant taste.

The original compound, which has been used in thousands of families for many years, is Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It has many imitators, but still remains the best, as it is scientifically compounded of just the right proportion of pine tar, honey and other healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in giving quick relief. It contains absolutely no narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to young and old alike. If you want the best, be sure you get the original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and no other. Only 50c at any good druggist.

Young Bride Dies From Injuries In Gangster Assault

By United News.
CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The bride of Frank L. Palmero died in a hospital here Monday from injuries she received at the hands of gangsters who kidnaped her from her sweetheart and assaulted her several weeks ago.

Mrs. Palmero was married as she lay in her hospital bed the day following the assault. It was first thought she would recover, and Palmero spent the most of his time preparing a dainty honeymoon apartment on the Northside.

Physicians, however, called the young husband to the bedside of his wife Monday, and he held her hands tightly while she died looking into his eyes.

Several weeks ago Palmero and his sweetheart were driving in his automobile. Gangsters attacked them. Palmero was knocked unconscious. His sweetheart was taken to a prairie and assaulted. Two hours later she was found and removed to a hospital in a critical condition.

When the detective department learned of her death Monday, orders were given to "get" the gangsters dead or alive.

VICENTINI TO MEET TERRIS FOR LIGHT WEIGHT CROWN

By Westbrook Pegler
 NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Vicentini, the last of the horde of South American tangle ranchers, who swept down upon the rights of the United States about 18 months ago, swinging latin leather at native chins, will go into the ring Wednesday night, and with him will go the last hope of the land below the Isthmus.

Luis has a date to fight Sid Terris, a New York boy, who used to beat up his friends here, as an amateur, in church basements and club gyms around New York, but who now charges high fees for the same favors. The match is to be 12 rounds to a decision at the light-weight limit, Madison Square, the scene of Cicentini's debut, is to be the battle sight and Luis Vicentini's finish is not unlikely to be the outcome.

Vicentini came to New York with his easter egg ring shoes and a very earnest right mitt to fight for the honor of his native Chile and any little incidental emoluments that he might incur, provided, of course, that they weren't too little. He was inspired by the example of Luis Angel Firpo, the world's worst boxer, who had invaded the land which boasted that its boxers were the best on earth, and had picked up a quarter of a million dollars in preliminary profits.

It was great then to be a South American prize fighter in New York. One's countrymen far away in the hills would drop their hoses and kindred gardening nibblacks in the tortilla groves, and make long pilgrimages to town to welcome one back home as a conqueror.

So Luis Vicentini came to New York. He was the same primitive sort of boxer that Firpo was. When he crowded his eyes or turned his back and flapped his gloves as though brushing away mosquitoes. But when his right hand landed, the patronage ran for the exits. He was the Firpo of the lightweight class and his red shoes, the like of which had never been seen outside of the Folies, entitled him to an extra five per cent of the gate receipts, for they made the customers laugh.

HEYDLER LIKELY TO HOLD JOB DESPITE GIANT FEELING

By United News
 NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Although he accidentally romped on a few influential bunnions when the recent Giants' bribery case was being hushed up before the world series, John Heydler, president of the National League, probably will hold his job for another year. Heydler is up for re-election at the annual meeting of the league here on December 2.

The Giants are understood to be cool toward Heydler because he turned the Dolan-O'Connell-Sands bribery case over to Judge Landis as soon as the matter was reported to him, without saying anything about the matter to Charley Stoneham, chief owner of the Giants. Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, wanted to investigate several other shady occurrences in the National League, while the Giants scandal was in the air, but was hushed up so rudely that he quit the world series in Washington after the first game and returned to Pittsburgh.

The six other national league clubs, however, are believed to favor Heydler as president. He has always been a harmless executive with no very aggressive ideas, and his public pronouncements have been rubber stamp copies of all the innocuous bromides concerning the national game and the good of the sport.

LONDONERS OVERCOME AS WELLS WINS BOUT

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Londoners dropped and smashed approximately two million teacups in their astonishment Monday afternoon upon hearing that Bombadier Wells, the most knocked-out fighter in the world, had won a fight and by a knockout, at that.

For a decade Great Britain has been seeking a fighter worse than Wells. Joe Beckett was pretty terrible and showed promise of becoming worse than the horizontal Bomby, but Wells lost easily to Beckett.

Since that time no fighter appeared who could even challenge Wells for teh horizontal championship—until Guardsman Penwill flopped into public view Monday afternoon. The guardsman, a magnificent tumbler, went down and out in the second round and the resultant crash of dropped teacups was reminiscent of an old fashioned Zeppelin raid upon the metropolis.

TENDLER WINS EVERY ROUND FROM LIBBY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—Lew Tendler punched his way to a clear cut decision over Joe Libby, the dusky south Philadelphia, in the 10-round wind-up of an all-star show at the armory Monday night.

Tendler won every round by a good margin and did everything except knock out Libby, who was badly marked at the end of the fight.

The verdict of the judges was unanimous.

New Rule Throws Boxing Tournney Into Big Muddle

By United News
 NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The New York boxing commission has laid aside the crown and sceptre of majestic authority again and resumed its alternate symbols, the cap and bells. Also, the managers of the boxers who were successful in the first round of the featherweight elimination tournament are considering requests from Cleveland, Philadelphia, Boston and Waterbury, Conn., that the remaining matches of the tournament be waged in one of these cities.

Under the original rules of the tournament, written by the commission's own lawyers, all defeated boxers were to be eliminated from the round. Mike Dundee, Bobby Garcia, and Lew Paluso were defeated in the first matches. Then the commission decided that Dundee and Garcia should be given another chance and permitted to remain in the tournament. Under the terms of the draw Dundee and Garcia might draw a bye in the next two pairings and bob up in the final and championship match.

Kid Klapan, Danny Kramer and Jose Lombardo, the fighters who won their matches in the opening rounds of the series probably will refuse to go on with the tournament if the commission insists on this new rule. The commission meets again Tuesday and may reverse itself, which is one of its fondest practices.

WHIRLWINDS TO LOSE 7 FOOTBALL MEN THIS YEAR

FLOYDADA, Texas, Nov. 24.—With the close of the football season approaching, Coach J. C. Wester of Floydada high school, whose boys made a strong bid for championship honors in Conference B of District 2, has begun figuring on the team for next year, and in doing so must figure on losing seven of his first string men of this year, whose places will be difficult to fill.

Of the seven he loses Henry, who has been the leader of the team this term and is captain, goes out by graduation and four years of play, with an unusual record. He has been out of only one game in the entire period, having been injured this year in play against Spur and being out of the post game. He is one of the hardest tacklers F. H. S. ever produced and his football strategy was always good. He played end nearly all of his high school football career, although he has been in the backfield most of this season. Daily, at the other end of the line, also goes out, and the coach will lose one of the best catch-passers in the conference. This season he has been called back to do the passing most of the time, but heretofore he usually played on the receiving end. He always has his eye on the ball and is most dangerous when his opponent fumbles.

Luttrall goes out on the four-year playing limit. He is a fighting lineman who has played at center most of this season and has distinguished himself throughout his career with the Green and White.

These three have furnished the nucleus around which this year's team has been built of first and second year men, and if the school could hold all of the new men trained this season the problem would not be so difficult. But King, who has been a bear in the line, Jameson also a consistent lineman and E. Carter and Vernon Abbott, fast backfield men, also are expected to graduate.

From present indications it appears that Green will go in as quarter and field general for the Green and white next term and that Cates and Pierce are almost sure for berths on right and left ends.

WALKER AGAIN TALKING BOUT WITH DAVE SHADE

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion of the world, has returned to the New York boxing commission and the fight customers. He is now negotiating with Tex Richard for a fight with Dave Shade of California, which makes about the 20th time that Walker has talked terms for a match with Shade. However, as usual, Walker will demand that he first be given permission to be engaged in one warm-up match before meeting Shade and this match probably will be one with Mickey McGuire, the light heavyweight champion, under the New Jersey rules, which permit no decision.

Price of marriage licenses has been doubled in Brazil just like all other things in demand.

S. M. U. BAYLOR POST SEASON GAME SEEMS TO BE CERTAIN

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 24.—If Baylor and S. M. U. finish their season, still tied, then football fans over the state may have a chance to witness a real championship battle. In case of undefeated seasons, both S. M. U. and Baylor intend claiming the championship but if athletic authorities of the two schools can get together and reach an amicable agreement then the matter will be fought out either in Dallas or at Waco, sometime early in December.

Under the existing rules of the conference, post-season games, between conference members are prohibited, but faculty members of the Methodist have informed Baylor athletic authorities that they will be willing to play a post-season game in case both teams come through the season undefeated. This was learned when Dr. Russell McIntosh, faculty chairman of athletics of S. M. U., wired Dr. S. P. Brooks of Baylor, proposing the post-season game.

Despite the fact that S. M. U. has three ties, and only two victories, possibly three victories after the Thanksgiving games, they intend to make the conference stand by the rule. Baylor, with only one tie, and three decisive victories, is equally determined to claim the championship over the Methodists, based on the precedent established last year, when the Mustangs were awarded the victory over Texas University in a similar case.

Since such an award would probably cause much argument and bad feeling, the conference will in all probability, not give either one the title, so if a post-season game could be arranged between the two, it would satisfy everybody concerned, in case neither meets defeat in their last game of the season, Thanksgiving Day.

It will take a vote of the entire conference to set aside this rule during post-season games, but only five affirmative votes are needed to carry the proposal. With S. M. U. and Baylor agreeing, then T. C. U., Texas A. and M., and either Arkansas or Oklahoma A. and M. are expected to vote in favor of putting aside the rule, according to S. M. U. authorities.

In 1921, Texas A. and M. was aided by S. M. U. in setting aside the rule, so that they might play Centre College. They are expected to return the favor, in case Baylor agrees. Both Johnny Maultsach of Oklahoma A. and M. and Francis Schmidt of Arkansas, have expressed themselves in favor of a playoff in case of a disputed championship.

Pete Wright, although not a voter in the conference, is director of athletics at T. C. U., and is highly in favor of the plan. He expressed the opinion that such games were for the best interests of the sport, for there would not be any quarreling throughout the next season as to "who was who."

It is rumored in Dallas that in case Baylor does not agree to play off the game, then S. M. U. will put a resolution before the conference that teams tied for first place be compelled to play for the championship in a post-season game. According to well informed authorities, enough votes are assured to carry the resolution.

Interest in the conference race is now turned toward the Baylor-Rice and S. M. U.-Oklahoma A. and M. games Thanksgiving Day, and if both teams come through with a victory, then the state interests will be focused on the Southwestern Athletic Conference, at their annual session December 6th.

Bridges, Baylor coach, left the impression that the Mustangs would be willing to play the Rice game if they win from Rice. To quote from his telegram: "Baylor must first defeat Rice—then it will be time enough to talk. That's Baylor's job now."

Yale Hoots Idea Postponing Game For Bad Weather

By United News
 NEW HAVEN, Nov. 24.—Suggestions advanced in the east that "big three" championship games be postponed in the future in the event of such terrible weather conditions as caused the Harvard-Yale game last year and this year to be played in driving rain storms have met with little favor at Yale.

Among some of the Yale undergraduates the suggestion was laughed off as being a silly stunt saying that teams willing to play under such terrible conditions were showing gameness that makes football what it is.

The claim that it was not fair to the purchasers was not accepted as it was pointed out that fifty five thousands sat through the rain in Cambridge last year for the game and seventy-five thousand braved pneumonia this year.

Several games were called off in the east last Saturday on account of bad weather but it was argued that the management of these games did not have to consider 8,000 ticket holders who could not remain over two days to see a postponed game or would not care about taking chances on the same kind of a day a week later. The Yale campus is jubilant at the victory over Harvard which gave the team its second successful big three championship.

JACK DEMPSEY AGREES TO BOUT NEXT JUNE

By United News
 NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—A definite agreement for a battle next June between Jack Dempsey, and some opponent yet to be named, was announced Monday night by Chas. Henderson following a two hours conference, with Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager.

The fight will take place at Long Island City, in Henderson's crater, a stadium Henderson plans to construct there. The crater will have a seating capacity of 110,000 and will be larger than Richard's bowl at Boyles Thirty Acres in Jersey City, and Henderson's bowl in Brooklyn where the promoter staged several battles last summer.

OLD FASHION DANCING STUDIO IS FOUND

 HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 24.—

Found, in Houston, adancing studio with the old world touch to it. Frequently we are told of cases whereby a poor struggling artist takes unto himself an attic for a home, and from there produces his greatest masterpieces.

Located above the music studio of a prominent music teacher, the dancing studio of Miss Etta Berger will be found, high in the attic, where she has expended quite a sum of money in making it an attractive and roomy place.

BAPTISTS ADOPT A MILLION AND HALF DOLLAR PROGRAM

DALLAS, Nov. 24.—After an appeal of more than an hour by Dr. S. G. Groves, general secretary of the convention, the 1925 program of the Baptist general convention of Texas which calls for the raising of $1,600,000 to finance it, was adopted unanimously at the morning session of the convention.

Of the total 1925 budget, $1,047,000 will be devoted to enterprises under the jurisdiction of the Texas convention exclusively, while the remainder will be devoted to the "southwide program of Southern Baptists."

The Texas program will be divided as follows in percentages: State mission 34 1-2; Baylor University 10; Southwestern Theological seminary 4; Baylor college Belton 4; Howard Payne, Baylor college, Burleson college, Mansfield college, Baylor college, Waco college, Southwestern seminary training school and San Marcos Academy 1 3-4 each; Baptist Standard 1; Baylor hospital Dallas, 8; Waco hospital 2 1-2; Fort Worth hospital 2 1-2; Abilene hospital 1 1-2; Harlington hospital and Baptist hospital, Houston 5.

New machinery has recently been purchased at a cost of about $8,000 to be used in the south part of the county. This consists of a large tractor and grader and will be used in Precincts Nos. 3 and 4. The tractor and grader used in these two precincts are small and not sufficient to meet the demands of this part of the county. During the year 1925 commissioners Elmore and Stegall will be busy building roads and opening up new roads in the new settlements, which are being organized in the southern part of the county.

NEW ROAD IS BEING COMPLETED IN BAILEY CO.

Contractor Jones has a full crew of laborers on State Highway No. 7, and is pushing work as fast as possible and if weather conditions are favorable the work will be completed by January 1st. This is one of the most important projects of the Commissioner's Court during the year and they are to be congratulated in their effort to give Bailey county one of the best road systems in this section of the state.

CONFINED TO BED

Birmingham Lady Took Cardui for Relief of Change of Life Troubles and Says It Helped Her "So Much."

Birmingham, Ala.—"I first took Cardui for this trouble, without feeling that comes from being dreadfully run down," says Mrs. Catherine E. Smith, of 2106 Stout Street. "Twenty-five years ago, I was suffering from womanly weakness."

I read of Cardui in an almanac, and thought I would try it. I got a bottle and it helped me from the first. After that, during the whole of my married life, I took Cardui when I needed it.

"About four years ago, change of life came on me. I grew weaker and weaker, and was confined to my bed, where I lay on my back for days. I was told that only a severe operation could do me any good, and this depressed me very much, for I dreaded such an ordeal."

"I remembered how Cardui had helped me for female trouble in the past and I had read of how it had helped other women during change of life, so one night I told my husband to go to the drug store and get me a bottle. I began taking it at once. From the first dose I could feel myself getting stronger. I continued to take Cardui until I was entirely through this very trying period of a woman's life."

TURNOVER FALLS AS FRENCH LOANIS OPENED UP

BY EDWARD J. CONDLON
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The fact that total sales of stocks in the initial session of the week passed the 2,000,000 share mark by a scant margin was due to the counter attractions offered in the morning by the opening of the subscription lists on the $100,000,000 French loan.

If any doubts existed over the ability of the investment market to absorb this issue, they were quickly dispelled by the warm reception accorded the loan which was over subscribed in less than one hour.

Stock prices closed irregular, the rails moving down a shade while the industrials gained a quarter of a point, on an assurance that the French loan which was over subscribed in less than one hour.

The day was productive of a long list of new highs for the year in both railroad and industrial stocks. Mergers and possible increase in the dividend rates appeared to furnish the motive power for most of the spurs.

In some instances, a few old ones were revived, but judging from the market's reaction to the French loan, as well as some of the fresher bits of gossip.

Higher commodity markets, with wheat nearly 2 cents higher were in line with reports that Chicago speculative interests were again active.

Foreign exchange was featured by a rise in Canadian exchange to a premium of one-sixteenth of one percent, a new high for 1924. The principal European rates are lower, owing to the active selling of sterling over the unbusiness concerning the Egyptian situation.

In-line with a cable dispatch from London to the effect that German banks are re-opening branches in London, comes an announcement from the New York banking house of Speyer and Company, that they, together with J. Henry Schroeder and Company, of London, have purchased 10,000,000 worth of shares of Deutsche Bank, Berlin, which has a surplus of about $50,000,000 and may offer them for public subscription.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 24.—The ease with which tenders of nearly 250,000 bales in New York and New Orleans were absorbed proved the feature of the day and furnished the chief stimulus for fresh buying. The heavy over subscription of the French loan, advance in other markets, good spot demand, firmness of holders, improving textile news and further enthusiasm well sustained.

Competition among the big buyers for the cotton tendered same as a bit surprise and was accepted as indicating that cotton is easier to buy on the contract markets than in the interior.

LEO KORETZ, ALLEGED SUPER-SWINDLER ARRESTED IN HALIFAX AFTER DODGING LAW OVER YEAR AS MAGAZINE WRITER

By HAROLD ANDREWS.
CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Leo Koretz, dealer in sapheads, suckers, and other varieties of the homo bobs whose profound understanding of the average Americans' inherent desire to get something for nothing enabled him to leave Chicago with some $2,000,000 belonging to the investors in the mythical Bayano river trust has been arrested in Halifax, N. S., where he has been hiding for more than a year behind an alias and a nice, vandyke beard. Leo's ability to get along in the world was apparent when he was tapped on the shoulder in Halifax. Everybody knew him as Leo Kytz a magazine writer, traveler and sportsman. Just as the alias and the beard was penetrated, he was about to deliver an address on "Success" at a local church.

"Everybody at Halifax had taken Leo in and all that prevents his immediate return to Chicago is the investigation contemplated by the Canadian authorities to determine whether or not Leo has done, as much by them.

Briefly the down fall of the president of the Panama wonderland came about through one of 4,000-000 tips which have been given the states attorneys office, since anxiety was first expressed as to his whereabouts. A Canadian client of a Chicago law firm who met the suave Leo in Halifax became skeptical of his identity and communicated with "friends in Chicago" who got in touch with the states attorney. Assistant states attorneys Sbarbara and McSwiggin bought tickets for Halifax and Leo's arrest followed.

Koretz said he was eager to return to Chicago, according to information from states attorney Robert E. Crowe, but wished for a little time "to settle his Halifax affairs" as the state officials are interested in Leo's affairs. This stay of time was granted.

When Koretz was arraigned in the provincial court at Halifax Monday he was offered a 15 day continuance on extradition as provided by Canadian law. Leo offered to waive the continuance, and he may be returned here in a few days. The excitement among the investors in the "Bayano river trust" here has reached new heights of intensity. The reception that will be accorded Leo, will be held in the county jail, and the federal court and will wind up in federal prison.

The investors who sank thousands in the "little wonderland" have given up hope of recovering anything from Leo, although all of the money has not been spent. Those who looked forward to receiving as much as $1.25 or even $3 of their thousands back were informed several weeks ago by the government that the

"leavings" of the estate would be consumed in paying three years delinquent income taxes.

These taxes approximate $350,000 and after the bill is paid, the returns of what was invested will begin to pour. A lot of satisfaction will be obtained by the investors by merely looking at Leo once more when he gets to jail here. He is due for many hard looks.

Oil was the magic word in Koretz' super swindle. Most of the investors were friends of the Chicago Wallingford, and they were rich. When Leo told of the millions to be made in the Bayano river oil fields in Panama, they took him at his word. When the bubble burst Leo fled, leaving behind him a trail of blasted fortunes, and a penny-less wife and family.

Four were received into the church Sunday morning and one at the evening hour, and it is expected that a large number will be received into the church between now and the first of the year.

and I agree with that idea."

Capper expects the agricultural freight rate resolution to pass.

The house and senate adopted different forms of resolutions last year but a conference report fusing the two has been agreed upon. And will be presented to both houses for approval. Of course, this resolution of itself can bring no reductions, but Capper believes it will have a good effect on the Interstate Commerce Commission to let the commission know where congress stands.

"This is further than congress has yet gone," said "and I think will be effective.

Capper believes that the greatest help to agriculture at this time lies in development of co-operative marketing and that the greatest impetus to its development would be for congress to place itself squarely behind it. He has a bill providing a federal bureau of markets, separate from any existing department which he says would be of great aid to co-operative marketing.

Despite the blustery weather that prevailed about the time Sunday School was assembled, there was a fine attendance in the Methodist Sunday School Sunday, according to Superintendent Dow. "We had planned for more than seven hundred to be present Sunday morning but were disappointed by a small number and we are sure that had the weather been more favorable, there would have been present the largest number that has ever been in the Sunday School at this church," said the superintendent.

The Sunday School is growing in number and in enthusiasm, and there is no telling just where it will run to at the present rate of increase. New pupils are being added every Sunday. New class rooms are having to be provided, and classes divided in order to take care of the increase, but we are going to do the best we can till the annex is built," Mr. Dow said when asked about the plans of the church regarding the future.

Dr. White brought a great message at the morning hour and there was a large congregation there to hear him. He brought a message along the line of education and used as his subject "Education not a reality without Religion" and discouraged well throughout and when applied to the present day condition offered much food for thought, and occasion for deep meditation.

The evening service was heard by even more people, and was from the theme "change of leadership," in which the speaker undertook to portray the porncness of many people to take the occasion of the change of preaching at the end of the year to slip out of the activities of church work, and oftimes lost interest in the work and finally got entirely out of the harness, and in some instances drifted entirely away from the church and its good influences, and possible utter ruin.

Dr. White is getting hold of the people in a way that will result in a great good for the church and the community, and the City of Lubbock, and especially the Methodist church was fortunate in securing his services to lead the forces of Methodism to greater achievements at the time when much progress must be made to take care of the great increase of membership in the church and the Sunday School.

LABOR TO FORM INSURANCE COMPANY

was no reason why it should not be successful in the insurance which is the "safest, surest, and most simple of control and management of all present commercial enterprises.

Without practically any opposition the convention definitely rejected the proposal that organized labor form a separate political party, and reiterated endorsement of the present non-partisan political policy, sponsored by its president, Samuel Gompers. Complete approval was also given the action of Gompers and the executive council in actively supporting the La Follette-Wheeler presidential ticket in the last election.

Defending the non-partisan policy Matthew Wolf, vice-president of the federation, declared that the results of the last election showed that labor was not ready to support a third political party in this country. Max Hays, of Cleveland, delegate of the Typographical Union declared that the third party movement would sweep the country within the next few years despite the opposition of the leaders of labor.

The convention refused to approve resolutions protesting against the use of the United States army and navy to make collections for American citizens upon investments in foreign countries and on Russia accounts. Appeal was made to the wage earners and the peoples of all other nations to urge the substitution of "processes to maintain national honor, safeguard intercourse and obligations by methods and processes of a peaceful order that make unnecessary the appeal to war with all its horrors and brutality."

The approved report of the resolutions committee said that it would be unwise to deny the use by the nation of its moral, social and economic influences and forces in the enforcement of obedience and obligations in "Russia, as long as it is free to do as it pleases" and failed to alter its principles and procedure so as to warrant the United States entering into a commercial treaty.

Complete endorsement was given the American government in its attitude toward the soviet Russian regime.

MISS ANDERSON HERE TO LOOK AFTER HEALTH NURSE

Miss Dorothy Anderson, Plains-Panhandle representative of the Bureau of the Child Hygiene, was here Monday to confer with County Judge Chas. Nordyke concerning the employment of a public health nurse for Lubbock county.

The department is finding it difficult to obtain highly trained nurses for the work in the several counties throughout Texas where the office has been established, and it will perhaps be the first or the fifteenth of December before the office is opened in this county.
