NEW PROSPERITY WITHIN REACH OF AMERICAN PEOPLE

UNCERTAINTY IS BEING REPLACED BY CONFIDENCE

BUSINESS THROUGH THE ENTIRE COUNTRY ON SOUND BASIS

BY EDWARD N. HURLEY
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—New prosperity is awaiting the people of the United States if they will only reach out and take it. That uncertainty and hesitation which is an inherent reaction of the American people to a presidential year has passed. It has been replaced by a feeling of confidence that no untoward business upsets are likely in the near future. In this spirit business is already moving ahead toward new development.

Meanwhile, effects of the Dawes plan on the restoration of sound economic conditions and normal commodity production in exchange in Europe are beginning to be felt. The restoration of confidence among European nations has been reflected in a stimulation of business which in turn has been reflected in rapid improvement of America's foreign trade.

But it will take a little time for business to gain momentum in its new drive. Today, despite favorable economic conditions, business still manifests a tendency of caution. It is a heritage of the days of 1920. Over-production over-stocking and the bitter experiences of that year have not been forgotten.

Thus today the shelves of the country are figuratively empty. Manufacturers are still producing not for stock but for current sales. The retailers have not been placing their orders for stock. When they do, they are likely to be disappointed by the first of the year confidence will be restored to the point of stocking heavily—"the overdue prosperity wave will be upon us."

The existence of potential prosperity factors will not mean we shall not have to develop more efficient methods of manufacturing and selling. We cannot produce at a low cost or sell at a low cost without effort. But a situation will prevail in which effort will be rewarded.

The people of the United States can today increase their purchases 15 to 25 percent on present resources. When increased effort by retailers and manufacturers stimulates such increase it will be reflected immediately in increased profits both for the wage earner, the retailer and manufacturer.

A 15 percent increase in purchases would mean great prosperity. A 25 percent increase would mean a boom. Analysis of business conditions indicate that this cycle of prosperity has already begun and that it may be markedly in evidence early in the coming year, possibly by January or February, for stock orders already are being placed for those months and manufacturers have already felt the advance indications of the business wave.

FOREST FIRES SWEEP VALUABLE TIMBER IN RUIDOSO

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., Nov. 26.—Quantities of valuable timber has been destroyed by forest fires raging in the Ruidoso district and more than 100 men spent Thanksgiving day fighting the flames which are reported to be under control. The fire is attributed to careless hunters and forest supervisor O. Fred Arthur is contemplating a permanent ban on hunting in the Lincoln forest reserve.

In the Ruidoso section a camp fire left burning is said to have started a fire that burned over ninety acres of valuable timber. Near Capitan a fierce fire is reported raging and 25 men have been dispatched to fight the flames.

UNION SERVICE WAS HELD HERE

ALL CHURCHES OF CITY JOIN THANKSGIVING DAY PROGRAM

The several churches of this city met to gather in a great union Thanksgiving service at the First Baptist church Thursday at 10 a. m. one of the great hymns was sung heartily in the singing. Dr. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church, gave the invocation, after which Dr. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist church spoke a few fitting words concerning the purpose of the occasion, at the close of which he introduced Dr. Ernest E. Robinson, Presiding Elder of the Lubbock District Methodist church as the preacher for the occasion.

Dr. Robinson in his usual magnetic way delivered a really great sermon. His subject was "Life, Its uses, and Value," this discourse was well received by a splendid audience. At the close of the services, at the suggestion of Rev. Bowen, an offering was taken, and turned to the Chapter of the Red Cross, of this city.

COP ARRESTED FOR ATTEMPTING STOP DANCE ROW

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Patrolman Michael Gatski, who walks a beat in the stockyards section called "hell's half acre" has been arrested and stripped of his badge all because he injected gun powder and lead into a free-for-all fight at a Thanksgiving dance. Full of beer and turkey several dancers at the celebration, a Polish affair, began throwing their fists toward Patrolman Gatski felt the urge of duty although it was his day off.

Chink Pays With Life as Tong War Truce Nears End

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Three hours before the truce between the Hip Sing and the On Leong tong expired Thursday, another Hip Sing man was murdered, the third Chinaman to die in the premature resumption of the tong war in the last 24 hours.

With the killing Thursday, which followed closely upon two tong murders in Hartford, Conn., Wednesday, it is believed the war may break out afresh in all of the oriental settlements in the United States.

The truce which has temporarily halted the feud between the rival clans ended at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. In anticipation of the renewal of the tong killings, reserve police were stationed at 15 foot intervals throughout New York's Chinatown Wednesday night and the same precaution was taken Thursday night. The Thanksgiving tong killing occurred in the Bronx in the opposite end of the city from Chinatown.

Gong Chong Poo, 85 and his son Gong Yin Sin, 25, were ironing clothes in their little laundry. Suddenly two Chinese entered the place and without a word drew guns and opened fire on the Gong who were members of the Hip Sing clan. Poo fell to the floor dead with three bullets through his body. The son saved his own life by dodging behind a counter.

Shortly after the murder Moi Yit Chong and Lee Hsu were arrested near the scene of the crime. Both men admitted they were members of the On Leong tong. Young Gong identified the men as the men who killed his father and attempts will be made to immediately place them on trial for murder.

WIDER STREETS AND ROADS NECESSARY TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS, SAID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Cities and towns, states and counties, in making new plans for streets and highways, must henceforth build for the automobile. The proper building of streets and roads, with adequate safeguards is one of the principal means of making them safe for the motorist and pedestrian and of relieving the traffic congestion daily becoming more menacing.

This is the message of the group of experts who have been studying problems of road and street engineering and construction for recommendations to the National Conference on State highway safety which meets here next month.

Among the many suggestions growing from their careful analysis are these:

1. Elimination of grade crossings, in further road building.
2. Wider streets and roads, made necessary by increase of traffic and by the increasing use of large buses.
3. Lower grades, both in cities and on country roads.
4. Wider curves on roads, larger radius of turn at street intersections, clear view of approaching traffic on roads.
5. Prohibition of further building upon land probably needed for highway purposes in the future.
6. Uniformity of signals of various kinds, with simplicity of the wording and prohibition of advertising signs on highway right of way.

In 1923, there were 2,268 fatalities at grade crossings, the committee points out in its report. Elimination of the grade crossing is believed to be the only perfect solution of the problem," it says. "This does not mean that within the next generation every grade crossing of secondary highway and branch line railroad needs be eliminated, but it does mean that municipalities, states and railroads should join in an energetic campaign to carry elimination work forward as rapidly as funds are obtainable, with an equitable distribution of expense.

This work the committee recommends, should be on a statewide program with elimination of the most dangerous crossings first. The roadways of every improved rural highway should be wide enough for at least two lines of traffic" the committee says.

NIGHTMARE OF LAST SESSION HAUNTS CAPITOL

COOLIDGE THANKFUL THAT NEW CONGRESS STARTS ON MARCH 4TH

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Members of the "trouble making" congress are assembling for their last session which begins Monday.

Among other things that President Coolidge must have been thankful for Thursday was the fact that this congress that made life miserable for him last winter, must die three months hence.

No congress has ever staged such a rampage as this one did when it started on Teapot Dome, Harry M. Daugherty, Colonel Charles R. Forbes, of the Veterans Bureau, ripped up the cabinet by forcing two members out and then at the tail end of a wild session shoved through a series of measures like the bonus, tax publicity and Japanese exclusion which were obnoxious to the White House. From the White House point of view, it was a long, horrible nightmare and the very thought of that same congress frolicking back here again is enough to spoil even a good New England digestion on Thanksgiving Day. But there is always something for a president to be thankful for and Coolidge can take great consolation in the thought that after March 4 he will have a congress that will in all probability settle down quietly under the White House thumb and cause little trouble. The main source of his past grief, the La Follette balance of power in the house and senate, will disappear automatically March 4, and clear administration majorities will come into existence. The only worry is the attitude of a few rafter moderate independent republicans like Borah, Couzens, Howell, and Capper, who entertain some views not in favor of the White House, but who are always inclined to be reasonable. Congress formally re-convenes Monday at noon.

After a brief session, committees will be named to notify the president that congress awaits any word he may have for it. Tuesday the president's message just finished, will be sent up by messenger and read by clerks in the house and senate—a revision to prosaic custom which prevailed before Woodrow

LEGISLATION FOR BONUS DROPPED BY LEGION

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 27.—There will be no more attempt on the part of the American Legion further to "liberalize" the soldier bonus or to introduce a cash bonus feature, declares James A. Drain, national commander of the legion.

"Adjusted compensation is a closed chapter except so far as interpretative and administrative clarification are needed," Drain says in an interview to be published Friday.

"The American Legion is done with the so-called bonus," Drain is quoted as saying. "The National convention at St. Paul urged support of amendment to the adjusted compensation act permitting veterans entitled to adjusted compensation certificates to assign them to the benevolent institution chartered by congress. This is purely permissive in character. It has no influence on the law as enacted.

In my opinion the American Legion will fight as aggressively against any attempt to 'liberalize' the present compensation law as it did to have it passed," Drain said.

On the question of pension Drain emphasized that the legion in national convention has gone on record as opposed "to any pension system."

4 ARRESTED IN DEATH OF STACK

TWO FORMER MEMBERS OF EGYPTIAN CABINET ARE HELD FOR MURDER

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 27.—The sudden arrest Thursday of four Egyptians, two of whom had been members of Egyptian cabinets for complicity in the murder of Sir Lee Stack, nearly wrecked the puppet, British controlled cabinet of Premier Zivar Pasha. Three members of Zivar's cabinet resigned when they learned of the arrests by English soldiers.

The cabinet's downfall was averted when the British acceded to Zivar's proposal that the arrested natives be turned over to Egyptian authorities. When the British agreed to this, the resignations were withdrawn. Nakrasi Bey, former national minister of the interior and vice governor of Cairo Barakat Pasha, minister of the interior in the Zaghal cabinet, Wm. Makram Obied and Abdel Rahman Fahmy were seized by the police, who surprised them in their beds.

Obied is one of the extreme nationalists who was exiled with Zaghal when nationalists agitation seemed to menace the supremacy of Great Britain in the Nile Valley. Fahmy was once sentenced to death for complicity in a murder campaign directed against Britons in Egypt, but was released from prison.

The collapse of the Zivar ministry probably would have been a signal for serious disorders in Egypt. To form another pro-British government probably would be impossible. The esteem in which the British hold Premier Zivar Pasha is indicated by their action in turning the four arrested politicians over to the Egyptian government. Zivar is understood to be preparing a note for transmission to Great Britain accepting all the demands contained in the British ultimatum which caused the fall of the Zaghal ministry.

WILL SEEK PLAN TO STOP WASTE OF HUMAN LIFE

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS MOST CHALLENGED OF ALL WASTES, HE SAYS

By United News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Elimination of waste in commerce and industry is as vital now as conservation of natural resources was 20 years ago. Secretary of Commerce Hoover declares in his annual report. Activities of the department of commerce during the last year have been pointed toward the problem of waste as never before.

Many industries have voluntarily adopted innovations proposed by the department of commerce which will save millions of dollars to the public. Now the department is tackling "the most challenging of all wastes—the waste of human life, due to traffic accidents," Secretary Hoover said referring to the traffic conference to meet here soon.

"A definite constructive national program has been developed for the elimination of waste in our economic system," Hoover said. "The need is plain. The American standard of living is the product of high wages to producers and low prices to consumers. The road to national progress lies in increasing real wages through proportionately lower prices. The one and only way to improve methods and processes and to eliminate waste. Just as twenty years ago we undertook nation wide conservation of natural resources, so now, we must undertake nation wide elimination of waste. Regulation and laws are of but minor effect on these fundamental things. But by well directed economic forces by cooperation in the community, we can not only maintain American standards of living, but we can raise them."

By CHARLES McCANN. LONDON, Nov. 27.—Hearing of testimony in the mysterious case involving the equally mysterious eastern potentate "Mr. A" who seduced Mrs. Maude Robinson, and then paid $750,000 to keep his name from an English divorce court has ended.

Lengthy queues of the curious braved an early morning gale and ran to obtain seats in the court room. But for the efforts of policemen who shooed would-be waiters away from the law courts, the queues would be forming before midnight instead of around dawn.

Sir John Simon, counsel for the Midland Bank, which is defending its action in honoring checks drawn upon the vast hush money fund deposited there, announced that the bank's case was closed Thursday and proceeded immediately with his argument. Following a consultation between attorneys and the judge, it was announced that the case would probably go to the jury Friday.

As this is a continuation of the old congress, there will be no speaking or leadership fight in the house, Gillette and Longworth retaining their respective positions. The senate will continue to be presided over by Senator Cummins, president pro-tem, Dawes does not come in until next congress meets.

MUCH BENEFIT IN BETTER HOMES MOVE GAINED AS ORGANIZATION HEADED BY HOOVER TAKES INITIATIVE IN EDUCATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—Communities throughout the country are giving increased recognition to the value of helping prospective home buyers to secure the best value for that investment, which is often the greatest in a lifetime. This is shown by a summary of the activities and results of Better Homes Week demonstrations, promoted during May 11-19, 1924, by Better Homes in America, a national educational organization, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., the president of which is Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

More than 300 communities have already submitted detailed reports of their demonstrations; while incomplete reports show that Better Homes Week was observed to some degree in 1,500 communities. Indicative of the wide-spread interest in promoting this service, the report shows that demonstrations of one type or another were conducted in every state in the union, and even in Alaska.

Texas Towns Win Honors Foreign reports have already been received from Texas communities which observed Better Homes Week. Two of the committees received honorable mention for their demonstrations from the Committee of Awards of Better Homes in America. These committees represented Cleburne and Weatherford.

The Cleburne committee, of which Mrs. F. R. Pottenger was chairman, secured the co-operation of the mayor, who proclaimed Better Homes Week for official observance; as well as of county officials. The churches publicly endorsed the movement and assisted in it by making announcements. Invaluable assistance was also given by retail merchants, Chamber of Commerce, and the Rotary and Lions clubs. Strong support was given by local newspapers.

The demonstration took place in a new house containing six rooms and a bath and costing $3,000. Furnishings and equipment for the house supplied by merchants were carefully budgeted, and included an electric washing machine, a vacuum cleaner and a touring car, raised the cost of the house, fully furnished and with its lot and garage to precisely $5,000. Thus for $5,000 all the conveniences and luxuries which a family would need were secured. More than 1,400 people attended the demonstration house, where they were entertained by members of the committee or the Magazine Research Club, under auspices the demonstration was held. Visitors to the house were given cards upon which they were asked to write suggestions for improvement. While 310 of these were returned; most of them expressed unqualified approval of the house, and those which advocated radical changes did not take into account economy.

At Weatherford, where Mrs. A. D. Dawson was chairman, the campaign was under the auspices of the Parker County Federation of Women's Clubs, and the observance of Better Homes Week was very extensive. Although the tangible central feature of the campaign was the demonstration of a remodeled six room house which had been re-conditioned and completely furnished, there were other features of importance to the community. These included the presentation of a paper, "The Home Beautiful," by Weatherford girls, through the co-operation of Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas; lectures on every phase of home life, sermons in the churches, demonstrations of labor saving devices and the proper method of serving luncheon and dinner. One novel feature of the demonstration which attracted considerable attention was a children's playhouse built in the backyard, which also contained a playground with a sand pile and swings and other play fixtures. Under the direction of the Mothers' Club, home play for children was conducted in the backyard each afternoon.

Demonstrations of the use of a pressure cooker, and of the construction and use of an iceless refrigerator were also held.

Entire School System Has Part In Weatherford also, Better Homes Week was proclaimed by the mayor, and the committee received the co-operation of the Civic Improvement Association, the Chamber of Commerce and all business and civic organizations, as well as the Boy Scouts, and all of the schools from the county superintendent, the city superintendent, the domestic science teachers, down to the littlest pupil. It is estimated that between 9,000 and 10,000 persons were reached by one or all of the features of this demonstration. When this is considered, the cost—$30—which was secured from free will donations is negligible.

Although there was little time in which to plan and conduct the campaign at Neville, the chairman, Catherine Compton, and the county home demonstration agent, Ezra E. Grimes, reported a considerable demonstration in which the active support of the business houses, the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Chamber of Commerce was had. The committee aroused interest through the newspapers and through announcements in the churches and schools. One clergyman preached a sermon on Better Homes. The central feature of the campaign was a meeting attended by 300 persons at which there were lectures on Better Homes. In addition to this the merchants made a special feature of Better Homes Week in their window displays and a campaign for yard improvement was conducted.

Clubs, various men's clubs and from the schools, in which essay and poster contests were conducted. The committee aroused much interest in the movement and certain local merchants co-operated generously in furnishing six different rooms, and permitting these to be fitted up with accessories from other stores. More than 500 persons attended these demonstrations.

The campaign at Canadian, according to the report of the chairman, Miss Capitola Gorlach, consisted in an intensive clean-up campaign which was entered into heartily by the citizens.

Discussions were held at women's clubs on the scope and purpose of the national movement, as well as its meaning for an individual community.

The chairman at Colorado, Mrs. Jarol Roper, reported a demonstration of considerable extent, made possible through the co-operation of the Civic League and other clubs. The movement was endorsed by the local ministers, who preached sermons on the subject, and by the mayor, who proclaimed Better Homes Week. The central feature of the campaign was the demonstration of five homes in the community, which, through the courtesy of their owners were open for inspection. Two of these houses were practically new; two hostesses for the occasion were on duty to explain the advantages of each house. Other features included a meeting at which lectures and a program of music were given, and a Better Kitchen contest conducted by the local home demonstration agent, Miss Sestey.

At Haskell, where Mrs. J. U. Fields was chairman, Mayor Couch proclaimed Better Homes Week, and the committee was supported by clergymen who preached sermons, by the moving picture theatres and by the business houses and clubs. The schools took active part in the campaign, conducting an essay contest. Other features were a lecture on pictures for the home, home garden and model kitchen contests, a plant and seed exchange, and a demonstration of labor saving devices.

Mrs. Lulu W. Ragdale, county home demonstration agent at Jacksonville, reported that in connection with Better Homes Week observance a model kitchen contest was conducted, and an intensive effort to clean up, repair and beautify homes and grounds was carried out.

At Snyder under Mrs. C. R. Buchanan as chairman, the demonstration was carried out with the direct supervision of the home economics department of the high school, where a model kitchen and dining room were displayed, and a demonstration of their use made. Co-operation was had from the churches, in which announcements and talks were given, the moving picture theatre, where special slides were shown, the Parent Teachers Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the 20th Century Club, the Altrurian Club and the Boy Scouts. The demonstration in the school was held on one afternoon, during which 500 persons attended. At this meeting, aside from the demonstrations already mentioned, a demonstration of labor saving devices and one of silver cleaning were given. A model kitchen contest was also held in the community and the home economics department of the school gave a dinner to the Chamber of Commerce.

Demonstrations were also held at Fort Worth, Glen Rose, Hempstead and McKinney, where Mrs. A. W. Yates, Mrs. Cora Lilly, Mrs. George S. Osborne and Mrs. J. L. Loveloy were chairmen respectively. At Ft. Worth a contest was held between merchants for the best window display. At Glen Rose it was urged through the pulpit and press that people visit the Cleburne demonstration. In addition five minute talks were given in two churches each Sunday, both morning and evening for a month; and several articles on the subject were published in the local papers.

At Dallas, where Mrs. J. E. Fields was chairman, Mayor Couch proclaimed Better Homes Week, and the committee was supported by clergymen who preached sermons, by the moving picture theatres and by the business houses and clubs. The schools took active part in the campaign, conducting an essay contest. Other features were a lecture on pictures for the home, home garden and model kitchen contests, a plant and seed exchange, and a demonstration of labor saving devices.

Relatives Faced With Problem In Staying of Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 27.—Over in Conneville, Pa., an aged man, totally blind for years, has been spared one great disillusionment only to be plunged into another equally as great but much less cutting.

The man is Michael Brady, father of James Brady, Sandusky, Ohio, wife slayer, whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment on Thanksgiving Day by Governor Vic Donaghy of Ohio. Brady was to have gone to the electric chair on Thanksgiving night for hacking his wife to death with a meat cleaver.

But the governor saved him, responding promptly to the plea of Brady's attorneys that a "ragging wife will make a man do anything." And thus Michael Brady, the aged father, has been spared the great disillusionment which his relatives had planned, "just to keep his heart from breaking."

After the electrocution Brady's brother had intended to take the body back to the old father's home in Conneville for burial with the explanation that James, who was a brakeman in Sandusky, had been killed in a train wreck. Relatives knew that the old man would grieve at the loss of his son, but they knew also that he would grieve more if he knew that his son had been executed in the electric chair for murder of his wife. So they planned to do the charitable thing hoping that because the father was blind and could not read that he would never know his son's true fate.

But now that James Brady's death sentence has been changed to one of life imprisonment his relatives are facing an even more difficult task.

JACKRABBITS BEAT WESTERNERS 32 TO 25

LONGHORNS DEDICATE NEW STADIUM BY WIN OVER AGGIES

BELATED RALLY BY LOCALS ON HEAVY PASSING ATTACK FALLS SHORT AFTER RALLS TAKES LEAD IN EARLY STAGES

A belated rally in the last few minutes of play, during which time the Westerners scored three touchdowns in the last five minutes fell short, and the Ralls Jackrabbits emerged winner in a hectic affair at the Fair Park here Thursday afternoon 32 to 25. The exhibition, witnessed by a good crowd, in which Ralls people held quite a portion of the stand and sidelines, was one of a most peculiar turn. The Westerners jumped into the fray in the first few minutes for a touchdown, but after this were held scoreless by the Rabbits until the last period.

Driving through the heavy Ralls line in straight plunges, the local carried the ball with apparent ease, after holding the Jackrabbits for downs from the kickoff, and Mitchell, who was thrown into fullback to replace Wisdom plunged over for the score. Try for extra point failed. The first quarter ended with the score standing, Lubbock 6, Ralls 0. Opening the second quarter, Ralls dashed in with a heavy offensive that apparently swept the Westerners off their feet. Gee, the light but sparkling quarter of the visitors, drew blood when he dashed around left end from near the 30-yard line for his team's first count, in the first few minutes of this period. Immediately on the heels of this, Keith, who might very appropriately be chosen all-star half of West Texas, broke through from a "graveyard shift" which has been used profitably by Coach Bridges, of the Baylor Bears, but was pushed out of bounds on the 15-yard line. Then a pretty pass Gee to Watkins in a practically open field, lined the Westerners under the goal post for the second touchdown of Ralls. Another pass Gee to Keith rung up the extra point.

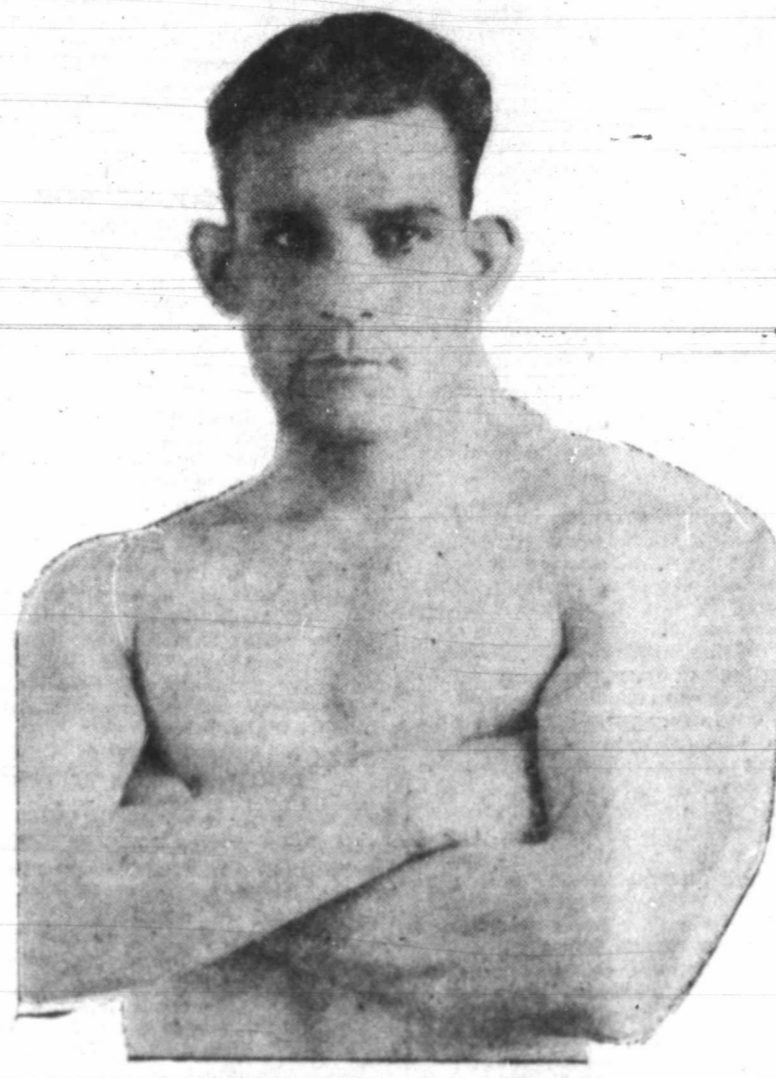

In the last few seconds in this quarter, Gee attempted a field goal from the 35-yard line, which fell short just as the whistle blew. The half closed with the score standing Lubbock 6; Ralls 13. As though they had been given new life from the few minutes of rest between halves, the Rabbits received the kickoff to open the second half, and on the first down following Keith got away around left end on the 40-yard line, and raced almost unhampered the necessary 60 yards for a touchdown. Again Gee's kick for extra point failed.

This added to the steaming cat-cup of the Westerners, and adding fuel to the flame, Gee carried the ball around left end from the 25-yard line for the fourth touchdown of the visitors. An attempted pass for extra point went wild. At this stage of the game, Adams, who was suffering from two broken ribs and other "minor" injuries, was relieved at quarter by Wright, who to a great extent renewed the fight in the Westerners, who from here cut back an offensive game. The third quarter ended with the ball in Lubbock's possession on the 25-yard line after they had been penalized 15 yards for roughing.

As a starter for the last period, Alexander fumbled in Ralls' territory, and a Rabbit fell on the ball, but the Lubbock line tightened, and Ralls punted to safety, which proved for them more than safety. Wilson, unable to reach the punt, touched the ball as it bounded up, and as it came again to earth, a Rabbit was waiting to receive it, and was down on Lubbock's 5-yard line. Gee carried the ball over after two line-backs which failed to gain, for the fifth and last touchdown of the visitors.

About this stage of the game, Keith was hurt and was half-carried, limping from the field. His absence held on the driving ability of the Rabbits, and here the Westerners began their heavy offensive, which all but knotted the count. Alexander opened the "pep" box when he intercepted a pass from Gee to Watkins, and raced almost the length of the field, which was down on the 10-yard line. Here the Rab-

FORWARD PASS LAST PERIOD IS WINNER

MEMORIAL STADIUM, AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—After desperately contesting every yard of the playing field for three, full quarters, the longhorns broke through the Aggie defense and dedicated their new memorial stadium with a 7 to 0 victory in the annual football classic of the two schools.

It was a long pass by Stallier and received by Allen, quarterback, who raced 30 yards to a touchdown, that gave Texas a hard earned victory with about half of the fourth quarter gone. In their attempts to ground the ball, several Aggie players batted it high in the air and the fleet footed Allen received the oval at top speed, he was never stopped in his victorious flight.

Until the final period the game had been a continuous punting duel with the honors practically even.

COLUMBIA GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT AT HANDS OF SYRACUSE 9 TO 6 AS THREE FIELD GOALS ARE MADE BY M'BRIDE

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Percy Haughton's last football team was whipped in its last game of the season Thursday afternoon by the Yellow Backs from Syracuse University 9 to 6. Walter Koppisch, for four years the one gleaming, glinting star of Columbia and for three years the captain of the squad, closed his career in the once bedraggled blue of Columbia with a touchdown, but he was blanketed almost throughout by two to four Syracuse players and could not win alone.

Jack McBride, of Syracuse, one of the greatest scorers of the year, for his college with three goals in the end, scored all of the points for the field and brought his record to ninety for the season, which ambitious total includes eleven field goals. There was a goat in this game of football and he lay on his face in the straw at the Columbia side line as the last quarter ebbed and flowed on the cross bar, crying as though he had lost a war for his country.

His name is Walter Kressel, a nobody built Californian, who like Koppisch, was playing his last game for Columbia. This Kressel is a hefty piece of work and too slow in his leg action to qualify as a regular member of the ball totting department so he was schooled in the thing he did best, kicking, and was saved for that sort of work. When Koppisch made Columbia's touchdown a 25-yard run after catching a forward pass in the second quarter and put Columbia in the lead six to three, Kressel was sent in for just one play to kick the goat after the touchdown. The pass from center was a trifle too low, but Kressel himself was nervous and halted the ball a fraction of an instant too long before dropping it to his boot. That delay let Syracuse's forward line charge through and one of the yellow sweatered men took the ball full on his chest, blocking the score. Again in the third quarter Kressel got his chance when Columbia, with the score tied 6 and 6, called him in to try for a field goal from an easy position. It was another of those emergencies in which a man is a hero or a bum. Kressel was called and the responsibility was too great for the line was not holding any too long and he wasn't getting the ball away any too fast. He swung his foot and again a Syracuse chest confronted the ball, sending it bounding crazily toward the sidelines, where one of the Syracuse players snatched it on the bound for a long run past mid field.

Kressel was yanked out again not as a rebuke for failure, but strictly in accordance with the plan, and as he reached the sidelines he fell in the straw and cried. For a moment at the start of the second half it appeared as though the crowd at this game would see a running match between Koppisch and track athletes in the country, but Chet Bowman, two of the greatest bowmen was hurt on the very first play and was withdrawn after a total experience of about thirty seconds in the game.

Both backfields seemed to be wearing Oregon boots and the carriers were smeared so consistently by opposition tacklers that the quarterback had to call for constant punting. Both lines held solidly on the defensive and seemed to outclass their backfields. Columbia gave Koppisch every chance in the world to win the game and close his career with a final feat of glory, but he was too well matched by Syracuse to get away after his one touchdown.

Koppisch leaves Columbia and football, however, with a pretty sizeable record for this touchdown made while the turkey sizzled in the oven was his 32nd in the 34 games that he played for his school and it brought his total of points scored in four years to 192. He took his departure from the game with his blue blanket trailing from his shoulders as one of the greatest individual athletes of his time in the east.

The Aggies made their touchdown in the fourth quarter after a series of crushing line plunges.

LUBBOCK AND THE GREAT PLAINS

BY CHARLES F. O'NEAL

We read in the Good Book that "a city set upon a hill cannot be hid" and that "men do not place a candle under a bushel"...

Lubbock is a city set upon a hill, figuratively, if not literally, as it has held itself up as a city of opportunity...

Furthermore Lubbock does not want to be hid! Lubbock is proud of its heritage, its vast domain of agricultural lands and its splendid citizenship...

To those who may retain a doubt as to Lubbock's becoming a burg city we cite the fact that men (no more courageous than we of Lubbock) have built larger cities in actual deserts!

To those who may still retain doubts we ask—suppose it were possible for Lubbock and its farming lands to be bodily transported and placed within, say the state of Pennsylvania...

By no stretch of the imagination do we believe that Lubbock will have a million in ten years—but we do believe that a population of fifty thousand can be secured within that time...
