Scriptures Matt. 10:32, Mark 8:28 Luke 9:26. Any one not attending Sunday school elsewhere, we would be glad to have them to come and be with us. The pastor is a man of God, a good speaker. CHURCH OF CHRIST

"The Man Born Blind" was the subject of the Sunday school lesson on Dec. 7th. The Pharisees were very biased in their religious belief, and used the healing of the blind man on the Sabbath as an opportunity to destroy Christ's influence with the people. We should be very careful that we do not become biased, but be always ready to take God's word as our guide.

Bro. J. H. Lawson, field financier of the Tipton Orphan's Home, preached at eleven o'clock. His text was Matt. 25:29, and from this scripture he showed us that we must use our opportunities to do good if we expect to inherit eternal life.

The Young People's Class met as usual and continued the study of the "Life of Joseph."
At 7:30 Bro. Lawson preached again. He told us about the growth of the churches of Christ in the United States in the last thirty years; of the development of our colleges and Orphan's homes, and impressed upon our minds the work that we need to do now.

telling of meeting of Forbes in Washington in July 1922, Mortimer says: "Oh yes I met him many times, at his office, in hotels and in my home. He was at my home several times. He liked to come especially when I wasn't there."

At every opportunity Mortimer tacked on to his replies in response to questions irrelevant charges of Forbes alleged familiarity with Mrs. Mortimer, the fact that all of them were stricken from the record did not trouble him.

Forbes is being tried jointly with John W. Thompson, a contractor. Mortimer declares that he was the "go-between" and handled the cash with which Thompson bribed Forbes.

The attorney for the defendant is attempting to prove that it was "physically impossible" for Mortimer to have given Forbes his share of the money on the occasion specified.

At one time during the cross examination, Mortimer in response to a question said:

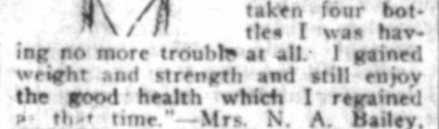

"Forbes was after all the money he could get. I gave him $1,500 in cash in Washington."
"Was any one else present," he was asked. "Certainly not I wouldn't have given Forbes any money in the presence of other people."

"You knew it was a crooked transaction then, didn't you?"
"Of course, I knew it. Col Forbes was after all the money he could get."
The attorney suddenly changed his attack.
"Has it been your custom in your

"Well, Forbes started it," Mortimer said.

The attorney then began a series of questions intended to bring out the various aliases under which Mortimer had traveled.

Mortimer said he had not used an alias until the investigation of the veterans bureau had begun in Washington when he admitted using the name of "Harry Schoeder." Then Mortimer interjected, "and Mrs. Mortimer once passed under the name of Mrs. J. C. Martin when she called on Forbes in his office."

Several times the court interrupted the cross examination to stop first the attorney then Mortimer.

Britishers Rise In Effort to Halt Hanging of Smith

By United News.

HULL, Eng., Dec. 8.—British justice, which is just in the same that criminals, and particularly murderers, get just what they deserve, is methodically preparing to hang a young man here Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock despite belligerent threats from the townspeople that bloodshed and rioting will result if the rope snaps his neck.

Hull is seething with a dangerous unrest. A great throng gathered around the execution prison as a foggy night fell Monday. The crowd was angry. It openly professed its intention to prevent the hangman from entering the prison. It is English law that a hangman must spend the night before the execution inside the walls that surround the gibbet.

The condemned man is 26 years old, William George Smith. His crime is the murder of a married woman whose lover he became. She was older than he by several years. Hull believes that the fault was the woman's; if she had not tempted the young man she would not now be dead by his hand.

Outside the prison, where her boy is penned in the death cell, Smith's mother prayed through the night. She was surrounded by weeping women. The sanctity of their vigil was observed by the dense crowds, which elsewhere pushed and shoved.

King George has been appealed to by the angry citizens of Hull in an effort to prevent the hanging. A telegram urging His Majesty to exercise his prerogative of reprieve and reminding him that 99 per cent of the adults of Hull signed a petition for a reprieve which was presented to the home secretary, was sent to Buckingham palace late Monday night.

Four members of jurofs who found Smith guilty of murder of his mistress, have written or telegraphed a petition of leniency.

Strong guards have been thrown around the prison inside which Smith waits through the hours of what probably will be his last night on earth.

CAPITALIST LETS CONTRACT FOR FOUR BRICK MERCANTILE BUILDINGS ON EAST MAIN; HAS BIG BUILDING PLAN DEFINED

R. N. Warnock, capitalist and town builder, for whom a brick building is being completed on Main street, has just entered into contract with J. J. Clements, of Lubbock for the erection of four brick business houses on east Main street on the four lots immediately east of the Jackson hotel. These bricks will occupy all that portion of the block east of the Jackson house to the alley, and will have a large part in filling in the north side of Main with brick structures, work on which was started several weeks ago and which apparently will not be halted until the entire street has been lined with bricks.

Contractor Clements will start work on the structures this week and hopes to have them completed on schedule time.

Few men have done more building in Lubbock this year than has been contracted for by Mr. Warnock, and all indications are that he will continue his interest in Lubbock. Lubbock's business district north and east of the square is being developed to a surprising extent at this time, the location of the postoffice on Avenue G just east of the court house having had a wholesome effect on building there.

LODGE'S WILL FILED MONDAY FOR PROBATE

SALEM, Mass., Dec. 8.—The will of the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was filed in the Essex county probate court here Monday.

Practically all of the estate, the amount of which was not given, was left to his son and daughter and their children, in a long term trust.

His library, estimated at about 20,000 volumes, Senator Lodge left to his grandson, Henry Cabot Lodge.

LA FOLLETTE HOLDS TO THIRD PARTY CONFIDENCE

Copyright 1924 By United News
WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Far from being discouraged over his defeat last month, Senator Robert M. La Follette wants to go ahead with the founding of a permanent third party of National Proportions. He will favor that course when the executive commission of the conference for progressive political action in reality his last summer's campaign committee, meets here Friday to consider the future of the progressive movement.

From one who is in the complete confidence of senator La Follette the United News learns that he hopes a National progressive party will be organized soon with the immediate object of putting a complete ticket in the field of the congressional and state elections in 1925. Progressive candidates for the senate and for congress, and for state offices as well, should be nominated in La Follette's opinion.

Senator La Follette's wish is not necessarily decisive. But his influence in the progressive movement is so great that it certainly is indicative. There may be opposition to the plan, but the fact that La Follette is behind it makes it's chances exceedingly good.

From the start of his independent candidacy, Senator La Follette took the position that political parties are born and not made. That was his reason for a definite party organization in the last campaign. But he believes the time is now ripe, and hopes that his colleagues will seize this opportunity and consolidate a national party organization in time to throw its full weight into the congressional campaign.

Although senator Wheeler, La Follette's recent running mate, has had practically nothing to say regarding future independent movement. There is a strong impression here that he has crawled back under the democratic tent. He is still to be counted on as a vote for the La Follette group in most of the important issues, which come up in the senate, but he apparently desires to remain identified with the democratic party, rather than with any independent organization for the present.

The attitude of other senators associated with La Follette has not been made known.

As to labor, some of the individual leaders will become associated with the party, should one be formed. W. H. Johnston, chairman of the conference for progressive political action, probably will follow La Follette. But the American Federation of Labor organization as such, it will in accordance with its decision at the recent El Paso convention remain all for the present, though the same forces which brought about the endorsement of the La Follette candidacy last summer will continue to work for closer amalgamation.

As the official purpose of the conference of the executive commission here this week is to fix a time and place for a generally progressive conference. It may not feel warranted in making any formal declaration regarding a new party. But if the sentiment of the commission seems to support La Follette, these leaders will go back and begin preparations to exert their influence accordingly when the general conference meets.

Most in-laws beat the outlaw when it comes to making trouble.

BE BOOSTERS FOR YOUR GOVERNMENT

Are we as proud of Our Country and as grateful for the advantages it gives us as we should be? It is often stated that Californians are greater boosters for their state and its resources than are the citizens of any other state in this union.

Why localize our enthusiasm for Our Country? No state could exist without our United States.

Why should not every citizen of this country be an active booster for a nation which has gone farther than any other in the world in giving liberty, property rights, business opportunities, home conveniences, educational advantages and amusements to its people? Why should not our schools and colleges emphasize to a greater extent the advantages of a citizen of this nation under our constitutional form of government? Until something is proposed which would in a small measure give us protection and advantages equal to those which we now receive, we should express greater thanks for what we have and be less ready to listen to the thoughtless agitator or professional politician who, failing to appreciate the advantages which surround him, seeks to foist impractical theories or visionary experiments upon a people already blessed with a government better than any other so far devised.

When you feel like kicking, look around you. Practically every American citizen can own his own home if he so desires. He can travel to his work either in an electric car or over a system of highways. In his home gas and electricity do work equal to that done by a score of servants to former kings and queens. The American telephone system furnishes a communication service in the humblest home beyond the wildest dreams of world famous rulers of the past.

Our property is safeguarded, our workmen are cared for and our lives are protected by an insurance system unheard of a hundred years ago, and which is rapidly eliminating the pauper and the poor house.

Aladdin and his lamp have been made a reality by the radio which, in conjunction with wire communication, has annihilated distance and, as the people of the world become better acquainted through our modern methods of communication, will eliminate war.

The homesteader in the mountains can tune in his radio set and listen to the music, lectures and amusement programs of the world.

Our farmers are learning the advantages of applying business methods to agricultural pursuits.

Our industries are profiting by making their employees and customers stockholders in their properties. Gasoline has made individual transportation possible so that vast sections of the country heretofore impossible of settlement on account of distance, have opened up and are today pouring their produce and business in over improved highways to the greatest railroad transportation system in the world.

What a picture to paint! Forests, mines, transportation, oil, electricity, telephone, gas, radio, modern farm machinery, factory buildings finer than the castles of history, roads and road building methods such as the world has never before seen, and an educational system which offers the poor man's son advantages which the nobility did not have a few generations ago!

Think of these things when you hear the croakers and the knockers. Learn a lesson from California, where the children are taught that the sun is brighter, the sky is bluer and the advantages greater in their state than anywhere else in the world. Let us build up pride in Our Country, not in a boastful or arrogant manner, but with a sense of appreciation and thanksgiving that we are so fortunate as to live in a land where opportunities and advantages for the poor and lowly are greater than the luxuries offered favored and wealthy persons a short century ago.

Under an order from the interstate Commerce Commission forty-nine railroads are preparing to install automatic train control systems at once.

Each road will select on the average about 100 miles of track for the purpose and some 5,000 miles in all will thus be equipped. Many of the systems of automatic train control have been tested and developed beyond the experimental stage. The purpose of the order to install these devices is the first step intended to do away with the human factor in railroad accidents caused by the imperfect reading of signals and their disregard through carelessness.

Because of the increase in crime throughout the country, and because of the moral issue involved, the mail order house of Sears, Roebuck & Co., announces that it has discontinued the sale of all forms of firearms. The question of controlling the sale of firearms has been discussed in Congress, and it is altogether probable that some action in that direction will be adopted in the near future.

DO YOUR DUTY AT THE POLLS TODAY

An ample supply of ballots were delivered to the city election board by the Avalanche Publishing Company's job department several days ago, to be used in voting today on the question of the issuance of bonds. This is the day that you are urged to go to the polls and exercise your rights in the casting of your ballot, expressing your desires in the matter, and thereby placing your city on record as being for or against the question that is submitted.

Lubbock must go forward, and she cannot do so unless she has the facilities for advancing. It takes a tremendous amount of money to keep public utilities up to the requirements of so rapid growing city as this.

The same conditions prevail with every business concern in the city that is making any effort whatever to keep pace with the developments. Not a business concern in Lubbock is standing back on the expenditure of money to keep their stores, or their plants in shape to take care of the business, and how much larger is the city plants, and how much more difficult is it to cope with the situation do the city dads find it than in their individual business?

As was explained in the Sunday issue of this paper the need is imperative. The city has contracted for the improvements that were necessary and have issued short time warrants, which they had authority to do, and the contractors have bargained for them, but the city commissioners do not feel that they should be forced to spend the people's money for interest and discounts, when they can issue bonds and take care of the obligation much more cheaply in that way.

You, as a voter, should see the business side of this proposition, and vote for the bonds and thereby enable the city commissioners to save for the taxpayers several thousand dollars—the difference in the rate of interest and the cash value of the bonds and the warrants.

The voters of Lubbock have the reputation of doing the sensible thing, and we are sure they will in this election, if they will only vote; but the great trouble is that they do not manifest the interest they should in the matter of city affairs.

AMERICAN PEOPLE'S CHARITY BILLS

Giving has become a community activity in the United States. In almost every American town today there is community machinery of some sort for meeting the cries for help that come from neighbors or from the utmost ends of the earth.

Since 1910 we have collected and distributed for the aid of European and Oriental people nearly four hundred millions of dollars—more than $400 each for every man, woman and child in this country, outside of our charitable and public institutions. This does not include food, clothing and medicines. Is it any wonder that the Stars and Stripes stand for something worthwhile in all parts of the world.

THE FRENCH VIEW OF PAYING HER WAR DEBT

France entertains a rather peculiar view in the matter of inter-allied debts. Certain nations owe France about four billions of dollars, and France owes England and the United States about seven billions. France argues that she should pay to the latter two nations only such sums as the others pay to her. This argument is based on the theory that the war was a common cause and the expenses should be pooled. Of course France does not take into consideration the value of Central South Africa, Alsace Lorraine, part of the Sudan and other "loot" which enriched the nation far beyond all the expense.

VOLCANO OBSERVATORY NOW CONTROLLED BY INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

Control of the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory has been transferred from the Weather Bureau to the Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. Regular scientific studies were begun at the crater of Kilauea in 1911, and systematic records of volcano and earthquake activities have been maintained by the director, Dr. A. T. Jaggar, since the erection of the observatory in 1912.

Six Million Members of Christmas Clubs in the United States Depositing Small Sums in the Bank Each Week This Year Saved Almost $250,000,000.

What a picture to paint! Forests, mines, transportation, oil, electricity, telephone, gas, radio, modern farm machinery, factory buildings finer than the castles of history, roads and road building methods such as the world has never before seen, and an educational system which offers the poor man's son advantages which the nobility did not have a few generations ago!

COMMENTS BY SOUTH PLAINS EXCHANGES

Lorenzo Enterprise: Four Plain-view citizens have invented a farm machine which bids fair to revolutionize cotton growing on the Plains and in other sections where there are "bollies".

One man and a team of two horses can gather from three to five bales of cotton in a day. The holly puller is invented by Messrs. W. E. and Ed. Boyd, J. T. McGee and Virgil Rogers, and a patent will be secured. It has been thoroughly tested in cotton fields around Plain-view and is proving a success. It costs only about $25 to build the machine so we are told, for it is very simple. This "Mechanical Nigger" as it has been jokingly named, is built on

SEVEN WOMEN SEEM CERTAIN ON JURY FOR McCOY

BY H. O. THOMPSON
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 8.—A jury composed largely of women will hear testimony in the murder trial of Kid McCoy. Just as women always have figured extensively in the career of frequently married fighters, so will they be prominent in what may be the Kid's last gesture before a world which once honored him for his pugilistic triumphs. As a selection of veniremen went forward Monday in superior Judge Crails court, where McCoy is to be tried on grand jury indictment charging him with the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors, his sweetheart; it appeared that there would be at least seven women on the jury.

Seven already have qualified and if they are rejected their places will be filled from a group of prospective jurors in which women predominate, three to one. Both defense and prosecution said they expected to be agreed on the jury by Tuesday night.

All of the women accepted tentatively are married or have been married. There were no young women among them; their occupations were given as "housewife" or "retired," they all knew of McCoy, but singularly, there was a consistent denial that newspaper accounts of the murder had been read. One woman said she had known about McCoy through the publicity he achieved when he was at the height of his boxing career others said they had been interested in his numerous marriages. Not one of them, except in the case of those who declared against capital punishment, threw up a single obstacle which would stand in the way of their selection. They seemed eager for the duty.

During the proceeding McCoy sat at the attorneys table, with his lawyers. Dressed neatly in a dark, well fitting clothes, the fighter wore the same black neck tie and pearl watch chain he displayed when arraigned two months ago. He fingered papers nervously as the court questioned members of the jury panel.

Strangely discordant in McCoy's attire was a white bit of thread with which his nose glasses were looped to one ear. He produced the glasses from time to time during the day as some paper was pushed toward him to read.

The fighter romance seems greatly revived when court adjourned.

"Well I'm glad that's over," he said as sheriffs deputies escorted him from the court room.

"They say the first day is always the hardest," he was told.

"Perhaps it is, but I haven't the

Giant Rum-Running Plot May Extend To The National Capital

By United News.
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 8.—Prosecution designed to break up the Weehawken rum running ring, which is said to have done a business of $50,000,000 may involve more prominent figures in Hudson County and may even extend to Washington.

The Grand Jury of Hudson County returned eleven additional indictments Monday against William F. Griffin, who is said to be the field manager of the operations. The indictments charge him with bribery of the eleven Weehawken police officials who were named in the affidavits of the agents of the Rev. George F. Bennett, the Catholic priest, whose investigations exposed the rum running plot.

Griffin made $10,000 bail on the indictment returned against him Friday but the prosecutor, if he desires now, may make his bail $110,000.

Griffin, who conducts a brokerage office in Jersey City, was a fireman three years ago. He is now said to be worth over a million dollars.

The eleven Weehawken policemen, who were indicted Friday, have been released under $10,000 bail. One is a commissioner of police and two others are lieutenants. The specific charge against each of them was conspiracy to violate the state prohibition enforcement act.

BUILDING MATERIAL BEING RECEIVED FOR TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY AND WORK WILL BE STARTED EARLY IN JANUARY

The Texas Utilities Company is receiving large shipments of building material, and all indications are that the mammoth building program planned by the company will be instituted on about January 1.

The growth and development of the Texas Utilities Company in West Texas has been marked by almost continuous enlargement of their power plants throughout the plains, with special work having been done on the enlargement of the plant here.

It is difficult to estimate the value of this progressive institution to the plains. Furnishing as it does, a very medium through which cities are built, the Texas Utilities Company has given to its patrons in Lubbock, Plainview and other plains cities a service of the first class, and has been found ready and able to offer extensions of power and light lines wherever necessary arose.

Keen interest in the development of the company is being shown throughout the plains, as nothing of recent occurrence has meant so much to this immediate section as the announcement made lately that extensions of lines to additional towns and communities will be made in the near future.

With a mammoth building program to be put under way the first of next year, the Texas Utilities Company occupies a conspicuous place among those institutions that mean so much to Lubbock today and which are building to safeguard the better interests of the city in the future.

The installation of a twelve-hundred horsepower engine in the plant here, or rather its addition to the plant, inasmuch as the engine will be placed and a building erected around it, indicates the ambition of the officials to keep the plant equipment far ahead of the demand here. This engine is expected to arrive here about January 1st or later.

POLICE DISPERSE SURGING MOB OF COMMUNISTS

PARIS, Dec. 8.—After hours of bloodless battling the police have dispersed a surging mob of communists that massed in front of the soviet union embassy and formed again as successive charges by ranks of police broke the mob into fragments.

Hundreds of Reds turned out for the demonstration at the embassy doors Monday evening, but before they could get their songs and speeches under way a flying squad of policemen was giving them something else to think about. Five of the demonstrators were arrested.

Earlier, Monday ten communists had been arrested in the general round up ordered by Premier Edouard Herriot's socialist government they will be deported.

Premier Herriot does not fear the communist menace to the republic. It is admitted at the Quai D'Orsay that there is some anxiety over the situation, but the government professes to have accurate and complete information regarding all the ring-leaders of the communist movement throughout France.

It was made known to the United News at the Quai D'Orsay Monday that the numerical strength of communism in France is negligible.

Soviet Ambassador Krassin is not conducting propaganda in France, and Herriot does not believe that he will do so, it was said.

In fact, the socialist French government's chief fear is that the communist bugbear will be exaggerated in foreign eyes. Herriot believes that French reactionaries are sending misleading reports of the state of communist in France to foreign countries in an effort to damage French credit sufficiently to force Herriot from power.

CHLORINE GAS TREATMENT SUCCESS, DOCTORS SAY

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 8.—Disagreeing with New York health officials, authorities at Fort Sam Houston Hospital say that administration of Chlorine gas treatment for respiratory diseases reports that the treatments have been very successful to patients submitting to the treatment.

Out of 143 cases confined to the hospital ward respiratory diseases, 94 have been cured while the healing effect of chlorine on the remaining 49 is as yet doubtful, but in all cases the patients have been benefited by this type of treatment.

GLASS HOUSES CHEAPER THAN WOOD IS CLAIM

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 8.—The old burlesque gag about "people who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones," may be literally enforced within a few years.

Neither, of course, will anybody be able to throw stones if they live in one of G. A. Shields's houses. Shields, who has designed and built dozens of glass factories, now plans to build every one a glass house.

Shields holds five patents on machinery which he says can turn out a glass house to order in a few hours at much less cost than these made of frame and brick. Glass either opaque or clear, is much cheaper and far more durable than any other building material, Shields says and he is about to erect a factory in Pleasanton, Ohio, to start turning out glass houses in quantities.

"Bride of Sorrow" To Go Alone On European Tour

By United News.
CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Miss Isabelle Pope, "bride of sorrow" will go alone to Europe to make the honeymoon she had planned with her childhood sweetheart, young Wm. Nelson McClintock.

McClintock, heir to the tragedy-freighted McClintock fortune, died of pneumonia just as a death-bed marriage between the couple was about to be celebrated. Miss Pope had already procured a marriage license and a clergyman was ready to perform the ceremony.

Known as the "boy millionaire" Wm. McClintock fell heir to a fortune which has seemed under an evil star. The boy's father was killed in a motor car accident when William was five years old; his mother died 2 years later. William was the last of the family line. It is understood that Miss Pope will receive a large part of the fortune and that the balance will go to charity.

New Moulin Rouge Opens Door After Long Obscurity

BY JOHN O'BRIEN
PARIS, Dec. 8.—The new Moulin Rouge, the red mill of the Mont Martre, has opened its doors after nine years of comparative obscurity that began in 1915 when fire almost destroyed the old pile. Since the armistice the mill has operated after a curtailed fashion while reconstruction was carried on. Now the new mill is opened with new girls, new sights and new thrills.

In the Paris of a generation ago, the Moulin Rouge was the synonym of all that was mad, bad and Bohemian. As the rebuilt and refurbished mill gets under way again, the women who once were queens of the surging nights in the Temple of Pleasure sit about ricketty tables in little cafes of the neighborhood and tell of the gay time they had in the "Old Mill" of the fortunes they acquired and threw away.

"No, it won't be the old mill," mourned La Goulue, who never left Mont Martre at the milk man's hour, without two silk stockings bulging with golden loots, thrown at her feet by Nabobs from every side. La Goulue always was thirsty. That's why she got her name, slang of course, meaning that she swabbed the contents of every half empty champagne bottle left on the tables at closing time. She doesn't do that any more. Champagne isn't drunk in the places La Goulue frequents. She buys a "vin blanc" in the early mornings for nini-kick-the-ceiling and another loose-boned valentine.

They were her old time partners in the most famous quadrille that ever astounded visitors from Pittsburgh, Pekin and Paramaribo. These women wondered.

Golf has its twosomes, its foursomes, and its tiresomes.

CISCO MEETS OAK CLIFF FRIDAY IN DALLAS

WACO TO MEET BEAUMONT ON SATURDAY

This week-end will see the race for high school football honors of the state brought down to two contestants, according to advices received Monday night by the Morning Avalanche from Roy B. Henderson, who is in charge of the Interscholastic League. The schedule as announced by Henderson sends the Cisco Lobos against the Oak Cliff Leopards at Dallas on Friday, and Beaumont will likely meet Waco at Waco Saturday, in the semi-final rounds of the championship race.

In these two games there will be seen football, the like of which has never before been witnessed in high schools in Texas. In fact there is very little doubt, but that either of the four teams could enter competition with any of the smaller colleges of the state, and at least make the matter interesting.

Especially will this be true with the Cisco-Oak Cliff contest, which is the high spot on the card for West Texas. In this game West Texas is sending in her last and only hope for a win in the state this season, and although sentiment is somewhat divided, the bulk of the sport world in the West seems to still be with the Lobos.

Taking into account the past performances of the two teams in their late season games, it appears that a draw for the difference in standing would come as near a solution as to endeavor to pick a winner. Cisco in her last game, three cautions to the winds, drove into the Cleburne Yellow Jackets, and trampled the deep-sheet to smithereens, winning easily over a team that had been figured to at least have an even break on the contest. The overwhelming score of 30 to 0 left the Yellow Jackets in a position that they could not legitimately offer an excuse for their defeat, as they had been heralded in pre-game publicity as being in the best of condition.

On the day following this, the Oak Cliff Leopards took the Vernon Lions into camp with an even more overwhelming count than the Cisco-Cleburne game, piling up a total of 39 points, while they had the Lions eating out of their hands. Inasmuch as Cisco had been so anxious for a try at Vernon instead of Cleburne, it is apparent that they believed the Lions easier than the Yellow Jackets, and might have piled up a heavier score had they met them.

But several things might be considered as not of advantage to the Lobos in their game Friday, primary among which is their absence from home, for the bulk of their harder games this year have been played on the home grounds. Thus their appearance in Dallas might lead to stage-fright, with a consequent weakening in morale and fight.

DODGER PILOT NOT BE ABLE TO ATTEND MEETING

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Uncle Wilbur Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will not be able to make his customary deals in sid iron at the National League meeting Tuesday, being convalescent from an attack of pleurisy and confined to his home in Baltimore. Uncle Wilbur's faculty for seeming dormant baseball talent in obsolete players enabled him to win two pennants and last summer he gave the Giants the fight of their lives for the pennant with a team of has-beens, derelicts and bushers. Uncle Charley Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn team will attend the winter trading. Among other deals one probably will be made to dispose of Walter Reuther, the Dodger's left hand pitcher, whose personal disagreements with his bosses in Brooklyn have made him undesirable on the yonder side of the bridge.

COMMITTEE ON TENNIS RULES TO MEET THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The long and tiresome "Tis and tain't debate between the Literary Tennis stars and the Lawn Tennis Association probably will be settled at the annual meeting of the association here next Saturday when the commission named to settle the squabble will make its report.

The commission's rules are likely to be adopted as the final attitude of the Association toward players who get extraordinary prices for writing very ordinary literature before their names stand high in sport.

It is reported that the commission's report will offer a nice compromise whereby the players will be allowed to continue writing but will be forbidden to use their tennis titles over their articles.

GIBBONS TO MEET NORFOLK FOR TRY AT MTIGUE

By United News.
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Fighting his first bout in New York since his match with the late Billy Miske, Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, the only man to go 15 rounds with Jack Dempsey since Dempsey became champion, will start after the light-heavy-weight championship of the world now held by Mickey McTigue of Ireland.

Gibbons meets "Kid" Norfolk, the negro, Tuesday night at Madison Square Garden in the principal brawl of a benefit program, the profits of which will be spent at the toy shops to make Christmas slightly less miserable than usual for the poor kids of the metropolis. If Gibbons beats Norfolk, as he is expected to do, he will start after McTigue and Grene Tunney, holder of the so-called American light heavy weight championship, in earnest.

Tom is now 34 years old and notwithstanding the fact that he is admittedly the best boxer in the world at his weight, he has been kept out of New York pretty consistently ever since he started to show the same wizardry that distinguished his famous brother Mike. Tunney and Willie Stribling made large incomes in the same division and had no trouble getting matches in New York and Louis Angel Firpo who was not able to last two rounds with Dempsey picked up a fortune. But Gibbons has been unable to get matches and Frank Flournoy, match maker of Madison Square Garden said that when he tried to persuade Tunney to fight Gibbons, Tunney flatly refused.

FIVE CONFERENCE GAMES BILLED BY CHAMPION BRUIIS

WACO, Dec. 8.—Baylor's champion Bruis will tackle a stiff schedule in football next year, but with all but four of this year's veterans returning, hope to come out on top once more. The Baylor schedule is as follows:
Notre Dame, at South Bend, Ind., October 26.
Denton Teachers, at Waco, October 30.
T. C. U. at Dallas (Dallas Day of Fall) October 13.
Trinity U., at Waco, Oct. 17.
Howard Payne at Waco, October 24.
Texas Aggies, at Waco, November 1.
Texas U., at Austin, November 7.
S. M. U. at Dallas, November 14.
St. Edwards at Waco, November 21.
Rice Institute at Houston, Nov. 28.

AWARD LETTERS TO HORNED FROGS

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8.—Awarding of letters to the T. C. U. Grid-ners will be made at the annual banquet Monday night at the University dining hall. All members of the varsity and freshmen squads will be present, when the naming of letter winners is made by Coach Matty Bell.

Following the awarding of letters, the captain for 1925 will be elected. While there has been little talk of outside of the squad, Tricky Ward, fighting tackle, who will be playing his last football next year, is the favorite. Tricky broke his leg in the Arkansas game, the final of the season, but that injury will in no way affect his playing next year, and he is expected to be a big factor in the team.

Freshmen will be at the banquet for the first time in the history of the schools athletics, and the award of numerals will be made at the time. The "fresh" played only two games the past season, winning one from Decatur Baptist College, 10-6, and losing one to T. M. C. 6-0. "Dutch" Meyer's main assignment was to develop men for the 1925 varsity and from the looks of most of the freshmen he accomplished what he set out to do.

All-American Grid Team "Myth" Is Pegler's View

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—If you can pick the eleven biggest raindrops in a storm, the eleven hottest dogs at Coney Island; the eleven largest snowflakes of a hard winter in Maine or the eleven longest blades of grass on a ten mile prairie—if you can perform these minor work-outs, you are ready to tackle the job of picking an All American football team. This is a mild, national vice which becomes active every fall after the close of the football season. Walter Camp began it a couple of decades ago and hundreds of others have taken up the practice.

No one can possibly see more than a dozen intercollegiate games in a season and the majority of the experts who so rashly name their All-American teams see no more than eight. A writer with average luck of the draw in football assignments will see a dozen teams at play but let's be silly and suppose he goes to ten games and never views the same team twice. He has then bent his gaze upon twenty squads out of eighty or ninety "prominent" teams to say nothing of several hundred obscure mobs which are bound to include a number of great football players. He may compare opinions with men who have seen some of the others play, but this means nothing because the other fellow didn't see some of the players that he saw. If he depends on written accounts of the games he is sunk twenty thousand fathoms deep because, in the East at least, the football story comes under the head of fiction, owing to the facts that the press cooks usually dangle from the eaves of the stands, giving only a blurry view of what goes on below, there is no body to announce the plays correctly.

Under its present organization, the athletic authorities in the state University exercise no control whatever over the interscholastic league which is an extension activity, pure and simple, and is therefore a division in the Bureau of Extension. Certain services in the way of organized contests are offered the public schools, and these services are accepted yearly by about four thousand schools, each school paying a small membership fee. Under our constitution and rules, membership fees as they are paid in, constitute a rebate-fund, and at the state meet each year this fund is prorated out to eligible contestants and delegates to the state meet to help reimburse them for their transportation expense. It would seem curious to witness the spectacle of the Southwestern Conference, representing merely the athletic interests of a few higher educational institutions in the state, asking to be disbursed by the schools that they must discontinue the practice of building up a rebate-fund and annually disbursing it under the rules of their organization.

Ten Members Of Longhorns Work Way Thru School

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Dec. 8.—Ten members of the Longhorn football team of 1924 work their way through school. The self-supporting students are Matt Newell of Richmond; Lester Setteggast, Houston; Vernon Schuhardt, San Antonio; Blue Smith, Cleburne; Dewey Small, Yorktown; Harry Pfannkuche, San Antonio; Murray Moore, Ellettra; Sailor Shearer, Houston; Hubert Foster, Waco, and Clint Slover of Whitesboro.

Statistics show that a large percentage of university students earn all or part of their expenses, while the number of athletes who work their way through school is higher than among any other group. The boys use many novel methods to drag in the ducats.

Blue Smith, the noted side-stepper, runs a hamburger stand for his livelihood, and is proving to be as good a merchant as he is an athlete.

Matt Newell, regular end, works in a local drug store, and also waits on tables at a boarding house. Other "hushers" on the squad include Lester Setteggast and Hubert Foster.

Vernon Schuhardt, who taught school last year that he might earn enough money to represent his school on the gridiron this year, is working in the equipment room of the University athletic department. Several of the athletes do janitor work around the university, including Harry Pfannkuche, Murray Moore, Sailor Shearer, Clint Slover and Dewey Small.

SOUTHWESTERN CONFERENCE OFFICIAL DENIES INFERENCE THAT ORGANIZATION CONTROLS INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE

AUSTIN, Dec. 8.—Asked concerning the attitude of the Interscholastic League toward recommendation of the association of directors to the Southwest Conference that the league be not allowed to refund to competing teams railway fare for contestants in state meets held by the league, Roy Bedichek, head of that organization, stated today that the Southwest Conference does not have and never has had any authority of supervision whatever over the interscholastic league, which, he declared, is merely an association of public schools in Texas fostered by the Bureau of Extension of the University of Texas.

"It is stated in the newspaper account which I read of the Conference meeting held in Dallas Thursday at that time that it would be as appropriate for the Conference to prescribe methods of teaching geology in the University.

Under its present organization, the athletic authorities in the state University exercise no control whatever over the interscholastic league which is an extension activity, pure and simple, and is therefore a division in the Bureau of Extension. Certain services in the way of organized contests are offered the public schools, and these services are accepted yearly by about four thousand schools, each school paying a small membership fee. Under our constitution and rules, membership fees as they are paid in, constitute a rebate-fund, and at the state meet each year this fund is prorated out to eligible contestants and delegates to the state meet to help reimburse them for their transportation expense. It would seem curious to witness the spectacle of the Southwestern Conference, representing merely the athletic interests of a few higher educational institutions in the state, asking to be disbursed by the schools that they must discontinue the practice of building up a rebate-fund and annually disbursing it under the rules of their organization.

Work Wide in Scope

"For sixteen years the league has been functioning as a contest-organization among Texas public schools, deciding state championships among the members in debate, declamation, track and field, tennis and latterly, basketball and football, as well as many other events, including spelling, essay writing and music memory. The bringing of about 12 hundred school boys and girls to the University once a year in a state meet constitutes an insignificant portion of its work. There are held under its auspices each year thirty-two district meets, many of which are as large as the state meet, and two hundred and twenty county meets, many of which are as large as the district meets. The number of events and accommodate a larger number of contestants than the state meet. In Coryell county last year, for illustration, there was nine hundred rural boys and girls entered in various events in the county interscholastic league meet.

"We shall of course, welcome advice from the Southwest Conference Association of Directors or from any other organization or individual as to how we may make this work efficient, and more attractive to our members, but the only directions we seriously entertain come annually from the State meeting of delegates which body is thoroughly representative of our entire membership."

3 BIG ENCOUNTERS FACING JOHNSON AT LEAGUE MEET

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Although the mid-winter deliberations of the men who own the major league ball clubs ordinarily mean nothing at all to the man who takes base ball in occasional doses at $1 a dose, the impending congress of the National and American League in New York is likely to provide some jolly entertainment to break the monotony for the in-between season. The old ponderous resolutions, abounding in bias and references to the "Integrity of the National game," as the club owners like to call the business enterprise, will be repeated as usual in all their unimaginative dullness, but there will be the makings of three very amusing fights all of them featuring Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and in his serious moments, one of the most amusing public figures in the country.

What Can Pimply Faced Boys and Girls Expect

Nobody knows better than the boy or girl who has been slighted time and again by their supposed "best friend," how humiliating it is to have to stand for such "cutting" things when they know they can expect nothing more as long as they don't look attractive on account of a pimply, blotchy or rough skin.

But such heartaches don't have to be put up with. Any boy or girl who is troubled with these skin blemishes can get rid of them if they will just use Black and White Ointment and the Soap. The fact that they sell at the tremendous rate of more than two million packages a year shows how popular they are. They are economically priced, in liberal packages. Any dealer can supply you with both the Ointment and the Soap. The 60c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.

There will be the fight between Johnson and the directors of the Pacific coast league, who have dined in New York instead of going straight home from the minor league convention last week at Hartford, Conn., in order to make Johnson retract or prove his insinuations that

Perhaps the only reason that Gen. Pershing has never received any criticism for his work in the world war is that his book has not yet been published.

Birmingham Lady Took Cardui for Relief of Change of Life Troubles and Says It Helped Her "So Much."

Birmingham, Ala.—"I first took Cardui for that tired, worn-out feeling that comes from being dreadfully run-down," says Mrs. Catherine E. Smith, of 2106 Stout Street. "Twenty-five years ago, I was suffering from womanly weakness.

"I remembered how Cardui had helped me for female trouble in the past and I had read of how it had helped other women during change of life, so one night I told my husband to go to the drug store and get me a bottle. I began taking it at once. From the first dose I could feel myself getting stronger. . . I continued to take Cardui until I was entirely through this very trying period of a woman's life."

A PLEA FOR SANTA CLAUS

ETHEL CLARK BICKEL

Much has been said in the last few years for and against allowing children to believe in Santa Claus. Primary schools besides Sunday schools have taken up the subject of whether or not it is right to lead little folks into belief in the dear old saint. The first primary teacher in a certain well known school considers it very wrong and tells every one of her children "the real truth" as she sees it, and they rapidly spread the sad news to all their little friends. The superintendent of the Sunday school in another town is of similar opinion and from every Christmas program in his school all allusion to Santa is omitted. No merry songs of the mysterious sleigh-bells are heard there; no little red fireplaces, no tiny stockings ever decorate the stage for festivities in connection with that Sunday school.

I wonder how the readers of these columns feel on this subject? I for one am heartily in favor of Santa Claus. In my childhood, I happened to be one of a family of children, and we were all told of "Santy" when we were scarcely out of babyhood. The happiness of Christmas time in our home will always be a cherished memory, and it was the "Santy" part of it that made it so joyous. For our gifts were never castly, in fact, compared with the toys that little folks receive nowadays, they were almost insignificant.

As for the terrible "disillusionment" that is so often suggested as the natural outcome of telling children of Santa Claus, we never suffered any such misfortune. As we grew older, and began to question our mother explained to us very beautifully the real meaning of the dear old saint. "Santa Claus is the spirit of Christmas, somewhat as Jack Frost is the spirit of cold and frost," she told us. "Santa is the soul of good cheer and merriment, the spirit of loving and giving." Very easily she made us understand why we had been led to believe in him—just to make Christmas time more bright and gay. Following her explanation, we were always ready to help foster the belief in younger children.

Now I have a little daughter of my own. Her father and I led her to believe in "Santy" for surely we should have been selfish parents had we deprived her of a joy that had meant so much to us. The year that Barbara was eight years old, I explained to her about "Santy." "Oh, Mother," she exclaimed happily, when she understood it all, "now this year I'll be Santa Claus to cousin John and Herbert and little Mary Elizabeth." You see how thoroughly she grasped the meaning. No disillusionment, no feeling of having been hoodwinked!

Once, when Barbara was only a little over four, some child tried to shake her belief. "Well of course," answered Barbara, "if you don't believe in Santy Tans, there's nothing any Santy for you that's all!" Her father later confirmed her reply, and the danger of having to tell her at the tender age was averted.

I have never favored "dressing up" to imitate Santa. Rather do I favor the keeping of his personality delightfully mysterious and vague. Let the kiddies get their impressions of the jolly old fellow from colored pictures and verbal descriptions rather than from masked men. Then, when the time of revelation comes, one can make the story more charming by comparing Santa's red cheeks to the bright Christmas holly, his white beard to the snow and frost; his little fat form may be symbolic of laughter and jollity and so on.

CANYON SHIPS FIRST FULL CAR OF COTTON SEED

CANYON, Texas, Dec. 8.—A carload of cotton seed, the first ever shipped from Canyon, was sent out this week. At the same time 50 bales of cotton which had been bought by the local gin were shipped. Cotton continues to come in quite rapidly.

E. A. Oberst, living six miles south of Canyon, has already shipped five bales of cotton from a fifteen acre patch, and he estimated that he has more than a bale still to pick. Mr. Oberst used Mebane seed, planting a bushel to the acre. He will increase his acreage next year.

CAR LINE DEPOT FOR LUBBOCK IS ANNOUNCED

The P. H. Sammons buildings on Main street will be completed the latter part of this week or the first of next, according to statements made Monday by Mr. Sammons.

One of the buildings will be occupied by a Union Service Car depot to be operated by six local service car lines, having car lines to all principal communities throughout the South Plains not reached by regular trains.

The depot will be one of the most elegantly furnished buildings in the city and every convenience will be provided for the patrons.

The need of such depot here has been felt since a city ordinance enacted several months ago made it unlawful for a service car to be parked for any length of time at the curb before any of the several hotels in the city.

ELLWOOD PLACE IS RESTRICTED TO RESIDENCES

Lubbock is to have a new restricted residential tract. H. T. Boyd, W. B. Elkin and Chas. F. O'Neal, owners of one hundred and sixty acres of land opposite the Technological College and surrounding the beautiful Ellwood home are putting the tract on the market. The new district has been appropriately named Ellwood Place, in honor of W. L. Ellwood.

Ellwood Place is to have graded streets, private driveway, ornamental shade trees, water, with building block will have uniform building line for all homes. It will be restricted to homes only, no public, semi-public building, or filling stations will be permitted.

H. T. Boyd, one of the owners is an old-time resident of this city and vicinity. Mr. W. B. Elkin is a prominent cattle man of Midland, Texas, and Chas. F. O'Neal, who will be in active charge of the new tract, is a recent arrival from Dallas, and is an experienced real estate man. He has many friends in West Texas, having lived many years at Midland, emigrated to San Diego, California, serving that city as mayor during the exposition there. Speaking of Ellwood Place, Mr. O'Neal said:

"It is our intention to make Ellwood Place the most desirable and attractive home district in Lubbock. Ellwood Place when fully improved, will be a beautiful place. All lots are of generous size, none less than fifty feet in frontage, a beautiful private drive will extend parallel to 19th street for the entire distance of the tract. Homes facing Nineteenth street will be placed eighty feet back from the street. Every block will have uniform building lines and the cost of all homes will be restricted to good homes. Home owners in Ellwood Place will rest assured that their privacy will not be invaded by neighborhood stores and filling stations. Home owners in Ellwood Place will find a congenial district in which to live and by reason of the restrictions the values will be maintained and will rapidly enhance. Experience has proven that restricted property is not only the most salable, but is the most permanent in value."

"They cordially invite inspection of Ellwood Place and believe that time will confirm the statement that Ellwood Place will be Lubbock's most attractive residential addition."

SNYDER VOTERS SAY LET'S PAVE THE STREETS

SNYDER, Texas, Dec. 8.—The paving bonds issue voted on last week carried almost 10 to 1. There was practically no opposition and but little interest was manifested on the part of those favoring the issue if one is to judge by the vote cast, 251 for the issue and 2 against it.

The question, "When will the work of paving begin?" is already being heard on the street and in places of business. Mayor Fritz R. Smith says "Work will begin at the earliest possible moment." So far the city council has lost no time and actual construction work will begin, we hope not later than January 1.

The Snyder people are to be commended on account of their action in the election. It may seem a little expensive to property owners, but once the square and streets are paved our people would not be without them; besides, to begin paving means the beginning of a city, because no town can ever hope to get into the city class until it has built up good schools and churches, an adequate water supply, a sewerage system and paved its streets. Snyder had all of these requisites except paving, and now that the paving bonds have carried, all that is now needed is to keep on letting Snyder grow by encouraging those things favorable to its growth.

Not realizing that his condition was serious, he would not permit his wife to telephone to members of the congregation here that he was unable to conduct the service until very late in the afternoon Sunday, as he believed he would be able to make the trip.

The sudden death of Rev. Andrews came as a surprise to his friends at Plainview and Lubbock.

Funeral arrangements have not been made known here.

New Orleans Cotton
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8.—The final estimate of the Department of Agriculture turned out to be some smaller than expected and values climbed 50 points when trading was resumed. Most of the advance was lost later on realizing brought on by denial of reports that all mills at Fall River had reopened. It is now claimed that only one mill there has resumed. The gainings were in line with expectations. The government has had two estimates from the ginners within a period of two weeks as to amount of cotton remaining to be ginned. It's two estimates based largely on this information, vary only 161,000 bales. It is reasonable therefore to believe that today's estimate is substantially correct and the world will undoubtedly accept it. The only argument we hear from the bears now is that the bales of cotton based largely on the bear crop and $60,000 to $50,000 bales of linters at prevailing prices. The average farm price of lint last year was 31 cents on December 1, and value of crop to farmers $1,563,000,000 according to the government. It's estimate of farm value of only 25.4 cents this year indicates a farm value of only $23,000,000 more than last year. It is certain that the world can pay a good deal more for our cotton this year than last owing to it's improved financial condition. Farmers are likewise in better financial condition and able to finance and carry their cotton owing to cheap money. The South cannot produce and sell cotton at 22 cents and pay $1.50 for corn and it looks cheaper and safer to carry cotton over into next year than to attempt to raise it at these prices as nearly all of next year's feed will have to be bought. Cotton is relatively too cheap and should work higher along with other commodities.

New York Cotton
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The government estimate was smaller than generally expected as was the ginning figures and prices scored a good advance. Sentiment is mixed as to the immediate course of the market but there is a general feeling of relief among both the bulls and the bears that we will have no more private or official guesses on the crop. The bears point to the increase in the visible and the probability of Christmas realizing, while the bulls are laying stress on the improved textile industry situation and the large takings thus far by the spinners. We believe that consumption will now be the governing influence in the shaping of prices and while not expecting a runaway advance, we believe that cotton is destined to sell at higher prices and that purchases should be made on fair setbacks.

TEXAS KEY RATE ON INSURANCE IS LOWERED

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 8.—The tenth annual report of the Texas State Fire Insurance Commission has just been published and shows an average fire insurance rate in effect in Texas at this time of $1.07, compared to a forty year average of $1.47 and to $1.23 in 1912, when the commission was created. No changes are asked in the present laws, but more money is requested for the maintenance of the division which makes workmen's compensation rates and inspections. In discussing the rates the commission directs attention to the fact that Texas has its lowest rate, not compared to a forty year average of today, such as oil and gasoline, motion pictures and similar dangerous risks. Key rate reductions made during the fiscal year amounted to gross $198,572, while the increases were $134,853, or a net saving in premiums of $63,719. There were 24 increases made on account of water-works penalties and 19 because of fire department penalties. Reductions were made as follows: Waterworks improvements 103, fire department 98, fire marshal ordinance 25, street improvements 14, building code 9, large capacity pumps 13, extra chemical apparatus 19, enforcement of electrical code 3, installation of night watch service 35, teaching fire prevention in public schools, 42 and arson reward ordinance 7. Texas rates and losses are compared with those of other Southern and Western States and only one other such State has a lower rate, being South Carolina.

HOUSTON, Dec. 8.—The gods of fate just failed to beam on Sadie Howard, negro. At least that is Sadie's story as she nurses a broken nose and repairs a hole in her hose where $10 left her hurriedly. Sadie was walking home early in the morning. She overtook a man, her own gate when a white man, in ambush struck Sadie on the nose and using a knife skillfully appropriated Sadie's "hose bank".

Big Auction Sale Of Morton Lots To Open Wednesday

Morton J. Smith, of Lubbock, the town builder, real estate dealer and cowboy, who defied other powerful interests in a long drawn out battle over the location of the county seat of Cochran county, again takes the lead in the development of that section of the plains country, having announced his intention to offer for sale at public auction residence and business lots in Morton, the new Cochran county town, which is sixty miles west of Lubbock, surrounded by thousands of acres of good farming land as can be found anywhere, and possessing all the possibilities any community could well hold.

Mr. Smith hopes to stimulate interest in that section of the plains with the sale that will be made Wednesday, and in order that success might accompany the venture, he has employed Col. Rufus J. Lackland, one of the most widely known land and townsite auctioneers to be found anywhere, to conduct the sale.

Several one hundred acre tracts of farm land near Morton will be offered for sale by the auctioneer, and many prospectors are expected to be on the ground.

Many Lubbock people will leave here early Wednesday morning in order to be in Morton when the sale of lots begins at eleven o'clock.

BENTLEY AND HIS MUSICIANS HERE FOR THE WEEK

The Lyric theatre announces as their headline attraction for tonight and all week, the "Queen City Concert Company," an ensemble of six artists in person, who will offer a musical programme that will have a range from the latest Jazz and Broadway hits, to selections from the standard operas. The company comes to Lubbock most highly recommended as finished musicians, and will doubtless offer something decidedly worthwhile. The "Silver Saxophone Quartette" and the harmony singing are among the features.

Concert Company Here Delights Capacity House

The Queen City Concert Company, who opened their week's engagement at the Lyric theatre last night, proved one of the cleverest attractions seen here in many moons, and delighted a capacity house who turned out to hear them.

The entire company of seven finished artists together with their musical director, offered a program that had little of most everything in it, and the manner in which these clever performers sell their wares, show all the earmarks of "Big Time."

Special mention should be given Miss Gladys Gofford, assisted by Robert and Hazel Gofford, in her rendition of the "Rosary," used with cello, clarinet and saxophone. This beautiful old classic was played as only artists can play it, and was met with a storm of approval. Miss Ruth Gofford at the piano is another bright spot upon the bill.

Hampstead Bentley, the Al G. Field's tenor, sang himself straight into the hearts of his hearers with some of his old minstrel favorites, as well as two of the late Broadway hits.

Lubbock has had her share of good, bad and indifferent musical attractions, but the unstinted appreciation shown this company last night is evidence enough that the entire show was splendid throughout.

You See I'm a flapper—and we do have loads of fun. "Some folks think I'm silly but it's just my way of forgetting a lot of this old world's troubles."

"Please come over—maybe I can help you forget too."

First National Pictures, Inc., Present
