State Comptroller Getting Ready For Collection Of Tax

Houston, Texas, June 1.—On the last leg of organizing new state-wide special tax-collecting machinery under the emergency laws passed during the current legislative session, State Comptroller George H. Sheppard is in Houston setting up his sixth district office. Heartened after years of ineffectual efforts by the right gasoline tax and cigarette laws put into effect last month, the comptroller is making record progress in the pursuit of tax evaders who he estimates have robbed the state of more than $4,000,000 in gasoline taxes and $1,500,000 in cigarette taxes each year.

As soon as the governor signed the new gas tax law, which for the first time appropriated funds with which he might hire an enforcement force, Comptroller Sheppard hastened to the East Texas oil area, recruited a "flying wedge" and began the check-up of refineries.

The new law requires the keeping of complete interlocking records which permit state agents to follow gasoline from refinery to retailer and check it for tax payment. It also forbids adulteration with kerosene, naphtha and other tax free fuels unless the filling station posts a sign, "Inferior Motor Fuel," because many dealers have been collecting tax on such blends and turning in tax on only the gasoline portion of them. Violation is now a felony under the new law.

From East Texas, where the comptroller's men preferred many charges which are now being heard by grand jurors and established permanent offices in Longview and Tyler, the "flying wedge" visited Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio before coming to Houston. In each they augmented their force and established an office.

"This is every good citizen's fight," Comptroller Sheppard said. "These men are really tax thieves, for they collect taxes from motorists at their pumps even when they do not turn it into the state. Each year gasoline bootleggers have been robbing us of over $1,000,000 in public school money, $1,000,000 in money to pay off county bonds, and $2,000,000 in road money, for that is the way the gas tax is apportioned. In the same way, cigarette bootleggers have been stealing $1,500,000 yearly in school money.

"When these funds are lost, they have to be made up through some other form of taxation. That's why I say it's every good citizen's fight."

Because the law is new, the comptroller's men are not at all "their first visit. They are instructing violators on the law and cleaning their premises. The second offense, however, means charges. Every filling station in each district will be visited,

'Barter' Day Is Here Monday, June 5th

Rodeo, Horse Racing, Shows, Music And Other Entertainment; Special Prices Made on Merchandise by Local Merchants

Plans maturing for Barter day to be held in Muleshoe next Monday indicate a full program of arousing, amusing and interesting events from early morning until late at night.

"Texas Slim" will be here all day Monday with his numerous rodeo features—an event always interesting to West Texas people. He has a fine string of wild broncos, trick ponies, Elmer, several of the best headed to be used in the show, and there will be bronco riding, bulldogging, wild cow milking and other stunts pulled off such as are common in rodeo events.

Several ex-soldiers, members of the local post American Legion, are planning an entertainment reuniting the old-time patient medicine show that was the principal theme of the day, wherein folks bring anything they have they don't need and wish to dispose of, while others attend for the purpose of buying or trading for various things they need and don't happen to have.

Household furniture, farming implements, livestock, farm poultry and produce of all kinds, garden and field seed—in fact nearly everything brought to these events during past occasions has found a ready and profitable sale.

Practically all business concerns are making special and attractive prices on wares, commodities and services, and with the present trend toward higher prices this will be a money-saving occasion for many, furnishing an opportunity for laying in numerous and varied supplies of needed merchandise.

Monday will be a day wherein business can be combined with pleasure. It will be a day to bring the entire family for fun and frolic, where folks can catch the spirit of the early western pioneers in the rodeo events, mixing the modern with the thrill of the older west, meet old friends and enjoy new acquaintances—everybody enjoying a profitable day and a good time.

Each Barter day here in Muleshoe has always been a little better than the previous one held, the crowds attending have been larger each time, and a still bigger crowd is expected to attend the occasion next Monday. Everyone is urged to lay aside their work and duties for a day and be here next Monday.

Longest Session Of Legislature Halted Thursday

The 43rd Texas legislature, in session since January 10 last, last Saturday set sine die adjournment for next Thursday. It plans to quit on the 143rd day of its session, completing the longest period any Texas legislature ever has been continuously on the job.

The senate wanted to quit next Tuesday, but the house wanted to stay until Saturday. The matter was referred to a conference committee and its recommendations that the legislator's labors cease at noon next Thursday were accepted by both branches. The senate was unanimously for it, and the house voted 103 to 7 for the compromise, after efforts to lay it on the table and reject it failed.

The legislators received $10 per day for the first 120 days of the session. Since then the per diem has been $5. Until four years ago the constitutional regular-term period was 600 days at $5 per day and $2 for each day the legislators stayed on after that. A constitutional amendment doubling the length of a regular session and increasing the per diem was adopted by the electorate.

Tax Payment Bill Adopted In House During Past Week

Austin.—The Texas House last week adopted the free conference committee report on a bill to provide a method for payment of delinquent taxes. The report previously had been adopted by the Senate and the bill now goes to the Governor for action. It received sufficient votes to become effective when signed by the executive.

The bill would relinquish existing penalties and interest on all delinquent state ad valorem and poll taxes. If paid before Oct. 1, 1933, a penalty of 1 per cent would be charged; if before Dec. 31, 2 per cent; if before March 31, 4 per cent, and if before July 1, 1934, 6 per cent.

The final date to take advantage of the bill would be July 1, 1934.

The bill contained a provision that would allow political subdivisions, other than counties, to arrange for payment of delinquent taxes on the installment plan. Tax collectors would be authorized to accept payments of not less than 20 per cent of the total delinquencies.

More than 80,000 visitors registered at the Panhandle-Plains historical society museum at Canyon during the first month it was open to the public.

The comptroller said, and samples of fuel taken for analysis.

$20.65 Realized From Sale Of Poppies In Muleshoe Last Sat.

A total of $20.65 was the amount received last week from the sale of poppies by ladies of the American Legion auxiliary, assisted by some of the girls of town. Proceeds of the sale go for benefit of disabled soldiers many of whom are permanently confined to hospital beds.

The ladies are greatly pleased with results of the sale, and with the fine and sympathetic appreciation of the poppy buyers, many anxious to buy a poppy before sale time came on, while others hunted up the girls to give them a dime for one of the blood red flowers.

Auxiliary members also express their thanks to Misses Eva Harper, Burne Griffiths, Lovelle Ginn, Virginia McCoy, Bettie McAdams and Wanda Farrell who so courteously assisted in the poppy sale.

Judge Aldridge wins in his second important race.

Announcement is made this week of the marriage of John Aldridge, Jr., to Miss Lillian Orr, which occurred away back in history on January 11, it not becoming known until last week.

Judge Aldridge, who is well known here, is county judge of Farmer county, while the bride has been a teacher in the Clovis, N. M., high school for the past four years.

That the judge is a winner is now a proven fact beyond dispute. When he ran for re-election as county judge last fall he had some pretty stiff opposition; but won out. Just how much or how many there were opposing him for the hand of this young lady in marriage is unknown; but he won out again—and that's the important thing about it.

LABORERS WANT MORE MONEY

A petition was circulated and presented to the local R. F. C. committee the first of this week asking for an increased payment for labor done with Federal money, the claim for higher wages being based on the increased price of various commodities.

R. L. Brown, chairman of the committee, states that the committee has no power nor authority of any kind to raise such wages, since the price to be paid for labor is set by the Federal authorities.

Mr. Brown continuing said, "This R. F. C. money is merely a bread and butter proposition, intended purely as an urgent relief in stringent financial circumstances. I wish it was possible to pay every laborer $5.00 a day each, but we have no say in the matter, and must obey the mandates of governmental authorities."

A spark neglected has often raised a conflagration.—Rufus.

Solons Blocked Increase Taxes For Two Years

The legislature last Saturday prevented an increase in the state ad valorem tax rate during the next two years.

The senate amended a house bill to fix the rate for 1933 and 1934 at 67 cents per $100 valuation. The rate for 1932 was 69 cents. The house voted, 95 to eight to concur in the senate amendment and Representative George Moffett of Chillicothe expressed confidence that he could on Monday obtain the 100 votes needed to put the bill into immediate effect.

If the legislature had not acted, the rate would have reverted to the constitutional maximum of 77 cents. The house bill called for a reduction to 57 cents but the senate would not accede to that large a cut. Senators pointed out that the state was on a deficit and must maintain money with which to carry on the necessary governmental functions.

PLANT 100 ACRES IRISH SPUDS

That there will be more than 100 acres of Irish potatoes planted in the Blackwater valley around Muleshoe are present indications from truck growers who have recently been buying seed and are now putting them in the ground. Irish potato seed is scarce and high priced this year, and but for this fact probably a considerably larger acreage would be planted.

Those reporting the planting of Irish potatoes this spring are Levi B. Churchill 15 acres; W. E. McAdams 12 acres; David Coulter 12 acres; R. S. Bradley 10 acres; John Withrow 8 acres; Homer Henington, 5 acres; Lee Campbell 5 acres; Mrs Tom Ferris 5 acres; C. E. Pochell 2 acres; H. A. Lowry 2 acres; Fred Reynolds 10 acres, while there are several who will have acre plots.

DENISON FINALLY OUSTED

The Third Court of Civil Appeals last Monday sustained the ruling of the Travis County District court to the effect that Frank L. Denison was not legally entitled to be chairman of the Texas Highway Commission.

Denison had been appointed by Governor Ferguson, and refused confirmation by the Senate.

TO CALICHE ANOTHER STREET

Work of preparing the grade on the street running east and west passing R. L. Brown's office and the old Muleshoe hotel was begun Tuesday afternoon.

The street will be spread with caliche, expense of labor being handled with R. F. C. funds.

For First Time in Twentieth Century Wheat Crop in United States Will Be Less Than Needed at Home; Draw on Reserve

For the first time since the beginning of the Twentieth Century, wheat production in the United States this year will fall below domestic needs. This is the opinion of the crop reporting board at Washington, which estimates the yield of winter wheat, as of May 1, at 337,485,000 bushels, or 68.7 per cent of normal. If the estimate holds good, this will be the smallest harvest of winter wheat since 1904—and, of course, the population and consuming power have increased considerably since that time.

The greatest acreage abandonment in history appears to be having definite results. A short crop necessitates draw-

PAINT ROCK LIGHTNING KILLS BOB MILLER AT HIS HOME

During one of the terrific storms of last week, Bob Miller, former Concho county sheriff, and more recently deputy sheriff of Lamb county, was struck by lightning at his home at Paint Rock.

He was knocked unconscious by the bolt, and when recovering from his senses, complained much of pain in his head and side. He was standing under an electric light in his home when lightning struck the floor. He died the following day.

Miller was well known here and throughout Bailey county.

RURAL SCHOOLS ARE GIVEN $7,000,000 FOR TWO YEARS

The Texas Senate last week adopted a free conference committee report on a bill to make an appropriation for rural school aid.

The bill would appropriate $7,000,000 for the next biennium. The regular appropriation for the current biennium was $5,000,000, and a deficiency appropriation of approximately $1,600,000 was made.

MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY

Considering the blustery weather there was a fair crowd of people who attended the Memorial services held Sunday afternoon at the local cemetery under auspices of the American Legion post.

Rev. E. C. Roney delivered the principal address for the occasion. Betty McAdams recited the poem, "To An Unknown Soldier," and Mrs. Holland and Ty Young sang "God A-Rifle Salute to the dead" being read over the cemetery, after which several of the graves were appropriately decorated.

Post Commander Gilbert Wollard had charge of the program.

All Muleshoe Lads Pass Examinations For the Peace Army

That all lads recently sent from Bailey county to the reforestation army have passed their physical examinations and been received as the information contained in a letter received the latter part of last week by Chairman R. L. Brown from Arthur W. Holt one of the reconstruction soldiers. The letter is as follows:

Fort Bliss, Texas, May 24, 1933. Relief Committee, Bailey Co., Muleshoe, Texas.

Dear Mr. Brown: I wish to express my sincere appreciation to your committee for selecting me as one of your recruits. Concerning camp life: upon arrival at camp we were given a temporary examination to see that no contagious diseases were among the boys, then we were given supper. That was Friday evening. The next morning we took the final examination which we all passed, and then they issued our clothing with which I was perfectly satisfied.

The boys in general are fine fellows, and our officers are excellent men. They treat us well. We have the privilege of going to town every night. We also have the use of a fine bath house, which we readily appreciated after that sand storm we passed through in Lubbock.

With best wishes to the Relief committee, I am,

Very truly yours,

Arthur W. Holt.

METHODIST CHURCH

The Sunday school meets this Sunday in the usual way for all classes and work. But if there seems to be an atmosphere that will warrant, we should like for the teachers to let a good part or all the hour be devoted to prayer and personal examination of each member of the class as to the spiritual status of the members and the work they may do in the forwarding of the meeting.

We hope our teachers will come with a special prepared heart and lesson for the hour after sometime in secret prayer and devotional Bible reading.

Brother Michael of Turkey, is doing some excellent old time Gospel preaching, characteristic of his nationality. Each service the people miss will be a distinctive loss to them. He stays with the Bible and walks out into the avenues of human thought and sins along the paths that all people tread, in his preaching.

The singing is directed by some member of the church and we are having some good singing. We do not have as many children as we think we might have unless they are tied at home with the measles or something else. We want the children at the church at eleven each morning, at the evening hour in a body to sing and have their part in the meeting.

The attendance at the meeting is growing at each service but we still have room for more people.

We are grateful to the members of the other churches of the town and country near us for their helpful cooperation. We are here to better conditions and help folks and if you are thus minded we ask you to come and go with us. We hope that all people in the country will feel they have a cordial invitation to all the services at any time in this church.

The FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M. D.

"HEART DISEASE"

A man who belonged to his country has passed—Calvin Coolidge. Former-Presidents always belong to America in common. Politics does not alter ownership. Mr. Coolidge was ours.

Scientific physicians may well ponder on death that comes before it ought to have died. But, there was a mighty insistent CAUSE, which physicians should be alert to discover. I cannot believe that the distinguished patient was not warned in plenty of time to have averted the tragedy.

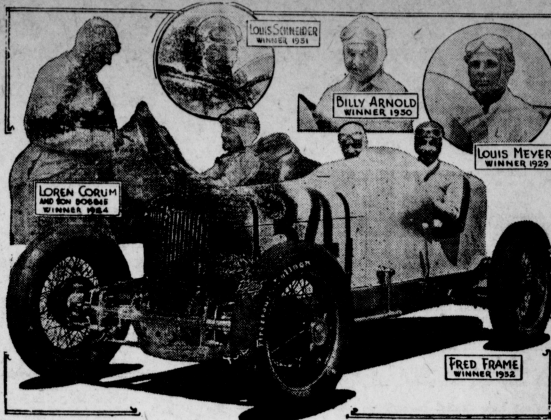

Was it tobacco? My own experience contradicts that verdict. I am seventy-one! and I have smoked excessively, I feel sure, but not with any menacing symptoms. Was it indolent habits and over-eating? Some say it was "acute indigestion." I don't believe acute indigestion alone ever killed anybody. Thousands—millions of children have it—relieved by simple evacuating the digestive canal.

If Mr. Coolidge died of genuine heart disease, it must have been a blocking of the coronary arteries—due for the most part to influenza—maybe an attack of mild severity, years ago. Such a thing could be,—I admit. But, the patient would have been warned in plenty of time by insidious, creeping attacks of SHORT BREATH ON EXERCISE. I have never contacted a case that was not—and I have seen many.

I lost two aged people with acute influenza last week. One past 80, the other 70. It is one of the most virile poisons known—and not well known at that.

It was more likely a case of over-indulgence in highly-seasoned food that disrupted an artery of the brain, that took Mr. Coolidge; one does not have to be a glutton to die of such a condition. He was temperate. I wonder if he ate his chief meal at six o'clock.

THE PRINTER'S DREAM

Good Morning, Mr. Printer! Your competitor down the street, who is not equipped to do the type of printing I want, sent me here with his guarantee that you were a fine printer. Here's a nice job for you; absolutely no hurry; use your own judgment in laying it out; I'll pay for your time in copy preparation and any alterations that may be necessary. Never mind showing me paper stock; use your own judgment. Price is no factor; I want the finest work you can do. Oh, yes, you do not know me, of course, so here's a certified check that will more than cover the total price of the job; credit any balance on the future work I will have for you. I make my living in this city and will pick out a good local printer and stick to him. Nice plant you have here; have a cigar; "long." A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Why is light men to a man whose way is hid, and whom God hath hedged in?—Job 4:23.
Bad men excuse their faults; good men will leave them.—Ben Jonson.

OUR OBLIGATION

Every citizen and especially every business man of any given town or city has certain responsibilities and owes certain obligations to the place in which he lives. There is a contribution toward the general welfare of that town and community which it has a right to expect of him. Newspapers and enterprises are no exception to this fact.

The first duty of a newspaper is, of course, the dissemination of news; but its duty does not end there by any means, rather that is only the beginning. It has a still greater duty to perform in seeking out and fostering such measures as are calculated toward furnishing better commercial, political and social environments, also the condemning of certain other practices calculated to undermine and destroy the community's welfare and future opportunities. In every community there are certain institutions, organizations and practices which have been largely responsible for that community's inception and development, which have made it an outstanding municipality such as it is today, and if that particular community is to continue its growth and prestige these must be continued.

The Journal has frequently called attention to the nefarious practices of buying merchandise elsewhere than in Muleshoe. We grant there is much desired in various lines that can not be purchased here; but we also insist there is much that could be bought here and is not. It has and is our honest conviction, backed up by positive proof, that to build a bigger and better Muleshoe local business concerns are entitled to and must have the patronage of all the local buying public. Money sent out of town or spent out of town, when it should be kept at home, has a disastrous effect upon every home citizen and home business concern. Business stagnation, a halt in the chart of progress is always noticed when there is a shortage of money in any given community, because money is the life-blood of business progress. To drain away the life-blood of a community is the same as tapping and draining of the life-blood of a person; sooner or later it produces stagnation and death.

There is no doubt there are multiplied hundreds of dollars of money that could and should be expended in Muleshoe that is expended in larger surrounding towns or is sent to mail-order houses. Think for a moment how much better for this town and its people it would be if this money could be spent here at home. The improvement noticed would soon be astounding! In the final analysis, Mr. Muleshoe citizen, it's up to you to make your home town what it should be!

DOING HER SHARE

From crop reports issued by both state and national agricultural bureaus, old Mother Nature is doing her share toward making 1933 the last year of the depression. From all over the country come reports of excessive rainfall in late April and early May, serving to reduce wheat and corn forecasts to as low as 60 percent of normal in many sections. Thousands of farmers delayed in corn planting, have given up the idea of growing that crop this year, and have diverted the acreage to other crops. The same is true of tobacco and other crops.

All of which means that America is in for a short grain crop, and prices are going to increase proportionately. It's hard for most farmers around Muleshoe to believe that agriculture is in for better days, for they have been disappointed so many times in the past when they permitted their hopes to rise. But from all appearances Mother Nature is going to do what presidents and farm boards and congress have not been able to do. She is going to level things up in the agricultural world and prevent that most common of all price-lowering agencies—overproduction.

Add to this the fact that the industrial centers of the country are showing a decided pickup in the matter of employment, and it really looks as though we are justified in the belief that we are at last on the path that leads back to prosperous times.

THE TRUCK'S PLACE

It is not uncommon to hear Muleshoe motorists complain of the way trucks are operated on the highways and yet the fact remains that they are here, and that they are actually rendering a service not provided by any other medium of transportation. Trucks, inconvenience motorists, no doubt of that, and several types of truck drivers deserve to be ruled off of the roads. But it is not fair to overlook the good the truck accomplishes.

Government statistics show that receipts of fruits and vegetables by trucks into eight of the largest cities in the country last year were equivalent to 150,000 carloads, or about 37 percent of the total of such goods received by all forms of transportation. This compared with 31 percent recorded the previous year shows how the motor trucks are gaining in their field. Truck handling of perishables is of great advantage to producers and consumers. The service also is of special advantage to farmers. Tractors, running rapidly from farm to farm, collect small lots and give the producer a cash market at his door, without taking either his time or money to market, all of which is worth much to Blackwater valley farmers.

The truck has a proper place in the transportation system of the nation. It needs discipline and regulation and must practice fairer competition. But getting rid of it entirely is out of the question.

HOW TO SPEND IT

It often appears that the chief problem of many of our people around Muleshoe is not a shortage of money but how best to spend that which they have.

In the old days it was often said that even though a man could not find money with which to pay his grocery bills he could always manage to get hold of enough to pay his bar bills. There are many complaining of shortage of money, they are not trying to scrape up enough to pay for gasoline and foolish luxuries of life. Nobody is complaining about this, however, since it is their money they are spending.

What the thoughtful citizen is complaining about is the hypocrisy of it, though foolish grumbling over money matters by those who do not spend their money in a sensible way. If you think there isn't any money left in the country, just let a circus or some thing like that come to town. Then you'll change your mind. There is still plenty in the country, and it is being spent, though not as rapidly as it should be. The complaint about a scarcity of it most generally comes from those who are spending it in the wrong way.

There are at least 100,000 acres of land in the Blackwater valley around Muleshoe that is capable of irrigation at very low cost, and now that loans for installation of pumping plants may be obtained from the government at 4% per cent, there should be several new pumping-plants installed this summer. Products of all kinds are greatly enhanced under irrigation. Some of the truck crops grown in this valley always sell at good prices. Irrigation always has and always will be a paying investment, and the farmer who can and fails to get into it stands in the way of his own financial progress.

From some unknown cause we've always been a little afraid of this reforestation idea. Last week Bailey county sent its quota of 10 men for enlistment in the reforestation army and now we have begun wondering how many poison-ivy pensions future generations may have to pay. Of course like the ex-war soldiers, they'll have to prove they were poisoned while in the actual line of duty.

The J. C. Penny Co. reports sales increase of 120 per cent over that of last year. We don't doubt it. That concern is one of the biggest users of newspaper advertising space, claiming no other form of advertising begins to compare with that of the local newspaper. Their big volume of business proves their assertions!

Commissioners of various counties in Oklahoma have fired the janitors at the court houses, bought brooms for the office holders, and told them to push them if they want their quarters kept clean. We wonder if anything like that could possibly happen in good old Texas.

The Century of Progress fair at Chicago managed to get open last Saturday, but we are still unable to understand how it was successfully accomplished without Muleshoe's "Booster Bob."

PROGRESS!

The greatest display at the coming Century of Progress exhibition at Chicago, will be the wonderful progress and adaptation in the uses of electricity in the home, factory, business house and in life generally.

No other product of human ingenuity has contributed so much to lighten the labor of the human family, and at the same time make life more comfortable than that of electricity. Without it many of the most marvelous inventions of the age would have never been made.

Its greatest uses today in our section is in lighting the home, furnishing the power for household necessities, and in making available unlimited resources of power for industrial uses.

DISPELS MYSTERY OF BANK BUSINESS

Country Banker Gives Simplified Picture of How a Bank Works to Help Other People's Business

A COUNTRY banker recently prepared the following simplified statement for his neighbors on just how a bank works.
"It is the most important part of a bank's business to lend money. Of all the money deposited in a bank, the law requires that a certain percentage be kept on hand as a reserve to meet the demands of depositors. It is the business of its officers to lend the balance conservatively and safely.
"The loans of a properly managed bank are invariably made to those it believes are able to repay, and always on condition that they be repaid at a stipulated time.
"The promise of an individual to repay a loan to a bank on a certain date is as sacredly inviolable as the promise of a bank to repay its depositors on demand, or, in the case of a certificate of deposit, on the date it falls due. When it comes to the knowledge of an individual that he 'always pays,' his credit is established and his bank is always glad to extend him needed accommodations.
"A well managed bank never capitalizes industries. That is, it does not place its loans in fixed form, but puts them where they are to be used for temporary requirements, and where they will be taken up at the time specified.
"How a Bank Lends
"It is not the function of a bank to become a partner in industries, nor could it be legitimately done with the money of depositors. Its loans must be kept in 'liquid' form,—that is, repayable in cash at stated intervals.
"A bank must not discriminate in making loans. A stranger cannot expect accommodations to make a statement of his financial affairs, which is kept in the bank's records. It is a punishable offense to make a false statement for the purpose of borrowing funds.
"Naturally, in their dealing with the regular depositors of the bank, its officers become well acquainted with their characters and their resources and are thus in a position to determine how large a line of credit each one is entitled to. That is one of the great advantages of being a bank depositor.
"The man who knows how to get into debt wisely, that is, who borrows money with which to make more money through legitimate enterprise, is the borrower whom the bank is looking for. By the frank interchange of opinion and a free discussion of various projects, the borrower is often guided and helped by his banker.
"In order to procure a line of credit at a bank three things are important: 1. A statement of the borrower showing a basis of credit in the way of invested capital, or collateral of sufficient value to cover amount of loan, or 2. An endorser whose credit is established at the bank; and 3. Average deposits of a sufficient amount to justify the extension of the desired accommodation."

AS WILL ROGERS SEES IT

Will Rogers recently told why the banks had got into trouble. "Don't blame it all on the bankers," he said. "When we all needed money they loaned it to us—but when they needed it we couldn't pay it back."
Advertising Aids Business Revival
NEW YORK.—Aggressive concerns are expanding business by effective advertising despite depressed business conditions, declared A. W. Diller, advertising counsel, at a bankers' conference here recently.
"It is 1933 a good year in which to advertise," Diller declared. "Yes, if 1933 is a good year to stay in business, to reinforce the public's confidence in you, to put more business on the books. There is new business to be had today and aggressive companies are getting it. But new business will come in only if you go out for it. Advertising certainly goes out for it."
"With people read newspaper advertisements these days? They will read anything that interests them. There are plenty of present-day arguments for business."

Advertising Mistakes

A QUESTION before many of us is what change of advertising policy, if any, should be made in view of present financial and business conditions. It is perfectly natural for us to give consideration to some degree of retrenchment, but it is dangerous to let reduction in expenditure be such as to bring about a real gap in the continuity of the advertising. It is a common mistake for some advertisers to think that they can turn advertising on and off, like water from a faucet, and expect it to become immediately effective whenever they are prepared to resume operations. Advertising does not work that way. Temporary conditions should not influence us to make too serious inroads on the program of advertising, which can be wisely conceived only on a long term basis.—Francis H. Blison, President American Bankers Association.

HOWS AND WHYS IN RAISING CHICKENS

Questions and Answers That Cover Many Points.

By H. H. ALP, Poultry Extension Specialist, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois-WNU Service.

Twenty-four questions and answers cover most of the stumbling blocks which Illinois farmers will have to clear in the successful brooding and feeding of chicks this spring.

Samples of the questions and answers placed in the hands of all county farm advisers, are:

Q. What are the essential requirements for successful rearing of chicks?

A. Healthy, vigorous chicks in a clean, ventilated house on a clean nest, not overcrowded, good feed, plenty of feeder space and the liberal use of good common sense.

Q. How much floor space should a chick have?

A. There should be at least one square foot of floor space for every three chicks.

Q. What should the room temperature of the brooder house be?

A. Generally the room temperature of the brooder house will vary somewhat with the age of the chicks. For the brooder stove method of brooding there should be little reason for the room temperature to be higher than 70 to 80 degrees. Too many brooder houses are kept too hot. However temperature recommendations do not mean room temperatures.

Q. When should chicks receive their first feeding?

A. As soon as they are put in the brooder house. Long delayed feeding likely to be followed by bad results.

Q. What are the most common mistakes made by the fock owner in rearing chicks?

A. Not providing enough hopper space, keeping the brooder house too hot and losing interest after the chicks are six weeks old.

Cost Sheet Shows Egg Profits in Year 1932

Every poultry fock owner keeping cost records for the poultry extension office at North Carolina State college during the year 1932 made a profit above feed cost of $1.27 a bird, according to figures submitted by the owners and recently tabulated by C. J. Maupin, poultry specialist.

There were 214 fock owners who kept these records through the year and made a careful report month by month of the results being secured.

The average for each month shows 40¢ from which records were made. This was an average of 188 eggs each farm for each month.

In October, the number of birds per farm reached 293 and the lowest was in August when records were made from 187 birds per farm. This indicates that some careful culling was done and that the average farm flock had been reduced more than 40 percent in the first eleven months of the year.

The gross income from the eggs received from the flocks reported upon amounted to $102,281.20 or $477.94 a farm. The gross value of eggs for each bird was $2.53. The average price received for eggs was 39.8 cents a dozen and the average feed cost for each dozen eggs was about 10 cents.

What Pullets Cost

Records on 41,121 pullets, kept during a period of three years in six leading poultry producing counties in California, give the net cash cost of raising pullets to six months of age as 70 cents. When labor, depreciation, and interest on investment were added, the net cost of raising each pullet increased to 96 cents. The total cost was $1.96, but there was an income of 83 cents from sale of cockerels and pullets, of three cents from sale of eggs, and a miscellaneous income of one cent. These figures, according to L. D. Sanborn, assistant farm adviser in Los Angeles county, were gathered by the agricultural extension service of the University of California.—Los Angeles Times.

Kind of Chicks That Pay

The chicks that grow without a check from hatching to maturity are those that pay best. The profitability of any lot of chicks raised depends on how many such there are in it. When the parent stock is all carefully selected for type and vitality, and any weakly looking chicks are killed when taken from the incubator, growing good, healthy chickens is entirely a matter of proper care and considerate feeding at every stage of growth.

Many Like Turkey-Growing

When the revival of interest in turkey growing began shortly after that was, authorities on poultry agreed that it was a passing fad—a rich man's game. So far events have disproved their judgment. Rich men who took it up have not tired of it as was expected, and their success encourages others to grow turkeys. Turkey growers generally find a certain fascination about the birds—in many ways so different from other poultry.—Boston Herald.

Good Idea Is To Unite Two Weak Bee Colonies

The uniting of bee colonies for winter requires some judgment and care. There may be in the yard a fairly strong colony with only of brood and little honey, and alongside it a queenless colony with plenty of honey and a decreasing force. The uniting of these two colonies will result in a strong colony with all that is needed for winter.

Get Pig-Raising Pointers

The farmer whose spring pigs die at uneven, unthrifty, and undersized at that time of year should visit the nearest farmer he can find in his community who is practicing sanitary management for the prevention of disease and parasites. He should look at this farmer's pigs, comparing them with his own. This comparison will indicate the cause of such losses.

Seed Wheat Smut

An application of copper carbonate dust at the rate of two ounces to each bushel of seed grain will prevent smut in seed wheat. Use a tight barrel or metal drum for mixing, however, as the dust is poisonous and will irritate the eyes and nose. The grain thus treated must not be used for any purpose other than planting, as the boronate dust is highly poisonous to men and animals.

Thin Forest for Fuel

Persons living near the Nebraska national forest are getting fuel wood from the thinning of the older plantings of pine, where only barren sand can estimate the bare area. They receive the wood in exchange for fuel cutting. The equivalent of $33.00 worth of work per acre was done by the applicants for wood on an 84-acre tract in the winter of 1932. Forest officers marked trees to be cut. The cost of supervision and marketing was less than $4 per acre.

Spinach and Fire

REPEAL OF NULLIFICATION
Repeal or nullification is what the country is facing. Theoretically a minority of thirteen or more States can prevent repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, but it is now clear that if there are thirteen States in the Union that will refuse to ratify the repeal amendment, they represent such a woeful minority of the population that they could not possibly influence the Federal Government in the matter of enforcement and could not succeed in obtaining appropriations from Congress to waste on the impossible task of "enforcing" prohibition. The Eighteenth Amendment, therefore, would be repealed. This is the only alternative to repeal, and it is sufficient reason, if there were no other, why Texas should vote to ratify the repeal amendment in August. The question which Texas faces is not whether national prohibition shall be continued or not. It is whether national prohibition shall be repealed or nullified. And there ought not to be any doubt as to how a majority of the people of Texas will vote on such a question as that. The uncompromising prohibitionists can talk all they please about a moral issue being involved; the truth remains that if a moral issue is involved in the choice between repeal and nullification, it is not on the side of those who would force nullification. There is nothing moral left about the Eighteenth Amendment. It has become a national nuisance. And Texas owes it to the people of the other States of the Union to help them to get rid of such a nuisance. It would be futile to attempt any longer to enforce it in the States whose people are overwhelmingly against it, and it would be silly to vote to keep it in the Constitution in such circumstances. Indeed, it would be worse than silly. It would be promoting a disrespect for law. The Eighteenth Amendment is dead. And nothing can put life in it again. All that is left to do is to give it a decent burial and then try to forget it. —Texas Weekly.

Mrs. Gene Kistler was the honoree at a miscellaneous shower when a group of close friends of the Kistler family met at the home of Mrs. Dudley Buzard Tuesday afternoon. Mednae Sparks and Kistler gave several musical numbers to the delight of those present.

Miss Iris Harden was director of the recreational hour. The guests entered into each game with zest. A cake naming contest was introduced. Therefore, she was declared winner of the prize, at which time she was presented with a large basket of mysterious packages. The lovely gifts were opened and displayed, after which the honoree expressed her thanks and appreciation for the gifts and the courtesies extended here. Some friends who were detained at home because of illness, sent lovely gifts.

A refreshing plate lunch was enjoyed by the guests. Others, than Miss Harden, who assisted Mrs. Buzard, were Mesdames Hobbs and Jones and Miss Ardeth Gilbreath—Reporter.

Recent rains have put the ground in excellent condition and farmers this week are busy in the fields with planters.

Pasture lands have been much rejuvenated and all planted gardens are growing nicely.

Present indications are for a large acreage of cotton to be planted in this section this year, also, with the price increase, there will be more sudan planted than there was last year.

I suppose that I may claim to be the first Ford Dealer. I not only made cars, but sold them and frequently delivered them myself. The "drive away" is not new; often I have driven cars from Detroit to towns in Ohio or Indiana or Michigan to make delivery.

There were no good roads in those days, and the people where I drove had never seen a motor car before.

My first really enthusiastic customers were Country Doctors. They were the first to realize the value of dependable transportation to a widely scattered practice.

Even today I occasionally hear from some of those first Ford users. We had to teach local mechanics how to care for the cars. That is how Ford Service began, which is now found everywhere in the world.

We believed from the beginning that a sale does not complete our transaction with our customer — it creates upon us an obligation to see that our customer's car gives him service. Ford Dealers know their duty to the public in this respect.

I can say of Ford Dealers generally that they have been and are men of character and standing in their communities. Most of them have been with us many years, which indicates that we agree on basic business principles. The Company provides that the methods used to sell the Ford car are consistent with the self-respect of the Dealers who handle it.

The present Ford V-8 is the peak of our 30 years experience. We have never made a better car. Its eight-cylinder engine is powerful and smooth running. The car is admittedly very good looking and has comfortable riding qualities. It is economical in operation because of advanced engine design and low car weight. It is the fastest, roomiest and most powerful car we have ever built.
