MAKEUP OF EARTH'S CRUST

Some Eighty Primary Substances Are Known to Exist in the "Belt" of the Planet.

Science can only guess what goes to make up the main body of the planet on which we dwell, says the Boston Herald. But it knows what the outer crust is made of—to a depth, say, of ten miles—because the materials have been "coughed up" by volcanoes and are easily studied.

This crust is composed of about eighty primary substances, or elements, among which are numbered the various metals. Gold for example, is an element; iron is another, and aluminum is another.

Nearly 8 per cent of the earth's crust is aluminum, which is the most plentiful of all the metals. It occurs in nearly all rocks; every clay bank is a mine of it. But to separate it from its ores is so difficult that until recently it was a mere curiosity of the laboratory.

Four and a half per cent of the earth's crust is iron. Aside from that metal, the useful elements commercially available before electricity took a hand in the game, such as copper, lead, zinc, silver, nickel and tin, together comprised less than 1 per cent of the earth's crust.

Electricity has made available other valuable elements (aluminum among them), which constitute nearly one-half of the crust of the planet.

TO USE WATER SECOND TIME

Engineering Corps of English City Solves Problem Which Had Long Worried Authorities.

A novel feature in the Sheffield corporation bill, which, after a 19 days' hearing, has been approved by the local legislation committee of the house of commons, is that it authorizes the re-use of water. The city of Sheffield is at present under statutory obligation to discharge into two tributaries of the River Don 9,000,000 gallons a day of moorland water as compensation for water taken from the river. The Sheffield scheme utilizes the water for town requirements, and in order that the flow of the River Don shall not be diminished and works owners prejudiced, the corporation is to pump back, from a point below the town, a quantity of water equivalent to that abstracted from the river. This substituted water is first purified and treated for industrial use. It will be pumped a distance of 11 miles, the daily flow through the pipe line averaging 9,000,000 gallons.

By this bold scheme Sheffield has solved a water situation which was critical. The alternative was a scheme for drawing from far afield additional supplies at a cost of about $15,000,000.—London Telegraph.

A FIGHT.

Mrs. Mary Miller Patton of the International Purify federation, said in a Pittsburgh lecture:

"And, ladies and gentlemen, another movement of ours that will interest you, I am sure, is our movement against the use of gauze in skirts and blouses both off and on the stage.

"Gauze—I say it boldly—acts in a pernicious way in the morals of young men; yes, and on the morals of men who are young no longer.

"So that, ladies and gentlemen, is our present fight, a fight against gauze—a fight, I may say, against gauze and effect."

A SOLEMN BUSINESS.

"It is predicted that the new type of salesman will be a sort of ballyhoo man, who carries around a calliope and a troop of performing elephants."

"That wouldn't suit my trade."
 "What do you sell?"
 "Tomstones."—Birmingham Age Herald.

YE HUSBANDS

Published by request.
A listening ear may bring you information that love and appreciation are to a woman what dew and sunshine are to the flowers. They freshen and brighten her whole life. They make her strong hearted and keen sighted in every thing affecting the welfare of her home. They make her to cherish her husband when the cares of life press heavily upon him; and to be a very providence to her children.

To really know her husband loves her and is proud of her and believes in her; that even her faults are looked upon with tenderness; that her face to one at least is the fairest in all the world that the heart which is to her the greatest and noblest holds her sacred in his innermost recess above all other women, gives a strength and energy and sweetness and vivacity which the world cannot bestow. Let a woman's life be pre-empted with such an influence, her mind and heart will never grow old, but will blossom and sweeten and brighten in perpetual youth. On the other hand, if she is to be continually harassed with your un-called-for and unkind criticism, fault findings and sharp cutting sayings, her life and your home will never reach the ideal in happiness. How can a woman, whose husband is unkind, unappreciative and indifferent to her efforts to be a true, loving companion, be her real self when she realizes the man who promised to love and protect her is more polite, kind and attentive to other than to her. Some men are all smiles when others besides home folks are about, but the fur often flies when the company is gone.

A good woman is entitled to more politeness and respect from her husband than any other living person. There are many breaking hearts caused by man's indifference towards his wife. Some men think their tracts are covered up and the public ignorant of their ways.

If it was the woman instead of the man society would turn its back upon her, but Mr. Man goes on and is a hail fellow well met. Woman's heart-strings are often strained to their utmost capacity as they are forced to yield to the inattention of the man who won her affections in childhood or young girlhood and led her to the matrimonial altar where he made promises he is failing to carry out. One fault in the way of living of a great many people is that they never make company of their own families. The habit of treating those who are nearest and dearest to us with discourtesy and disregard is one that clouds the sunshine of too many homes.

When we learn to be polite, not only as society people, but as husbands and wives, sisters and brothers, parents and children, we shall do well. No home can be happy wherein sarcastic, cutting speech and rude disregard for one another's rights is the rule. Mr. Man, wherever you are, or whatever position you may hold, whenever you disregard your marriage vows and lose your self respect for that little woman and mistreat her you are largely to blame and it can be truly said of you, "Physician, heal thyself." Ye who road and are not guilty may use the shovel, but if guilty use the rake. Some things need cleaning up in the church as well as out. Where do you stand? What will you do? If some men don't owe their wives apologies (which perhaps they will never make) the word apology should be stricken from the list. Thou art the man and you know it. We once heard of a man saying he ought to apologize to a man whom he had wronged, but he would go to hell before he would do it. We know men who claim to be going the other way who have said and done things that if they don't straighten up here on earth by apologies and sorrowful repentance that need not be repeated for there will be quaking and trembling before the throne. Truth is truth and the man in the church who slips around to get bootlegging booze to drink is no better than the bootlegger. The man who wilfully violates the laws of his country, state, county and town and who has to dodge around to evade detection is liable to run up on something that will cause other violations and in the end his sins will find him out. God is not mocked, for whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap.—H. C. Cobb in Goldthwaite Eagle.

3rd. Plaintiff alleges that during the time she and the defendant lived together as aforesaid, she was kind and affectionate to him, and conducted herself with propriety, but that the defendant, unmindful of the duties and obligations of his marital vows, on or about the date aforesaid, with the intention of permanently abandoning plaintiff as aforesaid, without cause or the consent of the plaintiff, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife.

Better Stock—Better Stock.

This is the slogan of a national better live-stock crusade, to get actively in motion October 1, that is announced by the United States Department of Agriculture, working in cooperation with the State Agricultural Colleges and other agencies interested in live stock improvement. The campaign looks forward to the future food needs of this country's increasing population and resulting from long and careful observation of the live stock industry in this country, and was planned after extensive consultation with specialists and breeders. The plan is to hasten the replacement of the multitude of scrub domestic animals in the United States with pure bred or high grade stock and also to improve the quality of pure breeds themselves. The goal in view is greater efficiency in production.

The campaign will be the first organized crusade in a large country to improve all stock simultaneously. It will interfere in no way with any work in live stock improvement now being conducted, but makes all the work more definite and effective by providing official recognition for aggressive breeders.

The campaign will be supervised from the Department of Agriculture in Washington, and in each State by the State agricultural college. County agents and other field workers of the Department of Agriculture and of the State colleges will handle the campaign locally. Every livestock owner actively cooperating and keeping and using pure bred stock will be given an emblem of quality will be given an emblem as an official recognition of merit.

CUPID AT HIS WORST.

Charles Zimmerman, wealthy cabinetmaker, forgot his promise of marriage to Stella Dugovic, a pretty blue-eyed and blond-haired girl of nineteen, and was sent to Ludlow street jail on April 3 after Stella sued him for damages of $10,000. In Ludlow street Zimmerman had an opportunity to study Cupid at his worst, for the almoners are men who have found matrimony less pleasant than jail. After 67 days Charles decided that Cupid at his worst was better than jails at their best. He communicated his views to M. James Henry, his attorney. Thereupon Mr. Henry saw Miss Stella. She still was willing to become Mrs. Zimmerman. An order was obtained in the supreme court to free the cabinetmaker. Outside the jail doors stood Stella awaiting him, and they hurried to the marriage chapel in the Municipal building, where Charles was again fettered, this time as a bridegroom. The couple went to the Adirondacks.—New York Times.

VANISHED WITH THE FROST.

"Where are the knives and forks of last summer?" grumbled the old farmer as he counted up the tableware after the last boarder had left for the city.
"And where are the 'spoons' of last summer?" laughed the farmer's daughter as she gazed out at the empty benches and hammocks.

PECUNIARY PROBLEMS.

"Are you going to take any boarders this summer?"
"No," replied Farmer Cornbassel. "Everything the boarders eat goes up in value so much that we feel we could have done better if we had let 'em stay in town and pay the market prices."

THE DEPRESSING INSTRUCTOR.

"Did you ever take swimming lessons?"
"Yes. Once. They made swimming seem so hard that I've been afraid to venture into the water ever since."

REMINERS OF OLD LONDON

Interesting Discoveries Made During the Process of Dock Extension in the British Capital.

The port of London authorities during excavations in connection with dock extensions have been keenly watching for evidences of ancient and prehistoric London.

Though they did not find so much as they expected, they were gratified with several interesting discoveries.

Distinct traces of a buried forest were found at the bottom of the South Albert dock, which is probably a part of that which Peppys speaks in his diary as having been found at Blackwall.

A number of beautiful walking-sticks were made of some of the hard bog oak found in this buried forest, and visiting colonial premiers and other public men were only too eager to secure them as souvenirs.

It became necessary to remove the path known as Manor way, which traversed the lock of the dock, and evidence was found to show that this was the old Roman route between Essex and Kent. Some Roman potteries were discovered hereabouts.

All those relics of past ages are being collected with a view to establishing either a Port of London museum, or augmenting the other public collections in London.

ITEMS OVERLOOKED

"How much is your new country house going to cost?"
"Much more than I expected," answered Mr. Cornbassel. "We forgot to figure in the mural decorations and private elevator for the servant's room."

Suggests Method to Save Live Stock Industry.

W. L. Aldwell, president of the First National Bank of Sonora, formerly a practical stockman, has addressed a letter to Western Senators and Congressmen, suggesting that the National Bank Act, Section 5200 be amended in order to enable banks, members of the Federal Reserve, to loan live stock producers, as an emergency, 30 per cent on a three-fourths value of wethers and steers and on two-thirds value of general livestock, mother stock, sheep and cattle at a rate of 8 per cent for term of 12 months, conditional on other customary security.

Mr. Aldwell thinks an arrangement of this kind would tide over the emergency and save the cattle industry from probable serious loss as well as put the loaning of the emergency fund in the hands of the local bankers who are better equipped to know the wants and responsibility of the stock raisers.

The letter has received favorable replies from Senator Morris Sheppard, Congressman Hudspeth Chas. C. Hall of the Federal Reserve bank and others addressed.

The Transcontinental Oil Co., that has taken over the Benedum & Trees contracts in West Texas, spudded in on the James Paters ranch in Sutton and Kimble counties at 10:45 p. m., Monday Aug. 4th. They were pressed for time during the last week and had 32 men working night and day to save the $5,000 forfeit. Time was up at 12 o'clock that night and the oil men won by a narrow margin. What he has seen from the roads has caused him to go home for his car and assistant in order to return and make a more complete reconnaissance.

DEVIL'S RIVER OIL & GAS COMPANY.

UNINCORPORATED
SITUATED IN EDWARDS COUNTY, TEXAS.
DOES THINGS DIFFERENT.
STUDY OUR PLAN

A careful study of the Devil's River Oil & Gas Company's plan will convince the close student of investments that we are offering the BEST inducement in the OIL fields. Oil production in Texas fades the total gold production of Alaska in its best days into insignificance. Alaska's best production of gold was only $15,000,000.00 while Texas is producing about $150,000,000.00 worth of oil. The production is increasing so rapidly that it is conservatively estimated that the output will be close to $300,000,000.00 in 1920.

NOW is the time to get in the oil business in order to reap the early harvest. With 600 acres of oil lands to draw from, we anticipate making big profits on our most liberal plan. PROFITS that will make fast friends for our company in future enterprises which we have in mind when the Company's present plans are in operation. DO NOT DELAY your subscriptions. There is nothing to gain and MUCH to lose by deferring until some future date. NOW is the time to INVEST, and OUR company is the ONE to be in, for it gives you the biggest run for your money in the race for MILLIONS. Fill in the subscription blanks NOW and sail in the good ship PROSPERITY.

Miss Torah Smith took her troop of Girl Scouts to the picnic grounds on the North Llano for an outing Saturday. They had a delightful time and it developed that they had in their ranks a sharpshooter worthy of being entered in the All America shoot. Those in the party were: Grace Trainer, Etta Adams, Pearl Hull, Jewel Eaton, Blanche Turney, Gladys McClelland, Dorothy Smith, Miss Torah Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Jap Holman.

Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, Okla., writes: "From the time I entered into womanhood . . . I looked with dread from one month to the next. I suffered with my back and bearing-down pain; until life to me was a misery. I would think I could not endure the pain any longer, and I gradually got worse. . . Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, . . . I decided to

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I took four bottles," Mrs. Jones goes on to say, "and was not only greatly relieved, but can truthfully say that I have not a pain. . . It has now been two years since I took Cardui, and I am still in good health. . . I would advise any woman or girl to use Cardui who is suffering from any female trouble. . . If you suffer pain caused from womanly trouble, or if you feel the need of a good strengthening tonic to build up your run-down system, take the advice of Mrs. Jones. Try Cardui. It helped her. We believe it will help you."
