People witnessing the exhibits were generous and free in their words of praise for the many fine specimens on view, while judges expressed themselves in the highest terms possible of the exhibits of commodities, declaring many of them "born booths in some of the rarest exhibits."

From one to three horse races or three automobile dog and rabbit races Saturday. Friday there game played between the Anton High school resulting in a score of 39 to the Anton team. Business concerns throughout the entire fair period report much business for farm and home demonstration products were: C. C. Johnson, farm agent of Lubbock county; W. W. ### Might Retire

Most sensible people have little use for political persons par se, and the Catholic Review, official church organ at Baltimore, suggests and urges that Father Coughlin and Monsignor John Ryan, political opponents, "to retire into solitude and rest awhile."

Eye Fakers

The "Glimmer racket" wherein a bunch of crooks posing as eye specialists have cleaned up more than $350,000 from innocent and unsuspecting people, who have submitted to eye operations and purchased glasses at exorbitant prices, has been caught up with by postal authorities and 15 of the criminals arrested.

FOUR NOW HELD SAM T. HODGES ON CHARGES OF FUNERAL HELD COTTON THEFT SUN., LUBBOCK

Stolen And Forged Receipts Total About $3,200.

P. P. Cooper, Maple, was arrested Monday afternoon in connection with the issuance of 71 bogus warehouse receipts totaling about $3,200. He makes the fourth arrest on this case made in Bailey county by Sheriff Jim Cook and State Inspector Barr, of the Intelligence Department. Luke Tipton, J. D. Tipton, brothers, and W. H. Newton were arrested last week. All have made bond. It is stated by Barr that he has a line on at least two others, and their arrests are expected to follow shortly.

It is alleged the bank receipts were stolen from the Union Congress and Warehouse Co., at Littlefield in March 1935, and at the same time the office of the company was set on fire, in a supposed attempt to hide the robbery. Indications are, according to Barr, that the original numbers on the receipts were erased and others substituted in their stead. There are also indications that checks were forged by some printing concern to match the warehouse receipts.

About 40 bales of the cotton is alleged to have been sold to Pass Cotton Co., Littlefield; 11 bales to W. E. Bass, Littlefield, and 20 bales to John T. Lokey, Lubbock. The forgeries are said to have been discovered sometime early in January.

HOUSING 5,000 CRATES DAILY

Sweet potatoes are going into curing houses of the Portales, N. M., Sweet Potato association at the rate of 5,000 crates daily, according to the Daily News of that city. Average yields of 441 crates per acre are being reported, a far better yield than last year, and with very much less blight than common.

There are 152 farmers members of the association, and it is said a good market outlook is promising. Geo. Johnson, of that same valley, is reported to have picked 24,000 pounds of beans from two and a quarter acres—and still more yet to pick. He has been selling them at four cents per pound.

CONGRESSMAN MAHON GOES TO NEW YORK STATE FOR SPEECH

Following addresses given in leading cities of New Mexico last week, Congressman George Mahon this district has been summoned to New York city to advise with members of the National Democratic committee relative to President Roosevelt's campaign. He will probably be given some eastern speaking assignments during the remainder of the political campaign.

School principals and superintendents from all over this area will attend and take part in the program. Muleshoe will be represented by Superintendent W. C. Cox.

BLANKET BALLOT 22x30 INCHES AND OF EIGHT COLUMNS, ALSO HAVING 6 AMENDMENTS TO GREET VOTERS

An Anticipated Vote of 900,000 Or More Is Expected, Many Amendments Doubtful, Presidential Race Heated.

Only a few more days now until the big political show-down, when every patriotic American citizen, male or female of legal age will visit the polls of his or her respective precinct, November 3 and cast their vote for the future prosperity of the nation as they see it, and these little "Ballots falling silently as snowflakes upon the sod, will excite the freemason will, as lightning does the will of God" and another four years of New Deal, Old Deal or some other kind of deal will be in action.

Last week the Journal printed 2,000 "blanket" ballots for the coming election. They are called blanket, because their size is 22x30 inches, by far the largest ballot ever printed in the history of Bailey county. There are eight columns in this ballot, six party tickets being listed, a column for write-in on an "independent" ticket and an entirely blank column which the voter may give his own party heading and in which he may write in his choice for every office. There are also six constitutional amendments trailing the ballot, which each vote to give consideration for or against.

Those who vote a straight party ticket will find the balloting an easy matter as they will simply cross out the other seven columns, leaving the one they wish to vote for unmarked. In voting on the amendments they may simply scratch out "for" or "against" before each of the six amendments, according to their desires. Texas voters will not vote directly

LANDON STILL LEADS ROOSEVELT IN POLL OF LITERARY DIGEST; MANY CITY VOTES YET TO ARRIVE IN COUNT

Landon captures 32 states and Roosevelt 16 as 1,811,489 ballots are reported from all states in the quarter final returns of The Literary Digest's nation-wide Presidential poll of last week.

The Republican nominee's lead decreases slightly percentage-wise, but still retains a substantial majority of close to 3 to 2 in the popular vote represented by the poll returns. The seventh week's tabulation shows Landon with 1,004,086 poll votes to Roosevelt's 728,088 and Lemke's 61,981.

Initial returns are reported in this poll from 34 states, including the additional states, Vermont and New Hampshire go approximately 3 to 1 in Connecticut nearly 4 to 1 for Landon.

Delaware gives the Republican candidate an edge of less than 5 to 4, while West Virginia is shown indicating a Republican majority of nearly 3 to 2. South Carolina's first batch of ballots gives Roosevelt a lead of over 6 to 1. North Carolina votes for him about 3 to 1 and Virginia goes Democratic by over 3 to 2.

Of the 40 states from which ballots were reported last week 22 show an increase lead for Landon, 17 show a decrease and no change is recorded in one. His own state of Kansas and also Kentucky and Missouri give the Republican nominee substantial increases while Idaho, Michigan and Wisconsin cut his majority sharply percentage-wise.

Due to the addition of metropolitan city votes Landon's majority is cut in New York from nearly 3 to 1 last week to less than 2 to 1 this week and his majority in Pennsylvania declines over 7 per cent.

A division of the Electoral College vote of these quarter final returns indicates Landon would receive 370 electoral votes to Roosevelt's 161.

STARKEY WINS 4-H HONORS

Robert Starkey, Baileyboro 4-H club boy, who won a $750 prize at the South Plains fair, Lubbock, when he placed second in group of five showings, has also been chosen as the outstanding 4-H club boy meat demonstrator for Bailey county. Starkey has fed out 10 head of Hereford grade calves. His average receipts were $78.81 average expense, $62.74, average net return per animal $16.07, cost per pound gain was $4.29 cents.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Frank H. Hodges, and a daughter, Miss Eleanor Hodges, who is a school teacher at Canadian.

for a president and a vice-president; but will ballot for the electors under the banner of the respective parties.

In 1932 there were 854,917 presidential votes cast in Texas, and that year there were 1,108,086 paid poll taxes, and an estimated 15 per cent. exemptions bringing the eligible total up to 1,247,288. This year there are 1,168,223 poll taxes paid, with estimated exemptions bringing the total to 1,343,456; which may produce 900,000 or more votes November 3.

Those who anticipate being away from home Nov. 3 began casting their absentee ballots October 31, that privilege ending October 31.

So far as county and district candidates in Texas are concerned, the mere fact of having their names on the ticket following Democratic primaries, is generally tantamount to election; but with the amendments to the constitution the situation is quite different. Many citizens will not familiarize themselves with the merits of these amendments and will go to the polls to guess at the conclusion, or else not vote on them at all. While it is generally conceded that the Democratic nominee for U. S. president will carry by major majority in Texas, yet it is perhaps not an entirely foregone conclusion, as "Jeffersonian" Democrats and ardent members of other parties are waging mighty warfares against the originator of the New Deal.

Every citizen having a poll tax should recognize it as one of their most serious duties to be sure to vote November 3.

MULESHOE HIGH LEASES LAST GAME OF SEASON TO ANTON

The last football game of this season to be played by the Muleshoe school Yellow Jackets was here Friday afternoon last week with the Anton High school team, with the scores standing 35 and six in Anton's favor at the final wind up.

Most of the Muleshoe boys who played here during the game were those who will be next year's material. The Muleshoe High school girl's pep squad, sponsored by Miss Adelle Belle Fort, assisted by Miss Evelyn Boone, was present and did a big part of the playing on the side lines with their many lively yells and songs. Before going to the game, the girls dressed in their uniforms of gold and white, marched down through Main street by the rap, tap, tap of drums and advertised the game.

A large crowd of football fans and persons particularly interested in the teams attended the game, as this was the first home game of the season.

Season For Colds Presents Problem Worth Attention

Austin, October 19.—The common cold is an economic problem of considerable importance and more time is lost from work and school through colds and the illness to which they open the way than from any other single cause, according to observation of public health authorities.

"As a means of preventing colds, gripe, influenza, or whatever you choose to call the ailment that is usually present at this season, keep your set as fit as possible," said Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. "Get plenty of sleep. Don't overdo. Eat nourishing food at regular times, but do not overeat. Drink plenty of water and take some exercise out of doors every day.

"Colds are spread from person to person through the discharges from the nose and throat. Avoid droplet infection from the coughs and sneezes. The germs which cause you to sneeze. The germs which cause you to sneeze. The germs which cause you to sneeze. You may also catch cold by using an unwashed glass, spoon or fork, which has been used by someone with a cold. The germs may be on your hands because you have touched something which has been handled by the person with a cold. Wash your hands frequently, especially before eating. "Dress according to the weather. Have a coat ready for the cool days and don't feel that you are coddling yourself when you put it on. Sleep with your windows open but have sufficient blankets available to be comfortable. Do not allow the temperature of your home or working place to exceed 70 degrees.

"The quickest way to get rid of a cold is to go to bed and stay there—following your physician's advice at the beginning of the attack. For the public the surest prevention is for everyone who has a cold to go to bed and stay there until it is cured, to receive no visitors and to avoid all crowds, in order that one may not be guilty of transmitting a possible deadly infection."

HELPFUL HINTS By Aleda

Mr. Henshaw: This newspaper will publish "Helpful Hints" in the form of regular columns and parts in its own recipe book.

To Remove Paraffin—If paraffin sticks to a vessel in which it has been melted fill the vessel with boiling water. When cool the paraffin will be floating on top and can then be poured off.

Rugs—Many experience trouble with their rugs curling at the corners. To remedy this, first wet the corners thoroughly. Next place boards on them. Then leave to dry. When the boards are removed the edges will be straight.

Wet Shoes—When shoes are wet let them dry by themselves. Artificial methods are injurious to the leather.

Kitchen Walls—Kitchen walls should be painted—not papered. This way they are much more sanitary and will wash.

Coffee—A pinch of salt in the coffee adds greatly to its flavor.

To Revive a Fire—Dried orange or lemon peel thrown on a dying fire will soon revive it. A bit of sugar sprinkled on will have the same effect.

A Mop—If an oil mop is brushed with a whisk-broom, after being used, it will not become matted, as is its tendency.

Glass Wear—To make glass ware glisten follow these directions: Wash the piece carefully, and then rinse in hot water. After this, place in cold water in which a handful of starch has been dissolved. Then dry thoroughly and polish with a dry cloth.

Whipped Cream—A teaspoonful of drained honey will sweeten whipped cream and make it remain stiff for a whole day, the same time giving it a delightful flavor.

Peeling Onions—If an electric fan is kept blowing on an onion, it can be prepared for the table without "tears."

Fisher of Weasel Family
The name "fisher" applied to the animal is rather a misnomer in view of the fact that the animal does not live on fish—in fact, does not even go into the water. It belongs to the weasel family and lives chiefly on rabbits, birds, berries, etc., in the wild state.

Presenting the phenomenal facts about GULFPRIDE

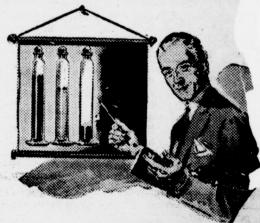

THE WORLD'S FINEST MOTOR OIL

THE facts on this page sound hard to believe. But here is the reason why GULFPRIDE—and only GULFPRIDE—can accomplish such results . . .

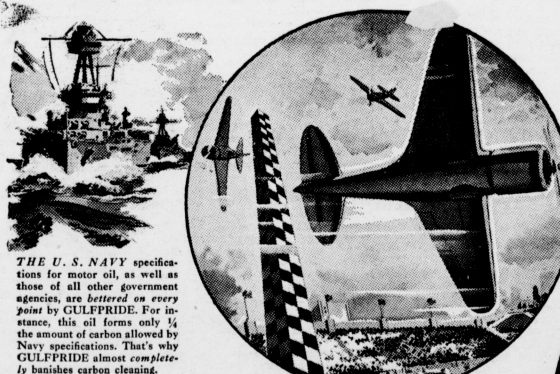

Gulf begins with selected Pennsylvania crude, refines it to a motor oil that equals the best—then further refines it by the exclusive Alchlor process.

Only GULFPRIDE is made by this process—result of 15 years' research—the same scientific research that has made every Gulf product a leader.

Read the facts below. Then drain your dirty summer-worn oil and refill with GULFPRIDE now. At all Gulf dealers.

AN AMAZING TEST. Bottle No. 1 shows a mixture of 6 famous Pennsylvania motor oils. Bottle No. 2 shows them after being put through Gulf's Alchlor process. Bottle No. 3 shows the 20% waste removed from these already highly-refined oils by Gulf's Alchlor process. This process starts where others stop! That's why GULFPRIDE is the world's finest motor oil.

THE U. S. NAVY specifications for motor oil, as well as those of all other government agencies, are bettered on every point by GULFPRIDE. For instance, this oil forms only 1/4 the amount of carbon allowed by Navy specifications. That's why GULFPRIDE almost completely banishes carbon cleaning.

TOPS IN THE AIR—8 out of the 11 winners in last year's National Air Races used GULFPRIDE OIL the identical oil you can buy for your car at any Gulf dealer. This "aviator's oil" will take you farther before you need to add a quart than any oil you ever used!

WEEKLY LAY SERMON THE INSUFFICIENT WORLD

By JESS MITCHELL

Standing in the midst of his palatial residence some years ago, a brilliant young man, then only thirty-five years of age, exclaimed: "Vanity, vanity, all is vanity!" He was terribly perturbed. Some years previous to that his father had said "All men are liars," but later apologized for the expression by saying he stated it in "haste," without due forethought and deliberation. Now, the son, who had enjoyed much greater opportunities than had his father was making a similar statement of disgust. It is to wonder why!

Seemingly the world had practically exhausted itself on King Solomon. It had woven its brightest flowers into his garland, set its richest gem in his coronet, pressed its rarest wine to his lips, robed him in the purest purple and richest embroidery, cheered him with the sweetest music, greeted him with the gladdest laughter, and sprinkled his cheek with the spray from brightest fountains.

Royalty had no dominion, wealth no luxury, gold no glitter, flowers no fragrance, song no melody, light no radiance, waters no gleam, architecture no grandeur, but it was all his. Across the magnificent lawn of his residence dotted with beds of flowers brought from the four corners of earth, also fell the long shadows of trees from distant forests. Fishpools, fed by artificial channels brought streams from hills far away in which ruffled and swam numerous fms of rainbow hues. Birds from distant aviaries and unknown forests glanced and fluttered among the foliage and called to mates beyond the seas. From the royal stable twelve thousand magnificent steed of the finest blood, neighed to their hammers, as they cheered their riders over troughs of gold while awaiting the king's orders to be harnessed to some fourteen hundred chariots when, with flaunting mane, throbbing nostrils and quivering flanks they would jar the earth of Palestine with the tramp of hoofs and the thunder of wheels.

Within or without that magnificent palace one could not think of a single luxury that could be added nor a single splendor that could be kindled to accentuate the degree of magnificence. On the banks of that nation's sea, hammers of shipwrights rang in construction of still larger vessels for a still wider commerce, for all lands paid tributary to Solomon's glory. His keels out every ocean brine, his axes split in to every forest, his hunters brought down every rare specimen of bird and beast, his fisherman threw their nets into every stream, everywhere merchants traded with his representatives, all tribes of people knew and recognized his superior royalty. Wealth had no luxury, gold no glitter, song no cadence, light no brilliancy, water no gleam, birds no plumage, architecture no grandeur, but it was all his.

Yet this man coming out onto the palatial portico of his magnificent home, clad in the most magnificent of robes, incensed with the riches of jewels, looks over his vast domain and with breaking heart, tearful eyes and quivering lips, exclaims, "All is vanity, vanity and vexation of spirit!"

"Unfortunate," you may say it is that earthly emoluments will not bring satisfaction to human hearts, yet such is the inevitable fact, for humanity is primarily a spiritual rather than a physical degree of earthly honor that can fully satisfy the cravings of human breasts. Of course, I could name you many who have been quite happy and satisfied with the high positions they occupied; but that joy came not from the fact of their earthly choice and elevation by their fellowmen; but rather in the joy of service they rendered because of this personal distinction.

King Solomon, at the time of this vivid utterance, was still a young man. All the pleasure of palatial residence and earthly honors, all the flattery of foreign diplomats from universal sycophancy, gathered about him. For many years his throne stood firm and his people were quite loyal; yet finally came these words of disappointment!

"How many people of all ages have had similar experiences! They think if they could get to this or that position—if they could just be mayor, or senator or governor, or president, they would be perfectly happy—and they go on climbing and climbing, but alas, never find the anticipated solace of their ambition. Ask the men who have gone through politics of the last 20 or 30 years what they think of the honors of this old world, and invariably they will exclaim, "Ashes!" President Jackson, before the end of his second term, declared "I am glad to get out of it, for it is a perfect hell," and no president of this great nation has gone through any one or two terms but his brow has been greatly ruffled, his back terribly bent and his hair much whitened.

Not long ago Senator Wm. E. Borah, of Nevada, declared the greatest satisfaction he obtained from his long national service was not anything of a personal nature, for it had been and still is a terrible grind; but the fact of service. My personal friend, Hon. Morris Sheppard, U. S. Senator from Texas, one time told me, if he had it all to do over again, he questioned taking up politics. It has been a magnificent opportunity of service he declared; but a terrible price to pay for the privilege. So the truth is much the same in the realm of business for numerous men juggling figures and jostling colleges and professions, trying to make more than a living; 4. competence, 5. fortune—have found themselves at the end of life left with little of its satisfactions.

Long ago it was proven that honor, truth and justice can not go so high up in authority as to let beyond human assault. By honesty, by pure motive, by patriotic devotion, by sincere wisdom principle, one may seek for the favor and confidence of their fellowmen; yet they should realize that the sun does not always shine upon such high platforms. The Alps of Italy are covered with perpetual snow and ice, and one having obtained the love and confidence of their associates and contented wife brought nothing into this world, and it is quite certain we can take nothing out. Mental satisfaction, real heart ease, spiritual royalty is ever the kind that makes eternal things and undying high priests of humanity.

Worldly wealth does not satisfy. Of course the more wealth a man has, if he gets it honestly and uses it lawfully, the better. The tendency and teaching of the world is toward quickening the mental acumen in such a way as to lead it toward riches; but to say the least, the man who builds his soul's happiness entirely or principally on earthly accumulation is not at all wise. Ten thousand incidents over thousands of past years prove that fact. King Solomon was a millionaire in his own right and at his father's death received many millions more of wealth. Balkas, the Queen of Sheba, gave him herself and an added fortune of wealth. Numerous other kings and capitalists of his day made magnificent contributions to his bulging bank account; yet with all this affluence he declared it was all "vanity!" Suffice it to say that physical possessions will not satisfy an immortal soul. No amount ever gained by sweat of brow or cogitation of brain will make one entirely happy.

Fundamentally, happiness consists not in what we get, but rather in what we are. There are plenty of people today, possessing a superabundance of this world's goods who are wretched, feroceous, cranky, and uncompromising. They have a countenance of wrath and a lip that curls with scorn, while many a laboring man who goes home with a shovel over his shoulder has a heart that is bright with hope, flaming like an aurora borealis within his soul of eternal light.

Would I had the power to break the absorbing infatuation of men who are neglecting present real sources of satisfaction, hoping that something in the future will right and lighten their souls, for the heart must be right now for everything else to be right. If the heart is wrong, everything else must essentially be wrong. The highest riches of this life and the life to come, the greatest emoluments of this life and the future life, the crowns that never fade and never fall, the riches that declare eternal dividends, are those of a mental and spiritual nature. They never bear the imprint of the "Almighty Dollar."

General News Over Texas And Adjoining States For The Week

There were only nine business failures in Texas during the month of September, according to Dunn-Bradstreet.

The State Liquor board, Austin, has been asked to provide the likeness of Santa Claus being used in liquor advertisements.

First of the week indications are that most of the members of Texas Legislature are in favor of restrictions on old age pensions.

Jesse Jones and wife, Houston citizens, now in Washington, last week announced a gift of $10,000 to the Democratic party fund in Texas.

Thos. Blanton, Lubene, defeated for re-election as U. S. Congressman, has moved to Washington, D. C., and was last week admitted to the bar of Federal district court. In son John, was also admitted to practice before the district bar.

Present indications are the suit of Petroleum Securities Co., to evict Albert B. Fall from the Three Rivers, N. M., ranch may be settled amicably. Fall claims the suit is of the kind of that ranch he retained homestead and residence rights on it and has refused to move therefrom.

Cornerstone of the new Baptist church under process of erection at Portales, N. M., was laid last week under direction of the Masonic Grand lodge, that state, Ex-governor W. H. Duckworth, Clovis, being principal speaker. Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, well known in Muleshoe, is pastor.

State Department of Education of Texas is making preparations to purchase $500,000 worth of text books for free distribution to public schools for use in the next scholastic year. These include some 35 basal and supplementary texts from second grade on thru high school.

A total of 85,270 old age pension checks aggregating more than $1,500,000 were mailed out last week to addressed recipients, following receipt of Federal funds. Approximately 3,000 new applicants for such pensions are being filed monthly. November checks cannot be sent out until the Legislature provides the funds.

FREE HOME PAPER SERVICE

Citizens of small towns usually have considerable to learn in the matter of successfully "putting over" any worth while project in a successful and satisfactory manner. Citizens of such towns often want to pull off something big yet do it in as little way as possible, frequently expending much of their "the goat" in the venture, while not infrequently the local newspaper is that victim. Many citizens, and most of them business men, who rally about a better, never stop to consider the various phases service rendered a given community by its local newspaper. While newspapers are privately owned, yet they are public institutions and operated for public benefit. Of course the editor and his assistant: expect a living and are entitled to such for their labor, but fundamentally every newspaper worthy the name operated for a much larger public benefit than that of private. It's only source of revenue is that of advertising. It costs much more to set in type and publish the news reading portion of a newspaper than it does that of advertising; yet such is the necessary function and portion of a newspaper. Just so much news reading is necessary to constitute a newspaper, whether there is any advertising in it or not. However, advertising is also a vital part of news and is read and participated in by a large percent of subscribers at a considerable saving of money because business concerns quote saving prices on certain commodities. Every week the local newspaper gives to its subscribers (and borrowers) a free information service that money can not buy — a something for nothing, that no self-respecting editor would ever think of selling as paid advertising. Sometimes, even in important matters, the newspaper may be given an advertisement of such matter, yet the free publicity he carries costs the paper producer much more and is far greater value to the producer or is far greater advertisement. If any advertiser's circulation is extended the newspaper for such publicity, and, often the local paper is expected to carry a big publicity story of some community even at its own expense entirely. Every week the local newspaper records history of that given community of present and future interest, some of it business history worth untold dollars to buyers and sellers, some of it social history which in many instances would have been a total failure but for the publicity given it by the local newspaper. Each year the local newspaper binds in annual volumes community history of that particular town and surrounding territory, much of which is of a vital and priceless nature to many of its readers. Our personal years of experience we have had numerous instances, running up into hundreds of thousands, where citizens have asked for extra copies because of some particular item published therein. Numerous items of an allocable nature value, often written a positive and commendatory nature, have been published in local newspapers which have meant more to persons connected with such events than dollars and cents could possibly convey; they have been appreciated as much ad from a half dozen to 50 or more copies of the paper containing such items have been purchased at the regular copy price. Owners of people have kept files and scrap books of the newspaper published, and this editor believes of the quality newspaper production, many instances of the composition contained therein. Literary excellence, news, historic geographical content, free publicity, etc., and we know of several in thoughtlessly received and carelessly done away with, post offices giving them out either having the floors littered with such unwanted matter or their waste baskets filled to overflowing with it; yet it is seldom the local newspaper meets with such preemptory conclusion in public, and it is never summarily disposed of in any home where it pays its weekly visits. The local newspaper while having a very modest income spends the larger portion of that income for labor and other required overhead expenses to prosecute its business. It has a weekly payroll in keeping with other industries of a given town, all of which finds its way back into the regular channels of trade thus benefiting other local business concerns. Newspaper folks are invariably sticklers for home trading, many of them insisting that their employees do likewise. There are instances on record where such employees have been replaced by others because of their persistence in patronizing merchants and neighboring town business concerns. In fact, editors of local newspapers not only urge through their columns the patronage of home enterprise; but invariably live up to their preachments better than do proprietors of a given town or city. The local newspaper generally owns its own building, maintains a residence in the town or nearby community, has an investment of several thousand dollars in type and other printing materials, and maintains the newspaper; owns other property, on all of which they pay city, school, county and state taxes. They invariably support the local church, fraternal orders of various kinds, civic, school and other organizations of various types, do their part in charitable matters, contribute financially to various other incidental affairs that arise in the town and surrounding community. They invariably lend their very best influence toward the improvement of a given town in a commercial, social and religious way, frequently giving a value of free publicity through the columns of their newspapers which amounts to many times more than the contribution of any other one or many citizens, not only because of its direct benefit, but also because of its community benefit in that its favorable attitude and free publicity has been the cause of producing a favorable attitude and action on the part of numerous other citizens. The value of a good newspaper to any town has been proven so long ago and in such various and reputable ways that it is not today a matter of controversy at all. Very seldom can any public project be consummated with so great success without the aid of the local newspaper as it can with its assistance, while frequently worthy public enterprises almost totally fail because this fact is not recognized. True, it is generally ignorant and of experience that is back of such neglect or predetermined action; but the disappointing results of public enterprises are invariably the same.

he is loud in his praise of the schools of America, and earnest in his plea for the continued support of the school system by the American people, he leaves the matter of observing this special week to them. Muleshoe parents can profitably observe it by a visit to the school their boys or girls attend thus showing their interest in present educational standards, or they can tender to the teachers in whose care their boys and girls are entrusted their personal thanks, along with a pledge of continued cooperation and a promise to be of more substantial service at any time they may be called upon. Another mighty good way to observe "Education Week" would be to adjust what back taxes you may be owing, for upon your tax money, and that of the other fellow, our school system rests.

Our idea of an egotist is the Muleshoe man who imagines he is in good company when he is a lone one. Sometimes it is a question with schools in Bailey county whether they will dismiss for cotton or go ahead and play football. Most marriages in and around Muleshoe are like 'snaphoes' you can't tell now they are coming out until they are developed. Years ago Muleshoe people found enjoyment in going to bed to sleep; not now plenty of them go to bed when they don't have anywhere else to go.

SNAP SHOTS The Plains area may not be so dry after all. At least Representatives A. B. Tarwater, Plainview, and J. W. Gunstream, Canyon, ought to keep the Legislature moist while it is in special session. Entirely too frequently we are reminded that a sharp tongue and a dull mind are often found in the same head.

A RECORD BROKEN In leading an honorable life one of the important things is to maintain the respect of the man you look at in the mirror. In the good old days a girl got a job because she couldn't get a husband; now the husband is easy to get she has a job. It is said American women spend the times as much on their faces as the government spends on its army. Why grumble? They make far more conquests!

IN LEADING AN HONORABLE LIFE ONE OF THE IMPORTANT THINGS IS TO MAINTAIN THE RESPECT OF THE MAN YOU LOOK AT IN THE MIRROR.

A CROOK HEARD FROM Charles Ponzi, who a few years ago, as many Muleshoe people will remember, swindled thousands of Americans out of their cash through a get-rich-quick scheme, and who was deported and barred from ever again entering this country, is now in Rome, and from there comes a statement from him that he is planning a comeback which will make millions for my American friends.

THE U.S. POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT MAY BE SO GREAT SUCCESS WITHOUT THE AID OF THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER AS IT CAN WITH ITS ASSISTANCE, WHILE FREQUENTLY WORTHY PUBLIC ENTERPRISES ALMOST TOTALLY FAIL BECAUSE THIS FACT IS NOT RECOGNIZED. TRUE, IT IS GENERALLY IGNORANT AND OF EXPERIENCE THAT IS BACK OF SUCH NEGLECT OR PREDETERMINED ACTION; BUT THE DISAPPOINTING RESULTS OF PUBLIC ENTERPRISES ARE INvariably THE SAME.

NEED OF THE HOUR We hear much and we talk much these days of sharing the wealth, as if it were at all important, but the fact is we do not need wealth sharing in such a conscience as we need the sharing of kindness, of tolerance, of unselfishness, of consideration for others. The one great need in this nation today is not more money, not less taxes, not higher wages, not more jobs—it is actually something that will bring back the old valuations of life, more of the helpful spirit that abounded in the days of our forefathers.

EXTRAVAGANCE

Extravagance is a prolific source of dishonesty. Extravagance may be defined as a foolish expense, or expense disproportionate to one's means.

Such extravagance may be found in all grades of society, but it is chiefly apparent among the rich, those aspiring to wealth, and those wishing to be thought "alright." In other words, it is the overreaching of social ambition, imagination and competition. In order to make a social demonstration the young man spends, borrows, steals in order that he may keep up appearances. What the young man sees beyond his legitimate income to purchase the motor boxes, and finance automobile parties, frequent golf links and other places where the idle and indolent congregate, he is both mentally and morally dishonest.

The man who tries to appear to be something which he is not is a social thief. In order to keep that appearance before the public he has to actually steal. In fact, extravagance, which is the expenditure of money unnecessarily, and the expenditure of money beyond the realms and boundaries of legitimate income, is but another word for larceny; trying to steal public opinion and therefore stealing the money of others in order to perpetrate the show.

Some are ambitious of fashionable society, and will gratify their vanity at any expense. The larceny is strained for its rank; without it he must abandon his rank; for fashionable society renounces and rejects all but the brilliant color. Therefore the young man who is extravagant and ambitious must choose between honesty and mortifying exclusion, or dishonesty and dishonor.

The extravagant person is dishonest.

Etiquette

What & When to do it

By A. Leda

Any question of etiquette will be gladly answered in this column if addressed to A. Leda, care of this newspaper.

Before me I have a letter from a reader and though my reader's argument is very plausible, it is, however, incorrect. The letter reads as follows:

DEAR A. LEDA: Will you kindly advise through this paper the correct position of a gentleman walking with a lady as regards being between her and the curb and between her and others walking on the walk. I contend the man should be on the woman's left, thus keeping himself between her and the passerby.

Yours very truly,
A. READER

Though it seems, this assumption might be correct, it is not. A man should always walk on the side nearest to the curb, whether he is with one, two or three persons, this rule has no exception. The object of this rule is, of course, to prevent the possibility of a horse's nose or automobile bumping those nearest the curb that ruled that man, the protector of his own provider, should take that place.

DEAR A. LEDA: If a woman meets a man at a tea or dance, may she invite him to call at her home or should she wait for him to suggest it? Whose place is it to speak first?

Thank you,
MARION D. PENN.

This is a very technical point, Marion, and varies in different parts of the United States. In certain sections a woman takes to herself the right to invite gentlemen to call upon her, while in other localities it is the custom for the man to ask permission and the woman to grant it. There is, however, an unwritten law in the code of the young lady, asking a man to call on the first meeting. Far better to wait till a second, or even third meeting, and then say something like this:

"I should be very glad to see you, Mr. Brown, as we usually at home in the evening."

Glass Paperweights Prized

Glass paperweights are among the objects prized by antique collectors. Many of them were made by the glassmakers as gifts for their friends. Few of them are over 100 years old, though glass paperweights were found in Egyptian tombs and in Greek ruins. Most of the oldest paperweights were made between 1377 and 1850 at the Baccarat glass factory in France, the New England factory in Cambridge, Mass., or the Saratoga Glass Factory on Cape Cod.

Produce Pickling Spices

The countries that are called upon to make up even the smallest package of pickling spices include India, China, Japan, Ceylon, England, Spain, and Austria.

TRAVELING PAPER BALL

The magician shows two wads of paper, one in each hand. He asks a spectator to hold one paper ball; the magician places it within the person's fist.

Then the magician pockets the second ball of paper. A mysterious snap of his fingers causes that ball to join the one which the spectator is holding—the magician says, and his statement proves correct. Upon opening his hand, the spectator finds both paper balls.

Three balls of paper are used in the trick. In one hand, the magician holds two pressed together so they look like one. This is the "ball" which he places in the spectator's fist. Naturally, when he opens his hand, the spectator finds two instead of one.

Landon Pledges Farm Security

Wants Economy of Plenty, Not Scarcity; Promises Drouth Aid.

DES MOINES, Iowa.—"I believe the American farmer should be a lord on his own farm," Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas told a capacity crowd at the State Fair grounds here, in a speech that was a complete assertion of his belief in the economics of plenty, as opposed to the Roosevelt administration's economics of scarcity.

Gov. Landon's solution of what he termed a "national problem" and not simply a "farm problem" was found directly upon the Republican party's platform. He pledged himself to support of the family type farm and to cash benefit payments limited to the production level of such a farm, to give agriculture an equal footing with industries protected by the tariff. He promised to take care of farmers hit by drouth.

He committed himself to the fulfillment of contracts made with farmers by the present administration. He promised to call upon the statements of both parties to work with agricultural leaders in the preparation of new legislation, if he is elected. And going beyond the bounds of the platform, he advocated the fullest possible development of crop insurance.

Pledges Benefit Payments.

"All the farmer asks," said Gov. Landon, "is that his income be on a parity with the rest of the nation, that he may enjoy the same standard of life, that his home be made secure, and that he be able to build up a reserve for the future."

"I know that these aims cannot be more common in Washington than they are in Des Moines. To get a real solution we must have a well-rounded program."

"I am elected," Gov. Landon continued, "I will fulfill all outstanding obligations made by the present administration with the American farmer. By this I mean that those who have carried out their end of the bargain will receive the checks due them."

"Those of our farmers hard hit by the drouth will be generously provided for until they can raise a crop. This means the continuation of relief checks."

Would Offset Foreign Competition.

Farmers producing a normally exportable surplus of such staple products as hogs, wheat, cotton and tobacco are handicapped by tariff protections which are effective only when there is a shortage, Gov. Landon said.

"The Republican party," declared Gov. Landon, "proposes to offset these disadvantages by the payment of cash benefits. These cash benefits will be limited to the production level of the family type farm."

"As part of the plan for removing the depression effect of surpluses I shall propose an amendment to the federal warehousing act so that reserves of feed, such as corn, can be carried on the farm."

"Under this amendment the farmer who stores his grain on the farm, in such a way as to make it insurable, will be entitled to a federal warehouse receipt. He will then be eligible to borrow from any banking agency. He will enjoy the credit facilities as are available to the owners of grain stored in terminal markets. The grain would be stored on the farm, ready for use or sale at any time the farmer cares to take up the loan."

Suggests Crop Insurance.

Gov. Landon then took up the matter of crop insurance, upon which Kansas Republican farm leaders have been working for some time. "We realize that there are difficulties," he said. "But insurance companies are writing policies today covering risks that they did not consider feasible a few years ago."

Here Gov. Landon declared that he could not agree with a policy like that of the AAA, which attempts permanent control of American agriculture from Washington. "I cannot agree with the President," he said. "I believe the American farmer should be a lord on his own farm."

He charged that the administration, after four years, was still without a workable plan for agriculture. "It's right back where it started from!" he said. "Soil conservation and conservation—is a subject close to my heart."

Gov. Landon reminded his listeners that two years ago he had suggested to Roosevelt the adoption of a comprehensive program of joint federal and state action, but that it had not been adopted.

Gov. Landon said the country's 35 billion dollar debt under President Roosevelt "can be paid only by taxation if this is to remain an honest government. Taxes add to the cost of everything and the farmer is so situated that he cannot escape their penalty. Further, the taxes reduce the ability of the consumer to buy the products of the farm. The Republican party proposes to put an end to the present waste and extravagance."

Two Estremes

While the Roosevelt administration was spending two dollars for each dollar of revenue received, and creating a deficit of more than $14,000,000, Gov. Alf M. Landon was holding down government expenses in Kansas and seeing to it that the state did not spend more than its revenue.

OIL WELL TEST IN COCHRAN CO. MORE EXCITING

Offset and Other Locations Spotted; Leasings $10 Acre.

While the Cochran-Honolulu No. 1 oil well test drilled in Cochran county has not turned out the wonderful producer as first reported yet present indications are it will produce oil in merchantable quantity. After drilling through the cement plug last week, the hole was swabbed and drilling continued for 12 feet into the oil-bearing lime the gas pressure increasing perceptibly. The formations of this well are reported to be running much lower than in the Marland well drilled some miles northwest of this well in 1929 and which was ruined by salt water contact.

Oil showing in the Honolulu well was encountered at 5,025 feet and drilling stopped 13 feet deeper. Oil promptly raised to about 4,000 feet, and since the cement plug was set is now said to be standing about 1,600 feet in the hole. Present oil producing capacity is practically unknown, being variously estimated at from 90 to 300 barrels per day. Sufficient interest, however, is being manifest in present indications that further work is progressing rapidly.

It is stated that already four offset wells have been located for spudding in Leasing is going on in that particular area at the rate of $10 per acre, hundreds of people, many of them oil experts have visited the site of the new well and many of them speak in favorable terms of its probable future activities. Storage tanks have been set and everything put in readiness for the final drilling in of this well which may take place any day though no definite announcement of such has been made.

Plans are also reported for spudding in a well northwest of Morton, county seat of Cochran county and one southwest of Morton, in the Bledsoe neighborhood of that county, where several years ago an oil showing was obtained in the Whicker well that was never developed.

WAYS TO SERVE GRIDDLE CAKES

Their Use With Main Course Is Popular Idea Today.

By EDITH M. BARBER

POOD like clothes and furniture takes the trend of the day and is being "stylized." Take for instance the old griddle cake, that ancient breakfast standby—it has graduated to lunch and even to dinner and what a welcome it gets in these days of light and hasty breakfasts!

Perhaps its most popular use at the moment is for service at the main course of the meal with chicken or other meat which has as an accompaniment a cream gravy. Just do not know anything better than corn griddle cakes baked at the table on the electric griddle or grill and served piping hot to each person in turn with them. Other smooth, brown, well-seasoned gravy. If you like you can make them serve for dessert at the same meal if you provide maple syrup or honey or strawberry jam.

Then there are plain griddle or "hard" cakes, we used to call them, which are delicious for luncheon with old-fashioned "frizzled" beef—you know the kind I mean, made by the beef first in butter. These tender griddle cakes make a foundation for a number of interesting desserts. If plenty of shortening is used and if the batter is very thin, they take the place of the more expensive "crepe" mixture which is often used. I won't say that the cakes are wrapped around slender rolls of cabbage or cream cheese and served with raspberry jam—or strawberry, if you prefer.

When these cakes are baked at the table, you can pass the cheese and jam with them. Other simple desserts may be made by adding blueberries, chopped apples, or ground nuts, and a little extra sugar to the pancake batter. In this case you may like plain or whipped cream to serve with the cakes.

The most fashionable sort of griddle cakes at the moment are the Russian origin and the cakes served in this fashion are known as "Bliny" (short for Blinichik). The original recipe calls for a raised rye mixture very like an old-fashioned buckwheat flour. Personally I usually use my standard griddle cake recipe leaving out the sugar.

Blinds are served as a first course for dinner or a main course for luncheon. To each person served two cakes and with them is passed a tray containing melted butter, caviare, minced onion, chopped hard-cooked egg whites, strained egg yolks, and sour cream—each in its individual bowl. The butter and caviare are put between the cakes and the rest of the accessories are put on top of them. You may not take the onion if you are not one of its fans but it must be served for the satisfaction of those persons who always demand its flavor with caviare.

An article on griddle cakes would not be complete without mention of potato pancakes which go so well with some meats and of German pancakes always baked in a huge griddle and then rolled and cut in slices. Apples are often added to the batter. Then there are crepes suzette, the French pancakes for which it is not too easy at the moment to get the proper accessories, the liquor for flavoring the sauce and the brandy which must be set on fire to melt the sugar and to blend the flavoring and orange juice of the sauce. The cakes are baked and then cooked in the sauce at the table in a chafing dish or grill. The preparation of crepes suzette is an art which at restaurants is the services of several waiters, whereas I have seen them made at home with less ceremony by the hostesses.

Guests are always interested in any food preparation made at the table and will appreciate any type of griddle cake baked for them under their observation. As for the family's opinion, you are certain to have the approval of your daily critics when you choose cakes for breakfast, lunch or dinner.

Note — Griddles need not be greased if plenty of shortening is used in the batter.

Griddle Cakes.

1 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 teaspoons soda

1 egg
1/4 cup melted shortening
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add the sour milk and egg well beaten. Add the melted shortening. Cook on both sides on a hot griddle. If sweet milk is used, substitute four teaspoons of baking powder for the soda.

Corn Griddle Cakes.
1 cup corn meal
1 cup flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 cups baking powder

1/2 cup melted shortening
Mix dry ingredients. Beat egg, add milk and stir into other mixture. Add shortening, let stand five minutes and bake on both sides. If sweet milk is used, substitute four teaspoons of baking powder for the soda.
