SANTA FE TO RUN SPECIAL TRAINS HERE FOR JULY CELEBRATION

LOWREY WILL HEAD SONORA LIONS CLUB

MAJORITY OF LIONS WANT A FREE BARBECUE FOR CELEBRATION

County and District Clerk J. D. Lowrey was chosen to head the Sonora Lions Club Monday after the nominating committee had made its report. The recommendation made by this committee was unanimously accepted by the club. Robert Halbert was elected vice president; Troy White, tail twister; Claude Roe, Lion tamer; H. V. Stokes, permanent arrangement committee; Geo. H. Neill, treasurer; W. E. James, secretary; directors, Joe F. Logan, J. W. Trainer, C. T. Jones, J. M. Puckett and M. A. Wilson.

B. Hamilton, who was appointed by the club last week to see Lions who might be interested in a Lions baseball team, had no report to make other than for members who would play to give him their names. It was suggested "Bud" Smith, Floyd Ridley and Cliff Johnson be drafted as members of the club and their memberships be given complimentary.

W. R. Barnes, vice president and general manager of the Stockman's Paradise Association, said that several wanted a free barbecue and asked the Lions to express themselves relative to the matter. The Lions voted to have the free barbecue the first day of the celebration here, July 1. E. R. Lawrence was appointed to raise the money for this purpose.

"Buzzy" Stokes, "Izzy" Leaman and B. Hamilton were appointed to have Sonora represented in a bathing beauty contest in Junction on the 17 of this month at which time that town is giving a free barbecue, rodeo and race meet. This committee will try to have at least two or more Sonora girls to participate in the contest.

B. Hamilton was appointed as chairman of the program committee, and he will be assisted by Raymond Barker.

Sam LaChapelle will preside at the next meeting.

MRS. EVANS AND MISS GLASSCOCK HOSTESSES

Mrs. Sid Evans and Miss Bonnie Glasscock were joint hostesses Tuesday afternoon at a party at the Club Hall announcing the marriage of Miss Guila Lowrey to Mr. Bob Vicars, which will be solemnized June 15th.

Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon. Mrs. John Fields won high score prize and Mrs. W. R. Barnes won low score, both prizes were presented to Miss Lowrey. The hostesses also presented Miss Lowrey with the guest prize.

Pretty colorful sweetpeas were used as favors. Ice cream wedding bells and cake were served to the following: Mesdames Sam Allison, Sterling Baker, J. C. Baker, W. R. Barnes, A. G. Blanton, Joe Brasher, J. A. Cauthorn, Albert Crowley, Henry Decker, Byron Newby, L. W. Elliott, W. H. Dameron, John Fields, Buster Halbert, Johnnie Hamby, B. W. Hutcherson, Sol Kelly, Dave Locklin, Mans Hoggett, Clara Murphy, Theo. Savell, Collier Shurley, Fred Simmons, Robt. Steen, Marion Stokes, John Ward, Jr., Rose Thorp, Joe Trainer, E. F. Vander Stucken, Joseph Vander Stucken, Carrol Stephen, Josie McDonald, R. W. Perrine, Sam Hull, Ernest McClelland, Arthur Stewart, Will Winkinson, Hi Eastland and J. D. Lowrey and Misses Guila Lowrey, Alice Karnes, Ora Merck, Addah Miers, Estelle McDonald, Bernice Stokes and Dorothy Baker.

E. E. Sawyer and family and Mrs. Joe Brasher left Wednesday for a two-months' vacation at Seboeis, Maine, where the Sawyers have a summer home. They took the train out of San Angelo.

Frank James left Sunday for Ozona where he will be employed by his uncle, Chris. Meinicke, merchant of that place.

L. L. Farr Buried in Angelo June 11

West Texas Banker and Ranchman Died in Temple Hospital From Hemorrhage

Louis L. Farr, 65, San Angelo banker and ranchman, died in a Temple hospital Tuesday following an internal hemorrhage and was buried in San Angelo Wednesday.

Mr. Farr was said to have been the highest salaried man in San Angelo. It is said that his salary exceeded that of the president of the United States. He was general manager of the Sawyer Cattle Company, attorney in fact for the Ira G. Yates interests, vice president of the Central National Bank and Wool Growers Central Storage Company of San Angelo, and handled several large estates, not to mention extensive ranching interests of his own.

Mr. Farr was employed when a boy by the late Pat Murphy, who published and founded the San Angelo Standard. He was later the first engineer for the city of San Angelo, and served for a number of years as county surveyor. From 1892 to 1896 he was Tom Green's tax assessor and served that city as mayor for two years.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, Louis Farr, Jr., and James Farr; a daughter, Mrs. Paul Thomas of El Paso, two sisters and a brother. He was a Mason, Knight Pythias and an active member of the First Christian Church of San Angelo. At the time of his death he was president of the San Angelo Rotary Club.

Those who were acquainted with him, and they are many, never spoke ill of him. He was a man to whom thousands went for advice and always came away feeling better. His friends declare that he was one of the most upright gentlemen they ever knew.

Talk of Changing Highway to Ozona

Rumors That New Designation to Change O. S. T. Four Miles on Angelo Highway

There is some talk here that engineers will likely change the O. S. T. highway from Sonora to Ozona. One suggested route would throw the O. S. T. to pass through Sonora between the courthouse and J. W. Trainer's corner and continue for several miles on the San Angelo highway before taking a westerly direction to Humble Station A and thence to Ozona.

Four state highway engineers are in Crockett county now surveying a new route for the paving of the O. S. T. in that county to the Pecos county line.

It is thought that when the work in Crockett county is finished the engineers will start surveying in Sutton county.

TO GIVE CLEANING, PRESSING, LAUNDRY FREE

You might be the lucky person to get a month's cleaning, pressing and laundry free of charge. H. L. Taylor and Sam Robison will give to the person who suggests to them the best name for their cleaning and laundry plant a whole month's work free of charge. Names must be in the Sonora Cleaners office at the Morris building not later than Tuesday night of next week.

SONORA CHILD BURIED

Funeral services for Bernice Wall, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wall, who died at San Angelo at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning, were conducted here that afternoon from the residence.

The parents and a brother, Tom Wall, Jr., survive.

Two weeks ago, tomorrow, Mr. and Mrs. Wall lost their youngest child, age 14 months. The eldest child, age 6 years, is in San Angelo under the care of physicians and the latest report from his bedside is very favorable for recovery.

75,000 POUNDS LONG WOOL SOLD TUESDAY

PRICES RANGED FROM 23 1/2 TO 26 1-8 CENTS PER POUND

Dewain E. Hughes, representing Studley and Emory of Boston, purchased 75,000 pounds of long wool here at the sale in the warehouse of the Sonora Wool & Mohair Company. Prices ranged from 23 1/2 to 26 1-8 cents. Ranchmen whose wools were in this lot were W. J. Fields, Frank Bond, Mrs. J. W. Wilson and the Valliants.

There were about ten buyers present for the sale.

Sonora to Have Another Laundry

Taylor & Robison Will Have All Machinery in Operation Next Week

H. L. Taylor and Sam Robison, who operate a cleaning and pressing plant in Sonora, have purchased laundry equipment valued at $8,000 and will have it in operation sometime next week in the Morris building. All equipment is modern and steam will be used in the work.

These gentlemen stated that they will make reasonable charges and will guarantee all their work.

An experienced laundryman, Mr. North of Ozona, has been employed to manage the laundry.

CAMP ALLISON TO HAVE BARBECUE 10

The tenth of July has been set for the Camp Allison free barbecue at the old barbecue grounds on the Llano river near the post-office. Committees in charge of the affair are planning to feed five thousand people, and at least that many people are expected to attend.

Ground concessions will be sold to one party, according to Alfred Schweining, who is in charge of finances. The committees are: finance, Alfred Schweining; meat, Lum Adams; serving, Cash Joy.

An entertainment program will be arranged for later, Mr. Schweining said.

Fred Martin of Mills county is here this week, the guest of his uncle, Alfred Schweining.

Best Speller

Helen Jensen, 13 years old, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who won the $1,000 cash prize in the National Spelling Bee at Washington.

Truck Overtakes, Mexican, 16, Killed

Two Other Occupants Injured When Truck Takes to Ditch on Fields Hill

Reys Noriega, 16, Mexican, died yesterday afternoon from injuries received when a truck in which he and two other Mexicans were riding overturned about two miles southeast of town on Fields Hill. Noriega's younger brother had a shoulder broken and Juan Garcia, elderly Mexican, sustained several broken ribs.

The accident was caused when the three were coming down the Fields Hill Tuesday at noon in a truck loaded with wood at a rapid pace. Faulty brakes would not bring the truck to a slow speed and overturned.

Noriega was buried in the Sonora Cemetery Wednesday afternoon. The other two Mexicans will recover.

Rostein Pfeister, who sustained a broken leg in three places and the other fractured and a crushed ankle, will be well enough to come home by the first of the week, it is thought by relatives here. His mother is with him at the Williams Hospital in Del Rio.

Thomason Spoke Here Last Night

Congressional Candidate Favors Immigration Restriction, and Wants High Tariff

Standing in the back end of a ranchman's Ford truck, Mayor R. E. Thomason, El Paso candidate for Congress for the 16th district, told two hundred people here last night some of his platform planks. He pledged, if elected, to support a high tariff on all raw products such as oil, wool, mohair and farm products. He said there were millions of people in the United States unemployed, and for that reason he said he saw fit to favor restricting foreign immigration to this country. While Mayor of El Paso he was the author of an ordinance prohibiting any firm from doing work for that city unless they employed white labor.

He is opposed to dividing Texas into five states, and said there was as much chance of doing this as there was to change the name of Arkansas state.

When speaking of prohibition, the candidate said: "The 18th Amendment has been written into the constitution of this nation, and if I go to Washington I will, as I have in the past, uphold that law as much as possible." While a Texas representative and speaker of the House, Thomason introduced a bill to close all saloons near army camps, he said.

Many Have Endorsed Him

"I have been accused by my opponent as being a Tammany leader of El Paso, but that is not true. My candidacy has been endorsed by leading ministers of El Paso, nine tenths of the lawyers, professional men, newspapers and reputable politicians such as Cliff Belcher, Dr. Coleman of Colorado, Joe Jackson of Alpine and many others.

He aided in locating a sanitarium for tuberculars at Carlsbad, sponsored the designation at Alpine for Sul Ross College, responsible for many other worthy necessities throughout Texas.

Mayor Thomason was introduced by Mayor Roy Aldwell of Sonora. Mr. Aldwell, when making the candidate known here, said that he would be the next congressman.

W. L. Aldwell is doing well as could be expected from a broken thigh bone he received in a fall several weeks ago in his room at the Blackston Hotel in Ft. Worth.

Less Than One Way Fare to Be Charged for Round Trip from San Angelo to Sonora on July 1 and 2

"All aboard for the Santa Fe south bound to Sonora" will be the exclamations by the conductor who pilots the first train to leave San Angelo for Sonora at 7 o'clock the morning of July 1. Reduced rates, less than one way fare, will be given by the Santa Fe from San Angelo to Sonora for the two-day celebration here July 1 and 2 when thousands are expected to join this town in commemorating the completion of Santa Fe rails to this city. Seventy-five tickets have been purchased by the Stockman's Paradise Association for those who wish to ride the first official train into Sonora. The morning train will leave San Angelo at 7:00 a. m. and arrive here at ten, giving time for stops at Christoval and Eldorado. The specials will depart here at one o'clock each morning for San Angelo.

When the train arrives Sonora business men and ranchmen will be at the station to greet the visitors. From the depot they will be led through the business section by a forty-piece band and a crowd of cowboys on horseback.

Free Barbecue First Day
A free barbecue for everybody will be served at the park at noon. The barbecue committee, E. R. Lawrence and Buster Halbert, is now busy raising money for the feed. Ranchmen are donating

Driskell Purchases Laundry Equipment

Will Add Several Hundred Dollars Worth of Machinery to His Laundry

T. R. Driskell, proprietor of the Sonora Home Laundry, stated this week that he had purchased additional new laundry equipment and will have it installed at his laundry at an early date.

Mr. Driskell has been operating a laundry here for several years, and says the best is none too good for his customers.

He says his prices are as cheap as those made by San Angelo laundries.

COWBOY FAINTS WHEN RIDING AFTER A GOAT

Nash Thompson, employed at the B. M. Halbert ranch west of town, fainted when chasing a goat yesterday afternoon. He was found by Mrs. Halbert a few minutes later. Thompson was lying across his saddle when Mrs. Halbert found him.

Dr. Blanton and the Sonora Motor Company ambulance were called and by the time they arrived Thompson was feeling better.

RIGHT OF TEACHERS TO PADDLE PUPILS UPHELD

Marshall, May 21.—The right of a "school ma'am" to paddle her students was upheld today by a county court jury. The jury found Mrs. Lois Davis, rural school teacher, not guilty of aggravated assault, with which she was charged for whipping a pupil.

The spanking was administered, the teacher testified, "because he needed discipline after he told a story and then boasted of it to members of his class." And the jurors agreed.

MRS. J. M. PUCKETT TO TOUR EUROPE

Mrs. J. M. Puckett leaves Tuesday for San Angelo where she will be joined by her niece, Miss Evelyn Payne for a tour of Europe. They will stop in Dallas for another party who will make the trip to Montreal, Canada, from which place they will leave for the East. They will visit several countries before returning.

Jack Mayfield was here Tuesday for the wool sale.

sheep, goats and beeves that will be served with plenty bread, pickles and coffee.

Approximately $2,500 will be given in purses for the races and rodeo. Twenty trained bucking horses owned by the park will be in trim for the many riders who will be here. There are now about ten race horses in the stalls at the park training for the big event. About fifty more are expected to be present when the first starting signal is given.

Two Dances Each Night
A big platform dance will be given the night of the 30th. An old-time dance and the modern dances will be going simultaneously each night.

Goat Raisers to Stage Show and Sale

July 15, 16 and 17 Set for Big Show and Sale in Rocksprings

Placards are in the show windows of the business-houses in this city announcing the Annual Show and Sale of the Texas Angora Goat Raisers' Association to be held in Rocksprings July 15, 16 and 17.

This show and sale will attract thousands of ranchmen who will be interested in looking over the best of the goat producing section has to offer, and purchasing new blood for the goat herds. The catalog and premium list show that this year's sale will be the greatest ever held.

The goat judging will be completed during the first two days and the third day will be given over largely to political speaking, baseball games, rodeos and dancing. Rocksprings has sent an invitation to Sonora to be present.

On the 16th a pageant will be presented depicting various periods of the advance of the goat industry in Texas, dating back to 1850. The closing episode of the pageant will be the coronation of the queen. Mayor Roy Aldwell will select some girl and her escort to represent Sonora in the pageant.

After the coronation of the queen a style show will be presented when costumes fifty years ago will have been worn.

Officers of the association are: W. W. Nipper, Bracketville, president; J. E. Rabbits, Camp Wood, first vice president; Sam F. Cooper, Leakey, second vice president; Arthur Davis, Rio Frio, secretary-treasurer; John A. Ward, Jr. of Sonora will judge the "B" type goats and Bob Davis of Rio Frio will judge the "C" type animals. Committees of the association who will be in charge of the three-day event are: Show, L. A. Clark, John Guthrie and T. C. Hampton; sales, Fred T. Earwood, Bob Davis, C. A. Pepper; advertising, L. A. Clark, S. W. Dismukes and Harper Rawlings; general manager, Arthur Davis.

Committee chairman appointed by the Rocksprings Chamber of Commerce are: General chairman, V. A. Brown; entertainment, R. H. Earwood; speaker, L. A. Clark; grounds, S. W. Dismukes; registration and pens, Brown Epperson; feed, M. Bardwell; barbecue, T. C. Hampton; housing, Frank Winans; rodeo, O. O. Cowser; entertainment of ladies, Mrs. Brown Epperson.

GARVIN PAYS WILSON $70 FOR COWS, CALVES

E. C. Garvin has purchased 230 cows and calves from J. W. Wilson at $70 per head. The cows are 4, 5 and six-year-olds. The cattle will be received on the 15 and carried to the H. S. Davis ranch in Edwards county for grass.

MRS. ELIZABETH BROOKS

Mrs. Elizabeth Beckett Brooks died at the ranch home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary McKee, May 30. She was 92 years, three months and twenty days old when her death occurred. She was buried in her home cemetery on her old ranch beside her husband, John Brooks who died fifteen years ago. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cal Beckett are also buried there.

Elizabeth Beckett was born February 10, 1838, in Newton, county, Missouri and came to Texas with her parents when a small child where she lived ever since. She was married to John Brooks in 1855, and to this happy union eleven children were born, six boys and five girls of whom only three are left to mourn their loss, Sibe and Al Brooks of Brackett and Mrs. Mary McKee of Sonora with whom she had been living for the past eleven years. For the past three years deceased had been an invalid.

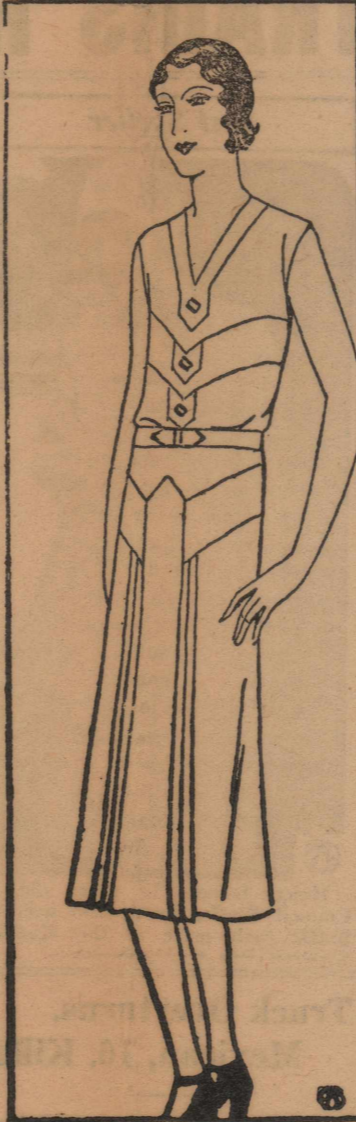

She has many grandchildren and great grandchildren, many of them being present for the funeral.

The Very Latest
(By Mary Marshall)

The very word house dress brings to the minds of many dresses of coarse cotton materials, in crude pinks and blues, cheaply made and too generously proportioned. Perhaps house dresses used to be like that, and women accepted them as a matter of course, not expecting to look their best during the busy hours at home. I had a pleasant sort of surprise in store for me the other day when I was asked to make selections from a number of inexpensive ready made dresses of the house-dress sort. When they were displayed by the models it was difficult to believe that they were house dresses at all. Many of them might have been chosen for sports, or summer resort wear.

There was a trimly fitted short sleeved dress of pastel blue pique and a sleeveless dress of green and white cotton print with crisply pleated organdie at the neck. Those of shantung silk especially appealed to me, though their price was amazingly reasonable. One of them in pastel green, is shown here.

One reason that house dresses nowadays have such an air of smartness is that they are inspired by, if not actually copied from, dresses designed for sports wear.

Some mothers don't care whether their small daughters appear well dressed or not. Some mothers would rather not have their young daughters look well dressed for fear their tender minds might become preoccupied with thoughts of clothes. But most sensible mothers take a real pleasure in having their children well turned out and feel that they owe it to them to provide clothes in which they may appear to the best advantage.

The actual money spent on clothes is of less significance with children than it is with grown women—so much depends on color and contour of the clothes selected and on their spic and span spotlessness and neatness.

The older one grows the more one stands in need of costly fabrics and fine workmanship to achieve distinction. The plainest of serge or flannel, of gingham or calico answers the purpose for younger girls, and the rules for achieving distinction are comparatively simple.

There should be a definite and simple color scheme. The hat and other accessories should always be related in color to the wrap or dress. Everything, should be as nearly spotless as possible, and free from wrinkles. Skirt hems should be carefully adjusted so that they are neither too long nor too short.

SEVENTH INSTALLMENT
 "There's something I'd rather you'd do. 'Twould help an awful lot if you'd do it," Ivy urgently added.
 "What is it?"

Eve asked the question without suspicion. Her mind was centered on the girl's condition—surely a serious one for a dancer. Ivy's next words startled her.

"It's my job," she muttered.
 "I'm goin' to lose it; that's all."
 "Oh! I'm sorry!"

"Yep. Jake said he didn't want be hard on me, but he couldn't be left in the lurch again. So the nex-time I didn't come or send a substitoot, it would be the air for mine."

"I see."

Eve saw with a clearness that made her wince. Evidently Miss Davenport expected a great deal from her fellow-beings. She would not have been surprised if this stranger in her room, having put her to bed and eased her pain, now announced her intention of substituting for her at the cabaret and at once departed to do so. She herself had already shown that she was a friend in need. Probably her associates also were the kind who did that sort of thing. . . . But Jake's! To dance at Jake's! Eve felt that she had definite limitations and that one of them had been reached.

"You oughtn't to talk," she restlessly pointed out.

"If you'd go up there and report to Jake, you could bluff your way through the dances," Ivy hurried on. "You'd do fine. The other girls
 'd help you, if you tol' 'em what it meant. The fellas would, too. They 're all my frien's. They'd see you weren't put up against it, 'cause they'd know you was tryin' to help me."

"But, good Heavens, I can't—"
 Eve had become conscious of her tone and checked her words, appalled. This girl had come to her days ago, offering her a job because she believed her to be down and out. Now it was clearly up to her to reciprocate. The demand was a wild one, of course, but surely she was the last human being who should fail anyone in trouble.

 She thought of Hamilton—of the swift willingness with which he had come to her help in her crisis.
 She could never repay him, but here was a chance to pass on the mercy and kindness he had shown her. This girl's job was at stake, her very bread and butter. As for herself, she could stand Jake's for one night, whatever possibilities
 Jake's might hold.

She leaned over the bed, in which Ivy now lay in the exhaustion of extreme pain.

"Tell me what you want me to do," she said kindly, "and I'll try to do it. What bluff must I make?"

She was rewarded by the look in the other girl's face as she struggled up on an elbow.

"There's nothin' to it," she said eagerly. "Even if you can't dance at all the dances—an' I'm bettin' you can—it'll help if you just go there an' tell Jake how 'tis, an' offer to take my place. Talk to him first, and then go to the dressin'-room. Ask for Queenie Morris. She's Jake's head hostess.
 She's my pal, too, an' the best of the lot. She'll do the rest."

"I understand. But . . . you're quite sure Jake's place is all right?"

The girl in the bed was spent by the effort of talking as much as she had done, but she rallied to this question.

"I'll tell the world it is," she brought out. "Don't you get no idee of white-slave stuff. There's nothin' in' like it at Jake's. Straight business, on the level, good eats, good music, a pretty good crowd—an' Jimmy Murphy on the spot to throw out rough ones. It ain't a club. 'Most any one can get in, but they can't stay 'less they behave.
 The substitoots git three dollars fer the night an' a five-cent card fer every dance they give visitors, besides their tips. You'll git that tonight, of course. All I'm worryin' about is to hold my place for the winter. See what I mean?"

 Eve could not help wondering how, on a few dollars a night, Miss Davenport's income ran to apartments, silk lingerie, over-tufted furniture, and painted beds. As if the sick girl had read the thought, she hurried on:

"You'll knock down six or eight dollars a night without tryin'. I make ten or twelve. Any guy that's a real guy'll slip you a dollar or two for dancin' with him a lot, 'specially if he lands on your feet most of the time. An' there's always some guy will pay for your supper, too. Say—" she asked the question with sudden anxiety—
 "you got anythin' to wear?"

Eve looked at her blankly.

"No. I didn't bring an evening dress."

"Then take one o' mine, any you like. You n'a me's about the same size. But hurry. That closet . . .
 see?"

Eve hurried, and selected the selected the least flamboyant of Miss Davenport's several dancing-gowns—a fairly simple creation in white and silver.

 "The slippers to match is on the top shelf."

Eve found the slippers without difficulty. Evidently Miss Davenport had a sense of order. They were a trifle large, but, like the gown, they passed muster. Ivy, blue-white around the mouth approved the result, and Eve also received from the long mirror in the living-room the assurance that it was not bad.

"I only got one evenin' wrap," Ivy confessed, "but it goes with 'most anything." It did.

"Do I have to dance with every one that asks me?" Eve inquired, when she was ready to leave.

"OLD GLORY"

Saturday, June 14, will be Flag Day. All over the United States the "Gridiron Flag," as foreigners contemptuously called it when our nation was young, will float in the pride of its 163 years. It will symbolize then, as it has always symbolized, an ideal of human liberty, of self-government, of freedom of the individual to pursue happiness in his own way, within the law, which had never been put into practice before in the history of the world.

We may not have reached—indeed, we have not fully reached, as we must admit—the perfection of this ideal. But we have come closer to it than any other considerable body of human beings has ever succeeded in doing. And in making the effort to live up to the ideal for which "Old Glory" stands we have set an example which almost all of the rest of the world has been striving to emulate.

Every government in the world, except ours, has undergone radical if not revolutionary changes since that 14th of June 1777, when the Continental Congress officially adopted the Stars and Stripes, designed by Betsy Ross, as the standard of the colonies which had so recently declared themselves free and independent states. With only two or three exceptions the American flag is the oldest flag in the world today. That is something to think about, when we talk of the United States as a "young" nation. Actually, we are one of the oldest nations, so far as our form of government and our flag are concerned.

Nations which were old when we set out upon our great experiment have undergone revolution after revolution. Most of them have completely altered their governmental forms. The British Empire has become a commonwealth of practically independent nations. Ireland has been annexed and detached again, though the cross of St. Patrick, added to the British flag in 1801, still remains there. France was an absolute monarchy when we set up our government. The royal banner of Louis XV has given place to the tricolor floating over the Third Republic since our own revolution, with another empire intervening. The Italy of today is quite a different nation, as its flag is different, from that of 1777. Spain, then the ruler of immense colonies, has shrunk to a tiny kingdom. Germany, Austria, imperial Russia—all the "great powers" of the 18th century have changed, diminished, and their flags have changed. Even China no longer flies the dragon pennant and Turkey has abandoned the green flag of Mohammed.

Denmark's flag, dating from the 12th century, and Switzerland's nearly as old, are the only flags flying today which are older than our own Stars and Stripes. The nation over which it was first flung has more than justified the hopes and beliefs of its founders.

A Round of Slugs

(By S. U. M. Bull)

Schmeling, the German contender for the world's heavyweight championship, got the decision in last night's wouldbe fight with Jack Sharkey. Sharkey had the advantage over Schmeling in the four rounds before Jack fouled the Dutchman in a knockout. The lick, according to radio announcers, was several inches below the belt. Schmeling was not able to arise from the canvas for several minutes. However, the belt is not very likely to go to the German. In another round Sharkey would have beaten Schmeling into a pulp.

At last the city government in Chicago has authorized police to clean out many undersirables in that city. Chicago daily papers have openly in front page editorials advocated the police to do something or get out. The city commission told the police to round-up the gangsters or resign. And why shouldn't they have had this done long ago? Chicago's police are the bunk.

Duard Archer and Fritz Morris say they will introduce Pat Murphy when he comes to Sonora to speak. They have made arrangements for an elaborate program within the city limits.

An expert decorator will be here to dressup the cars for the big celebration here July 1 and 2. For a special occasion of this kind Sonora should be dolled up and should have everything attractive as possible. It has been suggested that Sonora Lions parade down main street, and if the suggestion is carried out the Lions will don their pajamas.

Miss Lena V. Stokes has been selected to represent Sonora in the bathing beauty contest in Junction on the 17, the first day of the Jubilee in that city. Miss Stokes is one of Sonora's prettiest young ladies and should be able to well represent her home town.

Those interested in politics here say that Mayor Thomason will be feat Pat Murphy in the race for congress two to one. The governor's race is a toss up. There are about six in the gubernatorial race that will mix things up a bit, and they are James Young, Miriam Ferguson, Tom Love, Earle Mayfield and Lynch Davidson. It is almost a cinch that "Ma" will be in the runoff.

"Izzy" Leaman says June 19th will be the day set for his wedding day. He did not say what color his better two-thirds would be, but we take it for granted that she will be a Jewess.

The Lions Club sign is badly in need of repairs. From a distance the sign is hardly legible. If something is not done with it the Lions might as well have it taken down and erected in the Mexican district in Sinoloa.

LAND OWNERS MUST MAINTAIN GATE TO RIVER EVERY 3 MILES

Austin.—Ruling by the Attorney General that a land-owner cannot deny ingress to persons going to a navigable stream from a public road, has been limited by another ruling restricting the privileges of the right-of-way across fences and farms or pastures.

The new ruling also discovered a new error in the codification of state laws, which now makes it unlawful for any landowner to have a fence more than three miles long without an unlocked gate.

Both rulings were given to County Attorney Lawrence L. Bruhl of Llano county and grew out of complaints of landowners of alleged trespass by those going to large streams to fish.

While a person cannot be prosecuted for criminal offense by trespassing and has civil action against those trespassing, the new ruling said.

It is added that "a land-owner has a right to lock his gates and permit ingress only to those persons whom he desires to admit to his premises except where the right of locking gates is limited by law."

The reference to locking gates originally dealt only with public lands, but was brought forward in the 1925 codification without limit, and applies to lands generally, the ruling said. This law was quoted as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person whomsoever, by joining

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter and Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

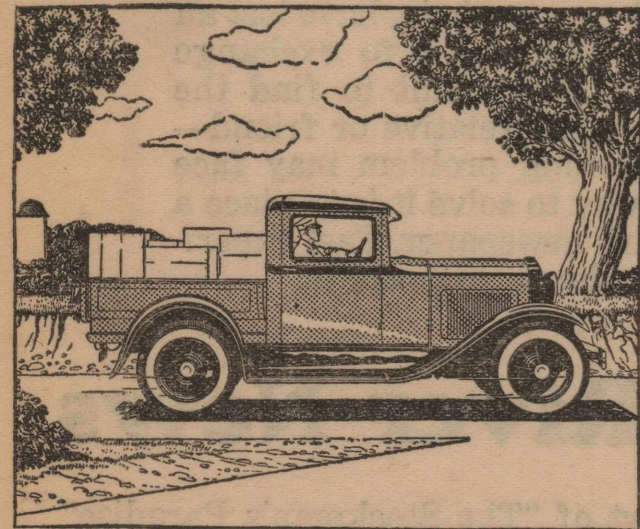

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

THIS WOMAN IN 4 WEEKS LOST 19 POUNDS OF FAT

Here's a letter written, October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

"Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts.

"I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

"I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

"I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends, in fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts.

"May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince anyone."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at the Corner Drug Store or any drug store in America.—Adv.

sources he could not have weathered the crisis which the abandonment of the old Model T caused. As it was, the loss of $115,000,000 in two years was a mere incident.

CROSSINGS—

Nearly half of the 30,000 annual deaths in automobile accidents in America occur where highways cross railroad tracks on the same grade. Some states have begun work on programs of eliminating every grade crossing, compelling the railroads to pay most of the cost. The Federal Government is taking an active part in this movement, in the case of roads which are built with federal aid. Since 1917, 4,676 grade crossings have been eliminated on federal aid roads.

It is not always necessary to build a bridge over the railroad or a subway under it. Only 995 of these crossings were eliminated in that way; the others were abolished by the simple means of relocating the highway itself.

One of the things that is going to come about in America is a highway system in which this cause of accident and death will be absent.

BOOKS—

Guests at the White House as well as future Presidents will have plenty of good reading matter for their leisure hours, if any. A committee of the American Booksellers Association has selected a library of five hundred volumes which has been presented to the White House library.

Undoubtedly many additions will be made to this nucleus, and some of the books will be less read than others, but there are many among them which will never die. In the list are such great American classics as Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn," such truly great books as Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" and Kingsley's "Westward Ho" as well as many of the great histories, biographies, books of travel and of poetry, in addition to the best of the works of the writers of today.

STATE COMPLETES ECONOMIC SURVEY OF RANCHING AREA

That some ranchmen on the Edwards Plateau grazing area of Texas have an opportunity to more than double their net income per section by a full utilization of the carrying capacity of their ranches, through the use of cattle, sheep and goats properly combined, is shown in a study of physical and economic factors affecting the organization and management of ranches in the Edwards Plateau grazing area comprising approximately 25,000,000 acres of land. This study was made by the Texas Experiment Station in co-operation with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture and consisted of a detailed study of 31 ranches over a continuous period of four years. A bulletin which discusses the practical effects of the findings has been published by the Texas station and will be ready for distribution in a few weeks.

Physical factors, such as soil, climate, and vegetation, set fairly definite limits within which changes in proportions of cattle, sheep and goats can be made without injury to the range. Within these limits prices likely to prevail for different classes of animals should determine the proportions of each class from year to year.

A ranch of 16 sections stocking 50 animal units per section, 33 to cattle, and 17 to goats, and evaluated on the basis of prices and costs believed likely to prevail during the next four to six years, indicated a net income of $405 per section, as compared with a revised stocking of 15 units of cattle, 27 units of sheep, and 8 units of goats which would show a net earning of $765 per section. A further adjustment of the stocking of this ranch by increasing the total units to 15 units of cattle, 35 units of sheep, and eight units of goats, would show an income of $950 per section. The latter stocking plan carrying a total of 58 units less than the average found on the ranches studied on which all three types of live stock were grazed, and emphasizes the profitableness of a proper proportioning of the three types of live stock, and of approaching more nearly the full carrying capacity of the range.

Today and Tomorrow (By Frank Parker Stockbridge)

PROFITS—

The Ford Motor Company earned $81,797,861 profits in 1929. That was the first profitable year since 1926. In 1927, when the factory was shut down for six months while new machinery for the production of Model A was being installed, the company lost $42,786,727. In 1928 while the market for Model A was being built up, the company lost $72,221,498.

Those are amazing figures. No less amazing is the Ford report of cash on hand on December 31, 1929, totalling $346,937,496. Most of this money is on deposit subject to check. For many years Henry Ford has carried a larger cash balance than any man in the world ever had.

Only a closed corporation like this, in which all of the stock is owned by one man, his wife and his son, can do business on such a basis. In other corporations, stockholders demand distribution of assets in dividends. Mr. Ford once told me that the reason he bought out his other stockholders, Senator Couzens and the Dodge Brothers, was because they wanted dividends and he wanted to use the profits to enlarge the business and reduce the cost of production. If he had not had such enormous cash re-

Ivy looked at her with a flicker in her pain-filled eyes.

"Say, haven't you never even been in a cabaret?" As Eve did not reply, she answered the question: "Course you got to dance with 'em if you wanta make a hit. The big features is the program dances, but the men is there for a good time, an' you gotta help. If they ain't perfect gentlemen you tip the wink to Jimmy an' he gives 'em the air. But it's like I told you, she added more faintly. "You do what I said. If you can't dance or don't wanta, they'll all help you out. They're my friends," she weakly ended.

Within the next hour, when she had reached Jake's, Eve discovered that Miss Davenport had not over-rated her own popularity. Jake was in the fastness of his private office, a small partitioned retreat off the main room. Eve's modest request to see the manager, combined with the mention of Miss Davenport's name, procured an immediate audience with him.

He was dressed in immaculate evening clothes and his brilliant hair hung to his head like thick black paste. He turned upon her the unwinking gaze of two remote black eyes and waited for what she had to say.

"I've come to substitute for Miss Davenport," Eve explained. "S'matter 'ith her?"

"She's sick."

"Againeh?"

The personal charm of Jake, as set forth by Miss Davenport, was escaping Eve thus far.

"S'ure name?" he ended. "Berson." Eve had decided to accept Miss Davenport's version. "S'ure address?"

"The same as her."

"Know howt' dance?"

"Miss Davenport says I do. I can't do solo-work, but I think I can get along in the other dances."

"S'ope so. Avright. Report t' s Morris."

Eve followed to its end the narrow passage he had indicated, guided by the sound of voices. The door of a room at the right was yawning slightly, and a glance through the opening suggested that here was her destination. Half a dozen girls in evening gowns occupied its limited space, lending themselves to various occupations. One, in the only easy-chair, sat holding a hand-glass and touching up an already striking facial color scheme. A second was down on a knee, sewing the beginning of a run in the top of one of her silk stockings. A third fluffed her bobbed hair before a full-length mirror, and the remaining three, were smoking and resting. Eve tapped the door panel and waited on the threshold. No one answered, so she pushed the door wide.

"Pardon. Where shall I find the head hostess—Miss Morris?" she asked.

The girl who was sewing the stocking run raised her eyes from the absorbing task.

"Right here," she said brusquely. Her manner implied that she could endure "runs" but not interruptions.

"Miss Davenport told me to come to you," Eve explained. "She's sick."

"Again!" Miss Morris' exclamation held more sympathy than Jake's, and she added briskly, "Gawd! the poor kid!"

The information interested all the girls. Miss Morris nodded.

"Fine," she said heartily. "Stick around till I finish this damned thing, and I'll put you wise to what you gotta do."

Eve entered the crowded room. One of the smokers spoke languidly. "Wat's eatin' Ivy?" she wanted to know. "Same ol' t'ing?"

She was a tall girl with green eyes, a superb figure, regular features, and red hair as closely cut as Jake's. She had a look of distinction, a voice as harsh and shrill as a Russian's, and her accent was the one heard in New York's lowest East Side slums.

"Yes. She says she's had such attacks before."

"I'll tell the world she has. They're the t'ings she ain't got nothin' else but. I'm wonderin' how long Jake'll stand for it," the tall girl drawled.

"Don't strain your mind tryin' to think, Maizie. But if you really wanta know, I'll say Jake'll stand for it as long as Ivy can dance better than the rest of us. You ain't feelin' up to Ivy's acrobatic waltz yourself, are you?"

Eve decided that she liked Miss Morris. Queenie, having thus suppressed Maizie, and also conquered the run, now felt up to other duties. She rose, shook out her skirt, cast a critical glance at the reflection of her legs in the long mirror, and turned to the newcomer, prepared to give her undivided attention.

"Set down," she invited. "Here, Stella, don't be a pig!"

She seized the legs of the girl called Stella, a tired-looking and plain-faced young person who was lying at full length on the room's one couch, and swung them to the floor. Stella retrieved the cigarette dislodged from her lips by the briskness of this maneuver, and gloomily huddled in the couch's corner. Miss Morris pressed the visitor into part of the vacated space and fitted herself into what was left.

"What's your label?" she asked. "Berson."

"New in the business?"

"Yes."

"I thought so." Miss Morris had the air of one adjusting her shoulders to a burden. "Well, things don't light up here till the theatre crowd blows in," she resumed, "and that ain't for ten or fifteen minutes yet."

WACO CITIZEN, 79, ENDORSES NEW KONJOLA

"TOO BAD I DID NOT HEAR OF KONJOLA LONG AGO," SAYS THIS HAPPY MAN

"Too bad I did not hear of Konjola long ago; it could have saved me much suffering. My stomach was the cause of my trouble," said Mr. J. A. Kin, 122 Oriental road, Waco. "Everything I ate caused pain, gas and bloating. My whole system was run down, my vitality was low and I was gradually losing my strength. I had no ambition and was worn out all the time.

"So many medicines had failed me that I had about lost hope. Then came Konjola. After taking four bottles my appetite increased; I found I could eat anything without a trace of indigestion in any form, and my whole system has taken on new life. I have plenty of ambition to do my work, and I will always recommend Konjola as a real medicine."

Konjola is not a "cure-all"—there is no such thing, but when taken for six to eight weeks will produce amazing results. The countless thousands of endorsements of Konjola have proven that it makes good in even the most stubborn cases.

Konjola is sold in Sonora at the Corner Drug Store, aid by all the best druggists in all towns thruout this entire section.—Adv.

BREEDER-FEEDER SHOW AT DALLAS OCTOBER 11 TO 18

Efforts to Feed Texas Livestock on Texas Feeds Proving Very Successful

The second annual feeder show and auction sale and the first feeder lamb show and sale will be held at the Dallas Fair October 11 to 18. A number of cattle, sheep, goats and hogs will be entered in this show for the purpose of showing what Texas feeds are able to do for Texas livestock, according to L. E. Sumner, local county agent.

"Another purpose of the breeder-feeder show," says Sumner, "is to convince northern buyers that Lone Star livestock fed on Lone Star feed can be bought and turned at a profit by their purchasers." Frank P. Holland, president of the Texas Breeder-Feeder Association, has announced that in less than six months the association has swept practically the entire state.

"According to a partial census made in 46 Texas counties in January by G. W. Barnes, member of the Farm Board, who is secretary of our association, there were 41,000 head of cattle being fed in those counties," Mr. Holland announced. "From these figures we judged there were twice that number of cattle being fed in Texas at that time. Since then these animals have been finished, marketed and now more livestock is being pastured in the state."

The Texas Breeder-Feeder Association was organized in September, 1929, at Midland, Texas, with Mr. Holland as president, Mr. Barnes as secretary, and W. B. Mitchel, of Marfa, as vice president. The first activity of this newly formed organization was to sponsor the first annual feeder show and auction sale at the State Fair of Texas held at the 1929 Exposition.

A total of 624 calves and yearlings were shown, the same number sold at auction at a very favorable price.

"These calves and yearlings went to farms and feedlots of North Texas and most of them have been finished and sold at a profit," Mr. Holland said. "Some were roughed through the winter and will be put on feed this fall. Those in position to know feel that this first feeder show and sale was a success from every standpoint, and the organization will again sponsor a feeder show and auction sale at the 1930 State Fair of Texas."

During the State Fair, on October 13, 1929, the first annual meeting of the Texas Breeder-Feeder Association was held at the Baker Hotel, and was attended by more than 400 business men, ranchmen, farmers and others interested in the feeder movement. Members of the association were guests of the State Fair of Texas. The Fort Worth Fat Stock Show honored the association with a banquet on March 12, at which first results of the feeder movement were announced. The second annual meeting of the organization will be held during the 1930 State Fair.

The Texas Breeder-Feeder Association is a unique organization. It has no dues, no paid officers, but is doing one of the greatest services to bring about a revision in the farming program of Texas ever performed in this state.

"We have turned the farmers' eyes to livestock," Mr. Holland said. "We have shown the cotton farmers of the back land belts a new method of farming, whereby he can make as much money off of the same acres planted in food-stuffs as he can from cotton, and at the same time rebuild his soil."

"We have helped in the co-ordination of all forces in Texas in bringing this movement to a head, and hope to continue the good work through the various organizations which are co-operating with us."

Mr. Sumner has submitted a list of the rules and prizes for the show and stated that several Schleicher county farmers and ranchers have announced that they will enter livestock in the show.

Rules for the Texas Fine Wool Feeder Lamb Show

1. Texas-bred wether lambs of fine wool breeding (Rambouillet or Delaine or crossbreed Rambouillet and Delaine lambs) will be eligible to compete in the Texas fine wool feeder lamb show, October 11 to 18. Lambs showing any indication of mutton breeds will not be eligible to compete.

2. A carload shall consist of sixty head.

3. Each exhibitor or firm will be limited to two carloads of sixty head each.

4. Two classes will be shown, as follows: (a) Lightweight lambs averaging under sixty pounds. (b) Medium weight lambs weighing between sixty and seventy pounds.

5. Prize winners in the above will compete for the championship carload.

6. Fat lambs which are ready for the killer will not be eligible.

7. Feeder lambs for this show may be fed for thirty days before the show.

8. Smooth-bodied lambs only should be entered in this contest, since those carrying skinfolds will be discriminated against as feeder lambs.

9. Pens and watering facilities will be furnished by the State Fair of Texas. Feed will be purchased by owners until lambs are sold.

10. Feeder lambs sold at auction will become the property of the buyer at the close of the sale of that particular lot or lots.

12. The lambs will be sold by the pound and the weights taken by a certified public weigher immediately after the sale.

13. The following premium list has been arranged: (a) Light lambs not over sixty pounds; $125 first; $100 second; $75 third, and $50 fourth. (b) Medium weight lambs between sixty and seventy pounds: $125 first; $100 second; $75 third; $50 fourth, and $25 fifth. (c) Champion carload, $125.

14. Entries will be limited to 1200 lambs or twenty carloads of sixty lambs each.

"Bud" Smith, who is employed at the Holman-Trainer ranch east of town, transacted business and visited with relatives and friends here Tuesday.

Dock Joy and C. W. Adams were Camp Allison ranchmen who transacted business in Sonora the first of the week.

She Says $500 Could Not Buy Good Done

San Angelo Woman Declares Argotane Is Worth Its Weight in Gold; Has Suffered Four Years

"$500 wouldn't buy the good that two bottles of Argotane have done for me and I just think it's worth its weight in gold," said Mrs. L. A. Thomas, of 103 W. 7th St. San Angelo.

"I was told repeatedly that my trouble could not be cured in fact I have had an operation for appendicitis and I have to have the second one for adhesions, but still I suffered. Even the noise of a passing car would upset my nervous system. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I could not even digest an egg, and until I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

"I kept reading in the papers about so many people who had trouble similar to mine that had used Argotane and it proved to be the very thing in their case and I decided to try it. I have taken two bottles altogether and have gained wonderfully in weight and haven't had a nervous spell since. I can eat anything I want and am building up every day. I just can't say too much to praise Argotane."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Sonora at the Corner Drug Store.—Adv.

C. C. Smyth of the Sonora Electric Company was in Sheffield and Sanderson this week selling Westinghouse light plants and refrigerators.

Dr. Jungherr, veterinarian at the Experiment Station, transacted business in Sonora Thursday.

The Devil's Dream

(By W. E. James)

The following is a short synopsis of what a few members of Troop 19, Boy Scouts of America, from Sonora accomplished at the recent summer camp on the Concho, according to Assistant Scoutmaster Frank Holliday:

Herbert Fields was selected as one of the ten outstanding Scouts of the 170 who attended Camp Connellee from May 26 to June 4. The outstanding Scouts are selected from the group which stood out in Scout work, games, and have done tasks assigned them just a little better than the others.

John Hull and Edwin Sawyer fulfilled all the requirements for Merit badges in swimming.

The following honors won by the Scouts named were belt honors and were put on the Scout's belt at the head office each day:

Scout V. J. Glasscock—An art pallet for being on the winning 13-year-old team, a red diamond for cheerfulness, a white diamond for cleanliness, a gold diamond for obedience, an owl for guard duty, a Swastika for being on the winning 13-year-old basketball team.

Scout Herbert Fields—Four Swastikas for being on the following winning teams, wall scaling, boxing, basketball and baseball; an art pallet for handicraft, the camper, an owl for guard duty, a red diamond for cheerfulness, a white diamond for cleanliness, a gold diamond for obedience.

Scout W. B. Brantley—An art pallet for handicraft, a kettle for champion K. P. team, an owl for guard duty, a red diamond for cheerfulness, a white diamond for cleanliness, a gold diamond for obedience.

Scout Harold Friess—Two owls for night watch at two different periods, Swastika for champion wall scaling team, an art pallet for handicraft, a kettle for champion K. P. team, a red diamond for cheerfulness, a white diamond for cleanliness, a gold diamond for obedience.

A great deal of work is required for the camper honor, as follows: Write four letters home on four different days, name and describe six birds that were seen on camp, name and describe eight plants found at or near the camp, tie the Turk's head knot and the round and square braid knots, and memorize the camp decorum which has about 75 words in it. The honors of this test went to Scout Herbert Fields.

Handicraft work was divided into basket-making, bracelet-making and linoleum designing, the Scout choosing any one he wished to do each day.

Scoutmaster Arthur Olds, of the Mereta troop, who was drowned in the Concho river while on a camp with a few of his boys, was new to Scouting. His death is said to have resulted in entering the water too soon after the noonday meal. It is the rule of older and more experienced Scoutmasters to allow four hours to elapse after meals before boys under their care may enter the water. This ruling prevailed at Camp Connellee, according to Mr. Holliday. Any boy disobeying the swimming rule is promptly sent home.

"Here's where I get the 'Devil,'" said Shorty Brasher as he twisted the dials on his postoffice box and slipped therefrom a copy of the Devil's River News.

Friends of Two-Gun Ike are wondering if he will show up for the big two-day rodeo. Two-Gun's recent visit to Sonora came very nearly being his last. We did not learn the particulars, but it was some trouble with a new peace officer who was down town without his uniform, whom Two-Gun failed to recognize.

The wild and woolly ones who used to ride in and shoot up the town, run the peace officers ragged and scare innocent bystanders half to death, are learning that the oldtime tricks won't work in this day of enlightenment. Today it is perfectly safe for any unprotected person to walk the streets of any western town, as the few remaining wild ones know better than to trifle with the peace and dignity of the city.

Plant four dollars at home and watch them grow!
