GREAT THRONGS EXPECTED HERE FOR TWO-DAY RAIL CELEBRATION

LIONS DISCUSSED CELEBRATION HERE JULY 1-2

BUSTER HALBERT REPORTED NINE HUNDRED DOLLARS COLLECTED

The big celebration here next Tuesday and Wednesday was the chief discussion at the Lions Club Monday when Buster Halbert reported that approximately $900 had been collected by the finance committee for a free barbecue July 1st. He also said that 118 mutt and 6 beeves had been donated and that 15 beeves and 25 more mutt were needed to feed the crowd that would be here the first day.

The barbecue dinner will be served at 12:10 in the middle of the Gilmore and Vander Stucken block. It is thought that the crowd can better be accommodated at noon time as the visitors can carry their meat to the sidewalk and eat it in the shade. Buster Halbert is in charge of the barbecue and is being assisted by S. H. Stokes and E. R. Lawrence.

"Buzzy" Stokes, Joseph Trainer, B. Hamilton and Frank Holliday agreed to visit surrounding towns and place advertising matter in business houses. Towns within a hundred miles were visited and told of the two-day celebration.

It was voted to have the Lions Club "Welcome Sign" painted and repaired at a cost of $35 for painting.

The West Texas Utilities Company agreed to put in a string of lights from the depot to the business section of town if the Lions Club would furnish the globes. This proposition was accepted and the Lions will pay only $35.

Rev. Cliff Epps, pastor of the Methodist church at Pharr, was present and said he was pleased to be a guest of the Lions. Rev. Mr. Epps is a son-in-law of Mrs. A. E. Dusenbury. Mr. Cobban of the Dexter Construction Company was another visitor.

A letter from W. L. Aldwell, who is in a Fort Worth hospital with a broken thigh bone, thanked the Lions for the flowers sent him. Mr. Aldwell said that he would be unable to attend the celebration. He holds the first ticket purchased for transportation from San Angelo to Sonora. B. M. Halbert purchased five tickets and presented Mr. Aldwell with the first one. Mr. Aldwell is a director of the Orient Ry. which is owned by the Santa Fe.

Buster Halbert was accepted as a member of the club and was given several cheers when he said he would become a member.

B. B. Dunbar, prominent Sutton county ranchman, transacted business here Wednesday.

E. E. (Pat) Murphy Was Visitor Here

W. E. Caldwell Will Introduce Him Here in Speech 7:30 Tuesday Afternoon

E. E. (Pat) Murphy of San Angelo, candidate for congress of the 16th district, was here Tuesday for a few hours greeting his friends. Mr. Murphy had been to Del Rio where he addressed a large audience Monday night.

In Del Rio he was introduced by John Dodson, who for several years was a practicing attorney in the western end of this district. Dodson said that Murphy should be elected to represent the people in Washington because he was acquainted with governmental affairs after studying them for a number of years.

Murphy has just completed a four-weeks' tour of the district that carried him from Mitchell county to El Paso and then down the Southern Pacific to Del Rio. He spoke in all towns regardless of size, he said, emphasizing the importance of the tariff on livestock, wool and mohair. He declared that C. B. Hudspeth, present congressman, was supporting his candidacy.

Mr. Murphy is slated to make a campaign speech here at 7:30 in front of the Corner Drug Store July 1st. W. E. Caldwell will introduce Mr. Murphy.

C. H. Carson, manager of the Eagle Station here, while nearing Abilene Monday at noon, had the misfortune of getting a leg bruised and one cut very badly when his sedan turned over two or three times. The right front tire came off when three lugs came loose.

He was carried to a hospital in Abilene immediately after the wreck, and his wounds dressed. His wife was notified that night of the accident and she and E. C. Garvin left Sonora at ten o'clock Tuesday morning for Abilene. They brought him back to Sonora Wednesday night.

His injuries are not considered serious.

Agents and stations to which they have been assigned are E. F. Minor, Christoval; R. T. Whitehead, Eldorado, and P. J. Taylor, Sonora.

Probably some of the oldest men in point of service will be assigned to crews, as the run is considered desirable. The names of the crew have not been announced yet, however. On this run the complete trip can be made in one day and the crew will not be forced to stay away from home half the time as is usually the case.

Giles P. Hill has purchased a number of fine Hereford heifers from D. E. Hughes of Mertzon at a reported price of $150 per head. There were about fifty head and they will be put on Mr. Hill's ranch west of here.

Fast Races Will Feature Two-Day Rail Celebration Here Tuesday and Wednesday. Purses Will Total $25,000

Yesterday morning there were sixty race animals in the stalls at the Stockman's Paradise Association park and at least fifteen more are expected to arrive before the week is over. Owners of horses who reside in San Antonio to Oklahoma are here and have their trainers at work getting their horses in condition when the bell rings Tuesday, July 1st. Approximately $1,800 will be given in race purses during the two days of frolic.

one; Mae Jeffries, Lost Cent; and Geo. Adams, San Angelo, six. Twenty bucking horses, fifteen of which are owned by the park, are ready to be mounted. Five of Eldorado's horses will be here also. Horses familiar to riders are: Wicked Bill, Domino, Silver Tail, Fields Gray, Tommy, Swivel, Jinx, Cladine, 09, Radio, Little Genard, Jolly Boy and Mutt.

Mixed Lambs Sell For Seven Cents

Cliff Belcher of Del Rio Sold 6,000 Head to Jim Clamp for Fall Delivery

Cliff Belcher, well known Val Verde county ranchman, has sold 6,000 mixed lambs to Jim Clamp of Bracketville for fall delivery at 7 cents per pound, according to reports reaching here Wednesday. This is the first sale of lambs reported this year. The lambs will weigh in the neighborhood of 70 pounds, it is estimated.

Mr. Clamp is the owner of a fine string of race horses and owns a good ranch near Bracketville. He has been here with his horses a number of times and is well known to race horse men here.

FORMER SONORA BOY KILLED IN CAR WRECK

Briant "Dogie" Glascock, former Sonora boy who would have celebrated his nineteenth birthday Wednesday was killed in a car wreck eighteen miles south of Big Lake near the Powell oil field, Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. According to information received here by relatives, young Glascock's automobile struck a deep ditch and turned completely over, alighting on its wheels. There was a party near when the fatal accident happened.

The wreck victim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Glascock of Big Lake and former Sutton county ranch people. Besides his parents he is survived by four brothers and two sisters. He was buried in the Big Lake cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

Three uncles from this city, Ed Sim and Pink Glascock and families, attended the funeral services. Young Glascock had visited in Sonora frequently and had many friends here who were saddened when learning of the accident.

W. C. Gilmore was called to Georgetown Wednesday where his brother, Sidney, broke a rib. The break is not serious, according to information reaching here. They were expected to return yesterday.

FIRST WOOL TO BE SHIPPED OVER SANTA FE

FORTY CARS WILL LEAVE HERE NEXT WEEK FOR BOSTON

Sonora ranchmen will see their first shipment of wool to leave on rails here next week when forty carloads, about 1,500,000 pounds, will go to Boston to the Co-ops. Twenty-five cars have been loaded and ready for shipment and the additional fifteen cars will be ready the latter part of next week when a solid trainload will be pulled from the Sonora Wool & Mohair Company's $40,000 warehouse. The shipment will represent about $500,000 worth of wool.

About 100,000 pounds of wool were sold here recently by the local warehouse and the balance turned over to the Co-ops. From 22 to 26 cents per pound have been advanced by the Co-ops to growers in this county.

Draper & Company, sales agents for the National Wool & Marketing Corporation, will dispose of the trainload of wool in Boston.

There are about three to four million pounds of wool produced in this county annually, and it is thought that the majority of it will be handled next year by the local warehouse which was built by Sutton county ranchmen.

Experiment Station Improve Laboratory

Dr. Hardy of Big Spring Added to Veterinary Staff at Experiment Station

New bacteriological equipment costing several hundred dollars has been installed at the Experiment Station, W. H. Dameron, manager of the station, reported while here Monday afternoon. A hot air sterilizer and an incubator that will produce various organisms are among the recent additions to the laboratory. With this additional equipment the station will be much better equipped to study various animal diseases.

Dr. Hardy of Big Spring, a recent graduate of A. & M. College, will do field laboratory work for the station. Dr. Hardy comes well recommended by A. & M. College. Drs. Jungherr and Hardy returned Saturday from College Station where they had attended a short course there that lasted a week.

The Sonora Motor Company recently sold new Ford coupes to "Buzzy" Stokes, C. F. Holliday and J. H. Edwards. Perry Ory, salesman for the Sonora Motor Company, reports six new cars on the floor ready for delivery.

LARGEST CROWD IN HISTORY OF TOWN EXPECTED

The largest crowds in the history of Sonora are expected here for the big two-day celebration July 1 and 2 to commemorate the completion of Santa Fe rails into the "Capital of the Stockman's Paradise." It is estimated by those in charge of the festivities that eight thousand people will be here the first day and probably as many the second day.

The Santa Fe will run two special trains from San Angelo here to satisfy the many who will want to join this city in the big celebration. The first train will arrive in the morning about eleven o'clock and will be followed immediately afterward by the second special.

Vander Stucken to Drive Spike
Mayor Roy Aldwell, son of W. L. Aldwell who was instrumental in inducing the Santa Fe to make the rail extension, will welcome the visitors to Sonora and will be responded to by some distinguished visitor. Pat M. Neff, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, has wired that he will ride the first train into Sonora. The last spike, a gold one, will be driven near the depot by E. F. Vander Stucken, local banker and business man. This will take place between eleven and twelve o'clock.

Free Barbecue at Noon
From the depot a parade will take place and will be headed by a forty-piece Demolay band from San Angelo. Just before noon a "human fly" will scale the wall of the First National Bank, after which a free barbecue with all the trimmings will be served in the Vander Stucken and Gilmore block.

Free ice water will be placed in convenient places and the visitors will have access to sidewalks for shade while eating.

Fort Worth and San Antonio will send large delegations here for the first day, it is learned. At least five hundred San Angeliens will board the specials out of San Angelo and at least as many will come in automobiles. Every town within a radius of 400 miles have signified that they will send delegations here.

Parachute Leap at One O'clock
A professional will make a parachute leap from an altitude of 4,000 feet at one o'clock at the park one mile north of town. Immediately after the leap the races and rodeo will be ready to furnish thrills for the crowd.

There will be two dances going simultaneously on platforms near the grandstand at night. One will be a modern dance while the other will furnish entertainment and amusement for those who wish to dance the old fashioned way.

This will give you idea of the pretty girls and fine calves Sutton county boasts of. The picture shows Miss Harva Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Jones, Sutton county ranch people, and her calf that carried off a prize at the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show.

Miss Allie Halbert, another pretty Sonora girl, who is interested in the raising and feeding of baby beeves. Miss Halbert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Halbert, prominent ranch people in the "Stockman's Paradise." Miss Halbert exhibited her calf at Ft. Worth.

Welcome, Visitors

To the many visitors who will attend the rail celebration here July 1 and 2 we extend a cordial invitation and want each of you to feel at home while in "The Capital of the Stockman's Paradise."

Any favor that can be shown you while here will be a part of the program the citizens have outlined. It is the intention of everyone here to see that every visitor enjoys himself during the two days of celebrating the completion of the Santa Fe railroad into Sonora.

After you have enjoyed your stay here you are cordially invited to return at any time, either for a visit or to make your home with us.

FAULTY BRAKES COST SONORA JEWELER $100

Faulty brakes cost George Barrow $100 Tuesday morning when his car hit a herd of cows and calves, killing a cow and crippling another and two calves. Barrow had been to San Antonio and was returning when the accident occurred.

When approaching a herd of cows and calves belonging to Sid Evans his car brakes failed to hold and resulted in his running through the herd. After hitting two cows and calves the car came in contact with Mr. Evans' horse, but the horse was not injured.

The crippled cow and two calves were shot and Mr. Barrow agreed to pay Mr. Evans $100 for the damage.

Thinks Argotane Is Best Medicine

"After spending four months in a hospital undergoing treatment for intestinal infection and influenza, then finding myself a victim of constipation and other stomach troubles, the medicine that brought me relief is the medicine for me—and that's Argotane," declared J. M. Nedry, of 806 So. Fulton, San Antonio, Texas, tire salesman.

"I was in a pretty bad condition," continued Mr. Nedry. "Almost everything I ate soured on my stomach and I would have pains in my stomach and bowels from gas formations."

"A friend of mine, a druggist by profession, told me about Argotane and suggested that I try this preparation. Well, druggists know their business, so I began taking Argotane, and events have proved that my friend was right in recommending it."

"I can now eat anything and never suffer bad after-effects. My general health has improved greatly and I do not suffer from pains as I used to. I am also free from constipation."

"I consider Argotane the best stomach medicine I have ever tried, and I am glad to recommend it."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Sonora at the Corner Drug Store.—Adv.

100 TICKETS PURCHASED FOR FIRST TRAIN

W. R. Barnes, manager of the Stockman's Paradise Association, stated yesterday morning that 100 tickets had been purchased for those who wish to ride the first train into Sonora. The fare is $2.25 and entitles the holder to a round trip. Those desiring tickets can purchase them at the Gilmore Hardware Company.

J. M. Lee, one of the owners of the O. S. T. Stages, said that they would put on additional buses to care for the passengers who would want to ride the first train into Sonora. The stages will leave here at five o'clock in the morning and get in San Angelo in time to make connection with the first train. Bus fare is $2.50 and 25 cents of this will go to the barbecue funds.

It is thought that at least one hundred people from here will ride the first train into this city. There will be about five hundred San Angeloans who will board the first train here for the first day celebration.

MISS BILLIE WEBB IMPROVES SONORA CAFE

Miss Billie Webb returned last week from San Antonio where she purchased a large, new electric range for the kitchen at the Sonora Cafe. She has installed several new dining tables and can serve about seventy-five persons at one time, she said.

Dear Miss Stokes:
So many people in Junction have remarked about the part you and the other girls played in the Jubilee program, that I feel compelled to write you about it. And one can't wonder at their enthusiasm, with so many attractive young ladies making an appearance at one time.

NINTH INSTALLMENT

He asked the question with a twinkle, in tacit admission that he had no right to put it, and she smiled forgivingly.

"I've told you. I'm substituting for another girl. She's sick."

"All right, he said, accepting the rebuff. "Well let it go at that. Shall we dance again?"

When they returned to their table, Queenie arose.

"The best of friends gotta part," she announced.

"Hold on. What's the idea?"

It was the grinning youth who spoke—Jackson, his name had proved to be—his grin wiped from his face by the abrupt decision. Hunt looked equally serious, and Queenie regarded them with approving eyes.

"The idea is that you two ain't the only boys in the place," she explained, "and Jake has given me the high sign to move on."

"But, see here—" Jackson protested.

almost maternally reproachful, almost maternally reproachful.

"You don't wanta get my girl friend in bad with the boss the very first night she's on the job, do you?"

"Of course not." Hunt rose and bowed formally, and Queenie led Eve away.

"Better get out while the gettin's good," she said, an dadded another helpful hint for the novice: "It's wise to leave guys before they want us to. That brings 'em back again."

She took Eve to another table on the short list Jake had sent her. Two men of a different type sat there, but they responded to Queenie's initial advance as readily as the first pair had done. They were middle-aged Canadian cattlemen, out for a good time, and they had it with Queenie while Eve took such mild share as she could in the bantering dialogue and danced several times with each of them. Apparently this encounter was as successful as the first, for both men showed a flattering regret when it was over. Before that, moreover, they had unconsciously helped Eve through the little matter of the first half of the special program. While this was in progress she remained with them, and Jake seemed content with the arrangement.

The long night wore on. At the end of it Jake sent for Eve.

"You're awri!" he impersonally announced when she again confronted him in his office. It was half-past three and his staff was perceptibly wilting. So were his remaining guests, but Jake himself showed no sign of the night's strain. His linen was as faultless and his hair as pastily flat as they had been at eleven.

"Take y' on reg'lar," he added.

"That's good of you, Eve said. More and more she liked what she had heard of "Jake." "But I won't take the work just now, thank you."

"Why not?"

"It really isn't in my line."

"More money? Nothin' doin'."

Fixed rate.

"It isn't that," Eve hastened to explain. "The money side is quite all right." It was. She had earned eight dollars and some odd cents by her first night's work.

"Then what's eatin' yeh?"

"I want to do something else."

"What?"

"I don't know, yet!"

"Awri." Jake moved the remote eyes from her face as if this ended the matter, when she walked to the door he asked a question: "How 'bout Ivy?"

Eve stopped and turned back.

"Why... she'll be all right to-morrow night, won't she?"

"Nope. Means three four days, p'raps more. Keep her job a week, let 'er rest. Might fix 'er up."

There seemed nothing else to do. Eve agreed to the temporary job, and won the vast gratitude of Ivy, to whom she reported when she reached home at four o'clock.

Eve left her comfortable, and back to her own quarters, tired but uplifted. She had undertaken what she had undertaken; she had made eight dollars; she had been offered a job; she had been able to keep her walking nightmare at bay and to feel almost normal. Best of all, there was now no endless night to face, for the night was over. It might be worth while to accept Jake's offer, if only to do away with those awful nights in the court bedroom.

If she could kill another fortnight that way, and earn the money she so badly needed, Marcel would surely have his reply from Leon, and that reply might lead her out of the fog. She would think the matter over. However, she did not thinking then. She fell asleep at once from sheer exhaustion, and her dreams, when she recalled them in the morning, had to do with large buildings and blaring music and crowds of whirling figures.

Succeeding nights at Jake's seemed very much what the first one had been, with the difference that Eve had a fixed clientele as well as a floating one. The Canadian pair came regularly, and accepted without resentment her refusals of their invitations to luncheons and other diversions outside the cabaret. Hunt and his friend Jackson also became what the girls called "reg'lar," though Eve suspected that neither young man could long stand the financial strain of such frequent visits, for Jake's, as Ivy had boasted, was no "cheap joint."

Ivy was able to "get back on the job" on the fifth night and to go through her dances with amazing skill and pep. Her specialty was the "acrobatic waltz" Queenie had mentioned, and her performance was a revelation to Eve, who humbly told herself that as a "substitute" she had been a joke. Miss Davenport was a born dancer, which undoubtedly helped to explain her employer's patience with her attacks. The only employee that compared with her at Jake's was a young Italian among the loose-ankle boys, whose version of the "Black Bottom" was the cabaret's best attraction. Queenie's high kicking was "good but not great," as Ivy expressed it. Maizie, despite her superb figure, did no solo work at all, and was not above the average in the ordinary dancing.

Eve decided that Ivy's "acrobatic waltz" explained Ivy's heart attacks, and she advised the dancer to drop some of its more taxing features, Ivy shook her head.

"Long's I do it, I'll do it right," she announced. Art came first with Ivy.

Ivy's popularity in the "artists room" was second only to Queenie's and as the two girls stood together on all important issues Queenie's rule was strengthened by her chum's return. So was Eve's position. Miss Davenport had a grateful nature. Loyal and loudly she assured the world nothing was wrong with Berson. She demanded Queenie's continued interest in her protégée, and after a brief contest of wills she received it. The "head hostess," it appeared, had a horror of being "high-hatted" by anyone; and from the first she had cherished a dark fear that the newcomer was "high-hattin," and "up-stagin all Jake's artistes. Ivy was finally able to explain Eve's manner and diction to Queenie's satisfaction.

"She can't help it," she pointed out. "She's edjicated! My Gawd! what can a poor kid to when her folks put her in schools an' has her learned all those things?"

A little later Eve unconsciously turned to her own quarters.

"Where you from, anymow, Berson?" Queenie demanded one night, when the novice had been at Jake's a week. It was the first directly personal question that had been put to Eve, and Eve flushed under it.

"I? Oh, I've lived abroad a good deal," she stammered.

"Where?"

"In France."

Queenie nodded. Living abroad accounted for anything.

"Can you talk French?" she asked with sudden interest.

"Yes."

"Honest? Say, Jake'll be glad of that! Some Frenchmen blew in here last week, and none of us could parley with 'em. An' only the night before you came—Say, I'll tell Jake," Queenie added excitedly.

She told him, with all the pride of the discoverer, and Jake again sent for Eve.

"Doin' fine," he announced.

"Thank you. I'm glad of that."

"S'ear you French."

"I beg your pardon?"

"Talk some French."

"Now?"

"Sure."

"Do you speak French?"
"Nope. But I'll know if you do."
Eve laughed. It was the first time Jake had heard her do it, and

WELCOME, VISITORS

To the many hundreds of visitors who will join hands with Sonora in celebrating the railroad this paper, in behalf of its readers, the town and county, welcomes you to our city. For this special occasion this city has gone to considerable expense in entertaining the large crowd that will be present during the two days of festivities. While here we want you to feel at home and enjoy yourselves. The people of Sonora are ready and willing to show any courtesy to those who have come here to help us commemorate a public utility—the Santa Fe railroad.

During your stay in "The Capital of the Stockman's Paradise" we ask that you view the town, both business and residential districts. A wonderful change has been made in building even before steel rails were assured.

Sonora has a population of 1942, and this does not include a Mexican suburb south of the city. And the people who comprise this population are true western citizens. There are 2,800 people in the county, most of whom are pioneers in this great livestock producing section of Texas.

We have four blocks of hard-surfaced streets, and it is the intention of the city government to add at least that many more from year to year until we can boast of modern streets throughout the city. A $40,000 sewage system was installed two years ago. A new high school building is now under construction, and when completed and equipped will cost $125,000. There are fourteen teachers employed in Sonora schools and all of these are degree teachers. The water system here is modern with a pressure greater than that found in many large cities. Sonora boasts of pure water and in an abundant supply.

Sonora is incorporated with a mayor and two commissioners and has a city manager employed to look after every detail.

Sonora was founded by Charlie Adams, deceased, in 1890. During the two score years our city has existed it has grown from a western livestock village to a real little city, and is sure to continue its growth and development with the railroad.

Again we invite you to our city!

SONORA'S CELEBRATION

The celebration which Sonora will stage July 1-2 marking the coming of the railroad has had its prototype many times in the past when "inland" towns were rescued from their isolation by the advancing lines of steel. Sonora, however, is in somewhat different case from most of the others which celebrated in the past. In those times the isolation which the railroad ended was very near complete. Sonora is anything but isolated, in most of the senses of the term. The automobile and good roads changed all that long ago. If Sonora were celebrating only an end to isolation, the festivities should have occurred when the first automobile entered the city or when the first roadmaking machine appeared over the horizon.

But Sonora's jubilation is no less genuine and profound, because while Sonora citizens find all the surrounding world accessible to themselves personally, there are phases of Sonora's life whose isolation is very nearly as complete today as it ever was in the past. When the first train runs into Sonora July 1 it will signalize the end of trail-herding cattle over long miles for shipment and of motor truck caravans to carry the great wool production of that region to market. It is an event of importance more far-reaching from an economic than from a social standpoint that Sonora celebrates.

Incidentally, Sonora will be saying goodbye to a phase of its existence which, however delectable it may be to replace it with the more rapidly moving stage of the railroad, still has qualities to recommend it to fond memory. The "inland" towns of Texas, and especially the stockmen's towns, boasted their own fundamental charm, not the least of which was their rugged aloofness from the obsessions with trade which usually accompany the railroad.

Sonora is preparing to entertain many guests in the two-day festival which will mark the coming of the first train. It will be the good fortune of the visitors that this entertainment will be of the old sort.—Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

LA VISTA THEATRE HAS COOLING SYSTEM

Fresh air blown over ice will be the method used in cooling the La Vista Theatre. The system is being installed this week, making the show house much more comfortable.

Mr. Elliott, manager of the theatre, is trying to give the movie fans of Sonora the best in pictures and wants them to be comfortable while in his show.

W. H. Dameron, superintendent of the Experiment Station, and Ben L. Wheat passed through Sonora Monday afternoon with two yearling Rambouillet rams that they purchased for Mrs. Nannie Wheat from Geo. Williams of Eldorado. Forty dollars per head was the price paid for each animal.

C. H. Carson, manager of the Eagle Filling Station here, left Monday night for Abilene on business.

Lock Lovell of San Angelo has been employed at the Stites Motor Company as battery service man.

CREDIT

Is the Badge of Honesty

Credit came in with civilization—when man began to have faith in his fellowman. To revert to a no-credit plan would be equivalent to redersion to savagery. Germany lost the faith of humanity when she abused the faith all nations held in The Hague and other treaties.

The entire financial system is based on the faith men have in each other's honesty. YOU are a more or less important cog in the financial system of the country.

If you pay your bills promptly the whole set of machinery works right—if you don't pay promptly the machinery is disrupted and a certain cog may have to be removed.

CREDIT IS FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE!

It is the easiest thing in the world to get—if you play square—the hardest if you shirk your responsibilities.

Credit is based solely and absolutely on past performances.

If you have always paid your bills promptly you can obtain credit easily anywhere in Sonora or United States. It will make you feel better—it will strengthen your credit—and the financial machinery will function properly.

If you have evaded payment, even though your intentions are ever so good, you will be listed far and wide as "bad pay" and your credit is gone.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere by Elizabeth Jordan

it appealed to him. His remote look changed slightly.

"That's the stuff," he approved. "Smilin's good for business. You ought to laugh more."

Eve answered in French that no doubt this was true, but that she couldn't promise to keep on smiling indefinitely, though she would do her best. Finding it necessary to translate this, she did so, and Jake nodded.

"How'bout stayin' on?"

"I haven't quite decided yet."

"Can't raiserates but give us same gaurantee's Morris."

"Thank you. I'll stay two weeks longer, anyway, unless something unexpected happens."

"S'allri."

The arrangement simplified Eve's bookkeeping. Instead of being paid nightly as a "substoot," she was on Jake's weekly payroll at a twenty-five dollar salary, which was augmented by the dance-cards she turned in.

A week later, when Eve and Hunt returned to their table after a midnight Charleston, Queenie hurried to them with an expression of urgency she hastened to explain.

"Jake wants you to go an' meet that guy over in the corner," she said eagerly. "I forget his name, but he's OK. He's from the West, and he's sen watchin' you ever since he come in. He jest told Jake he wanted to talk to you. Interduce yourself. I'm lookin' after a big dinner-party."

"Miss Berson is busy here," Hunt began. Hunt's air of late had become slightly proprietary. Miss Morris rebuked him with a friendly shake of her head.

"Get wise, get wise," she advised. "This has happened before an' it'll happen again. Orders is orders, an' she's workin' for Jake. You had your turn. P'rhaps you'll get another later on," she kindly added.

Hunt's jaw set. For a moment he seemed about to dispute the ruling. Then his good sense asserted itself and he rose with a shrug.

"All right," he agreed. "I'll take you over."

"That'll make a big hit with the new guy," Queenie murmured ironically. But Eve understood as she so easily understood everything Hunt did and said, the impulse that always made him escort her thru the dancing crowds to any table where she was expected.

She walked by his side with unwilling steps. She never knew what these encounters might bring, and each time she thus approached a stranger every instinct in her protested against what she was doing. She constantly reminded herself that she was there to talk to and to dance with lonely men, to help them to have a pleasant evening, and that the matter ended with the talk and the dance, and that the money she was earning was necessary to her. If Jake's was the sort of place young girls plainly considered it, it was surely safe for her. Also, she was plainly of use here, in ways she was not paid for. The girls trusted her and asked her advice. Even Maizie had warmed up since the little session with Jenny, and the latter had shown a somewhat embarrassing determination to establish a life friendship.

SQUILL KILL Rats Cost Millions Annually

You can rid your premises of this costly pest without danger to your poultry or domestic animals by using Squill Kill, a Red Squill preparation. Red Squill is recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in farm bulletin No. 1533, as being taken readily by rats and relatively harmless to human beings and domestic animals.

Rats cost the American people $200,000,000 annually. They distribute the virus of plague of hydrophobia, of trichinosis, of equine influenza. When you can be rid of these pests by using Squill Kill at a cost of 50 cents, can you afford to have them?

Squill Kill carries a positive guarantee. If used according to instructions, your money will be refunded if Squill Kill does not kill rats and mice.

"Konjola Worked Wonders in My Stubborn Case"

Fort Worth Man Relieved of Severe Attack of Rheumatism, Eagerly Praises New Medicine

MR. JOE CONNELLY

"For over a year I suffered with muscular rheumatism," said Mr. Joe B. Connelly, 504 Belknap street, Fort Worth. "My entire body was a mass of aches and pains. Finally I was forced to give up my work and was confined to bed. The pains were so severe that I had to be moved very carefully and was helpless and bedridden for three months. My nerves were completely gone and I felt at times that I could not bear my suffering another day.

"I sent away for my first treatment of Konjola and was amazed at the results. Within three weeks I was able to get up and around without assistance. Gradually the pain and soreness left me and I began to feel my old self again. My nerves settled, constipation was completely banished, and I do not remember when I have felt as well as I do now. Konjola certainly worked wonders in my case."

Though Konjola works quickly, and many sufferers are greatly benefited in a week, a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles is recommended for thorough results.

Konjola is sold in Sonora at Corner Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Miss Babe White left the first of the week for San Angelo where she will join Miss Floy Friend of San Angelo, and Misses "Pete" and "Punk" Friend of Ozona, on a trip to Colorado. They will be gone for about three weeks.

Mrs. Will Perry was in San Angelo Wednesday to see her daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Smith, who underwent an operation Monday at the Rush Clinic. She was accompanied by her two grandsons, children of Mrs. Smith.

Mr. Schweining stated that 40 or 50 chevon and five or six beeves will be barbecued for the free dinner when a crowd of 4,000 people from nearby counties are expected to be present.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amanceas road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

The Devil's Dream

(By W. E. James)

HELP! HELP!
Cried the driver of a bantam car. Someone threw a wad of chewing gum on the highway and I'm stuck!

It has been said that if Adam could return to earth the only thing he would recognize would be the old jokes.

When the Ford car first made its appearance it immediately became the butt of innumerable jokes. But since the Ford has risen to the high rank of a real automobile and out of range of the satirist, the short gags have been trained on a new car called the "Bantam."

The Pathfinder perpetrates the following, which appears to be one of the first fun-gags trained upon the new creation:

ENTER THE BANTAM CAR

Dark hallways will become more of a menace after June 29th when the American cousin of the British Austin car is scheduled to make its formal debut. If people mistook the new dollar bills for stamps, they are sure to mistake the new bantam auto for a doghouse on wheels. Still, it is what we might expect to buy in the auto line with our shortened money.

"Two can live as cheaply as one—provided one of the cars is an American Austin," is the slogan of the car advertised as "the family second car," "the car to run around in" and something to end "breakfast table squabbles." Because of the cost, original plans for a five-passenger machine have been scrapped for one seating two passengers, 16 college boys or 34 Scotchmen. The back seat driver is moved nearer to the nut behind the steering wheel due to a wheelbase of "28 inches shorter than any other American car." The three models—coupe, roadster and commercial—will sell under $450, and we may soon expect to buy parts for them in the five-and-ten-cent stores. Forty to 50 miles on a gallon of gas, tires good for 20,000 more miles after they are worn out, and 55 miles an hour (with 70 if you buy a special high lift cam shift) are claimed for them. Orders for more than 166,000 bantams indicate a bumper crop. It goes without saying that the owner can carry a doughnut as a spare. He does not have to pass a truck; he can run underneath it. When he runs out of gas he can fill an Austin tank by draining his cigar-lighter fluid into it. The pedestrian will also have it easier. Instead of dodging the new car he can just shove it aside. After owning a bantam car for awhile you can trade it off for a jack for your "first car" or you can just store it away up in the attic along with the baby buggy and cradle.

Strange rumors are afloat to the effect that Two-Gun Ike and his brother, Hostid Bill, have discovered untold wealth in the form of Mexican gold pieces. It is understood that Two-Gun made the discovery while trailing a lost sheep over the mountains on "The Lone Goat Ranch," near the headwaters of Dry Devil's river. He hinted at a deep, dark cavern dug out of the side of the mountain, and into which he plunged headlong, down, down, down. The Dreamer will try to get the full story for a coming issue, that is if Two-Gun and his brother, Hostid Bill, ever come back from Old Mexico, where they went to prove identity of the gold found.

S. T. Gilmore is expected to return today from Hot Springs where he has been taking treatment for rheumatism for the past four or five weeks.

PLAN TO SPEND MILLION TO SELL LAMBS

REPORT TO BE GIVEN AT SHEEP-GOAT MEETING IN BRADY

Plans were laid recently in San Angelo for a million dollar campaign for the advertising of lamb in the United States, a campaign which would be comparable to that of the laundry association, which is spending that sum this year.

Those present at the meeting pointed out that one cigarette company had spent on advertising $12,000,000 last year and as a result its cigarette is the leading smoke of the day. T. L. Drisdale, one of the members of the committee, pulled out a package of these fags as a demonstration. It was a meeting of the lamb committee popularization committee of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association with C. J. Pettinger of the Mills Advertising Company of Indianapolis, Ind. The report of the meeting will be presented to the annual convention of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association in Brady July 30, 31, August 1 and 2.

Sol Mayer, chairman of the Texas committee and a member of the lamb committee of the National Wool Growers Association, pointed out that there are in the United States 48,913,000 sheep with an annual wool production of 350,000,000 pounds and Texas has 5,500,000 of them. Mr. Mayer thinks there is no reason why the sheepmen of America cannot raise a million a year for three or four years and he thinks as a result of this campaign that the lamb business which has now reached the saturation point would find production trying hard to keep up with consumption. He said lamb is now fourth in point of consumption with hog, beef and poultry ahead of it.

Just what mediums of advertising would be used is a question. Newspapers, billboards, radio, magazines were all mentioned, but the sentiment of the growers present was that the million could be raised, thus forming the greatest bit of producer advertising in the history of business. The plan will also be submitted to a special session of the National Wool Growers Association sometime in August and out of the meeting today an effort will be made to bring together all the sheep growers associations of the nation in the plan. Pettinger's firm handles the "Say It With Flowers" campaign, an 8-year appropriation of a half million a year; the laundry campaign of one million a year; the macaroni campaign of $350,000 annually; the bottled carbonated beverage campaign of a half million annually; and the photographers campaign of a half million annually. Members of the committee in attendance were Mr. Mayer, Mr. Drisdale, E. S. Mayer and Victor Pierce.—San Angelo Times.

Texas produced in 1929, 62 per cent of all the carbon black made in the United States. It more than doubled its output between 1928 and 1929, the figures being 100,828,000 and 288,183,000 pounds, adding $11,700,000 to the state's income.
