Methodist Revival to Begin Here Sunday

WELL KNOWN EVANGELIST WILL DELIVER SERIES OF SERMONS

The Methodist revival which was to have begun on the 15th inst., but postponed, will be held for one week or longer, beginning next Sunday morning at the Methodist church in this city.

Services will be held both morning and night and will be in charge of Rev. A. C. Bell and wife. Rev. Bell, whose home is in Abilene, Texas, is said to be one of the successful evangelists of the North-west Texas conference.

Rev. Mr. Bell will be assisted by his wife who also comes highly recommended as a worker with young people and children.

Rev. F. M. Jackson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Sonora, is asking the hearty co-operation of all christian people, and extends to everyone a welcome to the services. Singers of other denominations are requested to come and help with the gospel of song.

LIONS PRESIDENT BECOMES GRANDPA

Lion President J. D. Lowrey became grandpa Sunday afternoon when a five and one-half pound baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Grady Lowrey. Young Lowrey is county attorney of Val Verde county, associated with a leading law firm in Del Rio, and formerly practiced law here.

The grandfather of the young lady celebrated the event by attending the San Angelo Fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Bronchos Battle Rocksprings to Tie

Bronchos Showed to Be in Very Poor Condition Here Last Saturday

Although Sonora made a dozen first downs here Saturday in the game with Rocksprings, she could never push over the enemies' line. Rocksprings made half as many first downs as the Bronchos, and twice got within 8 or 9 yards of the goal, but both times Sonora kicked out of danger.

Coaches White and Berry have been working their proteges out ever since the fray last Saturday trying to improve the team as a whole to meet the heavy Junction eleven in Junction Saturday.

Louie Trainer, the fleet-footed star of the Bronchos, is near out with an injured ankle. He is not the only Broncho to suffer injuries from the game with Rocksprings, as the whole outfit is skinned and bruised quite a bit.

White is counting on winning from Junction, but if he does it will be a miracle, for Junction has about the strongest and fastest class B aggregation in the state. Last week they whipped the Del Rio Hi, 12 to 7.

Next week Eldorado will invade the Bronchos' corral with blood in their eyes. Eldorado and Sonora have long been enemies, and to kick the Eagles in the pants will be only joy and revenge to the Bronchos.

From the Sideline

Coach Ted White's Bronchos raised the lid of the local grid season Saturday, emerging with one of the eggs in a "goose egg" affair with Rocksprings—the same team they snatched a 2-0 victory from last year.

This season's opener was marred by numerous fumbles and evidence of poor condition on both sides. The game was a see-saw affair for three quarters and then the heavier Rocksprings crew opened up a line smashing offense that had the Bronchos sagging in the middle. Only a determined fighting stand by the locals prevented a "Rocktown" victory.

Doc Blanton got off a few well-placed punts but was outdistanced by the enemy's heavier booters.

CO-OPS HERE HANDLE MUCH WOOL, MOHAIR

THRE-FOURTHS OF MILLION POUNDS OF MOHAIR GO TO BOSTON

About three-fourths of a million pounds of mohair will go through the local Co-Ops here before the season closes, Charles Evans, manager of the Sonora Wool & Mohair Company, said Wednesday. Six cars of mohair, comprising 236,818 pounds, have been shipped by the local Co-Ops to Boston, and 228,524 pounds were handled out of Edwards county from Camp Wood. There will be about six cars more to be shipped. The mohair in Sutton and Edwards, Mr. Evans said, is first choice hair, and should bring a top price. Sonora Wool & Mohair Company's warehouse handled the greater part of the wool and mohair in this county for the Co-Ops.

One and one-half million pounds of spring wool were handled by the Sonora Co-Ops last spring and about a quarter of a million pounds of mohair were shipped. The fall wool accumulation will amount to about 400,000 pounds, as few of the ranchmen are shearing this fall.

Be Sold By Early Spring

Mr. Evans said that he thought the entire accumulations of the National Co-Ops would sell some time by late winter or early spring, and then prices could be announced. The National Co-Ops received 104,247,421 pounds of wool throughout the United States and 13,015,735 pounds of mohair were given advances. About one-third of the nation's output of wool and mohair was handled by the Co-Ops. Mr. Evans said that at least fifty per cent of the total production would go into the Co-Ops next year. Advances on wool to growers amounting to 21 to 26 cents per pound, and 22c on short wool. Mr. Evans said that it was his opinion that the price to be obtained would exceed the advance.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST COMING HERE AGAIN

Dr. Fred R. Baker, San Angelo popular optical specialist, will be at the Hotel McDonald, Wednesday October 1st only. The doctor says more Sonora people wear his famous glasses than all others combined. Names of a hundred local boosters will be furnished upon request. His work is fully guaranteed and glasses may be refitted free in one year if necessary. Just returned from East with large stock of new styles in spectacle wear. Don't fail to see him. Adv.

REV. A. C. BELL
Evangelist who will conduct a series of meetings at the Methodist church here, beginning Sunday morning, September 28.

Sonora Lions Favor Road Bond Issue

O. S. T. and Rocksprings Road Matters Discussed; No Action Taken

The matter of a paved road to the Crockett county line on the O. S. T. and a like road to the Edwards county line was discussed by Sonora Lions at their Monday luncheon. A former committee composed of Roy Aldwell, W. E. Caldwell and R. Halbert appointed to meet with the county commissioners on road matters, was instructed to hold together until the question in hand had been settled. Lion Cusenberry, one of the county commissioners, stated that that body was awaiting an official designation on the part of the state highway commission on the Rocksprings road. Road matters are now at a standstill awaiting action of the road committee referred to above.

Lion H. L. Taylor, highway maintenance man for this district, reported that an order had gone out from the commission that no new road designation would be made for at least a year. This action will likely delay a move for a road bond issue in this county.

Lion Gilmore, chairman of the permanent entertainment committee, reported the new play, "Bad Man" as being ready to cast, and would be put on at an early date. The Lions play will be the first to be staged in the new high school auditorium, and a record breaking attendance is anticipated.

Miss Helen Joiner, accompanied at the piano by Miss Elizabeth Francis, entertained the Lions with

HALL BROTHERS BEGIN WORK ON GRAIN HOUSE

TO CONSTRUCT FIREPROOF BUILDING, 40x100 FEET; COSTING $25,000

Hall Brothers, San Angelo grain dealers, started work this week on their feed house to be built of Concho crete and cement floors. The structure will be 40x100 feet and will be large enough to accommodate a great quantity of feed, grain, salt, etc. About three weeks will be required in which to construct the warehouse, according to H. V. Stokes who will manage the Sonora branch.

This will be the only branch of the Hall Bros. Grain Company that will have a fireproof warehouse. This firm has branches in Sterling City, Barnhart and other West Texas towns. Their investment here is about $25,000.

E. D. Porter, San Angelo contractor, is to build the structure and will use as much home labor as possible in construction work. It is understood that the material will be purchased here from the West Texas Lumber Co. Mr. Porter began moving machinery and material to Sonora Tuesday, preparatory to start construction work.

H. V. Stokes has been employed by this firm for about two months, and reports the sale of several carloads of feeds to ranchmen in this trade territory. Mr. Stokes will be assisted by some Sonora man.

AUDITOR FOR GENERAL MOTORS VISITS HERE

Wade Grimland, auditor for the General Motors Company with headquarters in Dallas, was here the latter part of last week visiting with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Grimland, and other relatives. He left Saturday on a 4,000-mile trip that will carry him through Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and other states. Young Grimland has a responsible position and has forty men working under him.

John Fields, local race horse fan and owner, was in San Angelo for the races Tuesday.

A solo entitled "The Cowboy's Last Song." Miss Joiner received a hearty encore.

Lion W. E. Caldwell, retired president, will have charge of next Monday's meeting in conjunction with the following program committee: B. Hamilton, Geo. D. Chalk and F. O. Harrison.

WATER SYSTEM HERE BEING IMPROVED

LAYING 2,000 FEET OF SIX-INCH MAINS AND ADDING FIRE PLUGS

Central West Water & Power Company is making considerable improvements here in its water system. Two thousand feet of six-inch main are being laid from the school building to the warehouses now being erected near the Santa Fe industrial tracks in the southwest part of town. Six hundred feet of two-inch pipe are also being laid to better the service.

Two more fire plugs are being installed, one at College and Taylor and one near the school building. This will give Sonora ten fire plugs and will afford better fire protection.

B. A. Kean, plant manager for the Central West Water & Power Company with headquarters in San Antonio, is here assisting John Eaton, local manager, in the supervision of the work.

Mr. Kean said that 75 percent of the residences and business houses here have meters. There are about 200 meters here now, he said.

Other improvements in the water system will be made later, Mr. Kean declared. It is the intention of his company to sink additional wells for test purposes in order to get deeper water and in a more abundant supply. If the water fails to rise near the surface in the deep wells, an air compressor will be used in drawing the water to the surface.

Phillips Holman 2 Drilling at 5,665

Lack About 1,000 Feet Until Bit Will Penetrate Interesting Depth

Phillips Petroleum Company's Holman estate No. 2, twenty-five miles south of here on the Holman estate ranch and 300 feet over the Sutton line in Edwards county, was drilling Thursday morning at 5,665 feet, according to O. B. McCalmont, who is in charge of drilling operations. Work at the well has been slowed down, awaiting the arrival of a sand reel, but it is expected to go forward at a rapid rate next week when the new reel arrives.

A fair gas showing was struck at 4,100 feet, Mr. McCalmont said. The interesting dept is expected to be encountered at about 6,000 feet, at which level an excellent oil and gas showing was found in the first well that was abandoned on account of hung tools.

The Phillips Whitten well five miles northwest of Eldorado has been plugged, Mr. McCalmont said.

HUTCHERSON, MERCK AND JONES COMPOSE SONORA JUDGING TEAM

Scoring a total of 5,515 points over fifteen other schools, Jake Merck, James Edward Hutcherson and Cleveland Jones, composed a winning combination in Sonora's vocational agriculture class that won first place in the stock judging contests at the All West Texas Exposition in San Angelo this week, according to E. R. Lawrence, teacher and coach in charge of the Sonora boys. The boys spent ten hours hard work in judging cattle, sheep and goats.

Jake Merck was high point man in judging beef cattle and goats and received $20 for the two first prizes. Cleve Jones was awarded first in the sheep judging and carried off a $10 prize. The trio as a team was given a $25 prize and a loving cup from R. J. Andrews and son. If this cup is won by any one team three consecutive times it becomes that team's property.

Mr. Lawrence will receive a gold medal for coaching the winning team. He said his team was ready and anxious for the next judging contest. Mr. Lawrence and the 4-H boys and girls captured several prizes last year at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show. He has been very successful here as teacher of vocational agriculture.

Mr. Lawrence reports that 16 calves are now on nurse cows and feed and should be in excellent condition for full feed later. The calves will be carried to the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth next March.

Sonora Scouts Start Fall Program Work

Scout Chairman Aldwell Ready to Back Boy Scouts Again in Undertakings

Troop 19 Sonora Boy Scouts are starting their fall program under the direction of John Eaton, scoutmaster, and Frank Holliday, assistant scoutmaster. The Scouts have had a vacation during the summer months and are now ready to groom their teams and patrols to defend their title of champions of the Ranch District Boy Scouts.

For the past three years the Sonora troop has won all prizes and contests and bids fair to hold their record another year. Scoutmaster Eaton has several new plans and contests that are calculated to put the patrols in the best shape possible.

The local troop will have several representatives at the patrol leaders and scoutmasters training conference which is to be held at Christoval on October 4 and 5.

The local Boy Scout committee, of which Roy Aldwell is chairman, held a meeting Wednesday afternoon and announced that they were going to back up the Boy Scout program here again this year and depend on the troop to come through winners as usual.

DEE CURRY JAILED ON SWINDLING CHARGE

Dee Curry, local electrician, was arrested and jailed here Tuesday on a charge of swindling. It is alleged that Curry was given a check by the local West Texas Utilities Company office and cashed the check. A few days later Curry received a check from the Utilities office in Abilene for the same amount and gave the check to C. H. Carson to pay an account. Carson indorsed the check and it was sent in for collection but payment was stopped.

Curry was given an examining trial before Justice of the Peace J. E. Grimland, Thursday at noon. Curry had failed to make a $200 bond, and it is likely that he will be held in jail until the grand jury convenes next spring, according to local officers.

E. F. Johnson, of San Angelo, representing the Department of Commerce, was here Saturday on business.

Weight of Experience Surely With Solomon

When William Jennings Bryan buttonholed John Baird, to talk to him about marrying his daughter, Mary Elizabeth, in his dilemma, the young man sought refuge in the Scriptures, and began:

"Mr. Baird, I have been reading Proverbs a good deal lately, and find that Solomon says, 'Whoso findeth a wife findeth a good thing and obtaineth favor of the Lord.'"

Mr. Baird, being something of a Biblical scholar himself, replied:

"Yes, I believe Solomon did say that, but Paul suggests that while he that marryeth doeth well, he that marryeth not doeth better."

This was disheartening, chuckled Mrs. Bryan, recalling the interview—it is reported in M. R. Werner's biography of her distinguished husband—but the young man saw his way through.

"Solomon would be the better authority upon this point," rejoined Mr. Bryan, "because Paul was never married, while Solomon had a number of wives."

After this friendly tilt the matter was satisfactorily arranged.—Kansas City Times.

KONJOLA FREED FT. WORTH MAN OF RHEUMATISM

Suffered Five Years—Kidney and Stomach Ailments Also Banished

MR. N. R. DANIEL

"I suffered from rheumatism for four or five years," said Mr. N. R. Daniel, 808 East Arlington avenue, Ft. Worth. "This settled in my left leg and hips and I became so sore and stiff that I walked with a limp. I could not stoop sufficiently to lace my shoes. Later I became afflicted with stomach pains by gas. My kidneys became affected and I suffered constant back pains."

"I watched local endorsements of Konjola and decided to give it a trial. I noticed a change while I was taking the first bottle so I continued the treatment. Today the pains of rheumatism have entirely passed. I move my limbs freely and without effort. The stomach and kidney ailment have gone the way of my rheumatism and I no longer suffer from constipation. Even head catarrh which bothered me for years has been relieved by this new medicine."

The files of Konjola contain many such instances. Konjola is free from alcohol, nerve-deadening drugs or heart-depressing chemicals.

Konjola is sold in Sonora, Texas, at the Corner Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Explained in Full
"Well, Martin," said the country squire to his ex-footman, who had left for a year before to join the navy and had returned on leave, "how do you like your new life?"
"Fine, sir," said the sailor.
"That's good," said the ex-master.

"Yes, sir, it's a grand life. Once upon a time I didn't think much of the sea, though," the sailor explained, "but now I see that the water's the finest thing in the world. For instance, if there was no water in the world not one of us would learn to swim, and then look at what a lot of people would be drowned."—London Tit-Bits.

Important Vitamin
In testing foods for vitamin C in the laboratory, guinea pigs are fed a basal diet complete except for this vitamin, and then given measured amounts of the food in question. If the animal thrives and grows well, the food is probably a good source of vitamin C; if the animal develops symptoms of scurvy—sore, stiff joints, a tendency to hemorrhage, sore gums, loosening of teeth, and fragile bones, the food under test probably is deficient in vitamin C. Similar symptoms are found in human beings whose diet has lacked the foods that supply this important vitamin.

On Approval
The class was standing by their desks and the teacher was walking up and down inspecting the children's books.

On approaching one of the boys, she noticed a price ticket attached to his trousers.
"Tommy," she cried in a tone of amazement, "do you know you have a price ticket on your trousers?"
The boy, however, showed no surprise at being told this; instead he calmly replied:
"Yes, teacher; they might have to go back tomorrow."—London Answers.

A Wise Saying
"A man who has sense enough to see simple things in their true light," says Dr. E. T. Bell, "turns the whole world upside down." Up to the time of Galileo, even mathematicians believed small bodies fell faster than heavy bodies. But Galileo climbed to the top of the Leaning Tower of Pisa, let fall two balls of different weight and size, and they struck the ground simultaneously. That simple fact revolutionized mathematics.

Early Magazines
The first magazine published in America was issued in Philadelphia February 13, 1741. It was the American Magazine, or a Monthly View of the Political State of the British Colonies, published by Andrew Bradford. Three days later Benjamin Franklin issued the General Magazine and Historical Chronicle for all the British Plantations in America.—Detroit News.

One's Best Demanded

FOURTH INSTALLMENT

"I know it sounds a damnable insult... but you mustn't forget who I thought you were. A notorious woman—a woman who counted one man more or less as nothing. I wanted to make you more—to see if I could make you care for me and then treat you as you had treated my brother. You told me you had never really cared for any man and so... last night..."

He felt her sway beneath his hands. "You mean... it was all just a game?" she asked dazedly. Her eyes never left his flushed, agitated face.

Chittenham watched her, white-faced, tense. Suddenly he found himself beside her, holding her unresponsive hand, pleading with her. "Forgive me. For God's sake say you forgive me. I shall never forgive myself. I'd give ten years of my life to wipe out the ghastly mistake. But it wasn't altogether my fault. Lombard—" She turned her head and looked at him. "Can you blame Mr. Lombard because you wished to behave like a cad to a woman who had never done you any harm?"

Chittenham flushed crimson. "She sent my brother to his death. I had a right to make her pay." "Your brother was as much of a coward as you are." The very stillness of her voice was like a knife-cut. "Brave gentlemen both of you! The one to die and leave the stigma of his death upon a woman who never wanted him and had often told him so and the other to break a woman's whole life in order to satisfy his petty pride and the thing I suppose he calls his honor..."

"Julie!" Chittenham said passionately. And then somehow, without either of them being conscious of having moved, she was in his arms sobbing, her face buried on his shoulder, her arms about his neck. "Oh, say you love me... say you really love me—" she pleaded wildly. "Oh, do you really love me after all?" Chittenham answered between clenched teeth: "I do, God help me."

It was the truth; a truth of which he had never dreamed. He turned her face up to him and kissed her lips. "I love you—whatever happens, always remember that I love you—" he said hoarsely.

She freed herself from his arms, wiped her eyes and pushed back her hair. "I hope nothing else is going to happen," she said, half sobbing still. "I think I've had enough for one day. I'm not used to crying... it doesn't suit me..." He caught her hand, holding her fast.

"Wait... Julie, there's something else; something..." He drew her into his arms again, holding her fast for yet another moment, then he gently released her. "I love you with all my heart and soul—" he said hoarsely. "But you will hate me when you know all the truth—hate me more than I can ever hate myself, Julie... My dear, I—Julie, I'm not free to marry you. Julie... I—"

Then Julie said—at least her lips said it, for no sound seemed to pass them: "You mean... you're married already?" "Yes." Suddenly she began to laugh; helpless hysterical laughter which she tried in vain to check or control. "Julie..." Chittenham said. But she went on laughing. It was so funny, so intensely funny that she of all people, who had never cared immoderately for any one, and who had always dreaded caring, should so suddenly be plunged into this tragedy.

Two days ago she and Chittenham had never met, and now a whole lifetime of events bound them together. They had quarreled, loved, quarreled again, then kissed and been happy, and now the end had come... Suddenly she spoke; she felt as if she were choking. "Please go away."

"Not like this, I can't go like this. Julie, there must be some way out. I'll do anything... anything." She laughed with white lips. "What can you do? I suppose you'll say that you are unhappily married, and ask me to be sorry for you? Perhaps you will even offer to divorce her?"

"She would be as glad of her freedom as I should," Chittenham said curtly. Julie laughed in his face. "Julie..." He caught hold of her so roughly that she cried out. "Do you think you're going to be the only one to suffer?" he asked savagely. "Do you think it doesn't rebound on me too? Do you think I wanted to care for you, or for any woman? I set a trap for you and I've been caught in it myself."

to get rid of her she would never allow him to do so. All these thoughts were passing through his mind as his mother went on wailing and complaining. Giles turned round.

"I thought you were too miserable to wish to go anywhere," he said harshly. "I'm hanged if I know what the devil you do want— Then as she burst into tears he repented, and apologized remorselessly. His mother dried her eyes and smiled faintly.

"I daresay you will be shocked," she said almost coquettishly. "But I should love to go to dinner and then to a dance somewhere." "Very well, we'll go out to dinner and a dance," he agreed. "Where would you like to go? The Savoy..."

"Oh, no!..." She was looking quite eager. "To a night club. I've never been to a night club, Giles, not to a real one that is open all night, and where you eat eggs and bacon at three o'clock in the morning. It would be quite all right with you, wouldn't it?"

"It would be quite all right anyway," he answered amusedly. "These places are only what you choose to make them. Very well, what time do we start?" "What time is it now?" "Seven o'clock." "Call for me at nine."

So he arrived in the dull, highly expensive street where his mother lived, punctually at nine o'clock. The door opened behind him, and his mother came in. "I haven't kept you waiting, have I?" she asked gaily. Giles turned round, then he rose slowly to his feet. He felt as if he was in the presence of a perfect stranger.

"It's... well, it's amazing!" he said at last. "You don't look a day more than thirty-five." "You dear thing!" She stood on tip-toe and kissed him gratefully. "So you won't mind dancing with your old mother tonight, Giles?"

"And where are we going?" Mrs. Ardon asked, as they drove away. "I'm told the Faun is the place to go to," Giles said. "If you don't like it we can go on somewhere else." But Mrs. Ardon adored it, and told him so every few minutes during the evening with varied extravagance.

Presently she saw some people she knew. "Darling! you simply must be introduced! They're sweet people. Doris Gardener is the girl—no, the one in the black frock and the scarlet shoes. She's twenty-two, and she's just got divorced from her husband."

Giles looked at the girl with the scarlet shoes. "Do you dance, Mr. Chittenham?" "Yes. May I have the pleasure?" They went away together thru the pillard partitions to the room where the jazz band played. A sudden scream rose shrilly above the noise, followed by a burst of hysterical laughter and the clatter of breaking glass.

"What on earth—" Chittenham began. Doris Gardener laughed. "It's only Julie Farrow. I don't know what's happened to her lately. She was quite drunk here the other night. I wonder they didn't turn her out."

"Julie Farrow!" Chittenham's voice was calm and indifferent, but he felt as if some one had tugged at his heart. "Yes, do you know her? She used to be rather a friend of mine, but one has to draw the line somewhere."

"Just lately she seems to have taken leave of her senses." Chittenham's eyes were straining across the room in the direction from which the noise had arisen, but there was too much of a crowd for him to distinguish any one face. "You mean the famous Julie Farrow, I suppose," he submitted laconically.

Doris glanced across the room. "There she is—" she said. "In the green frock. No—over the other side, sitting on the arm of the chair laughing... That's what I call a cocktail laugh. Come along. I'm sure Essen and your mother are bored to tears with one another by this time."

But Chittenham did not move. He was looking at the girl in the green frock—a green frock of which there seemed to be so very little with which to cover her white neck and arms. Her lips were painted a vivid red, and she was laughing noisily—immoderately—laughter which died away suddenly as she met his gaze across the room, and it was his Julie—the woman who had said she loved him, and with whom he had spent that never to be forgotten night on top of the world.

Doris Gardener tugged at Giles Chittenham's arm. "Come along! If Julie sees me she'll want to join our party and I'm not anxious to have her. Oh, damn—I knew it would happen—" She shrugged her shoulders resignedly as Julie suddenly detached herself from the noisy group she was with and threaded her way across the room.

Doris glanced at Chittenham. "Do you know Mr. Chittenham, Julie?" She made the introduction with obvious reluctance. Julie had returned Chittenham's formal bow with a careless nod. "How are you? I've heard of you," she said casually. "Rodney Ardon's half rother, aren't you? Delighted to meet you."

Chittenham's face hardened beneath its pallor. He felt as if he were in the presence of a stranger yet looked at him with well-beloved eyes. "I think we have met before," he said with cool deliberance.

Julie raised her brows. "Have we? Oh, surely not. I'm so good at remembering faces. Perhaps you are mistaking me for my cousin—the other Julie!" She laughed insolently. "That does happen sometimes I assure you," she said, turning to Doris. "Julie probably wouldn't be flattered if she knew, but all the same it happens occasionally. You may not believe me, Mr. Chittenham, if you knew my cousin that is—but a man once kissed me in the most impassioned manner thinking I was the other Julie! So very awkward, especially as he was a man whom I very much dislike."

"A disappointment to the man also perhaps," Chittenham said bitterly, but she only laughed. (Continued next week)

EUROPEAN POLITICS

There is something puzzling to the American mind, to read the reports of the recent election of members of the German Reichstag or Congress. No less than thirteen parties elected members. We think American politics is confused, but what would we think if we had thirteen political parties sufficiently strong to elect members to Congress? There have been rare occasions when there have been three parties represented at Washington, and once there were four, for a single session. But our whole political system is based on the two-party plan. Minor differences are swallowed or compromised in party programs and platforms.

The most striking thing about the German election is the sudden jump of the National Socialist of Fascist party, from 12 seats to 107. Added to the 143 seats held by the regular Socialist party, and the 76 seats held by the Communists, this apparently puts rampant radicalism in the saddle.

That may have significance to the rest of the world. The policy of the Fascist party calls for the unification of Germany and Austria, annulment of treaties of Versailles and St. Germain, equality in military force with every other European nation and the restoration of Germany's colonies, along with many items for internal democratization. If the dominant force in the new Reichstag undertakes to put any such program into effect, another European war would seem to be inevitable. The safety in the situation lies in the improbability of any two radical groups agreeing on the same program.

A Round of Slugs

(By S. U. M. Bull)

Coaches White and Berry will leave here Saturday with their herd of Bronchos to meet the highly-touted Junction Hi aggregation. Junction, it is remembered, knocked the Del Rio Hi the tune of 12 to 7 only last week, and no doubt feel a bit cocky over the victory. They will have the confidence and will go on the field probably overconfident and that will mean that they don't expect to fight the Bronchos very hard.

*****
If the Bronchos fail to win their game with Junction it will be no disgrace, for Junction has much more experience and more than fifteen pounds average weight. Besides, the whole Broncho remuda is crippled, and that should be a good alibi. Nevertheless, White and Berry will have a fighting squad in the game tomorrow doing all their might to win.

*****
Coach White has been informed that Bill Wright, coach of the San Angelo Kittens, wants to bring his team here for a game sometime in October. Fladger Tannery at Big Lake wants to see what the Owls can do to the Bronchos. The Bronchos evidently have a pretty good reputation as these distant towns have acquainted themselves of the brand of football that is played in the "Stockman's Paradise."

*****
It would not be surprising to see the Bronchos kick the dope bucket clear out of the pasture and defeat the Junction Hi. Anyway, White said yesterday that he and his boys had hopes of doing so. That is the kind of spirit to show—stay right in and pitch until the last jump. We are for you.

*****
The Memphis Chicks have taught several baseball fans here a lesson. Never go against your Texas league when they are scrapping in the Dixie series. Gene Bailey, for one, has profitted by his mistake, but he was almost too late in finding that out.

*****
Philadelphia will no doubt beat the Cardinals in the world's series, but they will have no gravy train when they do that. St. Louis has two pitchers, Hallahan and Rhem, who are capable of beating any body's team, provided they are

SAYS WILL ROGERS

LAKE TAHOE, Cal.—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what comes along where I happen to be messing around. I don't care where, or how much you have traveled. If you want to hit a unique neck of the woods go up around Lake Tahoe, and over into Nevada, Reno, Carson City, Virginia City, all those Hot Springs up around there, then that Lake Tahoe 6300 hundred hoofs high, 26 miles long and 12 wide.

Its not only the unique country, its the people too that you run onto up there. Lots of Frisco people have their summer homes up there, the Fleischackers have a great place, and he goes back to his business and rounds up a new gang of guests and brings em up for every week end.

Then down the Lake further on Emerald Bay Mrs. Knight has I'll bet the most unique House in America, a Swedish House. Now we never thought about the Swedes having houses. We just kinder pictured 'em being born, and then leaving the next day for Minnesota, and then live in American made homes. But say on their native heath those Johnsons know how to live.

Then another great one is Anita Baldwin's summer place just off the big Lake on Fallen Leaf Lake. Its log, the biggest ones you ever saw. The Living room with the highest ceiling, and everything in it is Indian, and I mean authentic Indian, as she has one of the greatest Indian collections in America.

I was admiring some of her Indian Baskets, and happened to say that I wanted to get hold of some, and she said, "Over in Carson City, there is some very nice ones, they were made by a very famous Washor Indian Woman now dead, but they are rather dear, they run about ten thousand each." When I regained part consciousness, I thanked her for the information and asked if she thought I could get a slight reduction if I sent over and got say a dozen or so. I wouldnt give ten thousand dollars for the basket they had Moses stored away in the bullrushes in.

But we must get away from homes and get to the real interest up around Nevada, and that's the "Divorcees." All of em dont live in Reno. They Live over on, or near the California line, they have to serve three months, if they leave the State during that time and stay a week, they have to add that on to their sentence at the end. Most of them are young Women. There is on an average of about 2000 here all the time. Two judges in Reno are trying cases most all the time.

Its a funny colony, and it aint funny, its sad. You talk to these women, and the most of em would like to go back and have another try with the husband. But they are game and they wont come till he wires, and he is all hopped up over some other younger Gal, and he dont wire, and they sadly go through with it. Course you dont hear the mans side out here. They dont always tell you about the man they are going to marry the next day after the decree. But its really pitiful. Course there is the old Stagers here who think no more of changing husbands then they do their brand of Gin. But there is many a heart break here, and lots of children, thats the tough part. Some of them their Mothers told me they hadnt told them yet, they thought they were just here for a summer vacation. Divorce aint so bad I guess when its only the participants suffer, but its sure tough on the children. Well anyhow its a great Industry, and I guess about the only way to stop it is to stop marriage.

Me and my destitute friend Arthur Brisbat cant seem to get together on Russia.

There is a thousand things I talk about that I dont know any more about than a Senator, but I did take an airplane three years ago and flew from London to Moscow and Leningrad, stayed there a couple of weeks, went with no delegation, and wasn't personally conducted, saw everything, didnt even belong to Hoover Committee, and I dont know any more now about Russia than Brisbat does.

If I wanted to start an insane asylum that would be 100 per cent cuckoo, I would just admit applicants that thought they knew some thing about Russia.

The business houses here last Saturday closed their doors for the first football game of the season, and that was a fine spirit. We feel sure that the boys and coaches appreciated this, and they will show their appreciation by winning a lot of games this year as they did last year.

*****
Two billion more were lost during the past few days in the stock market slump. The great crash in the market about a year ago no doubt lead to the depressed conditions which we are now witnessing. Stop to think about it, a person who has a job now should consider himself lucky. There are three million people in this nation now unemployed and the winter has not begun. The situation will be a grave one if there is not a change, and that will have to come soon. Texas, especially, the ranching country, is not hurt near as bad as the strictly farming sections where no crops were raised and no labor to be found.

IMMIGRATION

This is a good time to check up on immigration, and the report of the State Department made to President Hoover indicates that the authorities at Washington are doing everything possible to prevent foreign labor from coming into the United States at a time when not all of our own people can find employment.

In normal times, a person who is able-bodied and intelligent is not regarded as "liable to be come a public charge," and so is admitted, if his other qualifications are all right. Now the consular service is instructed to make certain, in every case, that the intended immigrant is going to be able to live for a considerable period in the United States before he gets a job.

Mexican immigration into the United States has practically ceased, the State Department reports, as a result of this restriction. Canadian immigration has fallen off materially. Unless a foreigner has relatives in the United States, which entitle him or her to preference, he is having a harder time than ever before to get into this country.

That is as it should be. Our first duty is to our own people. Likewise, the policy announced by Governor Roosevelt of New York, of employing only citizens on public works, is in accord with the needs of the times.

"WHITE-COLLAR MEN"

One result of every period of inflation is that it renders so many young men discontinued when the inevitable slump comes and they are no longer able to get large money for small work.

Among the unemployed now are tens of thousands of these "white-collar men" who never took their jobs very seriously. They could always get another, so they thought; meantime, they tried to emulate the rich and spent their incomes faster than they received them.

Those men placed a false value upon themselves and their services. And many of them have not yet been disillusioned. They still think they are worth the fat salaries they used to draw, and most of them will never be happy again, remembering always the days of easy money.

The really intelligent office workers are the ones who have made themselves so useful to their employers that they are the last to be paid off when times are dull. They have sense enough to realize that the way to get ahead is to spend less than they can earn, to plug away steadily at the day's work, and be content with that. They are the ones who have stored up happiness to tide them over the dull times.

REV. GRAY, OF ELDORADO, TO PREACH HERE SUNDAY

Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Gray, Presbyterian pastor of Eldorado, were here Thursday, and while in the city had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Jones. Rev. Gray will fill the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday morning. He is one of the most able preachers in West Texas.

U. S. POST OFFICE WILL MAKE STORAGE CHARGES ON ALL C. O. D. PACKAGES

Effective October 1, the post-office will make storage charges on all C. O. D. packages, beginning 15 days after notification to the addressee that the package is at the office. The charge will be five cents per day.

According to information, the new regulation states: "Any collect-on-delivery parcel which the addressee fails to remove from the postoffice within 15 days from first attempt to deliver or the first notice of arrival at the office of address may be returned to the sender, charged with the return postage, whether or not such parcel bears any specified time limit for delivery; and a demurrage charge of not exceeding five cents per day may be collected when delivery has not been made to either the addressee or the sender until the expiration of the prescribed period."

It is explained that the sender can avoid the accumulation of demurrage charges by putting a 15-day return notice on the package. Otherwise the package will be held 30 days if not return instructions are given. The sender also may say in connection with 15-day return notice that if addressee wants to pay the demurrage charge, then the package may be held over 15 days.

LIVE STOCK NEWS

CURE FOR SHEEP FALSE FOOT ROT

Hoof of Animal Often Becomes Much Swollen.

When sheep become very foot-sore they are not always affected with foot rot. When but one or two sheep are severely lame, it may be that false foot rot is the cause; but true foot rot quickly affects an entire flock.

False foot rot is the term applied to that diseased condition in which the lining membrane of the canal at the top of the hoof, which secretes lubricant to prevent friction between the toes, becomes infected so that pus forms and burrows.

The opening of the gland will be found in the hoof head, just above the juncture of the toes, and is surrounded by stiff, upstanding hairs. It sometimes happens that dirt works into the canal and causes irritation; then pus germs invade the affected part and the pus proceeds to undermine the horny wall and destroy the tissues.

The hoof head in such cases becomes intensely swollen, hot and painful and the sheep carries the affected foot. When an examination is made, one finds an abscess containing stinking pus which first fills the glandular pouch and then forms a much larger sac.

If taken in time, cleansing of the part, free opening of the sac, liberation of pus and swabbing with a 2 per cent solution of mercurochrome may soon be followed by healing and recovery. All loose, rotten or underrun horn must also be cut away.

In severe cases amputation of a toe may be necessary. In ordinary cases after-treatment consists in keeping the wound well covered with a mixture of equal parts of powdered boric acid, oxide of zinc and sublimate of bismuth, on sterilized cotton bound on the part with a clean, narrow bandage, and to be renewed daily. Give a sheep immediate treatment when lameness is noticed.

Pastures Help to Make Good Profits From Hogs

Pastures and hogging crops are an important aid to profitable pork production in Minnesota and are indispensable when other feed is limited. By planning it is possible to have a continuous supply of grazing feeds from early spring until late in the fall, says H. G. Zavon, a swine specialist, University farm, St. Paul.

In a circular in which Mr. Zavon has prepared and which he will send free to any hog producer, he states that alfalfa, clovers and rape are the best pastures for Minnesota conditions and points out that rotating and alternating these crops aids in preventing disease, and increases the carrying capacity of the pasture.

Nine different kinds of pastures are listed in the circular mentioned and a table given showing how much seed to plant of each crop or combination, the period of the year when it will be ready for grazing, and the number of pigs per acre each crop will properly carry. Six different crop combinations for hogging are listed and accompanied by a similar table of information.

Pastures Too Small for Number of Porkers

Seventy-five per cent of the special hog pastures are too small for the number of hogs turned on them.

There are too few rape pastures provided for hogs, and when they are provided, are apt to be little garden-patch affairs that by the middle of summer are reduced to crops of stubs amidst clouds of dust.

One acre of rape pasture on rich soil is not any too much for ten hogs; and if, perchance, the growing hogs do not eat it close in summer, they will enjoy and prosper on it late into the fall. Frost does not damage rape.

Fizzle With Hogs

Some fail to attain success in maintaining the health of their animals through inexperience in hog raising. Many have inherited faulty notions concerning the nature of the hog, its habits, and care. These individuals do not accept advice readily. Others do not seem to comprehend that the word "sanitation" is applicable in any way to a hog. One of the most deplorable and prolific causes of losses from cholera is carelessness.

Hog Down Corn

Hogging down corn is a satisfactory plan to follow in fattening hogs for market provided conditions are satisfactory for this practice. However, if there is much rainy weather during the period the hogs are running in the cornfield, it is very likely that more corn will be required to produce 100 pounds of gain because some corn will be wasted in the mud. Some protein supplement will be required for the most economical gains.

Pigs Paralyzed

Paralysis of hogs is often caused by constipation, also from not receiving the right kind of food. When corn is fed alone, it is advisable to give 10 pounds each of tankage, ground alfalfa, and oil meal with each 100 pounds of the corn. Also let them have access to charcoal, wood ashes, or slack coal. Give one tablespoonful epsom salts daily until their bowels are in a laxative condition, then often enough to keep them so.

TIME—

We have almost reached the point where the work of the world can be done in half of the time that it took twenty years ago. The shortening of the hours of the working day in industry has only just begun, according to the U. S. Department of Labor. The eight-hour day is general in many industries, but in some sections the ten-hour day still prevails.

It is the belief of those who have studied the subject closely that a universal seven-hour day would give everybody work all the time, except for a reasonable vacation period, and would not slow up production below the demand for finished products, in any line. The difficulty is to get competing industrial establishments to agree to the change. Such difficulties are not insuperable, however. Twenty years ago nobody would have believed that it would be possible to get all of the department stores in New York to agree to close all day Saturday in summer, but it has been brought about.

BUILDINGS—

The newest thing in building construction is the "hung" building, instead of a foundation as big as the building, with posts at the four corners, the building is hung from a single steel pole set in concrete and resting at its lower end on bed-rock.

Two such "hung" buildings have been constructed in New York. The center pole is in the middle of the building, and all of the steel floor beams are suspended from it and braced against sagging. The outside of the building is merely a shell of brick or terra-cotta to keep out the weather and does not have to support anything more than its own weight.

Now efforts are being made to introduce lighter materials for the walls and floors of hung buildings, including featherweight, fireproof concrete for floors and glass for the outer walls. Another innovation is steam radiators only ankle-high.

One set of inventors is working on a scheme of weaving rugs and draperies with electric wires concealed in the fabric through which a current can be run to keep the room warm, on the principle of the electric heating-pad, now familiar everywhere.

FREEZING—

After three or four years of experimenting with frozen fish and meat, one of the largest food distributing companies is now going for frozen fruits, vegetables and oysters. Modern methods of instant freezing instantly check all tendency to decay, and when the frozen product is thawed out it is said to be exactly as good as when fresh.

Spinach, cherries, loganberries, red raspberries and peas are among the foodstuffs to which the freezing process of preservation has been applied with success thus far, in addition to practically all kinds of meat and sea-foods.

ICE CREAM—

Every person in the United States ate three gallons of ice cream last year, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. If you got less than that somebody else ate more. The consumption of ice cream has increased by one-half in ten years.

We are shipping ice cream from America now to every part of the world. At your hotel in Cairo, Egypt, or Bombay, or Hong Kong, you will find a well known American brand of ice cream on the menu. One of the greatest inventions in the food line is the homogenizer used by ice cream manufacturers, which enables them to store surplus cream through the winter in the form of butter. Butter will keep where pure cream will not. It is run through the homogenizer which breaks up the fat globules, mixing them with milk, with pure cream as the product, which can then be flavored and frozen.

LIGHT—

A young man named Elmer Sperry went to Chicago fifty years ago and began to make electric arc lights. He built a tower on top of the Board of Trade building and installed 20 electric arcs which gave 40,000 candle-power of light. It was the wonder of its time, but another young man named Edison about that time brought out incandescent light and that soon replaced arcs for city lighting.

Elmer Sperry kept on experimenting with arcs, however, and developed the searchlights which are used today by every navy in the world and by most armies. Sperry died a few weeks ago at the age of 70, but before his death he gave the city of Chicago the most powerful light ever built. It is known as the Lindbergh Beacon, and was first used during the national air meet in August. It stands on a tower 600 feet above Lake Michigan, and throws a light more intense, per square inch of radiating surface, than that of the sun. It can be seen for 250 miles, to guide flyers to the Chicago Airport.

Who could want a better monument than that?

TEXAS HORSES ARE CREAM OF POLO, LEE ALDWELL SAYS

Texas horses drew the acclaim of the polo wise at the International polo matches in New York, Lee Aldwell, San Angelo ranchman and sportsman, said here today on his return from New York. Mr. Aldwell was told by some of the polo men that the only trouble with Texas horses is that they are rushed to New York without being allowed the usual two years of slow polo given the English horses. He was told that the English horses are from 8 to 9 years old when they are put into the big games while the American horses are rushed to the front at ages of 4 to 6. "Jellybean," a horse of Mr. Aldwell's, played in the tryouts. Horses of Cecil Smith, Rube Williams, Fred Roe and Tom Mather were also in the tryouts.

Mr. Aldwell was asked numerous questions about the San Angelo Polo Club sponsored by George Henshaw. He was told by Mr. Hopping, the father of Earl Hopping of the International team, that the Texas horses are the cream of the crop.

Dick Waring of this city also attended the International. —San Angelo Times.

MECKEL APPEALS ROAD CASE TO HIGH COURT

Ben F. Meckel, defendant in a road case here in district court, has appealed to the court of circuit appeals in San Antonio, it was learned here recently. Mr. Meckel, it was alleged, posted a sign on his gate north of town which said it would be closed in five days. A temporary injunction was obtained and the jury upheld the contention of the plaintiffs that the road should be left open.

The road involved in the suit is the old road used several years ago by ranchmen traveling to and from San Angelo. Tom Davis, Ben Mittel, et al were plaintiffs.

Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5 to 11

Fire Insurance Commissioner Calls on Public for Assistance in Fire Prevention

The week of October 5 to 11 has been designated as Fire Prevention Week. Fire is taking a tremendous toll in loss of human life and property in this country, and the co-operation of the general public is sought to combat this woeful waste. Below is printed an article from J. W. Deweese, fire insurance commissioner, dealing with a common cause of fires and giving the total losses by fire from this cause:

"Matches-Smoking"

So many fires started by matches are due to the carelessness of smokers that the Texas Fire Insurance Department has combined the hazards under the twin designation, "Matches-Smoking" and today it leads all other causes in its responsibility for fire destruction with an annual total charge against it approximating the huge sum of thirty million dollars in the United States.

No match is safe. Besides the possibility of staying lighted after it is discarded, the head may fly when struck or ignition may occur by some means other than its normal use. Each year about three hundred billion matches are consumed in the United States alone, or eight hundred thousand daily. Every time your hand strikes a match be sure what becomes of the burning stick. It may result in the destruction of your home and perhaps the lives of those in it. Never cast away a matchstick if it is still flaming, or even glowing, because it is only too likely to ignite any inflammable material at hand.

Every day children are losing their lives while playing with matches as shown from news reports over the country. Matches should be kept in metal or earthenware containers well out of the reach of children. Obviously, they should never be allowed to amuse themselves with these small but dangerous fire makers, and if you find your small sister playing with one, take it away and impress upon her the fact that she is endangering herself, her home and everything in it.

Texas Fire Loss from This Cause

The total fire loss in Texas caused by "Matches-Smoking" since 1925 to 1929, inclusive, approximates $3,064,826.00 and 2,220 fires originated from this cause during that period of time. This means an average annual fire loss from "Matches-Smoking" of approximately $612,967.00 and a total of 444 fires from this particular cause during this period of time.

There has been an increase in this particular hazard in the past few years brought about by an increase in population and by a small per cent of women indulging in the smoking habit; however, it is to be observed thus far that women are more careful in disposing of their matches and cigarettes than men.

Who Pays the Cost?

The people pay the cost brought about by the careless smokers and users of matches, and this cost is prorated among our population through our system of taxation the same as every other cost. We offer this as reason why the people of Texas should practice care with matches and in their smoking habit.

Hens Produce Tenth of Farm Income

More Than One-Third of Whole World's Poultry Found in This Country

(By Caleb Johnson)

As in almost everything else, the United States leads the world in poultry and egg production.

Poultry are raised everywhere in the world. Everybody eats eggs. But one-third of all of the world's domestic poultry are in this country. We have five hens to every human being which is a very much higher proportion than is to be found anywhere else.

This isone branch of agriculture that is not confined to farms. As everybody knows, residents of villages and of the suburbs of cities are as frequently as not found keeping "backyard" flocks of poultry. Something more than half a million such backyard flocks are estimated by the Federal Department of Agriculture, which has computed the total number of farm flocks at 5 1/2 million, or a total of about 6,000,000 flocks in all.

Poultry is raised on more than 86 per cent of the farms of the country. About 85 per cent of the fowls are raised on general farms in flocks of 50 to 400 hens, principally in the grain-producing north central states.

The number of chickens on farms in 1929 was about 442,000,000, with a value of $403,000,000. The income from chickens and eggs amounted to about 10 per cent of all farm income in 1928, being estimated at $717,000,000 for eggs and $458,000,000 for chickens, or a total of $1,175,000,000 out of a total income of $11,827,000,000 from farm production. Poultry products were exceeded in value in 1928 by only four other farm products—corn, milk, swine and cotton. Over 2,500,000,000 dozen eggs and more than 500,000,000 chicks are produced annually.

The poultry industry of the United States represents on the one hand a widely distributed enterprise supplemental to general farming, and on the other hand a high degree of specialization in commercial plants. In producing sections near the larger cities on the Atlantic seaboard and in the Pacific coast states of California, Oregon and Washington, there are areas in high commercial poultry production predominates. In other localities, the keeping of poultry for breeding stock and for the production of eggs for hatching, is important, the baby chicks being sold to those who keep both large and small flocks for commercial egg production.

Throughout the farm-production areas as well as in the commercial poultry districts are many highly specialized egg-packing plants, poultry-feeding and slaughtering plants, while cold-storage warehouses are devoted to an important extent to the storing of poultry products.

Although the industry is made up primarily of producers and handlers of chickens and chickens' eggs, the turkey, duck and goose production is also important. Few products are as widely distributed and consumed as poultry meat and eggs.

The poultry industry has developed from a small beginning when the first settlers brought fowls to North America, and the production of poultry for meat and eggs has been an important source of food supply for the cities for over 100 years. The commercial development of plants devoted to poultry raising alone began about 1870, and thereafter increased attention was given to breeding, feeding, and management. In about 1873 standards were developed, and in 1974 the first standard of perfection was printed. Beginning about the year 1890, hatching in incubators on a large scale developed, and in 1916 the International Baby Chick Association was organized.

In the early history of the poultry industry the egg market offered the main stimulus to better methods. In this land of abundant meat supplies, eggs were more of a luxury than poultry. Until the development of cold storage, marketing was limited by the lack of means of preservation. Eggs were often preserved by immersion in limewater and were sometimes preserved in ice houses. As facilities became available, cold storage came into more general use as a means of preserving the surplus production of the spring months for consumption in summer and fall. The introduction of the 30-dozen egg case to displace the barrel as a package for eggs, which occurred about 1880, was a considerable economy. The production of dressed poultry for market was greatly stimulated by the use of refrigeration for transportation and storage.

Poultry raising occupies an important place in the organization of North American farms. Not only is poultry raised on about 90 per cent of the farms, but on many farms poultry products are one of the best paying products. The value of eggs represents about 57 per cent and the value of poultry meat about 43 per cent of the total value of all poultry products. Chickens contribute about 95 per cent of the value of all poultry products and are the only class of poultry raised extensively for the production of eggs, all other classes being raised primarily for the production of meat.

LIMBER LEG DISEASE FOUND IN VAL VERDE

Del Rio Evening News, Sept. 15: Limber leg, dread disease of sheep and goats, has made its appearance in Val Verde county, as an aftermath of a long period of drouth. The disease paralyzes goats and sheep in the legs. Ranchmen say that the malady has puzzled veterinarians; and experiments are being made in the treatment of the disease. A rain or cooler weather would prevent heavy losses, it is claimed.

The disease has made its appearance in flocks owned by J. B. Moore, and by Charley Kelly and other ranchmen north of Del Rio, on the Sonora road. Mr. Moore whose ranch is located about six miles north of the city, said Saturday that he had about 40 head of sheep afflicted with limber leg. About half of them were reported to be down.

There is a popular idea that colatilla, a plant which fruits about this time of the year, is the cause of the disease. If sheep and goats eat the dark red berries of this plant they become afflicted with limber leg, under that theory. But the Moore ranch is free of this plant, said Mr. Moore; and he blames the drouth for the situation. He stated that the disease had made its appearance on his ranch in previous years, always after a long period of dry weather. A green range would halt the disease, in his opinion.

There is another theory that during dry weather the sheep and goats eat a super-abundance of the guajilla plant, which is said to be lacking in bone-strengthening properties. At the same time, ranches on which this plant is seldom found, have suffered losses through limber leg.

The disease is said to be worse among goats than among sheep. The same symptoms have been observed in hogs which have not had green feed. The hog usually is disabled in the hind legs first. The disease does not seem to cut the animal's appetite. However, in the case of sheep and goats on the range, the afflicted animals usually are not able to get to feed and die of starvation.

Mrs. R. A. Halbert and daughter Miss Allie, and Mrs. J. A. Cauthorn went to San Angelo this week where Miss Allie and Miss Mae will appear as duchess and maid of honor at the Fair. Miss Mae came from Georgetown where she is attending Baylor University.

17 Counties Favor Tax on 'U' Lands

Amendment to Tax All State University Lands to be Voted on November 4

McCamey, September 25.—Share and share alike is the plea of 17 Texas counties in the support of the university. Representatives of the 17 have banded together in an association to convince the voters of the justice of the amendment to tax university lands for county purposes, the money to come from the general funds of the state. The 17 counties have 2,000,320 acres of university holdings, which have contributed to county support since 1876, when created.

Rep. Penrose B. Metcalfe, chairman of the University Land Amendment Association and sponsor through the legislature of the amendment, says it will equalize taxes in those counties, and will not cost the university one penny. It has the endorsement of Governor Moody, the board of regents of the university, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the association of county judges and commissioners of Texas.

The lands in one instance comprise 29 percent of the county leaving 71 percent privately owned lands to bear all the expenses of county government, and to build roads that compound values for the university. Justice dictates that all counties should share in support of the university, says Mr. Metcalfe, inasmuch as the school exists for all and not just for the 17.

The university will not pay back funds for county purposes, this will come from the state on values established by the state tax board. The welfare of the university will be adequately protected, and the counties wherein lie these lands will have an opportunity to expend their public improvements, says Metcalfe.

The taxes paid by these 17 counties in 1928 for state purposes was $1,281,498.47 and the total repaid them in school apportionments was $566,185, making an excess retained by the state of $725,313.47.

Voice from the rear: "I'll give $75."

"You Can Make Your Own Average Electric Rate"

"The statement that you can make your own average electric rate sounds ambiguous, doesn't it? But it isn't—it's perfectly simple.

"The customer, through his acts—the amount of electricity he elects to use; the time and place at which he chooses to use it, and the duration of such use—governs the cost of service. It is only the law of Supply and Demand. The larger and the longer the demand, the cheaper the supply. Accordingly, the more service you elect to use, the less such service costs you.

"For instance, under the new Home Comfort rate system, you are able to reduce your rate on entire electric consumption, after the first 45 kwh (kilowatt-hours) per month, for a five room house, to 4c per kwh—3c where service is also used for heating or cooking. This means that you can take advantage of the many labor, time and money-saving electrical appliances at but slight cost.

"In the average five room home having complete electric service—lighting, cooking, heating and refrigeration—the new rate makes it possible to obtain service at an average net cost of less than 4c per kwh, so it is not the top step which establishes the average net rate, but the manner in which you use the service available. Expressed in another way, the new rate reduces the average cost per kwh for extra lighting more than 50%, provided you have also used service for other major household electric appliances. During the year 1929, the average rate for all domestic or household service sold by the West Texas Utilities Company was only 6.6c per kwh, or 10.1c per day per domestic customer.

"Other household necessities, far more expensive, do not return half the comfort and enjoyment of complete electric service. The money you thoughtlessly spend daily for any one of the many luxuries of life amounts to more than the daily cost of electric service.

"Investigate today the many new advantages, comforts and conveniences that can be brought to your home through the use of complete electric service. You will be surprised at its extreme economy. And remember—you can make your own average rate."

Bronchos Battle— (Continued from page 1)

Louie Trainer had a few mid-season spurts just to show the fans he hadn't forgotten how. Much is expected of him in the way of ground gaining.

Jack Pfeister played his usual hard hitting game. Jess Green Barton and Whidden at guards occasionally flashed a good brand of ball but were lacking in teamwork.

Gohmer "loud-speaker" Minnick and Matt Adams fought a hard fight at ends but occasionally allowed themselves to be boxed in. Both bot some good tackles, several of the shoestring variety.

Kring at half showed that he was not quite ready to start his season's galloping, but contributed several nice gains.

Old Pete "Battle Axe" Taylor punched the line very effectively and covered several opposition fumbles. Pete snatched one of his own fumbles and picking himself a nice hole, plunged through for a good gain. Moral—keep your eyes open.

Charlie Pharis and Pat Cooper filled the tackle slats and batted their opponents to a draw. A few first year squadmen saw service.

Coaches White and Berry have been drilling their charges hard for the impending tussle with Junction, last year district champions.

The Very Latest (By Mary Marshall)

Boudoir caps are no longer so generally worn as they were once because the woman with short hair usually has less need of them. And the majority of busy housewives now are short haired in spite of the tendency of the younger women to let their's grow again.

Still even the short-haired woman should have a boudoir cap of some sort to wear after she has had her hair waved to induce it to lie smooth and flat.

Several readers have asked us for a diagram for a cap they may make at home and the one given here is so simple that any one who knows anything about sewing ought to be able to copy it. It consists of a circle eight inches in diameter and a band thirty inches long and five inches wide. Seam the ends of the strip together. Finish one side with narrow lace and seam the other side to the edge of the circular piece, pulling the band slightly as you go so it is evenly distributed.

Cut a length of narrow elastic tape about seventeen inches in length. Sew the ends together and sew this on the wrong side of the cap about one inch from the edge. You can run the elastic tape into a slot made from narrow ribbon sowed the length of the cap or you may simply machine stitch it to the cap, stretching out the rubber as you do so that it will be evenly distributed. The same pattern may be used for making a practical housecap from any light weight washable cotton material.

The pictures show a boudoir cap of rose satin and cream lace, as well as a dust cap of checked blue and white lawn combined with white lawn, both made from the same simple pattern.

T. E. Callaway, of Hamilton, and R. P. Rose, of Mason, bandmasters of their respective towns, were in Sonora Saturday for the purpose of investigating the possibilities of organizing a band for this city.

MARCELLO PERES IS ARRESTED FOR FORGERY

Marcello Peres, Sonora Mexican, was arrested this week after he had raised a $200 note to $400. G. P. Hill and B. W. Hutcherson had signed a blank note and agreed to a $200 loan, but when Peres carried the paper to Tom Sandherr the figures showed that the amount was for $400.

Peres, it is alleged, told Sand-herr that would be agreeable with Messrs Hill and Hutcherson to make the note for $400. Mr. Sandherr let the Mexican have the money. It is understood that the securers paid the $400.

GOOD YEAR TIRES

than ever before

That headline is strictly true. One reason is, Goodyear Tires are better right now than they have ever been. The other reason is, rubber is cheap and consequently Goodyear Tires are available at the lowest prices in history. People are not slow to seize a chance like this.

They are buying Goodyear Tires at an unparalleled rate. Their preference for Goodyears rests upon definite Goodyear superiorities in both tread and carcass, the two main parts of a tire.

And the great fact certainly is this: More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!

That is true of the people who buy new cars. It is true of people who buy replacement tires from dealers.

It is true of buses which carry passengers—more transcontinental, urban and interurban buses and coaches operate on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind. Year after year, throughout the world, the number continually increases.

Goodyear values are matchlessly high—tire prices are matchlessly low. This is the year to ride on Goodyears—now is the time to get yours.
