Lopez Given Five Years--- Horton's Term Suspended

Court Adjourns Tuesday Night; Two Divorces Given

Cleofas Lopez, 22, must serve 5 years imprisonment in the Texas penitentiary on a charge of murdering Manuel Rodriguez here Aug. 8, it was decided by a Sutton county jury Tuesday afternoon. The Court affirmed the punishment as assessed by the jury and pronounced sentence immediately. Lopez' sentence was ordered begun on August 8, the day on which he was arrested and placed in the county jail on the charge.

Lopez trial lasted all of Monday and Tuesday morning, with the jury returning sentence early in the afternoon Tuesday.

to both sides in the case. M. C. Gonzales, San Antonio attorney who is president of the League of United Latin-American Citizens, defended the accused man. Gonzales was exacting in his requirements of prospective jurors. A complete panel was not obtained until the afternoon of the first day.

Evidence was taken during the remainder of Monday afternoon, with J. W. Trainer serving as interpreter during the examination of Mexican witnesses. The defense sought to establish a plea of self-defense, and also stressed the fact that no apparent motive for the

Farm Board Will Co-operate With Mohair Interests

Assurance Given Texas Committee Representing Pools; Meeting in Kerrville Saturday

Assurances of approval and co-operation were given by the federal Farm Board in Washington last week in a meeting with three West Texans appointed at Kerrville to represent the mohair interests of Texas, which formed a tentative pool of about 17 million pounds of mohair at a meeting there Aug. 8.

The committee, composed of Louis Schreiner, Kerrville, chairman, C. C. Belcher, Del Rio, and Fred Horner, Uvalde, will report the results of its eastern trip to a second meeting of the Texas Wool and Mohair Warehouse Association in Kerrville tomorrow. C. H. Evans will represent the Sonora warehouse at the meeting.

With prices the lowest in many years, the mohair grower has been faced with a tremendous loss on his fall clip, and it was the original plan of the warehousemen to request the co-operation of the Farm Board in holding back a surplus of 12,000,000 pounds controlled by the board until such a time as increased consumption will enable orderly and profitable marketing.

Following the securing of the Farm Board's approval, the committee then conferred with mill men in Boston and New York in order to plan disposal of this year's crop.

The Kerrville meeting will be held for the purpose of perfecting the organization of the pool and to plan orderly disposal of the huge amount of fleece.

The Texas mohair men did not seek financial aid from the Farm Board in the form of advances; they simply secured approval of their plan to pool the crop.

They were given assistance in their hearing by Sol Mayer, San Angelo president of the National Wool Marketing Corporation, by J. B. Wilson, Boston, its secretary, and by Paul Draper, selling agent for the corporation.

B. M. Halbert Active in Efforts to Rid Highways of Grass Burrs; Promised Co-operation of State

B. M. Halbert, Sonora ranchman, has been waging an intensive campaign to arouse highway officials to the need of clearing grass burrs and cockleburrs from highways in the county, and particularly on Highway 27, the Old Spanish Trail.

With the end of the season at hand, matured seeds on the plants make it unwise for ranchmen to drive fleece-bearing animals along the road, due to likelihood of injuring wool and spreading the seed to grazing lands.

Mr. Halbert recently wrote W. R. Ely, Abilene, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, regarding the matter, and received the following answer, which is self-explanatory:

Bales Re-Captured in Mena, Arkansas

Man Facing Swindling Charge Here Caught After Two Months

Bales' return here will be effected soon if possible charges in an Oklahoma Federal Court do not materialize, according to B. W. Hutcherson, Sutton county sheriff. "Slim" Blakenship, who accompanied Bales in the break, was captured shortly after the escape in Ranger, and was brought here to face a liquor charge in the term of district court just ended. He was given a suspended sentence of three years.

Breeder-Feeder Exchange Formed Angelo Tuesday

Organization to Assist Owners of Stock and Feed to Get Together

A Breeder-Feeder Exchange was formed and a definite organization was perfected in San Angelo Tuesday. Offices will be opened in the Naylor Hotel there immediately, with G. W. Barnes in charge. E. S. Mayer was elected president of the association. Roy Aldwell, Sonora banker, was active in forming the movement.

The organization had been in the process of formation for the last ten days, with tentative plans underway seeking to facilitate the placing of range livestock in West Texas on feed on farms in the cotton belts of Central Texas and in the wheat areas of the Texas plains and Panhandle.

With physical conditions of livestock and crops the best in many years, and with prices very low, the new arrangement is planned to aid both growers.

Five contracts are being worked out at present under which feeding agreements may be made. The board of directors of the new association is working out these plans. The office will be maintained through the co-operation of banks and wool houses in the affected areas of the state.

Mr. Barnes, the manager, has been loaned to the organization by the livestock marketing branch of the federal Farm Board. He comes to San Angelo from Fort Worth.

Faced with the necessity for providing some method of increasing the value of West Texas' principal products, range livestock and feed crops, financiers of the section hit on the plan of turning out finished livestock, fattened in Texas rather than in the Middle West, as has been the usual procedure in years past. The present organization was formed in record time, with the key-word elimination of red-tape in getting the arrangements between

Mohair in Warehouse Now Totals 270,000

Little More Expected—No Wool Yet Received

C. H. Evans, manager of the Sonora Wool and Mohair company warehouse, announced Thursday morning that a total of 270,000 pounds of mohair is stored there, with the season's final total expected to reach the 300,000 mark. No mohair has been sold by the local company since its holding is a portion of the seven million pounds recently pooled by the Texas Warehouse association.

No fall wool has reached the local warehouse as yet, and very little is expected this fall.

According to Sam Ashburn's Top of the Windmill column in the San Angelo Standard, the first car of wool arrived in San Angelo this week, coming from Joe Montgomery, who ranches in the Glass Mountain country southwest of Ft. Stockton.

Sonora Children to Be Placed in Home

Jack and Anna Lee Bellows Going to O. E. S. Institution

Arrangements were completed for the placing of two former Sonora children in the Eastern Star Orphans' Home at Arlington, at the regular monthly meeting of the Sonora Order of Eastern Star Tuesday evening at the Masonic hall. The children are Jack and Anna Lee Bellows, eight and ten, respectively, son and daughter of the late Mrs. E. J. Pierce, a former member of the local O. E. S., who died two years ago in Del Rio. She was survived by her husband who has attempted to care for the children since her death, but two paralytic strokes which he has undergone since his wife's death have rendered him physically unable to keep the children with him. They have recently been living with an aunt in San Angelo, but four children of her own make it virtually impossible for her to continue caring for them. Mr. Pierce recently signed the boy and girl over to the Eastern Star home, all arrangements for the admission of the children being made by the local chapter.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce will be remembered here, as they formerly had their home in Sonora.

The remainder of the meeting of the O. E. S. consisted of regular business, after which Mesdames Tom Driskell and Ban Odom, refreshment committee, served iced watermelon to about twenty members.

Mrs. J. M. Choate, of Big Spring, who spent the week-end at the ranch home of her brother, Dee Gibbs, and Mrs. Gibbs, returned Monday to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ira Shurley, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs, who spent Monday with the Shurleys here.

THIS WEEK

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—Evidence is piling up here that the coming session of Congress, which will meet in a little over two months from now, will produce some of the most vicious attacks ever made on a President in recent times. Any stand Mr. Hoover sees fit to take is immediately assailed by his enemies and his announcement that he will veto any further payments to the soldiers on their bonus has led to a roar from all those wanting to cury favor with the veterans.

It is considered likely that the soldiers' bonus will be used as the main weapon of attack against the President when Congress meets. The outcry against his veto, if he should oppose the bill, will probably be louder and more bitter than that which greeted President Wilson's attempt to make the United States a member of the League of Nations.

All of this is extremely displeasing to Mr. Hoover, who is not a fighter and who has more than once expressed himself with much bitterness regarding newspapers that like to play up all the news about the friction always present at the seat of any nation, and particularly so at the capital this year. Mr. Hoover is not a good publicist. He has never appreciated the angle of the Washington correspondents, who want action in their news and not drab accounts of things news that the President can understand or that he is in sympathy achieved. That is the only kind of with. The consequence is that he is more out of touch with the sources of news than almost any President since the turn of the century. He is the exact opposite of President Roosevelt, who was never happy unless he was in the center of a controversy which got on the front page of every newspaper in the nation.

Mr. Hoover's personal friends have often advised him to come out with the plain statement of his position, that he is not interested in politics as such, nor in the petty bickering that most politicians indulge in when they are jockeying for position. He has refused to issue any formal statements, preferring to remain the target of abuse and leaving it to posterity to vindicate his official acts. Obviously this condition does not make Mr. Hoover a good presidential candidate and his main strength will lie in the vast army of his appointees. These can be relied upon to deliver enough votes to insure his nomination and it is the campaign that will follow that will test his strength with the rest of the country.

The most uncertainty in a slate-making way that exists right now, is regarding vice presidential nominees. Lately James Hamilton Lewis, the suave and courtly Senator-elect from Illinois is bulking large in the public eye. It is no secret that the powerful Illinois delegation will cast its 58 votes for Lewis for president on the first ballot at the democratic convention, not that Illinois expects him to become the party candidate. It will merely be for trading purposes, and Lewis unquestionably would add considerably to the strength of the ticket, his only weakness being that he is

350 Schools Enroll Interscholastic Body

League Membership Spreading to Smaller Schools

Austin, Sept. 17.—Approximately 350 schools have already signed up for Interscholastic League football this year, according to Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the University of Texas League Bureau. The noteworthy feature of the activities of the League Bureau this fall is the increasingly large number of inquiries about the work from schools which have not previously participated in league football.

Most of these new schools are small; for the last several years enrollment in Conference A, which is composed of schools with more than 500 enrollment, has been almost one hundred per cent throughout the state. Interest is rapidly growing, however, among the smaller schools as well. Last year, of a total enrollment of 503 schools, 443 were in Conference B, composed of schools with less than 500 students.

All competing schools will be brought closer together and long distance travel will be eliminated in Interscholastic League football this fall with the opening of the not a millionaire, but an extremely modest individual in a financial way. Geographically, Lewis is in a class by himself. He was born in Virginia, raised in Georgia, moved to Oregon and served in congress from that state. Then he went to Illinois and won election to the senate against the immensely popular Ruth Hanna McCormick, and will take his seat for the first time in December. In addition he is master of many languages and repeatedly address Polish audiences in their own language, the Germans in theirs, while he is a great French scholar, even among Frenchmen. He also has a good grounding in Italian and the Scandinavian languages, an asset of immense value even to a man who has a natural gift as a spellbinder in English.

It is surprising the interest being taken in this city by the utterances and doings of "Coin" Harvey, otherwise William Hope Harvey, author of "Coin's Financial School," a book that nearly made Bryan president in 1896. Harvey, who is 80, has started a new party that he calls the "Party of Prosperity." It is designed to win the support of dissatisfied farmers and unemployed industrial workers.

He has devised a platform that promises them the relief they are seeking. His main supporters will come from those dubbed "the lunatic fringe" by Theodore Roosevelt, but it may be that his party will be the seed from which the long expected third party may grow, perhaps under another name. He gives voice to the discontent of his many.

Those who recall the campaign of 1896 will remember that his new theories of economics appeared unanswerable to all the big financiers until a young Chicago financier wrote an effective answer, under which the gold forces rallied and elected McKinley. The success of the reply won its author the vice presidency of one of New York's greatest banks. Harvey's accomplishments in 1896 stamp him as a man not to be disregarded by the leaders of either of the big political parties.

twelfth season of this sport, according to Mr. Henderson. Conference A will hereafter be divided into sixteen districts instead of the eight districts which have existed in the past. The closing date for registration for league football this year is October 1.

ROWENA RIDES THE RUMBLE

COPYRIGHT 1931 BY THE AUTHOR

BY THEL HUESTON

Eleventh Installment

"See here," said Peter angrily, "what sort of tommyrot is this anyhow? This lady is too old for the juvenile court. Why, she is her own mistress. She's twenty-three years old."

"According to the complaint from New York, there is nothing we can do about it. Our orders are to put you under arrest. You'll have to talk to the judge."

"But, Peter," cried Rowena, "are you going to let them arrest us for not being married, when we are married! Look at all the trouble we've had. That's proof enough."

"But why should they say you are only pretending to be married if you really are married?"

"Well, who says so? That's the first question. Where did the complaint come from anyhow?"

"From a gentleman in New York by the name of Carter Wellman—"

"You can fix this up," said the officer. "You got influential friends, ain't you? They'll fix you up all right. All they got to do is swear they know all about you and everything's jake and there you are. You just hop down private in your own car with Bill here to show you the way—this is Bill Harmon—fine chap, too—he's to go down with you and introduce you to the judge. He's a swell gent, the judge is. He'll see how things are in a jiffy."

It was the simplest way out, and the officers made it as easy for them as possible, allowed them to walk unescorted through the lobby of the hotel and waited at a respectful distance when Peter stopped to send a telegram, which he wrote with a very firm hand and signaled for Rowena to come and read. It was addressed to Carter Wellman.

"Are you going to marry Roberta Lowell immediately on her return to New York, or are you not? If your engagement is canceled, as she believes, I shall marry her myself immediately. A rolling brown dumpling gathers nothing but trouble for all concerned. Please state your exact intentions."

"But you can't marry her," protested Rowena. "You're married now."

"Well, he doesn't believe it. And Rackruff, Inc., will pay for that wire if I have to steal a spare tire to get it."

The judge proved extremely sympathetic and agreed with Peter that it was an outrage, no less, the way people in love embroiled innocent bystanders in the tangled web of their affairs. He had his secretary send off a wire to Denver to verify the marriage, and to Rackruff Motors, Inc., in New York, for details of the trip and complete information regarding Rowena and Peter. He even sent for the local Rackruff dealer, who fortunately turned out to be both a native son and a brother Elk. He was willing to stand entirely responsible for their appearance if required.

Besides seeing to their freedom he made Rowena a present of a friendly little dog which he had found in his show room that morning and which Rowena promptly proceeded to call Constantine. Peter grumbled at the addition to their party but was overruled.

And so Rowena had a companion on the rumble seat from then on.

By the salesman's good offices they were enabled to return to the hotel without police escort or surveillance of any kind.

In the early morning Peter read to the girls the answer to his personal telegram.

"Such has been and is my intention," read the telegram. "I am probably the last man living entirely honorable in my dealings with women. Our engagement most certainly is not ended and if you interfere I shall sue. Plan to marry her instant of arrival. In fact, expect to meet her with license, ring and minister. Wire what train."

So at ten-ten Peter and Rowena stood side by side under the quaint tiled portico of the railway station and waved a fond—and not ungratified—farewell to little Bobby.

The misadventures of Bobby's return and their legal entanglements in Los Angeles had keyed them to a high nervous tension, but when they had left the limits of the city a sudden quiet restfulness descended upon them. Rowena drooped drowsily against his shoulder.

"Shall I put up the umbrella in the rumble seat?" Peter asked facetiously.

But Rowena pretended she was asleep.

By the time they reached the outskirts of San Diego, Peter as well as Rowena confessed to a complete exhaustion, mental as well as physical.

They pulled up at the U. S. Grant Hotel. There was no boy in sight and Peter, unwilling to waste a moment, himself carried their bags into the lobby and hurried over to the desk. He was surprised at being immediately accommodated with two single rooms.

Their good fortune followed them and they both had a real good night's rest.

Peter had all the bags stowed neatly away in the car the next morning, ready for their start for the East, when Rowena tripped out of the hotel, leading the freshly washed Constantine on a brand-new leash attached to a brand-new collar.

"Gosh, Rowena," ejaculated Peter, "what'll we do with the mutt? I forgot about him?"

"Do with Constantine!" she echoed. "Why, we'll buy him a nice silk cushion to ride on, and get him a fresh bone every day. And charge it all to Rackruff."

Peter did his best picture at Grand Canyon, one which brought him no small amount of praise and profit. It was the Rackruff and Rowena riding through the rainbow fringe, with Constantine's queer, quaint black and white head nodding approbation beside her.

Rowena was not having the best of luck with her work in those declining weeks of their tour. She kept a pencil and note-book constantly at hand, even teaching Constantine to carry them for her on command, but ideas were not coming to her with much frequency. For the first time in her life, Rowena did not feel like writing, did not want to be bothered, and it may as well be added, her writing was far below its usual standard.

They lapsed into comfortable silence. They did not quarrel so much when they were alone—there seemed less point to it. To be sure, when occasion required, they would wither each other with a scathing word, but they never went to the old lengths.

In Albuquerque, when Peter had registered and called for their mail he was handed half a dozen telegrams and two or three letters.

"Nothing for Miss Rostand," said the clerk.

"What!" ejaculated Rowena. "Nothing for me? Not anything? Why, Buddy always—he surely must have written. Oh, please look again! There must be at least one!"

The clerk ran through the mail again.

"Sorry—not a thing," he said. "Dear me," said Rowena thoughtfully. "How—extremely—odd!"

Alone in his own room, Peter took off his coat and settled down to his mail. A quick glance at the letters told him they were of no especial importance and he turned to the telegrams. The two that he Simplicity is always important in little girls' dresses, but simplicity does not mean stark plainness. The material and style of the dress should be simple, leaving opportunity for the use of some attractive bit of trimming in the way of fine tucks, pipings, or simple hand embroidery.

The little French dress shown in today's sketch was made of fine cotton voile with cross-stitch design in two shades of blue. As you see, this simple decoration appears on the hem and yoke of the dress—and it is so easy to do. The detail at the right of the sketch shows how the stitches are taken.

Stock Sales Receipts Estimated $2,300,000

Trading Active in Portions of West Texas

Statistics for August show an estimated $2,300,000 flowing into the hands of agriculturists over central and southwestern West Texas.

The cattle industry lead the field in receipts. Cattle trades were fairly active in McCulloch, Mason, San Saba and Llano counties and from Andrews county to the Big Bend and back to the territory surrounding Abilene.

San Angelo cattlemen estimate that around 60,000 head of cattle either were bought or shipped to market during the month. Calves brought 66½ cents a pound and weighed 350 to 400 pounds, going to the feed lots of the corn belt.

The values of cattle shipments, using an average conservatively low price of $25 a head, are placed at $1,500,000 though their value is perhaps nearer $2,000,000.

Another $525,000 was brought by the hundred and fifty thousand head of sheep which went to the markets or were bought locally. Feeder buyers are making extensive inquiry for feeder purchases of lambs to be fed in the Panhandle or in the northern states. The average price of sheep is estimated by ranchmen at $3.50 to $5.00 with the top paid for high class breeding stock.

MOHAIR NEEDS NO LEGISLATION

With the entire South, and particularly that large portion of it lying within the bounds of the Lone Star State, in the midst of harried efforts to bolster the price of the dethroned King Cotton, West Texas is satisfied to take sane steps toward a solution of the puzzle offered by the below-cost prices on mohair.

Instead of seeking legislation and militarism as the cure for the ill, representatives of the wool and mohair business met in Kerrville recently and decided to work together in adopting sensible methods of price boosting. Losing no time in wrangling, they agreed to stand pat on sales of mohair until a remedy could be tried, and at once dispatched a delegation of competent men to the North and East to confer with the federal Farm Board and with leaders in the manufacturing industry in an effort to get a price commensurate with the investment required for the production of mohair.

On the other side of the ranchmen's business, the production of meat (rather than fleece), bankers, ranchers and farmers met in San Angelo and within ten days worked out plans to benefit both producer of meat and producer of feed. If there is such a thing as lifting oneself by the bootstraps the breeder-feeder plan is the example. With prices of finished meat always higher than those of range livestock, the chance to finish stocks in Texas offers a solution in the disposal of a bumper feed crop, and in such a manner that the future of the business will not be depressed for a temporary gain, as will be the effect of drastic anti-cotton legislation.

It may be possible for a government to save an oil situation by enforcing a shut-down, since oil is a natural resource. Cotton, on the other hand, cannot be classed as a natural resource, and its future, like that of other agricultural commodities must be governed by the economic laws of supply and demand.

Use the militia to regulate the planting of cotton, or the selling of cotton, and soon the wheat farmer will seek the same aid, and so will the corn-grower, and the feed farmer, and the truck farmer, and the potato farmer. In the twinkling of a few proclamations, the military forces of our land would be doing the farming—figuratively, not literally. The farmer himself would still do the work, but before he hitched his team in the morning, or before he plowed an acre of ground, he would ask the master. Again troops would be quartered on the people.

If the government is to run agriculture and industry, as Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana is seeking to have it control cotton in that state, the farmer will lose more in high tax rates reflecting the high cost of government regulation, than he will make by a higher price. Instead of being a citizen of the United States, free to exercise the rights of self-expression, he might just as well be running a tractor under the five-year plan of the United States of Soviet Russia.

Mohair and wool, lamb, mutton and beef, need no legislation—co-operation will do the job!

HELP PLAY BALL

The Sonora Bronchos will come on the field against an opponent for the first time Saturday afternoon. They face a hard schedule this year, and will need the support of all of Sonora if a district flag is to be theirs.

Coach A. L. Smith, in addressing the boys Wednesday afternoon said that chances to win a district championship were good. Victory is not at all certain, but Sonora does have a chance, and it will have eleven boys on the field every Saturday playing with every ounce of strength and every degree of ability to master the teams of neighboring towns.

Your presence on the sidelines, and your noise, will be the encouragement needed to put the boys over. Forget about business and work for a couple of hours Saturday and attend the first game. And after that get the habit and attend all of them at home and within driving distance.

CLEAN UP THE BURRS

Efforts have been made by B. M. Halbert, Sonora ranchman, to enlist the co-operation of the Texas Highway Commission in cleaning up grass burrs and cockleburs along highway 27 west of Sonora. Assurance of co-operation has been given by the commission, but with the statement that such weeds do not come under the jurisdiction of the commission, whereas a law requires that the highway right-of-way be kept free of Johnson grass.

The need for action is imperative, for as sheep and goats are driven along the highway, not only is the fleece damaged, but the seeds are scattered over ranches of the entire section.

Efforts will be made to pass a bill in the Texas Legislature requiring that the highways be kept clean of this vegetation, and prohibiting the use by contractors of hay infested with the seeds of the undesirable plants.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature to declare a moratorium on all debts on real estate. If it could just be made to include installments on the radio and car we'd take a long vacation if we could find a place to eat for nothing.

The Farm Board says it won't ask the next Congress for any funds. We'll bet it doesn't ask Hoover for gumdrops either.

"The Devil's Dream"

(By W. E. James)

A wise man ought to hope for the best, be prepared for the worst, and bear with equanimity whatever happens.
—An Echo from the Past.

THE JOKER

It is stated on good authority that a certain popular young man in Sonora thinks that "nine polar bears and a walrus" constitute the animal kingdom of the Arctic regions.

YE EDITOR

The editor is a millionaire without money, a congressman without a job, a king without a throne. He constructs without a hammer or saw, builds railroads without nails or spikes and farms without a plow. He runs a butchershop in the journalists world and deals out brains for cash or credit. The editor is a teacher, a lawyer, a preacher; he sends truth out to save souls, and gets lost himself.

THE PHILOSOPHER

The roses bloom but a season, yet they come again. It is thus with our joys. We grow and labor, and suffer, catching the fragrance and fruits of happiness just enough to keep from being commonplace. If the rose bush was all blossoms, always, there would be nothing about it to admire. If your life was all joy where would be the comparison, and without comparison the gratification? Barring the shade and the shadows there would be one unvariable desert, an evanescent nothing of joy.

THE ADVISER

Men should never talk down the country they live in. If it don't suit you, move out quietly, and when you move back, which is only a question of time, you will feel more comfortable. Don't blame Providence for everything. It is by the mercy of an all-wise Providence that we are permitted to live anywhere. We are the authors of most of our failures in the every day pursuits of life, and are too prone to blame Providence for everything that does not come up just right. Let us profit by a study of the causes of our past failures and thereby benefit by them in future operations. Never throw up your hands at failure, try again and never let up until success crowns your efforts.

THE MEDDLER

A funny thing happened to a young lady of this town. She was attending church Sunday evening, and, sitting just in front of her, she saw a tall, handsomely-dressed stranger, with a piece of white lint, or raveling, hanging over his coat. Being a young lady of an accommodating disposition—one of the warm hearted, whole-souled girls who grow to be motherly old ladies, a friend to everybody in town, she thought how glad she would be if some kind-hearted girl would do as much for her father if he should come to church with a raveling hanging down his back. Besides the thing worried her and ruined the otherwise immaculate appearance presented by the broad neck and well-built shoulders of the stranger, so as the congregation arose for prayer she concluded to pick it off. Carefully raising her hand she gave a little twitch, but there was more than she supposed, and a foot or more of the thread appeared. Setting her teeth she gave another long pull and about a yard more of that thread hung down his back. There was an embarrassing pause, but with grim determination to do or die, she gave another yank and discovered that she was unraveling his undershirt. It is needless to say that her embarrassment was then so painful that chloroform could not have alleviated her suffering, nor a pint of powder hidden her blushes when the gentleman turned with an inquiring look to see what was tickling his back.

SCANDAL

The following recipe was never known to fail when a good round finish is desired. Throw away your old and try this new one. Here it is:

"Take a grain of falsehood, a handful of grad-about, the same quantity of nimble-tongue, a sprig of the herb back-bite, a teaspoonful of don't-you-tell-it, six drops of malice and a few drachms of envy; add a little discontent and jealousy, and strain through a bag of misconception, cork it up in a bottle of malevolence, and hang it on a skein of street yarn; keep in a hot atmosphere; shake it occasionally for a few days and it will be ready for use. Let a few drops be taken before walking out and the desired result will follow."

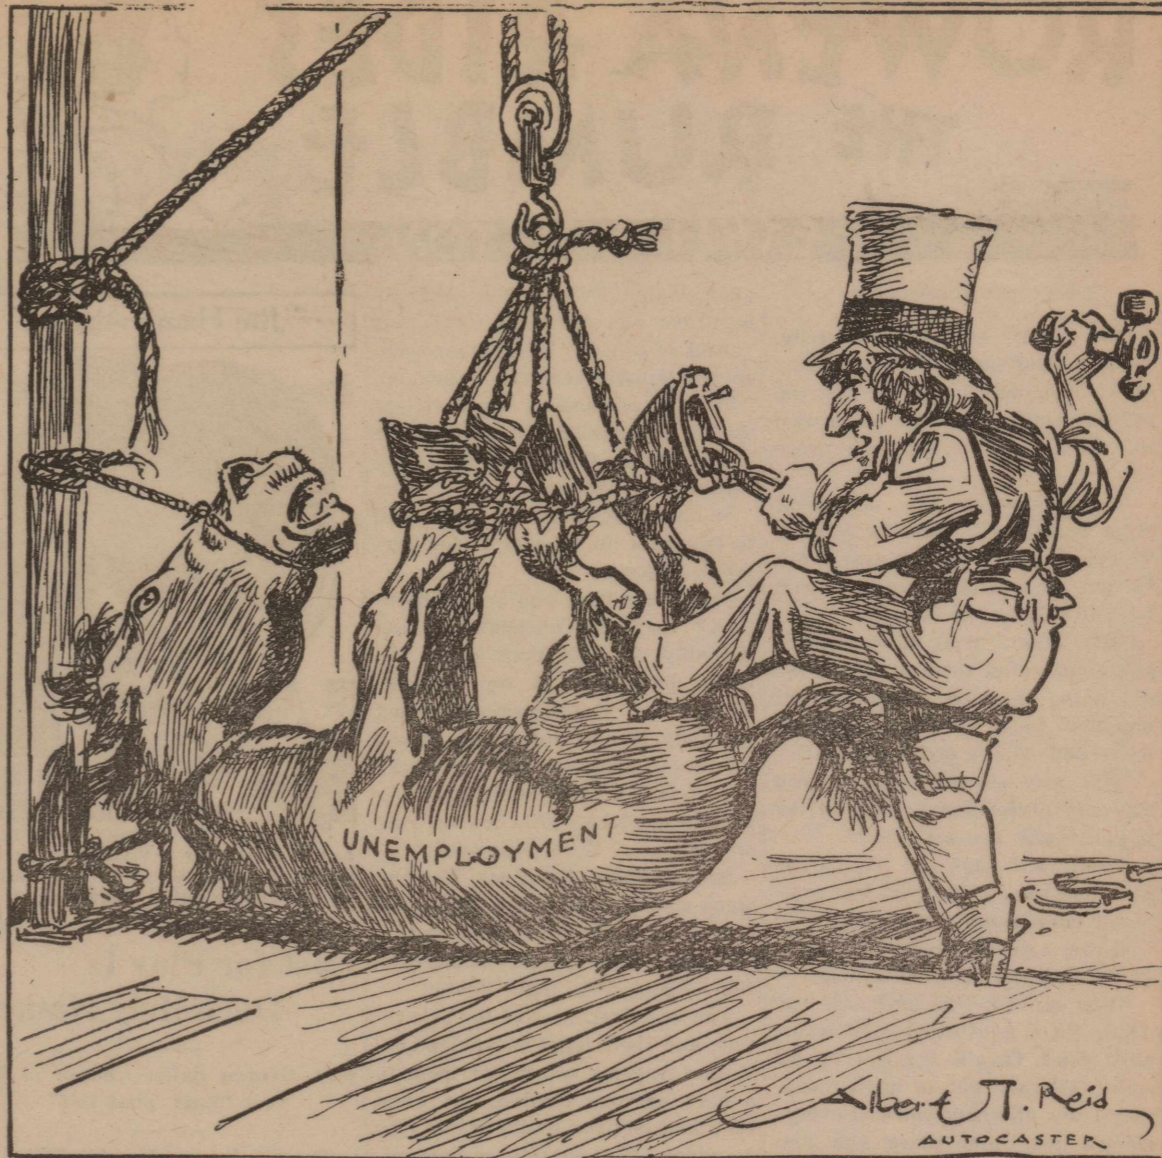

Even the fetters of the law cannot keep some Lions from attending a banquet. Two members of the Sonora Lions Club, who were tied up on jury duty, were present at the Ladies' Night entertainment Monday night, but were not allowed to come inside because they brought the entire jury with them, including the officer in charge. All the poor Lions could do was stand at the windows with watering mouths, while their more fortunate tribesmen devoured the goodies placed before them. Anyhow, you can't keep a Lion from seeking his den at feeding time, even if he does have to go hungry.

Two familiar and lovable characters will be found missing in the new play, "Laff That Off," which is to be presented by the 13 Dramatic Club soon. That is, unless some of the cast drop out and Bill and Mrs. Gilmore are called upon to "pinch-hit." Bill hasn't missed a play since the club was organized: He was slated for a seat in the audience during the last play, but at the final minute one of the members dropped out, so Bill had to give his "first seat, third row front" to someone else, and get behind the footlights. Four new members will be presented in the coming play.

Two-Gun Ike says that a number of Col. Esaias Izadias Whiffletree's Sonora friends have inquired of him concerning the state in which is located the city of "Snagtown." Two-Gun says he doesn't know exactly, but thinks it is in "Arkansas."

Maybe He'll Be Able to Keep Going Now

Reid

35 YEARS AGO

A bank would do a world of business in Sonora, according to a statement in an issue of The Devil's River News of October 17, 1891. Another article in the paper told why boys leave the farm, attributing the exodus to the fact that in fair weather the hours of work were long and tedious, and that in bad weather the loneliness and monotony were depressing. The issue stated that mail service between Sonora, Gwynn, Emerald and Ozona; Sonora, Rocksprings and Kerrville, and Sonora, Juno, Comstock and Del Rio; and Sonora, McKavett and Junction City was an urgent necessity. It urged that those interested in seeing that the service be secured call at the office and sign a petition. Steve Murphy advertised horse pasture grazing, within 300 yards of the courthouse, with plenty of water and grass.

Smaller items are reproduced from the issue as follows:

Chas. Nichols, the boss carpenter of the courthouse, returned from San Angelo Saturday having taken in the fair. About four miles north of Sonora on the road to San Angelo, is a water hole that produces a magnificent crop of cockleburs which if not weeded out or destroyed will spread over the country and greatly enhance the value of wool. What do the commissioners think about it?

E. A. McCarthy has received the finest lot of buggies, hacks and carts ever brought to Texas. Adv.

G. W. Farmer, of Kimble county, was in Sonora Saturday on a prospecting tour. He reports wire cutters in operation in his county. They cut three miles of his pasture fence.

Mrs. Ed Mayfield Honors Her Sister With Lovely Party

Mrs. Ed Mayfield was hostess on Friday afternoon to six tables of bridge at her home, honoring her sister Mrs. Edna Beam of San Antonio, who left for her home there on Saturday morning. The progression at bridge was governed by flower tallies, bearing a flower name for each player and a direction list, thus causing periodic changes in the arrangement of the "garden," and adding greatly to the enjoyment of the guests. Flower prizes were awarded to Mrs. Collier Shurley for high score, Mrs. J. L. Nisbet, for low, and Mrs. Edna Beam, as honor guest.

The hostess served a colorful and delicious course, in gold and green, the salad being suggestive of a fall flower.

Miss Jamie Gardner charmingly entertained at the home of Mrs. Johnnie Hamby Friday afternoon, with a "T. C. U. Party" at which Miss Dorothy Baker, who left Sunday night to attend Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, was the honoree.

Particular attention had been given to appropriate details of decoration, the T. C. U. colors, purple and white, being cleverly carried out both in refreshments and prizes. Tallies were handmade, bearing small T. C. U. pennant stickers.

Prizes at bridge were presented to Miss Alice Karnes, for high score, Miss Mae Cauthorn, for low, and Miss Dorothy Baker, guest, after which the hostess served a delicious salad course accompanied by iced punch.

Invited to Exhibit Work in San Antonio Exhibition

Mrs. E. A. Bode was this week granted the privilege of teaching art in the grade school building during the school term this year, by the Sonora school board and Superintendent R. S. Covey. She will begin private instruction next week and examples of her work are being put on display at several local business houses.

Mrs. Bode was invited by the Local Artists' Club of San Antonio to submit four pictures for exhibit in the San Antonio art exhibit which opened at Witte Memorial museum last Sunday. Artists were limited to four entries and two accepted pictures. Mrs. Bode submitted only three entries and Sunday's edition of the San Antonio Light announced that her picture, "Sunshine and Shade," had been hung in the exhibit.

About 300 paintings have been entered and accepted for the exhibit, which will last until October 1, after which English masters from the Newhouse Galleries will use the museum exhibit space.

The jury which selected the pictures for exhibit was composed of the eminent artists, Harry Athony de Young, Xavier Gonzales, Miss Mary Bonner and Mrs. A. J. Bell. The latter was chairman of the jury, which completed its selections Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gilmore and daughters, Peggy and Pat, went to San Angelo Thursday afternoon, where Mr. Gilmore attended the meeting of General Electric dealers.

Hillman Brown left Tuesday for Lubbock, where he will enter the Texas College of Technology.

First Session Held Tuesday; Various Phases of Art Included

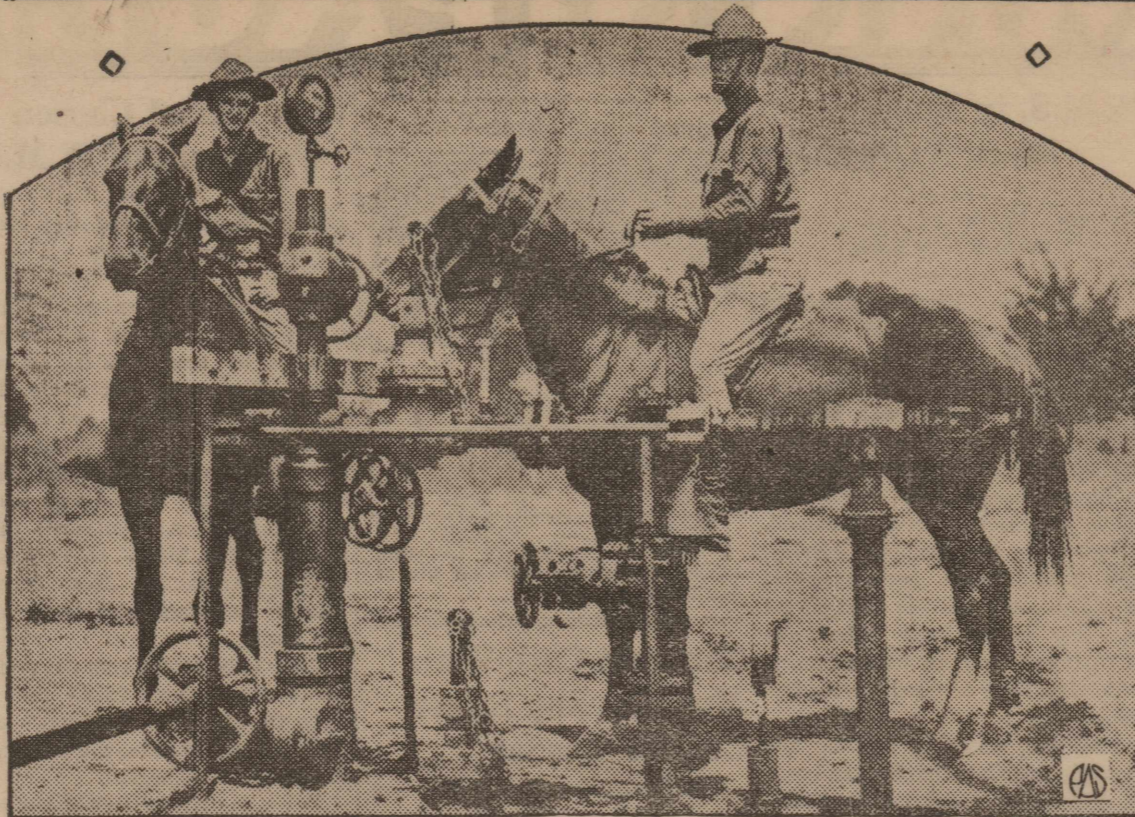

Tuesday afternoon of this week Miss Faye James opened her school of art at her residence near the Methodist church. Class studies consist of the principles and foundation of drawing for beginners, pen and ink sketching, drawing for reproduction, magazine illustrating, designing and landscaping.

Miss James, who is talented in the use of pen and brush, has studied under some of the best instructors in the state, her latest work being done under personal direction of Dorothy Antoinette Leselle, former instructor in Chicago Art Institute, and who spent a number of years in Europe; and Nina Kinney, of Pratt Institute, New York.

Contract for the construction of a federal building at Fort Worth costing $1,017,000 has been awarded, it is announced.

A 20-mile electric power line carrying 13,000 volts is under construction between Vernon and Thalia, Texas.

Rowena Rides—

opened first were from the company, but the third started off on an odd note.

"Darling, I hate to ask you again," Peter read, his eyes starting with surprise. "Devil's own luck. Lost fifty bucks at craps. Got to have it this week or they will chuck me out. Rush it by wire. Wish I hadn't played." It was signed "Buddy."

To Peter it made no sense at all. He turned it over and scrutinized the address again. Ah! That explained it. It was addressed not to "Mr." but to "Mrs. Peter Blande."

His mind traveled back over the trip. Buddy—that was her brother—Roland Rostand. Ready for his third year in college and taking summer courses to cut down the time and expense. Rowena had received a letter or telegram from him at every stop enroute. He remembered her subsequent counting of bills and rush for a telegraph office—her complete financial stringency—the way she starved herself, eschewing all desserts—her thousand painful small economies.

Now Peter realized fully what it meant—this thing that he was going to do. Knew quite well that when Buddy wrote back in complaint of this unwarranted outside interference, Rowena's rage would be beyond bounds.

They had talked sometimes of the future when their motor tour was over, thought they would probably be good friends in later years when their business vicissitudes were separate and distinct and no longer bound up by compulsion in each other's work and wish. But if Peter flung open insult at Buddy—"The sacred cow!" he sneered—all such hopes for the future were null and void. Well, Peter told himself, he didn't know that he cared. After all, he didn't get on so very well with Rowena. But she was a good sport—the best sport he had ever seen—and deserved a better break than Buddy was giving her.

Peter's grip on the pen made it a sword as he gave form to his scathing thoughts.

"Granting to begin with that it is none of my business," he wrote heavily, "it nevertheless affords me great pleasure to tell you that in my opinion you are an unspeakable cad. You may not know—of course you do not know, for Rowena is one Rostand who is a rousing good sport and would not throw up her privations to you—that in order to meet your insatiate demands for money, your sister, tired and exhausted as she is by hard work and long driving, has saved money by doing her own laundry in the bathtub at nights; has starved herself on soup and coffee and gone without a proper meal for days at a time.

"Better men than you have worked their way through college. For Rowena's sake, I myself am sending you the fifty bucks.

"It is of course quite unnecessary for me to explain that Rowena does not know that you wired for this money nor that I am sending it. Your telegram was handed me by mistake and I opened it under the impression it was for me."

And without an instant's hesitation he endorsed his sentiments with the signature that would one day be worth thousands—"Peter Blande."

Peter was pretty uncomfortable about the whole business. He was not used to any sort of double dealing and was not at all sure but at any moment office s of the law—or perhaps the telegraph company—would hale him away to jail to expiate his unwarranted manipulation of other people's affairs by telegraph.

At El Paso Rowena had two letters. She sat right down in the nearest chair to read them, and Peter stalked moodily from cigar stand to desk and back again, and watched her furtively.

Peter could stand it no longer. "Buddy O. K.?" he inquired anxiously.

"He's entirely too O. K. I'm worried."

"You can't be too O. K.," protested Peter. "Nobody can. What do you mean?"

A meeting of the school board was held Monday evening mainly for the purpose of making arrangements to care for the unusually large number of Mexican school children whose number has been augmented this year by the fact that many Mexicans who have heretofore left Sonora at this season for work in the cotton fields, are not going, thus creating a need for more teachers in the Mexican school.

The Misses Gretta Cawyer and Jamie Gardner were appointed by the school board to fill the need for teachers. Miss Cawyer began her work on Wednesday and Miss Gardner will go on duty next month.

Pack of Wild Dogs Leads Canines Away

Pecos Stock Threatened By New Menace; Poison to Be Used

Packs of wild dogs, which are joined from time to time by town pets that revert to their basic instincts when in company with the wild canines, have killed several head of cattle in pastures near Pecos recently, according to the Pecos Enterprise.

Loss of two calves and a cow was reported on one ranch, loss of a cow on another, and reports of new losses keep coming in.

Officers chased down a pack of dogs one night last week and killed four of them. The pack is led by wild dogs that live around the river. At night the dogs from town join them and they invade pens and corrals much after the manner of wolves.

Cattle owners are planning to kill these dogs by poisoning or any other possible means and people of Pecos have been warned to either tie their pets up at night or muzzle them to prevent their joining the wild dogs.

DEL RIO WOMAN HURT IN WRECK HERE DIES

Mrs. Francisto Paniagua, widely known Mexican woman of Del Rio, who recently suffered a crushed and mangled arm in an automobile accident near Sonora, died Thursday, Sept. 10, in a Del Rio hospital after she had been taken there by ambulance from here following the accident.

Mrs. Paniagua was unable to recuperate from the shock, complications, and loss of blood, and her death is the second fatality in the last ten days in Del Rio which has resulted from loss of an arm after it had been crushed, according to the Del Rio Evening News.

Miss Hull to Howard Payne

Miss Margaret Hull left Sunday for Brownwood where she will enter Howard Payne college. THIRTEEN DRAMATIC CLUB SET ATTENDANCE RECORD

The Thirteen Dramatic Club ended its work for the summer with an unusually good record for any organization that continues its meetings regularly throughout the hot months.

According to W. C. Gilmore, not

With this striking record behind them, the club members are beginning with unflagging energy their work on "Laugh That Off," the play scheduled for presentation on October 5.

ANTHRAX FOUND ON 11 RANCHES IN VAL VERDE

Anthrax has been found on eleven ranches in the Del Rio vicinity, according to notices posted in the Val Verde county courthouse by Dr. L. H. Hughes of the State Sanitary Commission on Friday, Sept. 11.

Dr. Hughes has been making tours of inspection of ranches over the Del Rio community and has posted notices concerning ranches found to be infected with anthrax.

Anthrax, which is deadly to cattle, horses, and mules, but which does not affect sheep and goats, has not yet caused much loss around Del Rio, but Dr. Hughes advises immediate measures for prevention.

grower and feeder underway. Plans have been virtually completed for the transferring of stock, including that under mortgage, to feeding lots.

O. B. Martin, director of Department of Agriculture Extension Service, at College Station, and A. B. Conner, head of the stations, were in San Angelo Tuesday for the meeting and promised co-operation in planning balanced feeding rations and in helping the feeders get started off on the right foot.

In addition to Mayer as president, the following officers were chosen:

Charles W. Hobbs, president of the San Angelo National Bank vice president, and directors named are: G. R. White, Brady banker and cattle feeder; T. L. Drisdale, Del Rio banker, rancher and sheep man; Miles O'Daniel, secretary of the Wool Growers Central Storage Company; W. R. Hunton, Miles banker and farmer; Frank Stevens, Sweetwater merchant; R. ing a weak ankle, while a shoulder has been troubling James Glasscock, a tackle.

James Hutcherson, 140-pound end, has been showing up well in practice this week, as has Carl Holland, another end. Holland's work was particularly good in the Tuesday scrimmage.

New Lineman Reports

Chances for a formidable line were greatly strengthened this week with the enrollment of Robert Allison, a 140-pounder, who hails from Amarillo, and who is at present working out at guard, but who will likely be shifted to tackle later.

A game with Menard there on October 17, an open date formerly, was definitely assured in a letter received Monday. At the request of the Ozona coach the game scheduled to be played there on Armistice Day, November 11, will be played instead on the preceding Saturday, November 7.

The 45-10 trimming handed the Junction Eagles by the Del Rio high team is considered significant here. It was the first defeat the Junction boys had suffered in years, and would indicate that the locals will not be out-classed in the game here a week from Saturday.

ery against Iva Baker and R. E. Baker for custody of a child was dismissed on the plaintiff's motion.

In the case of the General Properties Corporation vs. W. J. Owens et al, trespass to try title, W. H. Baker was appointed to represent defendants served with citation by publication.

Pedro Domingues was given judgment by default in his suit against Sapopa A. Castro and Esperion Castro for foreclosure of a vendor's lien.

Lea Roy Aldwell sang two solos, the first being "Dream a Little Dream of Me." His grandmother, Mrs. W. L. Aldwell was present to hear the songs. He was accompanied by Miss Francis.

Dr. W. B. Gray, a member of the Eldorado Lions club and pastor of the Eldorado Presbyterian Church, was the featured speaker of the evening, talking briefly and pointedly on the benefits of Lionism, not only to the people aided by the clubs, but to the members themselves.

Miss Dora Petmecky and Miss Helen Joiner sang "A Garden of Happiness" as a vocal duet, with accompaniment by Miss Francis.

Brief talks were made by Lions Myers, and Williams, Rocksprings, R. S. Covey and L. W. Elliott, Sonora, and Evert White, Ozona, and by A. L. Smith, Sonora football coach, and by J. M. Jones, with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station.

killing could be ascribed.

Audience Speculates on Term
Attorney's arguments in the case were heard Tuesday morning, with Weaver Baker, district attorney, closing his plea at 10:45 o'clock with a demand for a life sentence.

Speculation among members of the audience at the trial as to the jury's decision varied widely, some believing that that an acquittal would result, while others thought that the sentence would be for 25 years or longer, and still others guessed correctly.

Rodriguez was slain about 7 o'clock on a Sunday morning following an all-night dance honoring Lopez and his bride, whose wedding had been celebrated the night before. Rodriguez was stabbed with a knife, exactly in the heart, as the climax of an early morning gathering which followed the drinking of several bottles of beer in a draw in the west edge of Sonora.

Horton Gets Suspended Term
Zeno Horton, charged with rape, was given a suspended sentence of five years by a jury Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, after deliberation of more than three hours.

A jury was impaneled at 1 o'clock, and the hearing of testimony began at once. This was completed and the attorneys' pleas were heard before 5 o'clock. G. A. Wynn had been appointed by the Court to serve as counsel for the defendant. Weaver Baker represented the prosecution.

For a time the jury appeared deadlocked, but finally a decision was reached and the sentence was returned.

Court Adjourns Tuesday
Judge Joe G. Montague adjourned the court Tuesday night following the completion of the divorce and civil dockets.

Two divorces were granted Tuesday night, as follows: Alvin Hollmig from Dora McKee Hollmig, and Vida Young Friess from Chester Friess. In the latter case the plaintiff was given custody of a child.

In the case of the State of Texas vs. Marcello Perez, swindling, a continuance was granted on the Court's own motion.

Two other cases were heard Tuesday, as follows:

Mamie E. Clarkson et al vs. Wool Growers' Central Storage Co., et al, trespass to try title as well as for damages; continued for service.

In the case of G. W. Morris vs. Kenneth, Garey, trespass to try title, judgment for the plaintiff was returned. Defendant excepted and filed notice of appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals in the Fourth Supreme Judicial District in San Antonio in December.

A judgment by default was given the plaintiff in the G. W. Morris vs. W. O. Hightower et al suit on note and foreclosure of lien, and the case was dismissed as to defendant T. C. Baxter on motion of the plaintiff.
