Eldorado Eagles Win Slow Game Here Saturday, 13-0

Bronchos Fail to Stop Visitors Powerful Offense

The Eldorado High School Eagles overpowered the Sonora High School Bronchos in a hard-fought, though slow, battle here Saturday afternoon. Eldorado scored one earned touchdown, and chalked up another on the first play in the second period when they got through to block a punt attempted by Kring on a fake play. The ball rolled behind Kring and was scooped up by an Eldorado man, who ran the remaining 20 yards with five of his men clustered about. At that point it looked as though the visitors were going to run away with the game.

The Sonora lads came back in the last half fighting hard, and managed to hold the Eagles scoreless. One factor responsible for this was fumbling on the part of the Eldorado backs, giving the Sonora lads opportunity to put the ball back out of danger. Both teams lost yardage a number of times on bad passes from their centers. What advantage the Bronchos gained in covering Eldorado fumbles they lost in having pass after pass intercepted by their opponents.

Sonora Men Injured

Sonora was handicapped from the first quarter on with injuries to various men. Archer's leg was hurt several times, and he was finally taken from the game, virtually out on his feet. Kring's weak ankle gave trouble. Wes Hill's weak shoulder was hurt in the last quarter when he dived at an Eldorado man and missed. Allison, usually a tackle, but playing Logan's place at end, was hurt in the last few minutes of the game. It was first thought that his hip was broken or dislocated, but an X-ray examination following the game revealed that ligaments had been torn loose in his side. The hurt, while painful, will not be serious, doctors thought.

To open the game, Eldorado kicked off, with Sonora defending the north goal. Isaacs lifted the ball 45 yards to Friess, who returned 15. After three plays, all of which were called back because

Former County Clerk Last Charter Member of Lodge

S. H. Stokes, 71, former Sutton county clerk and the last surviving member of the Sonora Masonic Lodge, died at his home in Sonora Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Stokes, who came to Sonora in 1888 and assisted in the organization of the county and of the city of Sonora, was in ill health for several years preceding his death, but had been able to be up and in town until about ten days ago. His death was attributed to stomach trouble.

Mr. Stokes was elected justice of the peace of Sutton county at the last regular election, and had served less than half of his term. He was elected county clerk of Sutton county in 1890, in the first general election held after its organization. When the county was formed, W. B. Silliman, now an attorney of Ft. Stockton, was appointed to the office. Mr. Stokes served 10 years in the clerkship, and at the end of that time J. D. Lowrey, his deputy, was elected, Mr. Stokes having declined to run.

For two years following his tenure of office in the clerkship of the county Mr. Stokes was state sheep inspector, in charge of the entire state of Texas, holding the office under appointment of Governor O. B. Colquitt. His office was abolished with the establishment of the state sanitary livestock commission.

During his entire residence in Sonora Mr. Stokes took an active interest in the affairs of the town, county and state. He was interested in politics, was a leading spirit in civic projects within the city, was an enthusiastic worker in the affairs of his lodge, and for the last 45 years had been a member and active worker in the Methodist church. Mr. Stokes was a thirty-second degree Mason, and was eligible for the Shriner's degree, having planned to take it just before his health failed.

Mr. Stokes engaged in ranching during his entire life, in addition to other interests. He rode the cattle trails to the Kansas rail points in the early days before the coming of trains to the cattle sections of Texas. He ranched in McCulloch county prior to moving to Sutton

Hearing on Application of Del Rio & Northern Expected Soon—Company Says Line Would Develop Territory

A hearing by the Interstate Commerce Commission is expected to be held in Del Rio in the near future, in connection with the application of the recently organized Del Rio & Northern Railroad Company for authority to construct a new line of railroad between Del Rio and Sonora, and from Del Rio to Quemado in the Maverick county irrigation project.

An application filed before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington Thursday, October 15, outlined benefits expected to accrue for the Del Rio-Sonora-Eagle Pass section, and was printed in a recent issue of the United States Daily, Washington.

Main points in the company's contention of benefits to be derived were: that the 132 miles of new line will effect a shorter route to the Gulf of Mexico via the proposed Winter Garden Belt and the Missouri Pacific Railway, with resultant lowering of rates; that it will serve that part of the great Maverick county water district in which the main canal system and lateral canals are at present completed and

BRONCHOS WILL INVADE ROCKSPRINGS SATURDAY

The Sonora High School Bronchos, recovered from the defeat handed them here Saturday by the boys from Eldorado, will invade Rocksprings Saturday determined to avenge the defeat administered them here four weeks ago by Rocksprings.

Although a number of men were hurt in the Saturday game, the team as a whole is in very good condition, and has been going through a strenuous practice this week in working out a defense against the Edwards county boys and in perfecting a new offense, with which they hope to dazzle their opponents.

Kring, hurt Saturday, has recovered; his condition is as good as it has been during the season. Archer is not the worse for injuries to his leg, Pharis' ankle is improving. Hill's shoulder is responding to treatment and he has much freer use of it now than during the last three games. Allison proved to be only slightly injured Saturday and will be ready to play.

Home Economics Club Is Formed

Members Plan to Re-Decorate Laboratory

Members of Home Economic classes at the high school formed a home economics club Wednesday, September 30, at which time the following officers were elected: president Edythe Carson; vice president, Dee Trainer; secretary-treasurer, Sarah Ory; reporter, Clovis Neal.

The club met Wednesday afternoon at the high school and the meeting opened with a novel manner of calling the roll, to which each girl answered with the name of some part of a chicken's anatomy. Minutes of the last meeting were read and business was discussed. An invitation from Brady to members of the club, to attend a district meeting there Nov. 7 was presented.

The program which followed consisted of a piano solo, "The Arbutus," Davis, by Miss Alice Sawyer, reports from Home Economics I, II and III by the Misses Viba Holland, Nina Roueche and Dee Trainer, respectively; piano solo, "Edelweiss Glide," Vanderbeck, by Miss Ches Thorp.

Dues of the club are 10 cents a month. The club has $18.00 in the treasury at the present time from selling of refreshments at football games and the payment of dues. The group plans to arrange for the painting of the Home Economics laboratory and the addition of window curtains. The Misses Alice Sawyer and Ches Thorp are a committee of two to arrange for the carrying out of this plan.

Members of the club are the Misses Stella Archer, Ella Mae Barnes, Ora Altizer, Nina Roueche, Edythe Carson, Clovis Neal, Pauline Turney, Alice Sawyer, Ches Thorp, Viba Holland, Ethelda Heflin, Ruby Lawler, Juanita Corder, Dorothy Penick, Ruth Freeman, Dee Trainer, Velma Chadwick, Doris Ray, Sarah Ory and Josie Barrows. Miss Loreen Moursund is sponsor of the club.

TEXAS PRISON SYSTEM BECOMES SELF-SUPPORTING FOR FIRST TIME; PRISONERS CARED FOR

The following article written by Byron C. Utecht in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram shows what has been accomplished under the management of Lee Simmons, head of the Texas prison system.

Austin, Sept. 29.—The Texas prison system "lives at home." It is not at all worried by cotton acreage reduction, cotton prices or cost of food, and in fact has become one of the most outstanding financial and moral successes of the entire South. Governor Sterling, some members of the legislature and some citizens know of the transformation, but they do not know the entire story.

Two short years ago during the Forty-first legislature, the Texas prison system received a severe lambasting in and out of the legislature. It was pictured as the villain of state government, and the wreck of the Hesperus was on a par with the Texas penal institution.

Then Lee Simmons of Sherman got on the job. He was offered the position as general manager and was not at all inclined to accept, but friends insisted and he finally took off his coat and went to work. The prison system hasn't been the same since.

On Business Basis
 A mild man, with modesty as the first plank of his platform and determination as the second, Simmons didn't wait around for legislative help or gubernatorial advice or seek publicity. He merely began running the system as a business proposition.

When the man from Sherman first went to Huntsville he found only a few hogs around, and yet the state was paying out annually more than $100,000 for bacon. Although there are 700 more convicts now than when he first removed his coat, Simmons fed them all the bacon and pork they wanted and cut the bill down $40,000 a year. He raised a lot more hogs, exchanging them to a packing house for dressed meat.

Cotton experts at this special session of the legislature declared one of the chief troubles of the farmer is that he refuses to raise staple cotton for which there is a good demand and better prices. So Simmons raised staple cotton on the state farm, with the result he expects to sell the entire crop at 7½ to 8 cents the pound. He will make $6 to $7 more a bale than the average Texas farmer, and this profit is used to reduce the fund taxpayers would have to contribute to upkeep of the prison system. It was just a matter of business with Simmons.

All Live at Home
 "Sure, we all live at home at the Texas prisons," he said. "We raise everything we eat and if the Texas farmers had done likewise they would not have to ask the legislature for help. In August it cost the state only $1 a prisoner for the entire month, and there were 956 of them at Huntsville. All I ask and need is that we keep the prisons out of politics and that the legislature let me alone."

Reverting back to cotton. Very recently a large bunch of negro convicts were asked, not commanded, to pick a little more cotton to see if they could better the record and get through. The bunch averaged 350 pounds a day, breaking the record, and Simmons didn't forget. He gave them a barbecue. Simmons wants to help the convicts. The convicts want to help him. It is a little matter of co-operation.

"Those boys are all for me," he went on. "They have faith in me because I give them a square deal and good treatment. If any of them misbehave they find out at once who is running the prison. We do not stand for any brutality and a man is punished in accordance with his misdemeanor."

"In one tier at Huntsville I found a lot of genuine bad boys. They were kept there and were doing nothing. I took them out doors and put them to work. It was what they wanted, needed, and they appreciated it."

Escapes Are Fewer

"If a convict becomes worn out or overheated in his work the guards have orders to let them sit down and rest. We try to be human."

The year before Simmons took charge there were 302 escapes. How does this figure compare under the the year of good treatment? There have been but 78 escapes.

Escapes from prison became so frequent in recent years that newspapers began to editorialize on the situation. At one time a prisoner merely masqueraded as a guard and walked jauntily past a lot of other guards to freedom. And of the 78 escapes under the Simmons regime about $5,000 re-capture expense has been saved.

The job of transferring prisoners from county jails to the walls had always proved expensive to the state and it was suggested to Simmons that he curtail the expense if possible. He did, cutting the cost down by $23,000.

The Huntsville prison before Simmons went there had a shoe factory. It managed to manufacture six pairs a day. Now its capacity is 140 pairs and Simmons not only is supplying all the shoes needed for the convicts, 5,500 of them, but sells a quantity occasionally.

"In fact, we can make sufficient shoes for all the state eleemosynary institutions," he said. "And they are good shoes at that."

The system raises all the corn, vegetables and nearly all the meat needed for convicts. Vacant space formerly not used at all was planted to potatoes and now the system has been able to put away a large quantity in cold storage at Houston. Prison Sells Wood

"Formerly nothing was done with wood," Simmons said. "Now the prisoners cut and sell enough wood to more than pay my own salary, the wood being sold to Huntsville citizens."

Agricultural experts come to the penitentiary to give demonstrations and lectures to farm managers on the best way to raise crops. The Goree farm, for a long time regarded as the fust disreputable, is a Simmonese example.

It is a real tidy productive farm now, and the contrast has attracted comment from visitors. Simmons plans to put libraries at all the state farms.

Every Saturday during October the prison will give a rodeo at Huntsville, the public being invited, convicts and employes to be the contestants.

Summed up in the most simple way, Simmons solved the prison problem by doing two things. He put everybody to work and treated everyone humanly.

"Any convict is permitted to talk to me," he said, "but I don't allow them to take much of my time. I haven't had a day's vacation since I went on the job."

Rushes Through Lunch

Simmons gave all this information while rushing through his lunch at an Austin cafe, and it consisted of a ham sandwich and glass of milk. Convicts probably were given a better meal at the same time.

"You see I am in a hurry," he explained. "I want to be back at Huntsville before 6 o'clock. You ask me about inquiries regarding prisoners. Most people ask about Bob Silver and James Brady. Silver is now a model prisoner, working in the library, while Brady has become a school teacher."

Silver was sent up from Fort Worth, where he was convicted after the killing of Roscoe Wilson, a theatre treasurer. Brady, an Austin citizen and formerly on the Civil Court of Appeals, is serving a three-year term for the killing of a girl.

It is seldom that a department fails to use up all its appropriation and ask for more. Simmons was allowed $100,000 for improvements at the Goree farm and returned $78,000, causing much wonderment. He was asked why he had done so and explained to legislators he did not need any more.

"When I went on the job," he concluded, "I insisted that more attention be paid to the parole law, as I thought it had been much neglected. Close the door of hope to a prisoner and he is done for and probably will remain a criminal and an expense to society. The parole board and Governor Sterling have been excellent in granting these paroles, and with these in mind prisoners are anxious to make good records. With hope gone, a prisoner would be like any of the rest of us, for they, too, are human."

CAPONE GETS SAMPLE OF JUSTICE

For the first time in his long and brilliant career, Alphonse Capone, America's king of crime, has tasted of Justice, and judging from his antics, he finds it very bitter indeed. Heretofore the swaggering hoodlum has hidden behind hired gunmen, cats well trained in pulling chestnuts from the fires around Chicago and in other sections of the county. His legal tools have been multiple, too.

At last the end is in sight. "Snorky," as the silk encased rowdy is affectionately called, is on the verge of receiving the justice that all of us are promised as children, punishment for flagrant wrongdoing.

One of his brilliant defense attorneys, on the event of return of a verdict of guilty by Capone's jury, exclaimed thus: "They have nailed him to a cross, now." Whether he meant to imply that the king of bullies had at last reached the end of a long rope or that he had received an unjust verdict, was not exactly clear.

It is certain, though, that the jury which found Capone guilty, and the courts which fixed his punishment and then failed to allow him bond, had the good of the entire country at heart, and it became evident that at least the power of Capone's beer dollars and the sinister threat of his influence had failed. The men responsible for the incarceration of the czar of gangdom are benefactors of all America.

MILTON UP TO DATE

Time after time we met before—
And yearned to enter—heaven's door,
But it was locked; we turned away
Not having anything to say.
Dear, we were fools, for neither knew
Each one could let the other through.
Now that the years have made us sane,
We've journeyed back to meet again
Before the gates of paradise.
And we are old and we are wise:
I look at you and you at me—
Alas! we both have lost the key.

How much easier our work would be if we put forth as much effort trying to improve the quality of it as most of u do trying to find excuses for not properly attending to it.

FARMING ACCORDING TO LAW?

After a few more years conversations like this may be heard over the community telephones in the agricultural sections, says the Dallas Times-Herald: "When are you going to start your spring plowing?"

"I don't know yet, I haven't called up the district attorney."

"The sheriff came out this morning and made me dig up that little patch of garlic I had in my garden."

He did? What for?"

"Oh, he says he promised the voters he would purify breath from one end of the county to 'tother."

"I thought I would try to slip in an acre of goobers this year."

"Might as well give it up. Two strangers were over at Bill Smith's the other day searching for seed goobers."

"Did you hear about Jim Doolittle?"

"No. What's trouble?"

"He's in jail. The constable finally discovered that rutabaga patch Jim had down in the forks of the creek this winter."

"Too bad. I was afraid Jim would get caught. But you can't blame the constable. The law must be enforced."

"I had a little trouble myself last week. Ar-buckle Smokem, who's been sore at me since last fall, reported me for having more than four hogs in my lot."

"What did you do?"

"Oh, I finally convinced the grandjury that one of them belonged to my brother-in-law."

"What do you think about the sorghum situation for the coming season?"

"I don't know, but I noticed where the governor says he intends to enforce the anti-sorghum law if he has to declare martial law."

"Hard to tell what to plant."

"Yeah, I'll be glad when the district attorney makes up his mind."

U. S. Senators and Governors Endorse Nat'l Wool Week

Importance of Industry Is Stressed —Merchants to Feature Displays of Fabrics

United States senators and governors in wool-growing states of the nation have given hearty endorsement to National Wool week, November 9 to 14, in statements issued during the past few days. Approval is given through recognition of the value the week will bring to wool growers and the entire industry. Merchants all over the country will feature wool materials and fabrics during National Wool week.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, says "your efforts toward a National Wool week in order to call attention to this great American industry is most commendable. Anything that would increase the interest of the individual farmer in keeping a flock of sheep on his farm ought not to be neglected."

"Every farm as well as the farmer would be benefitted, not only in the increased product of the fibre, but also in increasing this most valuable meat product. With the increase of our own population and the cutting down of the size of the farm, both of which are inevitable, emphasis should be placed on the importance of maintaining this industry."

Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, is "entirely in sympathy with National Wool week and hopes it will be a success throughout the United States."

Governor Phillip F. LaFollette, of Wisconsin says "the Wisconsin department of agriculture and markets is co-operating to make this week of benefit to sheep growers. Sheepmen have been hit by the present crisis, but a nation-wide promotion of wool products may be of substantial assistance. Accordingly, I am asking the press of the state to aid our wool growers in their determination to make the week of November 9 to 14 a period during which all of the wool interests will co-operate throughout the nation to extend the use of their products."

Senator Arthur Capper, Kansas supporter of all things agricultural, says "National Wool week is a fine move from every standpoint. It should be of substantial value to sheep producers who have been facing real financial troubles because of low prices and high operating costs. By attracting attention to wool clothing it will be helpful in reducing the stocks of merchants. And it will be of real importance to consumers in calling their attention to the present bargains in wool clothing. It will be of substantial value to producers, manufacturers and consumers, the three most important factors in the industry."

Senator Lynn Frazier of North Dakota declares that "in order to make a success of this coming Wool week the manufacturers and merchants should cut their profits to the greatest extent possible in order that the people may buy the manufactured goods and thus create a better market for the future."

Wyoming's acting governor and both senators have promised statements approving Wool week, it has been announced. Montana also is active.

Advices from Utah state Governor Dorn will proclaim Wool week, as will governors of other western states. Governor Julius Meier, of Oregon, will endorse the week to Oregon wool growers. In Salt Lake City, Utah, and Portland and Boise, Idaho, chambers of commerce and civic clubs will unite in programs to usher in Wool week. Other cities in the wool-growing centers also will conduct programs to make the public more familiar with the "no substitute" qualities of woolsens and worsteds.

BLACK OR WHITE? HEN CHANGES COLOR

A leghorn hen whose feathers periodically turn from black to white and back to black again has been found among a flock belonging to Frank Suplee, registry assessor for Cheltenham township in Philadelphia.

Four years ago Molly was hatched with a brood of black leghorns. The first time she moulted, white feathers appeared, until no black ones were visible. Then at the next moulting period the process was reversed, white feathers appearing to take the place of the black ones.

LIONS ROAR

Twenty-two Lions and one visitor, Duke Bryson, of Uvalde, made the luncheon Monday noon.

John Eaton, only member of the program committee present, talked the club out of a $3 fine for not providing entertainment, placing the blame on the other two members.

President Neill called attention to the play to be given here Friday (tonight) and appointed a committee composed of George Baker, chairman, John Eaton and Tom White, to see to arrangements and publicity. Bill Gilmore was named by the president to act with the committee to see that it kept within the prescribed money limitations. The club is sponsoring the play, "Am I Intruding," which is being given by the Woman's Club of Rocksprings, and is anxious that a large crowd witness it.

Bud Smith notified the club that on Saturday, November 7, Troop 19, Boy Scouts, would make a drive for discarded clothing and other wearables to be given to the needy poor.

The secretary read an advance sheet from the publishers of a book called "Wild Women," with a request for the names of those who wanted a copy. So far not a single (nor married) Lion has handed in his name.

A proposition from Robert H. Berryhill, of San Angelo, to put on a musical recital here for the benefit of himself and the club, was voted down.

The entire Lions Club has been invited to be guests of San Angelo Lions some time in December, date to be given later, when Lion President Hyer is to be in San Angelo to present the Cowboy Band with a certificate showing them to be the Lions official band.

Lion Bill Fields furnished the luncheon with all the milk the club members could consume, after which Lion Neill placed him on the program committee for next Monday. The committee is composed of L. W. Elliott, Bill Fields and Miss Elizabeth Francis.

Bronchos Fail

of players being off-side, Sonora had the ball with 15 yards to go for first down. Ory punted 30 yards to Isaacs. The punt was called back and Eldorado was penalized 50 yards for unnecessary roughness, and was given possession of the ball.

Eldorado Scores Early - Without further ado the Eldorado boys marched the ball straight down the field for a touchdown, making the distance on a succession of power plays. To begin the march McGinty picked up 3 yards; Kerr made 6; McGinty plunged 10 yards and made a first down. Two plays netted 8 yards and McGinty carried the ball 3 for another first down. Smith made 5 and McGinty made 3 on each of two plays, for another first down. Sonora called time out.

Kerr made 3 yards, then 7 yards, for another first down. McGinty carried the pigskin three times for a total of 10 yards and another first down, on the Sonora 5-yard line. The Sonora defense stiffened and it took Kerr three plays to run the ball across the goal. Smith plunged across the goal for the extra point following the touchdown.

Kring's Punt Blocked - Isaacs kicked 55 yards to Archer, who returned the ball 15 yards for the Bronchos. Kring broke loose for a 25-yard gain at left end. On the Sonora 43 yard line Friess fumbled a high pass from center and Eldorado covered. On the next play McGinty fumbled and Ory covered the ball for Sonora on the 41-yard line. Archer's pass was incomplete and Sonora called time out. Friess lost 7 yards on an attempted pass behind the line. Archer was hurt on the play but stayed in the game.

Archer Makes Good Return - Archer made an excellent return of the Eldorado kick-off. Taking the ball on his own 7-yard line he returned it 28 yards behind good interference. On the next play Archer tossed a nice pass to Hill, good for 15 yards and a first down.

Reorganized Big Lake Bank Opens

Replaces Institution Closed Two Weeks Ago

The Big Lake State Bank opened its doors at Big Lake Friday morning, succeeding the First State Bank which closed its doors two weeks ago after thirty thousand dollars in deposits had been withdrawn. Stockholders in the new institution include about fifty ranchmen and business men.

After payment of the required $30,000, insuring reopening, by the bank, a charter was granted by the state banking department.

Officers of the new bank are: J. P. Kittrell, president; Max Schneemann, vice president; directors—J. P. Kittrell, Max Schneemann, J. W. Langford, J. A. Queen, Jno. O. Carr, C. E. Parish, R. D. Ferguson and Paul Halameck. Applications for the position of cashier are being considered.

Most of the depositors have agreed to leave their funds in the new bank with the privilege of drawing twenty-five per cent quarterly, beginning February 15.

Almost every business man in Big Lake has some stock in the bank. C. C. Sanders, president of the old institution, and Taylor Emerson, cashier, assisted in every way possible to reorganize the bank.

and giving Sonora the ball on the 50-yard line. Archer's pass to Hill was incomplete. Friess made 5 yards at tackle. A pass from Archer to Friess netted 12 yards and first down. Friess lost 2 yards, and Archer was forced back and downed for a 10-yard loss in an attempt to pass. He was knocked unconscious in the melee, and was taken out. Fields went in to play at quarterback, although Friess called the signals. Coach A. L. Smith appointed Ernest Smith, center, to act as captain, since both Archer and Pharis were out.

Ory got off a beautiful punt, the ball going out of bounds on the Eldorado 5-yard line. Eldorado took the ball and Smith made 4 yards, Kerr made 4, McGinty lost 1. On the fourth down Kerr kicked 30 yards to Ory, who was downed in his tracks. A bad pass from center went over Ory's head and in spite of a good return the play cost the Bronchos 14 yards. Ory kicked 50 yards and the ball was returned 10 yards by Isaacs to the Eldorado 18-yard line.

Half Ends Eagle Drive - The Eagles began a second drive toward the Sonora goal. Kerr made 8 yards, and Smith made 12 for a first down. Smith failed to gain, then made 4 yards. He then made 10 yards and first down. McGinty made 4 yards, but Eldorado was offside of the play and drew a 5-yard penalty instead. McGinty made 2 yards, Smith made 8 and Kerr made 5 for a first down. As the half ended Smith made 7 yards, placing the ball on the Sonora 27-yard line.

Between halves the rival pep squads invaded the field and entertained the crowd with stunts and yells, with the Eldorado girls going on first. The Sonora girls were led by Miss Pauline Turney, their leader. After forming letters of the high school and giving a number of yells they formed in a living wheel, and at the conclusion huddled together to release several bags of "Eagle" feathers.

Kring Makes Long Run - Kring started the second half with a bang. Grabbing the kick-off on his own 5-yard line, he raced back through the Eldorado boys to the 50-yard line before being stopped. Hill lost 5 yards on the first play. Kring made 5 yards, and Friess failed to gain. Ory kicked 50 yards to Isaacs, who was downed in his tracks by Hill, on Eldorado's 8-yard line. Smith made 5, and then tossed a 17-yard pass to Isaacs.

McGinty made 10 yards and first down. He then made 8 yards. A fake play was smothered and lost 5, but Smith made 8 yards and first down. Smith broke through on the next and threw Isaacs for a 7-yard loss. Smith made 4 yards on the next, but fumbled when tackled and Hill covered the ball, but the fumble was not a free-for-all and Eldorado kept the ball, kicking on the next play to Ory on his own 10-yard line. He was unable to return.

Kring Loose Again - Kring seemed to be the only man able to gain for Sonora. Taking Archer's 3-yard pass in the shadow of his own goal the Sonora ace fought his way 35 yards down the field before he was downed by McGinty. Archer's pass was intercepted by Isaacs for Eldorado. Isaacs tossed a 30-yard pass to Smith, but Eldorado was offside and was penalized 5 yards. McGinty failed to gain. Smith made a couple of yards. Sonora was offside on the next play; and Hill's shoulder was hurt in an effort to cover a fumble, although he stayed in the game. Smith made a yard. Isaacs kicked 25 yards and Ory fumbled the kick, Eldorado covering.

On the first Eldorado play Archer covered a fumble for Sonora. Eldorado was offside and was penalized 5 yards on the first Sonora play. Archer's pass was intercepted by Isaacs and returned 10 yards. McGinty lost 3 yards as the quarter ended, with the ball on the Sonora 49-yard line.

Last Quarter Is Ragged

Play during the last quarter was ragged on the part of both teams. McGinty made 2 yards on the second down. Isaacs' pass was incomplete. Isaacs kicked 35 yards and out of bounds. Fields went in for Archer. Ory kicked 40 yards and Eldorado called for a fair catch. Smith lost 3 yards for Eldorado. A pass was incomplete and on the third down a bad pass from center lost Eldorado 25 yards. Isaacs kicked 30 yards to Ory who returned 5 yards. Ory was getting the better of the punting duel.

Ory muffed a catch from center and lost 8 yards on the first Sonora play. Ory kicked high and 20 yards to Isaacs, who signalled for a fair catch and missed, with Hill covering the ball for Sonora, on his own 38-yard line. Kring's pass was intercepted but Eldorado was penalized 15 yards for interfering with the receiver and Sonora was given first down and possession of the ball. Sonora made another first down on a 10-yard pass from Kring to Hill. A pass from Ory to Hill was incomplete. A second pass was incomplete and Sonora was penalized 5 yards for it. Ory kicked 15 yards and out of bounds, on Eldorado's 35-yard line.

A pass from Isaacs to C. Kerr was incomplete. Allison, regular tackle, went in for Logan at right end. McGinty made a yard. A pass from Isaacs to West was good for 20 yards. No gain on the first down. Then a pass from Isaacs to Smith netted 15 yards. Isaacs made 5 yards. Isaacs was carried back for a 15-yard loss on an attempted pass. On the next play he received Smith's toss for a 3-yard gain. On the fourth down Isaacs kicked over the Sonora goal and the ball was brought out to the 20-yard line and given to Sonora.

Ory's 11-yard pass to Hill netted a first down. Kring made 7 yards. A long pass to Allison was incomplete. Smith blocked the next Sonora pass and the Bronchos were penalized 5 yards for a second incomplete pass. Ory's 35-yard kick was caught by Isaacs, who was downed in his tracks. Kring intercepted an Eldorado pass and returned 10 yards. Ory lost 10 yards on a bad pass from center. Ory's kick was good for 20 yards as the game ended.

Eldorado had scored 13 first downs to Sonora's 7.

Charles Fuller, charged with the death of Hugh Rutledge, of Sonora, was arraigned before Judge O. L. Parish, of the 119th district court in San Angelo Thursday of last week and Joe Mays and Hood Kizziar were appointed by Judge Parish as his attorneys. The trial is set for April 18, 1932.

Fuller is charged with murder in connection with the death, May 4, 1929, of Hugh Rutledge at McCamey. He jumped bond of $7,500 at San Angelo in June, and was recently arrested at his father's home in Sherman and returned to jail in San Angelo.

District Attorney Eugene F. Mathis will ask that bond for the man be set at $10,000 if bond is requested. Fuller's first trial in June, 1930, resulted in a hung jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wardlaw were in Sonora from the ranch Monday. Mrs. Johnnie Hamby and Carl Morrow spent several days in Burnett the first of the week, visiting Mrs. Carl Morrow, who is Mrs. Hamby's sister.

Mrs. Biddy Rutledge, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. George Russel and the latter's two little daughters, of Ozona, returned Friday night from a trip to El Paso, where they visited Mrs. Rutledge's daughter.
