Lions Hope To Boost Low Funds at Sale

The auctioneer's gavel will hammer down Tuesday night, September 29, at the 30th edition of the annual Lions Club Auction in an effort to replenish the Lions depleted treasury. Lem Jones of Junction will be the auctioneer for the sale, the only major fund-raising project of the Lions.

Herbert Fields, over-all chairman of the auction, and D. C. Langford, Downtown Lions Club president, both emphasized that a good response is especially needed this year. The Lions funds have been reduced by a substantial contribution to the new community swimming-pool. Club funds are used for the Fire Department, aid to the blind, the 4-H program, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Little League program, the wool show, West Texas Boys Ranch, and other projects for the benefit of the community.

The night's activities at the 4-H Center will begin with a free barbecue supper, which Fields says will start "promptly at 6 p. m." "And the auction will begin very shortly afterward, probably by 6:15," he continued. Items sold are contributed by ranchmen, businessmen, and individuals. More than 225 items, such as a load of black dirt, a quart of shelled pecans, fat lambs, dressed goats, a German chocolate cake, and a quart of fig preserves, all were sold last year by the auctioneer's spiel to raise $5,422.50.

Two-Vehicle Crash Sunday Causes Extensive Damage

A car-truck collision at First Street and Crockett Avenue at 11 a. m. Sunday blocked that portion of U. S. Highway 290 and caused traffic to be rerouted around the wreck site for nearly four hours.

Gail Espy and Carrie Eustace were the occupants of the car. James S. Arnold of Deming, N. M., driver for a Houston trucking company, was driving the truck-tractor loaded with 45,000 pounds of rice.

Only minor injuries were sustained in the accident. Omer Grelle, city marshal, who investigated the accident reports that the tractor was a total loss. The car was heavily damaged.

Prices for items often bear little relationship to their usual value. Last year Bill Wade paid $15 for a bonnet donated by Mrs. Robert Rees.

One feature of the "fund-raising fun" each year is the Mystery Package, which has been sold and re-contributed again and again for the past 27 years. Over the years, the package, which has never been opened, has brought over $1,300 to the auction. Last year it was donated by the First National Bank and purchased at an all-time high price of $120 by Ben Meckel. It is slated to be auctioned again this year.

Jimmy Hugh Harris, chairman of the livestock solicitation committee, says that ranchmen may take livestock contributions to the 4-H Center on the sale date or to the locker at any time before-

Emergency Loans Now Available

Due to drouth conditions, Sutton County has been designated an Emergency Loan Area, according to notice received from the State Director of the Farmers Home Administration by Patrick F. Sullivan, county supervisor for the agency.

Initial emergency loans may be made through June 30, 1965, to eligible ranchers and farmers for essential farm or ranch home operating expenses, the replacement of equipment, and replacement of livestock disposed of because of the drouth.

The interest rate is three per cent, and repayment schedules depend upon the purposes for which funds are advanced. Loans for replacement of livestock and equipment may be scheduled for repayment over several years.

Additional information may be obtained from Sullivan, who will temporarily be at the First National Bank on the first and third Wednesdays each month from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

CINDERS

By John T. King

Garage sales are the rage in Dallas. And there's going to be one in Sonora at the Rousselots Saturday. (See classified page.) The sales are lots of fun, and we hope they catch on to become a regular affair in Sonora. John Tedford warns that the only danger is that if you attend too many of the sales you're liable to end up having one of your own to get rid of the bargains you bought.

Leonardo Virgen brought in a peach blossom Tuesday from a mixed up peach tree. The tree had fruit like its neighbor trees this summer, but it is the only one putting on second blossoms. Although the flowers aren't as abundant as in the spring, there are a few blossoms on each limb. Virgen hasn't seen it happen before in the 75 years he's been around.

Mrs. Jack Wardlaw reports that her ranch which is leased to Buster Wardlaw has received nearly 23 inches of rain since August 16.

We were quite honored to receive a request from Publishers' Auxiliary for permission to reprint our August 27 story on printer's devils.

The Auxiliary, a trade publication almost 100 years old, calls itself "the newspaperman's newspaper" and is circulated coast to coast.

Pat Billingsley, since moved to Austin, thought up the idea for the feature story and wrote it, but I'm sure we're equally as proud as she is.

The letter, in part, says: "Since so many of us started in that spot, and since your article was so well illustrated and well written, we'd like to rerun it in Publishers' Auxiliary."

"May we have permission to pick up your story and the use of your photos? We'd like to use all three photos . . ."

"Congratulations on the story and I certainly hope you'll permit us to use it. I know our readers will enjoy it and appreciate your efforts."

Broncs Blast Rocksprings, Meet Iraan There Friday

By Gary McGilvray

The Sonora Broncos, led by Bill Elliott, crushed the Rocksprings Angoras with a score of 34-0 last Friday night in Bronco stadium.

Jerry Hopkins, Bronco coach, was pleased with the team's performance, and he expects another good showing Friday against Iraan there, the game that kicks off district play for Sonora.

In last Friday night's football game, Rocksprings received the ball first, but the team was unable to move against the tough Bronco defense, which allowed Rocksprings only one first down during the entire ball game. Sonora collected 16.

After the first series of downs, Rocksprings was unable to get a punt away because of a bad snap from center. They lost the ball to Sonora on their own 30-yard line.

On the Bronco's second play from scrimmage Elliott, quarterback, took the ball around right end for a 27-yard run and a score. The extra-point try was blocked.

After the ensuing kickoff, Rocksprings was forced to punt. The ball was received by Eddie Howell, who returned it 81 yards for the Bronco's second touchdown. John David Fields added the two-point conversion.

In the second quarter Sonora scored on a 75-yard drive with Howell, Fields, and Jerry Shurley gaining good yardage. Elliott again scored, this time from the two-yard line. The extra-point try was missed.

The Bronco's capped off the scoring in the first half with a 41-yard drive and an 18-yard pass play from Elliott to Ben Perez. Elliott carried over the two-point conversion.

The only score in the third quarter was set up by a pass interception by Mike St. Clair. Elliott scored from the four, and the extra-point try was missed.

Much of the credit for the victory should be given to the Bronco defensive unit, which held Rocksprings to only 55 yards rushing and 21 passing.

Area Declared Eligible For Emergency Feed

Because of drouth conditions, the Secretary of Agriculture had designated Sutton County as an emergency area eligible for assistance under the emergency livestock feed program.

Mrs. Lea Roy Aldwell, office manager of the Sutton County ASCS office, says that grain sorghum and corn will be available and will be ordered in 1,000 hundredweights as in the past.

Mrs. Aldwell says no details of the program have been received yet, but all producers will be notified of the provisions of the program as soon as the information is received in the ASCS office.

A JOB THAT NEEDS TO BE DONE

"In the old world people look to their governments to provide health and welfare service," states an editorial in the September, 1963, issue of The Electric Times. "In America, we take on the job for ourselves. In this lies a big difference.

"When the job of helping your fellow man is left to someone else, that someone else does it according to how he sees it. He may do the job or may not do it, according to the breadth of vision of the person administering the program.

"In our country the citizens decide the best way to help themselves. When they see a job to be done, they do it."

This idea is true of Sutton County also. When people here see a job to be done, they do it. And much of the good work has been accomplished in a united effort through the annual Lions Auction.

Funds raised in the once-a-year auction are used for the Little League program, Girl Scouts, the Wool Show, summer recreation program, school projects, West Texas Boys Ranch, Boy Scouts, the 4-H program, the swimming pool, the Fire Department, and aid to the blind.

Last year people from this area contributed $5,422.50 at the auction.

Once again this year we, the people of Sutton County, are being asked to give livestock, merchandise, and other items. And we are being asked to buy them back at outrageous prices.

Sutton County people contribute to the auction every year because they want to, because they see a job that needs to be done and they do it, because they know that wonderful things happen all year long to youngsters, to blind people, to the community as a result of the auction.

Philosopher Reveals How To Save Billion

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Devil's River reports on a money-saving idea in his letter this week.

Dear editor: People are always talking about how the government ought to save money but practically nobody tells exactly how.

Well, I got to thinking the other day while I was trying to get my mind off a stack of bills due the next day and this idea hit me. I know how the government can save around a billion dollars, which I admit is a piddling sum but after all every little bit counts.

As I understand it, it'll cost at least a billion dollars to put a man on the moon, but there's a place out in the state of Oregon called Bend which scientists claim is almost a duplicate of the surface of the moon, lava dust, pot holes, extreme heat in the daytime and cold at night. In fact, its wastelands resemble the moon's surface so much that they're going to put an astronaut in a space suit and let him wander around that area to see how he makes out. Scientists say it's the closest thing the earth has to the moon's surface.

Here's a place where the country can save a billion dollars. Instead of sending some astronauts to the moon, send them to Oregon. It's cheaper, it's safer, it can be done by jeep on home ground, and there's no re-entry problem. Just keep them out of bathtubs and they'll be all right.

I know that some people are going to say you shouldn't throw cold water on space exploration and that's not what I'm doing. Sure, space ought to be explored, but judging from those pic-were in Sonora Monday from the ranch. Will left for the Territory Tuesday to look after their stock interests up there.

Sutton County— Capital of the Stockman's Paradise

tures the moon rocket sent back, it sure seems like going a long way to walk around in lava dust, when we've got some just as good right here in our own country.

Now that I have saved the country a billion dollars, the next question is what to do with it or maybe a better one is, where is it?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

We changed the Buick a lot this year. And you may never be the same again yourself.

We doubt you'll want to be the same. Not once you set eyes on our new Buicks. On the Buick Special and the Skylark. The LeSabre, Electra 225, Riviera. And on the sleek, modified fastback of the wild, wilder, Wildcat in the picture.

True, there's a new high-style touch. But that's hardly all. Engineering still has the emphasis. It's a Buick tradition. So are the extras Buick spends a little extra on. Like finned brake drums that do a little better. And smoother drivelines. A tuned suspension to smooth ribcage roads. Now add Buick's Super Turbine transmissions—and you have an idea of what Buick owners have always liked about Buick. We think you'll feel the same.

Speakers at the event included Palmer West, Eldorado fire chief, and immediate past president of the State Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Association; A. E. Prugal, mayor; Web Elliott, county judge; and Bill Zoran, Del Rio fire chief.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possible establishment of a pension plan for the Sonora Volunteer Fire Department.

Heavy Rainfall Drenches Area

By E. B. Keng
Soil Conservation Service

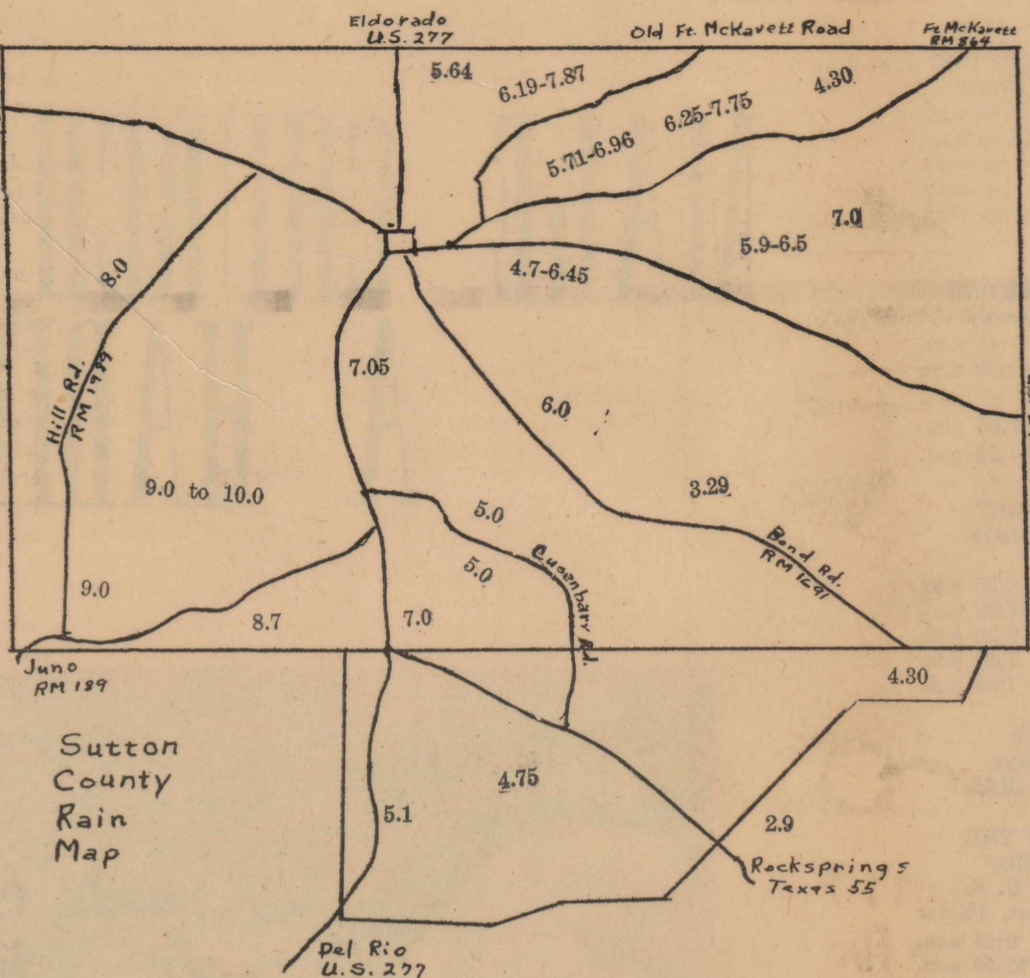

The heaviest general rains in many years drenched West Texas—and the Sonora area—from Sunday through Tuesday. Rains were falling again Wednesday morning. Rainfall totals of 5 to 7 inches were usual, with some ranchmen measuring over 9 inches for the three-day total.

Most of the rainfall was of the ground-soaking, drought-breaking variety with very little runoff. Some torrential showers fell, however, causing streams to flow. Sediment pools on four of the five flood prevention dams on Lowrey Draw were filled. Automatic drawdown pipes at structures on James Hunt, Ada Wynn and W. L. Miers ranches were discharging floodwater on Monday and Tuesday. All structures on Dry Devils River caught floodwater, but only Site 5 on the Lawrence Steen ranch was discharging.

Reports that some of the lakes were full of water were erroneous. Actually, none of the lakes were 10 per cent full. With the soil now soaking wet, however, a heavy rain on the watershed could produce runoff that would prove the dams very valuable.

Torrential rains fell Monday night in southwest Sutton county, overflowing some six-inch gauges. Soil losses were heavy and fences were severely damaged.

Representative rainfall totals for Sunday through Tuesday included J. A. Cauthorn 7.0 inches; Bobby Martin over 9 inches; John Cauthorn 8.7; Harold Schwiening 6.25-7.75; Thomas Morris 5.0; Fred Earwood 5.1; Herbert Fields 5.37; Gene Shurley 7.05; Glen Richardson (Edwards) 2.90; Robert Hardgrave

Boosters to Meet At Field House

Next week's meeting of the Bronco Booster Club will be held Monday, September 28, at the Bronco field house at 7:30 p. m., according to Jimmy H. Harris, club president.

Usual meeting place for the group is Central Elementary School.

At the meeting Monday, September 21, the Boosters discussed the possibility of getting a new film projector suitable for viewing football films. Norman Rousselot, secretary-treasurer, said the machine would be designed so that the film could be stopped and studied without damaging it.

Jerry Hopkins, football coach, discussed the Sonora-Rocksprings game and commented on movies of the action.

4-H Council Plans Year's Activities

Plans for the coming 4-H year were discussed at a meeting September 16 of the 4-H Council of adult leaders and the senior 4-H officers.

The Council selected adult leaders and 4-H leaders to perform duties concerning the county stock show and the spring training for judging events.

A rule passed that every member must be present for at least five meetings in order to be eligible to show livestock in the county show or to judge at contests.

In other business, the group discussed the organization of a rifle range team. Also discussed was the possibility of adding public speaking to the 4-H program in Sutton County if an adult supervisor could be secured.

The annual 4-H banquet for Sutton County is slated for October 24. Awards for last year's accomplishments will be presented, and the 4-H Beau and 4-H Sweetheart will be revealed then.

Flood Prevention Dams Show Value During Week's Rain

"Flood prevention structures have been performing a valuable secondary function during the current rain storm," E. B. Keng, Soil Conservation Service work unit conservationist, pointed out Wednesday.

Millions of gallons of runoff water is being recharged into the underground water strata through cracks and caverns above structures, Keng said. The Edwards Plateau limestone is characterized by many caverns which take water readily. This water is pooled to form fresh water underground reserves for industrial and agricultural use. The surplus is probably discharged in springs which originate on all sides of the Sonora-Eldorado-Ozona plateau.

"Flood prevention structures hold the runoff water up, allowing it to sink into underground reserves," Keng explained.

Observations made by the Agricultural Research Service on a number of wells in the Lowrey Draw watershed indicate a rise of 60 to 75 feet in the water table on the Ada Wynn ranch. This peak will probably level off after the present inflow ceases, and the water spreads out in underground channels.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

The Industrial Foundation - Tool for Community Development

In little more than ten years Industrial Foundations have been established in 182 Texas communities. These are communities — both large and very small — which have recognized the vital need for a community financing group in securing new industry.

Called by various names, the Industrial Foundation is a community-wide organization with the prime objective of creating payrolls. Its functions vary from community to community, but basically its purpose is to provide development funds for the land, brick and mortar required for new industry.

It is one of the best ways to show favorable community attitude towards new industry or to help finance the expansion of an existing local industry. By having community money invested in an industry the community becomes more interested in seeing that the industry profits and grows.

The Community Industrial Development Foundation is another PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

WTU's area development representatives have information about the creation of industrial foundations. These facts are available to growth-conscious communities on request through your WTU local manager.

MAKE CHURCH-GOING A HABIT

THE ROMANS MOVED RIVERS

In this age of technological wizardry never sneer at the past. The Roman engineers who designed this aqueduct in Spain were brilliant men. Skill such as theirs, more than the might of Caesar's armies, fashioned the vast civilization of the Empire.

In this age of scientific discovery never overlook the Truths long ago revealed.

Christianity was born in a remote province of ancient Rome. It suffered generations of persecution until it converted even its persecutors. And when barbarians overran the Empire, our faith found a foothold in their hearts as well.

In a civilization of modern marvels the Church still raises its towers of truth. And when, next Sunday, we come with our families to worship, somewhere a congregation will be singing:
O where are kings and empires now But, Lord, thy Church is praying yet— Of old that went and came? A thousand years the same!

The Devil's Workshop

An Idle Mind Column

By Della King

Jan McClelland, who was recently chosen to be a member of the Strutters at Southwest Texas State College, was featured in an article in the college newspaper.

The story told of the rigorous, muscle-pulling training which the members of the precision dance team undergo, and Jan was pictured learning to do the split.

Some 140 girls tried out for the 70-member group, and 39 new members were chosen this year. The Strutters practice hour after hour to perfect the routines which they perform at half-time at SWTSC football games. Jan says, though, that it is worth all the work, and of course, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McClelland, are quite proud of her.

It is perhaps unusual for a town the size of Sonora to have two members of such a group. Debra Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cooper, is in her second year in the Strutters, and she is an officer of the dance team.

We received a letter recently from Gordon Probst, who taught at the High School here last year. He is now living in Las Vegas, Nevada.

In addition to asking for a change of address on his newspaper ("I'm anxious to know how the Broncos are doing this season," he wrote), he also said to tell all his friends "hello."

"Hope everyone in Sonora is fine," he said. "I believe I've found the school system and location I've been looking for. Living and teaching here is really great!"

o o o

Most of us have at one time or another in conversations gotten so tangled with the grand-nephews and second-cousins-once-removed that we didn't know who was kin to whom.

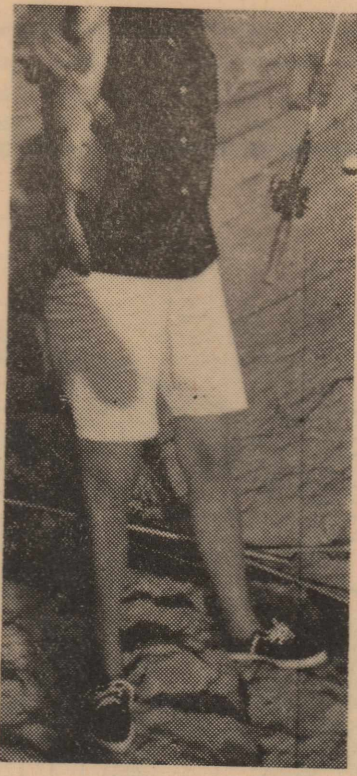

Mrs. Jack Drennan found the following anecdote which seems to be the ultimate in relative confusion:

"I married a widow with a grown daughter. My father fell in love with my stepdaughter, and married her—thus becoming my son-in-law, and my stepdaughter became my mother because she was my father's wife.

"My wife gave birth to a son who was, of course, my father's brother-in-law, and also my uncle for he was the brother of my stepmother. My father's wife became the mother of a son, who was, of course, my brother, and also my grandchild for he was the son of my daughter.

"Accordingly, my wife was my grandmother because she was my mother's mother.

"I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time, and as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I AM MY OWN GRANDFATHER.

Grandmother's way with hash can't be beat: Cut up soup or other leftover beef in bite-size pieces. Add equal portions of sliced potatoes and onions and a little stock or bouillon, steam until just tender. Pour fresh cream (or whole canned milk) over, correct seasoning, cook until hot through.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS Can David Save a Damsel in Distress?

David heard a woman scream as he was walking home. Upon investigation he found Pete Pancher beating a woman. The woman, who was Pete's wife, was bleeding badly.

David immediately separated the parties, wrestled Pete to the ground, and held him there while a friend called the police. In the struggle David's clothes were badly torn.

Later David sued Pete for damage to his clothes which were torn in the struggle.

"Who does he think he is?" asked Pete. "This guy comes in and starts fighting me while I'm having a discussion with my wife, and now he has the gall to sue me for his clothes that got torn. He had no business butting into our family discussion."

"It looked to me as if he was going to kill that woman," said David. "All I did was try to stop a fight. Besides, I didn't hurt him. I just held him until the police got there."

Does David have the right to make Pete pay for his clothing in this case?

Yes, said a New York court in a recent decision. The court, quoting Justice Cardozo, stated that danger invites rescue. The cry of distress is the summons to relief. The law does not ignore these reactions of the mind in tracing conduct to its consequences. It recognizes them as normal. The wrong that imperils life is not only a wrong to the imperiled victim, it is also a wrong to his rescuer. The risk of rescue, if only it be not wanton, is born of the occasion.

In this case David committed no crime. His actions were nothing more than could be expected from a reasonable person under the circumstances. No public interest can be served by a rule which would deter one person from coming to the aid of a fellow citizen who is in imminent danger of personal injury at the hands of assailants.

David won the case. (Based upon a recent New York court decision.)

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Today is '65 Pontiac Day.

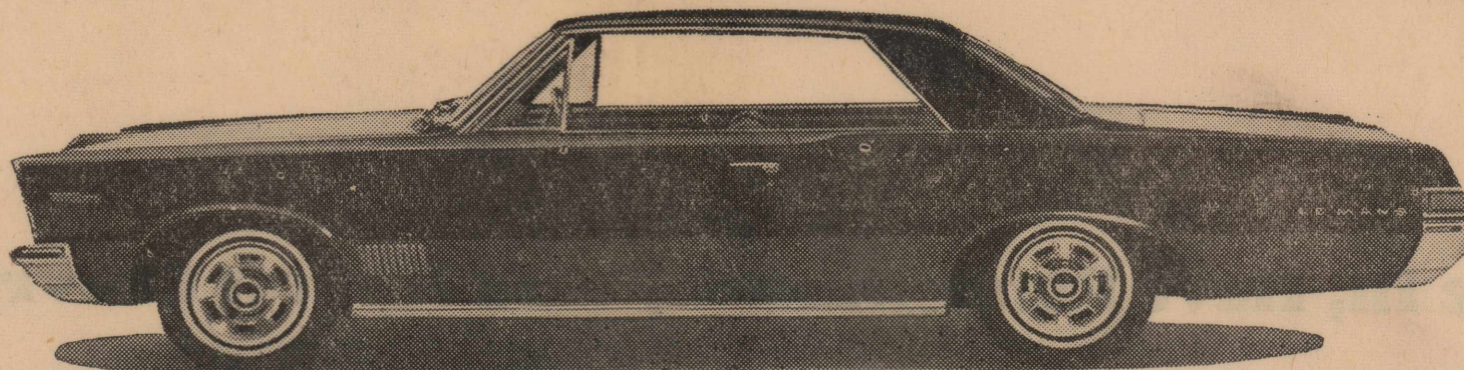

1965: The year of the Quick Wide-Tracks

What do we mean by "quick"? Just this: A new-all-over Pontiac offering a new Turbo Hydra-Matic—the silkiest, swiftest-shifting automatic transmission you ever touched a toe to; eager new Trophy V-8 power; new steering agility; a surer-footed Wide-Track ride. And a new Pontiac Tempest that's become even more of a Pontiac with new style, new length and Pontiac-quick reflexes to match. You never knew cars could be so beautiful, and so keenly alert to your touch. This is your year to drive a Wide-Track—quick!

'65 Pontiac Pontiac How does the success car outdo itself for 1965? Beautifully, just beautifully. But this Pontiac has no intention of getting by on looks alone, though it could. So there's new quickness, Pontiac style. A new nimbleness. New fuel savings. A smooth, easy new ride. Drive a '65 Pontiac and see how one success leads to another.

'65 Pontiac Tempest Tempest's even more of a Pontiac now, and what more could a car be than that! The '65 Tempest looks like a Pontiac, as you can see. Rides like a Pontiac on Wide-Track. Goes like a Pontiac, too: a 140-hp six is standard. Or you can get a quick V-8, up to 285 hp. You'll wonder how we can keep the price so low on so much car.

'Teach Children Four L's,' Lion Officer Stresses at Lions-P-TA Annual Banquet

"In addition to the three R's that our children should learn at school, there is an added obligation upon family, friends, and service organizations to teach them the four L's," Everett J. Grindstaff of Ballinger told Sonorans gathered at the Downtown Lions-Parent-Teachers Association banquet Tuesday night.

The governor of Lions District 2A-I explained the four L's as love of learning, love of liberty, love of law, and love of life. "I like to see a child challenged by a new idea or a new fact," he said.

"We want our children to have a love of life," he continued, "to give them the strength and courage and the confidence to face the problems that they will meet."

Herbert Fields, Lion vice-president, presided at the event, which is held annually to honor the faculty of Sonora Public Schools, and to allow parents to meet teachers.

Mrs. Bill Morris, P-TA president, introduced P-TA officers and announced that the first meeting of the group will be held October 6 at 2:45 p.m. in

The score in the "B" game was a little closer.

While neither team was able to score in the first half, Sonora was first to break the ice with Juan Jimenez scoring. However, the extra-point try failed.

The Ozona team scored late in the fourth quarter and added the two-point conversion to win the game 8 to 6.

Both teams will play Eldorado here Thursday, September 24. The junior game will begin at 5:30.

YOUR MINISTER

SAYS

By the Rev. Rodney Dowdy
Pastor, First Baptist Church

"SOUL TAKE YOUR REST"
Scripture: Luke 12: 16-21

Jesus taught in parables which we call illustrations. The parables were for the purpose of teaching a great truth. Jesus was seeking the importance of the soul and the priority of the Kingdom of God.

The man of whom Jesus speaks was not satisfied with earthly possessions. He had more than sufficient for personal needs so he considered storing up his possessions for the future. Here is a warning against covetousness and selfishness. A man can never be satisfied with things but desires to continue acquiring. Here is a battle between hoarding and sharing.

The man of whom Jesus speaks was too "near-sighted."

Because the man thought only in terms of storing up the harvest for himself, it is evident he closed his eyes to the needs of others. There is no mention of helping others less fortunate than himself. The reason the Good Samaritan is called "Good" is because he not only had compassion for the less fortunate, but he did something to help the man who was robbed and beaten. Many men feel they are a law unto themselves. But the Bible says, "No man liveth unto himself and no man dieth unto himself."

The man of whom Jesus speaks was doomed by success. Some men are doomed by their own success. They consider themselves as self-made men and are proud of their maker. Whenever this is the attitude of a man, he takes a lot of responsibility off God.

The man was foolish because he worshiped himself instead of God. He considered that which was his possession was as his own. This man did not remember what Job said: "Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither: the Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed is the name of the Lord." The man stuffed his body while he starved his soul. To gain the whole world is neither necessary nor profitable.

The man of whom Jesus speaks was called into sudden accounting. "It is appointed unto man to die and after that the judgement." Jesus speaks of the coming judgement as a thief in the night when a person is neither ready nor prepared for judgement. There was quick judgement. Death cuts off immediately from earthly possessions. This man gave up his soul for earthly possessions. He magnified the transitory things over the eternal.

Earthly possessions may be necessary for the existence on this earth, but earthly possessions are not everything. Here is a lesson concerning attitudes. Jesus was not condemning possessions and wealth, but Jesus was concerned about the man's attitude.

What is your attitude toward life? Let us be so big that we can't be little. Evaluate your attitude toward self — others — and God.

The 1965 Ford is the most-changed in the 15-year history of Ford Division. The traditional, round Ford taillight is replaced by a modernistic hexagonal shape in keeping with the crisp, elegant look of the new Ford. Luxury styling is combined with a luxury car ride described as so smooth and so quiet the heater and air conditioner fans had to be moved into the engine compartment because their low-toned whirr was distracting. A luxurious new Ford Galaxie 500 LTD series (above) features an interior of quality and style previously obtainable only in higher-priced cars. Five separate roof lines are offered with interior and exterior trim features to give greater distinctiveness to each of the 17 models than ever before.

The complete line of 1965 Fords — two- and four-door hardtops, sedans, convertibles and station wagons — will be introduced in Ford dealer showrooms on Friday, September 25.

Dry Fishing Ponds May Be Blessing, Says Game Expert

It seems it "is an ill wind" indeed "that blows no good." The Marion Toole, coordinator for inland fisheries for the Parks and Wildlife Department, "gets out of balance in from three to seven years. These places are seldom scientifically treated by removing the rough fish and the stunted species. So the dry spells, while working hardships otherwise, generally do a good job of readying the area for getting started all over again." Toole optimistically predicted that the revived fishing areas "will be ready for the fisherman quicker than most folks think" with good-sized bass and catfish "hungry and biting" within a year or two, and the pan fish even sooner.

Advertising and Installment Buying Are Key Forces in Expanding Economy

By S. S. Talbert, Ph. D.
Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

Advertising and installment buying have been damned and blessed as the chief engines of the American economic system. They are inter-related. Neither could be very effective without the other. Together they are the key forces in a continuously expanding economy. One produces the desire for something better; the other provides the means for obtaining new products.

Of course advertising and installment buying have been abused or misused. But the same is true of hoarding and economic timidity.

When they work together under normal conditions advertising and the installment system result in mass production and mass distribution which could not otherwise be obtained.

Those fearful of the system select insignificant samples. They overlook the direct practical benefits to the entire economy and to the individual whose lives are immeasurably enriched. Every major corporation borrows money for capital improvements. The improvements more than repay the loan and are made on that premise.

Only in recent years has the principle been applied to family finances. The young couple which enjoys a comfortable modern home and labor saving devices is probably acting more frugally than the couple who lives in a shanty for years hoping to save enough cash to buy a good home to live in.

The rent of a shanty is often equal to the installment payments on a good home. The time spent hand-laundrying clothing is usually worth a great deal more than installment payments on automatic home laundries. The waste of time and illness from hot and badly ventilated homes could often pay for climate control equipment. Thus, when advertising encourages installment buying, it is probably promoting an investment or saving.

Hunters Reminded To Show Courtesy

Hunters got a friendly warning from J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department, that their manners on location often times to go a long way toward landowners' receptions.

"Plus the age-old problem of gates left open, fences torn down, fields set afire, and livestock endangered," said Watson, "we now have a new and more poisonous plague. This is the 1964-model litterbug who has become the scourge of all civilization."

"We all know about the litterbug. Some of us unknowingly qualify for this parasitical pack. And some of us unknowingly close the door to being invited back. Because a farmer or rancher, besieged by nature's assorted problems, seldom has any patience left when he finds that hunters have scattered refuse all over his place and have generally desecrated the landscape."

Watson said he had received reports that some landowners in the Rio Grande Valley had become so annoyed by the expense of cleaning up after white-winged dove hunters that they are considering putting up "posted" signs for the first time.

The Executive Director, blaming much of the trouble on "plain unthinking carelessness," admonished hunters to "set up their own rules of conduct and just act like they were hunting on their own land."

"And," he concluded, "the old head in the hunting business knows best that after you have been the perfect gentleman a-field share your game bag with the landowner. And be sure that you pick his birds first, so that little extra tribute of gratitude definitely will be taken care of."

ACCENT ON HEALTH Childhood Diseases Can Be Dangerous

Are the "childhood diseases" here to stay? Is it still necessary to have a smallpox vaccination? Do babies inherit a "natural immunity"?

The "childhood diseases" are a myth. The fact is that these diseases are so contagious among children that most people have had them and thereby developed immunity by adulthood. But adults can and do catch them, and when they do they are sometimes much sicker than children.

Two of so-called childhood diseases—mumps and German measles—have special dangers for the adult patient. Mumps can be damaging to adults—both men and women. And German measles, when occurring in the early part of pregnancy, can result in damage to the unborn child. So, if you are exposed to any "childhood" disease and believe you have never had it, ask your doctor what you can do to protect yourself.

It is extremely important that you and your children keep protection against smallpox up to date. True, the absence of smallpox in this country has led to a lack of public concern about this serious disease, and large segments of the adult population are unvaccinated or require boosters. In some parts of the world smallpox continues to be a serious problem. If just one single undetected smallpox case should be introduced into a U. S. community, it could touch off a serious epidemic.

Is it true that a baby is protected by his "natural immunity" acquired from his mother? Some of a mother's natural or acquired immunities, if any, can be passed on to her unborn infant as her blood courses through the placenta that nourishes him, but this inherited immunity remains effective for only a short time. Bill McClelland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McClelland, will be taking sophomore and junior work at North Texas State College in Denton this fall. McClelland, majoring in banking and insurance, worked for the Texas Highway Department while home for the summer.

Every parent, medical authorities advise, should plan an immunization program beginning at six weeks of age against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, poliomyelitis and smallpox. Booster shots to maintain complete protection should follow at prescribed intervals throughout childhood and in case of certain diseases, well into adult life.

Deceased Veterans' Bridge Club Meets With Mrs. Peterson

Survivors May Claim Benefits
Widows and children of deceased veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict who have not yet applied for VA pension benefits, are urged to contact their nearest veterans service officer and file a claim for this benefit.

The law provides for pension benefits to the dependents of deceased veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict if the dependents meet certain income limitations with regard to income and the size of their estate. The veteran's death did not have to result from his active military service.

According to Charles L. Morris, executive director of the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission, there are a large number of widows and children eligible for this benefit who are unaware of their entitlement, because for some years these persons were not entitled to assistance from the Veterans Administration. He said that there are many widows and children who could benefit from this law by making application to the Veterans Administration.

Morris pointed out that the children of deceased World War II and Korean veterans are eligible to receive pension, even though their mother may have remarried since the death of her veteran husband, and even though the children may have been adopted by the mother's new husband. These children are eligible to receive pension while they are unmarried and under the age of eighteen years. They may continue to receive pension until age twenty-one, if they remain unmarried and are attending an approved school, and may receive pension indefinitely if they became physically or mentally incapable of self-support before their eighteenth birthday.

Unmarried widows and the custodians of dependent children may receive further information and assistance in obtaining these benefits by contacting any office of the Veterans Affairs Commission, or any Veterans County Service Officer, or from any office of the Veterans Administration.
