CO. OIL TEST IS DOWN 2,200 FT. FIRST OF WEEK

Drillers Strike Artesian Flow Of Water; Fast Hole Made.

Bailey county's first oil test well was reported down 2,200 feet the first of this week by visitors journeying there to witness the drilling.

Artesian water is said to have been struck at about 240 feet, the flow coming to the surface, proving of interest to farmers of that section for irrigation purposes.

Two offset wells from the Duggan No. 1, Cochran county discovery well, are to be started in the near future, according to reliable information.

The oil well being drilled 30 miles southwest of Portales, N. M., which last week in with oil and gas, has subsided, evidently only a pocket was struck.

Report received here Wednesday is to the effect that machinery is this week being unloaded about four miles east of the McCelvey land, will be spudded in close to the line between Bailey and Cochran counties, according to report.

Broadhurst Begins Plains Water Survey And Source Location

Following recent legislative authorization, W. L. Broadhurst has established an office in Plainview and will make technical investigations relative to the source and supply of water on the South Plains area, there being two principal opinions as to whether it is an accumulation of rains of past years or some of it comes from the mountains of New Mexico northwest of here.

The entire high plains area from Big Spring north and west, covering 46 counties, will be investigated by the State Board of Engineers working in conjunction with the U. S. Geological department, state and federal funds having been appropriated to carry the work on until September.

For sometime past Broadhurst and a crew of assistants have been going over various counties of this area checking soil formations, water levels and supply, some of them having been rechecked several times to determine if such supply remains normal or otherwise.

Many of the earlier wells drilled in this area are quite indeterminate as to soil strata since drillers did not keep logs of the different kinds of soil their drills passed through but more recently dug wells are said to furnish quite valuable information in this direction.

This survey is of vital importance to the Blackwater valley which is now rapidly coming under irrigation, some 85 or 90 wells, putting out from 500 to 2,000 gallons per minute, now being operated in this section, with others going down every week.

Conservation of this underground water is now thought to be a vital problem, at least until the source and supply has been positively determined.

IRRIGATION WELL AT LOCKNEY LAST WEEK TURNED "GASSER," FOUR MEN INJURED AS THE BLAST IS IGNITED

Explosion of gas in an irrigation well near Lockney, about 80 miles east of Muleshoe in Floyd county, which caused minor injuries to four men late Wednesday last week, has caused excited speculation as to whether the near disaster may lead to the finding of a new gas or oil field.

The explosion occurred on the Prance Cartels farm four miles north and one mile east of town while the men were engaged in repairing a pump on the well. The fact that gas still was "blowing" Thursday morning, although it stopped before noon, was the chief cause of excitement.

Men injured were Pete Jones, who received painful burns and will be incapacitated for several days, and J. T. Dillard, foreman, Buster Langford and S. J. Bullman, employees of the Baker Pump company of Lockney and Plainview, which has charge of the work. Dillard, Langford and Bullman suffered little more than lacerations by a blast of such violence that dirt from the well was blown nearly 100 feet in the air. Property damage was small.

According to report, the men had removed the pump and casing from the well, but thought they heard metal parts splash into the water approximately 200 feet below. Following a usual method, they saturated a piece of cloth with gasoline, lighted it and dropped it into the hole. The blast was instantaneous.

The injured men were brought to Lockney for medical treatment and many curious persons went to the scene of the explosion. Excitement became intense when they reported that the well still was "blowing" what they judged from the odor to be natural gas in spite of the fact that fire had not followed the explosion.

A gas expert has been sent for to make a thorough examination of the well.

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis
© Public Ledger, Inc.

WE SHALL begin our study of the language of the hand by consideration of fundamental elements. It is important that these be thoroughly mastered before progressing to the more complicated meanings of line and mounts within the palm. Study of hands by type is the first step toward proficiency in this age-old and fascinating science of character delineation.

The shape and structure of the hand instantly places it within one of seven classifications. Each type will be related upon as a definite index of the possessor's major traits and tendencies.

The seven types are:

First, The Primal Type, the hand of the materially minded.

Second, The Square Type, the hand of the doer of worth-while things.

Third, The Mental Type, the hand of the brain worker and philosopher.

Fourth, The Temperamental Type, the hand of the born actor, artist, poet or musician.

Fifth, The Spatulate Type, the hand of the nervous, highly strung creative man or woman.

Sixth, The Spiritual Type, the hand of the man or woman who lives on a high idealistic plane.

Seventh, The Intermingled Type, which partakes of several or all of the qualities found in the types just given, as illustrated above.

Fix these classifications and the qualities represented by each firmly in mind. These lessons which follow will describe the elements by which each type may be quickly recognized.

OF 4,000 WILD FLOWERS GROWING IN STATE OF TEXAS, THE PLAINS AREA ENDOWED WITH MORE THAN 60 KINDS

Approximately 4,000 different kinds of wild flowers are to be found in the State of Texas, according to authoritative botanical information, at least 60 species of that total being located on the South Plains area. Right now probably 25 or 30 different varieties are in blossom and fragrance.

Most noticeable has been the red star-mallow, so called because the bloom is a bright orange red, and the tiny hairs on the plant make tiny stars which show up under a magnifying glass; next is the wild honeysuckle, green or in clumps of palest pink to bright pink, low on the ground; wild verbena or sweet williams, are becoming plentiful in several varieties, from those with tiny blossoms not much bigger than a pin head to the old East Texas size; there's the purple phacelia and a few white ones flat on the banks of the barrow ditches, and occasionally the lavender plumes of the penstemon two kinds of yellow buttercups, or primroses—the big one we all know and the little square bud which is just opening up—the white primrose is plentiful and covers many fallow fields; wild onion and crow weed have done their part and are about gone; daisies—just opening up, the Anglemann's or cut-leaved, the huiscake with straight stem and clasping leaves, and soon the sleepy or lazy daisy that opens about noon—these are yellow daisies, no white ones on the prairies yet; another one just blooming is the "scrambled eggs" or Texas Corydalis—if you see the canary yellow blooms in the top of a low clump of green you will be able to understand why it is called scrambled eggs, but not why it is corydalis; soon the lake borders will be bright yellow with the five-leaved thersma; there will be bitter-weed, yellow too, and some tiny white asters.

The bluebonnet is the Texas official flower, one of the most lovely of nature's wild creations. Below the caprock it is found in profusion, often acre after acre blowing away in fragrant blueness; but though many have tried to raise them or transplant them to grow on the Plains area, it is not known of any who have succeeded. Apparently the attitude is too high for their growth.

What is the "Low-price Field"?

YOU hear a lot about "the low-price field" these days. A good many cars claim to be in it. So whether the low-price field is mentioned, remember:

Until Ford came, no average American could own a car.

Today all Ford prices are still low — with the prices of the 60-horsepower Ford V-8 $30 to $60 lower than those of any other car of comparable size.

But with Ford, "low price" doesn't merely mean low figures on the price tag. It means much more than that. It means low prices and low costs all the car's long life. Low prices for service — for parts — and, above all, for operation.

Both Ford V-8 engine sizes are economical to operate. The 85 horsepower gives greater gasoline mileage this year than ever, and the "60" delivers the highest mileage in Ford history.

Private owners, cab companies, fleet operators all report that the "60" averages from 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Check and see how much Ford saves you.

OLD RUSSIA IN ALASKA

ALASKA is a country that has been under three flags. First owned by Great Britain, it was ceded to Russia in 1854 and that country sold it to the United States for $7,200,000 in gold in 1867. "Seward's folly," the deal was called at the time. Although seventy years have passed since then, visible traces of the influence of Old Russia are still to be seen in Alaska. The Russian church in Sitka, pictured above, is of interest to the thousands of tourists who visit Alaska annually and the old block house, also at Sitka, is another favorite spot with visitors.

BULL ELK IS FAMILY PET

WHEN she tires of the piled-up peaks around her home and the radio fails to produce a good program, Mrs. L. A. Smith, wife of the Canadian National Railway section foreman at Geikie station, in the heart of Jasper National Park, Alberta, can always call into the bush and hold conversation with "Beauty," her pet elk. For five years now Beauty has kept up his acquaintance with Mrs. Smith even though it is sometimes hard on the Smiths. In addition to sundry vegetables and loaves of bread, this eighty-year-old bull elk consumed two crates of apples this winter and spring. Those, Mrs. Smith explains, are his desert. From November to May, Beauty is the Smith family pet. He then becomes a travelling man. "But," says Mrs. Smith, "he doesn't fail to come at my call when his playday days are over. It will be his sixth anniversary with us next fall."

Every Great Attempt is Glorious Even If It Fails

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Let thy garments be always white; and let thy head lack no ointment.—Ecclesiastes 9:8.

Cleanliness of body was ever esteemed to proceed from a due reverence to God.—Bacon.

THE AGE LIMIT

For some reason we're not hearing so much about the "age limit" in industry now that jobs are becoming more plentiful, and it is well. If there ever was a foolish argument it is that a man loses his usefulness after he passes the age of 45. Possibly no man is better qualified to speak on the subject than is Henry Ford, largest individual employer of labor in the world. He is on record as saying that a man's most valuable years are those after he is 40; that he has not, lacking experience, the sound judgment needed in most lines of industry, and the majority of men in key positions in Ford's plants, and the men closest to him, are men past the 45-year mark.

Glance around Muleshoe and note the good work being done by men who are over 45 years old and you will have a better idea of how foolish this "age limit" talk sounds. Go anywhere else and you will find the proportion as great as it is here. Young heads are essential in business and industry, of course, but the day has not yet arrived when the world can get along without older heads, men of experience, judgment, calmness and wise counsel when it is desperately needed.

The lamented Will Rogers, speaking some years ago on this same subject, said: "Young men are all right in industry, but I've noticed it's most always an old man that owns the whistle—and an old man that blows it." It will always be so, regardless of any argument that a man's usefulness departs when he passes life's 45th milestone.

FIRE AND CHILDREN

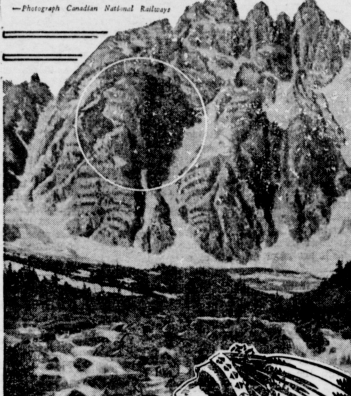

Statistics show there's a fire a minute in the United States, and two-thirds of all of them occur in homes. With that in mind Muleshoe parents should take steps immediately to safeguard their children more than they have been accustomed to in the past. Don't leave small children at home alone, and don't harbor a fire hazard.

PEOPLE OF THE U.S. SPEND $2,000 EVERY YEAR FOR RAT TRAPS... 'EM THEY DON'T INCLUDE OUR LAW ENFORCEMENT COSTS EITHER.

NATURE AS A SCULPTOR

—Photograph Canadian National Railways

to know; but the fact remains that it has come to be a habit with almost every town and city in the land.

One side brings in experts to prove that the other side brings in experts to prove that the other side is wrong. The use of good, old-fashioned common sense seems to have gone out of style despite the fact that this country was founded on it and thrived on it for more than 400 years.

Cities and towns all over the United States are spending vast sums yearly for expert advice when there are wise heads in these same communities capable of solving their problems without outside help if local politics and local "pull" could be kept out of it. You'll find few calls are being sent out for experts in communities where citizens pull together, work for the common good of all and refuse to recognize the man, or the group of men, who always have an axe to grind.

Jaunty Journalists

A Muleshoe man with callouses on his hands is seldom ever heard hollering for help.

As a rule it isn't long after a Muleshoe man begins courting trouble, that he finds himself married to it.

Since Dame Fashion decrees that women's skirts shall be shortened to the knees it means Muleshoe men will have something to look at beside hats.

Another trouble is that many Muleshoe people are willing to give a piece of their tongue but unwilling to lend an ear.

It may be some Muleshoe people are called "the salt of the earth" because of the constant habit they have of getting fresh.

A "raise" is the increase in pay a Muleshoe man gets just before he goes into debt for a lot of things he could get along without.

Fathers' day comes next, and most Muleshoe fathers would appreciate having the use of their own car that one day of the year.

One thing for which Muleshoe folks may be thankful is that the average day-dreamer here doesn't make as much noise as the night kind.

Beautiful young women go to Hollywood at all times of the year, but it's only in the springtime that files receive the screen test in Muleshoe.

Twisting Bobby Burns' famous lines, it might not be a bad idea for some Muleshoe folks to "hear themselves as others hear us."

A good deal of bitterness could be avoided around Muleshoe if everyone could be made to understand there are two sides to every question.

No Muleshoe man has a right to believe everything is going to be all right until he does his best to make it that way.

The only sit-down that really appeals to the average Muleshoe man is

Howard Carlyle and young son were out walking a few afternoons ago and Dad was explaining to the lad that in the ages gone by all this plains area was a great ocean inhabited by all kinds of strange fish, before the big push-up came. Just then the youngster cried out: "Look here, daddy, is an empty sardine can!"

A Muleshoe woman told us the other day that these "Why Grow Old" recipes appearing daily in the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram would make any woman old and broken down to try to keep up with them, intimating at the same time men got more kick out of them than did women because of the shapely limbs shown in the exercise illustrations.

Rufus Gilbreath, who has been selling Grape Nuts this spring with a guaranteed germination of 99 1/2 per cent, is now offering oyster shell to farmers having lakes on their farms and desiring to raise the crustacean bilvalves. One purchaser recently reported he tied a wiggle-tail to a piece of the shell before planting and it sprouted a young alligator.

Reading a few days ago where the 20 months old son of Charley Guy, prominent Lubbock editor, fell from the back seat of their auto and required several surgeon's stitches to sew him together again, and recalling that Charley himself, some weeks ago made a very unsmooth landing from the hurricane deck of his horse, George Wood, well known local wit, remarked that family was certainly following in the footsteps of the former Prince of Wales—and if continued, folks might know what to expect.

It is reported that the immense sale of a certain highly advertised patent medicine may eventually put Muleshoe doctors out of business. One Model T Ford owner is said to have recently injected a bottle of that highly publicized fluid into his car greatly improving its circulatory system and giving it added pep equal to a 1937 V-8. He is now being urged to buy six bottles for with the idea of converting his antiquated bus into a modern Rolls-Royce.

A REAL MAN!

The definition of a real man, as given by The Southwestern Ambassador goes like this:

A real man never talks about what the world owes him, the happiness it deserves and the chances he ought to try to get to have, and all that. He works just what he wants, and he does not want pulls and favors, but he does not want honest work. He does not want something or nothing, so the get-rich people can not use him. He does a little more than he promises. He has excused for others, never for himself. He is patient and charitable to others; to himself he is strict.

STUCE MILLER NAMED DIRECTOR

WHAT DID YOU KNOW IT?

"Believe It Or Not" Ripley says the following cities have had the honor of being the capital of the United States: Philadelphia, 1774-76; Baltimore, 1776; Lancaster, 1777; York, 1777; Princeton, 1783; Annapolis, 1783; Trenton, 1784; New York, 1785.

Washington is not the capital, nor is it a city.

SNAP SHOTS

The government may be asking the right; but it doesn't seem to be softening them.

Weak coffee is given for the cause of many divorces; but it doesn't seem to be sufficient grounds.

Pavement Pickups

WEEKLY LAY SERMON

NATIONAL RUIN

By JESS MITCHELL

Just because this nation has begun to climb up out of the recent economic depression is no sign it is very much better off. Money and goods are not everything; there are other factors quite more important in the welfare of a nation and its people.

Some years ago on the shores of the cis-Atlantic a group of paleontologists, archeologists and other scientists, armed with spades, shovels and crow-bars, started looking for the ancient nation of Babylon and the carquois of Nebuchadnezzar, its ruler, buried more than 2000 years ago. History tells us Babylon was the greatest city of earth, larger than London, New York City, Berlin or Moscow, and noted for its wealth, finery and magnificence. No other city ever equaled its pomp and splendor. Notwithstanding, it was considered as impregnable as our modern Gibraltar, yet General Cyrus marched in through its dried river-bed and wrecked it.

Since there are numerous other nations which have fallen for the same reason as Babylon went down, I am impressed that nations have mortality the same as people. Like humans, they are born and decayed; they have a cradle and a grave. Some are overrun and throttled by other and stronger nations, some deliberately assassinated, while still others commit suicide. Just because America, which is still quite a young nation, is alive today, is no reason it will be 25 or 50 years from now, for there are factors now working within which may be its eternal undoing.

Call the roll of dead nations and among them you will find Egypt, Assyria, Israel, Phoenicia, Rome and a host of minor ones that have long ago become covered with the dust of time, while there are several today living in dread threat that their careers may be soon cut short.

Among the various contributing factors toward the ruin of this nation may be found political bribery and chicanery, of which there is certainly too much for continued democratic health. Who's states have become scourged with it. Wall street is not alone to blame, by any means. The success of most elections now days depends more on money than mentality, on price rather than principles. There is very little direct evidence of a convicting nature; but plenty of the circumstantial kind that would be terribly damaging if it didn't also implicate those who testified. It is an old saying, "where there is much smoke, there is some fire," and there are times when the fire smokes, the smoke, while some of our citizens are so politically rotten, when they die, will probably have to climb up to reach hell.

Another evil threat to the destruction of American institutions is the state of public morals. That was what killed Babylon and largely contributed to the death, throes of many other nations now extinct. Depravity, fraud, drunkenness and lechery that destroyed other nations will eventually get America, if not corrected. Regardless of the contention of some that the social and moral status of our people today is on a par with that of past years, the knowledge of certain conditions existing makes a prompt demand for formaldehyde, carbolic acid and other fumigation. Apparently, in some instances, morals have sunk to such a low depth there is nothing beneath.

Young people of today say the marriage institution amounts to but little. The companionship plan has brought it down to a mere sexual contract, while one out of every four serious solemnized ceremonies now goes to pieces on the rocks of the divorce court. Sacred sexual expression has lost 100 percent of its soulful sanctity. Men who swapped old wives, for young now have no hesitancy in swapping a young wife for another young one, while many young and middle-aged wives are continually trying to better their financial status by divorcing old husbands for new.

There is enough out-and-out licentiousness in American cities today to bring down the wrath of the Almighty who, on August 24, 1779 buried Herculaneum and Pompeii so deep in ashes that during the subsequent 157 years archeologists have not been able to complete the exhumation. Everywhere there are ulcers on the body politic, social and economic that bleed and gangrene away the chastity and honesty of the nation, so great in many instances salves and silken bandages will not cure them; but the surgeon's scalpel and caustic acid are necessary to cut and burn deep for their cure and annihilation.

There is an ancient legend of a marine reptile, the cephalopods, which wrapped itself about a ship of war and crushed it to pieces; but it is no mere superstition that the valid history of many dead nations of the past has been caused by the same moral cephalopods that will eventually crush out the life of this nation unless quickly corrected.

The future of America is going to be largely decided by the present. Politics now living must make America safe for future generations. You and I have within us the power by conscientious action, by high ideals, by earnest conviction, by tenacious and unflinching by keeping on the right side of social, moral and economic question—we have the power, to become the Hercules to slay the hydra that is now subtly fattening itself upon the seeds of present humanity and gnawing in blood-thirsty manner at the very vitals of our national welfare.

Of course, it will not be very long before it will make no difference with you and me what shall be the course of this nation, so far as our earthly comfort is concerned. All we shall have need of in America will be just a little plot seven by three feet and some will require only a little crypt for holding their ashes which have come from some incinerator. However, many living today have an anxiety about the welfare and happiness of the generations that are coming on. We want to leave this world and this nation a better place than we found it. We want to make the path of human travel a little smoother and a little easier for our children and grand-children.

Comparatively few are doing little in this direction. Many realize the need, yet remain inactive. A New Deal in economics is desirable; but a new and Greater Deal in social relations is paramount for America to keep her "place in the sun" and defeat the monster that destroyed Babylon.

First Use of Word "Symposium"

Both Plato and Xenophon used the word "symposium" as the title of a work describing the conversation of Socrates and others. Since then it has come to mean a discussion.

Campers And Other Vacationists Given Warning By Doctor

Austin, May 11.—As the summer season approaches, a word of warning is timely to prospective campers, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, summer vacationists, fishermen, and others who enjoy getting out into the open, relative to the possible dangers that may be encountered from the standpoint of contracting infection under the changed environment. This is especially true of diseases that may be transmitted through air and water supplies.

Typhoid fever is a disease the amount of which is greatest, as a rule, where there is the least sanitation. It is an unnecessary and preventable disease. It is spread from person to person by water, milk, fingers, flies and food. Every case is contracted by taking into the mouth some substance contaminated with typhoid organisms, and these occur only in nature in the bowel and bladder discharges of persons sick with typhoid or from carriers, persons who still harbor the germs in their systems.

Persons planning a vacation or trip where sanitation may not be rigidly enforced or where food handlers are not regularly examined should protect themselves against this disease by being vaccinated. Three inoculations with typhoid vaccine, a week apart, are necessary to secure protection against this disease and the immunity established is good for two years, the purity of water or milk cannot be judged by looking at it. Play safe and have your doctor protect you.

State Highway Group Show Interest In The Completion Of Roads

At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held last Friday noon, various members of the local delegation attending the banquet given to members of the State Highway commission at Amarillo, Thursday night of last week made report of contact with such officials relative to further work on the North and South highway through Bailey county. They were advised by Chairman Bobbett and Member Hines that completion of this road was being looked forward to as soon as funds were available.

There was considerable discussion relative to the merits of the Conservation act recently passed by the Legislature and of the benefits to accrue from such measure to Bailey county as one of the group of 32 counties included in the new law.

A delegation plans going to Austin, next Monday to meet with the State Highway Commission relative to further road improvements in this county.

Forrest Service Will Grow 4 Million Trees Near Plainview In 1937

Production of four million trees for the U. S. Forest service on its 45-acre leased tract northwest of Plainview is expected this season, according to E. L. Perry in charge of production.

The trees are to be from 18 to 24 inches tall before transplanting for national shelterbelt purposes. An irrigation well has been dug on the tract and wired to 600 gallon of water production per minute for irrigation of the seedlings.

Seed of various species require different treatment for planting. Some are treated in dilute sulphuric acid to break down the hard case. Some are stratified, a process in which two-thirds part moss and one-third seed are processed through the winter in cold storage. Heavier seed are planted in dry soil and the land irrigated, while lighter seed are planted in land that is thoroughly moist.

Varieties for the Plainview seedling plant are walnut, persimmon, Russian olive, American plum, hickory, white, red, raw, bals, dune, Chinese and American elm.

Fourteen acres have been planted with seedling progresses at the rate of about two acres per day.

Behind a tractor two seeders ride. They drop the seed through a hopper into the furrow, which is covered by discs set at an angle.

Many farmers who obtained loans last year will not need to claim loans this year, according to report, while a large number of the 1936 loans have already been repaid the government in full.

It is anticipated the loans placed in Bailey county will total in the neighborhood of $125,000.

LUNCHEON DISHES

FOR a most tasty luncheon dish, try the following when it is convenient:

Casserole of Noodles and Tuna Fish.
Take two cupsful of uncooked noodles, one pound can of tuna fish, one-fourth cupful of chopped pimiento, two cupsful of drained, canned peas, two cupsful of thin white sauce and buttered crumbs. Cook the noodles until tender in three quarts of boiling water to which one tablespoonful of salt has been added.

Drain and place a layer of noodles in the bottom of a buttered baking dish, then a layer of fish, pimiento and peas. Season well and repeat until all the ingredients are used. Pour over the white sauce and top with a thick layer of buttered crumbs. Bake until brown.

Chicken Pie Supreme.

Cut up a cooked chicken and arrange in a large casserole in layers with uncooked rice, add small onions, broken mushrooms and a few peas. Dot each layer with butter, using two layers of chicken. Pour over well-seasoned chicken broth, season well, cover and cook until the rice is done. Uncover and place very small baking powder biscuits over the top or well-browned croutons.

Orange Tapioca.

Take four tablespoonfuls of quick cooking tapioca, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one and one-third cupsful of boiling water and cook in a double boiler for 15 minutes, or until the tapioca is transparent, stirring frequently. Add one-half cupful of sugar, and when well mixed a cupful of orange juice and the grated rind of half an orange. Stir until cool. When cool fold in one-half cupful of whipped cream. Pile in sherbet glasses and serve.

Spanish Sandwich.

Chop enough green pepper and onion to make two tablespoonfuls each. Cook until a light brown, in one tablespoonful of butter. Add a cupful of thick tomato pulp and simmer five minutes. Stir in one cupful of soft, grated cheese, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of paprika and one well-beaten egg. Cook just a moment and serve spread on finely buttered toast—cover with another slice.

Humble Work

It is a great mistake to suppose that the best work of the world is done by people of great strength and great opportunities. It is unquestionably an advantage to have both these things, but neither of them is a necessity to the man who has the spirit and the pluck to achieve great results. Some of the greatest work of our time has been done by men of physical feebleness.

Sword Thieves Were Menace

In the Seventeenth and early Eighteenth centuries London had to cope with "tail-drawers," sneak thieves who snatched "gentlemen's swords from their sides at the turning of a corner or in a crowd."

Makes Wardrobe for Baby

"My husband took our old victrola, an upright one, and made a wardrobe for the baby, who is a year old," said Mrs. Lena Daniels, cooper of Joyland.

Mr. Daniell removed the music part and put a top made of lumber on it. He added a rod the full length of the cabinet, and made hat racks of pasteboard. She has put pockets in the little shoes. They painted the inside white to make it light and painted the outside to match the rest of the furniture. The total cost was 80 cents.

The baby's clothes do not wrinkle and are better cared for; the child will be taught to take care of its clothes.

Improves Clothes Closet

"I would not have improved my clothes closet and added a rod for the children's clothes if I had not been demonstrator," said Mrs. Sam Richardson, clothing demonstrator of the Maple home demonstration club. She says this rod for children's clothes has already been of much help to her, for she can send the six year old boy to the closet for clothes and he can get them without pulling down anything else.

Mrs. Richardson made the rod for children's clothes out of an oil cloth pipe. She papered the closet with left over paper and painted the woodwork white to make it light and prevent moths. There was no expense to the improvement made.

Has Fresh Vegetables in Cold Frame

"We have been eating spinach, onions, mustard, lettuce and radishes that grew in my cold frame," said Mrs. J. J. DeShazo, cooper of the Muleshoe home demonstration club.

As she pulls up vegetables she will have another crop planted in the middle so she will have something growing all the time. Besides the vegetables mentioned above, Mrs. DeShazo has planted beets, carrots, tendergreens, English peas and parsley.

Family Will Not Drink Milk

"I had a time getting enough milk in each day's menu when I followed the daily meal plan I made at the club," said Mrs. Tygett, cooper of the Enochs home demonstration club.

Mrs. Tygett has one child and two adults in her family and they need two quarts of milk each day, one quart for the child and a pint for each adult. She says her family will not drink milk and she has to serve white sauce, ice cream, boiled custards, creamed vegetables and other foods that are cooked with milk. Milk is a very important food because it contains so much calcium, which builds bones and teeth. Everytime the heart beats calcium is required.

Find Family's Food Short

"I was surprised to find my family had not been getting enough citrus fruit or tomatoes and leafy vegetables," said Mrs. Guy Berry, cooper of the Enochs home demonstration club.

Each member of the family needs tomatoes or citrus fruit every day; one serving of leafy green or yellow vegetables each day; milk, one pint for adults and one quart for children each day; other vegetables; potatoes every day; other fruits every day; meat or meat substitute which is eggs, dried peas or beans and cheese; bread, break fast foods, rice, macaroni, sweets and

More Mileage to you— BREAD & BUTTER TO ME

My station is all on its own. My living's got to come mostly from just you people right here. I want your steady trade, so's to build a real growing business. And there's where it helps me a lot, I can tell you, to be selling Conoco Gern Processed oil. You see it makes customers and keeps them for me. It's patented—the only oil that can Oil-Plate your engine. Meaning that a definite part of this oil always fastens direct to every working part... forms a real Plating of oil, which can't run down. Other oils will "dry off" every time you park, but Oil-Plating can't, so you'll never make any hard, grinding starts. And that ends the worst wear of all. Or when you're hitting it up all day, you won't find this real Oil-Plating rubbing right off, like just some plain little drops of oil. Oil-Plating's not thinning out either, nor burning right up. Which gives you mighty solid reasons why Oil-Plating means more mileage from your engine and your Conoco Gern Processed oil. Besides making customers, I get a kick out of changing you to an oil I can believe in myself, right to the limit.

County Agent Will Assist Owners Who Need Worm Control

Farmers and stockmen will in the near future be confronted with the usual problem of screw worm control. The benzal and pine tar oil treatment introduced last year by the Division of Screw Worm Control, Department of Agriculture, proved very successful and it is expected many livestock owners will continue control work according to methods used in these demonstrations.

Although district supervisors will not conduct demonstrations as they did last year according to information recently received by W. C. Taylor, county agent, the division in charge of this work will cooperate to retain the same high degree of control of the pest by supplying dealers in infested areas with lists of manufacturers who will furnish materials at the lowest possible cost.

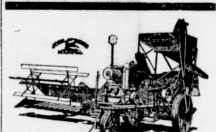

Owners of livestock should keep on the look-out for the appearance of this pest and take immediate steps toward proper control. The county agent may be in position to give advice as to the kind of materials recommended and where they may be obtained readily.
