Relay For Life May 8, 2009

By Stacy Fisher

Sonora's walkers go around the clock in the battle against cancer during the American Cancer Society Relay For Life. This celebration of life brings together numerous groups and individuals concerned about cancer in a unified effort to fight back. Teams of enthusiastic citizens will gather at Bronco Stadium for an overnight relay from 7 p.m. on May 8, 2009 until 7 a.m. on May 9, 2009 that celebrates anyone who has battled cancer, remembers loved ones lost and empowers all to fight back against the disease.

Relay For Life is a unique fundraising event that allows participants from all walks of life - including patients, medical support staff, corporations, civic organizations, faith-based groups and community volunteers — to join together to fight cancer. Relay For Life reminds us that progress has been made in the fight against cancer and that everyone who participates is making a difference. This year we have a goal of $60,000 and we are almost half way to meeting that goal.

Relay For Life opens as cancer survivors (anyone who has ever been diagnosed with cancer) take the first lap. This emotional time sets the stage for the importance of each participant's contribution. A festive atmosphere always develops around the track area at Relay For Life events. As participants make new friends and spend time with old ones, the Relay celebration and camp-out begins. Team members come together to celebrate, barbeque, play games and walk the track for a great cause. From 10:30 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. the Lion's Club will be serving coffee and cooking breakfast starting at 12:30 a.m. for those that can endure the long night.New for 2009 is the "Fight Back" Ceremony, in which a community leader inspires Relay participants with his/her own commitment to tangibly battle cancer, and he/she challenges them to make a personal pledge to take action (e.g., stop smoking, eat more healthily, exercise regularly, etc.)

Highlighting the evening is the Luminaria Ceremony and Slideshow, held after dark to honor cancer survivors and to remember those who have lost the battle against cancer. Hundreds of lit luminaria bags line the track and are left burning throughout the night to remind participants of the incredible importance of their contributions.

"Relay For Life is as much an awareness raiser about the progress against cancer as it is a fund raiser," said Stacy

Thank You Note

Thank you to the Chamber Membership for selecting me as Employee of the Year. What an honor. My heart swells with the awesomeness of my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, for if there's anything good in me it's because of His great work. I'm blessed to be called to such a vocation as nursing where one can serve their fellow man in such an intimate capacity. Matthew 20:28 "Just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life as ransom for many.'

To have a job that is full of adventure, compelling yet comical at times, heart wrenching and yet gratifying is such a blessing. My friends and family know my favorite saying, "I get to go to work!" But such a blessing does not materialize in a "vacuum." The best decision I ever made was to follow Christ! I'm not saying I'm the best at it--but just that at the moment I came to my end and gave it up to Him did my life begin to take a more gratifying path. I have such wonderful support: my family is the BEST; my husband who prays for me; my children who inspire me; and my Mom and Dad who encourage me. I also have the greatest group of co-workers anyone could ever have! Keith, Martha, Jon Michael ya'll are a great team to work with! Sonora is by far the Greatest Place on Earth. I'm so proud to call this place home.

The Bank & Trust recognizes the value of higher education and is pleased to offer six (6) $1,000 scholarships to six (6) outstanding graduating seniors from the Sonora High School class of 2009.

This year the scholarships are given in memory of Marvin Shurley. Marvin was a fourth generation rancher in Sonora. His tremendous contributions to the ranching industry and numerous Sutton County organizations continue to positively impact our community and its youth.

These scholarships are awarded to Sonora High School seniors who plan to enroll in a full-time undergraduate course of study at an accredited college, university or vocational technical school in the fall following graduation. Scholarship selection is based on the following criteria:

Academic record

• Potential to succeed

• Participation in school and community activities, honors, work experience, and statement of educational and career goals

• Student must be in the top 10% of his/her graduating class • Student must show extraordinary leadership abilities

This year's scholarship recipients are Steven R. Pacheco Angelo State University/University of Texas Health Science Center; Yolanda Sanchez - Angelo State University; John Duke Hudson – College of Charleston; Azeneth Villanueva - Angelo State University; Savannah Leonard - Texas Tech University; and Steely Ingram – Texas A&M University. "The Bank & Trust is pleased to offer these scholarships and to support the youth of our community. Educating our children in the hopes that they will return to our community and serve as leaders to make Sonora a better place is an important role of the local business community. The current economic environment we continue to face as a nation and as a community further emphasizes the necessity of higher education; therefore, we are tripling our commitment this year. We have decided to award six (6) $1,000 scholarships to the graduates in the Top 10%. The Bank & Trust congratulates all of the 2009 graduating seniors and challenges them to strive for their goals." Brady M. Johnson, Regional President of The Bank & Trust.

Experienced Adopters Needed for 200 Rescued Mustangs

The Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) is assisting with the care and placement of 220 Mustangs that were seized from a neglectful situation in Alliance, Nebraska. HSUS is seeking qualified adopters and horse sanctuaries to provide permanent homes for these animals.

The horses have been under qualified care for approximately two weeks and are current on their vaccinations and Coggins. Many of the mares are pregnant or have foals at their side. The majority of these horses are unhandled mustangs. The horses are currently being temporarily housed at the rodeo grounds in Bridgeport, NE; therefore, HSUS would like to place them in permanent homes as soon as possible.

Adoptions are being handled by Front Range Equine Rescue on behalf of Habitat for Horses. Interested adopters should contact HILLARY WOOD of Front Range at 719-481-1490.

"Ideal sites have a good food source such as grain crops; sunflowers, croton (goat weeds), water or that have become recently fallowed."

Additionally, each tract must have a public access point where hunters can park their vehicles, from which they will walk to the hunting area.

Temporary signs will clearly identify property boundaries. Game wardens and other departmental staff will monitor the units to ensure compliance with all regulations. Edmiston said most entrance points are designated for parking to protect the private property and reserve the maximum acreage for actual hunting activities. "We expect our public hunters to respect the land and the landowners who have been so generous. We want to maintain a good relationship for the future," Edmiston said. Property Owner Responsibility

-To clear your property of any breeding sites -To prevent any problem areas from reoccurring

The following is a checklist for your yard and home to ensure the mosquito problem is kept at a minimum:

-Get rid of old tires, tin cans, buckets, drums, bottles or any water holding containters

-Fill in or drain away any low places (puddles, ruts) in your yard

-Keep drains, ditches and culverts clean of weeds and trash so water will drain properly

-Cover trash containers to keep out rain water

-Repair leaky pipes and outside faucets

-Empty plastic wading pools at least once a week and store them indoors when not in use

-Make sure your backyard pool is properly cared for while on vacation

-Fill in tree rot holes and hollow stumps that hold water with sand or concrete

-Change the water in bird baths and plant pots or drip trays at least once a week each week

-Keep grass cut short and shrubbery well trimmed around the house so adult mosquitoes will not hide there

Teens Credit Seat Belts for Saving Lives in Horrific Pickup Wreck

A wrecker prepares to remove what's left a truck that Ethan Mitchell, 17, and Trey Mohler, 14, were riding in when it wrecked. Both had only minor injuries because they were wearing seat belts. (Photo courtesy of the Mitchell and Mohler families).

Mohler, 14, left home at 6 a.m. one day last February headed to the Bell County Youth Fair and Livestock Show.

Hours later, they were checking on their animals at the show barn - but only after a three-hour stint in the hospital for sprained ankles and wrists, CT scans, stapled lacerations across the head and a shoulder injury.

pickup with minor injuries due to seat belts and air bags. Their families are grateful that they insisted their children use seat belts from an early age.

"Let the kids complain - it's hot, I can't move - when you make them buckle up," said Ethan's mother, Biddy Mitchell. "I'm so thankful that the Lord made us such 'mean' parents that buckling the seat belt became a habit.'

Unlike Mitchell and Mohler, many young drivers and their passengers do not buckle up in vehicles.

"Motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death for 15- to 20-year olds in America, and that's due in large part to low seat belt use," said Bev Kellner, Texas AgriLife Extension Service passenger safety specialist. "More than half of the young drivers killed in 2007 weren't wearing seat belts at the time of the crash.'

Teens also should know:

More than 4,800 teens were killed in traffic accidents last year. That would be like having every student at a couple of large high schools suddenly die.

- Almost 60 percent of the teen drivers were not wearing a seat belt when the wreck happened.

-About half of the teen drivers who were killed were not wearing a seat belt during daytime wrecks; almost 65 percent of them were not wearing a seat belt during nighttime wrecks.

So serious is the situation, that this year's national "Click It or Ticket" campaign will focus on young drivers and passengers.

Kellner said a special mobilization targeting 16-20 year olds in Bexar, Dallas, Harris, Hidalgo and Tarrant counties will be conducted from May 11-17, because those are the counties with the highest rate of fatalities for unbuckled teens.

From May 18-31, extra law enforcement officers will be looking statewide for drivers and occupants not wearing seat County Treasurers Take Part In Continuing Education Seminar

Included in the program were presentations on the Inter-The two escaped the crumbled remains of their wrecked nal Revenue Service, economic outlook for Texas and Investment Policies. There were also workshops provided on human resource development, collecting delinquent taxes, calculating overtime and understanding financial statements.

"Texas is one of a small number of states that requires all elected county officials to earn continuing education credits,' explained Richard Avery, Director of the Institute. "The Institute provides education to county commissioners, judges, treasurers, tax-assessor-collectors and county and district clerks through programs conducted across the state."

County treasurers who attended all the sessions during the seminar received twenty (20) hours of credit.

The annual continuing education seminar was sponsored by the V.G. Young Institute of County Government, which is part of the Texas Agrilife Extension Service. The Institute provides elected county officials with information and technical assistance, and helps officials complete their state-mandated, continuing education requirements. Sonora and Sutton County Represented at Ports-to-Plains Meeting in Washington, DC

Submitted:

Max Howorth, President of the Sonora Economic Development Corporation, joined twenty-one other representatives of the Ports-to-Plains Alliance for meetings with legislators and their staff last week in Washington, D.C. to promote funding to facilitate energy, agriculture and economic development opportunities throughout the nine-state corridor. Congressman Randy Neugebauer (R-TX), Chair of the Ports-to-Plains Con-gressional Caucus stated, "Since its inception, the Ports-to-Plains Trade Coalition has been a driving force behind increasing economic opportunity throughout the heartland. They have done a tremendous job reaching out to Members of Congress in laying the groundwork for their participation in the upcoming Surface Transportation Reauthorization. Their alliance with other partnering transportation corridors will pay tremendous dividends for America as they continue their efforts to keep commerce flowing."

The Ports-to-Plains Alliance consists of three major U.S. highway groups - Texas-based Ports-to-Plains Trade Corridor Coalition (including U.S. Highway 277 and Sonora), Heartland Expressway, based in Nebraska and the Theodore Roosevelt Expressway Association, based in North Dakota. The Alliance's mission is to promote the primary industries and policy interests of the Ports-to-Plains economic region, particularly energy (including wind power, biofuels and other types of alternative energy), agriculture and most importantly, the infrastructure upon which these sectors rely in order to foster new jobs, investment, economic development, and R&D.

The predominantly rural, small-town membership throughout the Ports-to-Plains Alliance covers a 9-state, 2,333-mile economic region between the Texas/Mexico border and the North Dakota/Montana/Canada border. The 38.5 million citizens of this Ports-to-Plains economic region produce most of America's energy, including much of the nation's biofuels and wind power, nearly a quarter of U.S. farm output, 14% of U.S. GDP (U.S. $1.7 trillion) and 20% of U.S.-Canada-Mexico trade (U.S. $166.7 billion).

To date, the combined efforts of the Alliance have brought home over $900 million for projects in the Ports-to-Plains region. Each of these groups continue to promote the specific corridors they were originally created to serve, however, as an Alliance they are able to boost their impact in Washington, D.C. and can collaborate more effectively on their common interests.

Howorth said that with the existing transportation bill (SAFETEA-LU) soon to expire, Ports-to-Plains Alliance representatives stressed to legislators and their staff that reauthorization of the transportation bill by the year's end is essential in order to make the necessary investment in our national surface transportation network. Alliance representatives also encouraged lawmakers to request funding in the new multi-year transportation reauthorization bill for projects throughout the Ports-to-Plains Alliance Trade Corridor where staff is working diligently with state departments of transportation and member offices to identify the best projects to submit before the May 8, 2009 deadline. Howorth stated that "among the projects being recommended by the Alliance are improvements to U.S. Highway 277 between Del Rio and San Angelo."

"Anyone violating the seat belt laws will receive a ticket and a fine," Kellner noted.

Rather than spend money on a ticket, experts suggest, motorists can save money and possibly their lives by wearing a seat belt.

"The goal is to get more young drivers and their passengers to always buckle up, every trip, every time," Kellner said. "A seat belt is the best defense against motor vehicle injuries and deaths."
