Viva Sonora Attended The U.S. Latino & Latina WWII Oral History Project Meeting

Submitted by Juanita Gomez

The U.S. Latino & Latina WW II Oral History Project celebrated its 10-year-anniversary on October 2-3, 2009 at the AT&T Executive Conference Center at The University of Texas in Austin.

Viva Sonora was honored to be invited to attend this years Project by Augustine Chavez. Michelle Faz and Juanita Gomez attended the dinner on October 2 and the symposium on October 3, 2009.

It was inspirational attending this function. Seeing the spirit that these veterans have was just amazing. After listening to the events speaker and guest, it soon became clear that the WW II Veterans we would meet this weekend had faced more than just war. The Project is expanding its work to include Korean and Vietnam War eras into their archives.

Thank You Notes

The family of Kammi Lawson Taylor would like to say thank you to everyone for the beautiful flowers, delicious food and especially your prayers.

Your visits and support at our loved one's memorial meant so much to our family. We are truly blessed to live in Sonora day, October 18, 2009 at Coleman County Medical Center. where so many (of you) helped us through this sad time. God Bless All of You!

> Ed, Angela and Cara Mayfield Jeanie and Janna Lawson

We would like to take this time to thank everyone who participated in our fundraiser for Carlos Ayala. The brisket plate sale was a success, as well as the raffle that was held at KJ's BBQ. Thank you to Kirk Joy for cooking the briskets and helping us with the sale! Thank you to Debra Hobbs, Crystal's Palace, Amis Gifts, The Rock House, O' Girl Creations, and Wild Bill's for the gifts for the raffle. We raised $1,204.00, which was really awesome! Thank you to Jalesa Lozano, Homer Lozano, Ilse Rodriguez, Staci Robles, Alma Lozano, and Rachel Lozano who went out and sold tickets.

Greatly, Little Carlos did NOT have cancer. After a few trips to see cancer doctors, it was determined that Carlos had a cyst in his neck, and it will be removed. Part of the money was used for these trips and the remainder will be donated to The Lighthouse Church to contribute to anyone who has a family member who has been diagnosed with any type of cancer. Thank you everyone who prayed for Carlos and for the dona-

High School Students of the Week

Submitted by Emilce Hernandez and Miles Sentena

Freshman Kelsey Favila and sophomore Alan Duenes were announced as Sonora High School's Students of the Week for October 19th.

Kelsey Favila is the daughter of Tammy and Eddie Favila. Her favorite teachers are Ms. Holt and Ms. Kirkland. Her favorite class is theater. Kelsey likes cheerleading, track and lollipops, she dislikes popcorn and pancakes. She is in youth group and the peppermint committee. Kelsey has lived here all her life and says that her favorite thing about Sonora High is the people because they are friendly. Her plans after graduation are to attend Texas State University.

Alan is the son of Juanita and Jabier Duenes. His favorite teacher is Mrs. Garcia and his favorite class is World History. He likes pizza and hamburgers and dislikes spinach. He moved to Sonora from Mexico in 9th grade. His favorite thing about Sonora High School is the friends that he has made. Alan plans to graduate and go to college.

It begins with the imagination of a child and the trash that they picked up... The story starts with three girls full of imagination and what they found while picking up litter on the streets of Sonora. They find a drivers license and then an old cast off shirt and then they stumble across a thrown away bumper from a vehicle that was left on the side of the road. Well immediately the story began... this would go on as they came across every unusual item and "beverage container" and there was plenty to go around on this day of "Trashing Off" the streets of Sonora. The story got bigger and better and more elaborate with the various items, from large ice chests to a big compressor of some sort, to a fake fifty dollar bill. It is wonderful what the mind can come up with and the stories that can come about when completing this often daunting task. Depending on the street that they ventured to clean up, this storytelling made time fly by and the task a little more enjoyable if that was possible. You walk, pick up trash, and make a story up. Well, fortunately for Sonora there was a large turn out of young, enthusiastic, imaginative minds that came out for this trash off. "One Great Day of Service" for 4-H, and a perfect "Mission In Motion" service project to clean up a small corner of God's awesome creation. Keep Sonora Beautiful is grateful to these organizations for choosing this project for their service. We appreciate all the volunteers that came out and took trash off the streets of Sonora. We would also like to thank the Downtown Lions Club for providing a very satisfying lunch to all of us that gave their time for this effort. We were very pleased to take 42 bags of trash, 3 tires, 50 gallons of scrap wood and several various other items off the streets, helping to Keep Sonora Beautiful.

Deer Distribution

Submitted by Lewis Allen

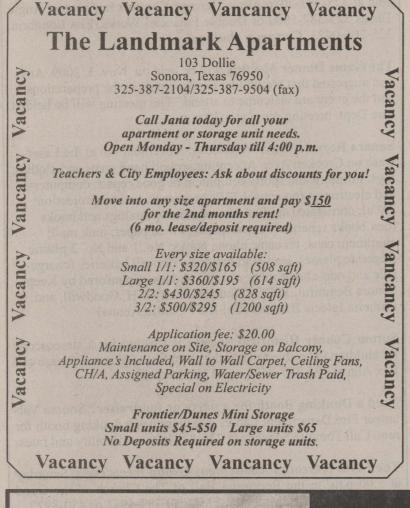

For the 15th year, the Sonora Ministerial Alliance will be distributing field dressed deer to families or individuals in Sonora this hunting Season.

Hunters or landowners who would like to donate deer to this program may do so by delivering field dressed deer to Sonora Deer Processing, 808 Glasscock Ave. 325-387-5566.

Individuals or families who would like to receive a deer may call the Sutton County Justice of the Peace Office, 325-387-3322; or the Church of the Good Shepherd 325-387-2616. Deer will ordinarily be delivered on Tuesday afternoons during hunting season.

Deer will be delivered by volunteers from the churches of the Sonora Ministerial Alliance, assisted by by members of the Sonora Volunteer Fire Department and of the Dee Ora Masonic Lodge.

Over the years through this program of neighbors helping neighbors, tons of lean, nutritious venison has been made available to residents of Sonora and Sutton County.

Mild temperatures and sporadic rains have combined to create an outstanding autumn experience up on Eaton Hill. Trees are fruiting, wildflowers are blooming, hummingbirds are Defend the Honor website is www.defendthehonor.org. buzzing, monarchs are adrift on the breeze, songbirds are migrating and all manner of creatures are feeding on the bounty of the season - before it's gone.

Recently, Russell Dempsey and I had the opportunity to speak to Carol Love's Middle School students about the incredible monarch migration and Eaton Hill's new blog. We are collecting monarch photographs and sighting reports at our online blog: www.eatonhill.blogdpot.com. The blog is an excellent way to keep up with the daily happenings, events and sightings on Eaton Hill, and to learn about our local wildlife and natural wonders. We are adding periodic interactive events, and monarch migration is our first topic. Just email eatonhill@sonoratx.net or call the office at 387-2615, and we'll post your photos and reports. The information will also be relayed to the official monarch sites: Texas Monarch Watch and Journey North. We have already received student photographs and appreciate the participation.

In September, Eaton Hill received notification that we have been awarded a Trails Grant through Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The new trail will be bicycle and handicap accessible, and will provide an excellent path for night hiking groups and workshops.

Hummingbirds are still migrating, so if you have not yet brought your feeders in, the little guys can use all the nutrition they can get. Other birds are currently migrating and we would like to know about your sightings. Recently, a whiteeyed vireo and a rock wren were added to our bird list for the hill. The vireo had been identified by song, however we were able to photograph the bird which actually sports a white eye! Hit the trails while the weather is perfect!

Dr. Rivas-Rodriguez worked as a journalist for over 17 years before receiving her doctorate in Mass Communication from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1998. She earned her Masters of Journalism in 1977 from the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism and her Bachelors of Journalism in 1976 from the University of Texas at Austin. She joined the faculty of the UT School of Journalism in 1998.

She was on the committee that organized the National Association of Hispanic Journalists, and organized two of its most effective youth efforts: a writing contest for high school students and a convention newspaper that trained college students under the mentoring and training of professional journalists. The model she developed for the convention newspaper has been adopted, and adapted, by the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the National Association of Black Journalists and the Asian American Journalists Association.

Augustine Chavez is the former Director of the San Diego State University Office of Educational Opportunities and Ethnic Affairs.

A native of Sonora, Texas, Mr. Chavez used the Project as an outreach effort to attract minority students to SDSU. Under his guidance, two students worked full time in the summer of 2000 and part time in the fall of 2000 to find interview subjects and interview them for the project. Mr. Chavez developed an ellent model for partnering with the project.

Mr. Chavez is also the co-founder of Defend the Honor.

PROJECT BACKGROUND-www.lib.utexas.edu/ww2latinos World War II was a turning point for the United States, and the war had an impact on U.S. Latinos just as much as other groups. It has been estimated that anywhere from 250,000 to as many as 750,000 Latinos and Latinas served in the armed forces during World War II. Difficulty in pinning down that number is due to the fact that under the race categorization on enlistment and discharge papers, Latinos were variously described as "White," "Mexican" and "NA." Back home, women worked in civil service jobs or with defense contractors, wrote letters to soldiers and waited for their husbands and brothers to return

At the end of the war, many (particularly Mexican Americans) returned to segregated communities and an unfriendly society. The war, however, had imbued them with a strong sense of entitlement, as well as educational benefits that would give them tools to challenge inequality. They mounted strong and effective challenges.

Yet, despite making strong contributions to the nation and to their communities, the general histories of the period have not included the experiences of this generation of Latinos, regardless of national background.

Because of that omission, the U.S. Latino & Latina WWII Oral History Project was begun. By creating an archive of excellent primary source material, it is anticipated that writers will understand and include the stories of U.S. Latinos in future accounts. The project has interviewed more than 500 men and women since the spring of 1999. The project's archives are comprised of the interviews, most of them on videotape, as well as digital copies of photographs they have lent to the project and other supporting materials. Archives are being prepared for transfer to the Nettie Lee Benson Latin American Collection and the Center for American History at the University of Texas at Austin.

The project has been known for the production of a newspaper dedicated to the interviews. Eight issues of the newspaper narratives were produced over five years. The final issue was published in the summer of 2004, to make more time to work on books based on the interviews and photographs. The project will continue to accept interviews and encourage the interviewing of family and friends.

A strength of the project has been the building of partnerships with national organizations and universities. One of the most productive of those partnerships has been with the U.S. Department of Veteran Affairs Readjustment Counseling Service, which has Vet Centers in cities throughout the country. With the support of Vet Centers' Hispanic Centers' Hispanic Working Group, the project has been able to conduct individual videotaped interviews with as many as 14 men and women in one day. The project also enjoys a partnership with the National Association of Hispanic Journalists and with the California Chicano News Media Association, whose members have interviewed men and women at their sessions.

Most insurance companies will raise your rates—or even cancel your insurance—if you have too many accidents or traffic violations.

We'd all like to pay less for auto insurance. Here are a couple ways that your child can help:

1. Many insurance companies offer lower rates to young, single drivers who are better-than-average students in high school or college. They do that because statistics show good students have considerably fewer accidents than students whose grades are average or below average.

2. Obey all traffic laws. You can't always avoid an accident, but you can avoid traffic tickets, which can cause your insurance premiums to

Rebecca Sullivan, FNP joins Drs. Mark and Kristy Edwards

Sonora Clinic expands its ability to serve your needs

Sonora Medical Clinic recently enhanced its healthcare resources with the addition of Family Nurse Practitioner Rebecca Sullivan, RN, MSN, FNP-BC.

Sullivan is a board-certified family nurse practitioner with more than 24 years experience. She joins the practice of Drs. Mark and Kristy Edwards.

Sullivan practiced in Eldorado prior to joining the Sonora Medical Clinic team and is a clinical supervisor in the nursing department at Angelo State University.

"Kristy and I know Rebecca and her excellent medical skills," Dr. Mark Edwards said. "She is a great addition to the Sonora Medical Clinic team. Kristy and I look forward to working with Rebecca to provide people in Sutton and the surrounding counties high quality medical care close to their homes."
