Sonora Outlaw Pro Rodeo & Sutton County Days

By Donna Garrett

The weather was perfect and the cowboys were ready. The 41st Annual Sutton County Days and Sonora Outlaw Pro Rodeo was a huge success. We want to thank everyone for their support of this great event. Friday and Saturday night's rodeos were fabulous and everyone really enjoyed it. On Saturday during Sutton County days after the parade everyone had a great time at the entertainment tent watching the Little Miss and Little Mr. Sutton County contest. We would like to congratulate this year's winners Miss Jayden Barron and Mr. Luke Snyder and our newly crowned Miss Sutton County Miss Abby Nolen. We look forward to working with them the next year. Rain is awesome. Mosquitoes are not. Ever wonder why some people seem to be more susceptible to mosquito bites than others? Being vulnerable to insect bites is a classic sign of a B vitamin deficiency. It has been hypothesized that the B vitamins put out a certain odor that biting insects do no like, or that we still get bitten but the bites go unnoticed and away very quickly. Many people are deficient in B vitamins because they eat too much sugar and processed foods. It uses up a lot of B vitamins in order for the body to deal with these frankenfoods. B vitamins are important for metabolism, digestion, energy levels and blood cell production. Be sure to include foods rich in B vitamins in your diet like pork, dark leafy vegetables, green peas, lentils, almonds and pecans. Loading up on these healthy nutrients might help ward off the of July at barbecues, parades and picnics to enjoy time with family mosquitoes on your next camping trip!

A Letter From John Cornyn: US Senator

Dear Fellow Texan,

As we do every year, Texans across the state will gather this Fourth and friends, watch fireworks, and celebrate the anniversary of the birth of our nation.

Independence Day is an annual reminder that we are fortunate to enjoy the greatest freedoms in the world, but even more importantly, it reminds us that freedom is not free. It is a time to reflect on the sharp. Remove dead, diseased, and damaged branches from sacrifices that brave Americans have made since our nation's founding to safeguard our liberties and preserve our way of life.

These heroes include the generations of service members who have risked everything to make America stronger and safer and to bring freedom to other comers of the world.

Recently, students from Tyler Independent School District raised money and wrote letters in support of Operation Gratitude, a national organization that sends thousands of care packages and correspondence to deployed military service members each year. One of these students, senior Katie Sperry, wrote to a soldier:

Dear Hero, I'm calling you this because a hero is exactly what you with a miticide. are to me. I can never thank you enough for your service. It means so much to every American .. .I hope you stay safe and that you will return home soon ... You make me proud to be an American. We'll be praying for you."

Katie's message of gratitude is one we should remember not only on Independence Day but throughout the year. May we each show to enable us to live in the land of the free and the home of the brave. Let us remember their sacrifices and live with purpose the charge so aptly put forward by John Adams in 1777, "Posterity! You will never know how much it cost the present Generation to preserve your Freedom! I hope you will make good use of it." May God bless you, and may He continue to bless Texas and the United States of America on her 238th birthday.

Gardeners Will Be Busy In July

July is here, and it's hot! Even so, there are still chores to be done in the garden. So for those of you who are so inclined, here are some things to consider. Breath easy, I've kept the list rather short.

Planting: Tomato transplants can be planted now for fall gardens. Check the varieties are for disease resistance. Transplants must be acclimated to the sun in order to prevent sunscald from occurring. Warm season grasses can still be planted but an abundant amount of water will be necessary until the grass is established.

Pruning: Mow lawns once a week and be sure blades are trees and shrubs.

Fertility: Apply iron sulfate to plants that are showing yellow leaves with green veins. Keep iron sulfate or other iron products off of sidewalks and houses..

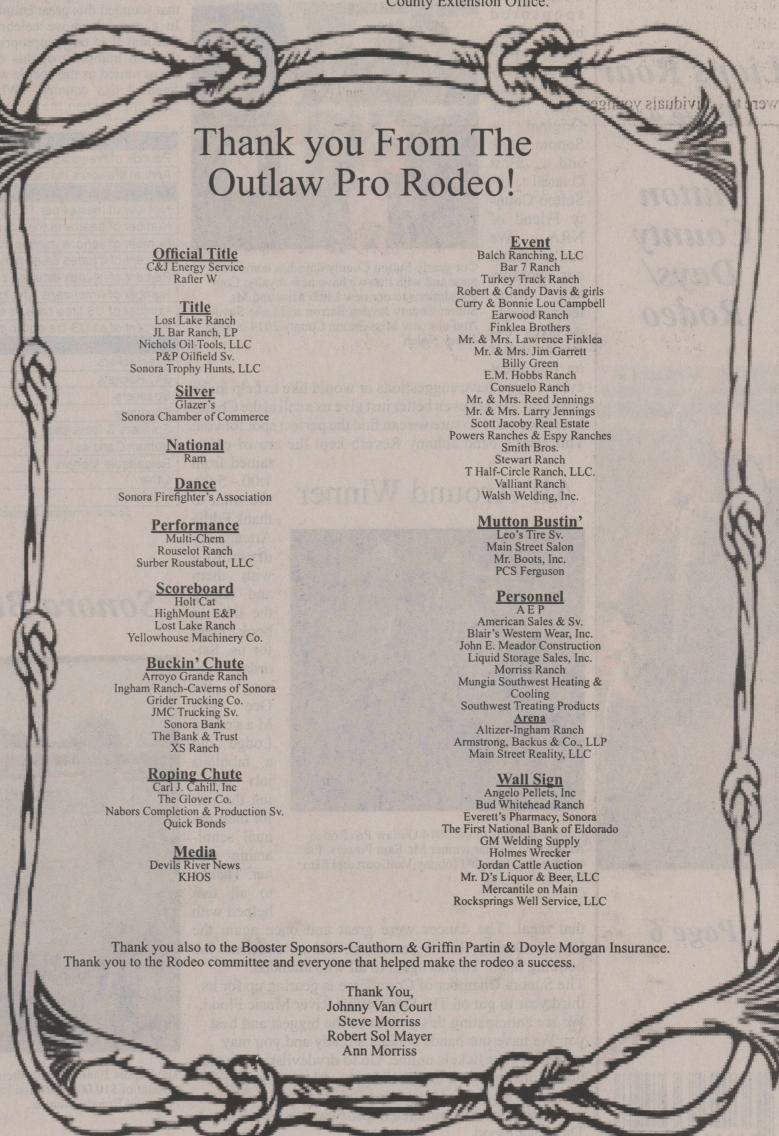

Be on the Lookout: Spider mites are most common in hot weather. Look for tan speckles on lower leaves. Plants may turn brown and crisp where sever infestations occur. Control Chinch bugs in St. Augustine grass will cause dried areas in sunny parts on the lawn. Chinch bugs are black and white with white diamonds on their wings.

White grub worms will show up 6 weeks after the major our appreciation to our fellow Americans who have given so much June beetle flight. Be on the look out for these damaging insects in the lawn and flower beds. Treat only if there are 5-7 grubs per square foot of soil.

> Aphids on oaks, pecans, crape myrtles and other trees are a problem creating honeydew. First try a high pressure spray of water before applying chemicals. Use a registered, general

The Human Cost of Failed Border Policies

By Governor Rick Perry

The first thing I saw was a boy crying. Terrified and sobbing against the window of the holding cell, he couldn't have been more than 12 or 13. The room was full of other young boys, their curious eyes peering out at us as we walked by. These were the ones who made

The room next door was filled to overflowing with mothers and children, some covered in foil blankets, lying on the cement floor. The next room over, empty, except for the garbage that was being swept away in preparation for its next wave of occupants.

When we stepped outside, I heard a baby wailing over the hum of the industrial fans and the steady words of the federal official giving the tour. The sheer number of people in such a small space made it difficult to quickly pinpoint the source, but I finally spotted the baby being held by a young mother in the quarantine area taped off in the back. The otherwise quiet crowd simply stared back at us. The very real human consequences of our country's lax border security and muddled immigration policies huddled right there, under an open shelter in the stifling Texas heat.

This is the McAllen border patrol detention facility, where men, women and children of all ages who have illegally entered the U.S. are detained and processed. Some are caught attempting to cross the border, while some give themselves over willingly. Many are children from Central America traveling alone, who have paid coyotes to smuggle them through Mexico or made the trip on the tops of freight trains. All have quite literally risked their lives to set foot in our country. It's impossible to see these children without wondering how many more were lost somewhere along the way. The desert's a dangerous place to begin with, even before the worst of summer's brutal heat arrives, and the border is trafficked by treacherous individuals who see fellow humans as an expendable means to turn a dollar.

What's happening along our southern border is a mounting tragedy, its root cause Washington's failure, diplomatically and strategically, to address our border security and illegal immigration problem. To be clear, the federal officials who operate these facilities daily are doing the best they can with what they have, trying desperately to keep up with a seemingly unending tide of immigrants coming to our border because they've heard current U.S. policy will quickly reunite them with loved ones in our country.

This is a complex situation and a growing humanitarian crisis that will require a multifaceted solution. But it's a situation I fear our president will continue to brush off until he has seen it first-hand. The U.S. needs to act decisively. First off, the federal government needs to make it crystal clear that attempting to cross our border illegally simply isn't worth the considerable risk. People in Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras and elsewhere who are considering making the trip need to know that they will be immediately sent back to their country of origin when they're detained, not sent to various locations across the United States or placed in the care of

Secondly, the United States government needs to send more resources to finally, once and for all, secure the border. Federal engagement was insufficient to begin with, and the crush of illegal entrants is draining what resources they had in the area. These gaping holes are just waiting to be exploited by drug cartels and transnational gangs, and create a national security issue as they could be used by people from countries with known terrorist affiliations. That's why Texas has directed the state's Department of Public Safety to amplify its law enforcement operations along the border, targeting the criminals seeking to take advantage of this humanitar-
