Propaganda for Cubans

Carter administration is thinking about beaming propaganda broadcasts into Cuba in an attempt to spread dissatisfaction among the population over the regime's military role in Africa, U.S. officials say. The White House also is considering suspension of U.S. charter flights to the island and a cancellation of athletic exchange programs for a similar purpose.

The serious consideration of these measures represents a reversal of what had been steady progress toward normalization of relations between the United States and Cuba, a process that reached a high point nine months ago when the two countries opened diplomatic missions in Washington and Havana.

The administration has no intention of closing down these missions, and it has rejected as "much too extreme" a proposal to blockade Soviet oil shipments to Cuba, according to the officials, who asked not to named volleyball and other teams during this period. The officials admit that U.S. leverage over Cuba is minimal and that they do not expect adoption of any of the measures to have a dramatic impact on President Fidel Castro's foreign policy. But the officials

Death of Senator Allen adds more uncertainty to Alabama politics

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) - The unexpected death of U.S. Sen. James B. Allen has added more uncertainty to the already confusing political landscape in Alabama.

Study made of damage caused by Russian device in embassy

VASHINGTON (AP) - U.S.officials, after discovering sophisticated electronic spy equipment in a chimney of the Moscow embassy, are assessing the damage it did to American security and puzzling over how the gadgetry works.

One official called the Soviet's use of the espionage equipment a "serious penetration of our embassy," but said the electronic gear would have to be analyzed before deciding if it had caused a major security breech.

The official, who asked not to be named, said the equipment was apparently maintained by Soviet technicians who snuck into the embassy by crawling through a tunnel, which originated on nearby Soviet property, and then climbed up the chimney

The discovery last week also raised questions about the equipment's possible link to other mysteries involving the Moscow embassy - such as why the Soviets have beamed microwaves at the building for years, worrying U.S. official about possible health hazards.

Thomas Reston, the State Department's associate spokesman, said Thursday the devices were discovered May 25 and that a protest was lodged with the Soviet Foreign Ministry Reston declined to give details about the devices or how they were found. However, another official said the electronic gear - including a large antenna"--- was discovered during a routine security search

He said U.S. officials followed a cable from the equipment down the chimney and through the tunnel. They then constructed a barrier in the tunnel to "keep the Russians out," he said

"There was regular physical penetration of the embassy by Soviets without the knowledge of the United States," the official said. "They would come through the tunnel and up the chimney

Although the exact nature of the equipment was unknown, the official said it apparently was not limited to eavesdropping devices

In Moscow, diplomatic sources said the electronic equipment was found in an upper section of the embassy and could have been there since the 1950s when the U.S. government first leased the building from the Soviets.

One source said the equipment might never have been found if special American crews had not been flown to Moscow to repair damage to the embassy caused by a fire on Aug. 26, 1977.

Creating obstacles for private industry

Believing it has a mandate from the "people," Congress has passed amendments to the Clean Air Act which will have even greater adverse effects on the economy than those now in effect.

These 1977 amendments will further hamper existing business and industry already operating and will have a great deterring effect on the establishment of new industry.

At a time when all economic indications point to an easing off on too drastic regulations as an imperative, the Congress adds fuel for federal agency overkill. Activities of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has already added more than its share to the burdens of private enterprise

And, it is only within the private sector where solutions to our major probles will be found. We doubt tat Congress had little idea of what it was really supporting when it passed the amendments. As usual, it probably listened to a vociferous group of pseudo environmentalists Speaking at a meeting of the American Petroleum Institute, Ivan H. Gilman, vice president for environmental affairs for Chevron, U.S.A. Inc., said the amendments will, "affect industry with a severity unprecedented in recent history.

Gilman quoted a former EPA deputy administrator John Quarles, as saying, "The amendments are like a loose cannon on a pitching deck threatening a path of destruction." So, the oil industry isn't the only entity that is worried about the amendments. Space here will not permit mention of all the adverse implications of these new amendments. Gilman said that starting with the concept of a new facility, there are 39 steps that must be taken. And, there are 29 ways to get a negative answer from the government. Gilman said he believed that the EPA will have to declare a moratorium on new construction in some areas because the states, in their implementation plans, must demonstrate that the plan will attain the proper ambient air quality standards by the end of 1982.

"Nearly everyone familiar with air quality problems will agree that attainment of the standards in many parts of the country by those dates is going to be very difficult, and in some areas virtually impossible without disastrous economic disruption," Glman said. Congress has slipped the halter off the wild horse of overzealous EPA interference in business progress. This can only lead to curtailment of new ol and gas discoveries, some already discovered oil will not be developed and projects will be delayed until they are finally cancelled.

If these unnecessary transfer payments by the U.S. Treasury were discontinued, government expenditures could be substantially reduced. Carter's 60-billion deficit could be cut and thus an attack could be made on the nation's most serious economic problem, inflation.

This is not done because of the theory of Social Security which has been fostered by Washington and widely believed by the public ever since the Social Security act was enacted in 1935, namely, that the benefits paid to the old folks are not welfare, or poor relief, but are pensions which the recipients paid for, during the years they

This payment of Social Security benefits to the non needy is just one example of the extravagance in Washington which has ballooned the annualbudget up to roughly a half trillion dollars and saddled the economy with chronic

It is impossible to cut the budget, we are told. But here is a way. Surely no one can defend paying welfare to people who are investing it in the stock market. Undoubtedly there are other unnecessary outlays, or leaks, which if identified and resolutely stopped, would not merely reduce the deficit but convert it into a surplus. Then tax cuts could be made without stimulating inflation.

But, one may say, the old folks would object indignantly at being investigated to determine their income and hence eligibility for benefits. They would say, "This is not a dole. We paid for this, years ago, when our employers deducted Social Security taxes from our wages. Blame Management, in part, for construction workers' low productivity.

Studies by Pacific Power & Light Co., PORTLAND, Ore., of construction on its power plants reveal some fascinating conclusions. Late starts and early quits, breaks and "personal" activities ate up 8.1 percent of the average worker's day. But only 47.8 percent of the day was devoted to "work.

The remainder: 16.8 percent for "waiting," 15.3 percent for "traveling," 7.7 percent getting tools.

4.3 percent "planning and instructions." > Of the orthopedic cases, the first physicians were opposed in 33.2 percent of the cases and of the ear, nose and throat cases (mostly tonsillectomies) .26.6 percent

These findings are not necessarily conclusive, D. Eugene Sibery, the plan executive vice president, himself concedes. "We are continuing to follow these patients to see how many had operations anyway, how many deferred them for a year or two, and how many were successfully treated non-surgically," he says. "We also want to see what happens to similar people who did not request second opinions."

But the high proportion of disagreementdoes add some credibility to the growing concern that much surgery is unneeded.

An estimated 2.4 million unnecessary operations, causing nearly 12,000 deaths, are performed annually at a cost to the public of about $4 billion, a congressional committee charged several years ago. "There is more surgery in the U.S. today than there ought to Health, Education, and be," Welfare Undersecretary Hale Champion testified this past winter. "There are many thousands more surgeons than we need," and "excess surgeons lead to excess surgery.

Studies in Kansas, Maine, Vermont and elsewhere see to bear this out. In one Vermont community, for instance, there were twice as many appendectomies as in another nearby, apparently similar in every relevant respect.

Although challenged as wildly exaggerated, these statistics have led a growing number of Blue Cross, Blue Shield and other health insurance plans to offer to py for a second and even a third opinions to confirm any recommendations for elective surgery. In New York, in fact, state law now requires all health insurance plans to offer this free option. 'Reducing costs and improving the quality of care are the goals of the programs," emphasizes Walter J.

McNerney, president of Blue Cross-Blue Shiled Assn. "This can come about as physicians realize their recommendations for surgery may be reviewed."

Typical of how the programs work is theGreater New York plan, with 5.5 million subscribers. Under the program, subscribers call a referral center and are given the names of three board-certified specialists in their area to choose from, specialists selected at random from 1,700 cooperating surgeons. The plan pays for all charges, and even for third opinion, if the first two do not agree. But the subscribers is under no obligation to accept the opinion of the consultants and is covered by insurance even if the operation is against the advice of the consultants.

The program saves money For each operation not performed on a subscriber, the Plan saves $1,500 in hospital fees alone. says Sibery, who estimates the Plan's total savings to be at least $700,000 in the two years it has been in effect - savings which, he adds, have cut down the size of the Plan's periodic increases.

Yet, relatively few of you take advantage of the free second opinions. Of the roughly 200,000 elective operations the Greater New York Plan pays for every year, only 1,000 - or 1/2 of 1 percent - are performed with a corroborating second opinion.

While the reason may be your faith in your own physicians, it's also likely that you are not aware of the "second opinion' option. Learn now if you are covered by this program so you can get another opinion when you are advised to undergo surgery.

In fact, even if you are not covered for it, get this opinion for your own safety and pocketbook protection.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said Thursday that a plan involving several options will be submitted to Carter today for his review this weekend. However, Bergland said he did not know when Carter would decide on a course of action.

The impact of the additional beef would have little significant effect on consumer prices, Bergland said. However, it might prevent further beef price increases after July 1 and possibly save consumers abut 5 cents a pound by the end of the vear.

The Agriculture Department's composite retail price of choice-grade beef now is more than $1.60 a pound, up from about $1.36 a year ago.

Bergland said that he spoke against opening the import door completely at this time and told the White Hose group he would rather leave things alone to see what cattle prices do this summer

Barring this option, Bergland said he would be next inclined to go along with negotiated agreements to allow more foreign beef to enter.

Hungry children discovered eating fly-infested garbage

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Child welfare officials say they are attempting to find homes for six young children, three of whom were discovered this week hungrily eating from a fly - infested pile of garbage.

Welfare officials took over temporary custody of the children on Thursday after the 25year-old mother voluntarily relinguished control for six months.

"The children will be placed in temporary foster homes or the homes of interested relatives," said child welfare spokesman Ron Gosson. "All of the children are being kept at the children's shelter until homes can be found."

On Wednesday, a San Antonio police officer discovered the two boys and a girl, ages 2, 3 and 5. inside a garbage dumpster, clawing at the rotting garbage

Mental hearing today in school shooting death

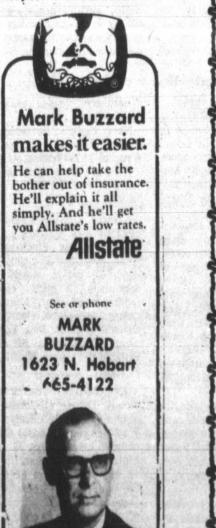

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - What could John Christian have been thinking when he allegedly shot his junior high school English teacher to death May 18?

Friends of the teacher, Rod Grayson Jr., and the Christian family have probably asked themselves that question repeatedly.

The youth is the son of George Christian, White House press secretary for former President Lyndon B. Johnson. Today, psychiatrists who have examined young Chris-tian, a 13-year-old A-student, were scheduled to present evidence in court to support a motion on his behalf to commit him to a mental institution for treatment.

If he should be found sane, however, District Attorney Ronald Earle has said he will recommend the maximum sentence of commitment to a state reform school until he is 18.

Young Christian's lawyer, Roy Minton, has said there is no doubt that the youth shot Grayson as the teacher sat on a stool conducting a first-period advanced class for eighth graders at Murchison Junior High. Minton described the youth after a May 26 hearing as "acutely depressed." No one has said, however, what the youth's mood was at the time of the shooting, or whether he had shown any signs of depression prior to the candidate for the remaining term vacated by Judge Langdon on the Texas Railroad Commission:

ABOUT JIM LANGDON:

He practiced law in West Texas for several years following work with the FBI and service as an officer of the U.S. Navy in World War II. He was appointed 112th District Judge by Governor Allan Shivers in 1954 and served Kimble, Sutton, Crockett, Upton and Pecos counties until he was named by Gov. Price Daniel in 1959 to serve as chief Justice of the Gourt of Civil Appeals at El Paso. For the third time a Texas Governor, John Connally, picked Langdon to fill a vacancy on the Texas Railroad Commission in 1963, serving until December 31, 1977, when he resigned to enter private practice of law in Austin.

"I wholeheartedly endorse John Poerner in the June 3 run-off primary. He is serving by appointment as my replacement on the commission and is running for the remaining two years of my term. I know him as an honest, hard-working and capable official. He has an excellent background in private business and in public office. I will vote for him on June 3 and urge all my friends to do likewise. The importance of the work of the Railroad Commission makes it vital that we nominate the best possible man. John Poerner is that man."

Police official denies electronic surveillance

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) -Police Chief Tom Heggy denied Thursday he has any knowledge Oklahoma City police officers have used illegal electronic surveillance at least once in the past four years.

Heggy said during a federal court deposition Thursday he plans no investigation of the alleged activities until a lawsuit that brought the allegations to light has been tried.

Earlier, news reports in an Oklahoma City newspaper quoted Heggy as confirming Wednesday testimony by Capt. Bob Hicks that illegal surveillance had been performed in an investigation of private citizens on at least one occasion between February. 1974 and November, 1975.

The chief, in a telephone interview with the Associated Press, said the quotes attributed to him are "absolutely false.

He said he didn't make such statements and gave no interviews from which the quotes might have been taken. The Oklahoma City Times reporter who wrote the story, Mike Ward, said Heggy made the comments in an interview Thursday morning, preceeding the deposition. NEW YORK (AP) - It took Christie's just 21/2-hours to auction off $1.5 million in jewels, including an 18-carat pink diamond ring that went for $330.-000, the day's top bid at the Park Avenue showroom.

The pink diamond ring was the last item on the auction list Thursday. Set with a shieldshaped diamond, it's flanked on each side, by a tapered baguette, mounted in platinum. Number 131 on the list, an onvx, crystal and diamond artdeco table clock, was sold for $26.400

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -The Glomar Explorer, which once went digging in the Pacific for a sunken Soviet submarine, soon will be plying the ocean in search of manganese modules

The 36,000-ton vessel, built by the late Howard Hughes and used by the CIA to look for the sub in 1974, has been in mothballs since 1976. It was towed Thursday 30 miles from Suisan Bay to San Francisco Bay for five weeks of repairs.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) - A 17-year-old youth in a wheelchair snatched $25 from an acquaintance on crutches and escaped with the money.

The youth, Jonathan Hope, gave himself up later. His lawyer told a magistrate Thursday Hope acted on the spur of the moment

The youth was convicted but sentencing was delayed for a probation report.

TOKYO (AP) - A Soviet court has ordered the owner of, the Japanese fishing boat Nitto Maru No. 75 to pay a fine of 1,453,927 rubles, or about $2 million at the official rate of exchange, for catching more edible marine snails in Soviet waters than the fishermen recorded in their log.

The court in Magadan, Siberia, also ordered the 350-ton boat and its equipment confiscated, the Japanese goverment's fishing agency reported. It was the most severe penalty assessed for a fishery violation since the Soviet Union proclaimed a 200-mile fishing zone in March 1977.

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) - City officials are a bit miffed. A county judge says the city of Kirkwood can't run that fancy $212,500 swimming pool and 14acre tennis club it just bought. "Kirkwood has the right to purchase the property." St.

Louis County Judge Drew W. Luten Jr. said Thursday. "However, it does not have the right to create, maintain or operate a public recreational facility or swimming pool" because of a city ordinance.

Kirkwood city officials say they will appeal.

SALEM, Ore. (AP) - The signs tell the story. Last summer, nude sunbathers at Rooster Rock State Park said they were harassed, and some families with children complained they weren't warned that they would encounter nudists

So David Talbot, state parks superintendent, decided that a little information might help out this year. He designed 28 signs to be posted in the park. Four of the signs say: "Attention. Nude sunbathing may be encountered on the east beach. Visitors who may be offended should not proceed bevond this point. Disrobing is not allowed until arriving at the designated area." Twelve signs say: "Attention. Nudism is allowed 500 feet east of this sign. Disrobing is not allowed until arriving at the designated area.' And the other dozen say: "Attention. You are leaving the nude sunbathing area. All visitors must be adequately an unsafe turn, Sims said. clothed beyond this point.'

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please reconsider your answer to DEBATING, who asked if she should tell the woman her ex-husband was about to marry that he had beaten her up. (You said, "On the chance that she'll bring out the best in him while you brought out the beast in him, keep mum."

My sweet young niece was married only three months. No one would have believed that the man she married was capable of such violence as he later evidenced. If only someone would have warned that gentle, unsuspecting girl, she might be alive today. She suffered such a beating at the hands of that monster, the undertaker was sickened at the condition of her bruised and battered body.

Wife-beaters sometimes kill. I hope you will change your advice, Abby.

HEARTSICK AUNT IN CALIF.

DEAR AUNT: Thank you for protesting my answer. You are right. My "give 'em another chance" philosophy should not have been applied to a matter as potentially dangerous as wife-beating. I should have emphatically recommended that wife No. 1 warn wife No. 2. I contritely stand corrected.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to LADY PREACHER IN IOWA, she needs to read First Corinthians, Chapter 14 (King James version):

Paul says, "Let your women keep silence in the churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak; but they are commanded to be under obedience, as also saith the law."

The 35th verse goes on to say, "And if they will learn any thing, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the church."

I am a fan of yours, Abby, and hope that even though you are all for women's rights, you will be fair and print this anyway. Sign me . .

23-YEAR-OLD PREACHER, KINGSPORT, TENN.

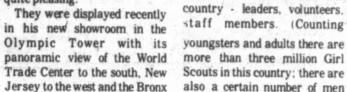

DEAR PREACHER: Although the printed word remains unchanged, over the years even Scripture has been interpreted in a variety of ways. It is no longer considered a "shame" for women to speak in many churches, temples and synagogues.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished crying my eyes out over something that is not my fault. A very nice boy from school started dating me and I was on cloud nine. I was never popular, and he was like an answer to my prayers.

Well, he just called me up and told me he couldn't date me anymore because his parents have forbidden him to. The reason was they heard that my older sister had a baby out of wedlock. (She did; but, Abby, I have never done one thing out of the way, so why should I have to suffer for something my sister did?) I have even had girlfriends tell me they couldn't go around with me anymore because of my sister's reputation.

I am not like my sister, and I don't see why people should hold this against me. How can I prove that I am a "nice" girl when I have this against me? NICE GIRL IN RHODE ISLAND

DEAR NICE: Don't try to "prove" anything. People who aren't willing to judge you on your own record aren't worth having as friends.

Ask Dr. Lamb By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My problem is hemorrhoids. I am embarrassed to discuss them with anybody. They bleed a great deal at times. I have used local preparations for years but nothing seems to help. I am afraid to have an operation because of bad reports I have heard about it. My brother-in-law had his removed by a doctor who used rubber bands. No operation. not hospitalized, no anesthesia, no pain. He is still very happy with it two vears later.

off with "Oh, that's an oldfashioned method. We get too much scar tissue that way." I'd rather have scar tissue than hemorrhoids. Do

DEAR READER -- Hemorrhoids are simply varicose veins of the rectum. They pop out because the veins are overstretched. Anything that exerts pressure on the veins around the rectum can cause this. An extreme example is the pressure of the fetal head as it passes through the pelvic area during birth. Constipation with straining at the stool is another major cause. Obesity contributes to the problem, as do other factors that increase the pressure inside the abdomen and prevent drainage of the veins from that area.

There are internal hemorrhoids - which bleed - and external hemorrhoids which cause pain and itching. The pain fibers are in the external area, hence the internal hemorrhoids often do not produce any symptoms until one day a person bleeds.

You should never ignore rectal bleeding because even if it is from a hemorrhoid the pressure behind the vein causing the hemorrhoid may be a tumor. Let your doctor decide what is causing the bleeding. Cancer of the rectum is too

James W. Lacy, 53, Midland, in November Sadler led a field of four Democratic candidates in the first primary with 48 percent of the more than one million votes cast. Poerner had 28 percent. Some have called the current race a replay of 1976 when Sadler led a field of primary candidates but lost to present Commissioner Jon Newton, 531,444 to 272.794, in the run-off. Sadler called both Newton and Poerner tools of the major oil companies because of contributions to their campaigns. Sadler has spent less than $7,-000 against Poerner, only a fraction of Poerner's campaign expenditures. Newton and Poerner each claimed Sadler, 70, was a political has-been whose chief attraction to voters is the name "Sadler" which has been before voters 12 times as candidate for railroad commissioner. state representative and land commissioner. Sadler, stoop-shouldered and usually with a wad of tobacco tucked back in his jaw, has made infrequent campaign appearances. He has turned down

Various reasons given for not going to church

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer NEW YORK (AP) "Church people are hypocrites, phonies, fakers." "Going to church doesn't make any difference." "Churches are just looking for the almighty dollar." "They're always knocking each other." "They talk about love but then condemn you to hellfire." "Nuts with that." "I'm self-sufficient." These are among reasons people give for not being church members as found in a study made by the Rev. Dr. J. Russell Hale of Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettsburg,

On a year-long sabbatical, he traveled from coast to coast. interviewing 165 people of various educational, social and economic strata, young and old, all — The ''anti institutionalists;" people who see the church as preoccupied with its own self-preservation, who reject organizational structures as useless to "true religion" and who fault the church for its leaders, for "meddling" in secular affairs and for their concern for finances or property.

"They just build buildings and take our money." the comments went. "I don't have to go to church to be a Christian It's between God and me.' - The "boxed-in," people who have guit the church, considering it too confining and restrictive, stifling their independence to do "it my way." "Nobody is going to pressure me," comments went. "I'm a pretty independent guy ... I make my own decisions

We all thrill to a ... FAMILIAR TUNE

It is so soothing, comforting, and pleasing to listen to our favorite tunes when played by capable artists. These tunes can make our minds wander back to pleasant memories of days gone by, and also awake us to new joys. Each Sunday we have the opportunity to be thrilled by the preaching of God's word, and the story of God's great love for us. Attend church Sunday and enjoy worshiping God with others.

of them outside the churches, exploring their motives for it.

The attitudes of the outsiders stem from church experiences "they have known or about which they have heard rumors," Hale says. "Their pictures may be distortions, but are drawn from their own perceptions, real for them."

His findings, a 97-page report entitled, "Who are the Unchurched?" was issued by the Glenmary Research Center of Cincinnati, part of a Catholic domestic missions society which supported the research along with several agencies of the Lutheran Church in Amer ica.

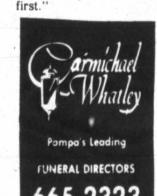

In probing why 80 million Americans choose not to participate or be affiliated with organized churches, Hale notes that all but a tiny few affirm belief in God, but cite various reasons for avoiding organizations teaching it, including flaws of churches or members. Most of the outsiders once had been insiders, but had withdrawn

In analyzing their views, Hale classifies them into several types, including:

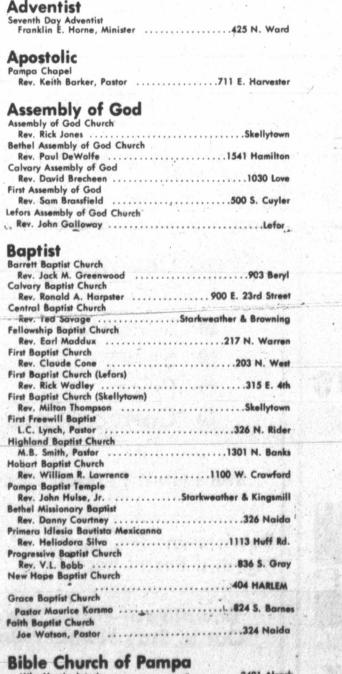

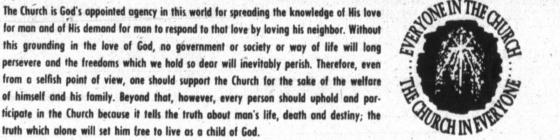

- The "burned out" people who feel wearied and drained by church work and want to travel light, relieved at dropping church work. "The church wanted all our time and too much money," one commented. The "cop-outs," people never really involved in church life, apathetic to it, generally uninformed about it and indifferent. "I could care less."

- The "happy hedonists," people who find fulfillment in a succession of momentary pleasures. "It's either church or recreation, and recreation wins," comments went. "When it comes to priorities, I come

Rangers win in big hit affair

By RICK SCOTT Associated Press Writer ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) -Texas third-baseman and former All-Star Toby Harrah still has a long way to go before he can comfortably declare his current hitting slump ended.

But Harrah, hitting at a meager .201 clip this season, says the key is swinging his bat at more strikes and fewer bad pitches.

He slapped a 2-2 pitch over the left-field fence for a threerun homer Thursday night that propelled the Rangers to a 10-7 American League victory over the Minnesota Twins.

"I think it was a slider." said Harrah of the pitch from Minnesota reliever Mike Marshall. "It was a good pitch and it felt good when I hit it."

It was only the second homer this year for Harrah, who hit 27 of the long balls last year and entered this season with a .262 career batting average.

"I just have to keep swinging and be more selective," said

U.S. OLYMPIC ATHLETES ... A $1,000,000 DONATION.

As you may know, our Olympic athletes are not government subsidized. So they need money to train now if they're going to win in Moscow in 1980.

Here's our plan: Toyota and your participating Toyota dealer will make a donation for the U.S. Olympic team every time a new Toyota car or truck is sold through June 30th,1978. Help us make our sales goal, so we can give $1,000,000 or more, to help build a tough U.S. team. When you buy a new Toyota, you'll also get a specially designed Olympic pin, patch, and a certificate thanking you for your support. Now you can get a tough Toyota, and a tough Olympic team.

SOMETHING FOR YOU ... A CHANCE AT $1,000,000 IN PRIZES. ENTER NOW!

Three "Gold Medal" first prizes, worth over $134,000 each. How'd you like to win all of this? A $100,000 condominium in Snowmass, Colorado. Two brand-new Toyotas. $5,000 in AMF Sports Equipment. A Nikon FM Camera. A $1,000 Levi Shopping Spree. A 3-week trip for two to Moscow, Munich, and Montreal, with $10,000 in pocket money And a Sony Color TV, in case you get bored. That's just the first prize. Three lucky people will win them. Good luck!

Ten "Silver Medal" second prizes. Every "Silver Medal" winner will receive a Toyota Corolla SR-5 Liftback, a $1,000 AMF Sports Shopping Spree, a Nikon FM Camera, and a one-week trip for two to the European Track and Field Championships in Prague, Czechoslovakia. And $2,500 cash.

1000 "Bronze Medal" third prizes. A Nikon FM 35mm Camera with 50mm F2 lens. Nice to have around even if you can't make it to the games

How to enter Sweepstakes: See your participating dealer for a free entry form. No purchase necessary. No sentences to complete. But, act fast. Sweepstakes ends June 30th.

You asked for it. You got it. Toyota. Complete rules available at participating dealers. U.S. licensed drivers only

Series knotted, 2-2

Sonics, Bullets collide tonight

SEATTLE (AP) - Tonight was the night the Seattle Super-Sonics figured they'd win it all.

Instead, they find themselves deadlocked with the Washington Bullets in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series and another trip to Landover, Md., ahead of them. The Sonics held a 2-1 lead in the series entering Game 4 Tuesday night at the Kingdome. If the Sonics had won that game, they'd have been playing for the title tonight.

But the Bullets spoiled those plans when they rebounded from a 15-point third-quarter deficit and outlasted the Sonics in overtime for a 120-116 victory that squared the series and snapped Seattle's 21-game home win streak.

So now it's down to a best-ofthree series with Game 5 set for tonight in the Coliseum, the Sonics' regular home court, and Game 6 on Sunday at the Capital Centre in Landover. Seattle on Wednesday night.

'No matter what happens Friday night, we're going back home. I like that a lot," said Washington Coach Dick Motta. Tonight's game hinges on which team can put its game plan into action.

Baseball watches the Ellis-Hunter collision

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

DALLAS (AP) - All of baseball, as well as the other big money sports, is watching the outcome of the Dock Ellis insubordination case.

The question: In today's unrealistic society of fun and games, in which million-dollar athletes toil for $100,000-a-year managers, does the worker have the right to disobey the boss?

As they say in the Supreme Court circles, this one could be precedent-setting. Landmark stuff. You know the background

The Texas Rangers baseball team is flying from Seattle to Minnesota and up there in the aisle is Dock Ellis, the star pitcher, talking loud, supping a liquid nourishment and roisterously living it up, as fun-loving boys will do.

'Shut up and sit down," barked the team manager, Billy Hunter.

Ellis was livid. He proceeded to launch into a tirade against team rules, came to the Rangers with a $500,000 contract. He blamed Hunter for the restrictions. Although he was the team's player representative, he invited other players to join him in openly defying the drinking rules as soon as they reached the hotel "He may be a Hitler but he's said Motta. "I honestly feel we are a more versatile team than Washington." countered Sonics Coach Lenny Wilkens. "We have more ways of winning. If we play the way we are capable of playing, we will win." A significant change occurred in Game 4, however - one the Bullets feel could carry them to the title. After relying almost exclusively on forwards Elvin Hayes and Bobby Dandridge for scoring in the first three games, they took a cue from Seattle and got balanced scoring, with seven players finishing in double figures.

Court ruling may cause open season on journalists

WASHINGTON (AP) - "In many cities and towns, it could become open season on journalists," predicts an Oklahoma broadcaster.

That assessment was made after a Supreme Court ruling on Wednesday that newspaper offices - and the offices of other news organizations as well - enjoy no special protection against police searches.

Ernie Schultz of telvision station KTVY in Oklahoma City and president of the Radio-Television News Directors Association said the court edict sparking his prediction was both disappointing and ominous That view was shared by many news executives across the nation.

The high court's decision was reached in a case involving a 1971 police search of the offices of Stanford University's student newspaper, the Stanford Daily. Officers, armed with a search warrant and seeking photographs and negatives that would help them identify demonstrators who had injured nine police officers in a campus riot, searched the Daily's photo laboratories, filing cabinets, desks and waste paper baskets. The newspaper sued, won in now have seen those victories reversed. Speaking through an opinion written by Justice Byron R. White, the court rejected arguments that persons and businesses not actually suspected of a crime should be asked to submit materials desired by police before being subjected to searches.

Voting 5-3, the court also held that newspaper offices essentially are entitled to no greater protection against such searches than other business establishments. The ruling explicitly rejected free press arguments.

Not many years ago, journalists suffered several major defeats in the Supreme Court when arguing in vain that retwo lower federal courts but not be subject to the subpoenas of prosecutors seeking help in criminal investigations.

Arguments then, as in the case decided Wednesday, centered on fears that such intrusions into the news business would inhibit confidential sources from volunteering information. Wednesday's ruling conceivably could prove to be a worse defeat. Subpoenas may be contested in court - search warrants in virtually all instances cannot be.

The decision, said Mike Maloopens up the door to newspaper offices.

general manager of The Associated Press, called the decision disappointing, saying "My main concern is that this could open the door to harassment in situations where local authorities are irritated over news coverage.

Benjamin C. Bradlee, executive editor of the Washington Post, said that under the ruling 'the Pentagon Papers could never have been published." "The police would have entered newspaper offices and seized them before newspapers could bring the facts to the written that in effect it makes a newspaper the potential arm of the prosecution," said Anthony Day, editorial page editor of the Los Angeles Times and International Association of Police Chiefs spokesman Bill Ellingsworth said the news media were overreacting. "Police are not going to stage wholesale raids on newsrooms around the country." he said.
