

Opponents of gas bill organizing last effort

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opponents of a natural gas pricing compromise are organizing for one last attack despite a resounding defeat at the hands of President Carter and his allies in the Senate.

In the first showdown vote on the volatile issue, the Senate rejected by a 59-39 vote Tuesday an effort to return the compromise to the conference committee, a move supporters said would kill it.

Given the margin of that vote, it appeared unlikely opponents would be able to reverse the current tide in support of the compromise.

An Associated Press count showed 50 senators either firmly or tentatively in support of the compromise with 39 in opposition and 11 still undecided.

Nonetheless, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., is leading a last-ditch effort to rewrite the bill, a move which also would send it back to a House-Senate conference committee.

The current compromise would lift federal price controls on new natural gas by Jan. 1, 1985 and allow producers price increases of about 10 percent between now and then.

There is general agreement that the compromise would mean higher prices to homeowners and other consumers but no agreement on how much those increases would be. There is also disagreement over the extent to which the bill would stimulate production of additional supplies.

"The battle isn't over," a slightly dispirited Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said shortly after Tuesday's vote. "We have been counted out before. We'll try to find a compromise to work out some middle ground... Maybe now we have to take a fallback position."

But Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, said the wide margin by which the re-committal motion was defeated assures ultimate Senate passage of the multi-billion dollar pricing scheme.

A final vote on the compromise has been scheduled for next Wednesday, but Senate sources indicated opponents might not object to a quicker vote, perhaps by the end of this week.

Long, other oil-state senators, conservative Republicans and consumer-oriented Democrats have joined together in efforts to defeat the White House-supported measure.

All previous attempts to defeat the compromise, said by Carter to be the most vital portion of his energy plan, called for removing all of its pricing formulas.

But now Long and his supporters are discussing a proposal to cut back the increases in producer revenues to 7 or 8 percent in hopes of picking up support from liberal Democratic senators who fear the Carter compromise would raise consumer prices too much.

To appeal to oil state senators and some Republicans, Long is expected to try to eliminate portions of the compromise which oil companies say will make federal regulation a bureaucratic nightmare.

Somoza's forces overcome last major rebel resistance

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—President Anastasio Somoza's forces say they have overcome all major rebel resistance after an 11-day uprising.

A radio announcement from national guard headquarters Tuesday night said Somoza's troops reconquered Esteli, the last guerrilla bastion, and "penetrated all sectors of the city, returning calm and tranquility."

forces retook the other northwestern towns of Leon and Chinandega during the weekend.

There were no reliable casualty reports yet, but Red Cross officials said hundreds were killed in the bombardment of the three cities. Earlier, Red Cross officials estimated 300 dead and 3,000 injured in Leon and 200 dead and 200 injured in Masaya, another rebel center south of Managua, which was retaken last week.

There was no estimate of casualties among the 7,500-man national guard, Nicaragua's army and police force.

The guerrillas from the Sandinista National Liberation Front were estimated to number anywhere from 400 to 2,000, but they were joined by several thousand sympathizers from among the population of the towns they took. They seized control of a triangle of major towns in northwestern Nicaragua, but the superior arms and the planes of the national guard were too much for them.

Many of them escaped into the mountains as the guard took over their cities, raising the threat of hit-and-run guerrilla warfare against the 41-year-old Somoza dynasty.

Some of the rebels slipped across the northern border to Honduras, where they found political asylum, or into Costa Rica, to the south.

Four blocks of downtown Chinandega were still smoldering, but no more resistance there was reported. Residents of the city of 40,000 said 1,000 to 1,500 townspeople joined the uprising, most of them young men armed with handguns or small-caliber hunting rifles.

A Red Cross official said many people in Chinandega buried their dead in unmarked graves because they feared national guard retaliation against the relatives.

Managua, meanwhile, remained under martial law and a nightly nine-hour curfew. A general strike supporting demands for Somoza's resignation, now in its fourth week, still kept many stores and other businesses closed. But Somoza hung on, still insisting he would finish out his term, which expires in 1981.

The Sandinistas take their name from Cesar Augusto Sandino, a rebel who fought the U.S. Marine occupation in the 1930s that put Somoza's father into power. The guerrillas were able to manage only sporadic attacks on the government until the assassination last January of editor Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, a longtime foe of Somoza, touched off a nationwide outburst of public indignation and opposition.

Vance tries to sell Arabs plan

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance flew to the Middle East today to try to keep Jordan and Saudi Arabia out of an Arab front bent on derailing the Camp David accords. He also hoped to ease Syria's opposition to the agreements.

Vance was scheduled to meet with four Arab leaders — King Hussein of Jordan in Amman today, King Khaled and Crown Prince Fahd of Saudi Arabia in Riyadh on Thursday and Friday, and President Hafez Assad of Syria in Damascus on Saturday.

Both Jordan and Saudi Arabia reiterated the primary Arab demand for Israeli withdrawal from all territory occupied in the 1967 war, including East Jerusalem, which the Camp David accords do not guarantee.

Both called for Palestinian self-determination, and the Saudis also demanded a Palestinian state and recognition of the Palestine Liberation Organization as the "sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people."

Vance said he would explain to the "key Arab governments not represented at Camp David... the contents, purpose and philosophy of the understandings reached... so they can make their own decisions on how to respond to the invitations to them contained in the basic documents."

But the secretary's mission was set back at the start by statements from Jordan saying it would not be bound by the agreements and from Saudi Arabia saying they "could not be considered as an acceptable final formula for peace."

Both also called for unification of Arab policy. But while Jordan was critical of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's dealings with Israel without calling him by name, the Saudi government said it did not challenge the right of any Arab country to restore its occupied lands "so long as it does not run contrary to higher Arab interests."

The Carter administration is counting on two factors to persuade the Saudis to acquiesce privately to further negotiations on the basis of Camp David and Jordanian participation if Hussein can be brought around.

South Africa breaking off U.N. negotiations

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister John Vorster announced today he is retiring from public life.

At the same time, he said South Africa is going ahead with elections in South-West Africa, also known as Namibia, the territory it has administered for 58 years. He did not give a date for the elections.

Vorster, who at 63, has been prime minister for 12 years and is reportedly ailing.

Vorster said it would be up to the elected leaders of South-West Africa to decide whether to accept the United Nations proposals for transition to independence.

Vorster, who prefers to be called John — the Anglicized version of his middle name — became South Africa's seventh prime minister in 1966 after an assassin cut down his predecessor, Hendrik Verwoerd, in a knife-attack in Parliament.

Vorster had been justice minister for five years, building a reputation as a strict enforcer of the apartheid policy of racial segregation drafted by Verwoerd, and introducing detention of dissidents without trial and "banning" — a form of house arrest.

However, after he became prime minister, Vorster moved into the progressive wing — in the white South African context — of the ruling National Party and spent much of his two years trying to make segregation palatable to South Africa's black majority and to the outside world.

Where Verwoerd was aloof and indifferent to foreign criticism of his white-minority government's segregation policies, Vorster was more flexible.

While upholding the basic principles of apartheid, he allowed the relaxation of laws regarding "petty apartheid." Some public facilities, including post offices, parks and a number of hotels and restaurants, were open to all races.

He also attempted to reach a detente through trade and diplomatic relations with black Africa.

In the 1977 general election, his administration won a mandate from white voters — non-whites have no vote — for a constitutional plan for separate parliaments and separate prime ministers for the white, black and "colored" — or mixed race — populations. A cabinet and executive president would be in overall control of the country's affairs. This plan is also referred to as "separate development."

South Africa's population consists of 4.4 million whites — most of them Afrikaners, the descendants of the Dutch and French Huguenot colonists who settled South Africa in the 1600s — 18 million blacks and 2.4 million "coloreds."

Attorneys square off in Davis trial again

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP)—Prosecutors and defense attorneys squared off again today in an attempt to determine where millionaire Cullen Davis will be tried in connection with an alleged murder-for-hire plot.

Davis, 44, is being held without bond in the Tarrant County jail, charged with attempting to arrange the murder of Judge Joe Eidson, who had been presiding in Davis' bitter, four-year divorce case.

Eidson disqualified himself from the divorce case during a week-long bond hearing for Davis in which the state produced evidence that Davis had compiled a "hit list" including the names of at least a dozen other persons purportedly marked for execution.

A Fort Worth reporter testified Tuesday at Davis' venue change hearing that he does not believe an impartial jury can be empaneled in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes was to resume cross-examination today of Glen Cuzzo, a reporter for the Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Guzzo said Tuesday that he had spoken with about 200 persons concerning the current charges against Davis and that all but one had formed an opinion concerning guilt or innocence. He said the results of his informal poll would have been "heavily lopsided in favor of Mr. Davis."

Visiting Judge Arthur Tapps, who presided over the bond hearing, took over the venue change hearing Tuesday after District Judge Tom Cave excused himself from the case.

Cave, who kept Davis in jail for 15 months last year on a capital murder indictment, was reportedly included on the alleged "hit list" discussed during the bond hearing.

Defense lawyers attempted to have Cave officially disqualified even though he voluntarily removed himself after filing a motion for a venue change, claiming he was prejudicial to the defense.

Defense lawyer Phil Burleson asked for a 10-day delay in the case, which defense attorneys claim is automatically entitled them because of a new judge.

The prosecution fought further delays that could jeopardize its chances of trying Davis by Oct. 20.

Under a new speedy trial measure, a defendant must be brought to trial within 60 days of his arrest or be freed on bond. Davis was arrested Aug. 20.

Prosecutor Marvin Collins, who opposes a change of venue, said, however, that it would be difficult to get a jury in Tarrant County.

"The people I talk with are polarized. They say he's guilty or that he has been framed," Collins said.

But Haynes said he doesn't think it impossible to get a fair and impartial jury here, though he conceded it probably would take longer than anywhere else.

In removing himself, Cave said his research showed the action was not necessary, but said he was voluntarily excusing himself because due to "allegations made in the defendant's motion for the court to excuse itself... common sense and prudence dictate that this is one of those instances in which discretion is the better part of valor."

Cave was among several persons on the alleged "hit list" connected with Davis' four-month murder trial in Amarillo last year.

Davis was acquitted of killing his stepdaughter in August 1976 in a shooting spree at the Davis mansion in Fort Worth. Also killed was Stan Farr, the lover of Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla. She and a mansion visitor were wounded in the shootings.

The murder case was assigned to Cave's court. He denied bond for Davis in several hearings and the millionaire industrialist spent a year and three months in jail before his acquittal.

Jury selection was underway in Cave's court when a sequestered juror spoke about the case in a telephone conversation to a non-juror, causing a mistrial that caused the proceedings to be moved to Amarillo.

Miss Lillian says Brown is "nuts"

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—California Gov. Jerry Brown and rock singer Linda Ronstadt should get married, says Lillian Carter, the president's mother.

"Oh, he's a nut," she said. "He ought to marry that Linda Ronstadt and he might settle down. When he came to Plains after the 1976 election, I asked him if he slept on the floor when he goes to a hotel. He said he didn't."

Miss Ronstadt often accompanies Brown to social events.

Reynolds returning to old college

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Film star Burt Reynolds, who played football at Florida State University in the 1950s, is returning to campus, but he will not be tossing a pigskin this time.

Reynolds is going to be a special guest lecturer next month at a private seminar on acting and directing.

Richard Fallon, dean of the school of theater, said the actor will be on campus Oct. 13 to hold the seminar during the afternoon and a special program for FSU theater patrons that evening.

Belli demands safe cigarette

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Attorney Melvin Belli, a former smoker, says he'll either force the development of a safe cigarette or kill off the tobacco industry.

The nationally known lawyer filed suit Monday against three tobacco companies on behalf of the survivors of a suburban San Francisco woman who died of lung cancer.

"The cigarette companies are going to have to do a lot of research to come up with a noncarcinogenic cigarette," Belli said.

Stevenson gave up security

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor McLean Stevenson says he gave up thoughts of security when he went into show business, but indicates he's not unhappy he picked the career.

"I once worked for an insurance company," says the long, lean actor who played the commanding officer of a frontline hospital of medical misfits on the TV show M-A-S-H. "They didn't pay you much money but you knew where you'd be at 65."

Kennedy selected as farm manager

Joe Kennedy, Amarillo, has been appointed farm and ranch manager for the trust department of the First National Bank, Amarillo.

He will supervise the management and operation of all farms and ranches administered by the bank as executor and trustee.

He will succeed the late Robert F. Brandenburg. He is a native of Levelland.

and grew up on a South Plains farm. He was involved in farming until 1962, and for the past 15 years has been self-employed in various areas.

He holds an associate degree from Frank Phillips Junior College and in 1970 earned a degree in general agriculture with emphasis on feedlot management from West Texas State University.

"The People's Race"

This Sunday, September 24, thousands of long distance runners are expected to come together to spend a few hours huffing and puffing through the streets of Chicago. Promoters are calling the second annual Mayor Daley Marathon "The People's Race." But the large numbers of people entering marathons these days concerns some runners. Last year's Mayor Daley Marathon attracted 5,000 runners. This year, as many as 10,000 runners are expected. A long distance race in Atlanta on July 4 drew 12,000 contestants. "I might find myself going back to smaller, local races," one marathon organizer said. "The mob scenes are turning me off."

Committee assessing FBI role

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Assassinations Committee is assessing whether the FBI did all it should have done in the investigation of the murder of President John F. Kennedy.

Witnesses were scheduled to testify today about the FBI investigation and the agency's cooperation with other agencies and the Warren Commission. The committee shifted into that general area Tuesday with testimony from two retired Secret Service officials who said their agents performed well although they failed to save Kennedy from the assassin's bullets in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

Wrapping up public testimony on longstanding rumors of Cuban involvement, the committee referred to a stream of murky allegations but did little to clarify them or establish how reliable they might be.

There was nothing murky about Cuban President Fidel Castro's denial of involvement in the assassination or prior knowledge of it.

Contending that it would have been "tremendous insanity" for Cubans to plot the assassination of a U.S. president, Castro accused the Central Intelligence Agency of circulating such reports.

Describing his personal reaction to the news of Kennedy's death, Castro said, "I was very badly depressed. I was very sad about it. He was an adversary. ... You may always have the adversaries, but you have an assessment of them as a person, as an intellectual. To a certain extent, we were honored in having such a rival. He was not mediocre. He was an outstanding man."

Some businesses can't afford insurance System shouldn't be re-worked

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A State Insurance Board researcher says many businesses can't afford products liability insurance but that doesn't justify a major overhaul of the Texas system for pricing the coverage.

Evelyn Ireland told a special House committee on products liability — which some say is becoming similar to the medical malpractice insurance crisis — there is no availability problem.

But many small businesses "do have a significant affordability crisis," Ms. Ireland said. "I don't think that one segment of business merits an overhaul of our rating procedures," she said.

The insurance board raised rates in 1976 for the first time in years, but Ms. Ireland said most coverage is not written according to the rating manuals issued by the board.

In about 75 percent of the cases, an insurer uses its own judgment about the risks involved and sets the price accordingly.

The committee plans to submit its final report and legislative recommendations next month.

Ms. Ireland said 25-35 percent of Texas businesses have problems of either obtaining or paying for products liability policies.

Products liability coverage protects manufacturers against judgments for injuries resulting from defective products.

Ms. Ireland said there are many reasons why large businesses have less problems with products liability than small ones. One is they can afford better loss control programs and present a more inviting picture to underwriters.

Small Texas manufacturers often make unusual or unique products or items that depend on imported parts, she said.

One company, she said, manufactured a gasoline powered posthole digger that was strapped to a workman's body.

"When they demonstrated it for the Product Safety Commission in Washington, it hit a power line, and the man was almost electrocuted," she said.

Yet Texas' committee that seeks products liability coverage for businessmen who are having difficulty obtaining it located a company that would insure the posthole digger manufacturer, Ms. Ireland said.

She said one reason industry has had problems of price and availability of products liability coverage is the fault of the inurance companies.

"In the '60's and '70's it was under-priced. It was one of those giveaway products included in a general liability policy," she said.

Even now, Ms. Ireland added, companies have $1.07 in expenses and claims settlement costs for every $1 received in product liability premiums.

"So even today, the Texas business community is getting a pretty good buy," asked Rep. Don Cartwright, D-San Antonio.

"By these figures, yes," Ms. Ireland replied.

J. P. Word, representing the Consulting Engineers Council of Texas, recommended a law requiring persons who file "frivolous," unreasonable or unfounded suits to pay the legal fees of the defendants.

High prices start business

By TOM DeCOLA Associated Press Writer

EASTLAND, Texas (AP) — If Victor Cornelius hadn't thought the menu salesman's prices were too high, he wouldn't have entered the business and then where would the Officer's Mess at Albrook Air Force Base in the Canal Zone buy its menus?

"I was running a restaurant and doing theatrical printing then, and I knew his prices were too high," the 74-year-old Cornelius said. "I asked him if he wanted to sell out, 'cause he was kinda the main guy selling menus. He said $25,000, so I bought him out. The bad part was hauling around all the stuff of his I couldn't use. He'd sold some of those restaurant gubs 3,000 menus and they were able to use maybe 40."

That was the beginning of the biggest menu printing operation in the country.

"Yeah, we're in all the states and a lot of other places," Cornelius said. His menus are identifiable by a small VC logo printed near the bottom.

How many restaurants are clients? "I wouldn't have any idea." In the thousands? "Oh, yeah, easy," Cornelius said, indicating a wallful of client folders.

Much of Cornelius' success has come about due to his tinkering and innovative touch.

Among his patented ideas are Rediclips, those little plastic strips fastened to the tops of menus that usually carry an advertising message and serve as holders for "daily specials."

You know those pictures of hamburgers, club sandwiches and other meals that adorn a lot of menus? The process by which they are affixed belongs to Cornelius.

A machine that attaches the pictures is a Rube Goldberg-looking device slapped together by Cornelius and his workers. Is it patented? "Oh, I think it is. I'm not sure."

Judges sentence trio to death

HOUSTON (AP) — Three separate Harris County juries have recommended death sentences this week for men convicted of capital murder.

In decisions announced just minutes apart Tuesday, two district court juries returned death penalty findings against David Roeder, 20, and William Prince Davis, 21. Another jury Monday recommended execution for Charles Evans, 23, convicted of the June robbery-slaying of Woodrow Shultz, 60.

A jury spent about five hours in punishment deliberations against Roeder, found guilty last week of the shooting death of Dr. William Fitzpatrick, a Houston radiologist whose body was found with two others in a grave on the Roeder family farm near Shiner.

Roeder is the youngest of four defendants charged with capital murder in the shooting deaths of Fitzpatrick, 31, pawn shop owner Donald Panchich, 33, and Georgina Rose, 46, a jewelry store owner. Still awaiting trial are Mark Cass, 22, Robert Avila, 23, and Claude Wilkerson, 23.

A statement attributed to Roeder and introduced by prosecutors during his trial quoted him as saying the trio was abducted after the theft of an estimated $180,000 in jewelry from Mrs. Rose's store, and were shot to death with a 45-caliber automatic rifle as they knelt blindfolded beside the grave.

Prosecutor Doug Shaver said he doesn't believe the publicity surrounding the Roeder trial will influence jury selection for the upcoming trials of Cass, Avila and Wilkerson.

District judges met Tuesday and discussed the possibility of trying all three together to avoid such problems. Shaver said if they decide against that plan, he is prepared to start jury selection for Cass in one week.

At almost the same instant in another courtroom Tuesday, another jury recommended the death penalty for William Prince Davis, convicted in the June slaying of Richard Lang, 60, during a robbery at an ice cream company office.

Davis testified Tuesday during his trial after prosecutors detailed his criminal record in an effort to convince jurors he should be executed.

Davis was sentenced to prison for burglary and robbery in 1975 and discharged in December 1977.

Final enrollment set for classes

Final enrollment in Clarendon College evening classes at Pampa hit an all time high with 194 students this fall, according to Loyd Waters, dean of students and registrar at the college.

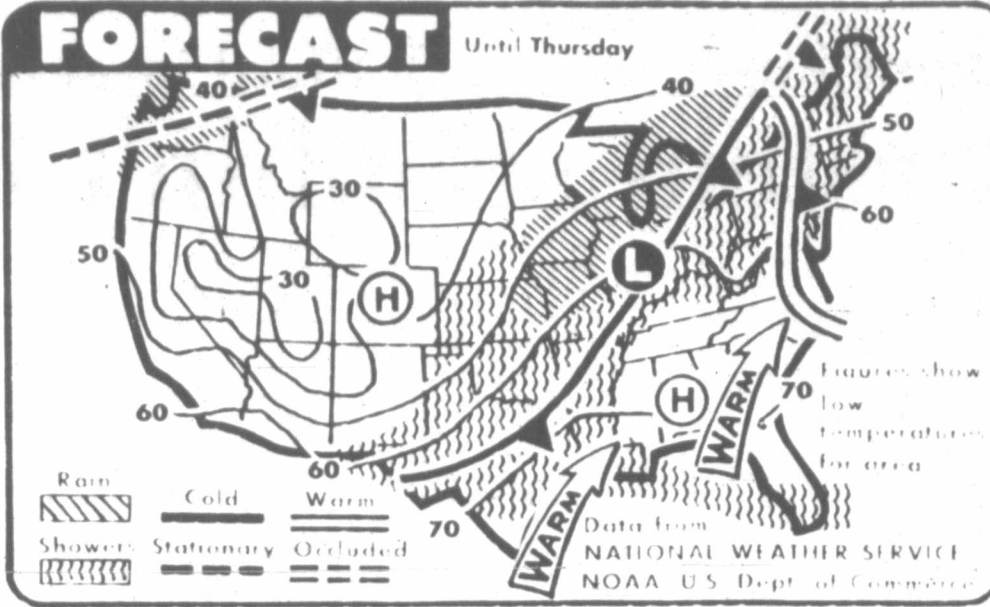

Waters said "the enrollment is six less than the 200 we had aimed for, but we are very pleased with the fall enrollment at Pampa and we feel that the future for continuous growth in Pampa is very bright."

Clarendon College is teaching 19 classes at Pampa High School. All of the classes meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday or Thursday.

Clarendon College began offering evening classes in Pampa four years ago with an initial enrollment of 36 students.

Waters said the college is planning on expanding course offerings in Pampa as the demand for the programs increase. He said the potential for Pampa programs is unlimited and that local enrollment could reach 400-500 in the near future.

The current fall semester ends the week of Dec. 15 with the spring semester of Pampa classes to begin in Mid-January.

Arson cause for fire in vacant lot

Arson was the cause of a fire that heavily damaged a vacant house at 513 N. Christy early Sunday morning, according to Fire Marshall L.V. Bruce.

"We definitely know it was arson," said Bruce. "I could see where the gasoline was poured and where it was burned."

According to fire department records, gas was found in the living room and front bedroom carpets. The middle bedroom was gutted out, and the rest of the house was damaged by heavy heat and smoke.

The house is owned by Derrell Coffman, 841 E. Craven. Bruce said Tuesday he has been unable to contact Coffman.

Both the fire and police departments are investigating the case. The motive for the arson remains unknown, Bruce said.

Another fire Sunday afternoon, propelled by strong southwest winds, did "sizeable damage" to approximately 50 acres of city-owned grassland northeast of the city landfill area.

City Manager Mack Wofford said he thinks insurance will cover the loss. The land is being leased by Wayne Wilson.

The fire, which started in the landfill area and spread outward, also damaged grassland belonging to G.W. Redman and D.L. Day.

Area woman sentenced to probation

Carolyn Zargar, accused of check forgery, was sentenced to six years in the State Department of Corrections and placed on probation.

Zargar had been charged with forgery in connection with unauthorized checks she allegedly wrote on an account at First National Bank totaling $62,250.

Zargar pleaded guilty to the charges and asked the jury of seven men and five women to place her on probation.

After hearing testimony from eight witnesses and Zargar, the jury deliberated for over an hour and returned a unanimous verdict.

Pampans attend Arlington burial

Mrs. Pearl Castka and Mrs. Ruth Marsell recently attended the funeral for their brother, Elmer A. Turley, 72, at Rockville, Md. Turley, who was at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, retired from the U.S. Navy after 21 years service and became a government cryptologist, retiring in 1965. He was buried in Arlington National Cemetery. Survivors include his wife, Marie; three daughters; a son; three sisters and a brother.

Commissioner against bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Railroad commissioner Jon Newton said today he could not think of a more "short-sighted" approach to solving the nation's energy shortage than the natural gas bill that seems to be gaining support in the U.S. Senate.

The Senate beat back an attempt, 59-39, Tuesday to send the bill back to a conference committee for redrafting.

Soviet cosmonauts set space record

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts set a space endurance record today after more than 96 days aloft and with no indication how much longer their flight will last.

At 9:17 a.m. Moscow time — 2:17 a.m. EDT — flight commander Vladimir Kovalenok, 36, and flight engineer Alexander Ivanchenkov, 37, surpassed the previous record of 96 days, 10 hours.

The old mark was set Feb. 11 by two other Soviet cosmonauts, Georgy Grechko and Yuri Romanenko, aboard the same orbiting Salyut 6 space lab. The two missions have been very similar, consisting of scientific, experiments and maintenance chores.

The new record puts even further behind the American space program, which has not launched a manned flight since the Apollo-Soyuz mission of 1975.

Grechko and Romanenko broke a long-standing U.S.-held endurance record of 84 days, one hour, 16 minutes set four years ago by Skylab 4 astronauts Gerald Carr, Edward Gibson and William Pogue.

The Soviet press has issued periodic reports on the progress of the flight of Kovalenok and Ivanchenkov, saying they are carrying out the pre-arranged program and are reported feeling well.

The Soyuz 29 flight broke another record last month by logging enough time for the Soviet Union to surpass an American record of 937.6 total man-days in space by U.S. astronauts.

Kovalenok is a native of the small village of Belye in the Minsk region. He enlisted as a

Noon Lions sell broom

The annual broom sales of the Pampa Noon Lions Club are underway with club members currently concentrating on the industrial sales portion of the club's money raising effort.

The industrial sales, headed by Lions Bob Finney and Sam White, will continue until Sept. 30 with all local industries and businesses to be contacted.

Persons interested in buying brooms in quantity may contact either White or Finney.

The door-to-door residential sales campaign is scheduled to be conducted by members of the Pampa Noon Lions Club Oct. 2, 3 and 5.

All proceeds from sales of the brooms, made by blind workers, are to be used for the local organizations' many community projects.

Rain soaks area

Rains came to the Panhandle late Tuesday and remained in the area today, bringing at least two inches of rain to Pampa.

The wet weather developed as a cold front moved into the Panhandle, dropping temperatures from unseasonable above average temperatures.

This morning the temperature had dropped into the mid-50s with weather forecasters predicting a high of only in the 60s for today.

By 6 this morning the rainfall since Tuesday afternoon totaled 1.83 inches locally, with heavy rain continuing to fall early this morning.

This brought Pampa's official rainfall total from September to 1.82 inches and the total since Jan. 1 to 18.37 inches.

As the rain continued in the Panhandle today, with reports of more than four inches west of Amarillo, widely scattered thunderstorms were expected across most of Texas today.

Forecasters said, however, that far western portions of the state would likely miss the shower activity today.

Highs were to be mostly in the 80s and 90s.

Rainfall amounts reported late Tuesday and early today included 1.85 inches at Reese Air Force Base, 1.80 inches at Shallowater, 1.02 inches at Lubbock and .94 of an inch at Amarillo.

Skies were cloudy to partly cloudy over most of the state early today. Early morning temperatures ranged from the 50s in northwest sections of the Panhandle to the lower 80s in far North Texas and along the Gulf coast. Early morning extremes ranged from 49 at Dalhart in the Panhandle to 81 at Wichita Falls and Galveston.

Rain was reported at Childress, Amarillo and Midland-Odessa. Dalhart reported drizzle.

Nigh easy winner in Oklahoma race

By JERRY SCARBROUGH
Associated Press Writer OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Lt. Gov. George Nigh, the easy winner of the Democratic nomination for governor in Tuesday's runoff primary election, was gearing up today for a tough general election race against Republican Ron Shotts.

Nigh, who shot down his former good friend, Attorney General Larry Derryberry, in Tuesday's runoff election, drew a quick endorsement from Derryberry late Tuesday night and said he already was running scared against Shotts, a former University of Oklahoma football star.

"We plan to win, but we have a tough race ahead," he said, adding that he was gratified that Derryberry had pledged his support for victory in November.

Nigh defeated Derryberry by about 70,000 votes, duplicating his strong showing in the Aug. 22 primary election when he led Derryberry by nearly 69,000 votes and almost won the nomination without a runoff.

The 51-year-old McAlester native won by carrying 57 of the state's 77 counties and limiting Derryberry's strength primarily to his home area. Derryberry, 39, is from Altus and most of the counties he carried were in the southwest.

With about 98 percent of the votes counted, Nigh had 265,536 votes, or 57.6 percent, to 194,968, or 42.4 percent, for Derryberry.

Advice

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Jody, our 4-year-old son, shocked us recently by using some filthy words he picked up from some older boys in the neighborhood. (Nouns and verbs having to do with sex. I'm sure you know which ones I mean.)

Naturally, we were appalled, and told him we never wanted to hear those words again. However, when Jody gets angry, or wants to get back at us for having punished him, he lets loose with a string of those filthy words!

My husband says we should do to Jody what HIS parents did to him when he used dirty language—wash his mouth out with soap!

I say we should simply ignore the boy. Which method would you recommend?

APPALLED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Neither. Most youngsters pick up dirty words sooner or later, and when they realize that most adults are upset by such language, they use it as a weapon. Explain calmly that there are better words to say the same thing, and tell him what they are. (This is an ideal way to teach you child healthy attitudes about sex.)

And if Jody continues to use "filthy" language, don't react. When he finds that his little game is not working, he'll cut it out.

DEAR ABBY: My 43-year-old maiden aunt recently broke off her engagement to a fine, 66-year-old widower after he told her that he had been impotent for 12 years and the doctors agreed that there was little or no chance of a recovery after that long a period.

Would sex be that important to a woman that old?

NO NAME: SMALL TOWN

DEAR NO NAME: It apparently is to your aunt. (P.S. At 43, a woman is hardly ready for the glue factory.)

DEAR ABBY: Last winter my aunt, who has always called me her "favorite niece," gave me her old Persian lamb coat, saying, "It's been hanging in my closet for 20 years and I never wear it, so you may as well take it."

It was in pretty good condition, but the style was really old-fashioned, so I took it to a furrier, who made a nice-looking jacket out of it. (There was enough fur left over to make a hat and muff.)

The whole thing cost me $300 but I thought it was worth it. Well, I stopped at my aunt's to show her what I'd done with her old fur coat, thinking she'd be pleased, and she started yelling at me, saying I had no right to cut up her coat—that she had only let me wear it for a while and never GAVE it to me!

Now she wants the jacket back. Is that fair? How about the $300 I spent on it?

My mother says I should give her the jacket if she gives me $300. My father says I should keep it and give her nothing.

What do you say?

FORMER FAVORITE NIECE

DEAR NIECE: If you are absolutely certain that she GAVE you the coat, you are not obligated either to give her the jacket or sell it to her. Keep the coat, and let Auntie yell.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB— I am 68 years old and a diabetic. I control my diabetes by diet. However, I cannot eat a lot of raw foods because I also have a spastic colon. As you say, I cannot take a physic because it hurts me. I have taken Metamucil which works fine until I have a nervous spell which results in a spastic colon and the constipation. My doctor gave me a medicine that I think is a physic because it cramps me. I never can tell when I'm going to be nervous and it is usually over nothing. What do you advise? Exercise is impossible except indoors. Do you have something I can do?

DEAR DR. LAMB— I've been taking vitamin D with calcium for many years. I would like to know if it will harm my kidneys in any way. I'm 68 years old.

DEAR READER— Excessive amounts of vitamin D can cause calcium to be mobilized from the bone. As a result, there is an increased calcium content in the blood. This may settle out in the kidneys' soft tissues causing calcification of the kidneys.

Vitamin D toxicity is a real thing. You have to be more careful about it these days because many of our foods have vitamin D added to them. Specifically, such things as milk and dairy products.

For this reason, I don't recommend taking large amounts of vitamin D on your own. It's true that larger amounts of vitamin D with calcium are used successfully to help control de-calcification of the bone or osteoporosis in patients that have this problem. When given under controlled conditions it can be considered as safe.

If you weren't taking the vitamin D I would think that whatever amount of calcium you're taking, in reasonable amounts, would be acceptable. The body has a wonderful biological system and when you take too much of many things it simply eliminates them or, as in the case of calcium, simply absorbs less.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY— For 10 years we have been bothered with wasps in our garage and have bought all kinds of sprays and strips but nothing helped. I heard about pouring some household disinfectant on a cloth to keep squirrels from bird seed containers so I soaked some cloths with the disinfectant and hung them on each side of the garage door up at the rafters. I used a hoe to get them up there and to take them down when I want to add fresh disinfectant. Needless to say we have no more wasps. — MRS. J.C.

"... seed of apple, seed of cherry, pit of plum and nightshade berry..."

By Edward R. Ricciuti

Every parent should remember that the plants which are edible under some conditions and menacing under others are not restricted to those picked by people out in the boondocks.

Some of the vegetables and fruits served everyday in our kitchens and grown commonly in our gardens can be extremely poisonous.

Bear in mind, for instance, that tomato and potato belong to the same family as the deadly nightshade, mandrake and datura favored by witches and poisoners.

Eating the wrong parts of tomatoes and potatoes can have results as grim as those caused by the consumption of their more notorious relatives. Poisonous alkaloids in the vines, leaves and sprouts of these two food plants can cause serious stomach illness and even heart failure.

Even such fruits as apples, apricots, peaches, plums and cherries can be dangerous—but only if one eats considerable quantities of their pits. They contain hydrocyanic or prussic acid, otherwise known as cyanide.

At least one man is known to have been fatally poisoned from eating a heap of apple seeds. The kernels of apricot pits are a popular tidbit in some parts of the country, and occasionally people who eat them are poisoned.

The kernels of apricot pits are the source of the glycoside Laetrile, claimed by its backers not only to cure for cancer but also to prevent the disease.

Since the repute of Laetrile has grown, apricot-pit preparations have appeared on the shelves of many health-food stores. Some of the preparations are in tablet form, while others are the kernels themselves.

In 1975, a San Diego man ate 48 kernels he had purchased at a health-food shop, and shortly afterward was hospitalized for cyanide poisoning.

An overdose of Laetrile tablets themselves can cause cyanide poisoning, as shown by a case reported in the Aug. 8, 1977, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Between one and five Laetrile tablets were accidentally swallowed by an 11-year-old girl whose cancer-stricken father kept the tablets mixed with vitamins in a bottle. Within a half hour after she had consumed the tablets, the girl became listless and vomited.

When the youngster experienced difficulty breathing and began to lose consciousness, she was taken by her mother to a hospital. Physicians tried desperately to save the girl, but 72 hours after being admitted to the hospital she died of cyanide poisoning.

Should one refrain from eating apples and apricots because of the poison in their pits? Certainly that would be absurd! Yet, under unusual circumstances, the old saw about apples keeping the doctor away can have the opposite result.

When consumed in excessive amounts, some of the herbs and spices commonly found on the shelves of American kitchens can also be dangerous. Those spices include red pepper, sorrel and nutmeg.

Lately, the rage for herbal teas, smoking mixtures and capsules has increased the exposure of Americans to toxic herbs and spices. Herbal preparations are being touted as promoting both "health and happiness"—in other words, as tonics and as means of getting high.

Many of the herbal products on the market do, in fact, cause euphoria or hallucinations. What is more, they are legal.

Health-food stores and mail-order suppliers are doing a brisk business in herbal products. Almost 400 different herbs are available in the form of commercial teas and almost 200 herbs are blended into 18 commercial varieties of cigarettes or smoking mixtures. A wide variety of herb capsules, as well as empty gelatin capsules for do-it-yourself herb enthusiasts, are also sold by health-food shops.

A study by a psychopharmacologist at the UCLA School of Medicine revealed that more than 40 of the commercial tea blends and almost half of the commercial smoking preparations contain psychoactive—or mind-altering—plants, capable of causing serious intoxication.

EDWARD R. RICCIUTI is a naturalist, writer and television personality. He is the author of more than a dozen books on nature and science.

HOW SEEDS GET AROUND

Tree seeds are scattered in many ingenious ways. Some are sent on long ocean voyages; others are fired like buckshot or enclosed in fruit or nuts or in sticky pods that attach to animals' hair.

These seed samples are derived from material prepared by the St. Regis Paper Company, which—together with the other members of the forest products industry—is vitally concerned with maintaining the beauty and usefulness of America's forests.

MAPLE: These "keys" belong to a group known as winged seeds. Each wing falls with a spinning motion that slows its descent. A breeze can carry it hundreds of yards.

WHITE PINE: High on the tree, mature second-year cones open their scales, exposing the winged seeds to the winds.

WILLOW: These seeds are embedded in tufts so light they can be propelled by a light breeze. They can germinate in a few hours.

WITCH HAZEL: The pods contract as they dry, squeezing the seeds inside until they are shot as far as ten feet in the air.

MANGROVE: The fruits of this tropical tree germinate on the branch, forming pointed roots. They float to shore and thrust deep into the mud where waves can't dislodge them.

COCONUT: A nearly waterproof covering protects this seagoing seed. On shore, roots grow out through indentations in the shell.

PECAN: This can float long distances and still take root.

BLACK WALNUT: This nut may travel in streams if not first buried by a squirrel. Its hard-hulled seed is encased in a tough husk.

APPLE: Many trees depend on animals to spread their seeds. When a horse eats an apple, the seeds are scattered. The fancy apples favored by humans can be reproduced only by grafting.

CHERRY: Ripening in clusters on the tree, the fruit is quickly eaten by birds that distribute the seeds over wide areas.

BEECH: These are eaten by everything from birds to bears. They may even ride on animals if the prickly husks become entangled in fur.

OAK: Because acorns must be covered to germinate, an oak owes its existence to the squirrel that "planted" it.

Pamphlets have been placed at most doctor and dentist offices in Pampa, where people may read them in their idle time. The department has pamphlets covering auto theft, burglary of residence and business, boat thefts, rape prevention, inventory sheets, operation identification and more. They are also available at the police department lobby.

A rape prevention program involving a slide presentation is nearing completion and should be available around Oct. 1. For more information contact Lt. Ryzman at the department, 669-7407.

In same hospital as daughter

Missing Iowa father turns up

By JEANNE PINDER
Associated Press Writer
GRINNELL, Iowa (AP) —

The deadly twister killed 6-year-old Melaine Rau's mother, brother and sister, and authorities believed her father died too when the tornado smashed a rest stop near Interstate 80.

But hours after a three-day search for Lothar Rau ended Monday night, he was discovered in fair condition at University Hospitals in Iowa City, the same hospital where Melaine was recovering from injuries. She also was listed in fair condition.

Police had searched for the 28-year-old Rau since Saturday night when the tornado devastated a complex of buildings near the Grinnell interchange on Interstate 80, about 50 miles east of Des Moines.

Rau had been at the hospital since late Saturday night, registered under the name of Alberto Phonito of Grinnell. Authorities had thought Phonito was a transient until he was identified by Rau's mother-in-law who was at the hospital to see her granddaughter.

University Hospitals officials said Rau was brought in late Saturday night with a group of persons critically injured by the tornado.

There was no immediate official explanation from authorities on why Rau was registered under a different name, but a hospital source, who asked not to be identified, said he was found near a motorcycle at the rest stop and misidentified through registration found on the vehicle.

There also was no word on Phonito's fate.

The tornado killed Rau's wife Rosemary, 26, and their other children, Alexander, 4, and Belinda Ann, 7.

An ambulance attendant said Mrs. Rau's body was found under the steering wheel of the family car and the bodies of the two dead children were found in and around the wreckage of a service station at the interchange site.

Poweshiek County Sheriff Max Allen had said the only information they had that placed Rau at the scene was a statement from Melaine.

"I was holding Daddy's hand when the wind blew Mom away," she had told authorities from her hospital bed before her father was found.

"But how much weight do you give to a 6-year-old who has been through an experience like that?" Allen had asked.

Allen had said he was not convinced that Rau of Alstead Center, N.H., was at the scene of the mishap.

Allen said many of the contents of the Rau car were found in a lagoon directly south of where the tornado struck. He said the search was canceled Monday night after the lagoon was drained. The sheriff said searchers had combed the area at least three times, on foot, by helicopter and on horseback.

There were three other victims of the storm: Bonnie J. Malonado, 65, of Newton, Iowa died at Grinnell. Gary Cade, 34, and his daughter, Jennifer, 6, died in their mobile home near Laurel, Iowa, 15 miles northwest of Grinnell.

The first commercial oil well in North America was founded in 1857 in Oil Springs, Ontario.

Respectfully
Yours...

Coyotes living off cats, dogs

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The elusive coyote is holding its own against man's incursions into its territory — partly by eating the suburbanites' cats and dogs, say the experts.

Coyotes seem to be especially fond of small poodles. Two experts said in recent interviews that there are an estimated 500,000 coyotes in California. Last year they killed about 13,000 adult sheep and 51,000 lambs. But 84 trappers, under a federally supported control program endorsed by the Sierra Club, got rid of only 7,963 coyotes.

Ronald Thompson of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service said that without the trapping, "the livestock loss figures would be five times this high."

Thompson said coyotes can cover 30 miles a night in search of food. They are thriving in the Sierra foothills despite widespread home building. And they're again preying on household pets on the edge of Los Angeles, after an absence of three decades.

A coyote researcher at the University of California at Davis, Walter E. Howard, says coyotes "like to eat cats and dogs," and is benefiting from the near elimination of the wolf, which preys on the coyote.

A coyote's diet also includes manzanita berries, watermelons, grasshoppers, crickets, rats, mice, squirrels, chickens and about anything else it can get its teeth into.

Howard said the coyote is resisting all sorts of control schemes. One was applying foul-smelling coyote repellents to bait. But "the coyotes got so smart, they would skin the animal and avoid eating the skin." Researchers are now looking for ways to attract coyotes to traps, guns, or perhaps baits laced with birth-control pills, Howard said.

Nationally, coyotes are blamed for $40 million damage a year to the sheep industry.

National news

WASHINGTON (AP) — California and Nevada officials have tentatively agreed to construction of gambling casinos along Lake Tahoe, the largest high-mountain, lake in North America.

Charles Warren, chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, said Monday the construction ban is designed to "assure the preservation and enhancement of Lake Tahoe as one of the world's great natural assets."

DETROIT (AP) — Roy D. Chapin Jr., 62, chairman of American Motors Corp. since 1967, will retire from active management of the firm on Sept. 30 but will retain the position of chairman. Chapin's retirement had been expected since last year, when he was replaced as chief executive officer by Gerald C. Meyers, AMC president.

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) — A guard at Rhode Island's maximum security prison has undergone surgery after being stabbed five times in an apparently unprovoked attack, corrections officials said. Dana K. Lassy, 24, of West Warwick, R.I., was listed in critical condition at Rhode Island Hospital, a hospital spokesman said. Corrections Director John J. Moran said

Lassy was struck on the head Monday in the South State Wing of the Adult Correctional Institutions and then stabbed in the abdomen. ST. LOUIS (AP) — Evidence of a woman's prior sexual conduct may be excluded in a rape trial, the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled in affirming the rape conviction of a South Dakota man. PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The last of three preliminary hearings for 12 persons seized in a bloody raid by police on headquarters of the radical group MOVE has ended with the dismissal of charges against one defendant and the holding for trial of three others.

On the light side

A Fortune In Laughs

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Captain Fantasy doesn't want his real-life name used. He's afraid the Enemies of Justice or some other comic book villain gang might sneak in and swipe his collection of comics — 110,000 strong.

By day, the captain is a mild-mannered, $25,000-a-year corporate executive. By night, he's the comic book king of Tallahassee.

He started gathering comic books at age six and says his collection now is worth $350,000. It's insured through Lloyd's of London for $600,000. Another 13,500 hard-cover and soft-cover fantasy books are worth about $250,000, he said.

The Tallahassee Democrat said it checked with dealers around the country and found Captain Fantasy's estimates to be no fantasy at all. In fact, said the newspaper, the estimate may be low.

His single most valuable comic is "Marvel Mystery No. 1," a 1939 book containing the origins of Submariner and the Human Torch. It sold for a dime 40 years ago. Now, it's worth about $5,000.

Why not sell the books and quit working? "It's my hobby," he said, insisting he will never sell the collection. "What would I do in my spare time if I sold my books? I'd have nothing to live for. I'd just spend the next 10 years trying to rebuild my collection."

Phantom Whistler

FORSYTH, Ga. (AP) — A midnight whistler is scaring the daylight out of some residents of a Forsyth neighborhood, and nobody has been able to explain who — or what — is doing the whistling.

"We don't know what we've got," said Police Chief Larry Hesser. "We've found no evidence of anyone being at any of the places where people have reported hearing the whistling the past several weeks."

Police have investigated the possibility that the whistling noise is mechanically produced, but at least one resident thinks there's another explanation.

"It's a human whistle, I can tell the difference," said Bobby Shell, who has heard the sound three times. "It came from right outside the window. I know someone was out there."

"The first time, I was scared to go outside. But then I figured if he was trying to break in, he sure wouldn't be out there whistling."

In 1975, Rembrandt's priceless masterpiece, "The Night Watch," was slashed and disfigured by a man armed with a bread knife.

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

September 21, 1978

Lady Luck will be a major contributor this coming year in situations affecting your career and standing in the community. She'll be your trump card to play when you need it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Important achievements are possible for you today, provided you get out of your own way. Foreign impulses to complicate procedures. Having trouble selecting a career? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Conditions are presently very hopeful for you, but you still could be smitten with self-doubt. Think positive. Don't fear to roll the dice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Joint ventures look promising today, but you must keep outsiders out of the picture. Non-participants could cause unnecessary complications.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll have only yourself to blame today if you make a promise predicated upon a foolish impulse and then discover when trying to execute it you made a bum deal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you're working on an important task today, stick with it. A piecemeal performance produces disappointing results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Before accepting a favor from associates today, look to see if it has strings attached. You might end up with a Trojan horse if you're gullible.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're willing to help others today provided the idea originates with you. Where persons make demands, you're apt to turn them down.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Socially you're a joy to be with today, but coworkers may not see this lustrous facet of your personality. To them you may be a trifle too demanding and bossy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Materially you expect others to do things advantageous to you today, but where the shoe is on the other foot you're not apt to treat them so generously.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Emphasize the positive in your thinking today and you will achieve the type of results you hope for. If the negative is stressed you'll be ineffectual.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) Nice things are likely to happen to you today, but guard against a tendency to think you're entitled to more. Be grateful, not grabby.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Prestigious friends are willing to go to bat for you today, but not necessarily financially. Don't exploit their friendship to gain material ends.

Skills reviewed in AP's Honor Roll

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

The skills of Texas schoolboys in this week's Associated Press Schoolboy Football Honor Roll include pass receiving by Corpus Christi Carroll's Steve Mitchell, rushing by San Antonio Jay's Kenneth Jenkins and football thievery by Kingsville's Jaime Alaniz.

Mitchell, a 5-10, 150 senior, caught six passes for 135 yards including touchdown receptions of 35 and 23 yards and punted seven times for a 40 yard average in Carroll's 35-20 victory over Class 3A toughie Gregory-Portland.

Mitchell and his Carroll teammates went to work in the second quarter after falling behind 20-6. Mitchell snagged an 18-yard pass on fourth down preceding his 35-yard TD catch and his 23-yarder put Carroll into the lead for good.

Jenkins played only three quarters in Jay's 35-12 victory over San Antonio McArthur but made his presence felt with 300 yards rushing on 15 carries and touchdown runs of nine, 77, 86 and 87 yards, the second best rushing effort in the city's history.

Jenkins transferred to Jay for his senior year after playing three seasons for Class 3A San Antonio Southwest where he scored 35 touchdowns.

Alaniz literally snatched victory from the hands of defeat with Kingsville trailing Hartington 21-20 and time running out in the game.

Harlingen had possession of the ball and started a time-consuming sweep by sophomore Oscar Garcia when Alaniz zoomed in from his cornerback position, grabbed the ball from Garcia and raced 53 yards for the winning touchdown with 1:04 left to play.

Harlingen had dominated the game offensively with 365 yards in total offense compared to Kingsville's 201.

Colley, a four year starter, scored two touchdowns, one by recovering a teammate's fumble in the end zone while playing offensive guard and another on a 26-yard interception return from his linebacking position.

Altus backs have good speed

By JOE BLOBAUM
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Pampa Harvesters may think they're at a track meet Friday night when they travel to Altus, Okla., in search of their second football victory.

Fullback Steve Madden and tailback Steve McKeever both qualified for the 100 and 220-yard dashes at the National AAU Junior Olympics held at Lincoln, Neb., in August, according to Keith Floyd of the Altus Times-Democrat.

With his size (6-1, 190 pounds) and speed (9.6 in the 100 and 4.5 in the 40), McKeever has been filling Altus motel rooms with major college scouts.

"He's the number one running back prospect in Oklahoma this year," Floyd said, "and we're sick of seeing Barry Switzer and his staff in Altus."

Despite his blinding speed, McKeever isn't a fancy runner, according to Floyd.

"He doesn't have many moves," he said. "He'd rather run over people than around them."

McKeever isn't the only major college prospect on the Altus roster, however. Defensive end Ken Fancher, a two-year starter and All-State candidate at 6-1 and 190 pounds, has also been attracting the notice of Sooner scouts, Floyd said.

But McKeever and Fancher aren't the only stories on the Coach David Brown's third Altus squad, 1-1 on the year after a season-opening overtime loss to Vernon and a victory last week.

Left offensive tackle David Storey is something of a story in himself. At 6-4 and 225 pounds, the sophomore is easily the biggest man in Altus' offensive line, and he'll be celebrating his fifteenth birthday in a few days.

Floyd said.

Right next to Storey is junior guard Tom Flemons, the baby of a family that's famous for producing OU football players. Flemons is 6-1, weighs 205 and runs the 40 in 4.6 seconds.

Center Ron Sadler is the smallest member of the line at 165, but is described as "tough as nails and quick as a cat" by Floyd. He's flanked by right guard Ray Conway and tackle Greg "Tank" Robbins, who packs 235 pounds on a 5-9 frame.

Greg Buck, a first-year senior, is Altus' signal caller. Buck has passed for 344 yards in his teams' first two games, completing eight of 16 each time out.

"And he can throw the bomb," according to Floyd. "He has a strong right arm."

As a result, Altus' offensive game plan could call for filling the air with footballs. "They'll put a lot of pressure on the secondary," Floyd said.

While Buck has been getting excellent protection from his offensive line, Altus' biggest problem has been a lack of consistency on offense. Floyd said the team, which has scored just 12 and 13 points in its first two games, hasn't been able to punch it in from 25 yards out.

"We'll lose it by a fumble or run out of downs," he explained.

"We're very explosive. We have good receivers and a good quarterback, but we haven't been able to sustain drives."

"Our strength has been the defense," he continued. "We should have beaten Vernon, but our offense couldn't score enough points."

Besides Fancher, the ringleaders on defense are linebackers Randy Reber and Charles Tucker. Both are seniors in the 165-pound range and both started all last year.

"They're better than their size indicates," Floyd said. "They're very aggressive. They're not very quick, but they manage to cover a lot of ground between them."

J.R. RICHARD of the Houston Astros fires strikes Tuesday night at Atlanta as he broke the National League record for strikeouts by a right-hander. The old record of 289 strikeouts in one season was held by Tom Seaver since 1971. Richard had 11 strikeouts against the Braves to give him 290 for the season. (AP Laserphoto)

SMU's Nelson has big day

DALLAS (AP)—Gary Nelson was a big man on campus back in Uvalde, Texas where he earned letters in four high school sports.

But he got no scholarship offers. So Nelson attended Southern Methodist University and asked its former Coach Dave Smith, for a tryout.

Smith was impressed enough to give the battling Nelson a scholarship.

"I tried to run Gary off when I got here because I frankly didn't think he could play major college football," said Ron Meyer, who took over when Smith was fired. "Boy was I wrong."

Meyer, who was a walk-on player himself at Purdue, said "His size (6-0 and 185) doesn't impress you. But he's a fighter, for a tryout."

Nelson earned The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week award Saturday with his performance in SMU's 35-25 upset victory over the Florida Gators.

The senior end celebrated his 22nd birthday with four quarterback sacks and some key tackles.

For good measure, he threw in a crushing block during D. K. Perry's 80-yard punt return for a touchdown.

"Gary is tremendous on the specialty teams," said Meyer.

Nelson dropped Florida quarterbacks for losses totaling 51 yards.

Area sports brief

FOOTBALL HERE THURSDAY

The Pampa High sophomores and Shockers will host Liberal, Kan., and Dumas Thursday afternoon and evening at Harvester Field.

The sophomores, who dropped a 26-0 decision to Miami's varsity Sept. 7, will take on their counterparts from Liberal in a 4 p.m. contest.

The Shockers, 1-1 on the year after a loss at Borger last week, will try to make it two in a row for Pampa grid teams in encounters with the Dumas Demons. The junior varsity game is slated to begin at 7:30.

HINES HONORED
GOODWELL, Okla. — Lonnie Hines of Canadian was chosen as the Defensive Player of the Week at Panhandle State College for his outstanding performance in a 27-14 setback to McMurry College last weekend. Hines is 5-10 and weighs 174 pounds.

George Molinar, a 5-7, 168-pounder from El Paso, was chosen as the Offensive Player of the Week.

Panhandle State, now 0-2 on the season, will face Southwestern State University Saturday at Carl Wooten Stadium in Goodwell. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

SPIKERS TO BORGER

Sporting an 8-1 match record and a championship from the West Texas State Tournament, Pampa High's volleyball team will get a chance for sweet revenge Thursday when the girls travel to Borger.

The Bulldog spikers put the only blemish on Pampa's record earlier this month when they took a 12-10, 15-5 decision in the finals of the Borger tournament. Pampa will travel to Perryton Monday and split its squad over the Sept. 30 weekend, when it will host a tournament and participate in a tournament in Abilene.

Dorsett's day doesn't disturb Cowboys coach

DALLAS (AP) — Tony Dorsett's worst day in professional football on average per rush doesn't disturb Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry.

"It (bad days) happens to all great runners," said Landry Tuesday when asked about Dorsett's two yard average on 19 carries in a 27-14 National Football League loss to the Los Angeles Rams.

"Tony is a unique runner," said Landry of 1977's NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year. "He moves with flashes."

"If he has a hole he gets through it in a hurry. He will explode."

Landry added "Any back will have a game like Sunday against an excellent defense like the Rams. His hole will sometimes shut off then he has to rely on his natural instincts. The Rams were pursuing well and he just didn't have much of a place to go."

Dorsett, who has rushed for an average of 5.1 yards on 58 carries in three games, said "I felt like a magnet out there against Los Angeles. Every time I got the ball it was like everyone of their players were there."

Landry concluded "When you are hustling like the Rams were a lot of good things happen."

To shore up Dallas' shaky pass defense, Landry Tuesday moved Mark Washington to the starting left cornerback spot to replace Benny Barnes.

Barnes was covering Ram wide receiver Ron Jessie, who caught seven passes in Los Angeles' 27-14 National Football League victory.

"Benny is a fine player but his foot just hasn't responded from an off-season operation," said Landry. "It really bothered him on the natural turf particularly when he tried to stop and cut."

"With rest, we hope the foot responds."

New conference created

DALLAS (AP) — A new athletic conference dominated by basketball and spring sports has been formed by eight colleges and universities scattered about the Sun Belt.

The new loop, to be called the Trans America Athletic Conference, includes Centenary of Shreveport, La.; Hardin-Simmons of Abilene, Texas; Houston Baptist; Mercer of Macon, Ga.; Northeast Louisiana of Monroe, La.; Oklahoma City; Pan America of Edinburg, Texas; and Samford of Birmingham, Ala.

The only member that fields a football team is Northeast Louisiana.

Representatives signed articles of agreement Tuesday at a Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport hotel.

The conference will be classified in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Division I, and a spokesman said the group will apply for automatic qualification to NCAA playoffs.

Basketball competition will start in 1979-80 with a tournament at the end of the season. Round-robin play will start in 1980-81, again followed by a championship tournament.

Other sports included in conference play will be baseball, golf, soccer, tennis, cross country, track and gymnastics.

Dr. Jesse Fletcher, Hardin-Simmons' president, was chosen conference chairman.

Oldsters signing up for system

TEMPLE, Texas (AP) — Senior citizens in this Central Texas city are signing up for a new program to make sure that authorities, friends or relatives are notified in case something happens to them.

Under the "Postal Alert Protection System," senior citizens will be able to place a special sticker on their mailboxes. If a mail carrier during his daily rounds notices anything amiss, such as a broken window or accumulated mail, he will call a telephone alert number.

The project, sponsored by a senior citizens' group called "Plaza Forum," has the full cooperation of postal authorities, a spokesman said. Only Canton, Ohio, is believed to have a similar program.

Newspaper route management can be a boy's first step forward

A BOY with a newspaper route truly is in business for himself. With an assist from our people who are experienced in working with boys.

He buys his newspapers from us and retails them to you.

He sells, he delivers, and he collects. Like any good businessman, he keeps records (you can see how valuable this is in applying the lessons he learns in the classroom in a practical way).

And like any good businessman, he shows a profit. A boy with a newspaper route earns money that can help him build a sizable bank account of his own. Useful for the things he wants. Even for a college education.

Not only does a newspaper route sharpen a young boy's business sense (which will be helpful to him throughout life no matter what career he chooses). It also offers him some important extras — the ability to deal with people, and the lessons of promptness, of care, of self-reliance, and of good manners.

In these ways, a newspaperboy manages to keep a step ahead of other boys in preparing for life.

If your son wants to handle a route, put him in touch with us. One may be available for him in your neighborhood. It will be an unusual opportunity for the self-advancement you want him to have.
