State Highway 214 To Become One Of The Main Arteries Of Travel In West Texas, and Other Points

Present indications are that State Highway No. 214, authorized and begun a few years ago, is destined in the near future to become one of the main arteries of travel in West Texas, not only in a direct manner, but also in a connection way because of its directness of location, shortening of travel distance and accommodation to important points sought by many tourists and other travelers.

Only about two miles in Bailey County from Muleshoe south into Morton, county seat of Cochran County, remains uncompleted. Orders have been issued by the State Highway Department for the finishing of that short strip, including laying of the asphalt pavement, making it an all-weather road.

This highway has also been completed from Plains to Denver City through Yoakum and Gaines counties and construction has been ordered on the intervening territory between Morton and Plains. From Seminole to Hobbs, N. M., a connecting highway has been completed, and this new system of travel, when finished will furnish a route about 69 miles shorter from Muleshoe to the Carlisbad, N. M., caverns, according to Ed Pilley, resident engineer of Levelland.

For sometime past various steps have been taken toward building this highway north from Muleshoe to Friona, in Farmer county, and for about eight miles north of this county seat favorable action has been ordered by the State Highway Commission and most of the right-of-way over this authorized mileage has been secured.

Last week the Farmer County Commissioner's court authorized a petition calling for a bond issue not exceeding $500,000 in that county, such sum to be used in finishing State Highways Nos. 86 and 214, and to be issued with the direct understanding such issuance of bonds would eventually be taken over by State Highway Department.

The proposed bond issue is said to have the favorable sanction of George Garrett, division state highway engineer at Lubbock. This action is being taken under provisions of the State Bond Act, act passed by the Texas Legislature in 1932.

There is now every indication No. 214 may be completed about by the fall of next year, and a strictly West Texas through highway, it will become of paramount value to all travel in this area, connecting with so many other routes running east and west and shortening by many miles the distance of travel into El Paso and furnishing connection to so many other desired points west of here, it will put hundreds of tourists and other travelers in this area, permitting them a first glimpse of the South Plains and giving ready and correct information of this section of the state which is now developing so rapidly.

HAWKINS-FISH

Announcement in the Amarillo News-Globe, Mildred Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Lee of Muleshoe, she is well known here, became a bride of Mr. Whitman Eugene Fish October 6 in San Antonio. After December 1, the couple will make their home in Aransas Pass.

GREETINGS, FOLKS!

In taking over The Muleshoe Journal this week, it is with full realization of the responsibilities we have assumed. A realization that we have a pattern of high standard to follow. It is our belief that Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have at all times had the best interests of Bailey County and Muleshoe at heart and certainly they have given the County one of the best weekly publications in West Texas.

For one of the new owners, The Journal is an old friend. Mr. and Mrs. Holland came to Muleshoe back in the days when the paper was hand set and there was very little modern machinery in the shop. There were two farms and Muleshoe was "just a County Seat." But the county settled up and the town grew, and with them, The Journal, and it always championed the cause of the citizens. This policy was the same under the management of Mr. Mitchell, and will continue so in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones came to Bailey County in later years, but have a wide acquaintance and a host of friends to whom they wish to extend greetings.

We wish to extend our sincere and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, who will continue their residence at their country home northwest of Muleshoe. Their many contributions to us are very much appreciated and we wish for them the best of good health and happiness.

To old friends and new, to the public, we invite you to call on us at your convenience. A cordial welcome awaits you. C. S. HOLLAND, Editor. R. L. JONES, Business Mgr.

THE THANKSGIVING GIFT

Faciously speaking, we are thankful we do not live in that Arctic area where, when we go out to pull bosses, we get ice cream already made, nor that our residence is in that equatorial clime where we may be subject to the mighty hug of a box constrictor or have the questionable pleasure of looking into the open countenance of an alligator. In more serious vein, we are grateful for a home on the South Plains of Texas, the most desirable portion of the great Lone Star state.

We all have much for which to be thankful this year, and for all these bounties we bow our heads in humble gratitude. For courage, liberty and happiness we sing a song of joy in recompense at the end of our year's toilsome journey for our confidence. While each of us living in and around Muleshoe may be suffering more or less in our own private world from worry and disappointment, yet we may all strike a note of thanksgiving for the innumerable individual blessings that are ours and our loved ones.

Who "gives thanks unto the Lord, and call upon His name," as is fitting, for whence cometh our benevolence? We also give praise to our fellowmen who, directly and indirectly, have contributed to our benefits. However poor, under-privileged and hard pressed many of us may be, still we have all had innumerable benefits for which to be heartened, and if we lift our eyes from the lowly earth we may still see the rainbow of hope shining in the heavens.

We hear little of the modern pilgrim in these later days, for this name indicates courage and fortitude, and we sometimes are prone to think it disappeared with the first Thanksgiving when those early fifty stalwart souls poured out their praise and prayers. The skeptic, who in his discontent, derides our state as sentimental and idealistic, fails to see that being thankful is simply using good sense.

This nation was founded on gratitude by a tried people living to create a present and not daring to look into the future, but striving to found a nation through being happy for the necessities they enjoy as they heaved the wood, raised the grain, struggled and sacrificed for a stronghold that was to endure as a great nation for a great people. While much of the rest of the world is suffering in turmoil and strife, here in America we still enjoy peace and quietude of home and fireside. God grant it may ever be thus.

We share one deep blessing with those early Pilgrim Fathers—the understanding of Divine goodness, the rationalizing of supreme favors transformed into practicality and applied to our own hearts and minds. The pilgrims of today find great cause to rejoice.

Cotton Season in Bailey County Is Indicated To Close In The Next Three Weeks; Scattered Ginnings

Present indications are the major portion of the cotton season in north Bailey County will draw to a close within the next two or three weeks. While there will be scattered ginnings for a month or so longer, yet most of the cotton grown in this area has been gathered.

In central and southern Bailey County, where crop production of the fleecy staple has been heavier and of larger acreage, picking and ginning will continue somewhat longer. Highway workers who were released a couple weeks ago to assist cotton growers in gathering their cotton crops will be returning to their regular jobs in a few days. Many of the transient cotton pickers, including negroes, Mexicans and whites, have already drifted out of this area due to unfavorable weather conditions, and the recent rain and snow, accompanied by temperatures drops will start still others toward summer camps farther to the south area where wintry chills will not produce such uncomfortable effect in living conditions.

Some growers of this area claim recent dust storms have damaged cotton as much as 25 per cent of its original value, while other growers claim that figure is too high. During these low periods several loads of cotton have been brought to gins containing from 100 to 300 pounds of sand in the lint, which has not only diminished the net turn-out of staple but also greatly decreased the quality of the staple due mostly to action of the cleaning machines in producing the accumulated and saturated lint. Meanwhile ginners have had to keep close watch on their plants because of the hazardous condition produced by static electricity which at any moment may endanger a gin, causing a dangerous conflagration.

Cotton production in South Plains counties to November 1, as compiled by J. Sam Lewis in the Lubbock Avalanche, are as follows:

County	1940	1939

Cotton Producers Urged To Vote December 7th

Every cotton producer who believes in democracy should go to the polls December 7 and voice his opinion of cotton marketing quotas. For the cotton marketing quota referendum is part of the democratic process, Roy F. Sheriff, chairman of the Bailey County ACA committee, pointed out today.

Last year in the referendum, 382 of the 1500 county farmers who were eligible to vote participated in the election, 84 per cent of them favoring quotas. The majority favoring these in Texas was 82 per cent and of the nation 91.2 per cent, the committee chairman declared.

"Voting in the referendum is just as important as voting in any other election," Sheriff said. "The outcome of the marketing quota referendum will affect every cotton farmer in the county, so every cotton farmer should vote."

Polling places in Bailey County will be located at the following places: West Camp, Muleshoe, Bula, Circlecamp, Fairview, Maple, Baileyboro, and Stegall.

THREE VOLUNTEERS TAKE PLACE OF DRAFTEES

Bailey County's quota for the U. S. army draft was three and the following young men volunteered their services, taking the place of the call, according to Ross Smith, clerk of the local board.

Hubert Williams Moore, draft No. 709; William Madison Daniels, No. 502; Alvin Willis Bunge, No. 6. They left Wednesday morning for Lubbock, where they will undergo physical examination and be given further instructions, if they are accepted.

Twenty-Two Bailey Farmers Insured 1940 Wheat Crops

Last year 22 Bailey county farmers, as a matter of good business, took out crop insurance on their 1940 wheat crop.

When harvest time rolled around this year 17 of them had suffered crop losses, either total or partial, from drought, hail, wind, grasshoppers and such, but the loss of their crops did not mean the loss of their incomes.

Sound business practice had demanded that those farmers insure their crops; sound business practice demanded that 44 of the county's farmers insure their 1941 harvests, states J. C. Smith, of the AAA office.

In this county the insured production for 1940 totaled 9,587 bushels on 1217 acres for which the farmers paid 2,367 bushels or -1.52441 the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation in premiums. Indemnities amounting to 7,003 bushels were collected by farmers in the county when losses were suffered on 1,003.5 acres.

Over the state other counties were having similar experiences, as 5,385 indemnity claims, totaling 1,665,236 bushels were paid to Texas farmers by the corporation. Texas wheat producers, 10,987 of them had paid 1,070,715 bushels in premiums to insure the production of 5,183,755 bushels of wheat on 839,930 acres.

Roy F. Sheriff, chairman, Bailey County committee; Lonnie Arnold, vice-chairman; W. R. Carter, member; J. C. Smith, county administrator, officer; Sam T. Logan, county farm agent; Lillie M. Gentry, county home demonstration agent; Thaurd Lemons and Clark Harvey, clerks.

AU REVOIR

With this issue of the Muleshoe Journal the publication comes out under new ownership and new management, it having been sold to C. S. Holland and R. L. Jones, both well and favorably known to citizens in and around Muleshoe. They have retained the identity of this growing little city for several years, and it was from Mr. Holland that the undersigned purchased this publication 10 years ago.

During the decade which the undersigned and wife have published this newspaper there have been many economic changes. The nation has undergone an era of depression from which it is now lifting itself, perhaps in some respects by its own bootstraps, nevertheless, conditions are gradually growing more favorable for business of all kinds.

During the past 10 years of our business activity in Muleshoe we have made many friends and acquaintances, and for the most part, these business relations have been quite pleasant. The major portion of our business has been with business men, and business men, as a class, are honorable gentlemen.

True, during the economic depression, there have been times when business was slack and the management has on more than one occasion had to dig down into his private purse to meet his own obligations. However, with the sun of prosperity again peeping over the eastern horizon, we predict better and more flourishing business for the new management.

Unhesitatingly, we commend these gentlemen to the public generally and especially to the business interests of Muleshoe and Bailey County. We have spared no pains to give to subscribers, a good weekly publication, one which has been a credit to the town and of which the entire trade territory may well be proud. Occasional errors have caused the editor, but never the newspaper, as he published. We believe our successors will continue the quality of service we have sincerely endeavored to render in the past.

We do not part with the Journal publication through choice, but under doctors' orders and for health reasons only. We shall continue to make our home in the "Country" six miles north-west of Muleshoe and shall always have at heart the very best interests of Muleshoe and Bailey County.

We Need Oilers, Not Fellows Throwing Sand in Gears, Declares W. S. Knudsen

The above drawing is one of several being used in the July issue of GM Folks, monthly pictorial magazine for all General Motors employees, to illustrate a recent address by William S. Knudsen.

"I want to make a plea to every body who works, be he on a machine, on a stool, in an office or a manager—let us see if there is not some way whereby the proper understanding can be given to all of us so that the industrial machine, which all have helped to create in our country, can be kept running smoothly, efficiently and with the minimum amount of shutdown for repairs."

This was the plea uttered recently in an address by William S. Knudsen, President of General Motors, a short time before he was appointed to supervise industrial production in the national defense program.

"Let us have the proper number of oilers, rather than fellows throwing sand in the gears," Mr. Knudsen continued. "We all love our country, and the differences which appear at times are mostly based on different approaches to the problem. But with a clear understanding of these problems by the parties involved there is generally one right way of doing the job."

Lift Up THINE Eyes

IN the five generations since 1740, we Americans have performed the heroic task of clearing, populating, farming, industrializing and civilizing a country larger than England, France, Germany, Spain and Italy put together.

Because we have looked always forward and upward, and have worked hard, we have achieved the highest standard of living in the world.

One of the most potent of all the forces that have created this living standard is advertising, which inspires us to want always the new and better things and ways of life.

Of late years it has been the fashion among our radical reformers to attack advertising as an economic waste.

How silly, in view of the magnificent service it has rendered us! Let's encourage it and use it for an ever brighter future.

Highway Accident Rate Hits Peak on Weekends

Sunday is the most dangerous day of the week on which to drive and the hours from 6 p.m. to midnight are the most perilous hours of each day. These conclusions are drawn from an analysis of America's highway accident record for 1929, just published in "Smash Hits of the Year," the tenth annual booklet issued in the interests of street and highway safety by The Travelers Insurance Company.

Next to Sunday, Saturday is the most hazardous day to venture out on the highways. Fewest accidents happen on Wednesday. An unexplainable fact revealed by the figures is that although there are more persons killed on Sundays, there are more injuries on Saturdays.

Fatal accidents increase sharply each day after 4 p.m. and rise to a peak between seven and eight in the evening. They taper off then, but jump sharply again at about midnight—the hour when parties break up. The high point for injuries is reached daily between four and six p.m., indicating that dusk, darkness and fatigue are strong factors in bringing the accident curve to its peak toward the close of the day.

COTTON LOAN CHARGES ARE ELIMINATED

College Station, Nov. 20.—Cotton producers placing their cotton under the government loan from here on out will not be subject to any extra charges for the handling of the papers.

In a recent ruling the Commodity Credit Corporation stated that lending agencies, in order to make their paper eligible for purchase by the corporation, will be required to certify that the full proceeds of the loan have been paid to the producer without any charge for services rendered in completing the loan forms.

The revision of instructions was made in response to reports of instances in which excessive charges had been levied for executing papers in connection with the loan. B. B. Ingle, state AAA committee man and cotton farmer from Grandview, declared: "When the loan was announced, it was thought that storage rates paid warehousemen and interest rates allowed lending agencies on loan cotton were sufficient to cover all costs to the farmer in obtaining a loan."

Warehousemen desiring to store loan cotton must enter into a supplemental agreement with the corporation to provide that no charges will be made against the producer for any services they perform in completing loan forms, the corporation has announced. This ruling went into effect November 16.

The question of whether a similar requirement should be made of cooperative associations is being considered.

VERSE TO A BUSINESS MAN

Soak him on the kisser, put him on the pan.

Roll him in the gutter, he's a business man.

Pillory the sucker, poke him in the eye.

Jump upon his torso—he's a business guy.

Has he built a business to enormous heights?

Brand him as a cheater—never mind his rights.

Does he give employment—is the payroll big?

Put the bum in irons; toss him in the brig.

Does he pay in taxes what the law calls for?

Why, the dirty reptile should be paying more.

Blast him in the headlines; charge some crooked acts;

Let this be your slogan: "Anything but facts."

Has he made some money? Get his scalp today.

Say, where does he think he's living, anyway?

FARMERS AND RANCHMEN TO ELECT COMMITTEEMEN

College Station, Nov. 20.—Practicing the democracy they believe in, farmers and ranchmen all over Texas will gather in community meetings December 13 or 14 to elect the men to administer the AAA program locally during the coming year.

At each of these meetings of AAA cooperators, three men will be elected to serve as community committeemen during the coming year.

At the same time, delegates will be selected to attend a county convention to be held the following day.

Delegates to the county conventions will elect three committeemen to administer the program in the county. In addition, two alternate committeemen will be elected.

BY-PRODUCTS OF COTTONSEED

Vegetable shortening, margarine, salad oil, salad dressing, soap, washing powder, composition roofing, paint base, linoleums, candies, medical emulsions and cosmetics.

From the linters or threads are obtained rayon, smokeless powder, lacquers, varnishes, writing paper, gun-cotton, absorbent cotton, photographic films, plastics, batting and wadding and felt.

TEXAS DAIRYMEN WILL SEE BUSINESS INCREASE

Texas dairymen and dairy farmers are faced with the Herculean task of providing dairy products for seven million of their own people—a job they have never yet been able to accomplish without importing a goodly portion from other states. To this will now be added the demands of thousands of hard-marching soldiers who will train in Texas over an indefinite period. Add to this the new demands brought about by industry put to work in hiding camps, aviation fields, military highways, and other wartime industries in the State. With these possibilities, the picture looks rosy for Texas dairymen.

Despite this, however, M. E. McMurray, executive secretary of the Texas Dairy Products Association, warned Texas dairymen at a meeting held in Lubbock on November 1, that they are slowly but certainly committing economic suicide. According to his statement and supporting figures, dairymen are breeding themselves out of the dairy business through the practice of crossing their top dairy cows with beef bulls for the purpose of obtaining a best type calf slightly more salable on the market than the straight Jersey steer calf. In so doing, they are totally disregarding the future of the dairy industry and the dairy cow for a temporary gain. McMurray noted figures provided by Texas A. and M. College showing that in 1929, twenty thousand less dairy heifers were raised than in the preceding year, with a loss of forty thousand predicted for 1930. Added to this is a steady loss of the State's best dairy cows, which are being shipped by thousands to other states.

PLENTY GAME NEAR HOME
John Seid doesn't worry about going to Southwest Texas, Mexico or Alaska after big game. Duck is John's game, and a short distance west of town is the place to get them, according to John. Grabbed off a couple of nice ones Saturday afternoon and was back home in a few minutes.

And all this hunting for big and small game reminds us of an old custom that used to be in vogue a few years back—and still is—we hope. We are thinking of the days when folks brought prize tomatoes, watermelons, fryers, ham meat, etc., to the local newspaper office for display and final disposition. To the above list we might add wild ducks and deer meat in case there happens to be a surplus, as Brother Jones has reluctantly consented to supervise a reduction of any such surplus.

REA Will Build 200 Additional Miles Of High Line

Engineers have completed survey for 200 additional miles of highline for the Rural Electrification Association in this district, according to Cecil McLaurey, superintendent. Grouping of materials are now being made in preparation for letting of bids in the near future.

Bailey county will get the largest per cent of the new lines, with Baileyboro and Longview being added to the list of communities to receive electric service. Communities in this county to receive extensions are Enochs, Bula, Progress, West Camp, Neely Ward and Bledsoe, in Cochran county will receive new lines, as will Midway school in Farmer county, Earth and Springlake in Lamb and Sunnyside in Castro. Lazubuddy will get a new extension.

Mr. McLaurey stated that those who were not included in this new service, and who wish to do so, may make application at the Muleshoe office. These applications will receive favorable action.

The TICKLE BOX

For the fourth time the corporation lawyer conducting the cross-examination led the witness to the accident.

"No," exploded the exasperated witness. "The conductor leaned out and bit him as he went by."

Cripple: "Well, damned if I haven't."

"Lesh go home now, Joe."

"What your breath?"
"Can't. Sit'oo strong."

"What yuh got?"
"Three aces."
"No yuh don't. Ah wins."
"What yuh got?"
"Two eights and a razor."
"Yuh sho' do. How come yuh so lucky?"

Double-Barreled Defense Protects America

The machine of peace at top, a combine grain harvester, bears striking resemblance to the machine of war immediately below, an anti-aircraft gun manned by two of Uncle Sam's artillerymen. America depends on both for national defense. Modern farming methods, along with the AAA farm program, have enabled farmers to build up an Ever-Normal Granary supply of food sufficient for any emergency. The nation has enough wheat on hand, for example, to make 500 loaves of bread for every person.

"WALLOP INDEX"

Now that this nation is really swinging into its national defense program, there is a good chance to look around and judge some of the factors that would give any possible aggressor pause here—it or be went looking for trouble with the United States.

Examining the facts of the case, the conclusion is inescapable that it is the industrial might of this country that is our best insurance against getting embroiled with any other nation in the world. Col. Willard M. Chevalier, publisher of Business Week, has, for instance, collected some very pertinent statistics on this subject. Col. Chevalier has estimated America's "wallop index" based on the national capacity to produce the essentials necessary to carry on a modern war—items like coal, oil, steel, autos, and electric power.

"Setting at 100 the German capacity to produce these resources, our own capacity would figure at 242," he declares. "Stacked up against the totalitarian powers, the United States still has the edge despite the recent industrial and agricultural acquisitions of Hitler and his Axis partners."

Citing the steel industry as an example, the noted analyst continues: "The capacity of U. S. mills at the beginning of 1940 was 61, 619,500 tons. This is nearly twice last year's output in Germany and the countries that have come under German control where mills were operating at a feverish pace. It is 50 per cent greater than the production of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis; and it falls only 16,000 tons short of the output of the entire world outside the United States, including Russia and the British Empire."

Industrial production alone does not make a country strong. National faith and national unity are vital, too. But when all work together, the result surely is foreordained.

HEALTHY EXAMPLE

While some in this country continue to talk tough group strife is the necessary order of the day, it is all too easy to forget the real truth: That the American way of cooperation and mutual respect for the other fellow's opinion is in practice daily in thousands of communities in every part of this broad land of ours, and under every conceivable circumstance.

interested: the public. Therefore, these minutes are made available to any citizen of the community desiring to see them.

"America has always favored open discussion. . . This is the American way." It's just one interesting case among thousands, of course. And the all show a healthy realization on the part of different groups that our domestic problems can be solved if we all work frankly together—a result that would in the end make our "world" problems a whole lot simpler.

MULES AND—

"Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a plow. Said the man to the mule, 'Bill, you are a mule, the son of a jackass, I am a man, made in the image of God. Yet, here we work, hitched up together year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or if I work for you. Verily, I think it is a partnership between a mule and a fool, for surely I work as hard as you. Plowing, we cover the same distance but you do it on four and I on two, if therefore do twice as much per leg as you do. Soon we'll be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested, I give one-third to the landlord, one-third goes to you and the balance is mine. You consume all of your portion except the cobs. While I divide mine among seven children, six hens, two ducks and a banker. If we both need shoes, you get 'em. Bill, you ain't getting the best of me. I ain't fair for a mule, the son of a jackass, to swindle a man, a lord of creation, out of his subsistence? Why, you only plow and help cultivate the ground, and I must cut, shock and husk the corn, while you look over the pasture fence and hee-haw at me."

"In fall and most of the winter the family picks cotton to help raise the money to pay taxes and buy new harness and pay interest on the mortgage on you. What do you care about the mortgage? I even have to do the worrying about the mortgage on your tough, ungrateful hide. "About the only time I am better than you is on election day, for I can vote and you can't. And after election I realize that I was fully as great a jackass as your papa. And that isn't all, Bill. When you are dead that's supposed to be the end of you. But me? The parson tells me, when I die I gotta go to hell, unless I do just as he says. And most of what he says keeps me from getting any kick outta life. "Tell me, Bill, considering these things, how can you keep a straight face and look so dumb and solemn?"—Kansas Business.

HE IS AN AMERICAN

(From The New York Sun) He is an American. He hears an airplane overhead, and if he looks up at all does so in curiosity, neither in fear nor in the hope of seeing a protector. His wife goes marketing, and her purchases are limited by her needs, her tastes, her budget, but not by dire. He comes home of an evening through streets which are well lighted, not dimly in blue. He hears a representative and knows that what it says is not concocted by a bureau, but an honest, untrammelled effort to present the truth. He has never had a gas mask on. He has never been in a bombproof shelter. His military training, an ROTC course in college, he took because it exused him from the gym course.

OPPORTUNITY IN RETAILING

Those who argue that independent stores are being slowly destroyed by chain competition are given absolute refutation by the official figures. A recent government report shows that independent retail sales in 11 states, surveyed were 10 per cent higher last August than in the same month the year before. And this was the 21st consecutive month in which sales were above the comparative period a year earlier.

It is often true, in addition, that independent store sales show substantially larger gains for a given period than chain store sales. This tends to bear out the opinion of a number of economists who believe that chain development has about reached its peak, and that the systems will grow slowly in the future.

The fact of the matter seems to be that chain, mail-order, super-market and other competition has had an extremely beneficial effect on the progressive independent merchant. His competitors have shown him new and productive techniques which he has readily emulated and, in many instances, improved upon. By joining with other independents in buying organizations, he is able to purchase as cheaply as any chain. And the small business, with an intelligent man at its head, can eliminate certain overhead costs which are an inescapable part of the operation of a large business.

There is more opportunity in merchandising today than there ever was. All over the country, even in the worst depression years, men with a little capital, fresh ideas, and the willingness to play, advertising the picture, little stores, making friends, and growing. The modern independent store owner doesn't spend his time and energy worrying about his competitors, advertising the picture, getting more customers and doing more business.

DANGER FROM WITHIN

Too many persons think there is no longer any point in discussing taxes, debts, budgets and deficits. The demands of the defense program, they reason, make any hope of a large business. There is more opportunity in government spending impossible. They argue that all we can do is go ahead and spend and spend and spend—and put off until happier time the problem of how to do the paying.

If that attitude of mind prevails in this country, we shall destroy ourselves from within while we are zealously preparing against aggression from without. It is true that we cannot balance the budget now. It is true that the cost of effective defense will materially inflate the debt beyond its present record level of some $50,000,000,000. But it is not true that we must go ahead on a "never think of the cost" basis.

The duties before Congress and the Executive Department are plain. First, the whole tax system should be studied from the point of view of the economist, not of the politician, in order to make necessary readjustments so that the burden of taxation will fall equitably on all.

WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WOULD RE-ORGANIZE STATE COSTS AND CUT DOWN ON BIG EXPENSE

A week-end announcement by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce told of the completion of its bill for introduction at the coming session of the Legislature of Texas embodying the regional chamber's plan for reorganizing and modernizing the budgetary functions and the administrative machinery of the state government.

The bill will be introduced by Rep. Joe Humphrey of Abilene. Humphrey is known as a student of governmental practices, holding a master's degree from Southern Methodist university. He has made a close study of the WTCC program and, in a statement, expressed the confident opinion that "this bill and plan supplies a modern world where our present haphazard, makeshift and piecemeal system in fiscal affairs."

"We are ready to start firing," said J. S. Bandeen, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. "Our program, carrying the bill, is set forth in detail in a pamphlet prepared by D. A. Bandeen, our general manager, and Dr. Geo. C. Hester, head of the school of government in Southwestern university. The plan and procedure have been approved by our Public Expenditure Commission headed by Judge Jas. D. Hamlin of Farwell. The pamphlet is ready for the printer and soon will be distributed for study by legislators, the taxpayers and all who are concerned over the problem and the need for gearing the structure of Texas government to the tempo of a modern world where inefficiency is no longer excusable and may spell catastrophe."

Problem, Remedy, Benefits

The WTCC plan in a study of the state's management problem, offers a remedy, and reites benefits to accrue from its adoption. It says, as to the problem, that the state has property and investments worth hundreds of millions of dollars and spends annually over 175 millions—more than the cotton income from all the farms in Texas."

This largest business institution in Texas, consuming so much Texas income, is—says the WTCC—run without adequate financial plan or control and amid confusion of responsibility and management; without adequate accounting or auditing; without adequate information made available to the Legislature, the policy-determining and appropriating branch; and with far and disrupt industry investment and employment as little as possible. Second, Congress must raise taxes, even though it is not considered politically "wise." All brackets must be touched. The man who earns a thousand dollars has just as much obligation to pay what he can in taxes as the man who earns a hundred thousand.

Third, every dollar possible must be cut out from appropriations for normal government functions and bureaus, and applied to national defense.

Fourth, Congress should then, cooperating with the Administrative too many agencies and department, (more than 100 at present) each independent of the others.

The West Texas chamber contends the remedy lies with the legislature. The bill drawn to meet the problem, to be introduced by Rep. Humphrey, provides for continuous supervision of state expenditures and receipts through definite centralized control for direct financial planning; for an adequate system of centralized purchasing of state supplies, materials and equipment. It provides a system of accounting control and independent auditing; coordination of the staff services of the state; a civil service system for employment of non-policy personnel on basis of merit and open competition. It provides for a more business-like administration of affairs for the benefit of taxpayers.

Legislature To Be Tops

The whole plan, "Manager D. A. Bandeen said, "rests on recognition of the constitutional function of the legislature. It has for its objective the providing of sound means of planning, placing and executing duties and responsibilities, and handling of funds intrusted to the administrative branch of the government. Its adoption for Texas will, we feel certain, simply and improve the administrative machinery, accomplishing this in a democratic way without delegating dictatorial power to any person."

Dr. Geo. C. Hester said: "If it works as similar plans are working in other states—notably Minnesota, Nebraska, Virginia and Kentucky—it will save millions of dollars for Texas taxpayers."

A general meeting, statewide in scope, for discussion of the plan will be called during this month. Bandeen said to be held under the direction of the WTCC's Public Expenditure Commission. Allied with Hamlin's commission are a Sinking Fund Investment commission and a Budget Analysis staff composed of technical experts. Bandeen and Hester are counselors to the commissions. The plan will be fully aired at the general meeting, and the West Texas chamber will organize the legislative campaign in which Rep. Humphrey will take a leadership officials, begin to work out a definite plan for amortizing the debt in the future.

Certainly this is not too much ask of those to whom we have entrusted our government. There is no partisanship involved—political labels are not a factor. It is simply a program for preventing the national bankruptcy that must certainly follow a long-time policy of unlimited, uncontrolled, unconsidered spending.

THIS BUSINESS OF Living

A LITTLE MONEY COMING IN

He'd been worried during the summer. Collections were slow and family demands were heavy. "No," he told his son. "A New car is out of the question." He asked his wife. "Can't you get along with the old stove another year?" And told his daughter he thought it was unreasonable for her to want new clothes.

Then, one evening when he came home from the store for his supper he walked with a new spring in his step and there was a cheerful sound to his voice when he called, "Hello anybody home?" When his wife and daughter hurried in saying "Why of course and supper's most ready," they exchanged relieved glances. Father had good news of some kind.

After supper when he pushed back from the table and lighted a cigar—another sure sign of far weather—he began. "You know that stove you were speaking of a few weeks ago? You might as well call Jim up tonight. Tell him you'll take it. . . . And Bill, I've been thinking it over and maybe it would be an economy for us to trade in the car this fall, after all. . . . And Sally if you still want that dress I guess you can have it. You see," he explained a little apologetically. "There's a little money coming in and I guess we might as well spend some of it."

Almost since the beginning of this country it's been like this. Along in the fall when the crops are harvested—if business as a whole is good—there's "a little money coming in."

Not only to the farmers but to the innumerable business men who are directly dependent on agriculture for their success. It needn't be much but it must be over and above that needed for sheer necessities. Money that can be spent for the extras of living—new equipment, new clothes, sometimes a new car.

It's one of the things that makes the American way of life what it is. And as long as "a little money" from individual businesses keeps coming in to millions of American families, that way of life will endure.

The concrete used recently in a superhighway built in one single American state would have built four pyramids equal in size to the famous Cheops pyramid in Egypt.

Iced Coffee Keeps You "Fresh as a Daisy"

BLOSSOM out with iced coffee, and you'll be as fresh as the daisies in the trailing-vine holder in the picture! It's a portrait of perfection, with ice aplenty in the crystal bowl, sweaters on the glasses to keep hands and table dry, and the tray, creamer and pitcher reflecting the sparkle of the iced coffee itself. All you need are the three ways that follow to make perfect iced coffee.

Three Ways To Make Iced Coffee

Method I: Make double-strength coffee by your favorite method. Use 2 heaping tablespoons coffee for each cup water. Pour the hot freshly-made coffee into tall glasses filled with ice. The double-strength coffee will make up for dilution by the ice without loss of flavor. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream.

Method II: Make regular-strength coffee by your favorite method. Use 1 heaping tablespoon coffee for each cup of water. When coffee is made, pour into earthenware, enamel or glass container. Cool and place covered in refrigerator. (Freshly-made coffee can be kept in the refrigerator several hours before serving without seriously impairing the flavor quality.) To serve, pour the chilled coffee into tall glasses half filled with ice. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream.

Method III: Make regular-strength coffee by your favorite method. Use 1 heaping tablespoon coffee for each cup of water. Cool. Fill trays of automatic refrigerator with the coffee and freeze as usual. To serve, place the frozen coffee cubes in tall glasses and fill with hot, regular-strength, freshly-made coffee. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream. (The coffee cubes prevent weakening of the coffee's flavor.)

DEBUNKING NOAH

Many of the important passages of history have been shorn of much of their supposed greatness by modern historians and near-historians. It was inevitable that old Father Noah should get his debunking in due time, and so it has happened.

Dr. C. Leonard Woolley, noted archeologist and field director of the joint expedition of the University of Pennsylvania and British Museum in Mesopotamia, is the debunker. He declares that excavations along the Euphrates show that the Flood of Noah's time mentioned in the Bible, was only a local condition, and that many of the inhabitants of the region escaped to safety in the hills.

The presence of Noah at the scene is doubted by Dr. Wolley, who places the date of the flood at about 4000 B. C., while the Jews first came to Mesopotamia some 2,000 years later. The archeologist believes that the Jews heard the legend of Noah, the ark and the dove from the Assyrians and adopted it as their own. In support of this view he pointed to Assyrian tablets which portray the story.

Anyway, 6,000 years is a long time back, and while most archeologists agree that the popular idea of the flood is greatly exaggerated, it is doubtful whether we shall ever know just what happened around the Euphrates valley in that distant day.

KEROSENE WILL KILL ANTS.

The amount of kerosene that will be contained in a potted meat can dropped into an ant den then covered tightly will destroy the ants. If ground is wet one application will frequently kill all but the few strays who may be out if dry three or four applications may be needed. Sometimes the ants have lots of eggs in their dens and in about 10 days the dose may be repeated to get the young ones hatching out. "Highlife" is also a good remedy for their destruction.

In 1849, plant workers were called to work at sunrise, allowed 40 minutes for breakfast and lunch, and worked until 7 p. m. Today, the average work week in industry is less than 40 hours.

Mrs. Martin Oliver Entertained With Bridal Shower

Wednesday afternoon of last week Mesdames Joe Dameron, Clarence Goins, Ray Griffiths, W. C. Cox and R. L. Jones entertained with a miscellaneous bridal shower, honoring Mrs. Martin Oliver, recent bride, at the Baptist church annex.

As guests entered they registered in a beautiful white satin bride's book tied with blue ribbon and hand painted with pink flowers, the lovely handwork of Miss Norma Elrod.

The honoree was seated at a heavily laden table on which the many gifts from well-wishing friends had been placed.

The large assortment of useful and beautiful gifts were passed for inspection, after which the hostesses served refreshments of cookies, sandwiches and coffee to the following guests:

Mesdames Lud Taylor, Ed Lane, J. J. DeShazo, Dick Rockey, C. D. Gupton, Mary Boyles, Arnold Morris, Olen Jennings and daughter, Dixie Lee, H. L. Wilhite, Alvin Farrell, F. L. Oliver, Walter Witte and daughter Jean, John Smith of Sudan, W. E. Hays, Miss Norma Elrod, and hostesses.

Many who could not attend sent gifts.

WILL NOTIFY FARMERS OF COTTON ALLOTMENT

College Station, Nov. 20.—Barring unforeseen circumstances, every cotton farmer in Texas will be notified of his 1941 cotton allotment prior to the Southwide marketing quota referendum December 7.

The task of informing counties in the state of their allotments and the subsequent breakdown of the county allotments for the individual farms is well under way, E. N. Holmgreen, state AAA administrative officer in charge, has announced.

In a series of district meetings over the state this month, the AAA official is urging the county committees to make every effort to notify producers of allotments.

In general, allotments under the 1941 program are running about the same as under the 1940 program, Holmgreen said. In most cases the allotment for each farm in a county is a fixed percentage—uniform for the county or administrative area—of the farm's cropland. No allotment will be less than 50 per cent of the 1937 planted plus diverted acreage, provided that no allotment is thereby increased to more than 40 per cent of the farm's cropland.

No allotment, however, will be larger than the highest cotton acreage planted and diverted in any of the past three years.

Purpose of the referendum December 7 is to determine if marketing quotas for cotton will be in effect in 1941. To become effective, quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the cotton producers voting in the referendum. All persons who shared in a cotton crop in 1940, with a few exceptions, are eligible to vote.

Rev. R. N. Huckabee Returns As Pastor Of Local Church

Contrary to announcement in the daily press, Rev. R. N. Huckabee has been returned to Muleshoe as pastor of the Methodist church for another year.

The daily papers carried the announcement that Rev. Huckabee would go to Hamlin, in the Abilene district, and that Rev. J. W. Hendrix would be sent to Muleshoe. This was probably correct at the time the appointments were read, but this arrangement was changed later, resulting in the return of Rev. Huckabee to Muleshoe, and the sending of Rev. Hendrix to Spur.

Local people will be glad to know that Rev. Huckabee will be with us another year, and The Journal joins in extending a hearty welcome.

NEEDLECRAFTERS MET WITH MRS. WITTE

The club will not have a meeting this week, due to Thanksgiving activities, but will meet again November 8 with Mrs. Jessie Wright.

THIS BUSINESS OF Living
BY SUSAN THAYER

A LITTLE MONEY COMING IN

He'd been worried during the summer. Collections were slow and family demands were heavy. "No," he told his son. "A new car is out of the question." He asked his wife. "Can't you get along with the old stove another year?" And told his daughter he thought it was unreasonable for her to want new clothes.

Then, one evening when he came home from the store for his supper he walked with a new spring to his step and there was a cheerful sound to his voice when he called, "Hello anybody home?" When his wife and daughter hurried in saying "Why of course and supper's most ready," they exchanged relieved glances. Father had good news of some kind.

After supper when he pushed back from the table and lighted a cigar—another sure sign of fair weather—he began. "You know that stove you were speaking of a few weeks ago? You might as well call Jim up tonight. Tell him you'll take it. . . . And Bill, I've been thinking it over and maybe it would be an economy for us to trade in the car this fall, after all. . . . And Sally if you still want that dress I guess you can have it. You see," he explained a most apologetically. "There's a little money coming in and I guess we might as well spend some of it."

Almost since the beginning of this country it's been like this. Along in the fall when the crops are harvested—if business as a whole is good—there's "a little money coming in." Not only to the farmers but to the innumerable business men who are directly dependent on agriculture for their success. It needn't be much but it must be over and above that needed for sheer necessities. Money that can be spent for the extras of living—new equipment, new clothes, sometimes a new car.

It's one of the things that makes the American way of life what it is. And as long as "a little money" from individual businesses keeps coming in to millions of American families, that way of life will endure.

The concrete used recently in a superhighway built in one single American state would have built four pyramids equal in size to the famous Cheops pyramid in Egypt.

Iced Coffee Keeps You "Fresh as a Daisy"

BLOSSOM out with iced coffee, and you'll be as fresh as the daisies in the trailing-vine holder in the picture! It's a portrait of perfection, with ice aplenty in the crystal bowl, sweaters on the glasses to keep hands and table dry, and the tray, creamer and pitcher reflecting the sparkle of the iced coffee itself. All you need are the three ways that follow to make perfect iced coffee.

Three Ways To Make Iced Coffee

Method I:
Make double-strength coffee by your favorite method. Use 2 heaping tablespoons coffee for each cup of water. Pour the hot, freshly-made coffee into tall glasses filled with ice. The double-strength coffee will make up for dilution by the ice without loss of flavor. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream.

Method II:
Make regular-strength coffee by your favorite method. Use 1 heaping tablespoon coffee for each cup of water. When coffee is made, pour into earthenware, enamel or glass container. Cool and place, covered, in refrigerator. (Freshly-made coffee can be kept in the refrigerator several hours before serving without seriously impairing the flavor quality.) To serve, pour the chilled coffee into tall glasses half filled with ice. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream.

Method III:
Make regular-strength coffee by your favorite method. Use 1 heaping tablespoon coffee for each cup of water. Cool. Fill trays of automatic refrigerator with the coffee and freeze as usual. To serve, place the frozen coffee cubes in tall glasses and fill with hot, regular-strength, freshly-made coffee. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream. (The coffee cubes prevent weakening of the coffee's flavor.)

DEBUNKING NOAH

Many of the important personages of history have been shorn of much of their supposed greatness by modern historians and near-historians. It was inevitable that old Father Noah should get his debunking in due time, and so it has happened.

Dr. C. Leonard Woolley, noted archeologist and field director of the joint expedition of the University of Pennsylvania and British Museum in Mesopotamia, is the debunker. He declares that excavations along the Euphrates show that the Flood of Noah's time mentioned in the Bible, was only a local condition, and that many of the inhabitants of the region escaped to safety in the hills.

The presence of Noah at the scene is doubted by Dr. Woolley, who places the date of the flood at about 4000 B. C., while the Jews first came to Mesopotamia some 2,000 years later. The archeologist believes that the Jews heard the legend of Noah, the ark and the dove from the Assyrians and adopted it as their own. In support of this view he pointed to Assyrian tablets which portray the story.

Anyway, 6,000 years is a long time back, and while most archeologists agree that the popular idea of the flood is greatly exaggerated, it is doubtful whether we shall ever know just what happened around the Euphrates valley in that distant day.

KEROSENE WILL KILL ANTS

The amount of kerosene that will be contained in a potted nest can drop into an ant den then covered tightly will destroy the ants. If ground is wet one application will frequently kill all but the few strays who may be out if dry three or four applications may be needed. Sometimes the ants have lots of eggs in their dens and in about 10 days the dose may be repeated to get the young ones hatching out. "Highlife" is also a good remedy for their destruction.

In 1949, plant workers were called to work at sunrise, allowed 40 minutes for breakfast and lunch, and worked until 7 p. m. Today, the average work week in industry is less than 40 hours.

WEEKLY LAY SERMON THE MYSTERY OF MAGNETISM

By JESS MITCHELL

Magnetism is about as mysterious today as when it was first discovered several hundred years ago.

Faraday is credited with the discovery of magnetism in 1833, though doubtless there were numerous recognized manifestations of this substance many years before his time.

Personality is sometimes spoken of as "omph" or "it" or "charm" and universally recognized as a characteristic fascinating and aggressive factor that leads to the accomplishment by the one possessing it.

It is also a well known fact that the insufficiency or over-abundance of thyroid affects body, mind and spirit of human beings.

through relaxation often changes extroverts into introverts, or at least makes ambiverts of them.

On the other hand, history is replete with incidents of folks who have used their vital magnetism for the very highest possible attainments.

Jesus of Nazareth is frequently referred to as the world's most outstanding personality. His was both a winning and a winning disposition, and apparently with an easy effort, frequently characterized by his contemporaries as "wonderful."

It is unfortunate indeed, that people of this day are becoming less and less the more worshippers they were in the past. It is a quality of human nature becoming rapidly lost in its manifestation.

Influenza in Texas Up 89 Per Cent Says St. Doctor

Austin, Nov. 18.—Prevalence of influenza in Texas increased 89 per cent in the four-week period ending November 9 over the previous month's total cases, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Dr. Cox pointed out that the present prevalence of colds and more serious affections of the upper respiratory tract places a definite responsibility upon the public.

The termination of acute symptoms does not indicate complete recovery. Many persons, believing this, returned to their daily routine only to suffer a relapse.

Persons under a physician's care will be properly advised as to convalescent care. The great danger is with those who treat their colds themselves and return to their duties too soon.

On the preventive side, the general rules against acquiring contagions of this type are applicable.

The purpose of the club is to encourage a study of the history, life, and culture of the Spanish-speaking nations of the world and to afford to its members additional practice in speaking the language.

Miss Mary E. Hudspeth, head of the department of language, is sponsor of the organization.

Miss Glaze is a resident of Randall Hall, girls' dormitory.

These Dollars

Just like all of us the government meets interest charges to keep its credit good. Interest on the Federal debt—now more than $1,000,000,000 a year—takes 1 out of 5 tax dollars.

Most Tax Hidden

Seventy per cent of all Federal revenues come from taxes on commodities and from levies on business representing a hidden burden on stockholders, consumers and employees.

Care Means Safety

As evidence of the efforts made by American industry to make its products better and safer and maintain high standards is found in the fact that 14,000 men—out of every 9—hold inspector's jobs in the automobile industry.

Spend For Progress

A total of $840,000,000 has been spent by the steel industry for new equipment and construction in the last four years in order to keep abreast of progress.

CURE PORK AT HOME

College Station, Nov. 20.—Curing pork for home consumption is so simple the layman may practice it with assurance of success, says Roy W. Snyder, originally meat specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

The recipe is very simple—a mixture of salt and saltpeter in the ratio of 8 pounds of salt, 3 pounds of sugar, and three ounces of saltpeter. This quantity would provide for 100 pounds of meat.

Snyder says the thin pieces like the loins should be cured within ten days, and the bacon in about two weeks, allowing one and one-half days for each pound of meat.

Automobile Run-On "Liquid Coal" Chicago Ill.—An automobile was operated on "liquid coal" here recently, pointing to a possible new industry in the near future and the existence of new fuel hitherto untapped.

We have about a year's research to do before "liquid coal" will be ready for the market, Dr. Francis W. Gotwin, the inventor, declared.

Volume UP
Price DOWN

IT HAS BEEN SAID that advertising increases the price of goods. True, advertising is part of the manufacturer's and merchant's cost of doing business, all of which must be covered in the price of his goods if he is to stay in business.

But advertising helps boost sales and production. Bigger volume cuts cost per unit made and sold. To meet competition the saving is passed on to the public in the form of a lower price.

Think of the prices of radios, mechanical refrigerators and heating appliances, automobiles, light bulbs and other products when first introduced and sold in small volume. Compare with their prices today, after advertising! Successful advertising decreases the price of goods.

Snapshots
by JAMES PRESTON

Observers are wondering, now that the elections are over, what will become of a quiet trend that had been taking place for many months before the election. What was in progress looked to informed observers like a flank attack on freedom of speech and the press, and it raised this question: What are we arming to defend if certain men among us should succeed in wiping out or seriously restricting the basic liberties of which Americans are so justly proud?

For example: The National Labor Relations Act (Wagner Act) is supposed to control the labor policies of businesses engaged in interstate commerce. So far, the Labor Board has not gone after the smaller newspapers. But in a recent ruling, it took a long step toward control not only of the suburban and rural press, but also of thousands of small businesses.

The Board decided that it had jurisdiction over one employer who it conceded put only seven-tenths of one per cent of his product into interstate commerce. It held that since 75 per cent of the goods he used were shipped to him through interstate commerce, the amount of his product which crossed state lines was of no importance.

Now take the corner grocer or druggist—or the weekly or small town newspaper. A great proportion of what they sell is shipped to them across state lines. So by this same yardstick, the druggist, the grocer and the newspaper also can be controlled by the Labor Board.

If anybody thinks the planners believe they don't have control over the newspapers, he has only to look at another statute—the Wage-Hour law. That law specifically exempts weekly or semi-weekly newspapers with a circulation of less than 3,000. If the planners felt they had to exempt these newspapers, then they certainly felt they could have authority to control their wages and hours too, if they wished it.

Thus, by eliminating only 36 words from the Wage-Hour law, and by applying the Labor Board's yardstick to newspapers, every paper in the land could soon be under Washington control. Any editor who dared to disagree with what the planners planned could be driven out of business. The small town publisher has limited financial resources; the government could easily, if so minded, prosecute him into oblivion.

The planners like the radio because it already is under government control. Every station in the land has to have its license renewed every six months. Radio stations try their best to be fair and impartial, but that is extremely difficult under such circumstances.

On the other hand, with only a very few exceptions, the newspapers were fair during the election. In nearly every newspaper the radio could find speeches by Roosevelt and Wilkie right alongside one another. Thus being able to see all the statements by both, the voter at least could make his own decisions.

But on the radio the same parallel can't possibly be completely true, despite the vigorous efforts of broadcasters to keep themselves impartial. Two contestants for public office do not broadcast simultaneously over the same station. Listeners hear either one or the other. So the citizen cannot get both sides of the story in as brief a time as he can from a newspaper.

An interesting sidelight on what happens to newspapers when they come under complete government control is given by recent news from France. This is to the effect that on Paris newstands, the German language newspapers all occupy the front row while the French papers have been pushed into the background. Why? Because the German papers tell the people exactly what Hitler wants to tell them.

The American people theoretically are arming to defend their free republican form of government. All thinking men, regardless of political belief, therefore, are anxious to guard the basic freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

TWO KINDS OF COOPERATION

There is considerable misunderstanding in this country as to the principles underlying agricultural marketing cooperation.

The real co-op of this type is in no sense a work of government. It is not tax-subsidized. It enjoys no special favors. It is farmer-owned, farmer-controlled, farmer-financed. It is purely a private business.

Any cooperative which seeks tax subsidies obviously falls into a different category. It admits, in effect, that it cannot stand on its own feet. And any business of which that is true has no real right to existence.

Cooperation is sound and beneficial if, and only if, it is run on a business basis, and doesn't look to the public treasury to keep it going.

Be loyal to home town interests!

Date Dress

It's a lucky college girl who wears this cotton velveteen. It's a dress of rosy tulle backed velveteen with small metal buttons on the blouse, a narrow sash of matching velveteen, tied in a low-knot, and a skirt cut with a slight flare, making it readily adaptable for dancing.

Newly Wed Couple
Are Entertained
With A Shower

One of the loveliest social functions of the season was held Friday night of last week, when Mesdames Olen Jennings, Jim Cook, E. R. Hart, Leon McMill, Lud Taylor, Byron Griffiths and K. K. Smith entertained with a shower honoring the newly wedded couple, Mr. and Mrs. Woodie Lambert, at the Baptist church annex.

Beautiful autumn flowers were placed in profusion about the entertaining rooms, and Mrs. K. K. Smith presided at the dainty bride's book of pink satin with marriage vows hearts attached by long ribbon streamers, the handiwork of Mrs. Byron Griffiths.

The bridal couple were seated at a heavily laden table of gifts from friends of these popular young people. More than two hundred names being represented either by attending or sending gifts.

After the display and passing for inspection of the many lovely things delicious refreshments of cookies and hot punch were served to those present.

STEPMOTHER OF NEAL
ROCKEY BURNS TO DEATH

Mrs. Maggie Rockey, age 83 years, passed from this life early Thursday morning of last week at Fletcher, Oklahoma.

According to report, the aged lady had just prepared her breakfast and stepped to a room adjoining hers where she leaned over and was playing with a baby, her clothing coming in contact with a wood heater, became ignited and before hands could reach her she fell to the floor dead, presumably having inhaled the flames, causing her quick relief from the accompanying pain.

Another elderly lady who was with the baby at the time burned her hands severely trying to extinguish the flames in Mrs. Rockey's clothing.

Interment of remains was made in the Fletcher cemetery Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rockey of Muleshoe, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. C. E. Elliott, of Littlefield, left here early Thursday morning, returning Sunday. A large concourse of relatives and friends of the elderly lady attended the last rites.

METHODIST CIRCLES

The program subject "Investing Our Heritage" was given with the assistance of Mrs. Alvin Farrell and Mrs. H. C. Holt.

The Circle decided to take the next study in an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Huckabee in January. Plans for a Christmas party was discussed, also sending boxes to boys in the army camps.

The next meeting will be in conjunction with Circle No. 2 at the church for a business discussion, December 3.

Circle No. 2 met at the home of Mrs. Lucille Rockey with Mrs. Horace Holt in charge of program. Same topics and plans were discussed as the Maud Hart circle. Eight members were present.

If all the patents applied for by American inventors in 1938 flowed into the United States Patent Office in a steady stream, there would be one every two minutes, 40 hours a week for 52 weeks.
