

Moore says he will wait on prison bill

Shop Pampa

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Rebuffed by a Senate minority, Sen. Bill Moore says he probably will wait 30 days to try again on a bill that would allow state prison officials to swap or sell its Blue Ridge Farm in Fort Bend County for a prison site anywhere in Texas.

Moore got 22 votes Wednesday to debate the bill but needed 25. It was apparently the first time since the Legislature convened a month ago that the Senate has rejected a bill. "I've got the votes to pass it. It's no sweat," Moore told reporters after the Senate had adjourned. He said, however, he would probably wait until after the 60-day mark when he would need a maximum of 21 votes to bring the bill before Senate. Current law requires any new prison to be built within 75 miles of Huntsville, which is the center of a prison system that holds nearly 25,000 inmates. Of that total, approximately 800 are said to be sleeping on the floor. Prior to the vote Wednesday, Moore refused to accept an amendment by Sen. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg, to prohibit a new prison from being built near Edinburg, and his refusal touched off a brief exchange. "You run your district and let me run mine," said Longoria. "I personally don't know why they would want to put a prison down there," replied Moore. Prison officials have noted that the site must be in an area with a long growing season and a sufficient water supply for farming, since prisoners grow their own food. Two West Texas sites — near Van Horn and Fort Stockton — already have been ruled out because of insufficient water reserves, officials told the Senate Finance Committee last week. Longoria's amendment would prohibit officials from buying land west of U.S. 281 in Hidalgo County for a prison site.

Asked about Longoria's objection, Moore said: "I don't understand that because it would create a lot of jobs and would be convenient for the inmates because their families, who are usually poor, have to catch a bus to Huntsville now to visit them."

Colleges using 'gimmick bonds'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Colleges are using "gimmick bonds" to escape the Texas Constitution's "pay-as-you-go" provision, says Sen. Lloyd Doggett. Doggett, D-Austin, told the Senate Education Committee Wednesday that Texas' educational sector is second only to New York in deficit spending even though it is prohibited by the constitution. He urged repeal of the 1941 Skiles Act, which authorizes colleges to pledge $5 from each student's tuition each semester to support campus construction bonds. Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, proposed canceling a special authorization in 1971-73 for the University of Texas System, Texas A&M University, Texas Tech University, University of Houston and Pan American University to issue $242.5 million in tuition revenue bonds. In yet another attempt to hold down college costs, Mauzy offered a bill outlawing the use of state funds to build senior college centers on junior college campuses. These upper-level centers now lease space. "Year after year, the Coordinating Board is faced with efforts by these centers to become separately recognized by the Legislature, to be separately funded, to become separately accredited and to build their own campuses," said Kenneth Ashworth, commissioner of higher education. Ashworth said upper-level centers at Brownsville, Uvalde, Victoria, Laredo, Texarkana, Orange and Port Arthur showed a net enrollment increase of only 186 students this year and those at Uvalde, Victoria and

Texarkana had a net decline of 125. Nevertheless, Ashworth said, the centers have asked the 1979 Legislature for more than $9 million in construction funds, and efforts are underway to create additional centers. Ashworth's figures show 13 major schools have been added to the state system in 10 years as higher education costs have risen from $670 million to $2.9 billion and are expected to soar as high as $5.8 billion in 1984-85. "We believe the state has already overexpanded its higher education system... it is time we slowed down," he said. Robert Norwood of the Texas Research League said tuition bonds are "an excessively expensive way to support bonded indebtedness" with interest running up to 30 percent a year more than on general obligation bonds. The tuition income lost in retiring the bonds, Norwood said, must be made up by appropriations from general tax revenue, and this costs Texas approximately $6 million every two years. President F.H. McDowell of East Texas State University opposed the Doggett proposal. McDowell, chairman of the legislative committee of the Council of College Presidents,

House chops spending bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Challenged to keep campaign promises of government economy, the House has chopped an emergency spending bill for the Texas Railroad Commission by more than half. Speaker Bill Clayton said that was okay with him, even though a band of dissidents, newly labeled "The Gang of Four," led the charge and roughed up the work of his House Appropriations Committee. "I didn't care whether it went through intact. If they can't prove their case, they don't deserve it. I don't like to dish out any extra dollars if they don't need it," Clayton said.

The House voted 75-66 to cut the bill from $581,682 to $245,509, then advanced it on voice vote. A final vote is expected Monday. Senators then would decide whether to accept the cut or call for negotiations with the House. With "The Gang of Four" threatening a floor fight, sponsors postponed until March 9 another emergency bill, appropriating $115,794 to the Texas Animal Health Commission. The railroad commission appropriation was sold as necessary to cover the cost of analyzing each Texas gas well for federal pricing decisions under the 1978 natural gas policy act.

But Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, said the commission had requested only $245,509 for that purpose and failed to justify the rest. "They are asking for 40 positions when their own report says they need only 17 positions to implement the federal act," Coleman said. "I assume they are running a taut ship over there... If you want to question their integrity, so be it," replied Rep. Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, sponsor of the bill. Coleman reminded the representatives of campaign promises to work for government economy. "Political rhetoric sounds real good back home. Let's see if you've got the nerve to do it today," he said. Coleman also had help from Reps. John Whitmire, D-Houston; John Bryant, D-Dallas; and Luther Jones, D-El Paso. The four have been the most vocal critics of Clayton and his administration. Before lawmakers dispersed for the day, the label "The Gang of Four" was making the rounds. The four had distributed memoranda criticizing the animal health commission appropriation for a brucellosis program as a boondoggle for former Rep. Joe Hubenak of Rosenberg.

Farmers have new found home

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a dozen or so protesting farmers, the Agriculture Department has turned into a home away from home each night. They sprawl on office couches and carpets to catch a few winks of sleep.

Hundreds of others have found the department's open-door policy during the American Agriculture protests this week a welcome opportunity to visit toilets, fill buckets with water, eat in the cafeteria and take steaming cups of coffee to others waiting on cold tractors.

Although security forces are scattered profusely throughout the department's sprawling complex that includes more than 8,000 employees in a normal working day, some farmers also are grabbing a few souvenirs of their visit.

One of the first incidents when the protest began was removal of the official USDA flag from one of two poles in front of the administration building and replacing it with American Agriculture's own banner.

On Wednesday, the U.S. flag on the other pole was removed, presumably by one of the protesters, officials said.

Normally, everyone entering or leaving the department after 6 p.m. has to sign a register at a security desk. This rule was suspended so farmers could move freely in and out of the premises.

Joseph T. McDavid, the department's press chief, said it was decided to have an "open building" during the time American Agriculture had its tractors and drivers here and that "if they want to sleep inside, they can."

On the first night, security forces counted 12 farmers who slept inside in various offices. Eighteen were reported as sleeping in the following night.

No attempt was made to count scores of others who wandered around during the evenings.

But some people have rifled desks and file cabinets in a number of offices, including those of senior officials.

Some papers were taken on one occasion from the office of Howard Hjort, the department's chief economist and farm program strategist.

Several visiting farmers were observed looking through a secretary's desk early Wednesday in the office of Stephen B. Dewhurst, the department's budget officer.

McDavid said a number of notes, some of them obscene, have been left in office typewriters to greet secretaries of department officials when they came to work in the morning.

Other petty thefts have occurred this week, including one observed by a reporter when a farmer rifled off a sign pointing the way to an information office and carried it away. Pencils, pens, desk sets and other items also have been reported missing.

Color portraits of President Carter and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland were early casualties.

But the farmers have left things behind, too: hundreds of bumper stickers plastered to walls, file cabinets, cafeteria facilities and even ceilings to proclaim support of American Agriculture and, frequently, criticism of Bergland and Carter.

For the most part, farmers have been courteous around department employees. A few whistles or catcalls have been heard in the cafeteria as young women walk by, and there have been occasional jibes at other workers.

Some farmers have entered offices during working hours and used telephones or picked up material from desks without asking permission, according to one personnel official.

Soviet Union has bought an additional 450,000 metric tons of U.S. corn for delivery this year, says the Agriculture Department.

Officials said Wednesday the latest sales were reported by private exporting companies. As customary in such sales reports, no other details were disclosed.

The new listings boosted to more than 3.1 million metric tons the total of corn the Soviet Union has bought for delivery through Sept. 30, the end of the third year of a long-term grain sales agreement with the United States.

Additionally, the Soviets have bought nearly 1.4 million metric tons of wheat for delivery this year.

The agreement requires the Soviet Union to buy a minimum of six million metric tons of U.S. wheat and corn, combined, annually.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

U.S. exports to Soviets on upswing

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. exports to the Soviet Union might reach $10 billion within five years if the United States made a dedicated effort, says an authority on Soviet trade.

In the process, said James V. Forrestal, president of the US-USSR Trade and Economic Council, this country could reduce its foreign trade imbalance and lessen tensions between the two great powers.

Trade between the two countries has deteriorated, however, U.S. non-grain exports that jumped from $100 million in 1972 to $800 million in 1976, dropped to less than $600 million in each of the past two years.

And the United States, Forrestal indicates, is at least as much to blame as the Soviets, and perhaps more so. The Soviets are anxious to trade, he said, but have been frustrated by U.S. policies.

The trade council, of which Forrestal was named president last summer, is a product of the trade detente that appeared to be the goal of both nations beginning with the Nixon administration.

In pursuit of it, the countries established a non-profit organization of 270 American companies and 114 Soviet trade groups.

Operating from jointly staffed offices here and in Moscow, the council effectively built trade until Congress denied "most favored nation" status to the Soviets unless their emigration policy was liberalized.

In response, the Soviets rejected a trade agreement already initiated. The stalemate left them without U.S. credits and U.S. tariffs so high as to make impractical any exports to the United States.

Forrestal agrees it is important for the United States to be sensitive to human rights and to influence world opinion so as to make human values "more real to the world and the Soviet Union."

But even in America, he continued, "you cannot change your neighbor's behavior in his own house. It boomerangs."

"Trade as pressure to get other countries to do what we want is not wise," said Forrestal, 51, an early Marshall Plan staffer, former White House aide, and still a partner in a Wall Street law firm.

The Soviet reasons for being disturbed are logical, he said. They have a planned economy. Decisions take a long time to make and once they are made they depend very much on the stability of an agreement.

The American delegation for the council came away from the council's annual Moscow meeting last December convinced the Soviets want normal trade relations.

Washington today

By WALTER R. MEARS
 AP Special Correspondent
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Nowadays, when throngs of protesters descend on Washington to block the streets and demand their way, the government is downright cordial. Police bend the rules, the mayor counsels leniency and highway lanes are set aside for the demonstrators. In a city where jaywalking can get you a $5 ticket, militant farmers demanding more money for their crops got police escorts on the way to block traffic. Perhaps the people who came to protest against the war in Vietnam eight years ago should have cut their hair and driven tractors. Instead of permits, they got mass arrests. Before the 1971 May Day demonstrations ended, 12,000 people had been swept up in police nets. Virtually all those arrests were later ruled illegal. It was not a proud time, but Middle America generally applauded the roundup of demonstrators. Now part of Middle America is doing the demonstrating, demanding not peace but parity. The farmers of the American Agriculture Movement did not say they intended to shut down the city. But with nearly 2,000 tractors massed around Washington, it was obvious they were not planning quiet efforts at persuasion. Police set aside lanes for their "tractorcade" into town, to ease the guaranteed traffic jam. That covered four routes, so the farmers split their forces and tied up eight highways. Official cooperation, apparently, was supposed to promote an orderly demonstration. In fact, the farmers had more success than the Mayday Tribe in fouling up the city. There were scattered episodes of violence and arrests. Most of the trouble occurred Monday. Late that afternoon police barricaded the tractors on the Mall to keep them from fouling up traffic anymore. After they get through clogging traffic, the farmers plan to spend several weeks lobbying Congress for legislation to increase their prices. Their reception may depend on how many congressmen get caught up in the four-hour traffic jams the farmers' tractors created. President Carter said Monday that agriculture is generally prosperous, but that more must be done to ensure that all farmers share that prosperity. "I don't know of any group that's suffered more from the effects of inflation than farmers," Carter said. Alfred Kahn, who heads Carter's anti-inflation program, said he does not think farmers suffer most. He said the massed tractors "do not bode well for food prices." That is the bottom line for most of the people who found the road to work blocked by tractors. They do not set farm prices, they just pay for food.

FOCUS

Monsieur Hockey

His last name means "the flower," but his French Canadian fans call him "Monsieur Hockey." When the National Hockey League all-stars take to the ice tonight against the Soviet national team, Monsieur Hockey will be there, starting at right wing. Guy Lafleur, who has led the NHL in scoring for the past three seasons, was the top vote-getter, when fans elected tonight's starting all-star team. In spite of his stardom, Lafleur still arrives early for each practice to perfect his skills. When he's not playing hockey, Lafleur enjoys going to discos to relax. But he says, "I do my dance on the ice." DO YOU KNOW — For what National Hockey League team does Guy Lafleur play? WEDNESDAY'S ANSWER — Scott Joplin composed "Maple Leaf Rag" and "The Entertainer."

Jimmy's White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Anyone who doubts President Carter's dedication to jogging should have seen him and wife Rosalynn running in tandem in the White House Rose Garden. She was snug in a warmup suit but the president had stripped down to tennis shorts — with the temperature about 40 degrees. Perhaps you've seen men like that in your neighborhood, and wondered how they avoid head colds. Well, Carter would tell you he hasn't had the sniffles since the jogging mania struck him. Although the president usually runs around the oval drive on the South Lawn, on the occasion in question he and Rosalynn were running back and forth in the Rose Garden, which is 100 feet long. The sight of them brought to mind President John F. Kennedy, who was so proud of the Rose Garden turf after he had it resodded that anyone who even walked lightly there risked a presidential reprimand. If Kennedy, from his vantage point in the nearby Oval Office, spotted anyone walking on his new lawn, he'd run outside himself to personally express his displeasure. When Carter first started jogging, one of his armed forces

by bernice bede osol

This coming year, you may turn a very handsome profit from a side situation you're quite knowledgeable about. Its yield could match or top your regular income.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your chances for gain from a situation controlled by another looks promising today, provided you don't rock the boat. Be a good passenger. Find out more about yourself by sending for your all-new 1979 Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Though you may be tempted to discuss business with a friend at a social gathering today, curb the impulse. Make an appointment to talk in his office.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be sure to share equally today praise or benefits resulting from a task someone else helped you perform. There's a possibility it could slip your mind.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unless it is a labor of love, you might be wise to postpone your work today if your heart's not in it. You won't do a good job.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Calculated risks in practical areas should pay off today, but in situations where you are taking far-out gambles, the opposite will be true.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The spirit is willing today but the flesh may be weak. Good things you had planned to do for another might be shelved if the going gets tough.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone may perform a very necessary service for you today. It's right and proper to show gratitude, but take care that the payment doesn't exceed value of the deed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A dichotomy where your finances are concerned today. In some instances you will be very prudent, while in others you could be extremely extravagant.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your compassionate concern for another is admirable today. But don't take the edge off what you do by boasting about it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Give credit where credit is due. A friend could conceive a very worthwhile idea today which she will share with you, but you may later claim it as your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Businesswise, you're very levelheaded today, and capable of deriving benefits. In other areas this won't be true.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Others will help you fulfill your ambitions today if you lay all your cards on the table. Should you attempt to hold back, they're likely to do the same. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
