GTE Southwest seeks telephone rate increase

A proposed rate increase by GTE Southwest would increase basic residential telephone rates in Haskell by 69 percent. Business rates would increase by 52 percent.

Under the proposal, basic rates in Haskell would jump from $8.55 per month to $14.45 for one-party residential lines. One-party business phone rates would increase from $22.15 per month to $33.65.

Exchange access rates would increase from $1.35 to $1.40 for residences, but would decrease from $3.55 to $3.25 for businesses.

GTE Southwest has filed updated rate schedules in accordance with directives of the Public Utility Commission of Texas to update the company's unresolved 1984 filing for additional revenues.

GTE Southwest failed to gain acceptance of an offer to withdraw its 1984 rate filing.

The company says financial information in the updated rate filing shows the company has an $81 million revenue deficiency based on a rate of return which is actually lower than the commission's last authorized rate of return.

"The last time the company raised rates was in 1983," said GTE Southwest president E. L. "Buddy" Langley. We have known, with increased expenses and capital investments, that eventually we would have to ask for increased revenues. With the downturn in the Texas economy we wanted to delay this as long as possible. However, since we are being required to update the current financials and process the merits of the rate filing, we have decided to seek the rates necessary to cover the revenue deficiency."

The company filed a petition early in 1987 to withdraw its 1984 filing, but some participants in the case resisted the move, voicing concern the company could be overearning because of changes in state and federal tax laws. As a result, the company was ordered to prepare the updated information by April 30. An extension was granted to allow for additional negotiation, but the parties to the case were unable to resolve the

Langley said the four-year delay in the rate proceeding illustrates the complexities caused by deregulation and other major changes affecting the telecommunications industry in the

GTE Southwest initially filed for $84.4 million in additional revenues in February 1984. Prior to hearings, the case was suspended to await a decision in another commission proceeding concerning changes brought about by the AT&T divestiture and competition in longdistance service. Due to the many complexities associated with these issues, a final order was not issued in this proceeding until September

"Our updated financials show we are not overearning," Langley said. We have factored in all the changes affecting the company, both positive and negative, and the result is that the company still has an $81 million revenue deficiency.

The reduced expenses, such as the reduction in both state and federal taxes, have been more than offset by increases in other expenses and in our investment in providing service in the state," he said.

The company now expects the administrative law judge in charge of the company's filing will set a schedule of dates to allow other parties in the case to file appropriate testimony and data, and set hearing dates to consider the proposed new

Rule Baptists plan 'Dr. Howell Day'

Dr. E. Milford Howell will be honored Sunday with a "Dr. Howell Day at the First Baptist Church in Rule, in recognition of his 50 years of service in the mission field and preaching the gospel at home.

Howell will preach at both the morning and evening services. A noon luncheon will give friends an opportunity to visit with Dr. Howell and his family.

Reared in Rule and a graduate of Rule High School, Howell answered the call to preach on April 19, 1938. He recently observed his 50th year in the ministry as a preacher and missionary to Nigeria, Africa. He received his appointment from the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in 1943 and then served in Nigeria for 21 years (until 1964) before retiring due to serious health problems of his

For three and a half years he was pastor of North Lake Baptist Church in Dallas. Following his pastorate he was asked to be state director of missions of Maryland, which was composed of 11 Eastern states. He served seven years in this capacity.

His next call was to Florida where he was director of missions for 12 years. He retired from the Foreign Mission Board in 1984. Since retirement he has served four churches as interium pastor, has held many revivals and filled many and various speaking engagements.

Dr. E. Milford Howell

Howell holds five degrees from: universities and seminaries. The first one, a bachelor of science, was earned from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, and the last one was a doctor of philosophy from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. He is a member of "Who's Who in Religion in America."

Howell and his wife live in Carrollton.

New Park inhabitant

Jean Baugh of Rule shows off one of the two geese she delivered to Rice Springs Park last Thursday. To her left are councilman Darrell Smith, Mayor Greg Melton and councilmen Jerry Stocks and Larry McMillin. The geese, along with 10 ducks, were given to the city by Haskell National Bank.

Park gets ducks, geese

Ten ducks and a pair of geese have taken up residence in Haskell's Rice Springs Park.

They were presented to the City of Haskell as a gift from Haskell National Bank.

The flock consists of nine pedigreed Khaki Campbell ducks, six females and three males; a Blue Magpie female duck; and a pair of white Chinese geese.

Larry McMillin, a senior vice president at Haskell National and a member of the City Council, presented the ducks to the city in a brief ceremony at the park last

The animals were purchased by the bank from Jean Baugh of Rule.

During the first few days, the ducks and geese were caged in pens the city erected for them. They are now being released in the day time to roam in the area and swim in Rice Springs Creek which runs through the park.

The confinement was recommended by Mrs. Baugh who said this would enable them to become adjusted to their new surroundings so they won't stray off.

During their confinement, the city is feeding them, but Mrs. Baugh said they probably will be able to fend for themselves after they are freed.

The ducks and geese are expected to become quite an attraction at the park. City administrator Robert Baker said someone suggested some time ago the idea of getting some ducks. He said everyone he talked with liked

The flock represents only the latest in a number of improvements and additions to Rice Springs Park. Earlier, the city built a dam across the creek to create an attractive lake. The Rotary Club built a foot bridge across the creek and the Boy Scouts painted the bridge. The city has just completed installation of a sprinkler Helping pay for the city's work at the park were a couple of cash donations, $400 from the American Legion and $200 from the Young Homemakers Club.

The American Legion planted cottonwood trees along the creek and whitewashed all of the existing trees

Last year, the city completely renovated the swimming pool at a cost of more than $100,000.

Another pair

Another pair of ducks joined the flock at Rice Springs Park Monday when Arthur Barrios presented the city with a pair of large white ducks.

Missing duck

For a while this week, the city thought a dog had killed one of the ducks at Rice Springs Park.

When the pens were checked Monday morning, one of the ducks was missing. A hole, apparently the work of a dog, had been dug under the fence. The conclusion was that the duck had gotten out and was killed by the dog.

This theory was dispelled Monday afternoon when Sandy Clay, who lives two blocks away, found the mising duck in her swimming pool.

Ruby Clemmer celebrates 90th birthday

Ruby Clemmer was guest of honor at a 90th birthday celebration Saturday in the home of County Judge and Mrs. B. O. Roberson. A large number of long-time friends and neighbors attended the party.

Ruby Faye Swinson was born June 3, 1898, in Wolfe City, Hunt County, Texas. She married John Luther Clemmer in Dallas on Jan. 14, 1925. Mr. and Mrs. Clemmer lived in Clyde, Rule, the Jud community and Rochester. She is now a resident of the Haskell Nursing

The Clemmers were always good neighbors and attended the Baptist church regularly. She taught Sunday School and he was a deacon. Both Ruby and John made lasting friends with people of all ages where ever they lived. The Clemmers never had children but it is almost impossible to count the number of people who regard her as their "other mother."

Guests attended from Hamlin, Bangs, Muleshoe, Fort Worth, Aspermont, Rule, Rochester, the Jud community and Haskell.

For those unable to attend, personal greetings were sent from Ranger, Clyde, Pampa, Rockport, Glen Rose, Cedar Hill, Tyler, O'Brien, Richmond, Abilene, San Antonio and Perryton.

Friends and neighbors helping host the party were Keele and Elizabeth Acree, Louise Chambers, Ethel Lou Shelton, Jane Short, Betty Hearn and members of Mrs. Clemmer's Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church of Rochester.

She wore a white straw hat, embellished with tulle and appliques of irridescent sequins and pearls which held her cathedral length veil.

Something new was her wedding gown, something old was her greatgrandmother Meers' wedding ring. Something borrowed was her great grandmother's (Delia Mullican) 75year-old bracelet which has been worn by all of her grandchildren and greatgrandchildren in their weddings. Something blue was the garter the bride's mother had worn at her wedding. For good luck, she carried a four leaf clover sent to her by a friend from Walls, N.J.

Jan Zeissel of Munday was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kristi Earle and Debbie Harlan, both of Munday, and Tina Herricks of Weinert, sister of the groom.

Attendants wore floor length dresses of hot pink with sweetheart necklines, puff sleeves, draped scalloped over-skirts accented with roses and sash waists. They carried hot pink stem roses with baby's breath with ribbon streamers.

Flower girl was Tiffany Loving, niece of the groom. Her dress was the same as the bridesmaids', but in a shade lighter pink.

The bridegroom wore a black tuxedo with tails, a white wing collar shirt and a white tie and cummerbund.

Best man was Marty Earle of Munday and groomsmen were Kevin White of Weinert, Jerry Don Hudgens of Weinert, cousin of the groom, Todd Meers of Munday, brother of the bride, and Mike Stewart of Weinert. Ushers were Brand Cude, Shawn Cude and Kyle Meers of Lubbock, cousins of the bride. Groomsmen and ushers wore black tuxedos with tails, white wing collar shirts and hot pink ties and cummerbunds.

Ringbearer was Bryce Hudgens, cousin of the groom. He was dressed exactly as the groomsmen.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Munday High School. The bridegroom graduated from Weinert High School in 1980 and is engaged in farming in the Weinert area. After a wedding trip to Dallas, they will make their home in Haskell.

A reception in the fellowship hall of the church followed the wedding. Reception assistants for the bride's

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Appointments may be made by calling 864-2621.

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in

The American Cancer Society has established guidelines for a mammography in asymptomatic women. (Women who have no symptoms of disease). Those guidelines have been adopted by the American Academy of Family Physicians, American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and American College of Radiology. Those guidelines are:

1. 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.

II. 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and

III. 50 years of age and over -An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.

IV. Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at Haskell on Friday, June appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of

> V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast

> A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $50.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, VISA, MasterCard and American Express.

at increasing those profits. Simply stated, much Texas produce is shipped out of the state for processing. If it's processed here, more profits stay here. The Texas Agricultural Diversification Program, passed last session by Harrison and Sims, has $500,000 to award small grants to firms which can match an amount with private dollars. The funds are seed money for expanding textile plants, flour mills, slaughterhouses, and retail facilities.

"Kill It Myself"

No state agency will approve grant applications. Instead, a panel comprised of top farm and ranch leaders oversees the funding.

Harrison, a conservative, often called "The Wiley Ol' Fox" by other lawmakers, and Sims sit as ex-officio members to monitor the program's cost effectiveness.

"It's not going to be another give-away. If it's not cost-effective, then I'll kill it myself," Harrison

Mauro Seeks State Share

Former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough was a key state's witness in a lawsuit last week over whether parties involved in a West Texas oil lease owe the state millions of dollars in delinquent royalty pay-

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro seeks to halt payment of oil royalties to the owners and says the state and owner should split the $161 million which has been produced by the lucrative four-acre lease since 1934.

Mauro says Texas has received only $10 million and is demanding the balance be paid to the state.

Yarborough was an assistant attorney general in 1935 when the state approved a deal whereby the owner assigned the lease to another businessman.

The question now is whether the owner illegally assigned the lease to himself behind a dummy operation, a move that Yarborough said, if known, would have killed the 1934 settlement.

Probe Sought for Senator

Though it smacks of politics more than a mission of good government, the Texas GOP called for an official budget probe of state Sen. Richard Anderson, D-Marshall.

After Anderson admitted someone in his office ran up more than $1,000 on the state phone bill for calls to his campaign offices, the Republicans asked the attorney general and Travis County district attorney, both Democrats, to investigate all of Anderson's state office expenses.

Political Vendetta

Some veteran observers feel there is a whiff of vendetta here. In 1986, Anderson narrowly won a Northeast Texas special election which ultimately pitted U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm's realignment movement against Texas Democratic Party chairman Bob Slagle's machine, right in Slagle's backyard. Since then, Anderson is regarded by some as Slagle's protege senator, and he has hired several staffers also close to Slagle. Anderson was hospitalized last week, but Slagle said Anderson would repay the state for a careless mistake by an overzealous staffer. The GOP tried to make political hay once before when Anderson was arrested for DWI. Now they'd like to make this an issue all the way to the November balloting,

--Letters to the Editor--

Editor: Most insurance companies consider any place over 20 years old and over five miles from a fire department too great a risk to insure.

We live in a 30-year-old wood frame house eight miles from the nearest fire department. In the past three years our insurance premium has increased from $350 to $850, with steadily reduced coverage.

We have never filed a claim in the 18 years we have lived here, but are down to only one company that will offer us any insurance. If this company decides not to renew our policy next year, the Federal Land Bank will probably demand the balance due on our loan on the hosue.

I have written the chairman of the State Board of Insurance, the chairman of the House Committee on Insurance and my state senator for help in reversing the trend for rural insurance.

I have suggested to them that a rural home owner's insurance pool be established similar to the pools for high risk automobile drivers or workmen's compensation coverage. If a policy holder does not file any claims for some period of time---say five years---the premiums could be reduced as an incentive not to abuse insurance coverage.

With the insurance industry's position on rural coverage, I would not build a new home in a rural area and will advise anyone else not to. They may insure a new home now, but they are presently free to drop coverage whenever they think the risk is too great.

I urge all rural residents to write Austin in support of the insurance pool, or suggest your own ideas to improve the rural insurance dilemma. Two important addresses are:

If you are an average business person, you'd have about 36 hours of work on your desk at any given time. You'd also spend an average of three hours a week just trying to find things on that desk.

That's what it says in Barbara Thompson's Free Filler Service, a publication which lands on my desk two or three times a week and contributes in no small way to the clutter always thereon.

It goes on: Every day a business person makes a minimum of 200 conscious decisions, whether it's to accept a phone call or schedule a meeting. What's more, the average manager is interrupted every eight minutes, causing a loss of focus. A Dallas based company, Priority Management Systems Inc., has helped more than 110,000 people get organized and accomplish more in a day through a system and training program called "Time: Text."

Betcha you didn't know: If it had not been for Whitcomb Judson we'd still be buttoning and hooking up all our clothing. He had a hunch back in 1893 that two thin metal chains could be fastened together by pulling a slider up between them. That smart hunch was a lucky break for all of us. It resulted in the first zipper. After nearly a hundred years, wouldn't you think it's time for someone to come up with a successor to the coat hanger?

I looked up the word. It's the name of a region in Spain whose chalky soil produces two of the most important sherry grapes---the Palomino and the Pedro Ximenez. There's even a town there called Jerez (English translation: Sherry).

A FEW BUSINESS IDEAS

Managers of small businesses can benefit from what other small businesses have been through. The following ideas are generated, in part, by the mistakes other businesses have made.

- One day you or your heirs will want to sell the business. See that such a transfer is properly provided for in the following documents:
- 2. a sales agreement to transfer the business
- 3. insurance to fund a buy-sell
- 4. a trust if minor children are involved
- If you solicit investment money from outsiders without registering with the proper authorities, you could be in violation of investment laws. Check with your attorney.
- Avoid having a partner if possible. If you can't hire the expertise you need, or borrow the money you need, perhaps a partnership is unavoidable. Keep in mind that all partnerships terminate sooner or later; death, disability, retirement, or disgruntlement will end the
- Have your insurance agent meet with you at least annually on your premises to discuss all necessary insurance coverage changes.
- Formal employee pension plans for small companies can be very expensive to administer. As an alternative, consider establishing an IRA for each staff member. Even at 6% earnings, a thirty-year-old person can accumulate over $220,000 in his or her IRA by age 65.
- Let us help you keep your accounting fees at a minimum. We will work with you to plan your record system and to train your staff to do tasks which you might normally pay us to do.

FmHA accepting loan applications

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by late freeze are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office in Haskell, Larry P. McDaniel, county FmHA supervisor, has announced.

Haskell County is one of seven in Texas recently named by the secretary of agriculture as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the late freeze.

McDaniel said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30-percent loss of productin to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," McDaniel said. "Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until Dec. 29, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season."

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations and cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold majority

Excess cholesterol is life-threatening

Cholesterol has earned a bad reputation in recent years because too much of it in the bloodstream is

Many people are unaware that in safe amounts, it has an important function in the human body. It is essential in the creation of hormones and nerve cells, and as a component to vitamin D.

The amount of cholesterol in the blood is influenced by the amount and kinds of fats consumed. Specifically, diets rich in so-called saturated fats (animal fats, coconut and palm oils) tend to raise the level of blood cholesterol, whereas polyunsaturated fats (fish oil and most vegetable fats) help to lower it.

A build-up of cholesterol reduces the size of blood vessels, requiring more pressure for blood to flow throughout the body. The result can be high blood pressure, heart attack or stroke.

Dr. Clift Price, associate commissioner for Personal Health Services at the Texas Department of Health, said overconsumption of animal fats is much like pouring the wrong things down a kitchen sink. "If you often pour skillet grease down the drain, congealed fat will eventually slow the flow of water out of the sink," he points out. "Other impurities may help the fat to solidify. Then you have to call someone to fix or replace your pipes. Unfortunately, the human body cannot be as easily repaired."

Dr. Price recommends carefully selecting foods low in animal fats, regular and appropriate exercise and routine medical checkups. He said persons should be aware of which foods are cholesterol-rich. These include eggs, dairy products (such as whole milk, cream and most cheeses), fatty red meats (such as corned beef and ribs), bacon, sausage, lard, luncheon meats and organ meats (such as liver and gizzards).

"With fewer high-fat foods, a proper diet can include more low-fat dairy products, fruits, vegetables and whole grain products. These are lower in fat, high in fiber, and are among the most nutritious things we need in our diets," Dr. Price said. "And fish, chicken, turkey and lean red meats are still choice items, if properly cooked.

People who should be most wary of cholesterol are those whose family histories include heart diseases or stroke, who eat fatty foods, or who rarely exercise. Such persons are advised to ask their physicians for a routine blood test which shows

Traffic deaths decrease

Fewer persons died on Texas streeets and highways during 1987 than in any year since 1976, according to the Department of Public

The official overall fatality count was 3,261, down 8.6 percent from the 3,568 recorded in the state during Fatalities in the front seats of cars and light trucks, the positions covered by the safety belt law, have declined 18.1 percent since 1984, the last full year before the law took effect.

This good news has occurred despite the continued increase in the number of drivers and miles driven in this state," noted Col. Leo Gossett, director of the DPS.

The ratio of traffic deaths to the number of miles driven reached a record low in 1987 of 2.2 fatalities per 100 million miles. The 1986 mileage death rate was 2.4 and the 1985 rate was 2.6.

The national mileage death rate for 1987 was 2.4 per 100 million miles, slightly higher than the Texas rate, but still the lowest on record for the United States as a whole.

Planning a reunion? this book may help

A Practical Guide to Planning a Family Reunion, written by Emma J. Wisdom, is an easy-to-understand, step-by-step guide through the detailed process of arranging a "successful" family reunion.

The word "successful" is emphasized because many believe a family reunion simply consists of a potluck dinner with immediate family members in attendance. This book, however, examines the framework of more elaborate affairs like those held once a year, every other year, every five years, 10 years, or even for the first time.

Since the publication of Alex Haley's Roots in 1976, people all across the country have been enthralled with discovering their ancestry. Wisdom used this as a premise for her work. While the emphasis is not necessarily on locating distant relatives, helpful hints are included. The central theme, however, focuses on answering the questions involved in structuring such an event. Who? What? Where? How much? Each one is covered in a manner which turns challenges into minute tasks.

First, the book suggests, a timetable should be established detailing the event. Then a spark of excitement and enthusiasm must be lit under other relatives to encourage participation. A handy checklist of 21 critical "Things to Do" is provided, covering everything from calling the first meeting to arranging for photographers and musicians.

Throughout the book, readers will find sample forms and letters, game ideas, sample menus and more. Each one is designed to attract both young and old participants.

The most noted chapter pertains to the creation of a working budget for a reunion. According to Wisdom, "in planning other reunions as well as

While the book is designed primarily as a guide for family reunions, its usefulness is not limited only to this type. Wisdom advises that church groups, social clubs, class reunion organizers, military veterans and small businesses will find it helpful in planning gatherings or conventions. "Many of the details in my book are easily translatable to other functions," she added.

Wisdom is a professional organizer who has planned hundreds of meetings for all types of organizations, including family reunions. From an avid story writer as a child, acting in school plays, sales clerk, hair stylist, certified professional secretary, public speaker, to administrator and author, Wisdom has come full circule in search of her career niche. A regular contributor to Aim Magazine, Wisdom has also written articles in other publications. Her topics have brought helpful insight to such subjects as efficient office procedures, employee supervision and women's issues. She holds a degree from the University of

This will be my last article until fall. So I am deviating some from the usual and will write about the sweet scents of Potpourri and Sachet. They both require flowers and herbs. I am very interested in growing herbs and cooking with them.

The wonderful thing about herbs is that they last. The herbs harvested in summer bring plesure to us months, sometimes years, later. They have so many uses as seasonings and in potpourri, and too as ornamental art. Some of the common ones are sage, basil, thyme, lemon verbeua, lavender, bay and laurel.

Try a cooking wreath. Use a straw or styrofoam one. Wrap parsley, basil and sage on the wreath. A 10-inch one is a nice size. Garnish with dried flowers. When cooking, just reach and get what you need from the wreath.

Women have loved beautiful fragrancies as far back as Cleopatra's day as she covered her palace floors 18 inches deep with rose petals. I have noticed lots of roses now blooming in Haskell.

Pick flowers and cut herbs in the early morning after dew has dried, but before the sun is hot. Air-dry in the warmest place in the house. Spread the plants on an old window screen, pan or tray. Gently turn the material daily. I hang mine by securing the stems with a rubber band and hang them in my kitchen to dry.

When making potpourri, mix it only in glass, graniteware, stainless steel or glazed pottery. The oils will corrode aluminum containers, and plastic will absorb some of the potpourri's aroma.

Mix orrisroot or calamus fixative with oils. It will take several days for the fixative to absorb the oils. But you will have a long-lasting fragrance for your potpourri. Store in a tightly covered jar and place in a cool dark place for six weeks. Stir daily for the

Potpourri recipe:

4 cups dreid pink rosebuds and petals, 1 cup dried red rosebud and petals, 2 cups dried lavender flowers, 1/4 cup dried blue cornflowers, 1 cup dried scented geranium leaves (use scents of lemon, rose or orange), 1 cup lemon or orange peel soaked in 1/4 oz. lemon oil, 1/4 cup whole clovers (crushed) 1/4 cup cinnamon sticks (broken), 1/4 cup whole allspice (crushed) 1/2 tsp. mace or nutmet (ground, 3/4 cup orrisroot (cut), 1/4 oz. rose oil, 1/8 oz. lavender oil, 1/8 oz. patchouli oil.

Ministers of the Haskell Ministrerial Alliance had their final meeting for 1987-88 on Friday, May 30, when they met with spouses and children as special guests in the home of the Revs. Katie and Jimmy Updated financial reports of the Crisis Ministry, Transient Fund and Savings Account were received and all were reported in good shape, thanks to the Thanksgiving service offering in 1987, the round robin revival offerings during 1988 and pledges from local businesses and individuals.

Concerns in the community were lifted up in prayer, especially the many individuals and families who were helped by the ministries of the Haskell Ministerial Alliance during 1987-88 and those local residents who have recently been hurt emotionally or financially by drought or economic conditions.

After thanking the officers for a job well done, new officers were elected for 1988-89. Outgoing officers were Rev. Victor Andersen, president; Rev. Katie Hopper, vice president; and Rev. Jimmy Hopper, secretary/treasurer.

Heart, blood vessels suffer from smoking

By Clifford M. Kitten, M.D.

The surgeon general of the United States isn't just blowing smoke when he warns that cigarettes are bad for your health. Researchers now tell us that while smoking can certainly cause lung disease, cigarettes take their heaviest toll on the heart and blood vessels. What many patients and consumers do not understand, however, is just what harm cigarettes can do to the heart.

Lighting a cigarette releases carbon monoxide in the burning process and this displaces some of the oxygen in the blood, which in turn decreases the oxygen supply to the heart. Smoking also has an injurious effect on the walls of the arteries leading from the heart. At each arterial injury site, the body tries to compensate by sending platelets to repair the damage, where they accumulate and pave the way for atherosclerosis.

Nicotine, found in tobacco, is a stimulant that raises the heart rate and blood pressure, which makes the heart work harder and increases its oxygen needs. Nicotine also is a blood vessel constrictor and can decrease blood flow. The more you smoke, the more oxygen your heart needs, the less it gets; it is a vicious cycle.

If the lungs have been damaged from years of smoking, the right side of the heart has to pump with more force to get the blood through the lungs. This enlarges that part of the Smoking affects cholesterol levels too. There are two kinds of cholesterol-protein compounds that researchers agree impact on a person's risk of developing cardiovascular disease. The low-density lipoproteins (LDLs) carry much of the body's cholesterol in the blood.

The high-density lipoproteins (HDLs) take cholesterol back to the liver for digestion which helps get rid of the excess. Recent studies indicate that smoking reduces the level of the protective HDL, thereby compounding the threat of atherosclerosis, high blood pressure and reduced flow of oxygen to the heart muscle itself.

Of the three major risk factors for cardiovascular disease, smoking should be the easiest to control. For a long-time smoker, however, quitting can be quite a challenge. It will take support from loved ones and a real commitment to reducing the risk of heart attack. The damage caused by years of lighting up may not necessarily be permanent. Studies of former smokers have shown that after about five years, their bodies are where they would be if they had never smoked. Even the HDL levels return to normal about a year after a smoker kicks the habit.

Analyze your smoking patterns.

When are you most likely to light up? Set realistic goals to cut down on the number of cigarettes you smoke each day, until you are able to quit entirely. Don't set yourself up for failure by brooding about never smoking again. Take each day at a

If you can't do it by yourself with the support of your loved ones, get help. There are medically supervised clinics and support groups for those who want to kick the habit.

Industry hails passage of beef checkoff

National beef checkoff referendum results were seen as extremely positive by industry, education and research groups involved in the area.

Nationally, 78.7 percent of the eligible cattle producers, dairy farmers and importers voted to continue funding of the U.S. beef research and

In Texas, 37,945 people voted in the referendum. Affirmative votes were cast by 32,269 persons, or 88 percent. Voting "no" were 5,676 persons, or 12 percent.

The beef checkoff program, which began Oct. 1, 1986, as a result of the 1985 Farm Bill's Beef Promotion and Research Act, required that $1 from every head of cattle sold or imported in the U.S. be put aside for beef promotion and marketing efforts.

GIVE YOUR ELECTRIC METER ATURN FOR THE BETTER.

You can slow down the wheels on your Electric Meter and lower Summer Cooling Bills when you follow these helpful tips:

- Set your thermostat on 78° or higher and use ceiling or portable fans to help circulate the air.
- Have your air conditioner serviced annually and once a month, check the filter. A dirty filter can keep your air conditioner from working efficiently.
- ☐ Keep doors, windows, and drapes firmly closed to keep cool air in and heat out.
- Protect ceiling and walls with adequate insulation. Make sure cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with caulking and weatherstripping.
- Use heat producing appliances, like ranges, dishwashers, and dryers during the cooler part of the day.

Remember REDDY supplies the energy but only YOU can use it wisely!
