

Tom Watson honored as 'Firefighter of Year'

Water to be cut off in Rule Monday

Rule residents will be without water during much of the day next Monday (June 27).

The City of Rule has announced that water will be turned off about 9:30 or 10 a.m. and remain off for several hours while a fire hydrant is being repaired.

Jill Jennings on LCU dean's list

Jill Jennings of Haskell is among 197 students named to the Dean's List at Lubbock Christian University for the 1988 spring semester.

Miss Jennings is a junior accounting major at LCU and carries a 3.62 grade point average. She is the daughter of Ted and Mary Jennings of Haskell.

Each student selected to the Dean's List must carry a minimum of 12 hours and compile at least a 3.50 grade point average for that semester.

Thad Jennings on ACU honor roll

Thad Jennings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Jennings of Haskell, is one of 676 Abilene Christian University students listed on the Dean's Honor Roll for the spring 1988 semester.

To be listed on the honor roll, a student must be enrolled for a grade in at least 12 semester hours and earn a 3.45 grade point average or higher.

Haskell boy wins in 4-H horse show

A 15-year-old Haskell boy won a second and a third in the Rolling Plains District 3 4-H Horse Show in Vernon Friday.

Chad Gibson took second place in tie-down roping and third place in breakaway roping and will advance to the state 4-H Horse Show to be in Abilene July 26.

He is the son of Charles and Pam Gibson.

Immunization clinic scheduled July 21

An immunization clinic is scheduled for July 21 at the American Legion building on US 277. The clinic is being offered by the Texas Department of Health, region 5.

An article in The Free Press last week erroneously listed the date.

Family planning and WIC clinics are by appointment only, and may be arranged by calling 864-4340.

Midwestern grad

Gregory Scott Turnbow of Weinert was among 383 students at Midwestern State University who completed degree requirements in May. He received his BBA.

State winner

Cathy Rowan, a Haskell High School junior-to-be, won first place in the special education division of the state fire prevention poster contest.

Haskell Fire Chief Tom Watson was named the Firefighter of the Year at the 112th annual conference and convention of the State Firemen's and Fire-marshalls Association of Texas last week in Beaumont. The selection is made annually from nominees selected from the seventeen regional fire associations across the state. Watson was the nominee of The Mid-West Texas District.

Selection of the Firefighter of the Year honors one individual each year selected from almost 75,000 firefighters across the state.

Watson joined the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department in 1952 and was elected chief in 1959 and continues to hold that position. On the district level, he is a past president, has served twice as secretary and is currently Chaplain.

During the past 37 years, Watson has missed only two state conventions and has served on the finance committee and is currently on the certification committee. Also on the state level, Watson has served as an instructor at Texas A&M

Firemen's Training School for the past 14 years and is currently instructor in charge on the firefighting I hoseloads class.

Locally, Watson is active in the First Baptist Church, the Chamber of Commerce and has been named Haskell's outstanding citizen. He also serves on the board of directors of the Haskell Memorial Civic Center Association. He is a longtime member of the Board of Directors of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority.

He and his wife, Mary, are the parents of five children, Elouise Perry of Arlington, Christyne Green, Tommy Watson, Sam Watson and George Watson all of Haskell, and five grandchildren.

Chief Watson is being followed by son, Sam who is currently serving as president of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department and is a Captain.

Top fireman

Imitation Stats

Imitation Stats of Seymour will present a musical concert at the Haskell Memorial Civic Center Friday night, beginning at 7:30. Admission is $3 for adults and $1 for children. Proceeds will help pay for the proposed paving around the Civic Center. Group members are, front row, Rusty Rose, Mack Bibb, Clifton Talley and Curtis Priddy; back row, Billie Gene Young, Royce Miller and Rosanne Priddy.

Sign-up underway for Arkansas trip

Reservations are being taken for a bus tour to leave Sagerton Aug. 8 for a four-night, five-day vacation tour to Eureka Springs, Ark., and other points.

Highlight of the trip will be attendance at the performance of the spectacular Great Passion Play in the 4,400-seat amphitheater in Eureka Springs.

The Great Passion Play cast includes 200 people and many live animals common to the Holy Land during Christ's life on earth. The set, staging, lighting and sound system combine to present what has been called "the nation's No. 1 outdoor drama."

Pastor Mel Swoyer of Sagerton will be host for the tour which will include 40 other persons on the air-conditioned motorcoach of Dan Dipert Tours of Arlington.

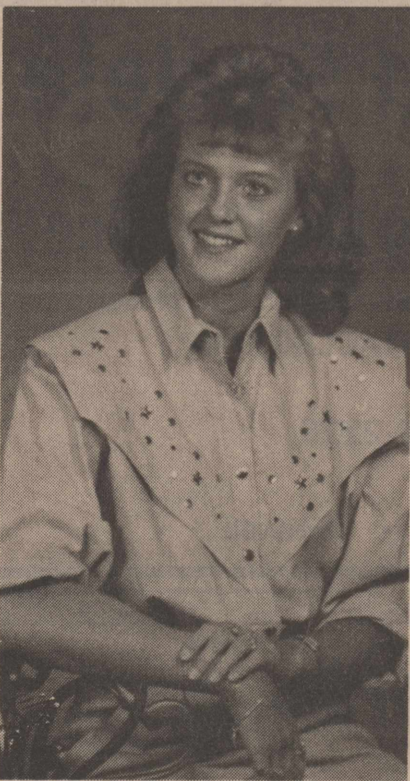

Cost for the hotels, transportation, two meals per day and tickets to four attractions is $415 per person (double occupancy).

Tickets included in the price include those to Discoveryland amphitheater in Tulsa, the Pine Mountain Jamboree Tuesday evening in Eureka Springs, the Silver Dollar City on Wednesday morning in Branson, Mo., and the Great Passion Play on Wednesday evening.

A more detailed itinerary is available from Swoyer, Route 1, Sagerton, phone (817) 997-2580. A $10 deposit is required to reserve a seat on the bus and is due immediately. Final payment is due July 8.

The tour group leaves at 7 a.m. Monday (Aug. 8) and returns at 6 p.m. Friday (Aug. 12).

To appear

Appearing with the Imitation Stats in concert at the Civic Center Friday night will be Lynann Robertson of Seymour. For the past two years, she has been performing on the Johnnie High Country Music Revue in Fort Worth, the second largest country music show in the world. The 19-year-old singer is a 1987 winner of the "You Can Be A Star" contest which earned her a trip to Nashville and an audition on the Nashville Network.

United Sewing Agency to open plant in Haskell

Haskell is getting an industry which will employ approximately 60 people and produce an annual payroll of $600,000.

Ken Lane, president of the Haskell Industrial Foundation, announced this week that United Sewing Agency, Inc., of Oklahoma has signed a contract with the Foundation to open a sewing plant here.

The announcement followed six months of intensive negotiations between the Foundation and Vinyard Management Services, Inc., manager of United's Texas operations.

The sewing plant will be located in the old Herman Marcus building on the western outskirts of the city. The 11,000-square-foot building was erected in 1974 by the Foundation for use by Herman Marcus, which operated a sewing plant there for approximately 10 years. It was most recently utilized by Trammell Bit Co. which closed its local operation in 1987.

"We hope to see some activity in July, a skeleton operation in August and full production within six months," said Lane. The plant's target is 60 employees.

United produces ladies' apparel as its primary products. In addition to producing its own brands, the company does a lot of contract sewing, making apparel for other companies under contract.

Lane emphasized that this concept

Did you see meteorite?

Did anyone in this area see a fireball in the sky last Monday night (June 13)?

John Williams of the Southwest Meteorite Project in Fort Worth called The Free Press Tuesday and asked if such a sighting had been reported.

Williams said the falling meteorite was seen from Fort Worth about 9:50 p.m., producing a trail toward the southwest for about 10 minutes. He estimated it may have fallen in Haskell County, or just south of the county.

Anyone who saw the meteorite is asked to contact Williams at P.O. Box 9242, Fort Worth 76147 (phone 817-737-8755).

School reunion

The annual Pleasant Valley School reunion will be held Saturday night.

The celebration will begin with a salad supper at 7 o'clock in the Weinert Community Center.

Paperwork

lends stability to the local operation since production is not limited to one outlet. Herman Marcus, he noted, produced only its own merchandise.

United operates two other plants in this general area. A plant at Spur is in full operation with 70 employees. Another plant at Post is not yet in full swing, but employs about 40 people and is growing.

Under terms of the contract between United and the Foundation, the local organization agreed to put up $60,000 to purchase equipment.

The five-year contract calls for United to lease the building and equipment. The Foundation will retain ownership of the equipment it provides the money to purchase.

The Foundation plans to raise the $60,000 through contributions from local residents. A committee composed of Abe Turner, Bobby Hobgood and Dickie Greenwood has been named to lead this effort. The committee is being assisted by Lane and Don Comedy, secretary of the Foundation.

Area ranch offers recreation facilities

Recreation facilities at the Krooked River Ranch are now under the operation of Roy Wilson of Rule and Steve Packer of Dallas.

Wilson and Packer took over the business last August and hope to make it one of the top attractions for outdoorsmen in the area.

Facilities include a 3,000-square-foot lodge, complete with kitchen, dining hall and recreation hall. Wilson said they have facilities to feed 70 or 80 people and the air-conditioned cabins will sleep about the same number. Also among the facilities are a big screen television set, pool tables, shuffle board and other recreational facilities.

Lodge facilities may be used for family reunions, business and social meetings, hunting and fishing parties or any similar functions. Hunters and fishermen can be provided with a complete package containing food and lodging if they choose.

Recent bookings at the lodge include those by the Texas Farm Bureau, Soil Conservation Service and state game wardens.

Those not needing the services of the lodge may hunt or fish on the 28,000-acre ranch. The Clear Fork of the Brazos River which runs through the ranch is well known for its good fishing. Deer, turkeys, quail and hogs are abundant.

The lodge is located eight miles southeast of Lake Stamford, about 30 miles southeast of Haskell. Krooked River Ranch is owned by the Hendrick trust.

Suzanne Therwhanger Burt

Miss Therwhanger weds Tommy Burt

Wedding vows were exchanged by Suzanne Therwhanger and Tommy Burt in an evening ceremony June 4 at East Terrace Historical House in Waco. The Rev. Bob Johns of the First Baptist Church of Woodway officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Therwhanger of Hewitt, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burt of Austin.

The alter was decorated with palm trees, Boston fern with garden flowers and the unity candle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a designer antique lace dress fashioned with long sleeves and seed pearls at the neckline. Her veil was attached to a Juliet-styled headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and miniature roses.

Angela Therwhanger and Amy Therwhanger, sisters of the bride, were honor attendants. They wore teal blue tea length satin dresses fashioned with V shaped backs and draped skirts. They carried arm bouquets of garden flowers.

Lloyd Burt and Tommy Blake Burt were groomsmen. Ushers were Ronny Burt of Austin and Johnny Hickman of College Station.

Judy Love, aunt of the bride, accompanied herself as she sang "In the Beginning" and "In This Very Room."

Bridgett Burt and Casey Love passed out rose petals from white wicker baskets.

The reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the courtyard of the Art Center. It was decorated with round tables covered with floor length candlelight cloths. Mauve alstromerias and votive candles were placed on mirrors as centerpieces of each table. Twinkle lights were placed in the trees.

The bride's table was a round table covered with a floor length lace cloth. The four-tier cake was decorated with flowers and topped with two doves. Punch was served from an antique silver punch bowl. A Mexican buffet was served and the band played for the entertainment of approximately 300 guests.

The bride is a regional buyer for Follett Corp. The bridegroom is senior vice president for Texas State Credit.

Following a trip to Bermuda the couple will live in Waco.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. John Therwhanger. Other relatives attending included Joe Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Therwhanger, Terri Hise, Beau and Cassie, all of Haskell.

Story reunion held in Archer City park

The Story reunion was held June 10-12 at the city park in Archer City. We held a swimming party Saturday evening for those who wanted to swim. Everyone had a good time playing games and visiting. The oldest person present was Earnest Story and wife of Chillicothe.

Audio/hearing clinic scheduled

Area senior citizens are invited to a free audio/hearing prescreening at University Inn retirement community in Abilene between 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. today (June 23).

Denise Price, licensed audiologist with Abilene Hearing Service, will conduct the hearing tests. She also will discuss hearing loss among senior citizens and offer suggestions for getting the most effective use from hearing equipment.

Mrs. Camp has visitors

Sunday visitors in the home of Mrs. W. C. Camp of Rule were her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Camp Jr. and their two grandchildren, Dondi Shane and William Cade of Colorado City.

Sunday afternoon visitors were Mrs. Cleo Gann and Mrs. Velma Gann.

On Monday, Mrs. Camp's daughter, Mrs. Odessa Hatfield of Abilene, and a friend, Marvin Bergan of Hawley, and her son, Jerry Ray Hatfield of Stamford visited with Mrs. Camp. Also visiting on Monday were Mrs. Doris Bassing of Haskell and her two grandchildren, Angela and Josh Bassing of Little Rock, Ark.

Frantz, Maturi marry

Jana Gaye Frantz and Paul Raymond Maturi were married June 11 at Highland Oaks Church of Christ in Dallas.

The bride is the daughter of Earnest and Jackie Frantz of Dallas and the bridegroom is the son of Ray and Carolyn Maturi of Little Rock, Ark.

The ceremony was performed by Ed Mosier, assistant minister at Highland Oaks.

The bride is a recent graduate of Harding University in Searcy, Ark. The couple will reside in Memphis, Tenn., where Mr. Maturi is a football coach and Bible teacher.

The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jetton of Weinert, and another grandmother, Elvy Frantz of Dallas, attended the wedding, as did the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Zabick of Minnesota, along with other relatives from Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Sharon McMillen Cannon

McMillen, Cannon vows exchanged

In an outdoor ceremony at the Horace Williams House in Chapel Hill, N.C., Sharon Kay McMillen and Jeffrey Edward Cannon pledged their wedding vows on June 18. The 1:30 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Donald Boulton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. McMillen of Fort Pierce, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. McMillen are former residents of Haskell. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Lora Mae Mullins, the late George Mullins, and the late Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McMillen, all of Haskell. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Cannon of New Castle, Ind.

A string quartet provided the instrumental music. Julianna Cruse, friend of the bride, sang "The Wedding Song" and "Longer." Pachelbel's Canon in D was played for the processional and Mouret's Rondeau was played for the recessional.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white tea length gown of chantilly lace over satin with a V-necked bertha collar. From the elongated torso, the lace fell in a handkerchief hemline trimmed in cotton venise lace. Silk flowers and ribbon adorned the neckline and elongated waist line.

A headband of silk flowers and seed pearls held the two-tiered fingertip length veil with scalloped edges and lace appliques complementing the lace in the dress.

Michelle Kelleher Tietz of Dallas was matron of honor. She wore a turquoise blue silk dress. Jim Hornell of Indianapolis, Ind., was best man. Mike McMillen and John McMillen, brothers of the bride, were ushers. The men wore grey tuxedos with boutonnières of pink roses.

Judi Cannon Gould, sister of the groom, read "What A Wonderful World" and "I Love You." Sahudi Marrero registered guests.

After a reception at the Horace Williams House, the couple left for a honeymoon in Washington, D. C. and Montreal, Canada. They will make their home in Chapel Hill, N.C.

The bride is a graduate of Crawfordsville High School in Indiana. She received her bachelor's degree from Washington University in St. Louis and a master's degree counseling from the University of Florida. She is a student affairs administrator at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

The groom is a graduate of Chrysler High School in New Castle, Ind. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees in history from Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. He is assistant dean of students at the University of North Carolina.

STATEMENT OF INTENT TO CHANGE RATES

GTE Southwest Incorporated, in accordance with the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates in Texas, effective July 6, 1988. This proceeding has been previously docketed by the Commission as Docket No. 5610.

The proposed changes in rates will affect approximately 970,500 of the Company's Texas customers who represent all classes of customers subscribing to the Company's local exchange and foreign exchange services within the State of Texas, as well as all entities subscribing to the Company's billing and collection services within the state. Sanders reunion June 17-19

Walter and Sue Cox, along with their children, Scott, Brenda and Casey Sartain, David and Deborah Mackay, and Walter Lindsey Cox Jr., all of Daingerfield, were hosts June 17-19 for this year's reunion of the family of Mrs. Sallie Sanders and the late Jack Sanders of Weinert.

The reunion was at the guest lodge in Daingerfield State Park, a beautiful place overlooking the lake with tall pine trees and steps leading down to the lake. There were swimming, fishing, boat riding, paddle boat riding, hiking, visiting and picture taking.

Friday night we had all the fish we could eat. Saturday, "Uncle Dooge" and Aunt Ethel fixed green chili, red chili, squash casserole, Mexican salad, potato salad, beans, sopophias, cake and Jello.

After the meal Saturday, there was the talent show with Ethelene leading all 12 of her grandchildren in church songs; Rex, son of Jacky and Sandra, singing; Sue telling some of her funny stories of things that have happened to her; Deborah singing for all of us; Martha giving a brief history of the family; Darwin singing for the children; and then Sue handing out gifts for each of her sisters and brothers present plus one for the one who helped her most with the reunion and the ones who traveled the farthest to the reunion.

Sunday morning worship service was held with Oman Sanders leading the singing, Karen Mitchell and Deborah Mackay singing special songs, then Walter Cox bringing the scripture and comments about Father's Day and our heritage. Paula Kraemer gave a tribute to her father.

Those attending the reunion were Mrs. Sallie Sanders of Weinert; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Mitchell and Kendall of Haskell; Mr. and Mrs. Oman Sanders of Coleman; Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Slade, Mr. Steve Slade, Ben and Seth, Mrs. Alan Slade, Darwin, Denton, Douglas and Andrea, all of Eagar, Ariz.

Mr. Everett Slade, Elwin and Justin of Tempe, Ariz.; Paula, Robert Jarrod, Tyler Slade Kraemer of Chandler, Ariz.; Stacy Slade of Buckeye, Ariz.; Eva Hardman of Irving; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Maupin and Loretta, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Gray, all of Odessa;

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Kirkland Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jacky Dee Kirkland, Jackson, Kristen and Rebecca, Mr.

and Mrs. Brian Cornett, Jennifer and Stephanie, all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Jacky Sanders, Ricky, Rex and Jaclyn Elaine of Cross Plains; Mrs. Scarlet Brazell and Edwin of Eastland; Shawn and April Sanders of Stamford; Mr. and Mrs. Butch Owens and a friend.

Mrs. Sallie Sanders of Weinert was the oldest person present. Jacklyn Elaine, daughter of Jacky and Sandra Sanders, was the youngest. Stacy Slade of Buckeye, Ariz., traveled the farthest distance and Darwin and Ethelene Slade of Eagar, Ariz., had the most represented with three of their children, a daughter-in-law and 12 grandchildren.

Jacky and Sandra Sanders of Cross Plains will host next year's reunion on the third weekend of July in Seymour. The date was set to coincide with the Alexander reunion. Jacky asked everyone to make plans now to be there.

Those unable to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Sanders and all of his family and Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Sanders. They were all missed.

Kim Riley awarded scholarship

Kim Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Riley of Midkiff, formerly of Haskell, has been awarded the Myrtle Moore Scholarship at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

To qualify, Kim completed 39 credit hours during the fall and spring semesters, 1987-88, with a grade point average of 4.0.

Kim is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Riley, Mrs. W. B. Hill and the late W. B. Hill of Haskell.

She also has recently been selected to "Who's Who Among American University Students."

She is studying for a bachelor's degree in business administration with a minor in computer information systems. Her career goal is to become a certified public accountant.

She is attending the summer session at Eastern.

Our prayers are with the Mary Hatley and Leita Lain families. Also with Edna Collins who is in the local hospital.

Kristen Campbell weds Chris Grand

Kristen Sue Campbell became the bride of Christopher James Grand in a wedding ceremony performed June 11 in East Side Baptist Church. The Rev. Paul Cheatham performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duward Campbell and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Grand.

Music was provided by Teresa New, pianist, and Kevin Walker and Teresa New, duet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress which featured a sweetheart neckline, shirring to the dropped waist. The bodice was covered with pearls, sequins and venice lace. The sleeves were short, puffed with lace inserts. The skirt had a full-length train and the back waist was accented with a large, soft bow.

The bride's veil of nylon illusion net was attached to a wreath of silk flowers, accented with pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink and white silk roses.

For something old she wore a necklace that belonged to her great-great-grandmother. Her dress and veil represented something new. Something borrowed was a ring from her cousin, Becky Cummings, and she wore a blue garter, given to her by her aunt, Reda Thomas.

Maid of honor was Emily Dunnam. Amanda Crawford, niece of the bride, handed out rice bags. Flower girl was Jennifer Smith and ring bearer was Tracie Rea, both nieces of the bride.

The maid of honor wore a formal gown of pink satin, featuring a sweetheart neckline and short, puffed sleeves. Headpieces were wreaths of pink and burgundy silk flowers. She carried a white lace fan covered in pink and burgundy silk flowers and satin ribbons.

Junior attendants wore pale pink dresses of dotted swiss featuring balloon skirts.

Kendell Medford served the groom as best man. Ushers were Randy Grand, brother of the groom; Niels Nielsen, brother of the bride; Clarence Tatum; and Scott Alves. Candlelighters were Jim Crawford, nephew of the bride, and Kevin Grand, brother of the groom.

The groom wore a white formal tuxedo and a white silk rose boutonniere. The best man wore a silver grey tuxedo with a pink silk boutonniere.

A wedding reception in the fellowship hall of the church followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a floor-length, burgundy cloth and featured a three-tiered cake, decorated with pink and burgundy sweet peas. Punch was served from a cranberry-red bowl and other appointments were red Cape Cod glassware.

The groom's table was covered with white lace. Cherry cheese cake and coffee were served.

At 7:30 p.m. a buffet and dance were held at Irby Hall. Music was provided by Dennis, Reggie and Chad Rueffer.

A backyard pounding and recipe party was held May 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Comedy. Other hostesses were Thelma King and Kay Cook.

A bridal brunch was held May 21 in the Ken Lane home. Other hostesses were Joetta Burnett, Janette Frierson, Mary Lowe, Billie McKeever, Jane Smith, Christie Stapleton and Lena Tidwell.

The bride is a 1988 graduate of Haskell High School and is employed at Haskell Memorial Hospital. She will attend Abilene Commercial College in the fall.

The groom is a 1984 graduate of Haskell High School and is employed with Agricultural Services Inc. in Haskell.

Ask VA

Q: Who is barred by statute from participating in the Montgomery GI Bill?

A: Those who received commissions after Dec. 31, 1976, as officers in the armed forces from the U.S. Military Academy, Naval Academy, Air Force Academy or Coast Guard Academy and those who completed a program with educational assistance under an ROTC scholarship program after Dec. 31, 1976. BEAUTIFY HASKELL TOGETHER

We deeply appreciate all the prayers and concern shown to our family during these last few days and weeks. Your visits and comforting words have meant a great deal to our family. Thank you for the beautiful flowers, cards, food, memorials, and for being there when we needed you. A special thanks to Bro. Truett Kuenstler, Rev. Katherine Byrd and Rev. J.C. Amburn for a beautiful service. Also for Bobby O'Neal for being in charge of the beautiful songs that were Manford's favorite. We really appreciate it. We are going to miss him a lot.

God bless your kindness in this time of sorrow.

FBI looking into vet loans

AUSTIN—The FBI is looking into about 19,000 loans made by the Veterans Land Board as part of an investigation of Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and the General Land Office, an FBI special agent in Austin confirmed last week.

A federal grand jury subpoena for General Land Office records man Edwin L. Cox Jr. of Athens has resigned after agreeing to plead guilty to a federal bank fraud charge in Dallas.

The charge included $80 million in loans, plus interest, that Cox repaid to Dallas' InterFirst Bank last October. Cox had received the loan while a director of the bank.

Cox had earned a reputation as a hard-working and effective proponent of protecting Texas' natural resources. There seems to be no connection between the fraud charge against Cox, who grew up next door to Gov. Bill Clements, and his service on the commission.

Hardesty Fired Again

Despite protests from students, faculty and civic leaders, regents fired Southwest Texas State University President Bob Hardesty for the second time, citing his spending and administrative habits.

His firing last month was reversed in court because regents hadn't properly listed the action on the agenda.

Friends defended Hardesty as the political target of Clements and other Republicans.

Hardesty wrote speeches for and was an appointee of former Gov. Mark White, Clements' old nemesis.

In Austin, state Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos said he may hold up new Clements appointees until he can link the governor to the firing.

Other Highlights

- A grand jury subpoenaed bank records of Amarillo state Rep. Chip Staniswallis in its probe of allegations he extracted kickbacks from his former employees' salaries.

- A long-time veteran of the Department of Public Safety, Col. Leo Gossett, will resign as chief in July and be replaced by his assistant, Lt. Col. Joe Milner.

- Railroad Commissioner John Sharp, who calls natural gas our "golden goose," will meet next month with Massachusetts Congressman Joe Kennedy and others to map plans for a Texas-to-New England new pipeline strategy.

- Meanwhile, Commissioner Kent Hance told Houston oilmen he will travel to every future OPEC meeting as Texas' voice.

- Shrugging off reports that Texas was "out" as the site for the supercollider, Gov. Clements and several state officials said we're still on the list.

- The director of the Republican Party of Texas, John Weaver, left that post to manage the Bush campaign in Texas.

Wanting a career? You might want to become a nail artist, nail specialist or nail technician.

Sunday's Dallas newspaper classified must have had a dozen ads for these positions. There was another ad for someone to do "hair and nails" and still another for someone for "hair, nails and skin."

As I cruised through a department store in Albuquerque the other day, my eye fell on a pair of red shorts. Emblazoned across one leg in huge, colorful letters was the word "COKE."

The shorts cost $18. Which was a good deal compared to the matching T-shirt which had the word "COKE" stretched across the chest. Actually the message was much more product-specific because what it said was this: "COKE WEARABLES." So it wasn't just advertising Coke the drink, but Coke the drink, Coke the shirt and Coke the shorts.

The T-shirt cost $30. We're not talking "gimme caps" here. A gimme cap is free. A company has a bunch of these caps made with the company logo prominently displayed and gives them away.

But these are not gimme shorts or gimme T-shirts. These are $18 shorts and $30 T-shirts.

If I have it right, this is the concept: Somehow, the Coca-Cola Co. has persuaded the consumer that it's a good idea to pay Coke $48 so the consumer can advertise Coke. This is a variation of the old sandwich board concept. You don't see sandwich boards much anymore. They were big during the Depression.

A guy who was down on his luck would agree to walk around with his body sandwiched between two boards that advertised Sam's Deli and in return the guy received three squares a day from Sam.

I understand this. This is advertising. Sam sells pastrami, hires somebody to advertise pastrami, and in return pays the guy with pastrami.

But that's not the concept today when the guy who is down on his luck might give Sam $4.89 a pound for the privilege of advertising Sam's pastrami.

I conducted a survey in the shopping mall. I wanted to see how widespread the concept had become.

There are whole department store sections devoted to the idea of somebody paying money to provide free advertising for the company kind enough to take the money so the person spending the money might help the company make more money.

I found a sweater in soft, understated colors. On the front was a crest of arms with the word "Claiborne." The brand is Liz Claiborne. Liz put her name out front so nobody would miss it. The sweater was priced at $40.

Lacoste went one better and added a little history to its sandwich board. Across the chest of a knit shirt, in large letters, it said: "Lacoste--Since 1933." If you want to advertise for Lacoste and throw in the history lesson, it can all be yours for $43.

You can advertise Guess Jeans on a Guess T-shirt that'll run you $22 and you can advertise Budweiser on a muscle shirt for only $12.99, which might turn out to be a real bargain if you ever forget what kind of beer you drink.

How did companies hit upon the marvelous idea that they could get people to pony up substantial sums to advertise what they bought? Where I come from, 30 bucks for a T-shirt is a substantial price tag.

Later, I dropped by to visit a friend who is an executive with an advertising agency. I asked him why people will do these things.

He gave me a real good answer: "I don't know." Nor do I.

Read this week that researchers claim that $7 billion in annual sales is lost because of bad breath.

The report stated that $5 billion is lost by customers being run off by the bad breath of clerks and sales people, and another $2 billion by customers turning off sales people.

Puppy training

Four basic techniques recommended

By Dr. Bonnie Beaver

This is the time of the year when new puppies come to share our lives. Often, the relationship turns out to be a rewarding one. Sometimes it does not. The fluffy puppy soon takes on a personality of its own and the novelty gives way to the day-to-day routine.

A part of that routine is cleaning up the pet's wastes.

Training a puppy to defecate and urinate outside is a lesson in good manners. Using a few simple techniques, the owner can soon avoid having to do a lot of spot cleaning.

The basis for housebreaking relies on the instincts of dogs to eliminate in a group area. If the puppy is taken continually to the same area, the accumulated smells help stimulate elimination.

This way the youngster learns that elimination is the appropriate behavior in this location and that play is restricted to somewhere else.

There are four basic techniques useful for houstraining.

The first is patience. Although most puppies cannot consistently learn until eight weeks of age, some owners expect a six-week-old puppy to master the skills immediately. Each dog is an individual and learns at a different rate. While some puppies are fully trained in a few days, others may take a week or two, a few months or occasionally several months.

Mistakes will happen even for older dogs, so take it in stride and do not blame the dog for the occasional accident.

Praise is the second major factor in housebreaking. Take the puppy outside and stay with it until it has completely finished urinating and defecating. Praise should be given generously while the puppy is eliminating so that it learns that the behavior is very acceptable. This means you and the puppy need to stay out even in bad weather and you may need to plan some extra time for this activity.

A puppy shoved out may simply wait by the door until it is allowed back inside. Then the full bladder or colon becomes so distended it must be emptied while the puppy is alone in the house. When you find the mess, you blame the puppy when you should be blaming yourself for not making sure urination and defecation occurred at the appropriate time and place.

Confinement is the third component to successful houstraining. A puppy that is confined is generally less active, and a less active puppy is not as likely to eliminate. Since accidents will happen, confinement to an area where the little messes do not matter means the owner will be happier and the relationship will not degrade. The area of confinement can vary from a garage to a room, a kennel or a crate. Puppies should be kept here whenever they cannot actually be watched, such as at night or when you are gone to work.

In all cases, it is important to remember that the bladder capacity of a small dog may not be great enough for 10 hours or more. Shorter periods are helpful to get the proper lessons appropriately learned.

The fourth successful housebreaking technique is timing. Puppies are most likely to eliminate after waking, after eating, when physically active and before resting. These are the times a puppy should be taken outside. Remember, young dogs eat and sleep several times a day, so taking them outside is not limited to four trips a day.

Punishment is not necessary for successful housebreaking. In fact, it is often counterproductive. Since elimination is a normal behavior, a puppy does not understand punishment. This is complicated by the fact that the punishment is often applied at the wrong time. Light punishment is only successful if it is applied at the time of the inappropriate behavior, not after the fact.

Timing is also important for praise, but by taking the puppy outside, the owner will be in the right spot at the right time.

Puppies that will be expected to eliminate outside as adults should be trained to this behavior initially. Many dogs have trouble making a transition from paper usage to the outdoors and end up not doing either very well.

A houstrained dog is a pleasant addition to a family. Although it can take a lot of time and effort, the end product is well worth the effort.

(Dr. Beaver is a professor in the Department of Small Animal Medicine and Surgery at the Texas A&M University College of Veterinary Medicine. A renowned animal behavior expert, Dr. Beaver has written numerous scientific articles and books and was named Outstanding Woman Veterinarian of the Year in 1982.)

Heritage workshop scheduled

Preservationists from this area of the state will gather in Graham July 21 to share ideas and learn new techniques in preserving the heritage of the local community.

Haskell community leaders are invited to register for the workshop. It will be at the First United Methodist Church from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The workshop is being brought to Graham by the Texas Historical Commission, the Texas-New Mexico field office of the National Trust for Historic Preservation and Preservation Texas.

Speakers will include Libby Willis of the trust office in Fort Worth; Rick Meyer, president of Preservation Texas; and Stan Graves, Jim Steely and Anice Read of the Texas Historical Commission staff in Austin.

A $10 registration fee will cover lunch and instructional materials. To register, make check payable to the Young County Historical Commission and mail it to Louise Witkowski, 800 3rd St., Graham, TX 76046.

Three students attend seminar

Three Haskell County students attended the Texas Farm Bureau's 26th annual citizenship seminar for junior and senior high school students at Angelo State University in San Angelo June 13-17.

Representing Haskell County were Kyle Darden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Darden of Haskell; Marcus Phemister, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Phemister of Weinert; and Scott Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin of Haskell.

County Farm Bureau president Bob Aycock said they were selected because of their leadership ability, scholastic achievement and character.

The seminar, which ran the full three days, is designed to give selected students a better understanding of the various forms of government and their responsibilities as citizens. Comparisons of different types of economic systems were outlined in lectures, films and discussions presented by leading authorities in government, history and economics.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Last year, 1,250 people died in alcohol-related traffic accidents on Texas roads. That's 38 percent of the total number of people killed in traffic accidents.

What's more, 32,333 people were injured in alcohol-related accidents, and there was at least one such accident in all but two Texas counties.

In our country, the states bear primary responsibility for enforcing drunk-driving laws. Texas, like many other states, has been upgrading its efforts and doing a good job.

But drunk driving continues to be a problem. One person dies because of drunk driving every 22 minutes in our nation. We need to combat this problem, with Congressional action to supplement the efforts of state and local governments. And where we can help fight the scourge of drunk driving, I want to do that.

Congress struck a blow in this campaign in 1984, passing legislation that urged the states to raise their drinking age from 18 to 21.

In our state, the statistics reveal the importance of this bill. In 1984, the number of 19- and 20-year-olds who died on Texas roads totaled 307. Two years ago, Texas' state legislature, in response to the national law, raised the state drinking age to 21. Deaths of 19- and 20-year-olds dropped to 229 last year, and officials also report a drop in the amount of drinking by drivers of all ages.

Because of such factors as enhanced record keeping and better follow-up on drunk driving arrests, public safety officials caution that there is no verifiable statistical link between the higher drinking age and lower number of deaths.

Regardless, the bottom line is fewer deaths and less drunk driving among people of all ages. And common sense tells us that with fewer drunk drivers on the road, fewer people will die in alcohol-related accidents.

Congress is now considering the Drunk Driving Prevention Act of 1988, and I'm an original cosponsor of this bill. In addition, Mothers Against Drunk Driving and the National Safety Council among others support this legislation.

If enacted—and I will work to see that it is—the bill will:

- authorize federal seed money to help states establish their own self-supporting programs to prevent drunk driving. To be eligible for these funds, a state must establish programs that will pay for themselves, returning to communities the fines and surcharges collected from convicted drunk drivers.

- prompt state laws requiring that if a person is found to be driving under the influence of alcohol, his or her driver's license will be promptly suspended or revoked. A recent study conducted by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety indicated that similar laws already on the books have reduced drunk-driving deaths by nine percent.

- make states eligible for additional funds if they issue drivers licenses that readily distinguish people who are below the drinking age and by requiring blood tests for drivers involved in fatal or serious accidents.

While this alone won't end the problem of drinking and driving and dying on our roads, it will make a vital contribution toward educating drivers and stopping unnecessary deaths.

The tidal wave caused by the eruption of a volcano on the island of Krakatau in 1883 reached as far as England.

Dining out in Texas in 1988 will be a popular pastime, since Texas residents will spend an average of $667 each in restaurants.

Hamburgers are the favorite food purchased by Texas consumers, with each Texas resident spending an average of $119 on this menu item in 1988.

The Texas Restaurant Association released the information in conjunction with its annual convention in Houston, scheduled to begin Saturday.

Mexican food is the second most popular food in Texas, accounting for nearly 10 cents of every dollar spent dining out. The third most popular food is pizza, with each Texan spending 7 cents of every dollar.

During 1988, Texas restaurant sales are expected to increase 4.5 percent. Texas consumers haven't let up in their desire to dine out. Restaurant sales in the state are expected to increase to $11.4 billion during the year.

Despite tough economic times in recent years, consumers continue to eat out more frequently than in the past. Thirty-three percent of Texans eat breakfast out at least once a week, 63 percent eat lunch and 58 percent eat their dinners out. In fact, Texas consumers spend 41.5 percent of their total food dollar dining in Texas restaurants.

The restaurant industry is an integral part of the Texas economy. Restaurants in Texas employ 413,998 people, making them the largest retail employer. Statewide, more than 420,000 people work in the food service industry.

Cattle conference

Texas cattlemen from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande Valley are trying to determine what production and marketing options will maximize profitability. And that objective will be the focus of the second Beef Industry Conference at Texas A&M University July 7-8.

Texas and national leaders will present their views on current and future trends and directions of the cattle industry.

Milk production

Milk production continues to climb in Texas, with dairy producers offering consumers a wholesome product.

Milk production in Texas is growing at a faster rate than in any other state. It has increased by 25 percent over the past eight years. Cash receipts to Texas milk producers totaled $552 million in 1986.

Attends seminar

Roy T. Everett, left, was one of 98 justices of peace who attended a 20-hour seminar last month in San Angelo. Shown with him are Geneva Chandler of Roby and Marie Van Loon of Rotan.

Stamford rodeo to be next week

The Texas Cowboy Reunion in Stamford is scheduled for June 29-30 and July 1.

Still considered the world's largest amateur rodeo, the TCR will break with tradition this year by being completed before the 4th of July.

Several other changes have been made this year. The Rocking K Championship Rodeo Co. will provide the stock. New clowns and new acts and new announcers have been contracted to make the show more entertaining. The world famous Hardin Simmons Cowboy Band will continue in tradition by providing the musical entertainment at the rodeo performances that begin at 8 o'clock each night.

The downtown parade on the square will kick off events for the 58th annual TCR at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, June 29. The theme for the parade is "Generosity in West Texas" and will recognize Shelly Smith, administrator of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene and San Angelo, as the official parade marshal. Many riding clubs and sheriffs' posses from throughout the area, beautifully decorated floats in the commercial and institutional divisions, individual entries, antique cars, approximately 100 sponsors and hundreds of colorful cowgirls, cowboys and horses will be included.

Many of the country's top western artists will have their work displayed in the 15th annual Stamford Art Foundation exhibit and sale. The gallery will be open until 9 each evening.

Following the rodeo each night, there will be western dances on the slab under the stars with music by Jody Nix and "The Texas Cowboys."

These attractions, plus the AQHA quarterhorse show, old timers' events, chuck wagon dinners and many more colorful traditions are all a part of the annual reunion.

For more information, contact the Texas Cowboy Reunion at (915) 773-3614, or the Stamford Chamber of Commerce at (915) 773-2411.

Retirees

Retirees living at home on fixed incomes often become the target of schemes that take advantage of senior citizens' desires to stay ahead in the race against inflation's erosion of their buying power. Too often they wind up bewildered, disillusioned and defrauded of their monthly allotments or life savings.

Particularly enticing are ads offering work at home, from addressing envelopes, to knitting baby booties, to raising worms.

Red River Fish Farms
stocking catfish, bass, hybrid bluegill, and fathead minnows for your lakes and ponds. We will be in Haskell at ASI, on Wednesday, June 29 from 1:30 p.m. til 2:30 p.m. Containers with oxygen provided for transporting fish. For more information call 915-529-4277, Abilene.

AT&T ANNOUNCES UPCOMING PRICE CHANGES FOR SOME TEXAS INTRASTATE SERVICES

AT&T announces the following price changes for some of its Texas intrastate services. These changes, which more closely reflect the actual costs incurred by AT&T in providing these services, will become effective on August 1, 1988.

- SDN (Software Defined Network) Schedule A prices will be reduced 1.5% during the initial 30-second period. Schedule B prices will be reduced 16.4% overall. Schedule C prices will be reduced 4.2% overall.

- WATS 80 service prices for both the initial 80-hour usage period and the additional usage period will increase 5%.

- The monthly prices for some of AT&T's Analog Channel Services will increase between $7.05 and $25 per channel termination for Analog services.

- The monthly prices for some Dataphone Digital Service (DDS) will decrease up to $9.65. Other DDS monthly prices will increase up to $18.35. Overall, AT&T's DDS monthly prices will increase less than 1%.

The combined effect of these price changes is expected to produce approximately $3.4 million in annual revenue, which is approximately 0.3% of AT&T's annual revenue for all Texas intrastate services.

If you have questions regarding these price changes, please call your AT&T Account Executive, or our business consultants toll-free at 1-800-222-0400. AT&T's tariffs reflecting these changes will be filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on July 1, 1988, with an effective date of August 1, 1988.

Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may also contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas in writing, at 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or by calling the Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf.

--Obituaries--

Leita M. Lain

Leita M. Lain, 83, a resident of Munday for nearly 60 years, died June 13 at the Haskell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral services were June 15 at the First Baptist Church in Munday with the Rev. Paris Barton of Haskell officiating. Burial was in Johnson Memorial Cemetery under direction of McCauley-Smith Funeral Home.

Mrs. Lain was born Sept. 30, 1904, in Bosque County and moved from Cleburne to Munday in 1929. She married William Fred Lain March 9, 1929, in Munday, and he preceded her in death Oct. 28, 1978. She was a Baptist.

Survivors include a son, Larry Don Lain of Buchanan Dam; a daughter, Joan Lain of Dallas; seven grandchildren, including Molly Van Story of Haskell, and six great-grandchildren.

Elbert L. Bauer

Elbert L. Bauer, a general contractor, died June 11 at a Fort Worth hospital. He was 79.

Funeral services were held in the family's back yard garden under the oak trees. Dr. John Stewart Jr. officiated.

Bauer was a lifelong resident of Fort Worth. He served in the Navy from 1944 to 1946. He built more than 100 homes as general contractor. One of the structures, the Harry Brants home in southwest Fort Worth, received the Designer Showcase of the Year award from the Historic Preservation Council of Fort Worth three years ago.

He was an avid gardener and a member of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Bauer was well known by many Haskell residents. He attended many homecomings with his wife, Johnnye Morgan Bauer, a 1925 Haskell graduate.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Betty Brink and Suzanne Mabe, both of Fort Worth; a brother, Ralph Bauer of Fort Worth; a sister, Ida McReynolds of Fort Worth; seven grandchildren; and 11 great-grandchildren.

J. T. Adkins

J. T. Adkins of Anaheim, Calif., died June 13 in Anaheim. He was 77.

He was born in 1911 in Hill County, the son of Lewis and Willie Adkins. He grew up in Haskell and lived here until he moved to California in the 1940s. He was a welder.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Pattie; and a brother, James Adkins of Haskell. He was preceded in death by his first wife, Inez (Tims), and a son, Don.

Give house a bath

Your house may not need a paint job this summer, but it could probably use a bath.

Scrubbing down exterior walls once or twice a year improves their appearance and alerts homeowners to small problems that can be corrected before they become serious, says Dr. Peggy Owens, extension service specialist.

"Start by giving siding and trim a good scrubbing with a light detergent solution and rinsing it away. As dirt washes away, look for mildew, popped nails and minor cracks that need caulking," she said.

Top student

Virginia Rogers of Haskell was named outstanding nursing student at Seymour during the 1988 Honors Convocation on the campus of Vernon Regional Junior College. She was chosen by the nursing faculty for her academic achievements. Here, she receives her award from Beth Arnold, RN, instructor of the Seymour class.

Small business conference planned

Small businessmen and women from Haskell are invited to participate in the first Big Country Business Development Conference. It will be Thursday, June 30, at the Caruth Small Business Development Center on the campus of Abilene Christian University.

Price Arredondo, deputy director for small business of the Texas Department of Commerce, will be keynote speaker. He will address the department's plan for enhancing and developing small businesses in Texas.

For addition information contact the Caruth Small Business Development staff at (915) 674-2776. Registration should be completed by Tuesday, June 28.

Lions host wives

Haskell Lions hosted an evening meal of barbecued brisket with all the trimmings for their wives and other honored guests June 14.

After the meal, Miss Heather Hobgood put on an entertaining display of her tumbling skills. The Lion courage failed when club members were invited to duplicate some of Miss Hobgood's easier maneuvers.

Outgoing president Vic Andersen pointed out some of the successful community projects completed by the club during the 1987-88 year.

Incoming officers were installed by district governor Jack McCann of Vernon.

New officers include Bob Cass, president; Donnie Rieger, first vice president; Tommy Watson, second vice president; Bobby Hobgood, third vice president; George Fouts, Lion tamer; Ray Boring, secretary-treasurer; John Rike, tail twister; Tom Long, song leader.

New board members are A. K. Patel and Hess Hartsfield.

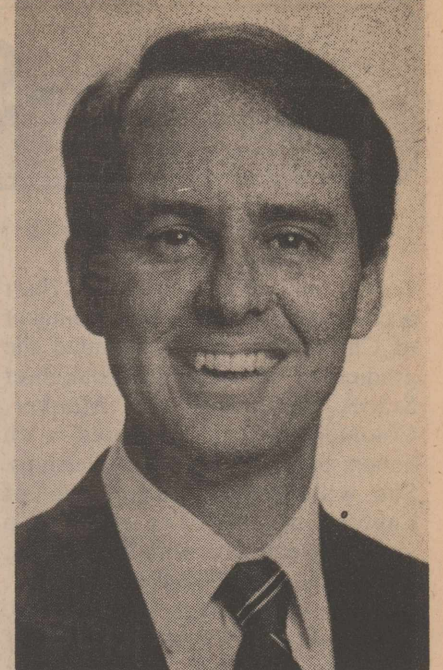

New president Cass expounded on new goals and projects to be accomplished in the 1988-89 year.

Good food and good fellowship made for a pleasant evening that everyone enjoyed.

Play night to be Saturday

A play night, sponsored by the Haskell Horse Club, will be held at 7:30 Saturday.

Events will include barrels, flags, poles, goat tying in four age groups. There also will be an open barrel race.

Steven Leggett has been named director of corporate communications for West Texas Utilities Co. and will move to Abilene from Corpus Christi where he has been manager of public information for Central Power and Light Co. He succeeds Sherwyn McNair, who is retiring as director of corporate communications and assistant treasurer at WTU effective July 1. Leggett holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Texas A&I University in Kingsville.

Church members to honor pastor

Members of Hopewell Baptist Church, 908 N. Ave. A, will honor their pastor, the Rev. J. J. Lewis and wife, with an appreciation service at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. F. Chenault, pastor of Greater Independent Baptist Church, will speak. Guest church choirs will sing.

You are reading The Haskell Free Press and we thank you.

"Now you can forget your electric bill and still pay it on time every month!"

You can make remembering to pay your electric bill easier with a WTU bank draft.

Each month your electric bill is sent to your bank and they take the proper amount from your checking account. A copy of the bill will be mailed to you on the day we draft from your bank.

Signing up for a WTU bank draft is easy and you may cancel the agreement at anytime. Just call or go by your local WTU office and they will provide you with a bank draft agreement.

Stress related to everyday pressures

Stress is a common event of everyday life and is related to the pressures everyone faces from day to day. No one is free from stress says a specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Babies as young as eight months can detect stress in their mothers and show signs of depression as a result," said Dorothy Taylor, extension family life specialist. "Only in death does one have freedom from complete stress."

Excessive stress stems from meeting the demands of family, maintaining a household, or work. Sudden expenses, unemployment, sickness and death can also produce unexpected pressures.

However, some pressure serves as motivation to get things done. "Stress is like medication: the right dose is good for you, but too much can be a poison," said Taylor.

Like poison, stress also affects the health. The body may signal the mind that stress levels are too high. The signals should be listened to before serious conditions such as emphysema, ulcers, colitis or a heart attack develop, the specialist urged.

Some of these health signals include:

- * Quickened heart beat
- * Increase in hormones produced by the adrenal glands

- * Increased lung activity
- * High blood pressure
- * Full energy as a result of glucose in the muscles and brain
- * Improved muscle function
- * Acceleration in blood clotting mechanisms

- * Improved hearing and eyesight
- * Cold hands and feet
- * Suspension of digestive processes resulting in indigestion

Everyone reacts to stress differently, so there are different ways of managing stress. Breathing deeply to improve oxygen intake, exercising, or taking an imaginary 10-minute mind vacation to a peaceful place are all helpful methods of relieving stress. Talking to someone about the problem also can help.

Taylor emphasized that abuse of alcohol or drugs can worsen stress. "In the long run, you have to get over both the stress and the side effects," she said.

Since stress cannot be avoided, there are things a person can do to minimize the effects of it. Eating right, getting enough sleep, allowing time for relaxation and organizing personal life, home or work area can all be helpful. Taylor said cultivation and use of faith and values also provides a source of support.

--Weinert--

By Myrtle Phemister

Weinert is still very dry, hot, dusty, and windy. We are happy some of our neighbors received rain, but we measured only one tenth of an inch.

In days gone by, a farmer could take his family a few miles away and "pick cotton" to supplement the farm income during a bad crop year, but those "good ole" days are past.

Nowadays we have a generous "Uncle Sam", who provides with subsidies, welfare, etc., does it tend to take away a man's ambition, initiative and pride with the provision? We live in a changed world.

We hope you were especially blessed on Father's Day, 1988. Weinert fathers were honored with gifts, calls, cards, dinners and reunions.

A favorite card at this house depicted a magnificent bull with the caption reading, "For the Head of the Herd," and as my "head" surveyed the 44 descendants in his "herd", he felt mighty special. He is!

The atmosphere has been very edifying around town as all the churches have had special, planned programs.

The Four-Square Church had a very special day with several preacher's on Sunday; the local pastor, Paul and Sandra Chambers and guests, Val and Sallie Chavez, Philippine Islands; and Chris and Debbie McDaniels of Long View, Texas.

The McDaniels of Longview were in charge of the morning service, and featured Debbie as she ministered in song, and Chris as she brought the devotional.

At the evening service, Val Chavez, a minister and teacher at a Four Square College in the Philippines was the featured speaker. He gave a brief history of the islands, related the size of them as being approximately the size of the state of California, if they were combined into one land mass.

There are over 800 Four Square churches on the Islands, and several schools, colleges and camps.

The ministers spent last week at Whispering Oaks Four Square Family Camp in Buffalo Gap, in which several from Weinert were in attendance. The list included: Paul and Sandra Chambers, with daughters, Kim, Kristi and Jodi; Clifford and Karen Byrd, with Jenna Leigh and Janet; Rene Vojkufka with grandson Cary Wood; Tinka Herricks with daughter, Tina, and granddaughter, Tiffany.

Visitors for the special Father's Day services at the Church of Christ included Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lynn Phemister, with Stephanie, of Odessa; Marcus Phemister of Round Rock; Joshua and Jason Briles of Odessa; Celestynie Griffin of Phoenix, Arizona, and Jackie Frantz of Dallas.

The Weinert Baptist Church is involved in a series of Revival services, scheduled for each night through Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Evangelist Paul Burlison, of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, is bringing the messages, with Doug Bromley, of Kennewick, Washington, now a student at Hardin-Simmons, in charge of the music and singing.

Paul will be a guest in the home of Betty and R.S. Sanders while here. Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bromley will be staying in the home of Donnie and Debbie Crump.

The First United Methodist Church had the regular minister, James Patterson of Knox City, as their speaker for Father's Day, 1988.

Because he serves two churches, the Weinert Church always has its services early in the day on Sunday, and visitors are welcomed any time.

Those who need our prayers this week include Bunk Herricks, who is hospitalized in Stamford, and requires constant care.

Garth Garrett, brother of Ida Farrel and Lenora Griffis, is in an Abilene hospital, and they request our prayers on his behalf.

Erma Liles was bubbling with delight this week as she related about a visit from some cousins she had never met. Len and Nancy Cornett, of Murchison, Texas, who knew they had Monke relatives, finally, through their delving into genealogy discovered Erma, and called her.

They drove out, and met their first "Monke." They spent the weekend pouring over family pictures and "family trees" and exchanging memorabilia.

Len is a grandson of Erma's "Aunt Kate", her fathers sister. I know he and Nancy returned to their job with the telephone company in Murchison, feeling it was time well spent, to find a cousin as pleasant and lovely as Erma.

Erma's week was make more happy, with a visit from her cousin on her Mother's side of the family. Jim and Lorene Schwede, of Anderson, Texas, came for the Toliver reunion, and spent some time with her. She attended the reunion with them, and later they visited all the country cemeteries in the area. Erma had a memorable week.

Jimmy and Gayle White had a memorable week, also, as they traveled to Des Moines, Iowa to the Worlds Hog Show, and saw the Worlds Champion hog sell to Korea for $10,000. The Champion was red Duroc.

There were 55,000 people fed at the dinner that had guests from all over the World. Wouldn't you know the menu featured pork, and not Texas beef?

The White's were accompanied on the trip by Jimmy and Sue Hackney of Ft. Worth. Both families raise hogs for the market, and purchase their breeding stock in Iowa.

Carl and Evelyn Ellington of Muleshoe spent last week in the home of her mother, Bertie Alexander.

Todd and Talanda Hackney have returned to their home after a few days spent with their grandparents, the D.I. White's, in Weinert. Todd was D.I.'s Chauffeur for a time, as he recuperated from the surgery on his hand.

It was not a barn-raising at the Mahan residence this week, but very similar, as Francis' "men-folk" gathered to remove the old shingles and install new ones on her home. She is ready now for that long awaited rain.

There were 3 generations of boys who came to help with the task, and only 3 women to cook, serve and clean up after the nine males.

Those helping were her sons and wives, Jim and Joy Allen; Bill and Pat Allen, and Celestynie Griffin of Phoenix, Ariz.; Pete Jordan of Hamilton; Bruce, Chad and Junior La Roque; Jim Hill and Brian Holloway of Odessa; Tim Marshall of Weatherford, Oklahoma.

Reunions
Maples-Frazier

Sixty-five descendants of Enoch Maples-Captola Frazier Henderson gathered at Bass Hollow at Possum Kingdom lake for their annual reunion, with Lavonna and Captola of Odessa daughters of Ben Ed Maples, in charge of affairs.

Francis Maples Mahon of Weinert, was the oldest of her generation in attendance, and her children, Bill and Jim Allen, with their families, of Phoenix, Arizona, came the farthest distance to attend.

The Sunday family devotional was led by Pete Jordan of Hamilton, directing the singing, and Tim Marshall, of Oklahoma bringing the message.

Margie Jordan was selected by the group to plan next year's reunion.

A highlight of the gathering was the showing and telling of the Maples family crest and the presentation of quilt blocks made of the insignia to each one, made and presented by Francis Mahan.

Forehand Reunion

The reunion grounds at Ft. Belknap echoed with laughter and good-will on June 19th, as 46 descendants of Sylvester and Emily Forehand gathered for their annual family reunion.

Only three of the original family members survive, and they are: Hobert (C.D.) of Arlington; Lois of Ladonia; and Burgess (C.B.) of Haskell. Lois was unable to attend.

Burgess received a plaque for being the oldest family member in attendance, and his great grandson, Paden Stewart, received one for being the youngest one there.

Those in attendance from Weinert were Chet and Jeanie Forehand, with sons, Shannon and Kenny, and daughter, Kim Stewart with Paden.

Carroll Reunion

The descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Woody Carroll gathered at the Civic Center in Haskell on June 18 and 19 for their annual get together with 29 family members in attendance.

The family originally resided in Weinert, but now are scattered over 3 states and many cities.

Dale and Doris Carroll, with Denise of Weinert acted as hosts for the gathering and registered guests. Those in attendance were Pete and Johnnie Carroll, Haskell; James and Mary Carroll, Houston; Doris and Layne Wells, Trent; Steve and Debbie Carroll and Amy, Clyde; Jeffery and Belinda Wells, with Brian and Lindsay, Trent; Robert and Jeanette Rogers, Oklahoma City; Bobby and Carol Danner, Shawnee, Ok.; David Busby, Clarksville; Darlene and Kerry Therwhanger, Megargel.

Friends who came were Elmus and Bea Miller, Haskell; Jason and Joshua Briles, Odessa; and Gary Gregory, Trent.

R.W. Raynes Family Reunion

Bob Raynes was honored on Father's Day by a celebration of his 75th birthday, as the family gathered at the Stamford lake cabin of his son, Bobby and Betty Raynes, who hosted the party on June 18th and 19th.

Bobby broiled steaks for Saturday, and Frankie Jenkins fried fish for Sunday, and 40 members of the Bob and Crystella Raynes descendants enjoyed it all.

Bill Jetton and Betty Raynes were in charge of the devotional services for the affair, and everyone helped with the entertainment of water sports and cabin games.

Only 4 of the family were unable to attend, but all the Raynes children were in attendance.

All roads will lead to the Kiva Inn in Abilene on June 25th and 26th as the family of Jim and Ophelia Alexander gather for their annual family reunion.

Our birthday balloons will go this week to Shelia Castorena, Kelly Earp, Brenda Sanders, Jerry Hester and to Donald Mahan, way out in Phoenix, Arizona. Happy Birthday, all.

Have a Nice Day!
