Retiring workers

These three volunteer workers in the kitchen of the Experienced Citizens Center were presented with plaques of appreciation last Wednesday upon their retirement. They are, from left, Estelle Norman, Adelle Boyard and Loree Hamilton.

This is just one of 28 monuments Jess Leonard has installed on the 28 previously unmarked graves at Roberts cemetery.

All graves now have monuments

By Wendell Faught
Were it not for Jess Leonard, the names of many of the former residents of the once-thriving community of Roberts would eventually be lost to history.

The 76-year-old Haskell man has recently completed the installation of 28 concrete monuments upon the previously unmarked graves in the Roberts cemetery.

Twenty-two of the monuments list the names, dates of birth and dates of death of those buried beneath. Another six graves are unknown. But now, thanks to Leonard, every grave has a monument.

Leonard grew up in the Roberts community and his parents and brother are buried in the cemetery.

"I just thought it would be a good project," said the retired oilfield pumper. "If someone hadn't marked the graves, they would be lost forever. There are very few of those people I didn't know."

Although the school and the church which served as cornerstones of the rural Haskell County community disappeared long ago, an occasional burial still takes place in the manicured cemetery.

There are about 130 graves in the cemetery. The oldest is that of Mary Alice McCullough, born Jan. 14, 1867, who died Dec. 29, 1911. Next to her grave is the grave of "Baby McCullough", apparently her daughter, born 1911, died 1912. It is not difficult to imagine that the mother died of complications of childbirth and the baby died a short time later.

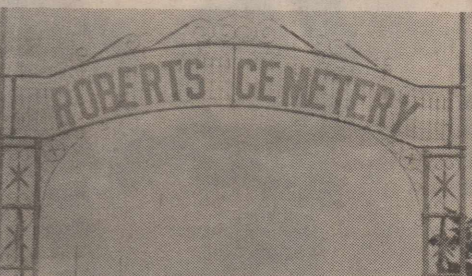

Next oldest grave is that of W. E. Horn, born Oct. 6, 1881, died Feb. 25, 1912. A potted flower of recent vintage attests to the presence of a family which still cares. Leonard said he understands relatives live in Oklahoma.

Leonard was born in the Roberts community and attended Roberts school. He retired Oct. 1, 1977, from General American Oil Co. He worked 15 years for General American in Haskell, spent a couple of years in Knox City and then six and a half years in East Texas before coming back to Knox City again. He moved back to Haskell in February 1977, a few months before he retired.

Until two years ago, Leonard kept the Roberts cemetery mowed. He said he had to give up that chore because of high blood pressure.

But he maintains a close association with the cemetery. He's served as president of the Roberts Cemetery Association ever since he retired. Mrs. Leonard is secretary.

Cult group discussed in public meeting

A capacity crowd of concerned citizens from Haskell and surrounding areas met Sunday night at the First United Methodist Church to discuss recent activities linked to suspected cultic groups, and to try to dispense some of the rumors which have spread.

The Rev. Kenny Kirk, pastor of the Methodist church, addressed the group, relating what various law enforcement personnel had learned about these occult practitioners. "Some have reported that as many as 400 Satanists gathered out at Lake Stamford," Kirk said. "Others have heard about human sacrifices that have supposedly taken place. Most of these rumors and stories are just that--rumors and stories."

Local peace officers who had observed the cult members while they were at the lake told the group that approximately 30 adults and six or eight children took part in the rituals, held June 17-18. They also stated that, based on what they saw, most of the participants were from three areas: Midland-Odessa, Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston-Galveston. Furthermore, all reports of alleged human sacrifices have been thoroughly investigated and the suspected sites carefully searched, and no evidence of any type has been uncovered, they said.

"One of Satan's greatest weapons to use against us is fear," said Rev. Kirk. "If he can get us so worried and paranoid that we take our eyes off Jesus, then he has won this battle. We must never forget that as Christians, we have nothing to fear from Satan."

Kirk went on to explain some of the differences between different cult groups. According to material found at the lake, the people who met there were followers of a pagan group whose beliefs and practices are similar to the Druids of old England. Kirk also discussed the New Age movement and some of its teachings.

The pastor also spoke of a mysterious incident which occurred at his church on June 26, wherein a figure dressed totally in black, including a black hood, entered the church nursery. He said that according to the attendant on duty, this person, who was slightly built, opened the door, seemed somewhat surprised, stood there for a few seconds, then fled the building.

Contrary to rumors, Kirk said no posse was formed to search for the person, and he or she made no other appearances that morning. Some law enforcement officials now believe that the incident may have been a sick prank, and may or may not have any connection to the gathering at the lake. The matter is still under investigation.

"Certainly this is a matter of concern for all parents," Kirk said, "and we should definitely use caution where our children are involved. However, we should not become so terrified that we lose our common sense. Remember, Jesus came to free us from Satan's power."

Bike-a-thon to support cancer fund

The Haskell County Chapter of the American Cancer Society will sponsor a bike-a-thon for youth 6 to 18 on July 30, according to Carolyn Pippin, publicity director of the local chapter.

The event is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. and will continue until 11 a.m. It will be preceded by a short explanation of bike safety rules, conducted by members of local law enforcement agencies.

Participating youths should begin now to plan for the event since packets will be available from July 18 through July 22 at Olney Savings Association and the Indian Drive-In (formerly Sonic Drive-In), said Mrs. Pippin.

Kits will contain pledge cards to secure pledges from friends and acquaintances. Pledges will be made up of so much money per lap around the elementary school (where students wait for the school bus). Local Boy Scouts and leaders will be on hand to line up the contestants.

Mrs. Pippin said plans are being formulated for a nurse to be on hand in case of minor accidents. The Indian Drive-In will furnish refreshments and local sponsors from the American Cancer Society will be present to act as official scorekeepers. Each participant will turn in his or her pledge card and be given a number which will be worn throughout the contest. Age brackets will be 6 to 12 years, and 13 through 18 years.

On completing as many laps as the contestants feel able to perform, they will then be asked to return to their individual sponsors to get the pledged amounts. If a participant can finish 10 laps, and has pledges of $1 per lap from 10 different individuals, he or she will raise $100.

Contestants will be given iron-on patches for their T-shirts. These will be provided in the kit and are given by the American Cancer Society. Arrangements are being made with Sport About to supply the T-shirts for a nominal amount to be determined at a later date. As plans continued on back page

Hobby Club

Oleta Fitzgerald was hostess to the July 5 meeting of the Rochester Hobby Club. Fifteen members and six visitors enjoyed a delicious salad luncheon.

Happy July birthday wishes go to Stella Carver, Johnnie Scott, Aletia Melton, Ozella Stevens and Odessa Erwin.

Helen Cox's pretty "Hexagon" quilt was finished. Now we have two very unusual quilts in the frames, both belonging to Ruth Underwood. One is an original "Four Sixes" (6666) Ranch pattern, while the other is an old-fashioned string star quilt.

The club's "Butterfly" quilt has been sold.

Lavern Kuenstler will be hostess for the July 19 meeting.

We certainly appreciate our new members and visitors.

Though your fields yield many bushels of rice, you can eat but one pint per day--though your house be ever so large, you sleep on but eight feet by night.

Thought for the day: It isn't what you start that counts. It's what you finish!

Ask VA

Q: How much will the participant be reimbursed for training by correspondence under the Montgomery GI Bill?

A: Reimbursement will be for 55 percent of the approved established charges for the course.

Q: My application for a VA pension was turned down several years ago because my income was too high. There have been some changes in my health and income over the last few years. Should I apply again?

A: Entitlement to pension is based on your countable income which can be reduced by medical and certain other expenses. Also the income limitation is raised each year and your income may not have increased at the same rate. You should check with your local VA office to determine if you are now eligible to receive a pension.

Q: May a veteran be covered under National Service Life Insurance and Veterans Group Life Insurance at the same time?

A: Yes. The programs are totally separate.

Thank you for reading The Haskell Free Press.

Paint Creek Scouts return from camp

Boy Scout Troop 148 of Paint Creek returned Saturday from a successful week of camping at Camp Tonkawa near Buffalo Gap.

They were joined there by First Class Scout Craig Donover of Troop 235 in Abilene who spent the week with them.

As the troop was unloading the bus for their week-long stay, they were welcomed into camp by a 2-inch rain and were forced to set up a "wet camp" Sunday night.

Monday, the 4th of July, the Scouts began work on advancement and merit badges, and to celebrate the birthday of their country participated in a flag ceremony at retreat depicting the various flags that have flown over the country, and performed a skit that night at campfire of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Tuesday night, the first year campers were made Tonkawa Braves while the rest of the troop competed in the Tonkawa Gold Rush and the Wicky Wacky Wee Way Wace where they used Scouting skills to solve various problems presented to them.

Wednesday night, all activity areas remained open for boys having difficulty or needing extra time to complete their requirements for the various merit badges.

Thursday night, Tonkawa held a campwide campfire and each troop was asked to perform a skit depicting some department of the camp staff. Troop 148 chose the rifle range and their skit poked fun at the rifle instructor by placing him in charge of a firing squad eliminating first year campers.

Friday night, the troop was joined by their parents who provided a fried chicken supper for the troop immediately following by a Troop Court of Honor which recognized the boys for their advancement in camp. Presented at the Court of Honor were 27 merit badges, five skill awards, and two boys advanced in rank.

Also at the Court of Honor, the boys and their parents attended a campwide campfire where the troop was recognized as the "Most Spirited Troop" in camp, the winner of the four man swimming relay race and the winner of the campwide "Knott Off", a knot tying relay race. Individual recognition went to Dane Morgan as the best diver in camp and to Shawn Barbour as the best archer and best shooter at the rifle range.

Scouts attending the camp were Geovanny Mayen SPL, Dane Morgan, Rodney Medford, Shawn Barbour, Hans Overton, Wesley Cockerell, Mathew Morton, Ray Morton and Craig Conover of Abilene.

Leaders attending were Wallar Overton, scoutmaster, and Stan Morton, assistant scoutmaster.

Troop 148 is sponsored by the Paint Creek Independent School District.

Rural hospitals face dilemma

(The following editorial appeared in the June 18 edition of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Since it addresses a problem of great concern to the people of Haskell, it is being re-printed in The Free Press.)

To a small town, a hospital obviously is a place to treat the sick. But it is so much more than that. Often it is also the only place for emergency care, the center point for home health-care services, the place for preventive health care, the location for well-child clinics.

To a small town, a hospital figures heavily in a community's economic picture, with a payroll and capital improvement and operating expenditures that buoy a local economy. In addition, it can be a major contributing factor in whether industry—with its jobs, taxes and economic diversification—will come to town.

Like a school, a hospital to a small town doubles as a community focal point. With a hospital, a small town not only can offer its citizens the security of medical treatment but essential, community-enhancing social and economic benefits.

If one closes, though, the pain can be profound.

Sorely needed medical protection and other services to the community are lost. Doctors often leave town. Other medical personnel are thrown out of work. The elderly, who account for a high percentage of a rural hospital's patients, are left in limbo. Residents are forced to travel many extra miles to obtain quality health care.

Literally and figuratively, then, a hospital closure results in the draining away of a considerable amount of a community's lifeblood.

Sadly, that often happens in Texas rural areas.

Consider:

- In the last four years, more than 30 rural hospitals have closed in Texas.
- Of Texas' 254 counties, 48 have no hospital.
- Of Texas' 528 non-federal hospitals, more than 40 percent are in rural areas.
- Texas' rural hospitals serve a population of 3.2 million—about 20 percent of the state's population.

A high percentage of rural hospital patients are elderly and are likely to be poor and very ill.

Why do these rural hospitals close? A major reason is that Medicare pays them much less to treat patients than the hospital's actual costs. Other reasons range from the bankruptcy of private corporations that own some rural hospitals to the failure of local citizens to approve taxes and/or bond money to build and maintain hospitals.

Primarily, the Medicare payment system is at fault. Rural hospitals often receive several hundred and even thousands of dollars less than do hospitals in larger cities for treatment of the same illness. Whereas urban hospitals often receive payments totaling more than their patient costs, rural hospitals often receive payments well below actual cost.

That loss threatens their continued operation and—as has happened more than 30 times in recent years—often puts them out of business. Unless more equity is built into the system, more rural hospitals will close.

Corrective action must come at the federal, state and local levels.

On the federal level, Congress must move swiftly and decisively to ensure that Medicare payments more adequately cover rural hospital costs and to find ways to assist the rural hospitals.

The mechanism for doing that is in place, although in embryonic stage, through a recently formed bipartisan coalition of about 50 House members known as the Rural Health Care Coalition. Also, some Senate Finance Committee members from rural states have assisted.

This congressional push has helped, resulting in slight Medicare funding increases to rural hospitals, grant programs and demonstration projects. But greater congressional effort is required, and starting points should include making Medicare payments more equitable and giving subsidies to rural hospitals based upon the percentage of Medicare patients they treat.

Congress should also look closely—as should the state—at claims that sanctions are unfairly imposed on rural doctors.

On the state level, the Legislature must include in its planned tort reform plan some special measures that give greater legal protection to rural hospitals and their physicians. Lawsuits and the threat of lawsuits are driving up their insurance and other costs, causing some rural physicians to abandon certain types of medical practice.

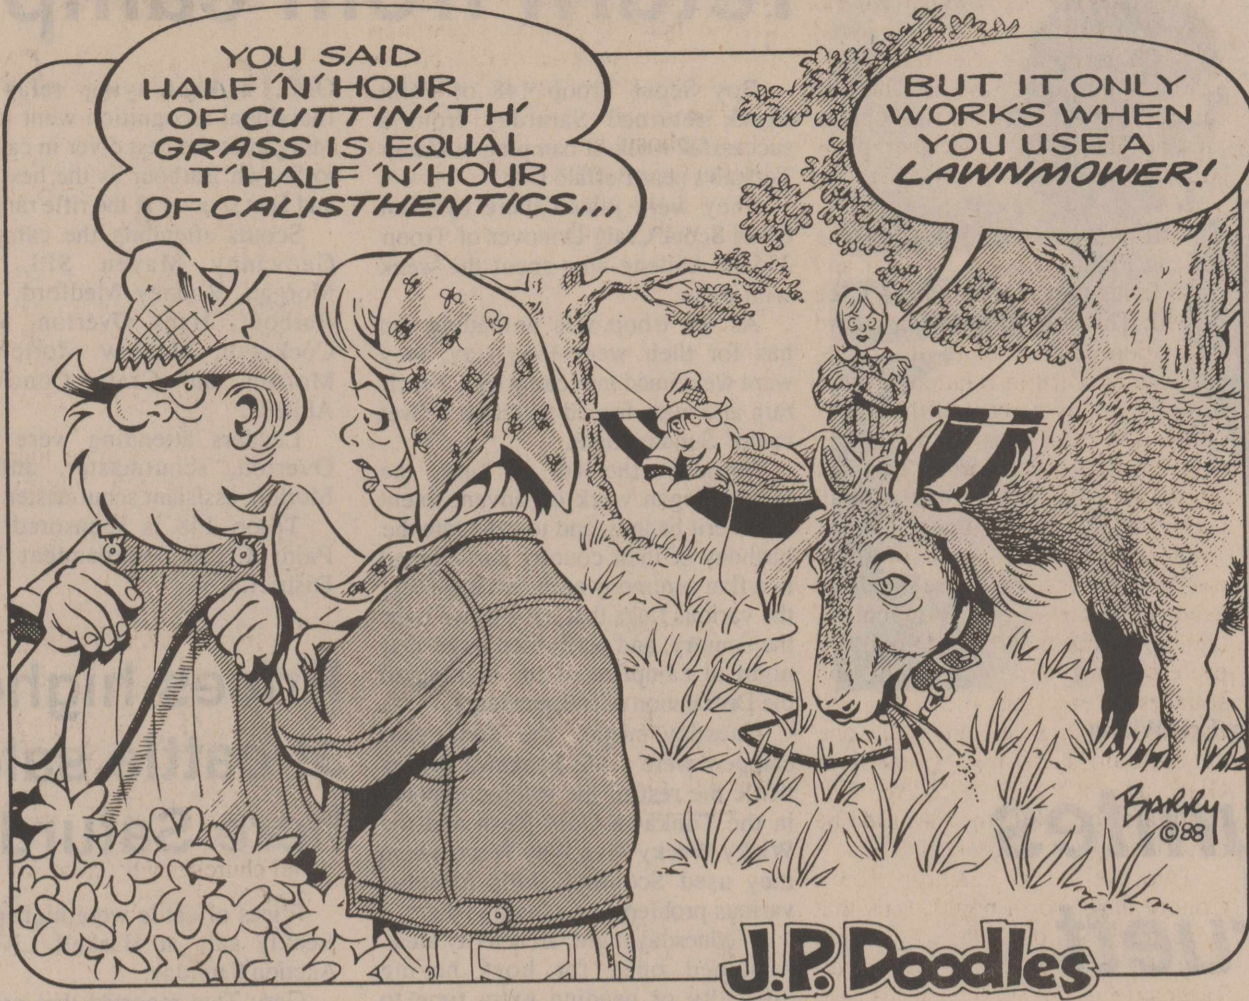

Legislators also should consider special rural nursing education programs that would include no-interest and low-interest tuition loans and grants. In addition, they should re-examine the Medicaid program to determine how its payment system might be changed to assist rural hospitals.

Locally, rural citizens must understand that they have a vested interest in their hospitals and that although some assistance should come from the federal and state treasuries, they are responsible for carrying some share of the load.

Specifically, they must stop rejecting bond proposals designed to finance the construction of new hospitals and/or improve existing hospitals so that they meet Medicare and other standards. Too often, citizens turn their backs to needed hospital bond issues and increased hospital taxes and, as a result, hospitals sometimes close.

These are mere starting points. Federal, state and local officials must put them into place and pursue other corrective steps not only to save rural hospitals from the padlock but also to let them serve more effectively.

For a small town, a hospital is a terrible thing to lose. Just ask a town that has lost one. Unfortunately, that is all too easy to do these days.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

We never quit learning. An Abilene radio station informs its listeners that Abilene is located right in the geographic center of the surrounding area.

If it was in the newspapers or on TV, I missed it. But I noticed a two-line squib in a magazine that Mildred Gillars died June 25 at the age of 87.

Who was Mildred Gillars? Well, during World War II she was known as "Axis Sally." The American-born onetime aspiring actress was teaching English in Berlin at the outbreak of the war. When American troops arrived in the Mediterranean she started a radio program of music and talk in an attempt to undermine the morale of GIs by raising doubts about the war by describing in salty language how the men back home were seducing the women the soldiers left behind.

GIs liked her music better than that on the official Army radio. Her playing of "Lili Marlene" led to its great popularity among allied soldiers.

She was convicted of treason in 1949 and served 12 years in prison. After her release she taught music and German at a Roman Catholic convent in Columbus, Ohio.

Her Pacific counterpart was "Tokyo Rose," the name American servicemen gave to Iva Ikuko Toguir D'Aquino, an American citizen of Japanese parentage.

After the war, she was sentenced to 10 years in prison, but was released after six years. Thirty years after the war she sought a pardon on the grounds she was trapped in Japan at the start of the war and was forced to do her broadcasts, and also that she was just one of several women who were collectively called "Tokyo Rose."

On his last full day in office on Jan. 19, 1977, President Ford granted her a pardon.

They don't call 'em airline hostesses any more. I'm talking about those pretty things that dispense peanuts and drinks to airline passengers.

They're stewardesses. (I suppose the male versions are stewards.)

Airlines have come up with their own lingo. Airline personnel would never refer to the plane as a plane or an airplane. Instead, they call the flying machine "the aircraft."

And if you want to get off at the next stop, you are going to have to "deplane."

But my favorite term is "pre-boarding passengers." To me, when someone gets on a plane, he "boards." I haven't figured out how you "pre-board."

Overheard: "My dad was going to teach me how not to fight, but I already knew."

Knox City newsman Dave Thompson says he made a traffic speed survey on a trip from Lubbock to Knox City over the 4th of July weekend.

While keeping his speed at 55 mph via his cruise control mechanism, he said he was passed by 26 vehicles during the 125-mile stretch.

"I felt like a turtle strapped in my shell," said Dave.

And Iowa Park editor Bob Hamilton says he thinks there's one business that needs additional taxing:

"I'm putting a 50-percent tax on all retail fireworks sales, with that money being paid to fire departments to offset costs caused by fireworks."

We've mentally stretched so many things so many times around the earth's equator that I'm afraid one of these days it's going to explode.

Commenting on the U.S. foreign debt which has risen 8,268 percent since 1984, from $4.4 billion to $368.2 billion, state Democratic chairman Bob Slagle said:

"If our foreign debt were laid down as a line of one dollar bills on the equator it would circle the globe 4,400 times."

Then in Monday's mail came a correction:

"Recalculation indicates our current $368.2 billion foreign debt, if laid down as a line of dollar bills, would only circle the globe 1,401 times, not her 4,400 times I stated earlier."

Thanks Bob. It makes me feel better.

Lightning

The idea that lightning never strikes twice is a myth.

National Wildlife magazine says that not only does lightning strike some places more than once, but some areas like Castle Rock, Colo., and Cape Canaveral, Fla., are struck frequently.

Upward moving air causes the frequent strikes near the Continental Divide, while converging sea breezes attract the lightning on the Florida coastline.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

When loans go bad, New York banks get better treatment than Texas banks.

There is no question in my mind but what federal regulators go out of their way to accommodate the big, money center banks in New York that have had foreign loans.

But they don't treat Texas banks with bad loans the same way. The General Accounting Office examined this situation and issued a report titled "International Banking: Supervision of Overseas Lending is Inadequate."

An analysis of that investigation reveals that federal regulators make fewer demands on banks with bad foreign loans. It shows that regulators require banks with these bad foreign loans—even to a communist country such as Poland—to put less than half as much of their earnings in reserve as they require of a Texas bank with loans to a U.S. troubled industry.

That's not just bad for banks in Texas, where troubled real estate and energy loans have caused problems for the state's banking system. It's bad for borrowers, too, and it's bad for our efforts to get enough capital to boost our state's economic recovery. It's bad for the owner of a small- or medium-sized business, and it's tough on the rancher and farmer who's trying hard to get by.

This bias must stop, and I am insisting on fair treatment for Texas banks.

I've written to Robert L. Clarke, who is U.S. Comptroller of the Currency; Federal Reserve System Chairman Alan Greenspan; and L. William Seidman, who is Chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., to demand that they give Texas equal treatment.

"The Texas economy is rebuilding after several difficult years," I said. "A critical component of that challenging task is a robust and healthy banking system, able to provide needed credit to worthy borrowers ranging from small businesses to ranchers and farmers."

Frankly, I would much rather have a loan secured by an empty building in Texas than depend solely on the good faith of, say, the communist government of Poland.

I'm drafting legislation to insure a fair shake for Texas, to see that we get the same treatment that the New York banks get.

The way things now stand, Texas banks and Texas borrowers are getting short shrift. This is unfair and unequal treatment that favors the big money banks in New York over the banks—and ultimately the people—of our state.

We deserve no less.

Area cotton in good shape

By Steve Davis
Extension Agent-Entomologist
July 7

Generally, cotton is in very good shape with recent rains. Hopefully the weather will stay open for a week or two so that needed field work can be accomplished.

Boll weevil trap numbers have dropped off area wide since cotton is more "attractive." Weevils are found in all areas in the five counties with a treatable level already.

Southern Jones County (Fort Phantom Dam area) has a weevil problem which varies with older cotton fields and this "spotted" infestation continues northward to the Peacock area.

Cotton enrolled in pest management problems is in scattered locations over the five-county area so weevil problems cannot be described unless referring to these particular locations. Every grower, whether enrolled in an IPM program or not, should be spending part of every day checking for boll weevil feeding and "egg-lay" punctures in all sizes of squares present. Weevil feeding is not restricted to larger squares.

Theoretically, 100 squares should be examined per field so that a percentage of feeding or egg puncture damaged squares can be determined. This should be done field wide with one check per 20 acres (25 squares per 20 acres). An infestation of 20 percent should be treated, especially if weevils and fleahopper numbers are compounding the problem.

Fleahopper populations are very localized it seems. Every field will have some but none have been found in alarming numbers yet. This is the hardest pest to scout for and should be given the most attention during the first four weeks of squaring. Treatments should be applied when fruiting rates are below 75 percent and when 25 to 30 fleahoppers are found per 100 terminals. Several fields examined this week have had "blasted squares" but have not had fleahoppers present. This is due to weather, plant stress and/or several factors other than insects.

Boll worms have invaded the Rolling Plains already this year and some fields will probably need to be treated. The egg lay is not a record infestation but is enough of a threat to cause concern in relation to early fruit set. Eighty percent of the cotton stripped in the fall is set during the first four weeks of squaring. This fact intensifies the importance of boll worm presence at this time.

In regard to treatment of these early infestations, great care should be used in determining chemical of choice. Microbials (i.e. Dipel) are preferred for early treatment and squares protection prior to boll formation. If eggs are numerous, one of the chlordimeforms (Fundal or Galecron) or one of the methomyls (Lannate or Nudrin) should be considered.

Two fields in northern Jones County have worm populations that were treatable on Thursday where only fresh eggs were found on Tuesday (July 5). Worms in this case were very small which is the best stage to treat. Beneficials are trying to build, however, they have not been able to keep up.

Ground rigs will need to be taken out of "moth balls" if not already done. This is by far the cheapest and most efficient application in 90 percent of the dry land fields. Most chemicals prescribed in treatment of cotton can be applied by ground with the exception of the chlordimeforms.

I would appreciate knowing if fields that are being scouted have been sprayed so that scouts won't wander into a potential harmful situation. Good scouts are hard to find and we can't afford to lose any at this time.

Due to a misprint, organophosphates (Curacron and Bolstar) were left off the list of early season bollworm treatments. They, along with microbials, are excellent choices for early-season, small worm control in small cotton. Other choices will have to be made in "ranker" cotton with larger worms.

Indians' record now 8-0

The Haskell Indian teenage baseball team brought its record to 8-0 Monday night with a 22-0 victory over Hamlin.

Next game for the Indians will be Monday night when they entertain Anson here. They will close the regular season at Hamlin July 21.

Haskell already has clinched the league championship and will compete in the state tournament in Eastland which begins Aug. 1. Twelve teams from around the state will compete in the Eastland tournament.

Saturday's schedule calls for the first round of play with tee times at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. A happy hour between 5 and 7 p.m. Saturday will be followed with a steak dinner at 7 and a dance at 9.

Play in Sunday's final round play begins at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

A long drive and closest to pin contest will be held during the mornings and afternoons both days.

All country club members are invited to enjoy the steak supper Saturday, whether or not they are playing in the tournament. Cost of the supper is $6 per plate. All members and their guests also are invited to the Saturday night dance.

Baseball players named as all-stars

Four Haskell baseball players have been named to the 14- and 15-year-old Pony League all-star team which was scheduled to play in the north region tournament in Burkburnett, beginning Tuesday night.

Haskell representatives on the team are Jay Miller, Marc McMillin, Jeremy Fuentes and Mike Layland.

Larry McMillin of Haskell and Bruce Tabor of Aspermont are coaching the all-star team.

The Haskell all-stars are combining with all-stars from Rule, Knox City and Aspermont to form the all-star team for tournament play.

Four Haskell Pony League players also were named to the 13-year-old all-star team. They are Mark Jones, Cody Josselet, Patrick Billington and Shawn Sanford.

They joined with all-stars from Rule, Knox City and Aspermont for an all-star team which is competing in a district tournament in Olney, which began Monday night.

Coaches for the 13-year-old team are Larry Lafevre of Rule and Don Frische of Knox City.

Fishing in rain

A rainy day often makes for better fishing.

In fact, according to National Wildlife magazine, insects that are knocked into lakes and streams by wind and raindrops attract insect-eating fish, such as bluegills, luring them closer to the water's surface. Raindrops also break up the surface of the water, making it harder for fish to see the fishermen.

Living thermometer

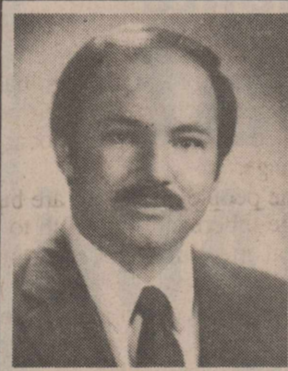

You don't need a thermometer to figure out the temperature, International Wildlife magazine reports.

All you have to do is listen for the snowy tree cricket in late summer and early fall. Count the number of chirps in 15 seconds and add 39. The total is the temperature in Fahrenheit.

Mailbox vandalism is Federal offense

Through rain, sleet, snow or dead of night the U.S. mail gets delivered to postal customers across the nation. The elements of nature don't stop letter carriers from getting mail into a customer's mailbox, but sometimes mailbox vandalism does.

Mailbox vandalism comes in a variety of shapes and sizes from the placement of objects inside the mailbox to the actual theft or destruction of the mail receptacle.

Letter carriers and customers have reported finding bottles, snakes, snails, food, trash, and even small animals inside their mailboxes. These items are usually easily removed and do not disrupt the delivery of mail.

On the other hand, firecrackers, shotgun pellets, baseball bats, rocks and even an occasional pickup truck do enough damage to cause an interruption in mail service until the box is repaired or replaced. Beyond the damage to the boxes, which costs the postal customer time and money to repair or replace, mailbox vandalism sometimes causes the loss or destruction of valuable and important mail.

Mail receptacles and the mail inside are protected by Federal law from theft, damage and destruction. The violations are felonies which carry penalties of between three to five years imprisonment and/or fines between $1,000 and $2,000.

BREAST CANCER DETECTION UNIT AVAILABLE TO AREA WOMEN

FRIDAY, JULY 15, 1988

HASKELL, TEXAS

A Service of
HASKELL MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

CALL 864-2621 FOR APPOINTMENT

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Appointments may be made by calling 864-2621.

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Haskell on Friday, July 15th.

The American Cancer Society has established guidelines for a mammography in asymptomatic women. (Women who have no symptoms of disease). Those guidelines have been adopted by the American Academy of Family Physicians, American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and The American College of Radiology. Those guidelines are:

1. 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.
2. 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.
3. 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.
4. Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $50.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, VISA, MasterCard and American Express.

For more information or to make an appointment call 864-2621.

--Weinert--

By Myrtle Phemister

On Sunday night, July 10th, we listened with joy to the concert given by the Weinert "bull-frogs"! As you know, there must be an inch of rain before they croak. We had 2.4 inches of rain by Monday morning! We received about an inch later.

Since money is always being given for research on various topics and things, I would like to know: Where do the frogs stay during a drought? How can they tell when an inch of rain has fallen during a storm?

Our sick ones are improved. Eddie Sanders is happy about his back treatment; the doctor put him to sleep and put his back into place, and Eddie reports he "feels better than he has in forty years."

Bertie Alexander is at home, but must have special care. Her loving children are providing it at this time. They have all been here for awhile, Dorothy Finn, from Clovis, N.M.; Faye Crawford and Sue Alexander from San Antonio; Audra and Bob Schindler from Abilene; Evelyn Ellington from Muleshoe; J.C. and Peggy Alexander of Veneta, Oregon; Roy and Merle Alexander of Lubbock, a grandson, Ricky Crawford of San Antonio; and of course the local children, Herschel and Merle Alexander of Weinert.

Angie Castello enjoyed a very special birthday celebration last week, as her son, Rueben, took her and her husband, for a visit in Denton with some of Angie's brothers and sisters there.

They were accompanied on the trip by Lucas and Brad, Felix, Aaron, and Andy.

Erma Liles has returned from a 10 day vacation to parts of Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana. She was accompanied by good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Paris Barton of Haskell and Paris attended his High School reunion at Frank Clay, Mo., while there.

Erma reports the places they went were so dry and hot it was like returning to the Garden of Eden to return to Weinert. Visits with friends and the Barton's relatives on the way were all enjoyable.

Erma is facing cataract surgery on her right eye on Wednesday. We pray for a speedy and complete recovery for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Crump, Mrs. Hal Guess, Mitch Mayfield and Shanna Murphy have returned from a week's stay at Bible camp at Gloretha, New Mexico.

Marvin and Myrtle Phemister with Marcus accompanied their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Williams of Harlingen and granddaughter, Mrs. Eugene Pollostro with Emily of Phoenix, Arizona, to Amarillo on Monday, July 4th where they made a tour of the Palo Duro Canyon area, and attended the musical pageant "Texas". A special 4th of July fireworks display following the program was magnificent.

The Williams went on to Eagle Nest, New Mexico for a cool vacation before returning to their home in the Rio Grande valley.

Alton and Mildred Sanders had their family for the 4th of July celebration. Terry and Beth Sanders, with David and Kerri, of Hamlin, and Jerry and Joyce Sanders, with Amanda and Jeremy of Merkel.

Jeremy spent the week with his grandparents last week and Kerri is their special guest this week.

Recent guests in the home of Clyde and Otie Mayfield were her daughter and son-in law, Mr. and Mrs. George Cunningham of Ransom Canyon.

Tammy Offutt, of Wichita Falls, with her friend, Brent Proffitt, are spending a few days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Offutt, and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Sanders and other relatives.

Taylor Wade has returned home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Wade, of Abilene after a week's visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Toby Yates. The Wades were in Arlington attending a Coaching Clinic there.

The Weinert Graduation Class of 1958 flew from Dallas on Monday, July 11, bound for a special class reunion in Jamacia. Details of the trip will be given later.

Larry and Linda Sanders of Las Alamos, N.M. with Robert and Lynette were in town for a visit with his parents, R.S. and Betty Sanders.

Robert and Lynette stayed for a longer visit, and will spend some time in Paint Creek with their other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Griffith.

Jennifer Pollostro and Emily of Phoenix, Arizona left on Tuesday for Harlingen after spending the week in Weinert with her grandparents the Marvin Phemisters.

Other guests in the Phemister home were their children, Lola and F.D. Williams of Harlingen; David and Peggy Phemister, with Greg of Round Rock; Jonathan Phemister son of Bryan and Rose of Austin; Wayne and Linda Phemister with Missy of Avaca.

Our birthday people this week includes Miss Beatrice Weinert, of Houston, an ex-resident who will be celebrating her 80th birthday on July 17th. A party will be hosted in her honor by her nieces and nephews, and Harlan and Jimmy Weinert will be one of the hosts and will be in attendance at the party.

Others observing birthdays this week are Pedro Perez, Dusty Yates, Corrina and Carolina Jimenez.

Fourth of July guests in the home of Sandra Nichols and Bernice and Raymon Mathison were Mac and Doralee Turner of San Antonio and Dan McIntire of Corpus Christi.

The group enjoyed an outing on the Mathison farm, riding 4 wheelers, shooting skeets and cooking out in the cool part of the day.

All roads will lead to Seymour on Saturday and Sunday, July 16th and 17th, where the descendants of George and Harriet Lovell Alexander will meet for their annual family reunion at the Seymour park.

Mrs. Jimmy Hackney, with Talanda, of Ft. Worth, are spending a few days with her parents, the D.I. White's. Talanda is attending the Haskell Singing School this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phemister are hosting their daughter, Ann Glasscock of San Angelo this week while Ann's children are attending the Haskell Singing School. These are commuting each day, and include Jimmy, LaDonna, Billy, Johnny, Rusty and Amanda. The children helped with the devotional at the Munday Nursing Home on Sunday afternoon, at which time Roy brought the lesson.

The Weinert Homecoming committee met recently to make plans for the 1988 Homecoming to be held the first Saturday in October, the regular meeting time.

Mary Nell Raynes Coltharp of Seymour is the president of the Committee, with Hal Guess as vice-president, and Sue Hager Stewart as Secretary.

They are requesting new addresses of all ex-residents. This has never been a high school reunion, but a Weinert Homecoming, and all residents and "ex-Weinertites" are expected and welcomed.

We home to see you there!

Have a nice day.

Tax group takes case to high court

The attorney for signers of the petition for a rollback election on 1987 Haskell County taxes has filed a petition for a writ of mandamus with the Supreme Court of Texas.

Listed as realtors in the petition are Christine N. Greene, Nathan and Sue Patterson and Randolph Wilson. Respondents are the county judge and the county's four commissioners.

The petition states that the commissioners have a legal duty to call an election on the 1987 county tax rate in response to a petition signed by 716 property owners requesting such an election.

Back in November, commissioners refused the call the election, citing an attorney general's opinion holding that forcing counties to hold rollback elections undermines the constitutional authority of county commissioners.

Petitioners challenged the opinion by filing suit in district court, but that suit was withdrawn.

Eric A. Samuelson of Austin is the attorney for the taxpayer group.

Commodities to be given July 19

SPOUSES - GET INVOLVED

I highly recommend that spouses who haven't already done so learn everything possible about their family's financial affairs. Know the whereabouts and the significance of all important papers. Learn why certain insurance policies were purchased and whether they are still adequate.

For those of you married to a business or professional person, learn the framework of the business or office operation. You should understand the general filing system of the business and know the whereabouts of the general ledger, the banking records, the corporate record book (if appropriate), and special business agreements. You should understand any buy-sell agreements between partners and any lease commitments on equipment or real estate. You should know the whereabouts of all real estate deeds and mortgage or buy-sell agreements. Take the opportunity to sit in on meetings with your spouse, his or her business associates, and professional advisors.

In your spouse's absence, you may be called on to run the business, at least temporarily, or you may be involved in negotiations for the sale of the business. The more you know about all aspects of the business, the better equipped you are to make decisions.

At least once a year, take time to review all the family assets and liabilities with your spouse. During this session review all the backup documents. This annual session is for all spouses regardless of the nature of your business or field of employment.

If you haven't done so already, start an annual financial review with your spouse. I'm sure you will find it informative; you may even find it interesting.

Anti-smoking clinic scheduled in Wichita Falls

Have you ever thought about quitting, or have you ever tried to quit smoking and haven't been successful? Haskell area smokers are invited to take advantage of an opportunity being offered by the Wichita Falls Clinic Foundation.

On July 19, at 7 p.m., the Foundation will host a "Why Quit?" night. It is free. The program will include an informative, brief video from the American Cancer Society, a "Why Quit" quiz and an introduction to the Foundation's "Smoke Stoppers" classes that will begin Thursday, July 21, at 5:15 p.m.

"Because cigarette smoking is the single greatest cause of preventable illness in this country, we want to help you make the decision to stop smoking and provide you with a way to do it," said Jill Myer, director of patient education at the Wichita Falls Clinic Foundation.

For more information, or to reserve a spot, for the "Why Quit" night, or the "Smoke Stoppers" class, contact Ms. Myer at 766-8879 or 766-8847.

Bush courts Hispanic voters

By Lyndell Williams
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN--When Vice President George Bush promised a Dallas LULAC convention he would appoint a Hispanic to his cabinet, Capitol Democrats immediately ripped him publicly for catering to one of their traditional voting blocs.

Obviously, Bush is trying to make inroads with Hispanic voters, while Democrats are determined to keep their territory intact.

It's a rare sight to see a Republican campaigning in Texas with innovation. Liberal Democrats who regard Hispanics as "ours" may be in for a surprise.

Bush's son married a Mexican national, and his grandchildren are bicultural. And as he pointed out, no Hispanic has ever served in the cabinet, and it's about time.

Certainly, Mike Dukakis is intelligent enough to correct that inequity should he win the election, so Hispanics stand to get a seat in the cabinet no matter who prevails.

Appointments Blocked

After Gov. Bill Clements' appointees to the board of regents fired Southwest Texas State University president Bob Hardesty last month, Austin state Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos warned of retaliation to future Clements appointees.

Barrientos, a friend of Hardesty, seems to be keeping his word.

Last week he rattled his power of senatorial courtesy by blocking the appointment of Moak Rollins, a former commissioner, to the Public Utility Commission.

When Clements, acting on tradition, sent Rollins' name to his hometown senator for approval, Barrientos asked to see alternatives and didn't explain.

Rollins served on the board from late 1979 until March 31, 1983. Appointed during Clements' first term, he resigned after Mark White was elected governor.

An opening was created on the three-member commission last May 31 when chairman Dennis Thomas resigned. The remaining two members have reached an impasse on several issues.

Marketing Scams Eyed

State Rep. Billy Clemons announced plans last week to sponsor legislation to tighten up regulations on lake lot sales and condominium time-share programs.

The Pollok Democrat said he wants to halt giveaway programs that advertise free three-man bass boats and instead award consumers an inflatable raft.

At a Capitol press conference, Clemons showed stacks of direct mail offers that promised customers expensive prizes and instead awarded cheap merchandise.

"They go out and tell you that you are going to win a BMW and $10,000 in cash," he said.

Clemons showed reporters examples of prizes consumers have received after listening to sales pitches. An "executive refrigerator" was a small plastic cooler; a combination washer-dryer was a plastic container with a spinner inside.

Public School Funding

Bike-a-thon

develop, details will be announced by newspaper and radio.

Members of the local society urge parents to make this information available to their children and young people so that they can begin early to request persons to act as individual sponsors. If adults want to encourage certain people to ride for them, they can begin asking their young friends or relatives.

As a special enticement to encourage participants to enter early, prizes will be given for each age bracket. First-place money-raisers will be awarded four tickets to Six Flags Over Texas; second-place winners will win four tickets to "Wet 'N Wild"; and third-place winners will get four tickets to a Texas Ranger baseball game.

"Plan now to ride for free tickets and community pride," said Mrs. Pippin.

The state's appeal of a ruling that the public school funding system is unconstitutional continues, but Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox, who will run for governor in 1990, is not arguing the state's case.

Instead, Kevin O'Hanlon, an assistant AG, is defending the constitution in the lawsuit filed by poor school districts seeking more state funding.

In a legal brief, O'Hanlon asserted that framers of the Texas Constitution knowingly created a system that allows school districts to spend unequal amounts of money educating children.

"It is apparent the framers of the constitution intended to create a system of school finance which allowed unequal property tax wealth between school districts," O'Hanlon wrote.

Other Highlights

- Helen Farabee, who withdrew from a North Texas state senate race after Democratic county chairmen backed another candidate, is hospitalized in Austin with lung cancer and phlebitis.

She is the wife of former state Sen. Ray Farabee, now vice chancellor and legal counsel for the University of Texas System.

- The Legislative Budget Board ordered a review of a plan to buy a mostly vacant luxury office building for use by the attorney general and Supreme Court.

FFA chapters with more than 53,000 active members and more than 500,000 former members.

Outstanding nationally known motivational speakers are scheduled to address the group during the three-day convention. They include Stan White of Stephenville and John Crude of Ames, Iowa. In addition, Kelli Evans of Lincoln, Neb., national FFA president, will address the convention Thursday night during the Stars Over Texas award program.

Toby Miller of Whitharral, state FFA president, will preside at the general sessions. These sessions will include the election of the 1988-89 state president from the state officer candidates nominated by the 10 area associations. Also to be elected will be the state FFA sweetheart.

Winner of the speaking contest in which Miss Gilly will compete will represent Texas at the National FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo.

Haskell merchants deserve support

Editor: We as business people in Haskell hear over and over every week, from people who do not live in Haskell, what a great town we have to shop in.

We have trade from as far as Dallas and Lubbock that comes to our town just to shop because they are "tired of the malls," and they can find just what they want in Haskell. We have a good trade from Abilene, and yet our Haskell people seem to go to Abilene to "save money."

It is your right to shop wherever you want, but please stop and think of who puts ads in all the county school annuals, who helps pay your school taxes where your children attend school, your city taxes for the improvements of the streets and our town, who gives to every organization that comes along asking for donations of money or merchandise, the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, the Little League and all others.

So the next time you have a purchase to make, check all the possibilities in Haskell first. Maybe someone in Haskell can get that same item for you. After all, Sears merchandise is only three days away through the order store here in Haskell if someone does not have what you need.

Check our prices first because for the quality of merchandise carried in Haskell, really our prices are too low.
