Rochester native kicks off campaign

William L. (Bill) Hudson, Democratic nominee for the State Board of Education, kicked off his fall campaign in Haskell Thursday morning.

The Rochester native was honored at a reception at the Haskell National Bank Community Room, hosted by county Democratic chairperson Sharon Mullino. The candidate was introduced by Ben Charlie Chapman.

Hudson said he chose Haskell for commencing his general election campaign because this is his home county.

"Too many people assume that the State Board of Education is simply a small group of people who sit down together a couple of times a year to select textbooks to be used in public schools," Hudson said. "The fact is that the meetings are monthly and the agenda is an inch thick. Fifteen members from across the state have an awesome task and responsibility as they establish both economic and procedural functions to be followed."

Hudson then outlined some of the main areas that are under the constant scrutiny of the board:

- To oversee the distribution of $12 billion to the school districts.

- To govern 1,062 separate school districts.

- To make the rules and regulations that guide the lives of 3 million school children, 170,000 teachers and 30,000 support personnel.

- To invest wisely $6.1 billion of the permanent school fund (a constitutional sole authority).

- To see that each child receives his or her pro rata share of earnings of the above fund.

- To employ the commissioner of education.

Hudson was born and reared in Rochester and graduated with honors from Rochester High School. He earned a bachelor's degree from North Texas State University and a master's degree from East Texas State University with a major in government, specializing in administrative law, public school administration and school finance.

He spent 14 years as a classroom teacher, coach and principal and then 20 years as superintendent of schools in Electra and Frisco.

Hudson carried Haskell County by large margins in the Democratic primary and runoff elections.

Abilene Christian signs Mark Young

Haskell's super athlete Mark Young became the first track recruit signed by Abilene Christian University track coach Jerry Dyes when he signed last Thursday.

Young was the 800-meter state 2A champion in both 1987 and 1988, with a best time of 1:54.30. He also ran the 400-meter dash in 49.23 and anchored the 1600-meter relay on last spring's state champion Haskell track team.

"Mark Young will be an attribute to our program in many aspects," Dyes said. "He is a fine young man and a proven competitor."

A three-sport standout at Haskell, Young was a four-year track letterman. He lettered three years in football as a defensive end, running back and quarterback. He made all-district and all-area as a running back last season and will play in the Green Belt All-Star game Aug. 5 in Childress.

As a basketball guard, he was a four-year letterman for the Indians and was named to all-area and all-state teams.

He was president of his senior class, president of the Student Council and president of the Future Farmers of America. He also was a member of the National Honor Society, Who's Who in American High Schools, Mr. Haskell High School and captain of the football team.

Young's signing with ACU ended weeks of speculation as to where the gifted Haskell athlete would attend college. Several Southwest Conference schools were interested in him.

City getting more money from sales tax

Sales tax payments to the City of Haskell continued to show an increase this month with the July payment up 4.01 percent.

Haskell's check from the state comptroller representing collections of the one-percent city sales tax was in the amount of $8,940.26. For the same period last year, it was $8,595.69.

For the year to date, Haskell has received $86,138.19, or 6.02 percent more than the $81,244.73 for the same period in 1987.

Only other county city to receive a check this month was Rule which got $1,135.93, bringing its total for the year to $15,468.84.

All county cities, including Haskell, O'Brien, Rochester, Rule and Weinert have now received $105,797.56, or 6.15 percent more than the $99,664.60 received during the comparable period of 1987.

Statewide, year-to-date payments are 10.8 percent higher than the same period last year, said Bob Bullock, state comptroller.

"The gaining strength in our state economy is being reflected on a local level, and local governments can continue to expect a steady increase in their share of sales tax collections," Bullock said.

Houston's payment of $10 million was up 17.5 percent over last year's allocation, and Dallas' payment showed a 10.1 percent increase.

Bullock said that 915 checks totaling $61.3 million in local sales taxes were sent to cities that collect the local option sales tax at either one or one and a half percent rates.

July's checks represent taxes collected by monthly filers in May and reported to the comptroller's office by June 20.

A new futurity class for 3-year-old stock horses will be included this year in addition to the yearling halter and 2-year-old western pleasure futurities offered in the past. These projects and associated 4-H activities are designed for older, more experienced youth.

A special highlight of the show should be the district team versatility class where 14 teams will compete in a series of back-to-back events. These include hunter under saddle, western pleasure, reining and pole bending. The class demonstrates the versatility of a horse and youth.

The open show will include cutting, judged roping, breakaway

To Paint Creek and Haskell Communities, let me assure you that me and my children have witnessed the greatest gift ever given one family from the hearts of man. Offered to us were beds, lake cabins, lawn chairs, enough food, both at Paint Creek and Haskell to feed the large family we are a part of. Flowers to brighten our days, cards and letters by the dozens, a wonderful love offering to help with our expenses. The singers for Buddy have reached the very top, there is nothing left for these people to achieve. To compliment all the wonderful things done for us were the many prayers offered for us from the beginning. You shared in our grief, we have leaned on you. God watched it all. He is pleased.

Lori Ann Darden Hill

Darden, Hill exchange vows

Lori Ann Darden and Melvin Andrew Hill were united in marriage on Saturday, July 16. The ceremony was held at the Trinity Baptist Church in Haskell. The Rev. Kenneth R. Blair, grandfather of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Curtis Darden. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin R. Hill are parents of the groom.

Lori was escorted to the altar by her father where she was given in marriage by her parents. The bride's gown of silk taffeta was designed by Mori Lee Bridal's of New York. The basque bodice with fitted waistline was detailed with alencon lace and pearls. Her sheer Victorian neckline and Camelot sleeve were beautifully detailed with alencon lace and pearls. The full skirt with an accordion pleated front swept back to a cathedral train. Outlined with alencon lace and pearls was the cathedral length veil. It was gathered to a halo wreath of illusion, flowers and pearl hearts. Baby's breath and pearl hearts accented her rose bridal bouquet.

For something old the bride wore a necklace given to her by her grandmother, Mrs. Kenneth Blair. Her dress and earrings were something new, her veil was borrowed from an aunt and the blue kandkerchief she carried, given to her by her grandmother, Mrs. Richard Darden, completed the bridal tradition. A sixpence was worn in her shoe for good luck.

Vows were repeated beneath a lattice arch covered with English ivy and baby's breath. It was embellished with mauve roses and highlighted with a mauve bow and ribbon. Spiral candelabras and a unity candle were covered with English ivy and baby's breath and accented with mauve bows. The pews were marked with hearts covered in English ivy, baby's breath and mauve roses. Each window held a heart candelabras with white tapers, English ivy and baby's breath. The aisle runner was stenciled with mauve roses.

Holley Russell of Clyde, cousin of the bride, attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Donna Hill, sister of the groom, Sharla Jetton and Sheila Morrow. Their taffeta dresses were mauve with white polka dots and featured a plunging back and large bow. They each wore white lace gloves and carried white fans with white and mauve roses, baby's breath, pearl hearts and were accented with mauve and white lace. Their hair was fashioned in a French braid adorned with a mauve and white lace bow with pearl hearts to match their fans.

Flower girl was Emma Blair of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride. Her dress was a replica of the bridesmaids. She wore white lace gloves and carried a white flower basket with mauve and white lace, baby's breath and mauve roses. Her halo wreath was made of baby's breath and tied with mauve ribbon in back.

For his attire, the groom chose a silver elite tuxedo with white shirt and mauve bow tie and cummerbund. He wore a white rose boutonniere.

Ronnie Thomas of San Angelo was best man. Groomsmen were David Hill of Brownfield, brother of the groom; Brian Hill of Abilene and Patrick Riley of Jal, N.M., cousins of the groom. They wore silver elite tuxedos with white shirts and mauve bow tie and cummerbunds. Their boutonniers were mauve roses.

The groom's nephew, Sean Edins of Hamilton, was ring bearer. He was dressed as the groomsmen and carried a satin and lace pillow, hand embroidered with mauve roses.

Serving as candlelighters and ushers were Kyle Darden, brother of the bride, and Chris Hill, brother of the groom. Assisting them as usher was Brandon Blair of Avoca, cousin of the bride. They wore silver elite tuxedos.

Randy McLelland was soloist. He was accompanied on the piano by his wife, Robbie. Songs chosen by the bride were "O Perfect Love," "That's the Way" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Shanna Mueller registered guests in front of a white screen accented with a large heart covered with English ivy, baby's breath and mauve roses. The table was covered with a mauve cloth with a white lace overlay.

The reception was hosted by the bride's parents at the Civic Center. The bride's table was set in front of a white lattice screen covered with English ivy and baby's breath. The table was covered with a white cloth stenciled with mauve roses. The white ruffled overlay was gathered at the corners with mauve bows and roses. Featured on the table was a tiered fountain cake adorned with bells, baby's breath and mauve roses. A silver candelabra and the bride's bouquet decorated the table. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl and white chocolate hearts and rose mints were served from a silver tray. Michele Pannel and Tammy Pannel served at the bride's table.

Serving chocolate cake from the groom's table were Vickie Scott and Brenda Edins, sisters of the groom. The table was set in front of a white lattice screen covered in English ivy and baby's breath and covered with a cloth identical to the bride's. A picture of the bride was used as a centerpiece.

A silver punch fountain was the main feature of the food table. The table was covered as the bride and groom's and set beneath an arbor covered with English ivy. Attending the food tables were Gena Decker and Stacey Martin.

Bird seed bags were handed out by Zach Collins, Joanna Blair, Elizabeth Blair and Katherine Blair, cousins of the bride.

The bride graduated from Haskell High School and will attend McMurry College in the fall.

The groom, also a graduate of Haskell High School, attended Angelo State University and is employed by the Abilene Police Department.

The couple will make their home in Abilene.

invested heavily in a career and are reluctant to take too much time away from it," Welch said.

"After years of having two incomes, other families don't want to reduce their standard of living or may find it difficult to support their financial obligations on one income," said Welch.

Whatever the reasons for returning to work, new parents often face a difficult task in locating infant care. She said once they find it, quality should be a major concern.

"Minimum standards call for a loving caregiver and a clean, healthy, stimulating environment in which there are no more than five infants to one caregiver," said Welch.

"Parents should also be aware that consistency in caregiving is extremely important for infants, since it helps develop feelings of security," she said. "Research in child development indicates that infants should have no more than one primary caregiver other than the parents."

Welch said that since 35 percent of the labor force in Texas are parents with children under 6, employers are becoming more involved in providing child care or child care information, referral and counseling services.

"While the number of employers providing such services is fairly small, parents should inquire so they can explore all available options," she said.

Need for infant care growing

Recent release of Census Bureau figures showing that 51 percent of mothers with children under a year old are now in the labor force came as no surprise in Texas.

"In 1986, the demand for infant care was cited as part of a crisis in Texas child care by the United Way of Texas Child Care Working Group," said Diane T. Welch, home economist with the Texas Extension Service.

"In the past two years the needs have only increased, due to several factors which are sending or keeping the mothers of very young children in the labor force," she said.

"Given the economic conditions in Texas, many new mothers simply can't afford to leave their jobs."

"A significant percentage of the births also are occurring among women in their 30s who have

Senate seat could be up for grabs

AUSTIN—While leading Texas Democrats in Atlanta wondered about Jesse Jackson, those roaming Capitol halls discussed who would run to replace Sen. Lloyd percent share of the plant. TU Electric plans to assume construction debts and make cash payments totaling $229 million. The move boosts TU Electric's share of the facility to about 98 percent and ends a two-year Dallas court battle. The settlement will not damage the utility's vow to hold the impact of the troubled project to a 10-percent rate increase after completion of the two generating units, said Dick Ramsey, TU spokesman.

State Wins, Exxon Loses

The Texas Supreme Court ruled Exxon Corp. doesn't get any of the millions in settlement that the state won from Mobil in 1983.

The state and South Texas rancher Clinton Manges joined to sue Mobil for not developing oil and gas leases in Duval County in a case that rocked the oil industry establishment.

The Court ruled Exxon chose not to participate in the action against Mobil and was not entitled to share the proceeds.

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said the ruling makes it clear that surface owners of state oil lands have a "fiduciary responsibility" to the school fund which benefits from profits.

Former Lawmaker Indicted

A former state representative was indicted for allegedly funneling over $40,000 to the Nicaraguan Contras.

Maco Stewart, a millionaire attorney, bank director and grandson of the founder of Stewart Title Company, served in the Texas House in 1980.

Stewart now lives in France, and flew there after pleading not guilty and posting a $5 million personal bond.

State Bar Liaison Quits

Supreme Court Justice Franklin Spears resigned last week as the High Court's liaison to the State Bar of Texas after the court approved its new budget totaling over $19 million.

Spears had wanted the bar to explain expenditures on lobbyists, liquor and travel, and in resigning said he no longer had the support of the majority of the court.

Spears may have made himself a lame duck last month when he indicated he will resign from the bench in September.

Other Highlights

- The Supreme Court ruled in favor of a doctor and five clinics which were being sued by the state for allegedly selling a toxic chemical used as a weed killer to persons wanting to lose weight.

- Gov. Clements repeated his goal to work for a constitutional amendment to allow lawmakers, not judges, to fix problems in public school financing.

- A new type radar to be installed by Texas A&M University this fall will help detect tornadoes and expand warning times by up to 10 minutes, said Dr. James Scoggins, head of meteorology.

Bentsen, should the Democrats win the White House.

Texas Republicans, meanwhile, said their chances of winning a special election which Gov. Bill Clements would set in 1989 are much better than they were in 1961, when John Tower won a narrow victory to replace Vice President Lyndon Johnson.

Some of the GOP leadership also called on Bentsen to resign his Senate seat, saying it was unethical for him to run for two offices at the same time. Not likely.

Two top Democrats from opposite wings of the party already have indicated their willingness to run: conservative Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and liberal Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower.

Republican hopefuls kept silent, but the Democrat's list of possibilities includes everybody.

Two-Edged Sword

The election amendment which Texas Democrats pushed through the Legislature to let LBJ run for President and U.S. senate at the same time may have been tailored more for the man than for keeping the Texas Republican Party down in the dugout.

Now it could turn out to be a two-edged sword.

Should the Democrats take the White House, the momentum could also carry forth to win the special election the next year.

But it didn't work that way in 1961, when Tower won it and laid the foundation for the rise of the Texas GOP. They could wind up with two senators in 1989.

Could things go wrong for Bentsen and the Democrats if they don't take the White House? That answer lies with independent voters and how they vote for a senator in November.

Nuclear Partner Out

The majority owner of the financially troubled Comanche Peak nuclear power plant ended a court fight with one of the two remaining minority owners and increased its stake in the $9.1 billion project.

Attorneys for TU Electric and Brazos Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. last week ended five months of negotiations and announced a settlement calling for TU Electric to buy Brazos' 3.8

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

Beau Boulter needs to take a crash course in geography.

In his Time magazine-format questionnaire mailed out this week, he asks:

Which of the following Central American nations do you believe are cooperating 100 percent in the war on drugs? . . . and then lists the choices as (A) Panama, (B) Mexico, (C) Neither.

Noticed this sign as I passed through Muleshoe (population 4800) Saturday:

"Welcome to the Greater Muleplex."

I'm envious of people like Yogi Berra, the baseball personality.

He's funny. It's not that he tries to be. He just is.

He has a natural way of saying things in strange ways. And people laugh. When I say things like Yogi says, people think I'm stupid. If I get a laugh, it's more of a ridicule.

Yogi doesn't intend for things to come out the way they do; it's just his awkward way of saying them.

Never known as much of a talker, he does make his words count. Just about everyone has heard his oft-quoted one-liners such as:

"If the people don't want to come out to the ballpark nobody's going to stop 'em'."

"A nickle ain't worth a dime anymore" and

"The game's not over till it's over."

There was the time when baseball fans in his native St. Louis honored him with a special day at the ballpark. Accepting his rewards, Berra bent into the microphone and said, "I want to thank you for making this day necessary."

Then there was the time when the Yankees were on a road trip and some of his teammates asked him to join them at a popular restaurant for dinner. He thought about it a minute and then said, "It's so crowded, nobody goes there anymore."

When a friend told him his wife had gone to see Dr. Zhivago, he asked, "What's the matter with her now?"

It's because of people like Yogi Berra that baseball has retained its immense popularity. No other sport has produced such characters.

There are few editors of any longevity who have not had a letter from the vice president in charge of important affairs for Coca-Cola, Xerox or one of the major companies chastising them for misusing their names.

It's innocent enough for a story of a ladies' club meeting to say that guests enjoyed cokes, but Coca-Cola, which owns the trademark "Coke" with a capital "C" rebels at using the word with the lower case "c".

Xerox is always reminding the uncaredful that Xerox is the name of a copier and the word is not to be used as a verb: "to xerox" in place of "to copy," or as a noun: "xeroxes" in place of "copies."

Companies have good reason. Once a trademark name loses its identity, the trademark becomes null and void.

"Aspirin", for instance, was once a trademark of the Bayer Co. Other former trademarks which are now just names include Escalator, Trampoline, Raisin Bran, Dry Ice, High Octane, Nylon, Lanolin, Linoleum, Corn Flakes, Kerosene, Yo Yo, Mimeograph and Shredded Wheat.

Rochester native Bill Hudson who is the Democratic nominee for membership on the State Board of Education described the enormity of the 49-county district when he dropped by this office Wednesday.

He said the education district includes all or parts of 15 state representative districts, five state senate districts and six U.S. congressional districts, as well as eight of the 20 state educational service centers.

Texas and Texans will be playing major roles in the presidential selection process.

With Jim Wright presiding, Ann Richards keynoting and Lloyd Bentsen being nominated for vice president, the Democratic convention this week has a strong Texas flavor.

Haskell relatives of Col. and Mrs. James A. Isbell and son Jimmy received assurance this week that the Air Force officer and his family were safe, and were due to be evacuated from Baghdad. Concern for their safety had been felt since the revolution in Iraq last week.

Preliminary plans are underway for clearing and bulldozing fairways and building greens on the new golf course northeast of Haskell.

--Letters to the Editor--

Editor: In last week's The Haskell Free Press a letter was written by me, and it was my mistake in not signing the letter.

Sears has quality merchandise on the floor that can be purchased and carried home with you, or delivered to you the same day. If they do not have what you want it will be in their store for you in two days, not three.

Being in the American Ag Movement 12 years ago when we asked for the merchant's support, the majority of the Haskell merchants supported us, not only verbally but with money to help take our plight to Washington. We appreciated their support then as well as now since we are still an agricultural community.

Most of us are glad to support all organizations that come by, both in Haskell and the surrounding communities, as well as all schools in the county. We also pay our taxes loyally.

Haskell is a good place to shop and a great place to live!

Let me briefly give you a run down: First, a $150 jam box was taken as a window on a locked auto was forced open at my son's home on Avenue F. At our business location, someone lifted the battery out of the work truck and then gently broke the driver's window to get inside.

A few weeks later, they broke a chain and hauled off a riding lawn mower behind the building and stripped motors off two other continued on Page 5 mowers. The go cart in the alley behind the house no longer has a motor.

A couple of months ago, we watched the police in the alley behind my daughter's home (also on Avenue F) pull a stolen tiller from the bushes. It was also stripped of its motor. Thank goodness, it wasn't our tiller.

Now, this past weekend someone gently loaded our Honda 3-wheeler out of our carport. They keys were in the house and the front and rear wheels were locked, so I'm sure it was quite a task to load that 200-pound piece of machinery. It was just a little $700 job with 500 miles on it.

All of these incidents have been reported to police. I forgot to mention the small items like shovels, hoes and rakes, and I hear a lot of young children no longer have bikes.

I think our police force does an excellent job when you consider the limited manpower.

Now this indicates to me that we need to institute a Neighborhood Watch Program to protect our personal property. Otherwise, at this rate, in time, without lawn equipment and tools, we may have to sit in the tall grass on our front lawns with our shot guns, if we have one.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen

Watching Washington

Long-term illness can be devastating, not only to the patient but to the family as well.

In addition to the physical and emotional costs, the financial costs of a lingering illness can be unbearable for many people, even families that have been prudent and saved their money for tough times.

A Fort Worth woman is one of those people. She worked as a sales clerk. Her husband, disabled for 10 years, had died four years earlier. Then she underwent a quadruple bypass. Her medical bills totalled $26,000.

"My assets were devastated, plus I was not able to work anymore..." she told me in a letter. "It would bring such comfort to know I had insurance that could help if I had another attack and surgery was necessary again."

I had people like her in mind when I authored a bill to protect older Americans from catastrophic hospital, doctor and drug bills.

As Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which has jurisdiction over most of the health legislation Congress considers, I have a particularly effective forum for acting on these concerns. So it was most gratifying when Congress passed that bill and President Reagan signed it into law July 1.

The catastrophic coverage plan—the most significant, far-reaching improvement in the Medicare program since its inception in 1965—will dramatically ease the financial threat posed by long-term illness. When you consider that about one Texan in 10 is older than 65, that's a particularly important consideration for our state.

Here are some provisions of the plan:

- It eases one of the greatest drains on family budgets—the cost of prescription drugs.
- Medicare beneficiaries are guaranteed unlimited free hospitalization once they pay an annual deductible. Until now, only the first 60 days were free.
- It establishes a cap on what Medicare beneficiaries have to pay for doctor services. Currently, there is none, leaving families liable for untold thousands of dollars of expenses.
- A husband and wife won't be forced to spend all of their income and savings—as has too often been the case—after one of them enters a nursing home and qualifies for Medicaid. A "spousal impoverishment" provision will allow the couple to keep about $750 per month in income and $12,000 in assets, beyond such items as a house, a car, and personal belongings.

For two of every three older and disabled Americans, the catastrophic illness insurance program will cost just $4 a month. For others, the cost will rise, based on their ability to pay.

This coverage is financed by premiums, so it won't add one dime to our federal budget deficit. Nor will it place additional financial burdens on the next generation. Just as we have an obligation to older Texans, we must not leave a crushing deficit as a legacy to our children and grandchildren.

The son of a Texas oil worker told me what this action means to his family: "As the son of aging parents with no large bankroll for support in case of serious long-term illness, I appreciate things like this. A serious illness (cancer) of my stepfather's first wife almost broke him. He lost virtually all of his resources collected over a 37-year career.... working his way up from a roughneck to head of personnel."

"It's a shame to see proud, strong people brought down by outside events such as an illness."

Now, that oil worker, that woman in Fort Worth and millions more Americans can count on some help.

By Myrtle Plemister
The farmers are busy in the fields after our good rains, getting the cotton cultivated and all the weeds cut. We don't have many hoe-hands in the area, as many of our residents have gone north to work in the vegetable harvest in Minnesota and Michigan. Everything looks good for a good crop yield this fall.

Our birthday people this week will include Linda Adams, Greg Turnbow, Margaret Castorena, Jesse Castorena and Dianne Carroll. Happy birthday, all, and may each of you have a nice day!

Emily and Brooke Miller, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Miller of Breckenridge, are spending a week of their vacation in the home of their aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hester, Laurie and Stacy.

Stacy Hester was in Houston recently for a health evaluation, and got a good report.

He is busy with his Amway Products and appreciates each customer.

Bertie Alexander is improved in health, and was in Abilene on Tuesday with her son, J. C. and Peggy Alexander of Veneta, Oregon for a visit with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schindler.

J. C. and Peggy had to return to their jobs in Oregon, and missed their family reunion held in Seymour on Saturday.

Debbie Hutchinson entertained her dear friend from Junction last week. Josefa Martinez and little daughter, Elyse, came for a few days visit, and enjoyed country life, some fishing and fresh garden vegetables.

Debbie's college classmate, Donna Nelms, of Garland was also a guest in the Hutchinson home, as were two of her great-aunts, Callie Mach of Dallas and Grace Hutchinson of Munday.

Helen and Floyd Stout have returned from a three-week tour of Texas with stops along the way for fishing and visitation.

They spent some time at Pat Mayse Lake and at Beaver's Bend Lake in Oklahoma where the temperature was 60 degrees at night and no higher than 86 degrees in the daytime. Perfect?

They attended the Stout family reunion held this year at Malta, Texas. Thurman and Feba Stout were also in attendance at the reunion.

Kerry and Darlene Therwhanger of Merkel have been in town for a few days and helping with the new roof on the Dale Carroll home. The remodeling job has given the home a great new look.

Ann Glasscock, has returned to her home in San Angelo, after spending the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Plemister and commuting to the Haskell Singing School each day with her children, who were students at the school. Those attending were Jimmy, Johnny, Billy, Russel, LaDonna, Amanda and a friend, Charla Bently.

Sue and Jimmy Hackney, with Talanda of Ft. Worth were recent visitors in the home of her parents, D. I. and Mattie White. Talanda attended the Singing School and remained in Weinert for a longer visit with relatives.

Marilyn and Johnny Earp took their camping trailer to Colorado last week, and her parents, Francis and Check Smith, will occupy it for the rest of the summer. (Some parents raise good kids!)

Marilyn Earp and Wanda Hester were in Austin to attend a workshop last week. It was held at the Marriot Hotel and was entitled "Advanced Collections" which was designed to help workers in the Tax Appraisal Offices.

Donnie Crump was on the teaching staff at the Baptist Jr. Hi Church Camp at Lueders this week.

Shanna Murphy was in attendance at the camp.

We welcome our newest residents to Weinert, Janet and Billy Joe Frazier have moved into the former house of Mrs. Henry Smith.

Janet is our kindergarten teacher, and Joe will commute to Haskell where he is employed. Welcome to Weinert!

Fred and Kelly Green have moved to Paint Creek, where Fred will teach agriculture in the school. We learned to love the Green's and regret that through the loss of our high school we also lost some of our teachers. We wish them well.

Ima Stewart was in Wichita Falls this week for an eye checkup with her doctor and she did not get a good report.

We all admire Ima so much for her determination to remain independent as long as she can. She continues cooking and crocheting for others, and does her own work and gardening.

Donita Hudgens, with sons Bryce and Caleb are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dale in Muleshoe for a few days, and helping with a gigantic garage sale. (Now how far did you say it is?)

Arch Mayfield of Plainview, with Eddy Lou, his wife, was honored with a birthday dinner last week hosted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mayfield, in their home. Out of town guests were his sisters, Evelyn Rickett of Dallas, Alexia Rimmer, with Adrienne, of DeSoto and a friend Gail Wasson, of Dallas. They all were weekend guests of the Mayfields.

R. S. Sanders was in Seymour on Saturday to visit with cousins at the George Alexander family reunion and to gather some more data for the genealogy book he is writing about the Alexander family. There were 88 of the family registered. R. S. hopes to have the book compiled and printed by the first of January.

He was accompanied to Seymour by Myrtle and Marvin Plemister.

Alton and Mildred Sanders returned Sunday night from a weekend Lay Renewal Revival held at the Harvey Street Baptist Church in Gainesville.

Alton served as the director of music and Mildred served as the coordinator of the children's classes.

Have a nice day!

Booklet gives rules for pruning

How a tree is pruned in its first few years of life will affect its shape, strength and even its life span.

An illustrated, easy-to-follow guide called "How to Prune Young Shade Trees" has been prepared for homeowners and can be obtained free of charge by writing The National Arbor Day Foundation.

The guide includes step-by-step illustrations showing how proper pruning in the early years of a tree's life can save money in the long run and result in safer, more beautiful, healthy, easy-to-maintain trees.

The booklet is filled with illustrations showing how to make a pruning cut, how to prune for desired form, how to strengthen the tree by removing certain branches, how to maintain the tree's health by removing trouble spots, when to leave temporary lower branches and when to cut them.

The booklet even shows how to hold a pair of pruning shears and how to make pruning cuts at the proper angle.

To obtain a free copy of this booklet, send name and address to: How to Prune, National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

--Haskell Nursing Center--

By Debbie Merchant
Activity Director

We would like to welcome Mr. Steve Ezzell of Rule to the Haskell Nursing Center.

Our residents have enjoyed taking their morning exercise program outside on the front porch. This seems to really enhance their mobility to be out in the early morning breeze and sunshine.

Several groups have been enjoyed by everyone this past week. The country band of Rule was with us Thursday night for some "good old toe tapping music," as our residents put it. The ladies of the Methodist church, along with Rev. A. T. Jackson, brought a wonderful devotion for all of us. Sunday morning they enjoyed Ford Cole of the First Baptist Church of Haskell and Sunday evening with the Church of Christ.

We would like to say thank you to Vivian Shaw for her endless hours of volunteer work. Vivian comes out every day and supplies our residents with fresh ice water, does manicures, plays games and many nice things for everyone. This past week her granddaughters of Abilene, Shawna and Druann Shaw were with her and played dominoes and Bingo with our residents. Thank you girls for your volunteer time.

Visitors in our home this week were: Ada Hefferman and Jennifer Davis with Lyda Green; Vivian and Othan Lewis with Archie and Vannah Carmack; Mozelle Hopper with George Bobble; Neta Roberts with Elvie Lefevre; Raymond and Phama Wilhite with Bessie Davidson; Eldon Sanderson of Brownwood with Kathryn Mitchell; Ethel Segó with Lucille McCurley; Jane Reeder of Claypool, Ariz., with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oliphant; Kay Lisle of Rule with Archie and Vannah Carmack.

Leonard and Belva Trotter of Littlefield with Jack Tidrow and Dollie Alexander; Margory Hitt and Jerita Taylor of Bronte with Velma Scoggins and Bessie Davidson; Eula Peters of Rochester and Mary Hill of Fort Worth with Ruby Clemmer; and Suzie Mae Jackson with Rev. Otis Jackson.

No need to pay for SS information

Some people in the Haskell area have been receiving direct mail solicitations asking that they pay $7 to join an organization that says it will provide many services related to Social Security.

Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene, says there is no need to pay any firm money to obtain any of the services provided by Social Security.

In return for the $7 payment, this firm offers to provide a statement of a person's earnings covered by Social Security, a plastic Social Security card and a guide to Social Security.

Any person can obtain a statement of Social Security covered earnings without paying anybody. All a person has to do is call any Social Security office and ask for a request for statement of earnings form. After completing the form and mailing it, the person will receive the statement in a few weeks. The soliciting firm can do no more. In addition, there is no need for a plastic Social Security card, Hammons said. It is of no use for Social Security purposes. The Social Security number card issued by the Social Security Administration is the only official card and should be used whenever a Social Security card is needed.

People can obtain many publications about Social Security free at all Social Security offices by merely calling and asking.

Free information about Social Security and free Social Security cards can be obtained at the Abilene Social Security office located at 142 S. Pioneer. The telephone number is 915-698-1360.

Take a walk... Best antidote for aging

What type of exercise requires no special equipment, can be done almost anywhere at any time by anyone, costs nothing, and has the lowest injury rate of any fitness activity?

Walking, of course.

According to M. Jay Porcelli, D.O., a regular program of walking will increase flexibility, strength and endurance.

"Walking is probably the best antidote for aging," says Dr. Porcelli, an osteopathic physician. "It's an aerobic exercise which benefits large muscle groups, gives the heart a healthy workout, strengthens bones, increases energy levels and helps control high blood pressure."

Dr. Porcelli offers several cautions for walkers. "If you have chronic medical problems, be sure to check with your physician before beginning any fitness program. Be sure to wear loose, comfortable clothing and supportive shoes."

Before walking, be sure to stretch your hamstring, calf, upper thigh and low back muscles. "When you begin to walk, go slowly for about five minutes to warm up your muscles," Dr. Porcelli suggests. "Then you may gradually increase your pace to a brisk level for five to 30 minutes. Be sure to allow five minutes more for a cool-down period of slow walking at the end of your exercise period."

Once you have started a program of walking, how do you make sure you stick with it? "You have to make exercise a habit," Dr. Porcelli explains. "Begin by walking at the same time over the same route every other day for a few weeks. Once you have this habit established you can vary your routine a bit. Finding a partner to walk with also is a good strategy."

"In nice weather walk outside and enjoy the great outdoors. But on extremely cold or hot days, find an indoor area like an enclosed shopping mall for your walk. The important thing to realize is that no matter what your age, right now is the perfect time to get up, get out, and get fit by adding a regular walking program to your life."

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES

You are liable for social security taxes to be submitted quarterly on Form 942 (Form 941 or Form 943 under certain circumstances) if you pay $50 or more in any calendar quarter for domestic help.

Generally, domestic help includes services performed in your home by cooks, butlers, housekeepers, governesses, maids, cleaning people, babysitters, janitors, caretakers, handy persons, gardeners, and chauffeurs.

Paying the social security tax and filing the appropriate quarterly return are not optional. Neither you nor the employee can elect to forego the tax. The quarterly return must be accompanied by payment of 15.02 percent (7.51 percent from the employee and 7.51 percent matching funds from the employer) of total wages paid in the quarter. The employer is liable for the 15.02 percent even if none is withheld from the employee's wages.

Here's an example of taxable and nontaxable wage amounts. You hire household help and pay $45 in the first quarter, $55 in each of the second and third quarters, and $49 in the fourth quarter. Your liability for filing the report and paying the tax is based on when the wages are paid, regardless of when they were earned. In our example, you'll be liable for tax in the second and third quarters only. On the year-end W-2 (wage statement), show $204 as total wages, but only $110 as wages subject to social security. The value of food, lodging, clothing, bus or subway tokens, and other noncash items you give to the employee is not subject to social security tax.

The statute of limitations does not run when a tax return is not filed. In other words, the government can assess you for all the prior years for which you have failed to file a return.

Ask VA

Q: I am a Vietnam era veteran and used my VA education benefits to attend college. While attending school, I was injured in an automobile accident and under a doctor's care for almost two years, unable to continue my education. I am now able and ready to go back to school, but I can't without financial assistance. Am I still eligible for VA education benefits?

A: Normally a veteran must use education benefits within 10 years from the date of discharge. However the delimiting date for educational benefits may be extended if it is determined that the veteran was prevented from initiating or completing a chosen program of education because of a physical or mental disability. Any extension granted will be equal to the length of time the eligible person was prevented from initiating or completing a program of education within the basic 10-year period of eligibility.

Insects worry cotton farmers

By Steve Davis

Cotton over the five-county area is in excellent condition except for increased insect pressure. Recent rains have improved growers' attitudes as well as crop condition.

Boll weevil numbers in the field are on the rise as evidenced by weevil egg punctures. Most problem areas exist in remote areas surrounded by pastures, creek beds, etc. Weevil egg punctures are excellent indicators of pest populations and numbers exceeding 15 percent should be treated. Another treatment five to seven days after the first will probably be needed since cotton is lush, numbers are parallel with 1987 and weevil numbers may be compounded, in most cases, with bollworm problems.

Bollworm moth numbers are on the rise again according to trap catches in Fisher County. Normal peaks occur in relation with full moon cycles; however, this year being somewhat abnormal, is not true to form.

Bollworm egg numbers are very high in South Jones County and will probably affect the entire five-county area within the next week to 10 days. The Ft. Phantom area has been hit with egg numbers ranging from 0-8 per plant; in some spots up to 200 percent egg infestations. Unless other insects compound this type of problem, growers should wait for the "hatch" and treat small worms that are most vulnerable.

Fleahoppers will still be a problem in smaller cotton and should be watched closely until the field begins to bloom. Most fleas seen this week are adults and may infest a field overnight, especially in areas of good secondary hosts such as pastures, road ditches, etc.

When planning an application of insecticides, growers must consider just how busy their applicator is or how much ground they have to cover themselves. Economic thresholds will have to be lowered according to days of delay in treatment. Also, cottonseed oil or other spreader/stickers may be employed to effectively stretch chemical longevity, which may, in the long run, save on application.

Area wide, beneficials are of little consequence at present. Most fields have some but these are usually general predators and are not in adequate numbers to modify pest species.

Turn row meetings are being scheduled with local gins in order to show growers the presence and magnitude of bollworm problems. Farmers should check with their gins in the next week to plan an hour or two in the field.

Pecan growers should be checking trees at this time for second generation pecan nut casebearers. Spray dates for first generation were June 3-10, so second generation dates will be 40 to 45 days later, or July 15-22. Trees should be checked for worm damage prior to treatment as treatments are not always necessary.

Students' careers should be planned

The 15 million students in American high schools will be faced with a wide range of choices after graduation. More than half of these students will go to college. Others will go through office training, technical education or on-the-job training, said Dorothy Taylor, family life specialist with the Texas Extension Service.

However, students need to prepare for this in the last few years of high school. Only then can young adults determine goals, examine the options and make the choice best suited to fulfilling those goals, the extension specialist said.

There are four steps students can take before a career decision is made.

The student's first concern is to do well in high school courses. Good grades enable a student to choose from a wider array of colleges, and make financial aid easier to obtain.

Secondly, students should honestly evaluate their abilities, look at their interests and choose a general field that is suitable. Although most students do not decide on a specific career until their second year in college, getting a general sense of direction as early as possible is best, said Taylor.

The third and perhaps most important step is to get help. There are thousands of careers, and a guidance counselor can be of tremendous assistance in directing students toward those careers and higher education.

The fourth and most realistic step is to make an honest appraisal of the money a student will need for a career route. The earlier a student applies for financial aid, the better the chances of getting it.
