Dewey honored by phone company

Tom Dewey, a cable splicer for GTE Southwest was honored recently at a service awards dinner in Brownwood for achieving 20 years of service with the company.

The Haskell man was among 41 Mid-Texas Division employees recognized for their combined service tenure of 1,110 years.

Engineer hired for street project

An Abilene engineer, Ken Martin, has been hired by the City of Haskell to prepare the documents in preparation of the bidding on the 26-block paving project in the southwest part of town.

City administrator Robert Baker said the project will go to bid as soon as possible.

It is hoped that the curb, gutter and base work can be done this fall, with actual paving being done in the spring.

Street reflectors identify fire plugs

Those blue reflectors you've been seeing in the middle of the streets of Haskell are the work of a local Boy Scout.

Rusty Stocks, working to become an Eagle Scout, has installed about 100 of the reflectors and plans to install 25 or 30 more. He is being assisted by Cody Josselet and Stacey Martin.

The reflectors mark the locations of the city fire plugs. They were bought by the city.

Softball group to help on street

The Haskell Softball Association is going to help the City of Haskell pay for the paving of South 6th Street which runs by the softball park.

City administrator Robert Baker told the City Council last Thursday that Conrad Roewe, president of the softball group, said the softball association will donate $1,000 toward the project.

Dr. Culpepper concludes pastorate

Dr. Troy Culpepper has concluded an interim pastorate at the First Baptist Church.

During the past 35 years he pastored churches in Argyle, Linden, Haskell, Kaufman, Greenville, Texarkana and McKinney.

A 1951 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, he makes his home in Haskell and is available for revivals, interims and supplies.

Culpepper has donated his library to the Baptist Double Mountain area office in Stamford.

Swimming pool closes after Sunday

Sunday will be the last day of the year that the swimming pool will be open.

Regular pool hours will be observed Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

81 participate in fish tournament

Eighty-one sportsmen participated Sunday in the first annual invitational bass tournament, sponsored by the Haskell Bass Club.

Participants came from as far away as Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Lubbock and Abilene.

Top winner was Scott Middleton of Brownwood who won the $1,000 first prize for having a three-fish string weighing 13.77 pounds. Dexter Daniels of Aspermont caught the biggest fish, 7.91 pounds, winning $190.

With the season opener against Munday only two weeks away, the Haskell Indians are going through daily practices. They will scrimmage Roscoe here tonight.

Indians host Roscoe in first scrimmage

The 1988 edition of the Haskell football team will preview its talents before the homefolks tonight (Thursday) when the Indians meet the Roscoe Ploughboys in a scrimmage. The practice game will begin at 7.

Coach Nelson Coulter and his assistants have been working with 49 boys out for football during the first two weeks of pre-season practice sessions. This is 11 more than they had last year.

Despite losing nine members from last year's 6-4-1 team via graduation, the Indians will field experienced hands at just about all positions.

Gone from last year's playoff team are Patrick Perez, Mark Young, Stephon Brockington, Marty Martinez, Louie Torres, Mike Williams, Matt Lane, John Halliburton and Michael Mendoza.

But a lot of talent is back, including Derrick Billington, an all-district performer last year on both offense and defense who will play running back and safety. Also returning for his senior year is four-year starter and unanimous all-district selection Bo Watson at center; Chan Guess, a starter at quarterback and an all-district defensive back; and Paul Harvey, all-district linebaker and second-team all-district offensive tackle.

The offensive backfield is pretty well set with four solid veterans: Guess at quarterback, and Billington, Fred Shaw and Rodney Johnson as running backs.

The ends will be Josh Reid, Alberto Alvarez and Cole Larned. Watson is the center and the guards will be Roger Roewe, Mike Bailey, Davis Chapman and Robert Swann. Tackles will be Harvey, Eric Mullen, Patrick Burson and Randy Adams, a transfer student from Fredericksburg.

On defense, Chapman and Swann are the nose guards; Roewe, Mullen and Burson the tackles; Watson at one end and Baltimore Perez, Jonathan Dever, Scotty Martin, Chad Gibson and Rusty Stocks competing for the other.

A trio of veterans will man the linebacker positions, Shaw, Harvey and Johnson, with Adams also listed as a linebacker. Cornerbacks are veterans Guess and Alvarez, along with Larned and Shane Osborne. Billington reigns supreme at safety. Others listed at this position are Reid, Johnny Billington and Tim Alexander.

The Indians will have another scrimmage at Aspermont next Friday (Aug. 26) before opening their season here Sept. 2 against Munday, the pre-season No. 1 rated 1A team in Texas.

Missionaries to be featured by church

Bro. Charles and Mary Love, Southern Baptist missionaries to Guyana since 1965, will be speaking at the special missions day celebration in Haskell's First Baptist Church on Tuesday, Sept. 6. Along with others, they will be featured at morning and evening services. A pot luck lunch will create a noontime fellowship.

Charles is a native of Marion, Ky., who graduated from Hardin-Simmons University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

During his time at Hardin-Simmons, he married Mary Leech, a native of Fort Worth, in 1954. He served in the Air Force from 1948 to 1953. While in Abilene at the university, he worked as a bookkeeper before serving as music-education director and assistant pastor at North (Continued on page 3)

Fund stands at $34,556

The campaign to raise $60,000 for equipment for United Sewing Agency's plant in Haskell stood at $34,556 Tuesday night when campaign workers met to total their collections of money and pledges.

Included in the latest total was $555 raised from the merchants' auction and garage sale during the Summer Sizzler.

All campaign workers attending Tuesday's meeting gave reports. Some of them reported that people and firms they have contacted have not yet decided if and how much they will contribute.

It was reported that about 20 machines, costing $10,800 already have arrived.

Workers were urged to complete their assigned calls and to call back on those who were undecided when first contacted. They were asked to complete this by Aug. 30 when they will meet again to make what is hoped will be the final report.

Co-chairmen Dickie Greenwood, Bobby Hobgood and Abe Turner presided over Tuesday's meeting which was held at Markey's Place following dinner.

Giving reports were: Carolyn Everett, Gil Richardson, Mike Martindale, Gene Long, Conrad Roewe, Lois Richardson, Carolyn Reynolds, Bill Comedy, Jerene Couch and Mattie English. Also attending were Pat Sammons, Debbie Hobgood and Chamber of Commerce manager Wanda Dulaney.

Carriker big winner in voting

State Rep. Steve Carriker received 74 percent of the vote in Haskell County Saturday as he easily won election as 30th district State Senator.

Locally, the Roby Democrat got 659 votes to only 171 for Republican Bobby Albert of Wichita Falls.

District-wide, Carriker polled an unofficial vote of 17,225 to Albert's 10,592.

Carriker carried eight of the 10 boxes in Haskell County, losing only at Paint Creek, 21-29, and tying at Sagerton, 17-17. He also led in the absentee vote count, 43-8.

He ran strongest at Weinert where he had nearly a 15-to-1 margin at 29-2, and at Rochester where his 85-7 vote edge gave him better than a 12-to-1 advantage.

Unofficial results indicated that Carriker carried every county in the 30-county 30th district. The district stretches from the Abilene area east to Sherman-Denison and includes Haskell and Haskell County. The largest city in the district is Wichita Falls.

Saturday's vote ended only the first round between Carriker and Albert. Their names will be on the ballot again in November to determine who will serve a four-year term beginning in 1989.

The special election came about when former Sen. Ray Farabee resigned to become vice chancellor and general counsel in the University of Texas system.

Originally, there were three announced Democratic candidates for the vacated post--Helen Farabee (who died last month), State Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday and Carriker. But when Democratic county chairmen selected Carriker to be on the November ballot before the special election could be held, Mrs. Farabee and Finnell dropped out of the special election race.

Here is how the voting went in Haskell County:

- Precinct 1: Carriker 119, Farabee 57.
- Precinct 2: Carriker 33, Albert 18.
- Precinct 3: Carriker 29, Albert 7.
- Precinct 4: Carriker 45, Albert 7.
- Precinct 5 (Rule): Carriker 42, Albert 16.
- Precinct 6 (Rochester): Carriker 85, Albert 7.
- Precinct 7 (O'Brien): Carriker 25, Albert 3.
- Precinct 8 (Weinert): Carriker 29, Albert 2.
- Precinct 9 (Paint Creek): Carriker 21, Albert 29.
- Precinct 10 (Sagerton): Carriker 17, Albert 17.
- Absentee: Carriker 43, Albert 8.

City adopts budget

The City of Haskell has approved a 1988-89 budget calling for expenditures of $1,044,750 from revenues and another $122,000 from reserves.

The budget requires a tax rate of .2558, which is an increase of just under three-fourths of a cent over this year's rate of .2484.

Also included is a $1 per month increase in residential garbage service rates and a corresponding increase in commercial rates.

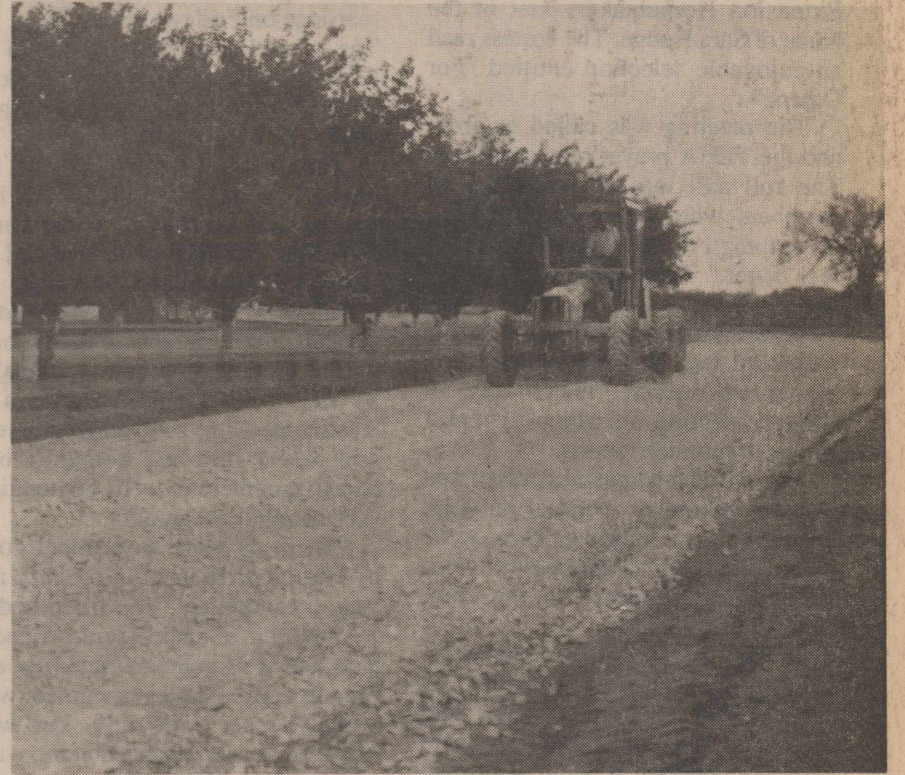

Approval of the budget came during the City Council's meeting last Thursday.

The tax increase is expected to produce an additional $4,000 in income and the garbage rate hike another $20,000.

Kemp elected

Dr. William J. Kemp of Haskell has been named president-elect of the Texas State Board of Dental Examiners.

The Haskell dentist is a graduate of the University of Missouri at Kansas City and is a member of the American Dental Association, American Association of Dental Examiners and the Texas Dental Association.

Street work

The City of Haskell is preparing the base on streets around the park and on South 6th Street.

Kaycye Nemir wins award for writing

Kaycye Nemir, editor of the War Whoop, student newspaper at Haskell High School, won a feature writing award at the media workshop at Southern Methodist University in Dallas last week.

More than 240 students from four states attended the four-day workshop. Nemir attended classes in feature and column writing.

Coinciding with the media workshop was an International Women's Peacemakers conference. Women from 15 countries, many in native attire, provided ample subjects for feature writing.

"Interviewing someone on campus was the most interesting assignment I had," Nemir said.

She interviewed a woman from Ireland of the Bih'i faith.

"One of my friends interviewed the editor of Izvestia, the largest Russian newspaper. He was there to cover the peacemakers' conference," Nemir said.

Mrs. Jill Drusedow, advisor of the War Whoop who accompanied Nemir, attended the Desktop Publishing Workshop.

Mrs. Drusedow said their experiences as well as the information derived from attending the workshop would enable them to continue improving the War Whoop.

"SMU's workshops are always challenging and the students in attendance are some of the most creative and intelligent from their schools. We were the only AA school there, but Kaycye wasn't intimidated. I was quite proud of her accomplishment," Mrs. Drusedow said.

Heating, cooling system selected

The School Board has authorized an Abilene engineering firm to design and draw up specifications for a heating and cooling system at the secondary school.

Grady Cozby, architect, and Murray Boquet, engineer, with the Abilene firm of Tippett and Gee, presented results of a study of four different systems to board members at their meeting Aug. 11.

After considering the four, the board chose to pursue a hot water/chill water system with an outside condensing unit.

Upon completion of the design and specifications, the school will seek bids for installation of the system.

In other action at last week's board meeting, members:

- Authorized the superintendent to seek bids for school pictures.
- Approved a plan for carpeting a guidance office/meeting room at the secondary school.
- Agreed to request estimates for sealing and repairing the parking lot and for the replacement of several evaporative coolers at the secondary school.
- Hired Mrs. Carol Carleton as a part-time art teacher at the secondary school.
- Approved the transfer of five students to the Haskell district, all of whom have been attending school here.

Five generations

Five generations were represented in this group which helped celebrate the 100th anniversary of the First Christian Church last weekend. They are Mrs. J. M. Glass; her daughter, Mrs. Eula Faye Crawford; her granddaughter, Mrs. Merilan Holt; her great-granddaughter, Mrs. Rebecca Russell; and her great-great-granddaughter, Kourtney Russell.

Josselet club has meeting

On Tuesday, Aug. 9, the Josselet Extension Homemakers met in the home of Sara Hodge. The hostess read an enjoyable selection entitled "For Others."

The meeting was called to order and the TEHA prayer read in unison. The roll call was answered by 14 members who answered by telling "One thing I do to make me look and feel better." There were two visitors present.

Minutes of the July 10 meeting were read and approved. A treasurer's report was given. There was no council meeting on which to report and no committee reports.

The unfinished business discussed was the selling of material on Aug. 16 at the Corral building. There were eight volunteers for workers to work the time span allotted to the club, from 12 to 4 o'clock.

In taking care of new business, Mildred Robertson was elected as TEHA chairman from the club, with Martha Toliver elected as alternate TEHA chairman. A letter was read from the National Extension Homemakers Council concerning the need for help in establishing a permanent office.

Those enjoying the refreshments served by the hostess were Mary Abbott, Edna Anderson, Phylecia Bailey, Earmal Bevel, Sara Hodge, Flo Holder, Reatha Mullins, Gladys O'Neal, Eloise Perrin, Mildred Robertson, Hazel Thomas, Martha Toliver, Margaret Jones, Margaret Wall and two visitors, Mrs. Virginia Flourney of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Hazel Walling.

The door prize was won by Eloise Perrin.

Dunnam, Medford marry in church

Emily Susan Dunnam and Kendell Mack Medford were united in marriage on Friday evening, Aug. 12. The candlelight ceremony was in the First Christian Church of Haskell. Dusty Garison, minister, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride resides with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Comedy of Haskell. Her mother is Mrs. Margaret Hall of Austin, and her father is Ross Dunnam of Anson.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Medford of Haskell are the parents of the groom.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Matt Dunnam of Austin. He wore a silver grey tuxedo with white shirt and burgundy bow tie and cummerbund. His boutonniere was a burgundy carnation.

The bride wore an original gown by Phyllis of Bianchi of organza and lace in candlelight. The fitted bodice of imported re-embroidered Alencon lace had a sweetheart neckline and French puff sleeves accented with organza roses. The full skirt with bustle back was enhanced at the waist with a cluster of organza roses and fell into a chapel train. Matching lace was repeated on the hem.

A double wreath of pearls and silk roses held her long veil of English illusion. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses in white and burgundy accented with English ivy and baby's breath. For something old the bride carried a linen handkerchief which belonged to her maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Honea. Her pearl necklace and earrings were something new, a gift from her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Comedy. For something borrowed, she wore a ring belonging to Kristi Blackburn, maid of honor. She wore the traditional penny in her shoe for good luck.

Vows were repeated before candelabras covered with English ivy and highlighted with burgundy and silver grey bows. Baskets of white glads, burgundy carnations and pink mums adorned each side of the altar. The unity candle was decorated with English ivy and burgundy and silver grey bows. The pews were marked with silver grey and burgundy bows.

Kristi Blackburn of Abilene attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Gloria Marshall of Rochester, Kristen Grand of Haskell and Donna Chesnut of Haskell. Their gowns were floor length burgundy taffeta fashioned with a low rounded back and a large bustle bow. They each carried a long stem white rose accented with baby's breath and tied with burgundy and grey. Their hair was fashioned with accents of baby silk roses to match their gown.

Flower girls were Shanda Yates of Abilene, cousin of the groom. She wore a silver grey dress and carried a nosegay of pink, burgundy and white.

Chris Medford, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Garland Medford, brother of the groom, Chris Grand and Scott Alves, all of Haskell. They wore silver grey tuxedos with white shirts and burgundy bow tie and cummerbunds. Their boutonnières were burgundy carnations.

Ring bearer was Brandon Yates of Abilene, cousin of the groom. He wore silver grey pants and white shirt. He carried an ivory colored satin ring pillow with ribbons of the chosen color.

Serving as candlelighters and ushers were Sam Cook of Austin, uncle of the bride, and Shannon Strickland of Abilene, cousin of the groom.

Pody Connally of Levelland, cousin of the bride, was soloist. He was accompanied on the piano by Nelda Lane. Songs chosen were "The Love She Found in Me" by Gary Morris and "There's No Way" by Alabama.

Amy Cook of Haskell, cousin of the bride, registered guests. The table was covered in a silver grey cloth accented with burgundy bows and a throw-away bouquet.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered in burgundy linen with corners tied in burgundy and grey bows. Featured on the table was a tiered cake adorned with the bride's chosen colors of fresh flowers. A silver candelabra held ivory tapers and the bride's bouquet. Punch was served from a silver punch bowl and white chocolate mints were served from a silver tray. Kay Cook of Haskell, aunt of the bride, Kathy Cook of Austin, aunt of the bride, Sarah Williams of Levelland, cousin of the bride, and Tammy Connally of Levelland, cousin of the bride, served at the bride's table.

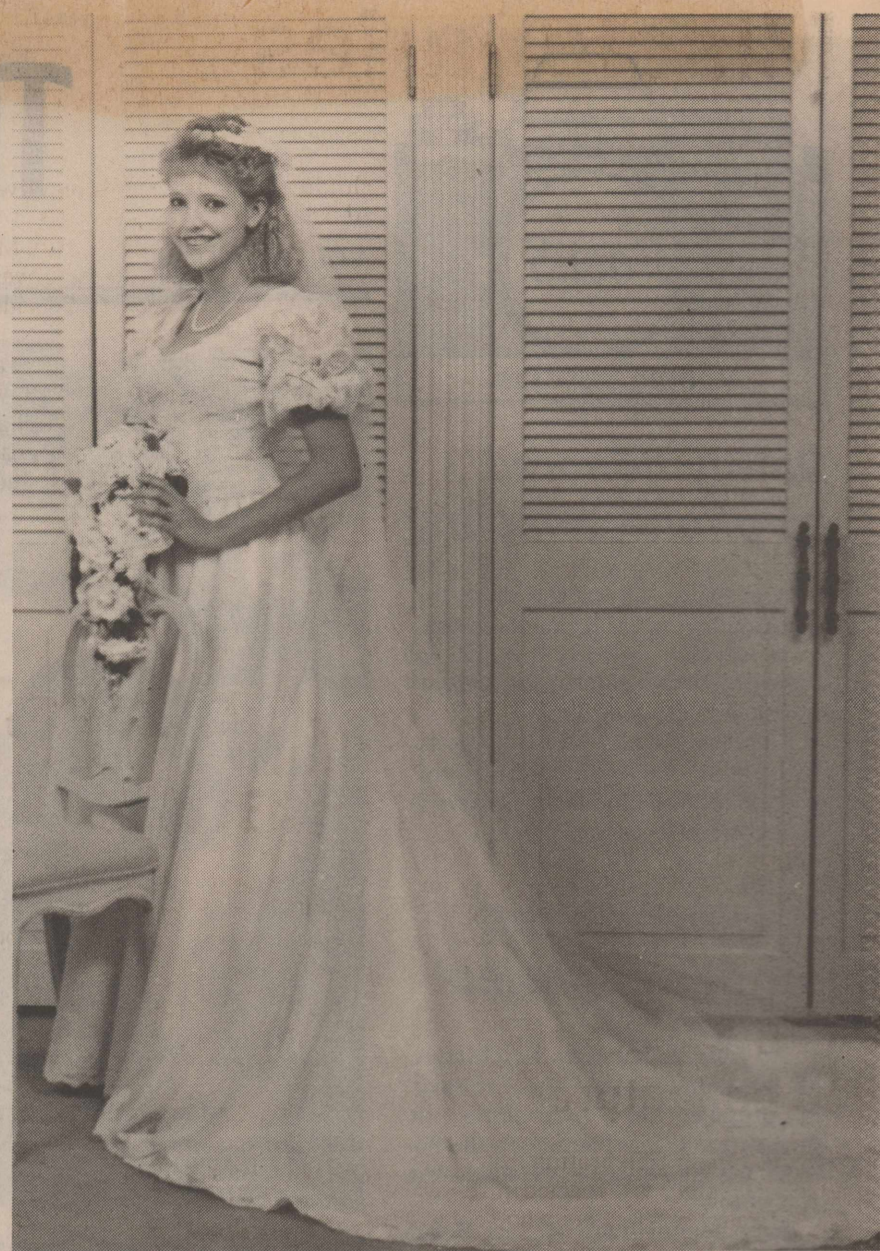

Serving red velvet cake from the groom's table were Debra Medford of Haskell, sister-in-law of the groom, and Kelly Strickland of Abilene, cousin of the groom. The groom's table was covered in silver grey linen. Guests were served coffee and mints from silver appointments.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted on Thursday evening by the groom's parents at Markey's Place. The bride and groom's chosen colors were carried out in the decorations.

A bridal shower was given July 22 in the home of Mrs. Gwen Campbell. Hostesses were Mrs. Thelma King, Mrs. Mildred Berry, Mrs. Lyla Mary Isbell, Mrs. Kay Smith, Mrs. Opal Letterman, Mrs. Lee Barnett, Mrs. Rhonda Moeller, Mrs. Frances Silba, Mrs. Maxine Grand and Mrs. Campbell.

The bride is a 1988 graduate of Haskell High School. The groom graduated from Haskell High School in 1984 and is employed by Bill Wilson Motor Co.

The couple will make their home in Haskell.

Park Church.

He was a postal clerk in Fort Worth while attending the seminary and became pastor of Bethel Heights Church in Gatesville his last two years in Fort Worth. He and his wife moved with their family to Beatrice, Neb., and Bro. Charles pastored the Calvary Baptist Church there until their appointment as missionaries in 1965.

With their orientation complete, the Loves flew to Georgetown, British Guiana (now Guyana) where Bro. Charles served in general evangelism and Mary worked in church and home evangelism.

The Loves' children are Debra (Debbie), Kathy Jo, Charles David, John Kenneth and Donna. All are grown now and some are married. Most of them finished Hardin-Simmons University. To the family, Abilene has become "homebase" as Bro. Charles and Mary come in on furlough each four years. Some of the children and grandchildren live in Abilene.

During the early 1980s, Bro. Mike McKinney worked with the Loves as he went on an evangelistic crusade to Guyana.

A treat in knowledge and fellowship is in store for all who attend the missions emphasis program. These seasoned missionaries have the wisdom, wit and inspiration to share with all.

Finnell proposes changes

State Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday will propose legislation in the 1989 session to clarify the resignation procedures of Texas state legislators.

Finnell stressed that the bill would eliminate the problems recently encountered in the 30th senate district which has been without a state senator and has been unrepresented for more than six months.

Finnell's proposal designates the Texas secretary of state as the authority for accepting the resignations of members of the legislature on behalf of the governor.

The proposal also stipulates that the secretary of state's receipt of a notarized letter of resignation shall constitute acceptance of that resignation. Had the bill been law this year, Finnell said, the special election for the unexpired state senate term of Ray Farabee would have been set for May 7 to coincide with this year's city and school elections, instead of Aug. 13.

Former music, youth leaders to be featured

The Great Celebration of First Baptist Church is expected to draw music and youth leaders who served in the Haskell church through the years.

Coming from Tecumseh, Okla., will be Kenneth and Frances Dare and their daughter, Kristy, and husband, Michael Pinion, and son, Luke. Also Phil Burnaman and his wife, Stacey, are expected from Orange, Texas.

Letters and calls are still going out to others who have served in this capacity. It is hoped that others will be able to attend, also.

Kenneth, Kristy and Phil will be presenting some of the special music to be given during the weekend services.

Q. My child still has the problem of wetting his bed. What can cause this problem and what can I do to help?

A. Enuresis (bedwetting), while an embarrassing problem, is a common problem for many children.

There are several things that can cause the problem: depth of sleep, a urinary tract infection, diabetes, congenital abnormalities of the urinary tract, or a small bladder.

In most cases, bedwetting is not associated with a serious medical problem but with a small bladder. When this is the cause, bedwetting can be "cured" by a sympathetically and patiently administered program of bladder training.

Many hospitals or nephrology specialists offer programs designed to help families overcome this problem. Usually, the program begins with a personal history physical by a specialist in the area of childhood kidney diseases. If no medical cause is found for bedwetting, the patient is entered in a training program consisting of education and instruction for the child and family. The program usually lasts at least four months.

I suggest approaching your family physician first to recommend a specialist in your area.

Q. I've been hearing a lot lately about dental implants. Just what are they?

A. Dental implants can greatly enhance the quality of life in cases where the underlying bone structure that supports the teeth has deteriorated due to periodontal disease.

Because the jaw bone structure is so worn in these people, they can't even wear dentures comfortably. The constant movement of the dentures causes sore places to develop on the gums.

Obviously, they have difficulty eating and often become reclusive because they feel their lack of teeth makes them socially unacceptable.

Dental surgeons either insert an implant into the jaw bone and snap the dentures into the implants or build up the jaw bone with an artificial bone implant that will help support the dentures better. Also, metal implant coated with synthetic bone can be placed on shrunken jaw bones to support bridgework or dentures.

Large catfish farm planned in Crockett

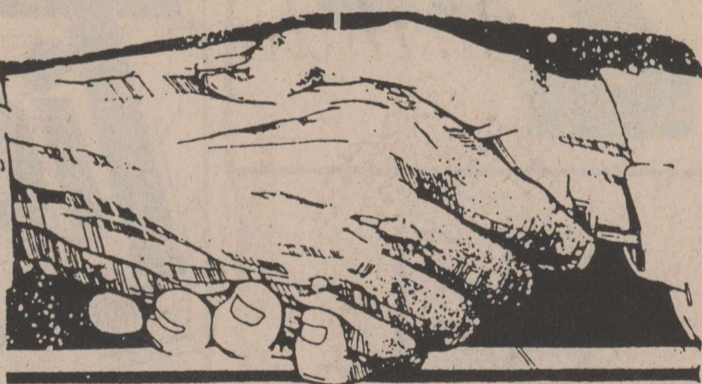

The largest catfish farm and automated processing plant in the Southwest will be built in Crockett by D&B Fish Farms.

Construction will begin soon on what will eventually be one of the largest catfish operations in the world. It will cost in excess of $16 million and the plant will process more than 140,000 pounds of catfish per day within four years.

"The catfish industry is growing at an incredible rate," said Mike Baughman, majority shareholder of D&B. "Over the past 10 years it has grown an average of 29.4 percent each year. And current projections are that the industry will triple again in another five years."

Several consumer trends have fueled the boom, including the desire for healthier, leaner alternatives to beef and the current Cajun food craze, said Baughman.

Noah project to train volunteers

The Noah Project North will conduct another volunteer training session on Aug. 25-26. Those who complete the training will be qualified to provide assistance to victims of family violence. Betsy Nanny, outreach coordinator for the local program, will conduct the eight-hour course.

Mrs. Nanny said the response to the Noah Project's first year of operation has been overwhelming. "We knew there was a real need for a program of this type, but we didn't really know how much of a need there was," she said. "As we begin our second year, we have an immediate need for more volunteers to staff our 24-hour hotline and work with our clients."

The Noah Project is a non-profit organization which provides information, referrals and limited assistance to victims of spouse abuse, child abuse, neglect and mistreatment of the elderly and other forms of family violence. The local unit is affiliated with the Noah Project of Abilene, but receives all of its support, and its volunteers, from local sources. The northern district serves the city of Stamford, along with Throckmorton, Stonewall, Knox and Haskell counties.

Persons interested in becoming volunteers need no special previous training. "We can teach them everything they need to know provided they have the compassion and the caring to want to help others," Mrs. Nanny said.

Anyone interested in applying to become a volunteer, or desiring further information, should contact the Noah Project at (817) 864-3972.

Mrs. Nanny explained that often, when a person calls the hotline number the phone will be answered with a brief "beep" tone, followed by the sound of a telephone being dialed. "That's our call diverter. It re-routes the incoming call to the home of one of our volunteers. We need to remind all those calling the hotline not to hang up when they hear those tones. If they will stay on the line for a few extra seconds, one of our volunteers will be there to assist them."

Rule sailor in Navy exercise

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Jeff R. Denson recently participated in Exercise FLEETEX while serving aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Mobile Bay homeported in Mayport, Fla.

The exercise, conducted in the Western Atlantic and Puerto Rican operating areas, is designed to provide multi-ship and multi-battle group training while improving fleet readiness.

A 1975 graduate of Rule High School, he is the son of Raymond K. and Lucy L. Denson of Rule. He joined the Navy in April 1987.

More knowledge of breast cancer among women

Eighty percent of Texas women reported they had heard "a lot" about breast cancer in the last year, according to a Texas Poll commissioned by the American Cancer Society.

Awareness increased 10 percent over 1987 poll results. An initial Texas Poll in 1986 had recorded 59 percent of Texas women reporting they had heard "a lot" about the disease.

Moves of elderly can be minimized

Families can reduce the stress of relocation by acquainting elders with their new environment before they move into a nursing home or retirement center.

Various types of orientation will enhance the elder's sense of familiarity and control over the move, points out Dr. Judith Warren, gerontology specialist with the Extension Service.

"Visiting the facility and meeting the staff are the best means of orientation, but are often impractical for the frail elderly," she said.

"Some facilities have slide presentations or even scale models that families can take home to show to the elder. Or you may want to take your own slides or snapshots of different rooms to help the elder visually walk through the new environment.

"The facility may also have orientation or promotional materials that contain simplified line drawings of the building and photos of the key rooms, such as the dining area, main office or crafts room.

"Certainly, the willingness of center staff to provide a tour for new residents and the quality of their orientation materials are points to consider in selecting a facility."

Warren said a feeling of being more in control of the move will occur if the older person can select his or her own room from those available and help choose what date and time the move will take place.

"Elders also need input into how the move will occur, including what furniture and decorations they will bring, how the room will be arranged and who will help with the move," she said.

"Enhancing familiarity and control won't eliminate all relocation stress, but orienting elders to their new home increases their confidence in their ability to find their way in unfamiliar surroundings."

According to Dr. Warren, building confidence in way-finding may influence whether elders will come out of their rooms, meet new friends and engage in activities which lead to a healthy adjustment.

She said research conducted at the University of Wisconsin also indicates that feelings of control and familiarity in new surroundings reduces elders' mortality and sickness rates during the critical transition period.

Window film can reduce cooling bills

Installing window film is a lot like putting a pair of sunglasses on your home to block the summer sun's heat and glare.

"Window film can increase your air conditioner's efficiency up to 65 percent so it will help lower utility bills," says Dr. Susan Quiring, housing specialist with the extension service.

"It has the extra advantage of blocking nearly all the ultraviolet rays, which protects your furnishings and curtains from fading too," she said.

Quiring said there are several types of window film having specific sun-control characteristics. The film costs about $10 to $35 per window, depending upon the type of film and size of the window. It will last up to 10 years with proper cleaning.

But there are some disadvantages to window film. In the winter it will block solar heat from entering your house and helping to warm it," she said.

"Also consider window film a fairly permanent fixture. Once it's on, it is a difficult chore to remove the film. If you're not sure whether you like the looks of it, do one window and try it for a while before doing any others," she suggests.

Platelet donations needed

Each month for about two hours, Rick Calvert rolls up his sleeves to help cancer patients at the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Cancer Center.

Calvert is an unusual volunteer. He does not work at the information desk, escort patients to their rooms or even wear a uniform. Instead, Calvert donates platelets regularly.

As one of the world's largest centers for the care of cancer patients, M. D. Anderson Cancer Center requires more than 100 units of platelets a day.

Platelets are a blood component that helps in the clotting process by preventing bleeding. Cancer patients often need platelets after receiving treatments like surgery, chemotherapy and radiotherapy.

"Giving platelets is actually kind of fun," Calvert says. "I usually watch movies or talk with the staff and other volunteer donors."

Although platelets can be obtained from whole blood donations, they also can be obtained more efficiently by a process known as apheresis.

Donating platelets takes about two hours. A bag of platelet-rich plasma, about a pint, is separated from the donor's blood by a machine, called a centrifuge, that then returns the rest of the donor's blood to the donor's body. Platelets are quickly replenished by a healthy body. Volunteers may donate platelets as often as once a week.

Platelet donor coordinator, Dorothy Raglin, says there tends to be a shortage of blood and platelets at hospitals during the summer while many donors are away on vacation.

Calvert used to donate whole blood on a regular basis, but tried donating platelets when his church pastor needed them following his cancer treatments. Since then he has been donating platelets regularly for about a year.

"There are a lot of really caring people here and donating platelets has drawn me closer to the staff and patients," Calvert says. "I really enjoy knowing that my donation is actually helping so much."

Barq's Root Beer has 90-year history

Ninety years ago this month the first batch of Barq's Root Beer was made in a backyard tub in Biloxi, Miss. Edward Barq created what would become one of the top two root beers in America.

Edward Charles Edmond Barq was born in the French Quarter of New Orleans shortly after the Civil War. His father died when Edward was only 2 years old, forcing his mother to take the family back to her native France. During these years in school in Paris and working in the vineyards of Bordeaux, Edward Barq learned the art of flavor chemistry.

Barq and his family returned to New Orleans, to stay, about 1890 and he opened the Barq Brothers Bottling Co. In 1893, Barq was awarded a gold medal at the Chicago World's Fair for one of his first soft drinks, Orangine.

After marrying a New Orleans girl and moving to Biloxi, Miss., a then-booming beachfront resort and fishing town, he purchased the Biloxi Artesian Bottling Works. Originally bottling spring water, Barq added soft drinks of his own creation in 1898, including root beer and cream soda.

While pharmacists invented Coca-Cola, Pepsi-Cola and Dr. Pepper, Edward Barq was first a liqueur maker. His French training surfaces in soft drinks with bouquet, body and aroma, as well as flavor. These terms are usually reserved to describe fine wines.

Barq produced an assortment of flavors under the name of Barq's Biloxi Pop, including such delectables as root beer, strawberry, creme soda, peach and orange. He mixed the secret formulas for the next day's goods at night in the loft of his barn-made-factory and washed and filled the bottles by hand.

Just before the Great Depression, Edward Barq's root beer caught on. And to this day, people along the Mississippi Gulf Coast drink more root beer than anywhere in the world.

The little root beer born in Mississippi is now sweeping the country. Barq's is available to about half the U.S. population and is still growing.

As the fourth generation of Barq making root beer, Edward "Sonny" Barq IV, receives thousands of fan letters each month.

Military records discovered

Recent discovery of duplicate military medical records by the National Archives will enable thousands of World War II and Korean War veterans to file for Veterans Administration disability compensation payments.

The National Archives and Records Administration on June 15 advised the VA that it had located a collection of computer tape containing some 10 million Army medical records that partially fill a gap created when a 1973 fire destroyed millions of military files at a federal warehouse in St. Louis. The newly found records cover the years from 1942 to 1945 and from 1950 to 1954.

For certain veterans whose claims for disability compensation were denied since the fire, the VA may now be able to establish documentary evidence to support their claims.

You are reading The Haskell Free Press and we thank you.

There are not enough words to thank everyone for their acts of kindness, concern and love shown us during the illness and loss of our loved one.

To the Doctors and Hospital staff for their genuine concern and much love, we say thank you, and to everyone that sent cards, food and flowers, they were all greatly appreciated.

Friends are very precious, and that gives us comfort.

Thank you all.

TAX PLANNING

Written By Gerald Rodgers, CPA

5% SURTAX

Starting in 1988, taxpayers will pay a 33% tax instead of the expected maximum 28% tax on certain dollars. A 5% surtax will apply to taxable income between the following amounts:

Married filing joint --	$71,900 - $171,090
Head of household --	$61,650 - $145,630
Single --	$43,150 - $100,480
Married filing separately --	$35,950 - $124,220

These amounts are for taxpayers with no dependents; for each dependent, add $10,920 to the upper amount.

The surtax is not considered a rate increase; it's actually a means of recovering from higher income taxpayers the tax benefit of personal exemptions and the 15% rate on part of their income. What the surtax does is create a 28% flat tax on all the income of these taxpayers.

Planning is important because in certain situations, the surtax can be avoided. Consider these examples.

The Browns are selling rental property netting a $100,000 gain. Their 1988 through 1992 taxable income before this gain will be $50,000 yearly. If they select a five-year installment sale, their gain will be $20,000 yearly for five years. They will avoid the 5% surtax, saving $5,000 in taxes.

The Greens wish to sell stock which will generate a $150,000 gain. Their 1988 through 1992 taxable income before this gain will be $80,000 yearly. They have no dependents. They sell 100% of the stock in 1988. The first $91,090 of gain will be taxes at 33%, the remaining $58,910 of gain will fall beyond the surtax level and be taxed at 28% (a tax savings of $2,946). If they sold the stock over a five-year period, the entire gain would be taxed at 33%.

Southwest Saga: The way it really was Before he became an historian, author William C. McGaw was an investigative reporter. His journalistic skills are evident in his new book, Southwest Saga: The Way It Really Was, published in a paperback edition by Golden West Publishers of Phoenix.

In it, McGaw treats such subjects as Estevan, the first black man in the Southwest, and his life among the Zuni; "The Great Western," warrior woman of the Southwest; Mark Twain's misfired scheme to bring drugs into the country; the diamond rush to New Mexico and the subsequent change in name of a town to Shakespeare; the real story of Billy the Kid and the teacher who knew his qualities; Albert Fall, the mystery man of the territory; and the unfortunate Southwestern events that shaped the life of the first black graduate of West Point.

Several chapters of Southwest Saga are devoted to Pancho Villa and the Americans who fought with and against the powerful guerrilla leader: Holmdahl, the soldier of fortune who raised his own army; the strange demise of writer Ambrose Bierce who was sent to report on Villa only to be shot by one of Pancho's men (was it suicide?); Villa's sordid north of the border, raiding, burning and looting the town of Columbus, New Mexico, the aftermath of this savage raid and how it led to the establishment of one of the first military air bases in the Southwest at Camp Furlong, and General John J. Pershing's punitive expedition into Mexico.

Southwest Saga is available in bookstores for $5 or may be purchased for $6 postpaid from Golden West Publishers, 4113 N. Longview, Phoenix, AZ 85014.

McGaw, former editor and publisher of the monthly history magazine, The Southwesterner, is a charter member of the Western History Association and founder of the El Paso corral of the Westerners.

Bill McGaw had been a newspaperman in New Orleans, New York, Tampa, Indianapolis, El Paso and Philadelphia. As a columnist for the El Paso Herald-Post, he twice won the coveted Scripps Award for the best column in the Scripps-Howard chain.

He was a motion picture actor and writer at MGM and played with such stars as Barbara Stanwyck, Adolph Menjou and Clark Gable.

McGaw once owned and lived in a New Mexico ghost town, Mowry City. He organized the Pancho Villa Museum in Columbus, N.M., and for several years was tour director and press agent for the Royal Lipizzan Stallions.

A former editor of The Investigator, a magazine published by columnist Jack Anderson, McGaw has written for various magazines and television. For two years he had his own prime-time television show on the CBS station, KROD-TV, in El Paso.

His first book, Savage Scene, the Life and Times of James Kirker, Frontier King, has received praise and acclaim from noted historians and writers throughout the West.

Paint Creek students to register

Paint Creek School will have registration Friday, Aug. 26 in the school cafeteria.

Students in kindergarten through eighth grade will register between 8 a.m. and noon. Students in grades 9-12 will register between 1 and 4 p.m.

New students should bring immunization records. Kindergarten students need to bring birth certificates, in addition to the immunization records.

Pre-registration for kindergarten deadline near

Next Thursday (Aug. 25) is the deadline for pre-registration of kindergarten students who did not pre-register in the spring.

A child must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1 to be eligible for kindergarten.

Parents need to bring a birth certificate and immunization records to the registration. A child will need to have received immunization for polio, diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus (DPT), mumps, measles and rubella. Polio and DPT booster shots since the fourth birthday also are required.

Registration for students in grades K-6 will be Wednesday, Aug. 31, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Students who were not attending Haskell Elementary School at the end of the 1987-88 school year will need to register in the cafeteria. They will need to bring a report card from last year and their immunization records.

Home insurance may not cover student in college

Before packing a child off to college this fall, parents may find it worthwhile to determine whether their homeowner's insurance coverage extends to the student's possessions while away at school.

A dependent child's belongings often will be covered on the parents' policy so long as the student lives in an organized living unit, such as a dormitory or fraternity/sorority house.

When the student lives in an apartment, mobile home or rented house, it's less likely that the parents' coverage will apply. Since policies vary, parents should contact their insurance agents.

Students may not realize how much of an investment they have in stereo equipment, a home computer, TV, clothing, furniture or appliances until they have to replace them.

At the church

This picture shows some of the people who attended services Sunday morning at the First Christian Church as the church celebrated its 100th anniversary.

Church celebration is huge success

The First Christian Church celebrated its centennial Saturday and Sunday and everyone involved agreed it was a gigantic success. Dusty Garison, minister, expressed the feelings of many when he said, "It was a lot of work, but it was well worth it."

Garison said many former members and out-of-town guests made the trip to Haskell to share in the festivities. The farthest distance was traveled by Dr. Herman Pitman, who grew up attending the church and later served as a minister. Dr. Pitman is retired from the ministry and lives in Raymore, Mo.

Bertis White, who has often preached for the congregation, also was present, along with his wife, Chan (King) White. Other former ministers and wives in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Russell Coatney, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Abbott.

Following a barbecue supper cooked by James R. Crawford, C. O. Holt and others, the congregation held its centennial celebration, featuring remembrances from many members, special music and other activities of interest. The church's history was read by Seth Pace, whose great-great-grandfather, J. C. Stephens, was the congregation's first minister.

The Sunday morning worship service was attended by more than 150 people, making it one of the largest crowds in many years. Mrs. J. M. Glass, 97, was the oldest member present. Interestingly enough, the youngest person present was her great-great-granddaughter, Kourtney Russell.

Music for the service was provided by Mrs. Myrtle Turnbow, Mrs. Margorie Pace and Mrs. Peggy Hairgrove. Singing special songs were Mrs. Ginny Kloog and Mrs. Kathy Garison. Following the morning message by Garison, the service was climaxed by two baptisms.

Ladies of the congregation prepared a pot-luck-dinner which was served in the fellowship hall after the morning service. Mrs. Flora Pace provided a beautiful birthday cake which everyone enjoyed.

Garison praised the spirit of cooperation which made the weekend a success. "We're a small church and we couldn't have done this if everyone hadn't worked hard to make it possible," he said. "It really shows us what can be done when we all work together."

Thomas descendants have reunion

The children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren of the late Clifford and Annie Thomas gathered at the Haskell Civic Center Saturday for their 23rd family reunion.

Food was furnished by the attending families who brought their own special family dishes, including homemade ice cream.

Family members spent the day reminiscing and visiting. Several family members brought old family albums and many new pictures were taken to add to the photograph collection. Various games were played and enjoyed by both old and young.

Family members attended from Dallas, Cotton Center, Pasadena, De Soto, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Sundown and Morton.

The reunion ended with a breakfast Sunday morning.

Booster club has first meet

The Indian Booster Club held its first meeting of the year Monday to discuss plans for the upcoming season.

Coach Coulter said about 50 boys are out for football and that he is very pleased with how hard they've been working.

The first scrimmage of the season will be Thursday, Aug. 18, against Roscoe. Let's all come out and show support for our team.

Anyone who would like to attend the meeting is invited to join us on Monday nights at 8 in the Ag building. A film of the Roscoe-Haskell scrimmage will be shown Monday, Aug. 22.

J.E. Berryhill

J. E. "Blackie" Berryhill, 78, died Aug. 11 at his home in Searcy, Ark. He was a former coach and teacher at Haskell High School.

Memorial services were held Sunday.

Berryhill was retired from the teaching profession at Harding Academy at Harding University in Searcy. His wife, Joan, preceded him in death in 1982.

He is survived by a daughter, Rhea Jo Bohanan; two sons, Johnny Berryhill and Jimmy Berryhill; eight grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren; a sister, Jean Thomas of Knox City; and two sisters-in-law and a brother-in-law in Haskell, Willie Berryhill and Nellie and Woody Frazier.

Loree Creed

Irma Loree Creed, 60, died Aug. 7 at the Rolling Plains Memorial Hospital in Sweetwater. She was the sister of Alice Wootan of Haskell.

Funeral services were Aug. 9 at the First Baptist Church in Aspermont with the Rev. Darrell Dossey officiating. Burial was in the Aspermont Cemetery under direction of McCoy Funeral Home of Aspermont.

She was born in Shinnery Lake, Texas, and had lived in Sweetwater for the past four years. She had worked at the Aspermont post office from 1948 to 1957 and was a member of the Metropolitan Baptist Temple in Woffard, Texas.

She was married to Jahue Creed on July 5, 1949, in Aspermont.

In addition to her sister in Haskell, she is survived by her husband; a daughter, Susie Ann Carter of Glendale, Ariz.; another sister, Lela Ware of Hasse, Texas; and two granddaughters, Lucinda Dawn Carter and Susan Marie Carter of Glendale.

Pallbearers were Billy Wootan, Lesley Wootan, Kenneth Johnson and Leon Kretschmer.

Author to have seminar

Acclaimed author and lecturer Jean Illsley Clarke will conduct a special one-day seminar in Abilene Wednesday, Sept. 14.

The seminar, titled "Self-Esteem for Everyone," is being presented by Pastoral Care and Counseling Center in cooperation with the West Central Texas Council of Governments. It will be at the Episcopal Church of the Heavenly Rest from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. A fee of $25 is being charged.

Ms. Clarke is the author of the critically acclaimed book, "Self-Esteem: A Family Affair," and her book, "Who, Me Lead a Group?" is used by group leaders throughout the country. In addition, she co-authored a collection of six books and tapes titled "Help! For Parents."

Registration is underway at Pastoral Care and Counseling Center, 751 Hickory in Abilene. For more information call (915) 672-5683.

Bug report: Moisture needed in most areas

By Steve Davis
Extension Agent/Entomologist
(Aug. 10)

Generally, moisture is needed over the five-county area. Most cotton fields are in a stressed condition with 100-degree-plus temperatures. "Spotty" rains of late are not beneficial on a long-term basis.

Boll weevil infestations are moderate overall with some heavier infestations in historically "hot spot" areas. The Peacock area in Stonewall County appears the hardest hit so far with southern and eastern Jones County closely parallel. Each field is different in levels of infestations, however, and in the near future, weevils will begin to migrate from field to field with the increase in numbers of the first generation. Fields need to be monitored every three to four days minimum from now until the first of September to keep an accurate account of population density and migration.

Bollworms and budworms have somewhat diminished as far as peaks in trap catches. However, there are large numbers of moths in the fields in certain geographical locations throughout the five-county area. Egg numbers vary by field also with most evidence in those fields surrounded by sorghum or other tall grasses that seem to be harboring large numbers of moths. Even with high temperatures and low humidities, moth survival seems to be excellent in these areas of cover.

The month of August seems to be on the same trend as July regarding egg-lay activity. July was a long, drawn-out egg-lay period with minor peaks and valleys resulting in adequate numbers of small worms to cause problems in some fields.

Numbers of eggs have been steadily increasing since the latter part of July but have been checked by beneficials up to a point. Fields monitored in southern Jones and northern Taylor counties over the weekend have shown a decline in beneficial activity even though previously untreated. This has allowed worm numbers to increase with most at an economic level. Weather factors have not affected bollworm/budworm numbers as expected but may be limiting beneficials to some degree.

This combination with increased bollworm egg numbers is cause for concern to cotton growers. Fields need to be monitored very closely throughout the month of August for moth activity, egg and worm numbers and beneficial insect activity.

Hot, dry conditions have already caused a fair amount of boll shed. Those that were blooming and forming young bolls last week are on the ground this week in some areas. Producers should consider this factor greatly when deciding to treat fields for pest populations. If no general rains are received by Aug. 15, with current weather pattern, growers would be hard-pressed to justify insect control measures.

Ask VA

Q: I am a retired Army officer and have applied for disability compensation from the VA. Will my grade entitle me to increased compensation?

A: No. Military grade is not a factor in determining the amount of disability compensation benefits.

Q: My grandfather is a veteran who served honorably on active duty with the U.S. Army from Sept. 1, 1925, through Sept. 10, 1940. He has an adequate and regular income and wants to buy his own home after all these years. Can he qualify for a VA-guaranteed home loan?

A: No. A VA home loan is available only to veterans with sufficient qualifying service during any period on or after Sept. 16, 1940.

Grandparents Day to be observed again

Texas' observance of National Grandparents Day will be Sunday, Sept. 11.

As in the past two years, commemorative certificates inscribed "An Outstanding Grandparent" and signed by Gov. William Clements will be available free from the Texas Department on Aging. The certificate also will be signed by O. P. (Bob) Bobbitt, executive director of TDOA.

A space is provided for those giving the certificates to inscribe the names of the honorees.

Requests of any "reasonable" quantity can be filled. To be sure that certificates arrive in time, send a written request before Aug. 30 to: Grandparents Certificates, Texas Department on Aging, P.O. Box 12786, Capitol Station, Austin, TX 78711. Allow two to three weeks for delivery.

No phone orders will be taken, except those from area agencies on aging and other aging network affiliates.

Hispanics blend into GOP recipe

AUSTIN—Republicans continued to blend Texas Hispanics into their recipe for victory last week when:

- President Reagan named Texas Tech University President Lauro Cavazos to be U.S. Secretary of Education.
- Vice President George Bush tapped Houston restaurateur Ninfa Lorenzo to second his Criss supports the casinos, as does Houston state Rep. Ron Wilson, whose endorsement was sought to bring out the crucial minority vote.

The anti-gambling Galvestonians are led by Shrub Kempner, known locally as "Mr. Democrat," who is joined by H. Ross Perot and the Island business and religious establishments.

Other Highlights

- Public Utility Commissioner Marta Greytok was unanimously elected chairwoman of the regulatory commission. Fellow Republican Bill Cassin joined the commission last week and, as his first official action, nominated Greytok to be chairwoman.
- Texas Railroad Commission members have joined U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and Gov. Bill Clements in calling for a bipartisan national energy summit in Texas.
- Former Congresswoman Barbara Jordan was in upbeat spirits when she checked out of an Austin hospital, where she was being observed following a near-drowning accident.
- Texas Supreme Court Justice Jim Wallace resigned to return to private practice for economic reasons.
- Gov. Clements accepted his resignation and said he will appoint an interim justice as soon as possible.
- Bentsen's son and estranged wife are $12.6 million in debt, according to their pending divorce court records.
- Two finalists for executive director of the Texas Racing Commission are Anthony Fasulo, operations director of Florida's parimutuel wagering, and G.A. Acevedo of New Mexico.
- Terence Dunleavy, general counsel of the Illinois Racing Board, took his name out of consideration after accepting a similar position in Wisconsin.
- The University of Texas at Austin is ranked third while Texas A&M is seventh among the nation's ten largest colleges.
- Treasurer Ann Richards, in the wake of her keynote to the Democratic Party convention, was expected to raise $200,000 in a two-day, two-city fundraiser.
- "I have seen the future and it still looks gubernatorial to me," Richards said of the '90 political races.
- Midland oilman Bobby Holt has been named finance chairman of Bush's campaign in Texas.

presidential nomination at the convention.

Cavazos will be the first Hispanic to serve in the cabinet, a fact that some Democrats derided politically as tokenism.

Both Dr. Cavazos and Mrs. Lorenzo are success stories all Texans can be proud of.

Cavazos is the son of a King Ranch foreman and the first Hispanic to be president of a major university. Formerly, he was the dean of the school of medicine at Tufts University.

Laurenzo, who owns Ninfa's Mexican restaurants, built her multi-million-dollar chain from a 10-seat diner. Ninfa met Bush years ago when he ate at her restaurant.

Hopkins Draws Praise

Another Texas success story can be told about Paul Hopkins, who drew much praise for a job well done when he stepped aside as chairman of the Texas Water Commission last week to make room for Buck Wynne.

In the fifties, Hopkins led a local reform slate which challenged the Mafia-controlled gambling and prostitution in Galveston, known then as an "open city."

The gutsy young ex-highway motorcycle cop won the election and ousted the long-time sheriff who had for years ignored the outlaw activities.

The Texas attorney general stepped in with back-up muscle, and the roulette wheels, dice tables and redlight districts were closed down.

Galveston stopped being known for gambling and once again became a family-oriented, island vacation town.

Casino Issue

Ironically, pro-gambling forces were challenging Galveston's status last week with a hard-fought referendum to establish casino gambling on the island.

If Galveston voters approve the issue, then the Legislature will vote on a bill to legalize casinos in Texas.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

The so-called windfall profit tax is history.

Other aspects of the omnibus trade bill that received final Congressional approval this month garnered more headlines. But the trade bill provision repealing the windfall profit tax, though little noticed, is of real importance to our state and our national security.

It was a major victory, long in coming.

There were some formidable obstacles—including some stiff opposition in the House and a Presidential veto of the trade bill—to getting this tax repealed.

The Senate had voted for repeal in mid-1986, but House members stopped that provision dead in its tracks. In 1987, though, the provision was included in the Bentsen-Danforth trade bill.

This time, as Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, author of the Senate trade bill, and lead Senate negotiator ironing out differences between our bill and the House version, I was able to keep that provision intact. When the President vetoed our first bill, we made some minor changes and sent him another one.

It is fitting that this provision is part of the trade bill. At a time when our trade deficit has reached unprecedented levels and our dependence on imported oil is projected to surpass 50 percent in the early 1990s, this tax encouraged our dependence on imported oil and increased the size of our trade deficit.

That's important both to the Texas economy and to our nation's security because America today imports about 40 percent of the oil we consume—the highest level of this decade. As a result, we are becoming increasingly dependent on oil from the Middle East, where dozens of battle-ready U.S. warships have been patrolling hostile waters.

In addition to reducing dependence on foreign oil, repeal of this tax will help relieve both the domestic industry and the federal government of some burdensome red tape. Total administrative costs associated with the tax are estimated at more than $100 million a year.

Texas has provided nearly half the nation's total revenues from the windfall tax. In recent years, though, the price of oil has dropped so low that there is little if any "profit" to tax. In fact, projections show the government will receive as little as $50 million total from the windfall tax between 1987 and 1991—which would be far less than the costs of administering the tax.

By repealing this tax, we have taken an important step in behalf of our national security and in providing an incentive for a troubled industry.

While repeal is important, however, it is only a first step. Now we must follow through, putting into place the other elements of a national energy policy.

plain talk

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

Read a piece the other day saying that in prehistoric times, cavemen had a custom of beating the ground with clubs and uttering spine-chilling cries which scientists say was a primitive form of self-expression.

I didn't even know they played golf in those days.

Hard fall the mighty.

A press release of an FDIC auction in Midland of repossessed bank collateral gives a vivid description of the hard-pressed oil industry.

Among the items going on the block: two complete drilling rigs, shop equipment, trucks, trailer-mounted equipment, oilfield equipment... an airplane, a Porsche and a Mercedes.

A story in the papers the other day about a group in El Paso claiming that a secret society at Yale is in possession of Pancho Villa's skull reminded me of a story told by a tour guide on a Mexican bus in Chihuahua several years ago:

A bus load of American tourists stopped at a small Mexican village where a peasant was trying to sell what he said was Villa's skull.

"I just bought Villa's head at the last stop," one of the tourists told him.

Not dazed, the peasant quickly responded, "But this was his head when he was a little boy."

...

Speaking of Pancho Villa, a letter writer to the Dallas Morning News complained the other day of a News story referring to Villa as a bandit. The writer said Villa was no bandit, but a revolutionist, a patriot and a hero.

Having lived for 20 years within a stone's throw of Columbus, N.M., where Villa and his men attacked American men, women and children, murdering many in the process, I protest his hero status.

But it's funny how time heals old wounds. In the early 60s, the State of New Mexico dedicated a new state park at the site of old Camp Furlong in Columbus, from where Gen. John J. Pershing launched his expedition into Mexico in pursuit of Villa.

Guess what they named it? You're right: Pancho Villa State Park.

Guest of honor at the dedication was the widow of Pancho Villa. Also on hand was General Francisco Giner, governor of the state of Chihuahua who had ridden with Pancho. A couple of generations earlier, the same State of New Mexico had convicted eight of Villa's riders of murder and hanged them on the courthouse yard in Deming.

A way with words: Newsweek, commenting on the 16.3 million circulation of Modern Maturity, the bimonthly magazine of the American Association of Retired Persons, put it this way:

"The inevitable joke is that the magazine's circulation is better than that of most AARP members."

And one more:

From the New Orleans Times-Picayune on how to beat the heat during the Republican convention:

"... wear little or nothing, move rarely or not at all, drink all the water you can stand and spend half the day in the shower."

...

Many are predicting this will be a dirty, mud-slinging presidential campaign, and point to some of the things which already have been said.

Dukakis' "dead fish" characterization of the Reagan administration and Reagan's "I'm not going to talk about an invalid" remark are given as examples of some of the things to be expected.

That's not dirt. That's politics.

Opponents of Thomas Jefferson spread the story of his relationship with a Negro slave. After Grover Cleveland was elected, his foes comprised a jingle: "Mama, Mama, where's my Pa...Gone to the White House, haw, haw, haw," in reference to Cleveland's illegitimate son. And, remember LBJ's "daisy" ad on TV?

Those incidents make the "dead fish" and "invalid" things seem pretty mild.

But still, it would be better if the candidates would stick to the important things like:

Dukakis had a splinter in his right index finger in 1979 and a tonsillectomy in 1935, while Bush has an arthritic knee and is allergic to bee stings.

Tommy Clay local round-up chairman

Tommy Clay has been named Haskell chairman for the 29th annual Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children.

The round-up is a vital fund-raiser which benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene and San Angelo.

Among the eight sales scheduled during the round-up is one in Haskell on Sept. 24.

Anyone wishing to make a donation of livestock or cash, or needing to arrange for transportation of animals, should contact the local chairman.

Since its establishment 35 years ago, West Texas Rehab Center has provided physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech/language therapy, audiology, orthotics, diagnostic clinics, social services and work evaluations to children in the surrounding area. Patients are admitted by referral and are treated without charge except for braces and hearing aids.

Junior Hereford Association

Texas Junior Hereford Association members recently held an exciting field day featuring educational and motivational activities along side the $2,500 Lone Star State Regional Junior Hereford Classic in Hereford. Board members involved in the continued success of the youth organization included, front row from left, Sam Davidson of Gustine, Kathaleen Ford of Clyde, Calvin Gunter of Rogers, Marci McKinzie of Dike, Judith Oman of Avoca; standing, Nancy Davis of Wheeler, Stewart Davidson of Gustine, Marty McKinzie of Dike (president); Lucinda Pullen of Rockwall, Johnna Hay of Justin, Jessica Oman of Avoca, Faye Mullino of Rochester (first vice president), Connie Brandenberger of Llano, Terri Barber of Channing and Sandra Copeland of Mountair, N.M. (American Junior Hereford Association director).

Ron Hunt, an infielder who played with various National League teams holds the record for getting hit by pitched balls.

Tour facilities

The importance of integrating research and promotion to keep cotton products moving through the marketplace was brought into sharper focus for Texas Farm Bureau members during a recent tour of Cotton Incorporated's research facilities in Raleigh, N.C. Discussing fabric development research are, from left, Clara and Ursula Richards of Avoca, Bobby Tolliver of Merkel, Pam and Robert Aycock of Haskell and Yvonne Johnson, manager of fabric development/knits for Cotton Incorporated. A tour of Fieldcrest's Fieldale Towell Mill in Fieldale, Va., completed the trip, sponsored by the Cotton Board.

Residents enjoyed a nice week last week. Haskell Methodist Ladies were with us on Monday, we took a nature walk and enjoyed watermelon on Tuesday. Thursday, we had music by the Sweethome Singers, Ruth Klose, Sylvia Crow and Pauline Dick.

We are looking forward to the Rule Methodist, East Side Luncheon, band and some more good music and preaching from the Church of God and Church of Christ on Sunday.

Our thanks to Ray Ford for bringing over cantaloupes donated by Offutt's farm in Munday. We appreciate the donation and the residents really enjoy the fresh produce.

Our sympathy to Middie Lee's family.

Visiting in the home have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pearson, Sandra and Debra Reynolds from Howe, Tommy, Lisa, Ashley, John Ross

Watson from College Station all visited with Gladys Watson.

We also want to thank Mrs. Graham for all the quilt scraps.

BREAST CANCER DETECTION UNIT AVAILABLE TO AREA WOMEN

FRIDAY, AUGUST 19, 1988

HASKELL, TEXAS

A Service of

HASKELL MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

CALL 864-2621 FOR APPOINTMENT

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Appointments may be made by calling 864-2621.

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Haskell on Friday, August 19th.

The American Cancer Society has established guidelines for a mammography in asymptomatic women. (Women who have no symptoms of disease). Those guidelines have been adopted by the American Academy of Family Physicians, American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and The American College of Radiology. Those guidelines are:

- 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.
- 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.
- 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.
- Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $50.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, VISA, MasterCard and American Express.

For more information or to make an appointment call 864-2621.

Computer seminar for farmers planned

Although financial planning has always been an important tool for farmers and ranchers, as conditions in agriculture have declined, financial planning has become increasingly emphasized by lenders, said Dr. Jackie G. Smith, agricultural economist with the extension service in Lubbock.

The extension service has developed the TAMWFARM (Texas A&M Whole Farm Analysis and Record Management) spreadsheet program which makes it possible for individuals to financially plan for their farm or ranch operation.

On Aug. 23-25, the extension service will hold a short course for producers, training them to do whole farm/ranch planning and financial management using the computer.

The course will begin at 1 p.m. Aug. 23 and end at 3 p.m. Aug. 25.

It will be taught by extension economists and will be held on the Texas State Technical Institute campus west of Sweetwater.

There will be a $125 charge for each participant. This will cover four meals, refreshments and educational materials. In order to insure hands-on computer use and a high staff/participant ratio, there is a limit on the number of participants.

Financial statements which can be used in annual production planning, loan applications and other management decisions can be compiled for a farm or ranch using systems such as TAMWFARM. "The spreadsheet makes it possible to run several different plans for comparison," said Smith.

TAMWFARM calculates cash flow, net worth, income statements and financial ratio analysis on a 12-month projected basis. The projected financial plan is constructed from crop and livestock budgets which can be changed to reflect each farm's situation.

More information can be obtained by contacting the county extension agent, or by calling Smith in Lubbock (806) 746-6101.

Nancy Casey gets award

Nancy Lynn Casey of Abilene, who received a bachelor of education degree from Hardin-Simmons University, has been named recipient of the Winnie K. and D. M. Wiggins Medal.

The award is presented to the senior student graduating during the summer sessions who has completed three or more years in residence and who has excelled in character, personal development and academic achievement.

She has been a member of Kappa Delta Pi, a national honor society in education, and Alpha Chi, the collegiate honor society.

She also was the 1988 recipient of the Irvin Award as the outstanding graduating student in elementary education and received Phi Delta Kappa's Outstanding Student Teacher award for 1987-88.

She majored in education and minored in biology.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Shewmake of Abilene and the granddaughter of Mrs. Lynn Toliver of Haskell.

Oil & Gas Assn. tourney Sept. 12

The annual fall barbecue and golf tournament of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association will be Sept. 12 at the Abilene Country Club.

The membership meeting will begin at 5 p.m. that day, followed by a social hour and dinner.

Prepare your child for first school day

Whether your child is a veteran of day care and pre-school or has never attended any school before, starting kindergarten is an experience that requires some preparation.

"Children sense the different expectations that come with kindergarten," said Dr. Sarah L. Anderson, a family life specialist. "Suddenly school isn't just for fun; it's serious business."

A child without older siblings will have only fuzzy mental images of what school will be like. If he does have older siblings, the child may think of school as a place where the 'big kids' go and where everyone already reads and writes.

Some children may have fearful, stress-inducing feelings about facing this unfamiliar world, according to the extension service home economist.

"It's important for parents and children to plan their parting experiences and share feelings about them," said Anderson.

She suggests parents and youngsters make several trips to the school, play on the playground and visit the classroom if possible.

"Reading children's books about the first day of school will also help a youngster get a more realistic picture of the school environment," said the specialist.

"But the most important thing about visits or reading books is that it gives you a vehicle for talking with your child and letting him know that it's OK to feel scared," she said.

According to the specialist, researchers have noted that separation experiences can affect children's behavior. Brief periods of agitation, tantrums, withdrawal or changes in eating and sleeping patterns may occur if the child is anxious during those first few days or weeks of school. Some kindergarteners may need a "gradual start," with a parent present in the classroom for decreasing periods of time until the child can stay on his or her own, Anderson said.

"Although a working parent may have to use vacation days, sick leave or personal leave to do it, taking off a half day or an hour as needed to help the child adjust can help him get off to a better start in school.

"After a couple of weeks, parents should also follow up with the teacher to check on how well their child is doing in the school environment. Many children love school from the first day and others will need some time, but eventually most all children adjust.

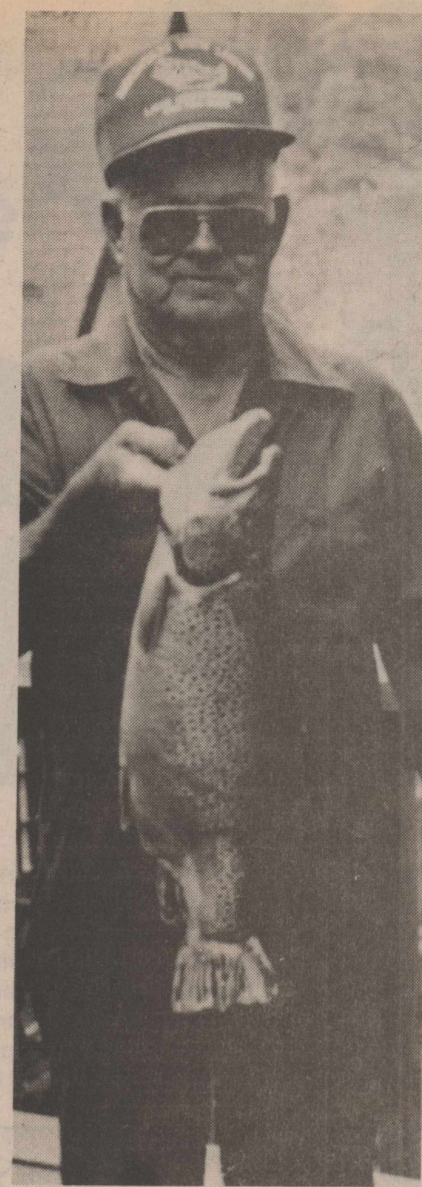

Soldier decorated with Army medal

Staff Sgt. Gavino Ortiz Jr. has been decorated with the Army Achievement Medal at Fort Hood.

The Achievement Medal is awarded to soldiers for meritorious service, acts of courage, or other accomplishments.

Ortiz is a multi-channel communications chief with the 142nd Signal Battalion.

A 1978 graduate of Rule High School, he is the son of Gavino and Tomasa Ortiz of Haskell.

J. I. Trussell of Haskell caught this 7 pound, 2 ounce trout July 29 at Fawn Lake in Red River, N.M. It was the biggest fish caught there that week. He won a cap trophy and a fillet knife. The fish was 21 1/2 inches long and 16 1/2 inches around.

We wish to take this opportunity to Thank You for all the lovely food, visits, flowers, prayers, and concern during the loss of our loved one,

Helen Simpson Price.

Your love and thoughts help ease us through a very difficult time.

God Bless each of you.

by Myrtle Plemister
The weather remains hot and dry, with temperatures in the high 90's and low 100's in our area. We have had some light rain showers-enough to encourage the insects and several farmers are planning to spray.

Congratulations to our birthday people for the next few days. They include: Cindee Davis, Gloria Castillo, Jeremy Harlan and Toby Yates. Happy Birthday, All.

We extend our congratulations to several people: to Ted and Faye Jetton who welcomed a new great-granddaughter, 7 lb 8 oz., Audrey Morgan, born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Wade Clark of Wichita Falls. The Jettons were in Wichita on Sunday to get acquainted with her.

Congratulations to Linda Yates Wade who received her masters degree in physical education from HSU on Friday night. Among those who attended the exercises included her husband and son, Ricky and Taylor Wade of Kermit; her parents, Toby and Alice Yates; her sister, Mary Murphy; her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yates with T.J.; and Mack Wade and Annette Ansel of Tuscola.

Glenn Wilson of San Antonio, former minister of the Weinert Church of Christ, received his Master of Divinity and a Master of Arts Degree from ACU on Friday night. He and Sherry sent loving greetings to all their friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Plemister were in attendance at the graduation exercise.

We congratulate Kenny Forehand and Kent Sanders for surviving these hot days of "Two-a-days" of football practice on the Munday Mogul field.

Also, Mitch Mayfield, who is on the Indian team in Haskell. We are proud of you.

Denise Carroll and Mollye Estrada are part of the Mogul band this year, and are working hard on the "two-a-days" band practice. Congratulations!

Pud Brockett was feted with a birthday party in their home last week. Those from out of town who came to sing "Happy Birthday" to him included Mark and Darla Coffman, with Drew and Jordan of Bridgeport; Ricky and Sherry Nance, with Shannon, Clint and Ricky, Jr. of Huntsville; Charles Ray and Maye Blackstock of Celeste, Texas; Dal and Tiny Adkins of Andrews; Jo Coffman of Goree, and Alma Smith and two children of Oklahoma.

Pud will undergo his cataract surgery in Abilene this week. Good luck!

Laverne Mayfield spent a pleasant birthday with a trip to Fredricksburg to browse with her husband, John, among the shops and markets there. They returned by way of DeSoto for a special party planned by her children, in the home of Alexia and DeWayne Rinener, with help of Adrienne Wynne, her granddaughter.

Condolences are due to the Stewart family at the passing of Ida Stewart Henderson of Eastland whose memorial services were held Sunday. She was interred in the Munday cemetery.

Ima Stewart remains the last of her generation to survive. We extend our sympathy.

Sympathy is extended to Bryan, Greg and Marcus Plemister at the death of their maternal grandfather, Oscar Bogard of Baird whose grave side rites were held on Saturday, August 13th, in Baird. Mr. Bogard was preceded in death by his wife, Opal Edith. They are former Haskell County residents.

Attending the rites from our area were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Plemister and Wayne Plemister of Avoca.

Capt. Keith Sanders with a friend, Elizabeth Kay of San Antonio spent the weekend with his family, Kenneth and Brenda Sanders, Kent and Kole. He was toasted with an ice-cream supper on Saturday night and attended worship services at the Baptist Church on Sunday.

Mike Harris of Muleshoe was also a guest in the Sanders home. Mike is a roommate of Gregg Sanders in NTSU in Denton and was on his way back to school.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmie Alexander of Cisco spent a few days with relatives in Weinert, especially with Ima Stewart, Rene Vojkufka, and Edward Alexander, his sisters and brother.

We welcomed D.I. and Mattie White home from a 10 day vacation trip to Red River, NM. They were accompanied by the Jim Hackney family of Ft. Worth and Kyle White. The men competed in the fishing tournament, but were beat out on the last day by a FEMALE fisherman!

Other vacationers home safely included W.R. and Joyce Hager who had a "memorable" trip to Wolf Creek, Colorado.

Doris Walker and Betty Raynes were in South Texas this weekend for a visit. They report harvest is nearing an end, and many of our residents will be moving northward soon. The weather has been nice so far.

Kim Stewart, with Paden, flew down to spend the remainder of the season with her husband, Mark.

We regret to report that Sallie Sanders suffered a heart attack on Saturday and is hospitalized in Stamford. She is improving, but will remain for several days. We pray for her a complete recovery.

Teachers and custodians are busily making last minute preparations for the beginning of school. In service will begin for teachers next week and school will start on Thursday, September 1st.

Bobby Pickering, and Johnnie Pickering of Weatherford were in town to attend the Stewart reunion last week and visited in the home of their step-mother Ima Stewart.

Raymon and Janie Boykin, with Shelly were in Weinert for a brief visit with his mother, Helen, before going on to San Angelo for Janie's family reunion.

Woody and Georgia Turnbow, with Greg were in Weatherford this week for a visit with their daughter, Twyla and Tommy Sorrells, Luke and Levi, grandsons.

Eddie and Mynnie Sanders are in Waco this week where they will be with a brother-in-law, Luke Holloway, who underwent surgery on Monday for a broken leg he suffered in a fall.

A recent "Graffiti" quote gives us a thought for the day---"The most useless thing in the world is SILENT gratitude."

Have a good day!

Around town

Elvin Platt of Superior, Neb., is here to stay with his daughter, Emma McKinny and her son, Randy, while Kenneth is in the hospital in Dallas. The doctor says Kenneth won't be able to walk for about eight weeks.

The Schaake Reunion was held August 6 in the Sagerton Community Center with 37 guests present. J.B. Toney was elected President and Dorothy Toney was elected Secretary-Treasurer for next year's reunion. Games and visitation were enjoyed by all. Guests came from Jackson, Mississippi, Georgetown, Arlington, Abilene, Rochester, Stamford, Haskell, Rule, and Sagerton.

Mrs. Lottie Bell Parks visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Quade over the weekend also their son Larry and neighbor Mrs. Mary Neinast.

Mrs. Judy Thompson of Calleyville is visiting in the home of her mother Mrs. John L. Brooks.

The Friendship Club met last Thursday in the fellowship Hall of Faith Lutheran with a nice group being there. Those who attended were Larry LeFevre, Delbert and Joyce LeFevre, Buster and Norma Tredemeyer, Mrs. M.Y. Benton, Hollie Smith, Doris Lehrmann, Mrs. Louise Stegemoeller, Mrs. Azalea Young, Mrs. Carrie Bredthauer, Rosie Scifres, Jeffery and Brian of Anson, Shannon and Cheryl Bishop of Stamford, Anton and Evelyn Teichelman, Reece and Francis Clark, Charles Clark, Alvin Ulmer, Mary Neinast, Isabell Mrazek, Minnie Monse, Jennifer and Marcia Swoyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Newman of Fayetteville, Ark. are the parents of an 8 lb baby girl, Annaleah Jean born August 11. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tabor and great grandmother Mrs. John L. Brooks. The Newmans also have a 5 year old son, Aaron Landiss, a namesake of his great-grandmother.

The monthly Bredthauer family get together met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bredthauer Sunday afternoon. Those who were there were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bredthauer of Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bredthauer of Stamford, Mrs. Adela Niedieck of Sagerton. The afternoon was spent in playing 84.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Monse and DeWayne over the weekend were Danny, Diane, Eric and Mitzi Barbee of Sundown and Sheralyn Mullins and her fiancé, Evan Cox of San Angelo. Sheralyn is the daughter of George Mullins of Big Lake and the late Jeanette (Helm) Mullins. Sheralyn and Evan will be married, October 8, in San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bredthauer attended the wedding of Clifford Stegemoeller and Kathy Serec Houghton which was at the Zion Lutheran Church in Abilene, Saturday afternoon. They had a dance and bar-b-que supper at the Old Glory Lodge.

The Faith Circle met Tuesday at 2:30 with Mrs. Steve Lehrmann having the topic. Those who attended were Mrs. Betty Balzer, Mrs. Louise Stegemoeller, Mrs. Alvin Bredthauer, Mrs. Buster Tredemeyer, Mrs. Steve Lehrmann, Mrs. Mary Neinast.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark went to Dallas one day last week for Charles to see his doctor there.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent LeFevre, Mr. and Mrs. Larry LeFevre, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Brown and children visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert LeFevre over the weekend.

Dustin McEwen is spending some time with his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Neinast.

Mrs. Mary Neinast, Dustin McEwen visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dick, Mrs. Sylvia Crowe and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Neinast of Spring Lake.

Remember- Safety First Around Electricity!

Enjoy a safe summer while working in your yard by following these safety tips.

- Use only properly grounded electrical equipment and replace all worn and damaged cords.
- Never use electric tools in rain or on any wet surface.
- Keep electric cords clear of your working area.
- Keep ladders or long-handled tools clear of power lines. Even wooden ladders can conduct electricity.
- Be careful when digging. Call your Local WTU Office to locate underground power lines in your area.
