Four file for City Council

With one day remaining before the filing deadline, four candidates had filed Tuesday evening for seats on the City Council.

Events

Incumbents Jerry Stocks and Darrell Smith filed for re-election. Others who filed were Albert Roberts and Johnny Campbell.

Three seats on the council will be filled in the city election in May. Robert Kramp, the third councilman whose term is expiring, had not filed for re-election as of Tuesday.

Five considered for superintendent

The Haskell School Board expects to complete the first round of interviews tonight (Thursday) with five applicants for the position of superintendent.

Board members will meet again Tuesday to discuss their thinking on the five finalists.

The five were selected from a field of 41 applicants for the position vacated when Dr. James Kemp resigned in December. Acting Supt. Bill Baker said "two or three" other applications came in after deadline and were not considered.

Three file for School Board

Two incumbents and one other had filed as candidates for the two school board positions to be decided in the May election, as of late afternoon

Incumbents Mike Guess and Pat Henry had filed for re-election. Bob Aycock also had filed.

Deadline for filing was to be at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Lutherans plan Easter services

Trinity Lutheran Church will celebrate Easter as the most important Christian holiday.

The Rev. Vic Andersen, pastor, said the final service for Lent (the time of preparation) will be Maunday Thursday (March 23) at 7 p.m. The Last Supper will be remembered and the abundant life God wants for all will be emphasized.

Easter services, the high point of the church year, will be at the regular service times---9 a.m. for worship and 10 a.m. for Sunday school. "The resurrection of Christ, and the new life won for us, will be celebrated," the pastor said.

Social Security

The second-quarter schedule of the Social Security representative's visit to Haskell has been announced by the Abilene office.

The representative will be at the City Hall annex at 9:30 a.m. on the following dates:

April 13, 27; May 11 and 25; and June 8 and 22.

Easter Egg Bargain Hunt now underway

Haskell and area customers are taking advantage of many bargains from local merchants by participating in the citywide Easter Egg Bargain

The promotion, which continues through Saturday, is sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association.

Giant, pastel Easter egg facsimiles on which are listed featured sale merchandise, have been posted on the windows of participating firms. While most of the signs can be read by passing motorists, merchants urge shoppers to get out of their cars for a closer look at the beautiful Easter windows and the items on display.

Haskell considers prison effort role

Representatives from Haskell, next four years. Stamford, Anson and Hamlin met in Haskell Wednesday night of last week to discuss a possible joint effort to land a state prison in this area.

Civic leaders from the four cities expressed the belief that a proposal from the combined forces of their communities would carry more weight with state officials who make the decisions on prison sites.

Anson made an all-out bid for a state prison in 1987

The area group will have plenty of competition if it decides to bid on a state prison. The Texas Department of Corrections has received inquiries from 124 communities about the latest prisons the agency hopes to build, said Bill Barry, director of management services for the agency. Barry said TDC has requested that more than 10,000 new prison beds be added to the prison system over the

This would require:

-- Three maximum security prisons with 2,250 beds each.

-- Three minimum to medium security prisons with 1,000 beds

-- Two psychiatric prisons with 500 beds each.

-- One 59-bed geriatric unit.

However, the legislature has not approved these requests and Barry said he didn't expect that specifications for the prisons would be available until May or later.

The prisons are attractive economic opportunities for small towns. A 2,250-unit prison would provide a $1.4 million monthly payroll and a 1,000-unit facility would result in a monthly payroll of about $500,000, Barry said.

The Haskell city administrator has planted 950 grape vines on a one-acre plot of ground near South 1st and Avenue H East. It's turned into quite a vineyard---with a drip irrigation system and other necessities.

Meet a woman who is a football wife, not a football widow. Meet a woman who can't wait for football season to begin each year, but can have a lot of fun between seasons attending all sorts of other athletic events. Meet Mesa's Land Coordinator Betty Norwood.

As land coordinator, Betty maintains the status for every proposal that comes through Mesa's Land Department, whether it's an offer to sell, buy or develop land. She began at Mesa as a secretary in the Communications Department five years ago last August. Betty was promoted to executive secretary to the president and then to land coordinator.

As the wife of River Road High School head football coach and athletic director Lyndel Norwood, Betty is a permanent fan at many athletic events in and around the Panhandle.

"Most every evening of the year we're out watching a high school athletic event," she says. "I enjoy it. Any team can win a game on a given night.

In that time, there's one football game that stands out in Betty's memory. It was in the fall of 1982, she says, and it was a game against Dalhart for the district championship. River Road led 8-7, but Dalhart was driving for the go-ahead TD. With about a minute left and Dalhart knocking on the goal line, River Road's defense stood its ground and took over on downs.

'That was the first time we ever beat Dalhart in football, and it was a major victory for us," Betty said. "But I was feeling very confident going into the game. The kids were determined enough to win. We had a group of exceptional athletes that Price support loans on 1988 wheat, oats, rye and barley will be available until March 31, says Glenn Brzozowski, executive director of the Haskell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Loans on corn, sorghum, cotton and soybeans will be available until May 31.

County loan rates per bushel are: wheat, $2.20; oats, .99; barley, $1.54; corn, $2.12; rye, $1.57; sorghum, $3.10; and soybeans, $4.57. Regular loans have a ninemonth maturity date with variable monthly interest rates.

wheat, feed grains and soybean loans are not eligible for the farmer-owned grain reserve.

To be eligible for price support loans and other farm program benefits producers are required to participate in acreage reduction programs.

Applications for the 1989 programs may be filed through April 14, according to Brzozowski.

"Many farmers use our commodity loan program to obtain interim operating capital or hold their grain for future delivery," Brzozowski said.

Farmers interested in obtaining price support loans on their 1988 crops should contact the local ASCS office before March 31.

Possum Kingdom Relays, always one of the top track meets of the season. They tuned up for the big event by competing in the Bulldog Relays in Wylie last Saturday. Coach Walter Hargrove's Indians competed against the big boys, voluntarily moving themselves up to Division III to run against 3-A schools. As a team, they came in third, behind Wylie and Merkel, and ahead of Comanche and Clyde.

Dusty Meeks got the Indians' only first place, that coming in the high jump where the recent basketball convert got in a 6-4 jump.

Three other Indians got second places: Roger Roewe in the discus (136-0), Josh Reid in the 300-meter hurdles (42.03) and Derrick Billington in the 200-meter dash (23.44).

Three individuals and the sprint and mile relay teams took third places. Billington was third in the 100-meter dash (11.68), Jonathon Dever was third in the 400-meter run (54.02) and Joe Ray Comacho took a third in the 800-meter run (2:07.02).

Also taking third places were the 400- and 1600-meter relay teams. The sprint relay of Rodney Johnson, Dever and Johnie and Derrick Billington posted a 44.81 time. The mile relay of Reid, Johnson and the Billington boys was clocked at

For the Maidens, Joy McKeever captured first place in the 100-meter hurdles with a 16.11 clocking.

But Coach George Martin's Maidens lost 20 team points when the mile relay team was disqualified for bumping after winning first place with a time of 4:16.24.

The Maidens' 800-meter relay team of McKeever, Sheila and Teresa Unger and Regina Dever came in third (1:50.99).

McKeever took a fourth in the triple jump (35-1 1/2) and tied for fourth in the high jump (4-10).

Gloria Castillo was sixth in both the 800- and 3200-meter runs.

Tax break proposed to aid oil industry

AUSTIN-On the heels of the Railroad Commission's warning that Texas drilling is at its lowest since World War II, a bipartisan group proposes tax breaks to boost oil and gas production.

The bill offers a lifetime severance tax exemption for new field discovery wells completed before Sept. 1, 1991.

Though the tax break is offered at a time when the lawmakers are scraping the barrel for revenues, some officials think lost tax dollars will be exceeded by taxes from "offset" wells drilled in the discovered fields.

The chief sponsors are Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance, a Republican, Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, and Rep. Bob Hunter, R-Abilene.

Hance, paying tribute to Texas wildcatters, said the bill would encourage them to do what they "do better than anyone in history, find new oil and gas."

Offset wells are those which follow the initial discovery well in a new field.

Reserve Funds Sought

When Comptroller Bob Bullock drew the spending line for lawmakers, he set aside $1.5 billion for pending tax lawsuits.

Now, the governor and lawmakers are urging him to free some of it to avoid new taxes.

Variously, they argue that the state is positioned to win the lawsuits, that some lawsuits may linger for years, and that some have already been cleared up.

Bullock wants to hear first from Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox about the cases pending in the budget period.

Bullock, when all is said and done, probably does more to contain state spending than any other official.

Anti-Crime, AIDS Tests

Senators heard panel debate on a bill to make it attempted murder for AIDS victims to knowingly expose others to the disease.

Other proposals would allow authorities to order AIDS testing for convicted prostitutes and drug offenders and those arrested for assault.

Police groups support the measures, but gay activist Glenn Maxey said the bill makes AIDS victims "scapegoats", a remark which infuriated Sen. Ted Lyon, a former policeman.

Hobby Rips Law School

Tight money is probably the reason why Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby scuttled plans for a new law school at Texas A&I University to serve predominantly Hispanic South Texas.

"It's ludicrous at a time when we are strapped for money," he said, noting that South Texas colleges already are doing very well this season.

The sponsor, Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, said he will continue pushing it, but some considered it a slap on the greedy wrist for Truan, who wants $1.5 million for the school.

Truan was instrumental in bringing several South Texas colleges under the funding umbrella of the UT and A&M systems, as referenced by Hobby.

Other Highlights

• Land Commissioner Garry Mauro urged eastern and western state land managers to unite for protection of environmentally sensitive areas.

Mauro also said he will announce in June as a candidate for attorney general.

• Port Arthur Sen. Carl Parker is known both as the "Clown Prince" for his comic relief and as a pretty salty infighter, but his jokes aren't always understood. Two examples he tells:

At a hearing on his bill to test prostitutes and drug offenders for AIDS, a witness asked what they'd do with those who tested positive. Parker, deadpan, replied, "Kill them", which she didn't accept too

In another instance, he was lampooning the governor's nonew-taxes pledge by suggesting they match it with a no-newstudents plan for public schools.

Elaborating, he said Texas could fire teachers as the classes graduated, and pretty soon, the illegal alien influx would stall because we would have our own uneducated labor force.

A woman getting off the elevator, misunderstanding his context, parted with "You're the meanest man I ever saw."

When the 70th Legislature passed Sunset legislation in 1987 reauthorizing the Texas Department of Human Services, it also approved a provision in the 86-page bill permitting the agency to recover medical assistance payments from the property and estates of deceased nursing home residents and other Medicaid recipients.

It was an idea that was unfair from the beginning and this session I cosponsored legislation to change it.

Significant problems with the "medical assistance lien" law began emerging in January 1988 when the department published proposed rules for implementation.

Questions were then quickly raised about the law's intent. Reports began surfacing that senior citizens were refusing nursing home care for the sole fear they could lose their homes. As a result of these concerns, implementation of the law was delayed until the 71st Legislature had an opportunity to take corrective

Although the Senate voted to ban children from riding in the back of pickup trucks, rural lawmakers were able to convince their urban colleagues that frequently the practice is a necessity in many parts of Texas. Anybody who has lived in the country for any length of time knows that to completely outlaw riding in the back of pickups is both impractical and unenforceable.

It seems ridiculous to think that a hay ride or a trip to the swimming hole would be illegal.

And it's difficult to imagine our local police officers being forced to stop the homecoming parade to fine Little Leaguers for riding on a parade Those are some of the reasons an amendment was added to the Senate measure that would allow young people to ride in pickup beds when the truck is traveling 15 mph or less.

The bill, which I supported with the addition, was sponsored by Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur.

It cleared the Senate on a voice vote. Now it's headed to the House where a similar measure died two

In the beginning, people wore hats mainly to protect their heads from the rain, snow, sun, bugs and other elements. Later, hats began to denote fashion . . . and importance.

And until the recent comeback, if indeed there is a comeback, most hats served to identify the wearer. Graduating collegians, private eyes, entertainers, magicians, baseball, football and polo players, cowboys, vacationers and sailors all have their own special kinds of hats.

Cholesterol and triglycerides

(6th in a series)

How do cholesterol and triglycerides figure in atherosclerosis? Cholesterol is a soft, fat-like substance found in all cells of the body. It's used to form cell membranes, certain hormones and other necessary substances.

People obtain cholesterol in two ways. It's manufactured in the body, primarily in the liver, for one. Another is that it's obtained from the diet. Foods from animals, especially egg yolks, meat, fish, poultry and whole dairy products, contain it.

Cholesterol is also found in the bloodstream. That's how it's transported to and from various parts of the body. High levels of cholesterol in the blood is called typecholesterolemia hyperlipidemia. (Lipoid is a collective term for all fats.

Cholesterol and other fats can't dissolve in the blood and must be transported by special carriers called lipoproteins. Researchers have identified five major families of lipoproteins. They are 1) chylomicrons, 2) very low, 3) low, 4) intermediate, and 5) high density lipoproteins. High concentrations of certain types of lipoproteins in the blood increase a person's chances of development atherosclerosis at an early age. The formation and movement of lipoproteins in the body is a rather complicated process. It begins when the cholesterol and fats a person eats go to the intestine to be digested and absorbed. Chylomicrons are produced in the intestinal wall; they mainly contain triglycerides (the chemical form in which most fat exists) but also cholesterol absorbed along with the other fat. After the chylomicrons enter the bloodstream, they come into contact with binding sites on the inner walls of the capillaries.

Many of the triglycerides are broken down and leave the chylomicron, cross the blood vessel wall and pass into the (primarily adipose and muscle) tissues where they're stored or broken down to produce energy.

The remainder of the chylomicron (the chylomicron remnant) leaves its binding site on the blood vessel well and continues in circulation. Now containing most cholesterol, it goes to the liver where it's absorbed.

The liver produces very low density lipoprotein (VLDL). VLDL carries triglycerides manufactured in the liver from excess calorie foods (e.g., fatty acids, sugars and alcohol) and some cholesterol. VLDLs are released into the bloodstream and, like chylomicrns, are transported to tissue capillaries where the triglycerides are broken down. What remains is the VLDL remnant.

The VLDL remnant is called intermediate-density lipoprotein (IDL). Some IDL is removed from circulation by the liver; the rest is transformed into low density lipoprotein (LDL).

LDL is the major cholesterol carrier in the blood. Some LDL cholesterol goes back to the liver, but the rest circualates in the bloodstream. Some of it in the blood can be taken back into tissues to form cell membranes, etc. High levels of LDL in the blood seem to promote the deposit of cholesterol on artery walls, which is why LDL cholesterol is often referred to as "bad cholesterol"

Another type of lipoprotein is called high density lipopretein (HDL). HDL is produced primarily in the liver and released into the bloodstream. It's thought to carry cholesterol away from the cells and transport it back to the liver where it's excreted. Research has shown that high levels of HDL are associated with a decreased risk of heart disease, so HDL is often referred to as "good cholesterol.

Measurements of the amount of HDL and LDL in the blood are taken to evaluate the risk of atherosclerosis; blood triglycerides are also measured. An elevated level of triglycerides in the blood is often accompanied by an increase in total cholesterol and LDL cholesterol and a decrease in HDL cholesterol. Several clinical studies have shown that an unusually large number of people with coronary heart disease also have hypertriglyceridemia (high levels of triglycerides in the blood). However, some people with hypertriglyceridemia seem remarkably free from atherosclerosis. Thus elevated triglycerides may not directly cause atheroscleroris but may accompany other abnormalities that speed its development.

Officer classes scheduled

Western Texas College in Snyder will begin accepting applications for its third correctional officer training class on March 27

Application forms are available at the WTC adult education office, located in the Resource Center.

Completed applications must be returned to the college by April 7. The class will begin May 4 and end June 29. Texas Department of Corrections personnel will be at WTC to administer tests for applicants on April 25.

Tuition and fees for the 120-hour course are $200, with payment due in full at registration on May 3. Funds are available through the Texas Employment Commission for eligible applicants.

Men and women who successfully complete the correctional officer training course are eligible for employment by the Texas Department of Corrections. Applicants must be at least 18 years old and citizens of the U.S. or aliens authorized to work in the U.S. They must hold a high school diploma or GED, pass the TDC's preemployment test and meet weight standards.

Give your lawn a good head start

This is the time of the year to give lawns a little "tender loving care" so that they will green up fast once spring gets into full swing.

'Lawns need to be rejuvenated in late winter to give them a head start in greening up," said Dr. Richard Duble, a turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He said that scalping, fertilizing and applying a weed killer are important steps in getting a lawn off to a good

"Scalping is a key first step in revitalizing a lawn and promoting early spring green-up," said Duble. "Lower your lawnmower blade onehalf to one inch below the normal setting. Then mow your lawn in two directions at right angles to each other. Remove the clippings after each mowing and use them for a compost or as a mulch for garden and landscape plants."

The specialist said that it's best to keep the lawn mower blade at the lower setting until late spring. Raising the blade at that time will help lawns to better survive hot, dry summer conditions.

"After scalping, add a complete fertilizer to promote leaf and root growth," Duble said. "A complete fertilizer is one that contains nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, as indicated on the label, with nitrogen being the first number.

"Apply about one and a half pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn area. That's about 18 pounds of an 8-8-8 fertilizer (18x8 percent) or 12 pounds of a 12-12-12 fertilizer (12x12 percent). Repeat the application in the fall.'

For a dark green lawn, apply nitrogen every 50 days at about one pound per 1,000 square feet said the specialist. Monthly applications of iron chelate or iron sulfate during the spring and summer also contribute to a healthy color in St. Augustine grass

To keep crabgrass and other weeds from becoming a problem in lawns, apply a pre-emergence herbicide (weed killer) in early spring, said Duble.

"Combinations of herbicides and fertilizers are available and convenient to use but, as with all chemicals. they should be used only according to label directions," Duble said. "Be especially cautious when using herbicides around trees, shurbs and other landscape plants.

"Once these early season maintenance practices have been done, watch your lawn develop into a nice green carpet and enjoy it to the fullest," Duble said.

Few insects noted in area wheat fields

By Steve Davis

Extension Agent/Entomologist
Wheat fields checked the week of March 13 have shown very few insect problems. Weather related yellowing and tip-burning of leaves is quite prominent. Wheat and other grains have had a very stressful season with limited moisture and the dry cold experienced in February.

Fertility problems are showing in some fields with a distinct color difference in parts of the field. A $6 soil sample or tissue sample could provide useful information in preparation for a good grain yield.

Moisture levels are excellent in fields probed down to 24 inches. With current moisture and warm days, wheat should take off in a hurry.

The cotton outlook is better with rain and snow accumulations. Chemical applications are underway in most areas.

The boll weevil outlook is questionable at this point with weevils being found in trash samples. Enough samples have not been processed to date to give accurate indications. Hopefully, they will all emerge during these warm days and starve out. Phermone traps have been placed in Fisher County and will soon be out over the entire five-county area. We are currently trapping weevils in small numbers in Fisher

from Olney Savings

You're probably fed up with bad economic news about Texas and our financial institutions, so how about a little good news for a change.

Under the Southwest Plan, several savings institutions have been combined to form single institutions with assets in the billions of dollars. Olney Savings is one of those vital organizations with assets of over 4.5 billion dollars. Olney is owned and operated by Texans, successful Texans, with a desire to see Texas and its people succeed.

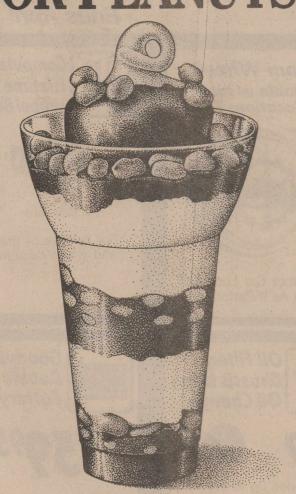

It was important to fix those problems created by a puny economy, and now that it's done, it's time for everybody to get back to business. This is why we are writing this letter — because we appreciate your business and pledge to provide the products and services you need to make your lives simpler and more secure.

We are paying extremely competitive rates on your deposits, and we're making loans. Try doing business with Olney Savings. We'll make it worth your while.

The answer to this question and others about personal financial management will be learned during a special education seminar in Haskell next Thursday (March 30).

The seminar, sponsored by the Haskell County office of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room at First National Bank in Haskell. It is free of charge and is open to everyone.

Speaker for the program will be Anita Payne, head teller with Olney Savings Association. Mrs. Payne has had many years of experience in financial management, both professionally and personally. Pushmobile Derby is a race using cars built by the Cub Scouts and their parents. These cars are raced on a course approximately 400 feet long that is marked off in four equal sections of 100 feet.

Two Cubs start, one is pusher and the other is driver. At the first changeover point, the two switch positions. This is done twice more to the turn-around point. James Griggs has been recognized for his academic achievements at Texas Tech University.

The senior psychology major has earned a 4.0 grade point average for the past two consecutive semesters.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Griggs of Aspermont and the son-inlaw of Helen and Wallace Allison of Rule. His wife is the former Brenda Allison of Rule.

Dudley Faver, executive director of the Texas Tech Dads and Moms Association, praised Griggs on his accomplishment. "Earning a 4.0 grade point average for two consecutive semesters in a university with the academic standards maintained by Texas Tech is a most commendable accomplishment," said Faver. "In fulfilling this high level of academic performance, he has added immeasurably to the academic impact on the Texas Tech campus. His motivation of both faculty and students is a significant contribution to the univrsity's academic program."

Griggs earned his 4.0 GPA while working full time as a drug/alcohol counselor for Lamb Healthcare Chemical Dependency Unit. He recently was promoted to assistant program manager after passing his state certification as a drug and alcohol counselor.

Haskell native promoted

Sue Hagadone has been promoted to administrative assistant to Troy H. LaGrone, president of Ben E. Keith Beers in Dallas. She is a native of Haskell and the daughter of Mrs. H. E. Wilkinson.

She joined Keith in 1979 as an executive secretary following graduation from Texas Christian University. The mother of 5-year-old Paige, Mrs. Hagadone is active in the Junior Woman's Club, Shakespeare in the Park Auxiliary, and St. Stephen's Presbyterian Church.

"Ben E. Keith Beers is known for its commitment to quality and service," LaGrone explained in making the announcment of Mrs. Hagadone's promotion. "We appreciate our retailiers' business and have re-aligned our marketing efforts to better serve our customers. Sue will play an important role in helping us keep that commitment."

The Anheuser-Busch distributor in North Texas, Ben E. Keith Beers serves 38 counties from branches in Abilene, Brownwood, Commerce, Dallas, Denton, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Palestine and Terrell.

Rochester revival next week

The First Baptist Church of Rochester will begin its spring revival Sunday. It will continue through Friday, March 31.

Sunday services will be at the usual time: Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., worship at 11 a.m., church training at 6 p.m. and evening worship at 7 p.m. Week-day services during the revival will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The Rev. Bob Clements of Austin will be guest preacher. He has pastored churches for 31 years, and for the past seven years has been in fulltime evangelism. He serves on the Executive Board of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. He will be conducting revivals in Korea during May and June.

Clements and his wife, Fay, have four sons and a daughter. Each son is in the ministry and the daughter is married to a Baptist preacher.

Guest song leader for the revival will be Toby Clements, son of the evangelist who is also pastor of the Sweethome Baptist Church in Rule. He is a graduate of Howard Payne University in Brownwood and is well known for his singing voice.

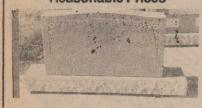

Church members extend a welcome to all to attend the revival service.

---Weinert--

by Myrtle Phemister

We want to start our report with an apology to the Haskell Scouts and their leaders. In an item in last week's edition, we seemed to take all the credit for the victory at the annual pushmobile race held at Abilene. The item was meant to be included in the Weinert News, therefore the names of the Haskell Scouts were excluded.

We do not have enough boys to make a Pack or a Troop, and we appreciate Haskell acting as a "Big Brother" to us, and allowing our boys the opportunity to participate in that worthy organization, Boy Scouts of America. We truly apologize for any hurt feelings because of the new item.

Weinert has started a program they call a Community service fund and the recent Pee Wee basketball tournament was the first fund raising event

The fund will be used to help residents in extreme financial emergencies, and will be available for immediate relief instead of the usual method of asking for donations.

A recent example was a family having their gas cut off during an ice storm, because of their being unable to pay their bill. Roy and Rex Herricks were kind enough to take over the responsibility of seeing that that family received help.

Memorial gifts and donations are appreciated and we appreciate all those who have already helped.

Pearl requested cremation. Her memorial service was held at the Episcopal Church in Tarpon Springs, Florida, near where she lived the last years of her life, with her daughter, Alpha Mary and John Stark. Her other daughter, Winnie Julia lived elsewhere.

Pearl lived in Weinert many years and was a "serving" part of our town as long as she made her home here. We remember her, and her family, fondly. We are sad at her passing.

Her favorite charity was the Public Library in Tarpon Springs, where she donated to large print books, and memorials in her memory can be sent to 1264 Holiday Drive, Tarpon Springs, FL. 33589, which is her daughter's address.

Sympathy is also extended to Betty Moeller at the passing of her father, George Davis, of Rochester and to all of his other relatives. His memorial services were conducted at the Rochester Church of Christ on Wednesday. Don Newhouse, Mrs. Davis' nephew officiated.

Offutt gets award from phone company

Curtis Wayne Offutt Jr. a 23-year employee of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was awarded the company's prestigious Nova award at a luncheon given in his honor March 10 at the Sheraton Hotel in Wichita

The Nova award is given to only a selected few employees of Southwestern Bell as recognition of exceptional accomplishments requiring extraordinary effort which result in identifiable and significant contributions to the company.

Offutt's contribution was a cost savings and problem solving idea in an entirely new technology which allowed the company to meet its equal access obligations in a much more cost effective manner than was available before implementation of his idea. Offutt consulted with switching office managers and employees throughout Texas and Kansas on the application of the new process.

He will be honored later in the month at a meeting in Houston by Texas division president of Southwestern Bell, Paul Roth.
