Mrs. Cobb gets award from Block

Evelyn Cobb, owner of the H&R Block franchise in Haskell, was awarded the "Outstanding Franchise Office" plaque March 16 at the annual regional appreciation banquet for employees and franchisees held at the Kivi Inn in Abilene.

The Abilene region, managed by Gary Jay, district director, is composed of offices in Anson, Breckenridge, Brownwood, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Ranger, Stamford, Sweetwater and Haskell.

The award is based on a point system. One area the Haskell office rated highest in was in the percentage of returning customers. Mrs. Cobb expressed her appreciation for all of her repeat clients, as well as the new ones.

Ken and Nelda Lane of KVRP were special guests of Block at the banquet. Also attending from Haskell were Leona Hanson, tax preparer, and her husband, Bobby, as well as Mrs. Cobb's husband, Virgil.

The service is free and available to anyone.

The extension office is located at 101 S. Ave. D in Haskell. For more information, contact Lou Gilly, county extension agent-home economics at 864-2546.

Dusty Meeks chosen for all-star game

Haskell's Dusty Meeks added another honor this week when he was selected to play in the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches' all-star basketball game.

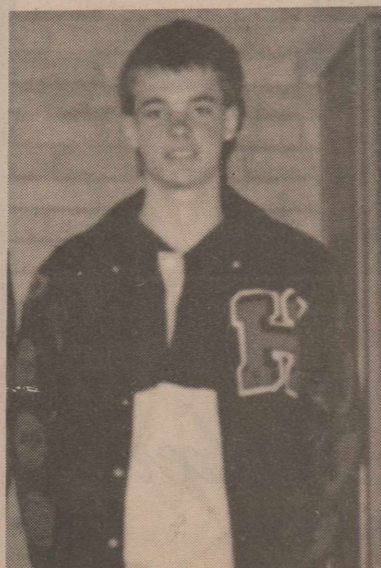

The game will be played April 21 at the University of Texas at San Antonio.

Only two players from each classification (Class 1A to 5A) are selected for each all-star team, and then two at-large selections are made to complete a 12-man roster.

Meeks will be a member of the North team.

Earlier, he had been named to the all-state second team, to the all-regional first team and the all-area team. He was voted district 7-2A's most valuable player.

He was the leading scorer on the Haskell team this past season which won the district, bi-district and area championships. He averaged 20.5 points and 9.9 rebounds per game.

Among the photos Kim Todd took when he visited the Field Museum was this one of museum visitors, Pam Mathis and daughters, Tenille and Trac.

Museum visitor

A free lance photographer who recently visited the Field Museum in Haskell has notified Peggy Vaughter, director, that the State of Texas has purchased some of the photographs he took here.

Kim Todd of Fort Worth sent prints of two of the photos.

One of them was a closeup view of the swan glassware exhibit. These were purchased by Mrs. Field during a visit to Venice.

Since the state purchased the photographs, it is presumed that some use will be made of them in some forthcoming state publication.

The swan glassware at the Field Museum in Haskell was one of the photographs taken by Kim Todd and sold to the State of Texas.

City, school ballots are set

Six men, including two incumbents, are candidates for three seats on the City Council which will be decided in the May 6 city election.

Three candidates, including both incumbents, are seeking two School Board positions which will be decided in the school election on the same day.

The filing period for each election closed last Wednesday.

Candidates for the City Council are Jerry Stocks and Darrell Smith, both incumbents, and Johnny Campbell, Tony Burson, Kip Nemir and Bill Trammell.

A seventh candidate, Albert

Roberts, who had filed last week, withdrew as a candidate.

The third council member whose term is expiring this year, Robert Kramp, did not file for re-election.

Holdover council members are Larry McMillin, Claude Payne and Mayor Greg Melton.

Incumbents Mike Guess and Pat Henry both filed for re-election to the School Board. The third candidate is Bob Aycok. Two will be elected.

Holdover School Board members are Roger Moeller, Hollis Calloway, Anita Perry, Bill Perry and Terry Blanks.

Cutbacks revealed by GTE

GTE Southwest employees were told Monday that layoffs, investment reductions and other measures will be necessary parts of the company's response to the recent Public Utility Commission of Texas ruling in the company's rate filing.

President E. L. "Buddy" Langley said the commission's order requiring GTE Southwest to reduce rates by $59 million will force the company to eliminate jobs now held by almost 600 Texas employees, release more than 100 contractors who are currently working for GTE and defer filling approximately 400 existing vacancies, making a total of 1,100 jobs eliminated.

In addition, GTE Southwest will be reducing its capital investment budget by more than $100 million and deferring or eliminating further modernization of telephone switching centers and networks in Texas which were already scheduled to be done in 1989. The company will abandon plans for a new $40 million facility in Irving, reduce $5 million of the vehicle orders and there will also be $2 to $3 million of additional reduced or deferred expenses such as training, building repairs and other items.

In the interim, Langley said the company has filed for rehearing with the PUC, which is now scheduled for April 5 in Austin, and will pursue all legal avenues to modify the commission's final order and its "devastating impact" on GTE Southwest's operations.

"If we are not successful in the rehearing process, we will appeal the commission's action. We are optimistic that our legal position will be ultimately upheld," Langley said.

"But because of the time required in the appeals process and our potential financial exposure, we must take immediate action to reduce expenses." These actions however, only take into consideration the $59 million reduction and are steps necessary to keep the company financially sound. If GTESW was required to implement the retroactive portion of the commission's order, and reduce an additional $138 million, "the company would be in a very, very serious financial position," Langley said.

The GTESW president said employee reductions will be widespread and touch virtually every area where employees are located. Not exempt from the cutback will be the 11 employees in Haskell management area, comprised of Haskell, Rule, Aspermont, Rochester, Knox City, Munday, Gorec and Weinert.

Soldier earns silver wings

Timothy C. Molsant has received the silver wings of an Army aviator and been appointed a warrant officer upon completion of the rotary wing aviator course at the U.S. Army Aviation School in Fort Rucker, Ala.

The course provided training in leadership and helicopter flying techniques.

Molsant is the son of Janice M. Hudgins of Haskell and is a 1984 graduate of Andrews High School.

Haskell to host district meeting of homemakers

Rolling Plains Extension Homemakers will meet for their annual district meeting in Haskell on Wednesday, April 12.

Delegates from 18 counties in the Rolling Plains area will meet in the Haskell Memorial Civic Center, beginning at 10 a.m., according to Elaine Houston, district extension director for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Rolling Plains-3 district.

The program will include Billie McCraw, former president of the Texas Extension Homemakers Association of Raymondville, and Pat Bandleman, current vice president of the Texas Extension Homemakers Association.

Special presentations on development leadership skills will be presented by Keitha Stephenson, Family Community Leadership (FCL) volunteer from Parker County; LaKenna Simpson, King County extension agent; and Anne Rodgers, FCL volunteer from Paducah.

The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Kila Lackey, district 3 TEHA director from Avoca.

Approximately 200 members of the Extension Homemaker clubs in the Rolling Plains district are expected to attend.

Purposes of organized Extension Homemaker clubs are to improve family living, develop leadership skills and to improve human rights.

Texas Extension Homemaker Association is a part of the National Extension Homemakers Association, County Women's Council and the Associated Country Women of the World. They are the largest organization of women in the world.

Extension Homemaker clubs are sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, an arm of the Texas A&M University system.

Red Cross to have health screening

The Taylor County chapter of the American Red Cross will offer blood pressure and cholesterol screening at The Drug Store in Haskell from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. next Tuesday (April 4).

A $5 donation is requested to cover the cost of the machine, supplies and equipment. Volunteer medical professionals will provide the screenings.

The Red Cross points out that heart disease is costing millions of dollar annually, heart attack will affect 1.5 million American and 550,000 of them will die. High blood pressure and high cholesterol are two of the main risk factors that can be controlled if detected early.

Through state-of-the-art technology, the American Red Cross helps reduce the risk of heart disease by providing cholesterol screenings and education in the community as has been done in the past with blood pressure screenings.

Planning session planned here April 9 for Party '89

"Party '89" will be planned Sunday afternoon, April 9, at a meeting in the Haskell County Extension office.

The meeting will begin at 3 p.m. and is open to anyone who desires to assist in any manner in the all-night party scheduled for May 26 in the Haskell Memorial Civic Center.

Party '89 will honor this year's Haskell County seniors on graduation night and will offer a chaperoned, safe means of celebration. The event is open to high school and college-age young people from throughout the county, all of whom will be eligible for prizes.

The Music Machine will provide music. Movies, volleyball and other activities will be available. Breakfast will be served at 4 a.m. the following morning.

The party provides the Haskell County communities the opportunity to thank the young people for their efforts in academics, sports and agriculture.

Party '88 awarded more than $7,000 in prizes and cash to those whose names were drawn from the 350 registered young people.

"Please help us continue to make these parties a great success and a fun-filled, safe night out for our young people," said a spokesman for the group organizing the party.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the party and has not been contacted within the next few weeks should call Susan Pope (864-2092) or Billy McKeever (864-8123). Arrangements will be made to pick up contributions prior to May 26.

Child Welfare Board

The Haskell County Child Welfare Board met March 21 in the Jury Room. The next meeting will be Tuesday, April 14, at 6:30 p.m. instead of April 20.

Board members will prepare emergency alert tag material, a tag to be filled out by parents and attached to a child's shoe, and a folder entitled "How to Protect Your Child--A Guide to Help Prevent Child Abductions."

Brian Burgess created the material concerning the alert tag, and Christie Stapleton volunteered to run off about 800, enough for each elementary student in the Haskell County schools. Sheriff Johnny Mills received the folders from the National Child Safety Council.

This is the board's April project for Child Abuse Awareness, an annual affair.

The Haskell National Bank and KVRP will be asked to help people be aware of the need to protect children. Children can be lost, abducted and abused in this county.

The board also voted to sponsor a fund-raising event Saturday night, July 1. This will replace the annual Christmas event. Several groups have not been able to participate because of conflicts. Often, the weather keeps people from attending, and there are so many activities at that time. The same people who have given of their time and talent to make a very enjoyable evening will be asked to help again.

Treasurer Sue Miller reported two bills, one to the Haskell Clinic and one for medication, had been paid. She also stated that a very generous donation had been given by a Haskell lady who said she could not serve on the board but was happy to help with the finances.

Secretary Mary Martin reported that she had received the aid of 14 ladies in the Ruth Circle at the First United Methodist Church to contact Senator Steve Carriker and Representative Rick Perry regarding legislative funding for Child Protective Services. Each board member was asked to secure the volunteers to write or telephone. Tom Long was appointed chairman. The volunteers will be provided with guidelines and addresses.

Linda Haynes informed the board of the solution of a recent child abuse case. That explained why she was not present for the February meeting.

A letter of resignation from Merry Harvey was received. Dr. James Kemp has moved. If anyone would like to serve as a board member, he/she would be welcome.

Five members and Linda Haynes, CPS, were present.

Around town

Weekend visitors in the home of Mary and Buddy Drinnon were Russell and Sue Johnson of Hurst and Gerry and Gracie Hanson of Stanton. Also, Jack Walker, Mary, Sue, and Gracie's father, were there for Easter Sunday.

Cake, punch, cookies, nuts and mints were served by Michelle Oliver and Tanya Lewis, granddaughters of the couple, and Monica DeYoung, great-granddaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinney were married March 17, 1920, in Henrietta. They moved to Rochester in 1934.

The Kinneys have six children, 12 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Attending the reception were Pauline Lewis of Rochester, Elvin, Minnie and Roland Kinney, Dusty and Margaret Dalton of Rule, Bob and Wanda Heath of Littlefield, Johnny, Sonia, Brittany and Chelsea Denison of Aspermont, Shane Lowe and Stacy Lowe of Weatherford, April Musgrove of Fort Worth, Terry, Darlene and Chad Carter, Monte Owen, Ed, Lou, Monica and Chris DeYoung, Tracy and Paula Carter, Ronnie, Michelle and Remington Oliver, and Troy, Tanya and Tori Lewis, all of Knox City.

Heat treatment

Forget the pesticides. Researchers have devised an extermination technique that uses hot air to cook household pests on the spot.

International Wildlife magazine reports they cover a house with tarps, then pump in heated air. During the half hour heat treatment temperatures can rise to 160 degrees. The advantage is that the heat won't harm furnishings and people can move right back into the treated house.

I would like to thank my friends and neighbors, especially Buck Speer, Bud Derr and Tom Watson for their calls, prayers, cards, food and visits during my recent stay in the hospital. Dr. McSmith and the nurses were especially nice. Everything was much appreciated.

Sincerely,
T. W. Free

Turnbow granddaughter gets softball scholarship

Heather Turnbow has accepted an athletic scholarship to play fast-pitch softball with the University of Southwest Louisiana in Lafayette.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Turnbow of Howe and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Turnbow of Haskell.

A senior at Howe High School, she lettered in volleyball, basketball and track. She also is a member of the National Honor Society, Student Council and Spanish Club.

Heather has played fast pitch in the Dallas-Fort Worth area for the past five years. The University Interscholastic League does not recognize softball as a high school sport in Texas, so Miss Turnbow has played on the highly competitive "tournament" teams in the Metroplex in order to gain exposure before the college coaches.

She returns this year as a member of the Everman Shadows (south of Fort Worth) where last year's team advanced to the Amateur Softball Association National Tournament in Irving. She also has played for the Garland Falcons and Richland Honeybees where she has had opportunities to play in Boulder, Colo., Columbia, Tenn., and Oklahoma City. This year's Shadow ball club will play in such areas as Boulder, Las Vegas, Nev., and Dioux Falls, S.D.

Heather Turnbow

Coach Yvette Girouard of the Lady Cajuns stated that she was very pleased about Heather's decision to play for USL. "Heather should play a large part in our efforts next year to reach the NCAA Division I College World Series," remarked the coach. "Her hard work and dedication have really paid off."

The family of James E. Swalles would like to thank all our friends and relatives who shared our sorrow during the loss of our Husband and Father. The cards, memorials, food, prayers, telephone calls and flowers were really appreciated.

May God bless each and everyone,

Incontinence can often be controlled

Some elderly people accept the inconvenience of incontinence as a fact of growing old. But the fact is that the causes of this uncontrollable urination or bowel movement can sometimes be cured and the unpleasantness minimized.

The elderly are much more susceptible to this condition than the young, and among the elderly, women are more apt to experience it than men. Urinary incontinence is far more common than bowel incontinence.

Causes differ for the main types of urinary incontinence. Stress incontinence occurs when the muscle that controls the flow of urine out of the bladder weakens and the added stress from laughing, sneezing, coughing, or exercise causes urine to spill out of the bladder.

The powerful urge to urinate, even if the bladder is not full, is called urge incontinence. The muscle that forces urine out during urination contracts before the bladder fills completely. Small amounts of urine can be passed several times during the day and night.

Overflow incontinence is when the bladder cannot empty and so the bladder continues to dribble urine. Damaged nerves that control the bladder are a common cause of overflow incontinence.

Another type of incontinence, functional incontinence, is caused by the aging process. The bladder can hold less urine, and once it is full, it is more difficult for the person to wait to urinate.

At any age and for any type of incontinence, you should see your physician. He or she may be able to determine the cause and prescribe a cure for the problem. If the condition is not curable, there are many ways to lessen the discomfort and embarrassment the condition can cause.

Keep a schedule of going to the bathroom at regular intervals throughout the day and about an hour and a half after every meal. Try to arrange your bed close to a bathroom, and avoid drinking a lot before bedtime. Also, wear clothes that are easy to remove.

You also can use absorbent pads and undergarments. Your physician can tell you about them and how to get them.

Incontinence is not just a fact of life. See your physician for relief and a possible cure from the discomfort of this condition.

Bentsen declares freedom from oil

AUSTIN—The best evidence so far that we're moving out of the eighties surfaced last week when: • U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen declared Texas' economy free of dependence on oil, and • Gov. Bill Clements said he is considering naming former Dallas Cowboy coach Tom Landry to an important post. Even as oil prices broke above $20 a barrel, Bentsen said due to the possibility of a special session, either for workers' compensation reform or state prison needs.

Free Tuition for Kids
Teachers with at least eight years of experience could be awarded free college tuition for their children under a bill approved by the Senate last week.

The tuition bill would cost the state about $5.8 billion a year, but would provide an incentive to teachers to stay in their jobs despite lower salaries, said the bill's author, Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville.

But Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, said it was unfair to use state funds to award tuition to students merely because their parents were teachers when other academically qualified students could not get help.

"This is picking out a class of students who may not be economically disadvantaged," Leedom argued.

Insurance Board

Gov. Clements last week nominated a retired Houston banker and a former Dallas lawmaker to the embattled State Board of Insurance.

When he fills the remaining slot, probably sometime this month, the governor will have completely replaced the board which drew so much flak from lawmakers for mismanagement.

Clements tapped Thomas B. McDade, 65, who retired in 1985 as vice chairman of Texas Commerce Bankshares, and Dick Reynolds, 61, owner of a tractor company in Dallas. Reynolds served in the Texas House from 1973 through 1976.

Racing No Dress Shop

In a legal opinion, Attorney General Jim Mattox ruled the Texas Racing Commission can keep secret its files on criminal pasts of applicants for racetrack licenses.

His opinion was strongly criticized by Sue Cox of Dallas, a savvy anti-gambling activist, who stressed concern for criminal activity by saying, "We're not talking about putting a dress shop in here."

Richards to Announce

State Treasurer Ann Richards said she will announce in June her candidacy for governor, and called on major cities to improve aged and poor neighborhoods.

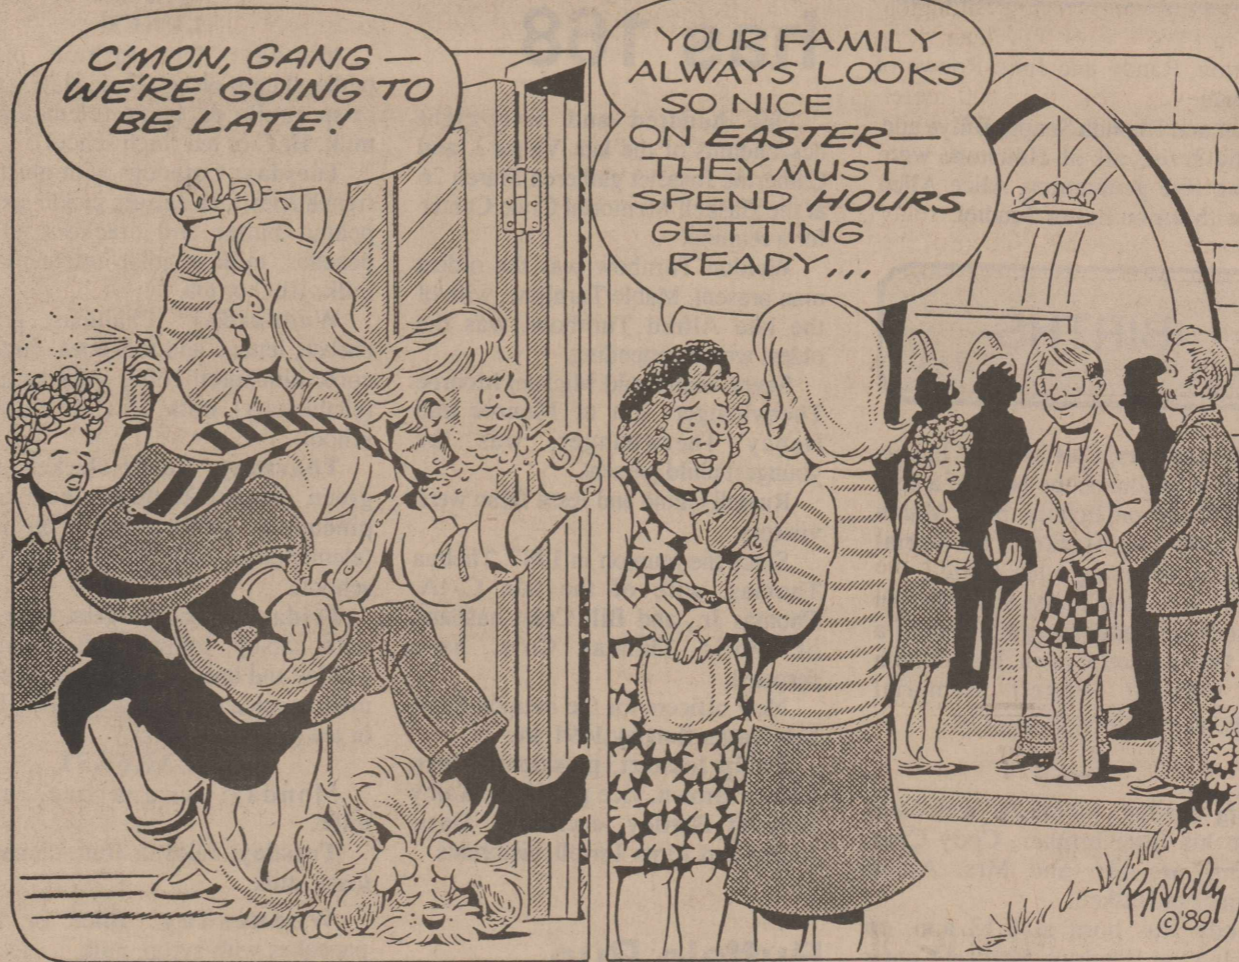

Meanwhile, her likely primary opponent, Attorney General Jim Mattox, received the endorsement of the 6,000-member Ironworkers union.

Folklore poster

April 14 is the deadline for entries in the statewide search for the 1989 Texas Folklife Festival commemorative poster design.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

Nearly a hundred years ago, on Nov. 23, 1889, the Palais Royale Saloon in San Francisco installed an Edison Speaking Phonograph that was activated by placing a coin in a slot. Although the music could be heard only by four people at a time through individual listening tubes, the first jukebox had been created.

In 1906, a loudspeaker was added, which allowed many people to hear music at the same time, effectively changing saloons forever. Today, no real bar is complete without one.

"The jukebox just told my life story," lamented the late country singer Ernest Tubb in his song, "Mr. Jukebox."

There's quite a story behind this music machine.

The name "jukebox" developed from the term "juke," a word used by early 20th century blacks to describe dancing. Dance halls were "juke joints," and the new machines that provided music for money became known as "jukeboxes."

The jukebox's popularity cut across all social boundaries to become an integral part of the American life. From the mid-1930s to the 1950s, nearly a dozen American companies raced to produce better and more fanciful jukeboxes.

The art of jukebox manufacturing reached its pinnacle when Wurlitzer introduced its Model 1015—complete with bright plastic "bubble tubes"—in 1946. As the company shipped 56,000 of the famous machines over the next two years, the 1015 became the most popular jukebox of all time. Originally priced at about $700, a completely restored 1015 sells for more than $9,000 today.

Wurlitzer, which started producing coin-operated phonographs in 1933 and proclaimed in its advertisements that "Wurlitzer is Juke Box," has since ceased production of all jukeboxes. A West German affiliate now manufactures one machine, a replica of the 1015, called the "One More Time."

Now in its 100th year, the jukebox does live on in America, even though only two companies still produce the machine. Rowe-AMI, a company formed through the merger of two former jukebox rivals, manufactures the music machine in Grand Rapids, Mich. And in Addison, Ill., Rock-Ola, which has been going strong since 1934, still makes jukeboxes.

"In this great America of ours, the music and the jukebox will be here forever," says Frank Schultz, marketing and sales director for Rock-Ola. "As long as we have people who are working for a living and being paid on Friday, their wages will take them to the corner bar for a few beers and a little music of their selection. And boy, do they love it!"

Thanks to a new policy, a newborn baby now may get a Social Security number automatically.

Parents can indicate whether or not they want a Social Security number and card issued to their child as part of the birth registration process. Should a child's parents request this service, the state's vital statistics office will electronically transmit the needed information to the Social Security Administration and a card for the baby will be issued.

It was much more like a track meet when Chico beat Decatur 12-10 in a baseball game the other day.

Chico stole 34 bases, topping the old state record of 28. Chico's Trent Teague who got on base five times, stole 15 bases.

I just have to pull for Lou Henson and Illinois in the NCAA championship games.

Before he went to Illinois, he turned out some great teams at New Mexico State, teams which didn't get the recognition they deserved. It was his misfortune to run into UCLA three straight years in the NCAA tournaments, during the time UCLA was dominating college basketball.

Twice his team was eliminated by the Bruins in the regionals, and once they didn't meet until they both got to the final 4 where a Bill Walton-led UCLA team got by the game NM Aggies by 8 or 10 points.

And before going to New Mexico State, Henson coached at Hardin-Simmons.

STEVEN A. CARRIKER
State Senate

Gov. Clements, who draws a state salary of $91,000, joked recently about the low level of pay for lawmakers, saying he hopes the pay gap between him and the legislature will continue to widen.

But members of the House and Senate didn't find Clements' joke amusing. They receive $600 a month or roughly $341 in take-home pay after deductions.

Even Gov. Clements' hired hands, like his chief of staff, make more than nine and a half times as much as a legislator at $68,850. House and Senate staff members routinely make several times more than their bosses.

But there's more to this issue than just the inequities involved here. If the pay question is not addressed, fewer and fewer people of ordinary means will be able to represent their peers in the legislature, leaving Texans to be governed exclusively by the wealthy.

Legislative pay, which is set by the constitution through a vote of the people, hasn't been raised since 1974, leaving Texas with one of the lowest paid legislatures in the nation.

Rep. David Hudson of Tyler is sponsoring a constitutional amendment to raise legislative pay to about $22,000, but the bad taste left in people's mouths by the attempt to raise congressional salaries to over $100,000 has observers wondering if Rep. Hudson's proposal is still viable.

That's unfortunate because the legislature is beginning to look less and less like the people it is supposed to represent.

An amendment I successfully attached to the Senate bill re-authorizing the Texas Department of Agriculture will prevent farmers from having to reapply for licensing to use farm chemicals.

The agriculture department was quick to recognize the bill's shortcomings and helpful in getting this amendment passed.

State law requires a licensing procedure for commercial pesticide users, but the bill make no provision for individual operators.

However, with my amendment, previously certified farmers will not be forced to go through an additional bureaucratic process that is actually geared for the commercial pesticide users.

economic restructuring brought on by the collapse of oil and commodity prices, the Texas business cycle will follow the nation's from now on.

The rebound was made with little, if any, contribution from oil or agriculture, Bentsen said.

Or the savings and loan industry, he might as well have added.

Sobering Reminder

Last week the feds announced that Texas S&Ls lost $10.1 billion last year, almost 83 percent of the nation's total loss. No news could be a more sobering reminder of the tough times that still linger.

Sliding with the economy were the fortunes of the Cowboys, once "America's Team", despite the efforts of archrival Texan, Tom Landry. A highly respected leader, Landry's presence would brighten any administration.

Now, as speculation rises with interest rates that the national cycle might slow down, Bentsen's findings indicate Texans can take heart that their economy is poised to meet good times or bad.

Speaker's Budget, Woes

The good news last week for Texas Speaker Gib Lewis was his budget proposal to increase spending almost $2 billion drew approval in both houses. Bad news for him surfaced in reports Lewis had his ranches stocked at taxpayers' expense with game trapped from state wildlife preserves.

Lewis said the stocking was blown out of proportion, and apologized later for telling one questioning reporter to shut up.

His new budget is based on revenues freed by bookkeeping changes and calls for spending an additional $600 million on education, $540 million for welfare and nursing home reforms, and $254 million in state employee salaries.

On the Senate side, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby applauded the proposal as a good working plan. The plan, which would boost state spending to $45.6 billion during the next two years, also proposes funds for AIDS prevention and treatment.

Earlier in the week, neither Hobby nor Lewis would rule out

Haskell Experienced Citizens Center result of volunteer work, compassion

BY MARSHA G. WHITTEMORE

The people of Haskell County are to be commended for their support in 1987-88 fiscal year of the Experienced Citizens Center. The members, volunteers and staff worked hard during the economic crunch to preserve a Center that affords the people of Haskell County a place: to be of service to others, to give their own life more meaning and be a part of a caring group of people. A group that checks if you miss, cares if you're ill, and gladly shares in your sorrow and your joys.

As the Haskell County Commissioners signed the 1988-89 contract Jan. 24 with the West Central Texas Council of Governments, the Court entered into its 12th year with Haskell County citizens, the 10th year as a multi-purpose center. The ECC participants are proud of their having met the goals set over the years. The 1988-89 contract has a new "performance based" clause within its wording. . . that, the people will meet too!

What is this Experienced Citizens Center? Why is it important in the lives of so many? What difference does it make if older people gather to eat? Surely they can cook their own meals. And wasn't it started for the old and poor?

The ECC began as a dream of the late Aubrey Headstream, director of the Tri-Health Clinic, now the Headstream Memorial. He watched the older people grow lonelier each day. He would call different ones daily and ask, "Have you eaten today?" They would check their dishes--they couldn't remember. He listened while they told "how long since their children had visited, or how long since a friend had dropped by to just say hello." Aubrey thought, "These are the days of progress. Had their usefulness to others stopped even to passing the time of day?"

Aubrey Headstream wanted to see Haskell County have a gathering place on "common ground" for the older citizens. Citizens who wanted to be of service to others. On Oct. 1, 1977, this dream materialized. Haskell County commissioners signed the first contract with WCTCOG in Abilene.

Haskell County Experienced Citizens Center was named by County Judge B. O. Roberson because these people were experienced in life. And indeed they are! It has been said, "out of a small group, you have the beginning of a community." The same citizens who began a community in Haskell County many years ago. They wanted to be a part of its continued growth.

The building now owned by the Haskell radio station was rented from Doyle High. Doyle strives for Haskell growth by helping others to better their lives. Commissioner Chunky Tidwell, Cooter Boles and men of Precinct 1 renovated the building to be opened Nov. 1, 1977.

Classes of art, crafts, quilting and macrame were started and interest grew. Salad lunches brought by the members became a popular way to enjoy their meals and fellowship.

The ECC began serving meals Feb. 26, 1979. The first kitchen was in the Corral building at the Haskell Fairgrounds. Dorothy Stout and Eula Arend would cook the food and then bring it to the Center. With the help of volunteers, the people were served. The membership grew rapidly and on Friday before Mother's Day in May 1980 the count was 100. The participants were served patio style--right out the back door.

Plans were made to build a new building. The ECC received a grant from WCTCOG in Abilene and with the cooperation of a dedicated group of citizens, funds were raised for a new building. The county allowed the ECC to be built on the southwest corner of Haskell's medical complex.

Commissioner Bud Turnbow, Don Bevins who welded the framework of the building, and the men of Precinct 4 built the original 30x80-foot building. The inside was completed by the work of volunteer men and women.

Serving 100 people opening day, Nov. 10, 1980, the facility rapidly became a full multi-purpose senior center with growing numbers of new participants daily. In 1981, a $10,000 grant from WCTCOG allowed the ECC to purchase a Chevrolet 12-passenger van to transport members to and from the center. Later, a second grant purchased a Ford 12-passenger van. The vans are run to Haskell and Rule daily, and to Rochester each Monday.

In 1982, the NB Memorial was formed in memory of Norman Bevel, longtime resident of Haskell and active volunteer for the ECC. Through donations in his memory, the memory of friends and families of others, and by fund raisers, an addition of 16x80 feet across the front was built by ECC volunteers, Commissioners Tidwell and Boles and men of Precinct 1. The building was completed inside by volunteers and customized by Jess Leonard. Jess has worked unknown hours making the building more serviceable and comfortable for all concerned. Furnished from donations of Haskell County people, the new addition was dedicated by Darrell Feemster, pastor of East Side Baptist Church, in memory of Norman Bevel Feb. 20, 1983. This extended the dining area, workroom for classes and storage for the kitchen.

The third addition was completed in April 1984 with donations, again, by the people. The work was done by the ECC volunteers, Commission Tidwell and Boles and men of Precinct 1. L. C. "Popeye" Killian volunteered his time welding the building's framework. The 14x46-foot addition to the kitchen gave needed space to prepare the average 203 meals a serving day. With a membership over 700 reaching all of Haskell County--Haskell, O'Brien, Paint Creek, Rule, Rochester, Weinert and Sagerton.

By this time, 135 volunteers had given over 21,382 hours of their time over the years in serving others, working on the building and various activities and programs. Annual barbecues, ice cream suppers and bake sales were started to help supplement the funding.

A cookbook, "The Favorite Recipes From Our Haskell County Heritage," was compiled by the members and published in 1984. The cookbook has been a popular supplement to the center.

For the Sesquicentennial 1986, the ladies of ECC made and quilted a king-size Dresden plate quilt for the center. Donations, reaching $500, were taken for the quilt. The ECC held a drawing and the quilt was won by Commissioner Ray Perry. Willie Berryhill donated an Indian paintbrush afghan to be given away through donations. And by these two efforts the ladies began a new way to help support the ECC cause. Each year a drawing is held from donations of goods made to the ECC. The "Gift Corner Shop," opened in 1988, has been one such place; handmade articles donated to be sold for the Center.

In December 1988 Wallace Smith Silver and Lyles Jewery donated a 54-piece Westminster stainless flatware set to be given away through $2 donations May 12, Friday noon.

What is this Experienced Citizens Center? Why is it important in the lives of so many? What makes the difference to a county or community when older people eat together on "common ground"? Why they don't cook the three (serving) days out of seven days in a week? Could it be that on serving days they come together, pool their resources, time and energies to serve others? And in return give their own life full of purpose?

True the program was started for the old, those who felt their life's experiences were of no use to anyone. Nothing was said about rich or poor. The only requirement is to be 60-plus. And yes, it's made for the poor, but without those who give so generously of money and time, how could the financially poor ever have a center such as the ECC? Or match the federal dollars--dollar for dollar.

Perhaps it meant the poor in spirit, because nothing is more beautiful than the cheerfulness in an old face when life is shared on "common ground."

(Over the next 12 months you will meet some of the 200 ECC volunteers whose names were not mentioned in this article. You will understand how a group of people who helped to begin the communities of Haskell County still wish to be a part of the community's development--and its progress.)

Mrs. I. V. Clayton was the first home deliverer. She started in 1979.

The Indians' sprint relay team came in second behind Breckenridge with a time of 43.74. Composing the team were Rodney Johnson, Jonathon Dever, Johnie Billington and Derrick Billington.

Four other Indians won third places. Eric Mullin was third in the discuss with 144-10, Dusty Meeks took third in the high jump (6-2), Joe Ray Comacho was third in the 3200-meter run (10:42.00) and Derrick Billington came in third in the 100-meter dash (11.13).

McKeever won the 100-meter hurdles with a time of 14.63, while Dever's first place in the 400 was with a time of 62.89.

McKeever also took two third places, in the high jump (4-10) and in the triple jump (34.4).

Also winning a third place was the 800-meter relay team of the Maidens, composed of the same four girls who ran on the 1600 relay.

This Saturday, the Indians and Maidens will be in Hamlin for the annual Pied Piper Relays. Several good teams are expected to compete in that event, including 3A schools

Wylie and Merkel.

Next week (April 8) the Haskell teams will participate in the Hornet

Relays in Aspermont, their last meet before the district contests in Hamlin on April 14-15.

Research offers hope

(7th in a Series)
 Scientific research aimed toward finding ways to prevent or reverse atherosclerosis is now being done. One of the most promising areas of research is in finding ways to control elevated levels of cholesterol and other fats in the blood.

Three recent advances have been especially dramatic. One such advance is the discovery of cell-surface receptors for LDLs by the 1985 Nobel laureates Drs. Joseph Goldstein and Michael Brown. These receptors bind LDL that is circulating through the bloodstream, allowing the LDL and its cholesterol to enter cells. Research has shown that when the amount of cholesterol within cells builds up, the number of these receptors on cell surfaces is reduced and blood levels of LDL increase.

This can lead to an increased amount of cholesterol being deposited in artery walls.

Another recent research finding has been the result from the Coronary Primary Prevention Trial (CPPT). It showed that lowering a high level of blood cholesterol reduces deaths from heart attack.

A final important advance in recent years has been the development of a new class of cholesterol-lowering drugs that markedly lowers cholesterol levels.

Of course many fundamental questions remain. Medical scientists are continuing their search for answers by studying life at its most basic level---the cell.

Even though much more work needs to be done, scientists have come up with some answers. For instance, they've found a definite relationship between the amount of cholesterol in the bloodstream and coronary artery disease (blockage of the arteries supplying blood to the heart muscle itself).

A large body of scientific evidence shows that a diet high in cholesterol and saturated fats can raise blood cholesterol levels and contribute to atherosclerosis. That's why the American Heart Association recommends eating foods low in cholesterol and saturated fats. Eating a proper diet is one way to reduce the risk of a high blood cholesterol level and thus the risk of heart attack.

--Weinert--

by Myrtle Plemister
 The weather has been really "springy" but do not be fooled! We will have more cold weather so don't take the electric blanket off the bed yet.

The Weinert school enjoyed a break from classes during the Easter holidays. Many made out of town visits and we had several visitors in Weinert.

Mary Evelyn Davis of Clovis, New Mexico came for a visit with her mother, Lucinda Davis, and her brother, Calvin. She will remain for a week's stay.

Kelly Frantz, with son, Brennan of Dallas spent last weekend with his grandparents, Ted and Faye Jetton.

Jeanene Perry has returned to her home in Stanton after spending several days with her parents, Buck and Helen Turnbow. Helen has been nursing a foot which the doctor thought was phlebitis. She is much improved, and went to Stanton for the Easter holidays.

Jim and Sue Hackney, with Talanda of Ft. Worth were guests of her parents, Mattie and D. I. White on Wednesday.

Alvin and Evelyn Ulmer of Sagerton and R. V. and Violet Earles of Paint Creek were dinner guests of the Plemisters on Thursday, and they enjoyed a competitive game of 88 afterwards.

Pearl Hart of Hamlin has returned to her home after spending the week in the home of her niece, Daisy and Freddy Horan, Penny and Christy.

Congratulations from us all to Wayne Offutt, of Wichita Falls, who was recently honored with a luncheon given in the Sheraton Hotel, where he was presented the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's prestigious "Nova" award, given for a new technology idea Wayne implemented.

He was also honored in Houston by the President of the Texas division, Paul Roth, and received several other awards from the company.

Wayne has worked for the company for 23 years. His wife is the former Shirley Sanders, daughter of Eddie and Myrnie Sanders. He is the son of Mildred and the late, Bud Offutt, all of Weinert.

Birthday balloons will fly this week for Bobby Raynes, Brenda Hager, Donnie Crump, Wanda Vojkufka, Randy Alexander, Sarah Guess and Mondy Mayfield. Happy birthday, all.

Erma Liles and Margurite King attended the Federated Women's Club Convention held in Abilene last week. Mrs. Liles serves the Mesquite District as International Affairs Chairman, and is a State Life member of TFWC.

Mrs. King serves as District Leadership Chairman, and was as voting delegate from the Knox City Study Club, where she has her membership.

Mrs. Liles is a member of the Haskell Progressive Study Club. She was a guest of the Knox City Club on Thursday, which was hosted by Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, who resides in the home of the former Dr. Edwards deceased.

Floyd McGuire enjoyed a visit in the home of his son, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McGuire of Mineral Wells this week.

R. S. and Betty Sanders celebrated their wedding anniversary with a trip to Lubbock. They were met there by their son's family, Larry and Linda Sanders, with Robert and Lynette of Las Alamos, N.M. and they enjoyed the Easter weekend together.

Helen Boykin, with her sister Edith Davis of Haskell and grandson Michael Boykin of ACU has returned from a week's stay in Hawaii. She was surprised to return to a climate of 88 degree weather, full sun, (but no bathing suits, nor beaches.) Welcome home!

Alton and Mildred Sanders entertained their grandchildren Amanda and Jeremy Sanders of Merkel and Kerri Sanders of Hamlin last week. On Sunday, they all gathered in Hamlin in the home of Terry and Beth Sanders. Terry is pastor of the First Baptist Church in Hamlin.

Survivors include a son, Albert Mochell Lytle of Amarillo; a daughter, Pat Mowell of Brownfield; a stepson, Billy Lytle of Slaton; a sister, Mrs. Vennie Lytle of Haskell; six grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

Donnie and Debbie Crump were in Crowell on Thursday to introduce their children David and Tabitha to the school and their new teachers.

Sunday, April 2, will be the last time the Crumps will be with the Weinert church. A fellowship dinner is planned in their honor, on that day.

Daniel Earl, son of Kristy and Marty Earle, spent the week in Ft. Worth with great aunt Sue and Jimmy Hackney.

Congratulations are in order for Georgia and Woody Turnbow upon the arrival of a new granddaughter, Lindsey Jade, 7 lbs. 13 oz, 21 inches tall, who arrived on March 25th in Norwich, Conn. to bless the home of Eric and Susan Turnbow, the Turnbow's youngest son, who is stationed at the Navy base there nearby.

The Turnbows could not be there, but instead, were in Weatherford in the home of her daughter, Twyla's family so received a lot of grandchildren's attention.

Karen Harlan, with Jeremy and Lindsey were in San Angelo during spring break for a visit in the home of her sister, Kelly and Wayne Hutchinson.

The Maya Indian temple, called Chichen Itza, in Can Cum, Mexico, was the destination for Rex and Tinka Herricks, with daughter Tina during her vacation from school.

They were part of a crowd of approximately 30,000 people who came to view the phenomenon of the shadows during the equinox of the sun, as it casts its rays over the pyramidal structure of the temple, and the shadows resemble a snake slithering down the stairway. This phenomenon happens twice each year.

Great grandfather Roy Herricks officiated at the dedication service for Joshua Scott Kimmell, son of Tammy and Bernie Kimmel at the Foursquare Church on Easter Sunday. Four generations of the family were present for Easter Sunday. Four generations of the family were present for the dedication. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Qestion Greer of Snyder.

T Nichols has returned from a trip to Orlando, Florida with his aunt and uncle, Alice and Bill Wright of Dallas.

While in Orlando, he enjoyed the usual tourist attractions but added a visit to the Twins Training Camp for good measure.

The Pud Brocketts were honored with a visit from a favorite nephew, Jerry Collins of Gallup, N.M. They later were in Munday for a family get-together at the home of Pete and Imo Brockett.

Sarah and H. L. Guess hosted the annual "Guess Egg Hunt," to which they always invite many of the Weinert children, so the group always becomes a crowd. Thank you, Sarah and H. L.

Sarah Marshall of Weatherford, Oklahoma is spending the week in the home of her great grandmother, Francis Mahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson with daughter, Tara of Abilene were here for a visit with Bill's brother, A. D. (Pete) Johnson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Perez and sons were in Pawnee, for a visit in the home of her parents, and other relatives for the weekend.

We extend our condolence to the family and friends of the Rev. Temple Lewis, whose memorial services were conducted Saturday in Abilene.

The Lewis family lived in Weinert for many years, while he served as pastor of the First Baptist Church here, and his children were all a part of the school enrollment.

The family is remembered with love, and we feel he put a lot of living in the 80 years the Lord allowed him to live. Our sympathy to his family.

Heather Guess, daughter of Hal and Cindy Guess, spent a few days in the local hospital in Haskell. She is home and doing better.

David Pena entered Hendricks hospital on Sunday, and was scheduled for back surgery on Monday. His wife, Sondra, and his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Pena and sister Mary of Pawnee were with him. Sondra's grandmother, Adella Rivas of Beeville, is with the four little Pena boys. We pray for a successful surgery and complete recovery for David.

Bunt Herricks has spent several days in the Stamford hospital. She is improving, and will be back home soon.

Linda Mahan and Donald were in Weatherford Saturday and Sunday in the home of her daughter, Michelle and Scott Saddler. They have recently learned that Scott has developed leukemia and it is a distressing time for the family. Our prayers are for him.

Shirley Offutt was in town for a brief visit with her parents, Eddie and Myrnie Sanders, and attended the memorial services for Temple Lewis with them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cunningham of Ransom Canyon were here to spend Easter with her parents, Clyde and Otie Mayfield, and her brother, Tiffen and Erlinda Mayfield, Mitch and Mondy.

A few of the families who entertained a reunion of children and grandchildren were Bob and Crystella Raynes; Ted and Faye Jetton; Willie and Betty Moeller; Toby and Alice Yates; Doris and Jerry Walker; Donald and Gracie Griffin; Wanda and Melvin Vojkufka; Sarah and H. L. Guess; Rex and Tinka Herricks.

Little Courtney Walling of Decatur spent the week with her grandparents, Nova and Weldon Walling.

The Weinert Home Extension Club met on their regular day on Tuesday in the home of Faye Jetton. They had a planning session with the other clubs for the upcoming district TEHA meeting to be held in Haskell in April.

The Weinert Cemetery Association has set April 1st for the annual clean-up day for the cemetery. They hope for a pretty day and many willing hands from 8 to 12 noon.

Have a nice day!

--Rule--

BY VICKY ANDERSON

Billy Roddy, youth minister of the First Baptist Church in Rule, along with his wife, Pam, took a group of students from the fifth grade on up on an all-day outing Thursday, March 23, to Abilene.

After first stopping at the Abilene zoo, the group went to the Family Center next to the First Baptist Church where there is a bowling alley, skating rink, racquetball and basketball court, game room and a restaurant. The afternoon was spent at the Center after which they played miniature golf, then ate pizza at Crystal's. Last on the agenda was a trip to the movies.

The trip had originally been planned for Tuesday, but was postponed due to bad weather. Sixty students had planned to go on Tuesday, but Thursday, only 30 could make the trip. A fun time was reported by all. The Roddys are to be commended for this annual event.

Delma Kuntz, sister of Velma Gann, is a patient in Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. We understand she is doing better at this time.

Those who have filed for City Council to fill the three places are: A. B. Arnett, David Halliburton, Jimmy Price, Danny Lankford and Mary Lou Landes. Election will be held on May 6.

Maude Kitley, mother of Bobby Kitley, has been transferred from Stamford Memorial Hospital to Teakwood Manor.

If you need a change of pace or just to get away for a couple of days, you might want to pay a visit to historic Jefferson, once called the "Belle of the Bayous" in East Texas. During Spring break, a group from Rule made this trip. Many antebellum homes are available for "bed and breakfast." Sites toured were the Jefferson Museum, Excelsior House Hotel and the renovated private railroad car of the late tycoon, Jay Gould; numerous antique and craft shops; also a mini-paddlewheel ride on Big Cyprus Bayou where the pilot relegated many tales of Civil War Days.

During the late 1800s as many as 226 steamboats per year docked in Jefferson, unloading goods from the East and loading cargoes of cotton and timber for the return trip to New Orleans.

One fact that he told that is little known is that Caddo Lake, near Jefferson, is the only natural lake in the State of Texas. A massive log jam below Shreveport on the Red River stopped the river traffic, plus a railroad being built through Jefferson. Other rides available are a horse-drawn surrey and the "Jefferson and Cypress Bayou" train.

Easter visitors in the E. L. Elmore home were Paula Martin and daughters, Elise and Elizabeth of Lake Dallas. They also visited Mrs. Martin's sister, Elaine Holcomb. Elise and Elizabeth are spending this week with their grandparents.

Our sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Mary McClellan, age 68, of Stamford who died March 21 in an Abilene hospital. Mrs. McClellan was a longtime friend and former fellow-employee at Stamford Memorial Hospital of the writer. Special condolences also go to the grandchildren: Allison, Billy, Mary Ann, Stephanie and Brandon, for the loss of their beloved "Gran-Gran."

Sympathy also is sent to the family of Margrette Goree, age 71, of Stamford, who died at Stamford Memorial Hospital March 22.

Local residents were saddened to learn of the death on Sunday of Lora Thelma Mathis, age 85. She was the widow of Robert Ewing Mathis, and had been a Rule resident for 66 years.

On Friday and Saturday visiting the Parnell Andersons, Ronnie Jenkins and Kenneth Saffels were Diane and Jim DeLoach and sons, Bill and Zach, of Dallas. On Friday, Danny, Nikki and Luke Kitley from Abilene visited. The DeLoach family had just returned from the Chicago area where the boys were shown their new home in Wheaton, Ill., to which they will move in June. Jim has been transferred to Chicago by Arthur Andersen Company. He has been commuting for several weeks, and will continue to do so until his family can join him when school is out.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY; (Quoted in the Church of Christ weekly "Rule Reminder"): Our words may hide our thoughts, but our actions will reveal them.

FLOOD PLAIN NOTICE
The City of Haskell, Texas has requested a contract amendment for its Community Development Program to include an additional 5,400 LF of street paving, without curb and gutter. A portion of this 5,400 LF of paving is located in the 100 year flood plain. Because the proposed activities are priority needs, there is no practical alternative to the proposed program. It is the City's judgement that the need for the proposed improvements in the area outweigh consideration of Executive Order 11988. A more detailed description of the project and the flood maps are available for citizen review at City Hall, Haskell, Texas. Comments will be received on or before April 7, 1989.

Quilt display Wichita Falls

"Stitches in Time: American in Quilts," a privately owned collection of handmade quilts currently touring the country, will be at Sikes Senter Mall in Wichita Falls April 13-16.
The exhibit, which has been featured on several television programs and in numerous newspaper and magazine articles, was designed by Ohio artist David Allen.
The 52-quilt exhibit features a quilt designed for each of the 50 states, plus Washington, D. C., and the United States. Each state quilt shows the state bird, flower, tree, motto, nickname, capital, and order of entry into the Union.
Women will be at the mall during the show demonstrating the art of quilting and answering questions. A handmade quilt of traditional design, valued at $400, will be given away at the close of the exhibit.
The exhibit is free and open to the public.

Sick list

In France, where tasty oysters are as coveted as fine wines, the oyster has fallen on hard times. The delicate, flat oysters Europeans have enjoyed for centuries are in decline.
The culprit is a pesky water-borne parasite that destroys the oysters' immune system. But Inernational Wildlife magazine reports the parasite doesn't just harm oysters. The poor harvests of recent years have put thousands of French watermen out of work.
