Hot and dry was May menu

Haskell was hot and dry during the month of May.

Weather recorder Sam Herren reported that the 108-degree temperature recorded May 24 was the second highest temperature ever for the month of May, surpassed only by the 109-degree reading on May 15, 1960. Lowest temperature last month was 50 degrees, recorded May 1.

May's rainfall of 1.86 inches was just about half the May normal of 3.75 inches.

During the first five months of 1989, rainfall came to 7.74 inches, compared to a normal 8.82.

'Bright new star'

Dallas newspaper praises Perry

Rep. Rick Perry, D-Haskell. Another non-committee chairman who was a standout leader on a host of issues. The young West Texas conservative played a key role in the House Appropriations Committee, was floor leader for the worker comp reform bill, and helped craft a compromise on the Agriculture Department's sunset bill. A bright new star.

That is what the Dallas Morning News had to say about Perry in Sunday's issue when the publication announced its list of the 10 most effective members of the 71st Legislature.

In the preamble to the revelation, the News wrote:

"Members of the Texas Legislature often are caricatured as a museum-class collection of rubes and rednecks. It isn't true. Most work hard, care about what they're doing and try hard to represent the views and needs of their districts. As with any group, some are awful and many are mediocre. But some are truly outstanding.

"The Dallas Morning News wishes to recognize the 10 most effective lawmakers—those who exercised consistent leadership and played an oversized role in shaping the future of Texas. Their parties and views vary; some have opposed positions advocated by The News.

"Knowledge of the process, intelligence, willingness to do homework, ability to argue points, tenacity and toughness are characteristics common to all. Each of these public servants brings his special style and strengths to the job. In the just-completed session, all did a job to make voters proud."

The News then revealed its top 10, which included seven house members:

Stan Schlueter, Democrat, of Killeen; Bill Hammond, Republican, of Dallas; Allen Hightower, Democrat, of Huntsville; Mike McKinney, Democrat, of Centerville; David Cain, Democrat, of Dallas; Rick Perry, Democrat, of Haskell; Richard Williams, Democrat, of Weatherford;

And three senators:

John T. Montford, Democrat, of Lubbock; Kent Caperton, Democrat, of Bryan; and Bob McFarland, Republican, of Arlington.

Many had hand in success of Fly-In

The second annual Fly-In and Pilots' Breakfast, sponsored by the Haskell Chamber of Commerce was highly successful due to the efforts and generosity of many.

Chamber president Bud Lane and project chairman Jim Bridwell reported that the following made cash contributions to pay for the complimentary breakfasts for our-of-town pilots and gasoline for the Warbirds participating in the show:

Smitty's Auto, Haskell Free Press, Richardson Truck and Tractor, Haskell Butane Co., Medford Buick, Farmers National Bank of Rule, Home State Bank of Rochester, Olney Savings and Loan, Haskell National Bank, First National Bank and Tri-State Chemical of Hereford.

The City of Haskell provided gasoline at $1 per gallon for the 45 out-of-town planes. Representing the city at the airport were Mayor Greg Melton, city administrator Bob Baker, Thomas Rodriguez, Dave Miller and Roy Norville.

On duty for the Chamber of Commerce were directors Bud Lane, Delight Jones, Mike Martindale, Elbert Johnson, Carolyn Reynolds, Conrad Roewe, Jim Bridwell, Jim Williams, Dr. Cliff Ray and chamber manager Wanda Dulaney.

Members of the American Legion, Gene Plunkett, commander, were in charge of ground parking.

Cooking breakfast from the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department were chief Tom Watson, Sonny Reynolds, W. H. McBroom, Mike St. John and Joe Cortez. Assisting the firemen was Christyne Green.

Don Comedy was in charge of safety and ground control. He was assisted by Dr. Cliff Ray.

Joseph Thigpen was responsible for hangar setup, aided by Gene Plunkett.

Roy Pittman was chairman of the VIP shuttle service and with Terry Diggs and Bill Lane drove golf carts to the planes as they landed to bring the pilots to the Bridwell hangar for breakfast.

Co-hosts of local pilots included Joseph Thigpen, Roy Pittman, Bill Lane, Terry Diggs, Bud Lane, Jim Bridwell, Dr. Cliff Ray, Don Comedy and Ken Lane.

Advance publicity was handled by Dusty Garison and The Haskell Free Press and radio KVRP provided news coverage and public service announcements regarding the event.

Trophies were presented to the following:

Longest Flight: Fred Selby of Long Beach, Calif; Best Warbird: F40 Corsair by Howard Purdue of Breckenridge; Oldest Pilot: from Quannah.

Haskell woman dies in Sunday accident

Haskell County recorded its first fatality of the year when a 66-year-old woman was killed Sunday afternoon in a two-vehicle collision south of Haskell.

Christine Collins of Haskell was thrown out of a 1953 Willys Jeep driven by her husband E. C. Collins. She was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Roy T. Everett, said DPS Trooper James A. Davis.

Her husband was taken to Haskell Memorial Hospital and treated for lacerations. Collins was released Monday morning.

The Collins' Jeep was struck from the rear by a 1989 Mack tractor-trailer hauling hot asphalt. Both vehicles were apparently traveling north.

Davis said, "It appears the tractor-trailer struck the left rear of the jeep with its right front fender."

Haskell Volunteer Fire Department rescue team was called to extricate the truck driver, Herminio Uballe of Blanco, from the vehicle with the "jaws of life."

He was transported to Haskell Memorial Hospital before being transferred to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. He is listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit.

The accident occurred at 5:45 p.m. on US 277, three miles south of Haskell. Charges are pending, Davis said.

Twenty members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department and Haskell County Emergency Medical Service assisted in the rescue.

Archaeological find creates much interest

By K. B. Lane

An archaeological relic found in Haskell County by a local resident has caught the attention of experts from the Smithsonian Institution.

Bottle collector Tom Long was digging around an old area dump for bottles one day last month when an interesting formation in the earth caught his eye.

He knew it was not a rock formation or a bottle because "it was too perfectly layed out", Long said.

On closer inspection, he found that it was petrified bones.

"I first thought it was Indian bones because they resembled ones found in the human arm," Long said.

Curious as to what he had found, Long contacted the Haskell High School science department. HHS teacher Minette Marr visited the sight and viewed the remains.

Marr sent a piece of the fossil to a professor she knew at the University of Texas at Arlington. He identified the bone as a vertebra but could offer no more information.

With the help of his sister, who resides in Lubbock, Long was able to get in touch with Dr. Sankar Chatterjee, Texas Tech University Associate Professor of Museum Science and Curator of Vertebrate Paleontology.

Dr. Chatterjee telephoned Long indicating great interest in the find and said he had a friend from the Smithsonian Institution who would be in the area.

A few weeks later, Nicholas Hotton III, one of the research curators in the department of paleontology at the Smithsonian Institution (Washington, D. C.) visited the site.

The mystery ended when Hotton identified the remains. He said the bone structure resembled a Dimetridon, but it was not typical of the species.

A Dimetridon is a mammal-like reptile which exhibits characteristics of both mammals and reptiles.

"It could be an entirely new species," Hotton said.

"If it is a new species, it will be worth a paper. If it is not new, it is still worth mentioning because Haskell has not been studied that much in the past," Hotton said.

According to Hotton the structure is about 275 million years old and dates back to the Permian Period.

The Permian Period is the systems of rock and sedimentary deposits of the seventh and last period of the Paleozoic Era.

Hutton also said the fossil was located in what he called a "red bed".

He explained that during the Permian Period, the red bed was located in the area of the four counties, Dickens, Foard, Montague and Coleman. The Great Sea encompassed area below Dickens and Coleman Counties.

The red bed has been a popular area for digging bones since 1880, Hotton said.

A team from the Smithsonian

Institution will come in and remove the structure. The fossil will be taken back to the institution where it will be cleaned and further studied.

A crew from the institution also will prospect the area looking for other fossils.

Hotton said if this is another Dimetridon, it could redefine the history and the written background of the species because of its unusual structure.

Although the fossil had been exposed through erosion, Long said it probably would not have caught his eye had he not been digging around for old bottles.

Long's interest in bottle collecting began a year ago. He said he learned how to properly dig for bottles by reading books on the subject.

He looks for bottles in old dumps and homesteads that have not been used in 50 to 60 years.

"Bottle collecting is a lot of fun and I have learned a great deal about Haskell County," Long said.

Thomas Long inspects the archaeological find which has attracted attention from experts.

Golf nets $2100 for Cancer Society

The "Longest Day of Golf" tournament held Saturday at Haskell Country Club raised more than $2,100 for the Haskell County unit of the American Cancer Society, said Nancy Plunkett, chairman of the event.

Proceeds from the tournament will be credited to this year's goal of the county unit.

Eight golfers played 261 holes of golf. Women golfers were Donna Markey, Marian Frierson, Mary Kennedy and Emily SoRelle; men golfers included Dr. Bob Colbert, Dr. Troy Culpepper, "Speedy" Smith and Jeff Brister.

Winners of the "longest tee shot drive" were Markey and Brister. Smith and Kennedy won the "closest drive to the hole" honors and Smith had the most money pledged.

Each player was presented with a tee-shirt with "I Survived the Longest Day of Golf" printed on the front.

"This has been a very rewarding way to raise funds to assist the American Cancer Society in continuing its service and rehabilitation programs for cancer patients, as well as its professional and public education programs," said Mrs. Plunkett.

"Participation in an event such as this emphasizes the necessity for maintaining good health, knowing cancer's warning signals and getting regular checkups," said Mrs. Plunkett.

"In addition, proceeds from the event help fund excellent research grants, every day coming closer to a cure. We are very happy to be part of this worthy effort."

From one of the players: "What a fun way to raise money for such a worthy cause."

Golfers and sponsors expressed their appreciation to the sponsors who pledged the money to the golfers.

Rescue work

Haskell firemen worked diligently Sunday afternoon to free a truck driver trapped in his truck following its collision with a Jeep on US 277 three miles south of Haskell.

TAX PLANNING

ZERO COUPON BONDS: A MONEY MULTIPLIER

You've probably heard it all before - the siren song of doubling or tripling your money in little or no time. What is wrong with most of these "deals" is that they fail to tell you that your money is about as safe as the California Condor.

But now there is a new money multiplier which will give you double-digit rates of return with a high degree of security. These securities are called "zero coupon" bonds.

Regular coupon bonds pay interest to the bondholder, and this interest income must be reported. In the case of zero coupon bonds, no coupon exists and no interest payments are made. However, the "imputed" (assigned) interest must still be reported for tax purposes.

Zero coupons are somewhat like Series EE savings bonds in that they are purchased at a discount, which means that the bondholder generally pays an amount much less than the face amount. A 3-year zero coupon with a face of $1,000, for example, might be purchased for $645, which calculates to a yield to maturity of almost 12%.

Why would an investor choose one of these zero coupons over a more traditional bond? Here are the major benefits:

*Safety - Zero coupon treasury bonds are backed up by the full faith and credit of the federal government.

*Yield - Since no payments are made to the bondholder, the yield to maturity is automatically obtained by holding the bond to maturity.

*Flexibility - If you need a given amount at some future date, a zero coupon can be bought today to provide that amount.

*Liquidity - Secondary markets exist if you must quickly dump the zero coupons because of an emergency.

*Tax Advantages - Zeros are excellent for tax-exempt plans (IRAs, Keoghs, etc.) and for funding a child's education.

Lewis mentioned for Wright post

AUSTIN—U.S. House Speaker Jim Wright's resignation dominated the conversations at the Capitol last week, as legislative leaders attempted to estimate the federal funding and political impact on Texas.

In addition to protecting federal projects in Texas, foremost the superconducting supercollider and outgoing Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Bullock announced the support of 17 Democratic senators and 63 of the 91 Democrats in the Texas House, while Edwards said many on the list were simply too afraid of Bullock to oppose him.

Bullock is expected to run on his credentials of long-time service and knowledge of state government. His plans to raise tax revenues and his positions on sales tax reform and state income taxes, when he announces them, could well hold center stage in this race.

Edwards is expected to paint Bullock's leadership style as ruthless, and his relationship with Clements as too supportive for loyal Democrats to accept.

Mauro Seeks Re-election

And Land Commissioner Garry Mauro surprised everyone by announcing for re-election, rather than going for attorney general.

Mauro, plagued by personal finance problems and a recent FBI probe of his agency, will run on his record of management and protection of the environment, notably his clean beaches program.

Congressman John Bryant of Dallas is expected to announce soon for attorney general. A former Texas House member, Bryant led the liberal Democrat faction and was an outspoken critic of former Speaker Bill Clayton.

Watchful eyes are now on San Antonio state Rep. Dan Morales, who inherited the organization of Henry Cisneros, to see if he will make his expected race for AG.

And observers are watching state Sen. Hugh Parmer, who could forego his announced race against U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm to run for Wright's congressional seat.

Lewis for Congress?

Many legislators think Texas Speaker Gib Lewis would be a formidable candidate for the Democrats in that race.

Lewis has not commented one way or the other, but the chain of events that would follow his election to Congress might likely change the face of Texas politics.

The Texas House would have to elect a new speaker, but this election would be different.

Fragile Truce Possible

Republicans in the Texas House now number 60, just 16 short of a majority. More important, with Lewis gone, the fragile truce between liberal and conservative Democrats stands to fall apart.

Caught in the middle, the conservative Democrats would have to choose between party and philosophy.

If enough of them choose philosophy, if that's the term to use, Republicans could elect their first speaker in Texas history.

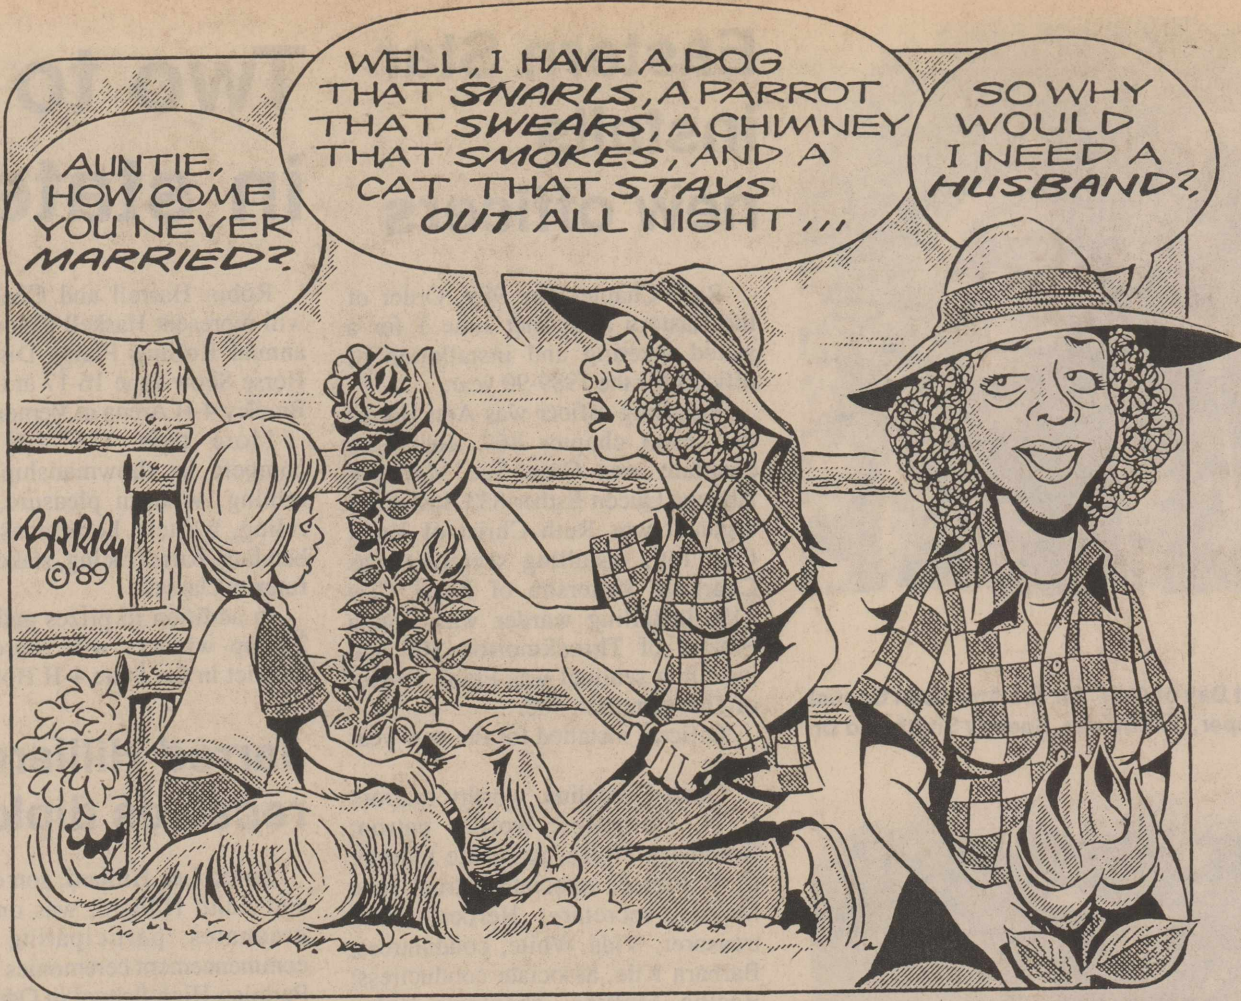

What would clearly boggle things is if Clements called the special election during the already-called special session.

The man on the spot then would be Speaker Lewis, who might be forced to choose between running the House session or running for Congress. If he chooses one, Texas Republicans could have an edge in the other.

Bullock vs. Edwards

Shortly after lawmakers returned home, several Democrats announced their plans for the coming election.

Both Comptroller Bob Bullock and state Sen. Chet Edwards announced for the race to succeed plain talk

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

The brain is capable of absorbing much more information than we ever try to put into it. At least, that's what we've always been told.

Which makes one wonder if the brain sometimes gets full and can't handle any more data until something is removed (forgotten).

Why else is it that I can remember dozens of old phone numbers, street numbers, license plate numbers, etc., but have to consult a phone directory to get my present phone number?

Of course, numbers used to be a lot simpler. It's no mean trick to recall the phone number of the First State Bank of Eldorado, Okla., where I grew up. It was 1. (That's right, "one".)

Our own phone number was a little more difficult, but it still comes through loud and clear---82. The newspaper's number was 76. The cafe was 12, the insurance company where my sister worked was 114 and the service station where I once toiled was 144.

A few more of those long-ago phone numbers still are implanted in my brain, serving absolutely no purpose and occupying space which could so much better be utilized for more useful up-to-date info.

My oldest sister went to Birmingham, Ala., in 1937 and lived with my aunt whose address was 1133 8th Avenue West. She married in 1939 and I never had need to use that address again as I never wrote to my aunt. Sis probably had at least a dozen addresses after that, none of which I can come close to remembering. But that 50-year-old one is still imbedded in my brain.

Tag numbers? The first one I ever owned was 36-4722. Don't dare ask what my present tag number is.

I guess all of this illustrates what those people mean when they say it is easier to remember something from long ago than it is to remember something recently.

Those who have lived here far longer than I are saying they've never seen the grounds in front of the secondary school so attractive.

Congratulations to who ever is responsible.

A new law requiring school attendance of anyone under 18 before he/she can get a driver's license is credited with cutting the dropout rate in West Virginia by nearly 40 percent.

A bill calling for a similar law in Texas was introduced in the just-ended legislative session.

No photos run in The Free Press have created more interest than some of the old ones we've used.

Anyone with old pictures that could be used for publication is welcome to bring them by The Free Press. We'll promise to take good care of them---and return them.

Betcha didn't know:

Thirty-six percent of national exterior paint sales are of white paint. Other big sellers: brown, 10 percent; beige, 10 percent; blue, 9 percent; gray, 9 percent.

Brought to you courtesy of this column and Sears Roebuck and Co.

In West Virginia, a new law forbids a driver's license to anyone under 18 who can't prove he is a student or a high school graduate. In other words, no licenses for dropouts.

It must be working. During the first year it was in effect, the dropout rate in West Virginia dropped nearly 40 percent.

A similar law was proposed in this spring's Texas Legislature, but nothing came of it.

Salaries

Editor: Our legislators in Austin just passed an amendment giving themselves a 300-percent pay raise.

This outrageous salary increase will cost us, the taxpayers, $3.5 million a year at a time when we can least afford it.

It gets worse. The amendment will take away the voters' right to vote on future pay raises. In my opinion, the legislators are not being financially responsible with our wallets.

The legislators have craftily worded the amendment on the Nov. 7 ballot to limit their salary to one-third of the governor's salary. The legislators vote on the governor's salary.

Basically, they will vote their own pay raise when they give the governor a pay increase.

Their salary doesn't include the present daily allowance of $30 which will be increased to $81. That's $4,200 increased to $11,340 for 140 days of work in Austin. Can you imagine getting that kind of allowance for food and gas?

We need state government to be financially responsible. We need to stop this pay raise. Please join the fight against this 300-percent pay raise.

NASA facilities, state leaders in both parties quietly considered strategies to implement when Wright resigns his congressional seat.

The impact on the Texas Legislature could be greater than most would think.

The normally quiet summer could highlight at least two political events, possible three.

For one, Gov. Bill Clements has already called a special session for June 20 to consider workers' compensation reform and possibly other issues. For another, Clements will get to call a special election to fill Wright's vacated congressional seat.

'Mom and Me' campout at Tonkawa

Several teams of "Mom and Me" campers attended the first Mom and Me campout at Camp Tonkawa June 3 and 4.

After setting up camp and registration, campers participated in several events including archery, BB gun, scavenger hunt, leatherwork, duck shoot, games, T-shirt silk screening and swimming.

Saturday night brought much excitement with thunderstorms, lightning shows and what seemed like buckets and buckets of rain. Campers spent most of the night attempting to stay dry.

Sunday morning began with soaked campers trying to find something dry to wear to breakfast.

The day's events were cancelled due to rain and mud. Campers returned home earlier than planned with loads of wet bedding and clothing.

Pack 136 camping teams attending included Sandy Sanford with Chris and Kevin McSmith; Mary and Tim Dewey; Sharon and Wesley Lefevre; Janie and Cody Stone; Leisa and Brent Toliver; Jo Nell, Will and Jason Trammell; Terri and Aaron Kirk; Susan and Mitchell Cox; Katie and Jake Royston; Lisa and Joseph Phemister; Lisa and Jason Shaw; and Jo Ann and Brent Watson.

Tom Dewey and Chris Arendall of Haskell were members of the camp staff.

Pack 136 expects summer to be busy

Cub Scouts and their families from Pack 136 held their monthly meeting on Tuesday, May 30, at the Haskell National Bank Community Building. Incoming Cubmaster Bob Cass presided over the meeting.

Members from Den 7 led the opening flag ceremony after which Cubmaster Cass congratulated those boys who had earned various awards and badges during the past month. Den 7 had the best family participation at the pack meeting.

Outgoing Cubmaster Jim Bob Mickler was recognized for all his work with the pack with a beautiful plaque of appreciation. His wife, Pat, also received a plaque.

She has been very active in the program and has served as Tiger Cub organizer and assistant Webelos leader.

This will be a busy summer for Pack 136 as it will once again meet every month in order to qualify for its Quality Unit and Summertime Activity Badges.

The pack will meet on Thursday, June 29, at the Haskell city swimming pool at 6:30 p.m. Following the swim party, the pack will assemble at the City Park for a hot dog supper.

All boys who have finished the Tiger Cubs program this past year will be graduated into Cub Scouts at the June meeting.

These boys will need to bring yellow Cub neckerchiefs and neckerchief slides with them to this meeting.

There also will be a graduation ceremony for those boys leaving the Bear rank and going into Webelos. All Pack 136 scouts and their families are urged to attend this meeting.

Cubs Scouts who received badges and awards at the May meeting include Adrian Serano, Arrow of Light, athlete, artist and sportsman; Teddy Silvas, athlete, artist and sportsman; Salvatore Serano, athlete, artist and sportsman; Joseph Fuentes, athlete, artist and sportsman; and Christopher Tatum, artist, sportsman and showman.

These Webelos scouts from Den 4 received their family pin, Daniel Alvarez, Joe Andress, Justin Arendall, Mike Bagot, James Cowperthwait, Tim Dewey, Nick Jimenez and Greg Rodriguez.

Also receiving awards in May were Harrison Drusedow, Webelos badge; Sammy Bagot, bear badge, gold arrow point and six silver arrow points; Jim Crawford, bear badge and gold arrow point; Aaron Kirk, bear badge, gold arrow point and silver arrow point; Jake Royston, silver arrow point; and Cye McGuire, silver arrow point.

Jodie returns for visit

Why would a 19-year-old girl from the great city of Melbourne in Australia travel halfway around the world to spend her vacation in Haskell?

That's easy . . . if you're Jodie Taylor.

She's visiting old friends and renewing memories of the year she spent in Haskell as an exchange student.

For the past three weeks, she's been visiting in the home of Duward and Gwen Campbell, where she made her home in 1987. She'll be here until June 16 when she will return to Melbourne where she is a secretary-receptionist for a large agribusiness company.

After graduation from HHS in 1987, Jodie stayed around Haskell until August. She then spent two and a half months touring Europe with a couple of friends from home, before returning to her home country.

She's had no problem keeping busy in Haskell. She was a popular young girl at Haskell High where she made many friends while living here and she says she's been able to see most of them. "I saw a lot of people at graduation," she said.

Watts from waste

The same high-temperature technology that enables cities to burn garbage for energy is helping rid Pennsylvania of millions of tons of mine waste. Today, several Keystone state power plants are being fueled by culm.

Once considered a bothersome by-product, culm is the impure bits of coal that are left after mining. And there's plenty of it.

Move can be nightmare

By K. B. Lane
Moving in general does not conjure up appealing thoughts in people's mind.

Years of accumulated "stuff" surrounds most of us. And all of this "stuff" has either some sentimental value or it is destined to become collector's items someday. At least that is what people always tell me when they are keeping more than they are throwing away. Or is it what I tell them?

After experiencing two moves going on three, I have found one word that sums up my feelings on the subject-- "nightmare". It is a living nightmare to move!

I was not that big of a help when my parents actually "moved", but I did have to clean out 21 years of my own junk and believe me it was a nightmare.

No one but I understood why I did not want to throw away old love letters I received in the fifth grade.

Okay, so I didn't receive love letters in the fifth grade, but wrote them instead. Nonetheless, the ones I have kept aren't changed much.

That is the enjoyment of keeping old "stuff". You clean out a closet and find things like old notes all stuffed in a shoebox. It makes for some entertaining reading.

It also makes you aware of how goofy you were back then and realize things really haven't changed much. I told you it is a nightmare!

Luckily, my second big move did not call for me to justify why I had so much "stuff". Instead it caused me to alter my lifestyle.

However, I do not pass off the actual hauling of my "stuff" to storage as something that was easy.

Imagine, if you will, two college co-eds and four parents trying to clean out an apartment. You guessed it. It was a nightmare.

Although, altering my lifestyle has not really been a nightmare, I admit it has been hard. Moving back in with the parents and in new town at that, calls for adjustment.

Because we unfortunately have only one bathroom, my family rotates in shifts in the morning. I must admit I have caused a shift in that schedule.

Fortunately I have found the perfect way to get out of having to mow the lawn. Just run over your dad's pepper plants a second time after he has so carefully pointed out their exact location.

After I did it the second time I told my Dad I would buy new ones. He said, "Why, just so you can run them over again?"

My little brother did not make me feel any better one day as we were going to get a Diet Coke at the drive-in. I pulled into the first open spot and he almost went through the roof yelling for me not to park there because that was where nerds parked.

I did not have the heart to tell him

I had been parking there everyday the past week. Once in his pick-up.

Learning directions in a new town is also an adjustment. When I ask where some place is located, people start giving me directions with the words north and south. I become immediately lost before ever getting into my car.

Just the other day someone told me to go to the Brick Village and asked if I knew where it was. I said, "Well I live on brick street, is it anywhere near there?" The person almost had a coronary laughing.

Some days are just nightmares, but the majority of them are full of laughs. Except when you move.

Tiger Cubs have outing at Tonkawa

Four Tiger Cubs from Haskell pack 136 and their adult partners enjoyed a great day of fun and activities at the Tiger Cub Day camp May 27 at Camp Tonkawa, located outside of Buffalo Gap.

Those attending from Haskell were Brent Watson and his dad, Sam; Jason Shaw and his dad, Randy; Kevin McSmith and his grandad, "Deb" McSmith; Travis Garison and his dad, Dusty; and Ezequiel Estrada and his mom, Andrea, from Weinert.

The Tigers had a full day at the camp. They went on a nature hike and learned about various types of native plants, including which kinds of plants to leave alone.

On the hike, the boys saw several tracks made by wild animals. They also painted neckerchief slides and did silk screening printing on T-shirts.

Following craft time, the boys and their partners went swimming and participated in some games before sharing a picnic meal with their families.

After the meal, there was an impressive graduation ceremony, featuring members of the Kotsos Lodge Indian Dance group. The Tigers had their faces painted by the "Indians" and received their Cub Scout neckerchiefs, symbolizing their progress.

Tiger Cubs are boys in the first grade who enjoy some of the fun of Cub Scouting, but are not full fledged members of the Pack.

In order to join, each boy must have an adult partner, who participates in all activities with the boy. The Tiger Cub motto is "Search, Discover, Share".

More women are choosing to start their own businesses, the U. S. Department of Labor has reported. The number of women-owned businesses in the U. S. rose from 1.9 million in 1977 to 3.3 million in 1983.

ANTHONY'S

We're Good at Making You Look Great!

--Rule--

By Vicky Anderson
Rule's first Memorial Day service for the veterans of all wars was on Monday night, May 29, at the Rule Cemetery.

A large crowd was there to pay tribute, and individual flags had been placed on each grave. Confederate flags were placed on the Civil War Veterans' graves.

The number of veterans and wars they fought in were: Civil War, 13; Spanish-American, 2; W. W. I, 65; W. W. II, 83; Korean, 3; and Vietnam, 1.

Participating in the program were: Harold Woods, who sang "The Star-Spangled Banner"; Susan and Larry Lefevre, who sang "God Bless America" and "This is My Country".

Brother J. R. Williams of the First Baptist Church read "In Flanders Field" and "The Answer to Flanders Field".

Brother John Greeson of the Church of Christ gave an inspiring talk on "What Veterans Day" means and the program ended with Brother Mel Swoyer of Faith Lutheran Church playing "Taps".

A. B. Arnett was coordinator of the program.

Attending the annual China Painters workshop on May 14 through the 19th at Concan were Mrs. Frances Davis, Mrs. Mildred Chambers, Mrs. Faye Dunnam from Rule, and Mrs. Anita Herren and Mrs. Doris Reeves from Haskell.

Memorial weekend visitors of Maxine and Malcolm Herttenberger were their son, Lane, his wife, Cathy, and their daughters, Kelly and Holly from Abilene.

Tiffany Welborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cannon, made the Dean's Honor List with a grade point average of 3.5 for the spring semester at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. Tiffany is a senior and is majoring in Nutrition and Dietetics.

Keith Wilcox, infant son of Paula and Jackie Wilcox, has recently been a patient in St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock for tests. He is improving at this time.

Wade Welborn, student at Texas A&M, spent Memorial weekend with his parents, Jerry and Molly Cannon.

Apologies go to Kyle Wilson, who was mistakenly identified as a sophomore. Kyle, a junior at Rule

High School, placed fourth at the State Track Meet in discus. His brother, Kody, is the one who is a sophomore.

Attending a recent five-day state porcelain convention in Lubbock were: Joyce Turner, Helen Pinkard, Frances Davis, Barbara Kyle from Rule, and Anita Herren and Doris Reeves from Haskell.

Going for one day were Aleene Wilson, Margie Casey, Mildred Chambers and Faye Dunnam.

Congratulations to coach Wes Kitley and to the Lady Wildcats from ACU who came in second in the NCAA Division II Women's National Outdoor Track and Field Meet which was held in Hampton, VA., on Saturday night, May 27.

They were beaten out by Cal-Poly-San Luis Obispo. This ended a string of four straight team titles by ACU (1985-1988).

Bertha McQuinn is home from the Haskell Hospital and is improving at this time.

Velma Gann is also making a satisfactory recovery from recent surgery in an Abilene hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cannon entertained with a barbecue in honor of their daughter and new son-in-law, Tiffany and Tim Glenn on May 27. They had just returned from their honeymoon in the Bahamas.

Mrs. Vida White's fifth grade class entertained a group of parents, grandparents, other relatives, and former teachers on Tuesday afternoon, May 30 with a presentation of "Christmas comes to Hamelin".

Afterward, punch and cookies were served to the group. Everyone present had a good time.

Thanks to all who have given me news information and encouragement.

The kindergarten through fourth grades presented a musical entitled "Going Buggy" to a packed house on the morning of May 31. The program was a tremendous success with parents, teachers and friends.

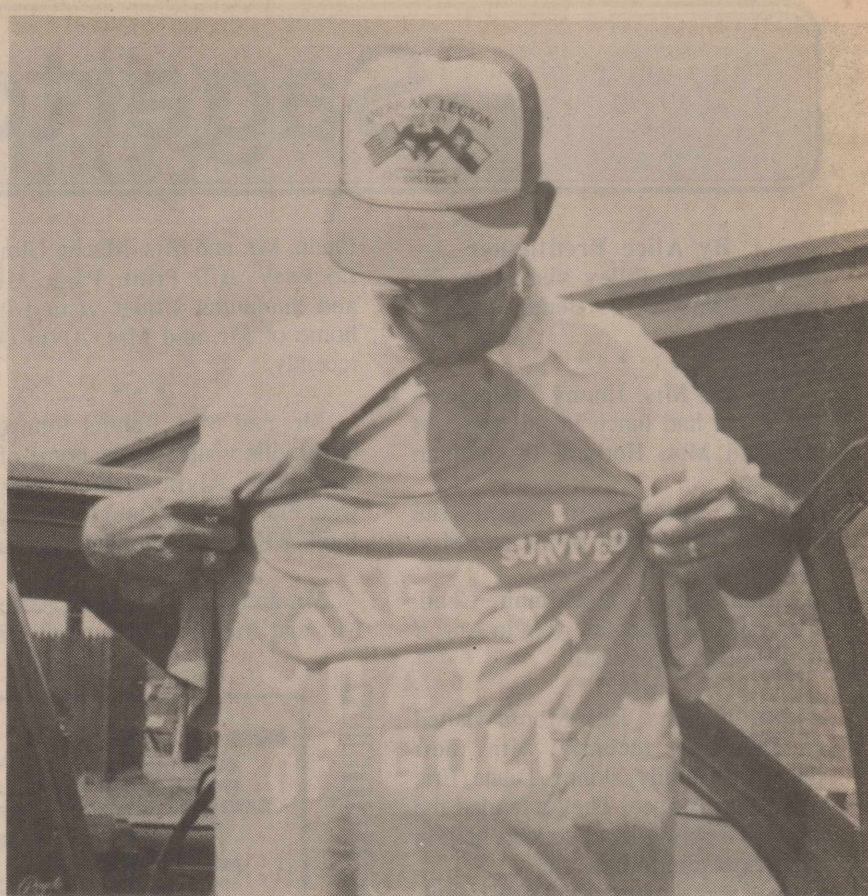

From the Rule Reminder: Some people complain that God puts thorns on roses, while others praise Him for putting roses on thorns.

A while back Iona Sellers and Laura Mae Boyd were in Eastland to visit former Rule resident, Fay Gibson at the Valley View Nursing home there. She was doing fine at the time and glad to see old friends from home.

On Memorial Day, Parnell and Vicky Anderson went to McCaulley to see their friends, Bobby and Shirley Ferguson. Although confined to a wheelchair, Mr. Ferguson seems to be improving from his recent stroke.

Geraldine Pool and Iona Sellers were in Midland over the Memorial Day weekend to attend the wedding of their nephew, Steve Barbee, son of former Rule resident, Ernest "Tinker" Barbee. They made a trip on Friday and returned home on Sunday in time for the funeral of Norris Anders.

Dovie Anderson was in Jal, N.M., for Memorial Day weekend visiting her son, Gerald and family. On Sunday night, all 14 of Gerald's guest were invited to the home of their minister for an ice cream supper.

--Weinert--

By Myrtle Plemister

We received some rain this past week, though it was scattered over our area.

Wayne Hutchinson reported two inches, with a bit of hail in the northeast area; with less amounts and wind in the others. We continue to feel fortunate.

We extend sympathy to Susie and Pud Brockett upon the death of her nephew's wife, Mrs. E.C. Collins. She died in a traffic accident south of Haskell on Sunday afternoon. Juanita Grimes is a cousin of the deceased. Our sympathy to all.

Edna Boykin sends greetings to her friends in Weinert, via telephone, and reports she is well and staying busy, and extends an invitation to visit her.

The Baptist Church is involved in a Vacation Bible School for the youth in our community. It will continue through Friday. Visitors are welcome.

Francis Mahan and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mahan hosted the monthly fellowship dinner of the Church of Christ on Sunday, June 4. Some of the group traveled to Benjamin later to attend the first Sunday singing hosted by the Benjamin Church of Christ.

Jerry and Wanda Hester with Stacy and Laurie were in Haskell Sunday for a visit with her parents, Hugh and Bea Miller.

Other guests were their son, Tommy and Nece Miller with Brooke and Emily of Breckenridge.

Cherie Hutchinson is in Austin this week to taken her cosmetology tests prior to starting her career as a beauty operator. Her plans at this time is to join a group in Munday after she receives her certificate. Congratulations!

Leonard and Linda Mahan with Donald attended a barbecue dinner on Memorial Day, hosted by Steve Pepper and his Rolling Plains Well Service, Inc., of Knox City. Over 100 employees and their families were in attendance at the affair.

Marvin and Myrtle Plemister were in Canyon Lake for a get-together with their son, David, and other family members, as they celebrated the graduation from New Braunfels High School of their youngest grandson, Marcus Plemister.

Marcus was honoree at a party hosted by his family, Mr. and Mrs. David Plemister and Greg, on Thursday, June 1, in the spacious community room of the Cedar Terrace Condos, which the family manages.

R. S. and Betty Sanders spent a few days in Los Alamos, N.M., with their son, Larry and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Harlan, with three-month-old Jacqueline, were up from Gideon to visit in the home of her grandparents, J. T. and Florence Alexander and to introduce them to their newest great-granddaughter.

Other out-of-town guests in the Alexander home were their son, J. W. Alexander of McKinney, and J. T.'s sister, Melba Kim of Phoenix, Ariz.

We extend congratulations to Cynthia Costello and Rufus Lopez of Rochester who were married on Thursday night, June 1, at the Catholic Church in Haskell.

Our birthday people this week include Larry Bruggeman, Joe Yates, Raymond Mathison and Bob Raynes. Happy Birthday!

Congratulations to Alton and Mildred Sanders who will celebrate a wedding anniversary on June 12.

Eddie and Myrnie Sanders were in Wichita Falls on Monday for a dental appointment.

Helen Turnbow has the pleasure of discarding her leg cast and will soon be able to discard her crutches. In the meantime she is getting used to new dentures. Good Luck!

Out of town guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Castillo include their son, Reuben, of Garland, their daughter, Felix and Augustine Seballos, with Aaron and Andy of Abilene, and Angie's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Gonzales, of Denton. They were here to attend the wedding of Cynthia Costello.

Perry Patton.

Other guests of the Walkers were their daughter, Cindy Parrott of Wichita Falls and Justin, who remained to attend the Baptist V.B.S.

Mrs. Bobby Raynes took her mother, Oleta Williams, to Tulsa for a visit in the home of her sister there.

Thank you from the mother and family of Mary Evelyn Davis:

May God bless everyone who helped out in the death of my darling daughter and sister. The food, the flowers, the prayers and visits meant more than we can tell you. I love you and pray God will bless you all.

Mrs. J. D. Davis, Calvin and Frank and the whole family.

Approximately 50 descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Garrett met in the Weinert Community Center on Saturday and Sunday, June 3 and 4, for their annual family reunion, with Ida and Willie Farrel in charge.

It was a "tearful" get-together as the family members reminisced about

Five of the children were present and included Tab Garrett of Abilene; Maxine Boling of Olney; Joe Edd of Abilene; Beatrice Curd and Dora Dixon of Haskell; and Ida Farrel of Weinert.

GIVE YOUR ELECTRIC METER A TURN FOR THE BETTER.

You can slow down the wheels on your Electric Meter and lower Summer Cooling Bills when you follow these helpful tips:

- Set your thermostat on 78° or higher and use ceiling or portable fans to help circulate the air.
- Have your air conditioner serviced annually and once a month, check the filter. A dirty filter can keep your air conditioner from working efficiently.
- Keep doors, windows, and drapes firmly closed to keep cool air in and heat out.
- Protect ceiling and walls with adequate insulation. Make sure cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with caulking and weatherstripping.
- Use heat producing appliances, like ranges, dishwashers, and dryers during the cooler part of the day.
