Hans Overton gets Scout award

First Class Scout Hans Overton received the God and Church Award in Scouting in a most impressive ceremony Sunday at the Paint Creek Methodist Church.

Hans has worked with his pastor, Rev. Kenny Kirk, on this award for more than a year. It required an hour every week studying with the pastor, plus a notebook published by the United Methodist Church to be filled in by the Scout on Bible study in both the Old and New Testaments, the history of the Methodist Church and some rather soul searching questions of the Scout himself, plus 18 hours of personal service to his church.

The congregation of the Paint Creek Methodist Church is very proud of Hans.

Sharla Jetton gets scholarship

Sharla Jetton, a sophomore at Hardin-Simmons University from Haskell, received the Maurice and Esther Crawford Scholarship.

This is her second time to receive this award. Jetton is the daughter of Nelda Rose Jetton and the granddaughter of Opal Rose.

Maurice Crawford is a 1932 graduate of Hardin-Simmons. His wife, the former Esther Rogers is a 1934 graduate of HSU. They are retired and make their home in Wichita Falls.

Rainfall normal for first 6 months

Haskell reached the year's half-way point with moisture total almost exactly normal.

Moisture of 3.43 inches during the month of June brought the six-month total to 11.17 inches, said Sam Herren, weather recorder. This compares with a normal of 11.15 inches during the first half of the year.

Temperatures during June ranged from a low of 58 degrees on June 5 to a high of 97 on June 21.

Congressman Charles Stenholm talks with local constituents in Haskell Monday morning.

Stenholm defends gun control stand

Congressman Charles Stenholm, addressing a group assembled Monday morning at Haskell National Bank's Community Room, defended his stand on gun control legislation by saying that he is for the same type of control that the NRA advocated in 1964.

"I just can't believe the constitution guarantees a mentally incompetent person the right to purchase a gun," said the congressman.

Stenholm said he opposed 24 of the 25 gun control bills introduced. But he said he does support the one calling for a waiting period. "It's gotten me in a lot of trouble with the NRA," he said.

The congressman also defended the honoraria system, saying he feels the present system which allows congressmen to receive an amount equal to 30 percent of their salaries from other sources (primarily speaking fees) is fair and reasonable. Speaking fees are limited to $2,000,

Singers to convene at church Sunday

It's that time again.

For the 24th consecutive year, the Haskell Church of Christ will host a singing school.

Registration will be Sunday and the singing school will be conducted Monday through Saturday (July 10-15).

And as he has since the beginning, Holland Boring Sr. will direct the school. Bob Connel, former minister of the Haskell church, also will be one of the instructors.

Fundamentals of music and singing are taught during the week-long school. All instructors have written many Christian hymns, and in many ways this is the focus of the school.

Hymn appreciation, as well as the basics of song-writing, are shared throughout the week. In the advanced classes, students actually write songs during and after the singing school.

Many extra activities go on throughout the week. The young people who attend the Haskell singing school are housed in the homes of members of the Haskell Church of Christ.

The school is open to anyone of any age who would like to participate.

Cheerleader camp

Allergy testing services now available in Haskell

The list of services offered by the Haskell Clinic increased last week when the availability of allergy testing for patients was added.

Under the direct supervision of Dr. Wayne Cadenhead, allergy testing will determine if a patient is allergic to the most common allergens known in this area.

If necessary, two screening tests can be administered by allergy technician Charles Harvey. This is a blood test done on serum obtained by a simply drawing blood one time.

Certified as an allergy technician through Pharmacia Diagnostics at a training session in Fairfield, N. J., Harvey obtains the results from an IBM computer specifically designed for allergy testing.

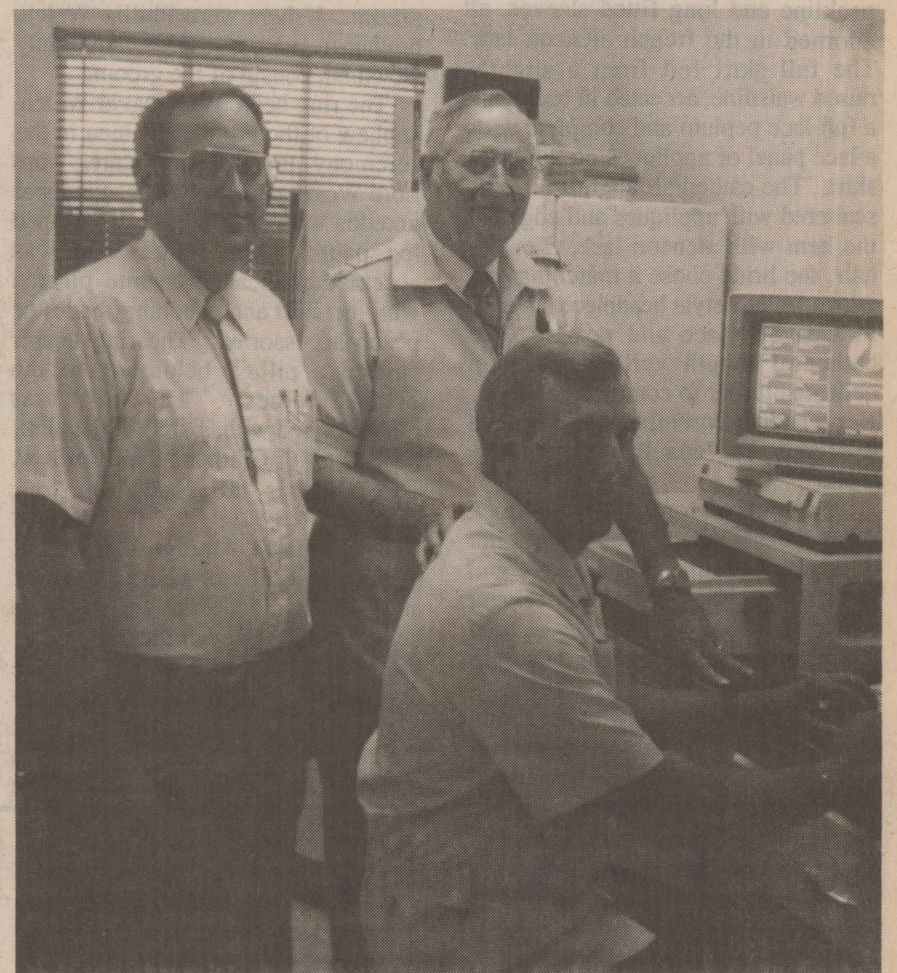

Within three days, the patient and the patient's physician will receive a computer printout which determines if the patient is or is not allergic to the allergens relative to this area.

A list of these allergens, designated by Dr. Cadenhead, include grasses, weeds, trees, epidermals (cats, dogs and horses), molds, foods and house dust mites.

A series of injections to combat a detected allergy will be mixed at the Haskell Clinic. Injections can be administered at the Haskell Clinic or by remote physicians for referred patients.

The Haskell Clinic has the state-of-the-art allergy determination equipment. Also available for problem allergies will be direct skin testing.

"We're trying to provide a service for this area. Our intentions are to offer quality healthcare closer to home," Dr. Cadenhead said.

The cost of the allergy testing varies with the testing done. Simple screening tests are $60. More extensive allergy determination costs $350 to perform.

All testing will be done on a private pay basis and by appointment only. Appointments are available on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

For more information concerning the allergy test contact the Haskell Clinic.

Hines, Jones marry in Dallas

Paula Jo Hines and Daniel Emory Jones, both of Dallas, were united in marriage at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 17, in Ellis Chapel at Park Cities Baptist Church in Dallas. Rev. Don Dendy, minister of education at Park Cities Baptist Church, officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen L. Hines of Levelland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Jones of Linden.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal ivory gown of chiffonette, imported French alencon lace and bridal pearls. The fitted bodice featured a queen anne neckline and long fitted sleeves, all adorned in the french alencon lace. The full skirt fell from a slightly raised waistline, accented in back with a full lace peplum and complete with a lace panel of appliques on the front skirt. The cathedral length train was scattered with appliques and edged at the hem with alencon lace. For her hair, the bride chose a matching veil with a Juliette style headpiece covered in alencon lace and pearls. The cathedral length veil also held a delicate blusher to complete the look. Her wedding ensemble was designed expressly by Jena Bridals of New York.

The groom wore a Robert Stock tuxedo designed by Robert Wagner with notch satin lapel, pockets and leg stripes. The tapered center vent was accented with a white pleated wing tip shirt and matching black tie and cummerbund.

The maid of honor was Linda Hines, sister of the bride, the matron of honor was Jane Wigginton, friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Nancy Welch, sister of the bride; Stephanie Carter, niece of the bride; and Barbara Foster, friend of the bride.

The flower girl was Erika Ayers, cousin of the groom. The attendants and flower girl wore tea length satin in peach. The bodice featured a dropped-waist with a matching dropped-waist overlay of Maria Galloon lace. Matching peach accessories completed their ensemble.

Members of the groom's party included best man Dennis Jones, brother of the groom; Ken Hetherington, Steve Fant, Jeff Nun and Phil Oglesby, all friends of the groom. Ushers were Phillip Welch, brother-in-law of the bride, and Randy Newman, cousin of the groom.

The ring bearer was David Welch, nephew of the bride. The men in the ceremony and the ring bearer wore Lord West basic black teal satin lapel tuxedos with adjustable satin striped leg pants. The center vent was accented with an off-white pleated wing-tip shirt and matching shades of peach accessories. The ring bearer carried a pillow belonging to the bride's father. The pill was embroidered with "baby" in the pink, as it was the father's baby pillow. The bride is the "baby" of four daughters.

The organist, Martha Wainwright, played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "Fantasia" as the guests were being seated. The families entered to the "Water Music Suite". The organist played "Trumpet Tune in D Major" as the groomsmen escorted the attendants to the altar and the minister and groom entered. The traditional "Wedding March" was played for the bride's processional. A vocal solo, "O Promise Me", was sung by Barbara Foster as the mothers of the bride and groom joined them at the altar for the lighting of the unity candle. The wedding prayer, "The Lord's Prayer", was sung by Dennis Jones. The organ played the traditional "Wedding March" recessional as the couple exited.

The bride's mother wore a pastel peach silk crepe tea length formal. The bodice has a jewel neckline, long sleeves and a blouson waistline accented with a peach satin cummerbund. The groom's mother chose an ice blue georgette crepe gown with long tapered sleeves, a jewel neckline, chemise bodice with flounced tea length skirt, and accented with matching venice lace.

To follow tradition, the bride borrowed her wedding dress from her sister, Nancy Welch, to symbolize something borrowed, carried a hand tatted ring handkerchief to symbolize something old, wore a strand of pearls given to her by the groom to symbolize something new, and wore a garter decorated with blue ribbon to symbolize something blue.

Following the double ring ceremony, a reception was given by the parents of the bride in Ellis Parlor at Park Cities Baptist Church. The bride's table held a four tier French vanilla with stawberry filling wedding cake. The cake was decorated with fleur-de-lis, ruffles, garlands, string-work tied with love knots and adorned with peach silk roses. The heart shaped cake top held four cascading ivory satin wedding bells and was accented with scallops filled with lattice work. Silver punch bowls, candelabras and serving pieces decorated the table. Kathy Snyder, Lori Carlson, Karen Shaefer and all friends of the bride, served the bride's cake and punch during the reception.

The groom's table held a triple fudge cake decorated with two tone frosting and accented with fudge roses. The porcelain bride and groom on the heart shaped pedestal topped the groom's parent's wedding cake 40 years ago. Mrs. Dennis Jones, sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Paul Ayers, cousin of the groom, served his cake and coffee to the guests. A silver coffee server and silver serving pieces decorated the table. The wedding cakes were made by Gwen

Gray of Plano.

After a honeymoon trip to Hawaii, the couple will make their home in Dallas.

The parents of the groom hosted a dinner for the wedding party on June 16 following the wedding rehearsal at Ellis Chapel. The rehearsal dinner was held at Tony Roma's restaurant in Dallas.

A general wedding shower was hosted on April 22 at the home of Mrs. Betty Hetherington of Linden. Other hostesses were Martha Hamilton, Glenda Holder, Pat Keese, Ann Wilson, Jo Miller, Judy Sullivan, Ann Hargett, Jo Whalley, Martha Ramage, Bobby Hamilton, Dood O'Rear, Pearlie Wells, Sally Hamilton, Nannette Henry, Terri Boland and Frances Washington. Honored guests were Mrs. Glen L. Hines, mother of the bride; Mrs. Emory R. Jones, mother of the groom; Miss Linda Hines and Mrs. Phillip Welch, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Dennis Jones, sister-in-law of the groom; and David Welch, nephew of the bride.

A general shower was hosted on May 13 at the First National Bank Party Room in Levelland. Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. Dave Graf, Miss Patrice Cowan, Mrs. Betty Bush and Mrs. Gary Mahaffey. Honored guests at the shower were Mrs. Emory R. Jones, mother of the groom; Mrs. Paul Ayers, Erika Ayers and Dayna Ayers, cousins of the groom; and Miss Linda Hines, sister of the bride.

A bridal tea was hosted in honor of Miss Paula Hines by Barbara Foster in Dallas on June 3 at the home of Mrs. Bill Wigginton. The honored guest at the tea was Kay Martin, cousin of the groom.

A bridal luncheon was hosted for ladies in the wedding party by Mrs. Bill Wigginton on June 16 at her home in Dallas. The guests included Miss Paula Hines, Mrs. Glen L. Hines, Mrs. Emory R. Jones, Miss Linda Hines, Ms. Barbara Foster, Mrs. Phillip Welch, Miss Stephanie Carter and Mrs. Paul Ayers.

Heart attack: Symptoms, treatment

(11th in a series)
What are the symptoms of a heart attack?

Sometimes the first indications of a heart attack come as warning signals. The actual diagnosis of a heart attack must be made by a physician who has studied the results of several tests.

Besides reviewing a patient's complete medical history and giving a physical examination, the doctor will use an electrocardiogram (EKG) to discover any abnormalities caused by damage to the heart. A blood test is sometimes used to detect abnormal levels of certain enzymes in the bloodstream.

How is a heart attack treated?

When a heart attack occurs, it's critical to recognize the signals and respond immediately. Most of the heart attack victims who die do so within two hours from the time the signals begin.

Time is critical. Anyone experiencing the warning signals of a heart attack should be taken immediately to the nearest hospital with 24-hour emergency cardiac care.

If a person becomes unconscious before reaching the emergency room, he or she may receive emergency cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

Most communities have an emergency cardiac care system that can quickly respond to an emergency. This prompt care for heart attack victims dramatically reduces the damage from a heart attack.

In fact, 80 percent of the people who survive a heart attack are able to return to work within three months. Prompt care for heart attack victims isn't the only reason so many people recover so quickly, but it's an important one.

The importance of time cannot be overemphasized. When a coronary artery gets blocked, the heart muscle doesn't die instantaneously—damage increases with time.

If a victim gets to an emergency room fast enough, a technique called reperfusion therapy (or thrombolysis) sometimes can be performed. It involves injecting a thrombolytic (clot dissolving) agent, such as streptokinase, urokinase or TPA (tissue plasminogen activator), to dissolve a clot in a coronary artery.

These drugs must be used within a few (usually one to three) hours of a heart attack. The sooner the drug is used, the more effective it's likely to be.

Sometimes PTCA is performed very soon after a heart attack. Often it's done at the same time as thrombolysis. This is still considered experimental and is being evaluated at several medical centers.

In the weeks following a heart attack either PTCA or coronary artery bypass surgery may be performed to improve the blood supply to the heart muscle. Once part of the heart muscle has died, its function can't be restored. Function may be restored to areas of the muscle that have decreased blood flow, however.

Is there any way to reduce the chance of a heart attack?

Many scientific studies show that certain characteristics increase the risk of coronary heart disease. These danger signs are called risk factors.

The three major modifiable risk factors are high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol and cigarette smoking. Other contributing factors are diabetes mellitus, obesity and physical inactivity.

The American Heart Association urges Americans to control their modifiable risk factors. Also, people with angina should take episodes of chest pain seriously and see their doctor before their atherosclerosis progresses to the point of a heart attack.

Tax base declining in school districts

The property tax base of Texas school districts dropped by 3.37 percent in value from its 1987 level, according to the State Property Tax Board (SPTB). The agency's 1988 property value study estimates the taxable value in the state's 1,056 school districts was $646.1 billion as of Jan. 1, 1988.

Ron Patterson, the SPTB's executive director, noted that 1988 was the third straight year in which the value of the school district tax base declined. "School districts have lost over $56 billion in taxable value since 1985," he said.

Patterson explained that state law requires the SPTB to make annual estimates of the taxable property values in each school district. "Our value estimate is one of the factors the Texas Education Agency uses to determine the amount of state aid a school district receives for the upcoming school year," he said. "The SPTB values indicate the capacity of a school district's tax base to fund a basic education program."

The study shows that taxable values declined in 628 school districts and increased in 428 districts. Yantis ISD in Wood County had the biggest value increase of any school district in the state, with an increase of 62 percent. The biggest value loss was in Laureles ISD in Kleberg County, with a 37 percent drop in value. Patterson believes that a generally weak real estate market had a lot to do with the decline in taxable values. "Falling prices for real estate, overbuilding and weak demand all helped lower the value of single-family residences, multifamily housing, vacant lots and commercial real estate," he said. "The value of multifamily housing was also affected by changes in federal tax law which took away many of the advantages of owning apartments that were losing money."

Patterson noted that the five percent decline in the value of mineral properties—mostly oil and gas reserves—was much less than in the previous two years. "Oil and gas prices had stabilized somewhat by January 1988," he said. "However, these prices were still very low compared to prices in the early 1980s, which discouraged exploration for new reserves. As a result, the existing reserves shrank in size and in value."

Among the few property categories that increased in value between the 1987 and 1988 studies were commercial and industrial personal property. "Their growth indicates that inventories and business equipment were increasing at the start of 1988," said Patterson. He noted that economic indicators for this period from the state comptroller's office showed growth in retail sales, factory output and exports in Texas.

The SPTB conducts its annual study of school district taxable values together with a study of the tax appraisals performed by appraisal districts. The agency analyzed sales and appraisal information for 185,000 properties from across the state in its 1988 study.

For more detailed information on the study results, contact the SPTB for a copy of the booklet, Report of the Findings of the 1988 Property Value Study of School and Appraisal Districts. The price of the booklet is $2.16, tax included.

Comptroller asks for changes now

State comptroller Bob Bullock says the state should not wait for a Supreme Court decision on the state's school finance system, but go forward with needed changes right away.

"There's no sense complaining about court intervention when we have a chance to do what's right for the school children of Texas before the Supreme Court makes a ruling," Bullock said. "The legislature is in session now. Let's step in and address our school finance problems."

"DECISIONS MADE EARLY"

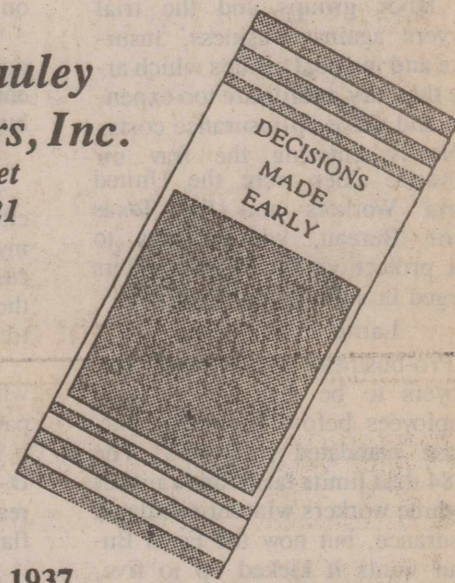

Many people plan for what might happen—fire, burglary, injury, and accidents. Now more and more people are planning for what will inevitably happen. It simply makes good sense to prepare for that which we can not avoid.

Pre-need funeral arranging allows one to control the type of service they would prefer, select a means of financing it, freeze the prices at to-days price, and save loved ones the anguish of deciding these matters at a later date. Really it is the loving thing to do for your family.

TAX PLANNING

TAX TIPS FOR INDIVIDUALS

Your might save yourself some tax dollars by knowing a few nontechnical things about your tax return. Here is one place where little knowledge can be a good thing.

Here are a few tips to serve as "red flags" to warn you of tax considerations in financial transactions.

- If you have income other than from wages, you may be subject to paying quarterly tax estimates.

- Keep a file showing all expenditures on your home. When you sell your home, your accountant can determine which expenditures were improvements and, therefore, a tax benefit.

- Make gifts of income-producing property if your financial position warrants it. The gifted asset will be out of your estate, and the future income will be taxed to the new owner of the property.

- If you or your spouse is age 55 or older at the time you sell your principal residence, you may be entitled to exclude $125,000 of the gain from the sale.

- Consider "bunching" your itemized deductions into every other year. You may be able to save taxes by using the itemized deduction in the year of bunching and the standard deduction the following year.

- If you are subject to the "Medicare surtax," you might want to consider investing in tax-free securities.

- If lump-sum distributions from a retirement plan are rolled into an individual retirement account (IRA) within 60 days, the taxes will be deferred until you draw money from the IRA.

If we can be of assistance with the items mentioned here, or if you would like additional "red flag planning tips" please contact us.

Most legislative work behind scene

AUSTIN—Texas lawmakers, hoping someone will blink in the special session standoff, left for the holiday weekend trusting a hot July Fourth will cool frustrations. Most action was behind the scenes with little results as House panel members debated a controversial workers' compensation reform package deemed crucial to the Texas economy.

Earlier, acting quickly, the Senate approved and sent the House

The new law, which allows police agencies to withhold the names of felony crime victims, has angered news organizations and confused law enforcement departments.

A bill upgrading the two-year, upper division University of Texas at Dallas to full-university status passed quickly.

Sponsors dubbed the new school "MIT on the Trinity," a bow to famous Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to stress hopes it will become a world-class university in new technology.

Another Jim Wright? An Aug. 12 special election was set by Clements to replace U.S. Rep. Jim Wright, who resigned his congressional seat last Friday. Democrats seem to be rallying behind Pete Geren, while the GOP leans to Dr. Bob Lanier, allergist and TV personality.

Meanwhile, James C. Wright 3rd, 44-year-old son of the former House speaker and a resident of Riconada, New Mexico, confirmed that he has been encouraged to return to Fort Worth and run for Congress.

Although he is not currently a Texas resident, the younger Wright could run for the office as long as he establishes a Texas residence by August 12, said Brad Gahn, Texas assistant secretary of state.

The door is also open for several state legislators to run without giving up their present office, including Texas House Speaker Gib Lewis, state Sen. Hugh Parmer, and others, assuming the special session is over by then.

On another front, Houston businessman Tommy Fatjo threw his hat in the race for Comptroller on the GOP ticket.

Fatjo, a new face on the political stage, is a successful entrepreneur who has ample pro-business support as a base.

Other Highlights

- Texas' number one good citizen, H. Ross Perot, entered the mysterious Treaty Oak poisoning case by hiring specialists across the nation to save the 600-year-old tree.

Austin police arrested a suspect who may have poisoned the tree as part of a magic spell.

- State Sen. Craig Washington, D-Houston, said he'll fight a resolution to protect the American flag from protest burning.

he said, adding, "most of mine are $1,000 or less."

And travel expenses are necessary if congressmen are to travel to give speeches and voice their views. "There are few of those speeches I could give if I didn't get expenses," he said.

The congressman said he has enjoyed serving this district for the past 10 1/2 years. "The only downside is the family sacrifice one must make," he said.

Stenholm's remarks followed a question and answer session during which he fielded questions on catastrophic health insurance, the farm program, nursing homes, federal funds for rural areas and trade with China.

His visit to Haskell was one stop on a whirlwind tour of the district.

Haying, grazing privileges granted

Drought conditions have severely affected the availability of livestock feed and forage supplies in Haskell County.

To remedy these conditions, USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service recently gave farm program participants here special permission on haying and grazing privileges on acreage conservation reserve (ACR) and conserving use (CU) acres.

"Our objective is to help livestock producers through this difficult period while also preserving the stands of grass and the wildlife that nest there," said Glenn Brzozowski, county executive director of the ASCS office.

Other drought-relief measures approved by USDA include statewide haying and grazing on annually idled acres, the relaxation of forage sales policies on this land, emergency feed programs and haying on FmHA inventory lands.

According to Brzozowski, there are no CRP acres which may be used for haying or grazing and approximately 70,500 acres of ACR and CU acres may be used for grazing and haying. The drought assistance measures are expected to benefit more than 900 producers in Haskell County.

To take advantage of these options, producers must apply in person at the county ASCS office. "No haying or grazing is permitted without prior approval by the Haskell County ASC committee," Brzozowski said.

Senate to debate health options

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, says the committee will meet in July to debate a proposal that would allow older Americans to drop out of the Medicare catastrophic coverage program.

Bentsen noted that the committee originally called for a voluntary approach to catastrophic coverage.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

Charles Stenholm told a Haskell audience Monday that he knows what it is to be a minority.

"I'm the only Swedish Lutheran in Congress," said the congressman.

The following is adapted from the entry "Burma Shave Signs," in the History and Manners section of the Encyclopedia of Southern Culture:

In 1930 travelers on southern roads joined in a rapidly spreading national pastime—reading Burma Shave signs. Set 100 paces apart along the roadside, a series of six signs contained a catchy jingle promoting Burma Shave, a new brushless shaving cream.

In Minneapolis in 1925, Clinton Odell and his sons introduced Burma Shave, the key product of their Burma-Vita Company. A year later they began using sets of roadside signs with catchy jingles to plug the new product.

Though lacking the population density, and therefore the potential market, of urbanized regions, the South offered many locations suitable for the Burma Shave signs.

Having found a good spot, the company agent contacted the owner of the land and offered him a jar of Burma Shave and a small fee for a year's lease of the site.

Many of the farmers purportedly became very attached to the signs, repairing them when damaged and willingly renewed the leases. This facet of the automobile age changed southern landscapes, and a new product became part of changing lifestyles.

By the mid-1950s the Burma-Vita Company faced decline, and in 1963 Phillip Morris, Inc., bought the company and abandoned the signs. The demise of Burma Shave signs caught the public's attention, and one set of signs was eventually placed in the Smithsonian Institution.

The Census on Agriculture reveals there are 2,087,759 farms in the United States.

Nearly one half of them, 1,028,286, had annual sales of less than $10,000, meaning there are 1,059,573 with sales above that amount. Those have average sales of $125,187.

The Census Bureau defines a farm as any place where $1,000 or more of agricultural products were produced and sold during the census year.

Another interesting point in the census is that livestock and poultry sales account for 57 percent of agricultural sales, while crops account for only 43 percent.

Model airplane show

Model airplane fliers converged on Haskell from all directions Sunday and spent the day chasing all sorts of prizes.

Spectators and fliers selected the "Dragon Lady" plane belonging to Bill Nemir of Haskell as the prettiest one there.

The ugliest plane "honors" went to Kirk Styles of Throckmorton. Worst crash award was taken by Dave Tweelings of Abilene, and it was so minor that he continued flying the same plane the remainder of the day. Joe Gross of Altus, Okla., claimed the distance award.

Seven pilots started the 7-11 scramble event but the heat (either temperature or competition) caused three to drop out of the second round. Winners of the first round were Kirk Styles, first; Dave Tweelings, second; and Don Blewett of Abilene, third.

Second-round results were Dave Tweelings, first; Kirk Styles, second; and Don Blewett, third.

Radio gift certificates were presented to Joe Gross, Charles Martin of Abilene and Gene Patty of Abilene.

Raffle winners were Mike Dulaney, water cooler; Gene Patty, xacto knife set; Randy Koonsman of Throckmorton, dura plane kit; and D. C. Ray of Wichita Falls, expert radio.

Although tired and hot, everyone had a great time and proclaimed they would do it again next year.

Members of the Texas Chiefs Model Airplane Club expressed their thanks to everyone who helped make the event a success.

5 compete in Quanah modeling

Five 4-H champions from Haskell County will model apparel they have created in the annual District Fashion Show Tuesday, July 11, at the Quanah High School Auditorium in Quanah.

Representing Haskell County will be Brooke McGuire, Jennifer Comedy, Marcia Swoyer, Shanna Murphy and Mindy Ballard. They will compete for honors and the right to represent their District in State competition next August in Tyler.

Contestants are judged on their sewing and construction skills, as well as overall appearance, quality of workmanship, wardrobe, coordination, appropriateness of care requirements and the use of comparison shopping techniques.

They will model their creations in a public fashion show at 1:15 p.m. West Texas Utilities Company and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are the sponsors and West Texas Utilities will host a luncheon for the 4-H participants.

Each Senior contestant will compete in one of four categories in the Construction Division and four categories in the Buying Division: Tailored Daywear, Nontailored Daywear, Active Sports and Specialty Wear or Evening Wear.

Intermediate contestants will compete in the Tailored Daywear, Nontailored Daywear, Active Sports and Specialty Wear, Evening Wear and the Buying Division.

Beginner contestants will compete in the Popover Skirt, Active Sportswear, Specialty Wear, Nontailored Daywear and the Buying Division.

Special awards will be presented to the Senior, Intermediate and Beginner exhibiting the best cotton garment or ensemble and the one modeling the best wool or mohair outfit.

Senior, Intermediate and Beginner contestants will be judged in separate groups and compete for awards in their own skill classification. Only the Senior winners advance to the State contest.

Wheat reduction figures given

The U.S. Department of agriculture is requiring a 5-percent acreage reduction for the 1990 wheat program, according to Glenn Brzozowski, county executive director of the Haskell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services. This compares to the 10 percent acreage reduction required for the current wheat crop.

Wheat producers who comply with the acreage reduction requirement will be eligible for price support loans at a national average rate of $1.95 per bushel and target price protection at $4 per bushel. Brzozowski said the program will not have a paid land diversion, nor marketing loan provisions.

"The acreage conservation reserve area will equal 5.26 percent of the program payment acreage," Brzozowski said.

He said the lower acreage reduction requirement for the 1990 wheat program reflects a need for increased production to rebuild drought-reduced stocks and to meet an expected increase in demand. U.S. wheat stocks totaled 1.2 billion bushels as of March 1 of this year, down about 700 million bushels from a year earlier.

Common program provisions for wheat and other crops will be announced later, Brzozowski said.

--Weinert--

By Myrtle Phemister
The temperature soared to 112 degrees at Weinert on Sunday, July 2. A bad time for an air-conditioner to take "a break" (as ours did) and the cool front that blew in about 9 p.m. was a "breath-saver".

It is truly cotton-growing weather and the cotton (and weeds) are doing just that. Farmers are spending more on hoeing this year than the past few years because of the rain. I've heard no complaining, things are lookin' good!

Weinert extends sympathy to the family of Joe Lee Ferguson who died June 13 at the age of 88. His memorial services were held in Springfield, Ore., where the family has lived since moving there from Weinert in 1950.

An interesting account of the Ferguson family is included in the Sanders book, "Just Passing Thru Weinert". He was a brother to a former governor of Texas, James E. Ferguson, and his family played a great part in the settling and establishing of Haskell County.

The Ferguson children, Lavon, Nell and Joe Lee, Jr., all attended Weinert schools, and have gone on to further their education and make their place in the world.

Joe Lee, Jr. died at the age of 50 in California. Lavon resides in Oregon and Nell lives in El Paso. The Ferguson family is remembered fondly and we extend our sincere sympathy at Joe Lee's passing.

Our prayers are for John A. Mayfield as he recovers from a heart attack he suffered last Thursday. He remains in the Critical Care Unit in Hendricks Hospital in Abilene and is some improved. His family are at the League House there, and remain close by.

Roy and Muri Alexander of Lubbock spent a few days with his mother, Bertie Alexander and her daughter, Audra and Bob Schindler of Abilene, are with her this week. She continues needing care and our prayers for her recovery.

Our other sick are as usual and have not worsened. They include Harvey Griffis, Bunt Herricks, and Florence Alexander. Word that Jimmy Alexander is improving in health after his three-by-pass surgery is good news.

The Robert and Beatrice Hutchinson descendants met at the Miller Creek Lake near Munday for their annual family reunion on June 24, with each of the six children in attendance and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren also present.

The families of Bobby, Christine Meers and Jerry, of Munday, Lester of Weinert, Jean and Eunice of Arlington, enjoyed the presence of their aunts, Mrs. Cecil Hutchinson of Munday, and their uncle, R. E. Humphries of Wichita Falls.

There were 42 in attendance at the two-day event and boating, fishing, water-skiing, cooking, eating and visiting were the order of the day, "till next year!"

Mrs. Mavis Alexander with Marty of Horatio, Ark., and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Alexander of Plains, were weekend guests of Pearl Alexander and they all spent some time at the family reunion at Abilene, where the descendants of Jim and Ophelia Alexander gathered at the Kiva Inn for their annual family reunion. Approximately 130 registered.

Frankie Carlisle of Canyon was a guest of her sister Nova and Weldon Walling, and attended worship services at the Weinert Church of Christ, where Weldon is lay minister. They were all in attendance at the Alexander reunion on Saturday.

Marvin and Myrtle Phemister spent last week in Chicago in the home of their grandson Bryan and Rose Phemister and Jonathan.

The country is green, the crops are good and the toll-roads are marvelous time savers! Bryan sent greetings to his friends here.

Faye Brian, Eddie and Myrnie Sanders were in Ft. Worth and Dallas last week for a visit with relatives and a health check-up for Faye.

Frank Vojkufka of Lubbock was in Weinert last week for a visit in the home of Rene Vojkufka and his niece, Mildred Sanders and other relatives.

Frank spends some time at his lake cabin at Brownwood and Weinert is a good place for a coffee break.

Congratulations to Jona and Glenn Caddell who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, July 2, with their four children in attendance and several grandchildren, also.

Pleasant Valley school reunion was held at the Weinert Community Center on Saturday, June 24, with 43 in attendance.

Loretta and Tab Garrett of Abilene were chairmen and introduced Woody Frazier of Haskell who served as Master of Ceremonies at the business meeting.

Those coming the farthest distance were the Ashby family from Denton and Irene Green Neal of Holliday, with her daughter and granddaughter.

A bountiful dinner was spread at 7 p.m. and plans for 1990 were in the making. Pauline and Bud Derr of Haskell will be in charge with Nellie Derr Frazier serving as secretary. Place and time will be announced at a later date. Ida and Willie Farrel have served as chairmen and secretary for the past few years.

We extend sympathy to the family of Mrs. Johnny Reeves (Effie) whose memorial services were held in Clovis, N.M., on Friday. She was 88. Survivors are her sons and their families, Elton, of Clovis, and Kenneth of Amarillo. Nelta and T. E. Reeves of Weinert were in attendance at his aunt's service and burial. The Reeves are former residents of Weinert and their sons attended school here.

Ida and Willie Farrel were in Seymour and Olney on Saturday and celebrated her birthday with a visit overnight with her sister, Maxine and Roy Boling of Olney.

Birthday balloons will fly this week for Angie Castello, Gracie Griffis, Sandra Nichols, Daisy Horan and Michael Adams. Happy Birthday!

Celebrating anniversaries will be H. H. and Juanita Grimes, Jerry and Wanda Hester and Russel and Hazel Rainey-- congratulations!
