Crusade begins Sunday

The Haskell Ministerial Alliance will host an area-wide crusade which begins Sunday and continues through

All services will begin at 8 p.m. at Haskell Indian Stadium. In case of inclement weather, services will be moved to the First Baptist Church.

J. Don George, pastor of Calvary Temple in Irving, will be the evangelist. He has traveled extensively on 13 different missionary journeys, conducting crusades in Europe, Africa, Asia and the Middle East. He also is known through the Southwest as the host of the "Sunday Night Live" telecast which aired weekly from Dallas for eight years.

During the past 16 years, the membership of Calvary Temple under his leadership has grown from 60 to more than 4,500. The church has recently moved into a new 22acre worship and teaching complex on Airport Freeway in Irving.

Music for the crusade will be provided by noted Christian singer and recording artist Jim Fullingim. He has recorded numerous albums of Christian music, featuring his smooth country voice performing a mixture of traditional hymns as well as newer gospel material. He will provide special music during the crusade and will lead in congregational singing.

The Rev. J. C. Amburn, pastor of the First Assembly of God in Haskell, is crusade coordinator. He stressed that one of the goals of the crusade is to reach out into surrounding communities.

"We don't want this to be just a Haskell revival, said Amburn. "We hope to see a good turnout from Stamford, Munday, Aspermont and all the other communities across the area. Brother George is a powerful preacher and we really anticipate that the Lord will use him in a mighty way to reach out to lost souls, as well as in strengthening the saints."

A freewill offering will be received each evening to help defray expenses of the crusade.

Phemisters meet in San Antonio

By Myrtle Phemister

The Seven Oats Hotel in San Antonio was the gathering place for the annual reunion of the descendants of the late Virgil and Ida Phemister family, with eight of the original nine children in attendance, and a total count of 80 present.

There were 16 Texas towns represented and included Rule, Odessa, San Angelo, Abilene, Bedford, Austin, Canyon Lake, Harlingen, Edinburg, Avoca, Haskell, Salado, Montague, Weinert, Sweetwater and the host city, San Antonio.

There were also family members from Evansville, Ind.; Orlando Fla.; Chicago, Ill.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and Los Angeles, Calif.

Mildred and Tommy Perry, with their three daughters, hosted the family reunion with a series of planned events, including a swimming party, a barbecue dinner in Breckenridge Park, a barge ride on the river, a tour of the S. A. S. factory, the river-walk and shopping mall, the zoo, Alamo, Science Museum, with a pizza lunch, sandwich supper and a worship service on Sunday to end the busy schedule of visiting.

At the business meeting on Saturday, the Perrys were unanimously elected to host the gathering at the same place next year, with the third week in June being the time to gather because of the heat of July weather.

Clyde and Birdie Terrell were presented a plaque honoring them for the five years they hosted the family reunion in their hometown of

Comments asked for grain program

Haskell County farmers intersted in corn, sorghum, oats and barley are invited to submit recommendations for the percentage reduction level and other provisions, reminds Glenn Brzozowski, county executive director of the Haskell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Feed grain producers may comment on whether the program should contain an optional land diversion provision, a marketing loan provision, and whether an inventory reduction program should be in effect if a marketing loan is implemented.

"The extent of these requirements should be included in the remarks," Brzozowski said. "The minimum acreage reduction level is 12.5 percent and maximum is 20 percent."

The feed grain remarks may also contain statements on whether loans and purchases should be available to producers who cut their corn for silage, whether malting barley should be exempt from an acreage reduction program, and whether combined or separate feed grain crop acreage bases should be used for implementing reduction and paid land diversion

Other 1990 program decisions involve target prices, premiums and discounts for grades, classes and other qualities, county loan rates, commodity eligibility and other provisions necessary to carry out a loan and purchase program for feed

Brzozowski said the minimum corn target price is $2.75 per bushel. The proposed target price per bushel for grain sorghum is $2.61; oats, $1.45; and if designated by the secretary of agriculture, barley, $2.36.

Recommendations for the 1990 feed grain program must be received by Sept. 5 to be considered. Letters should be addressed to the Director, Commodity Analysis Division, USDA/ASCS, Room 3741-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, DC 20013.

Thomas, Conner families gather

A family reunion for the brothers, sisters, friends and descendants of the late Joel Thomas and Laura Ann Conner was held Saturday and Sunday, July 15-16.

Thirty-five met at Haskell City Park for two and a half hours on July 15 for picture taking, visiting and recording sessions of treasured memories of days gone by.

Then on July 16, at the American Legion building, 85 family members gathered at 10 a.m.

The children, even to the smallest babe, enjoyed the park rides and swimming. They were especially amused with the ducks on the water, and the bridge attracted a lot of attention.

The youngest one was one-yearold Reydan Stewart of Munday and baby infant grandchildren of Wayland and Opal Tidrow, and of J. C. and Dorthy Tidrow of Haskell.

After the delicious meal and a musical by family members, it was agreed by the group that next year's reunion will be during the last week of June in 1990. New hosts will be the family of the late Lloyd and Mamie Conner.

Honoring the oldest family members were: Delia Maye (Conner) Tidrow of Haskell, M. Vergil Conner

Today, the wooden Tower is showing its age. Movies only are shown on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. However, the theater continues to preview the latest movies due to the contacts Mr. Whorton established with film companies years ago.

The couple employs a person to book movies and buy supplies, but they continue to hand deliver the movie calendars to area merchants. Admission is $3 for adults and $1 for children 6-12 years of age.

The Whortons admit they have had a hard time staying in business. Today's television programing and VCRs serve as competition to the theater, but the Whortons are not giving up.

Three generations of the Whorton family have been involved in "show business". In 1919, Mr. Whorton's mother, Kate Whorton, owned a house theater in downtown Rule. His brother operated the theater until Mr. Whorton took over its operation in

The Whortons have owned driveins, operated by their sons, in Llano, Spur and San Saba. Unpredictable weather and the economy are responsible for their closings.

Watching four and five generations of kids grow up through the years, Mrs. Whorton has a philosophy on how the "spark of romance" is

She said it begins when little girls are brought to the drive-in by their parents at age 7 or 8. The girls are usually celebrating a birthday.

Soon, the girls get tired of Mom and Dad and venture to the first row of seats in front of the concession

A few years later, the girls begin to walk around inside the theater and spend their allowance buying items at the concession stand.

Next, the young men are invited to sit with the girls. This is the boys' first chance to put their arms around the girls. (Mrs. Whorton said this is a slow process and is clearly visible from the concession stand.) As soon as the boys find enough courage, the girls jump up and run off.

"The spark of romance begins here," Mrs. Whorton said.

Next, the girls are driving their own cars to the theater. They walk from car to car visiting with other friends. Then, the girls and boys pair off and come by themselves on a date.

Finally, they are married, have children, and the whole process starts over again, she said.

One such tale Mrs. Whorton recalled was a real live western shootout occurred years ago when two young men were fighting over a pretty girl.

Texas citizens have been warned of unauthorized telephone solicitors claiming to represent firefighters.

The warning comes from the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association of Texas.

In an apparent statewide telemarketing campaign, individuals claiming to represent firefighters of Texas have been calling on area businesses trying to sell ads in a fire service publication. It has been reported that when businesses decline the callers have become aggressive and unpleasant.

David Cox, executive director of the association, said the two largestcirculation fire service publications in Texas are not involved. "Our magazine, Texas Firemen, is not involved and I know the firefighters' union publication, The Texas Fire Fighter, is not involved either. Fire departments are easy targets for this kind of fraud because so many of them depend heavily on fund-raising and donations.'

Union representative Mike Higgins said this problem is not new for the Texas fire service. "We've had this problem in the past," he said. "This current operation is not part of any of our 70 affiliated local unions, or any of the other state organizations

we're aware of. Such practices destroy the public's condifence in the fire

State Fire Marshal Ernest Emerson said he hopes anyone receiving these calls will check them out. "The sad truth is that the firefighters of this state have spent years building a relationship with their communities based on confidence and trust, " he said. "I only hope anyone receiving calls like this will check them out with their local fire department."

The Attorney General's office reports that these practices are not not uncommon, although they are definitely illegal. Anyone receiving these calls who feel they have been misled can file a complaint with the AG's office by writing: The State Attorney General of Texas, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 12548, Austin 78711.

Cotton maintains big market share

Cotton continued to hold a healthy share in U.S.-produced apparel and home furnishings in 1988---a year in which those markets did not fare exceedingly well.

An annual National Cotton council market research report indicates cotton's share in 1988 was 32 percent for an estimated consumption of about 8 million bales, down slightly from the previous year's 8.3 million.

Welcome home

By K. B. Lane (This story is dedicated to my little brother, Boone-O, the Bronc Buster.)

My stomach was caught in my throat two weeks ago Sunday afternoon, as we all stood in the emergency room wondering why Nored could not move his left leg.

He had been bucked off his horse and landed on his right shoulder and head. He did not complain of a headache, so it was presumed he had a pinched nerve.

The next day he was checked in Bethania Regional Health Care Center in Wichita Falls.

Our family was told he had damaged the motor cells in the right hemisphere of his brain which controlled movement in his left leg.

'So, what does this mean?" we asked the doctor.

It meant an indefinite stay in the hospital and months of rehabilitation to, essentially, learn how to walk

Fortunately, all signs of danger soon disappeared and we all began to breathe again.

And then it hit me. Noboby would be at our house for me to pester.

I was crushed!

For two weeks, life had no purpose. I had no one to fight with about who got to park on the side driveway. So, I quit parking on the side all together.

Since he was not home, I could no longer aggravate him in the mornings when he woke up in a horrible mood (which was everday).

Although, I must admit not having to share the bathroom was wonderful!

The worst part about his stay in the hospital was all the cherry popsicles were found missing one

I think he plotted revenge after reading my article last week, but I have not proved it yet.

While I was moping around the house like a drooped plant, he was having the time of his life in the hospital.

He was fed three square meals a day during his two-week stay! He said the meals served in the hospital were the best he had ever eaten.

His social life was far from being hampered during his stay. The nurses loved him! He was the only young person on the floor and the nurses catered to his every whim.

Boredom was not even a word in his vocabulary as a 90-year-old patient named "Willie" provided entertainment. Willie liked to sit in front of the nurses' station and spit on the floor.

One afternoon while I was visiting, we heard the nurses say, "Willie! Quit spittin' on the floor."

We wanted front row seats to the performance, so we went for a stroll down the hall. We found Willie giving the nurses dollar bills and then he began taking off his hospital pajamas. Funny, I always thought it worked the other way around.

Life could not have been any easier for "Bronc Buster" as he had his own T. V. with remote control and a super comfortable adjustable bed. We certainly do not have these luxuries at While Nored was living a life of luxury, I was stuck home playing Suzy Homemaker. Unfortunately, (or in my viewpoint, fortunately) being a homemaker is not my calling.

Sheer terror went through my body when Mom called Monday and said they would be home in a few hours. I had to rush home at noon, take out the trash, wash the dishes, fold the clothes and make the beds. It was a nightmare.

Now that "Bronc" is home, I pester him unmercifully. I hit him on the arm and then take off running. I get away with it because he cannot catch me.

My next plan of action is to buy a blond wig, a cap, and disguise myself as him. Then I plan to park his pickup on the nerd's side at the drive-in.

Some probably think this is mean, but I view it as an incentive. It is an incentive for him to run and drive sooner than expected so he can catch me. And when he does finally catch me..... I don't want to even think

On a serious note, I am glad he is back home. His accident has made me more appreciative of everday things I take for granted.

However, I truly believe laughter is the best medicine.

REPORT OF CONDITION

New federal census coming up next year

The Census Bureau will soon be sending 31,000 temporary workers into neighborhoods across the country to complete collection, checking and rechecking of housing unit addresses in preparation for the 1990 census.

Census Day is April 1, 1990.
About 100 million questionnaires will be delivered to housing units nationwide by late March 1990.
Accurate address lists are vital for prompt delivery and to monitor the return of completed census forms through and beyond Census Day.

In mid-May, census employees begin working in selected large cities to verify residential address information and the number of housing units at each address. This operation will end in late June.

Another address check will begin in mid-June and last for about eight weeks. During this period, temporary census workers will visit small cities, towns, suburbs and rural areas to list residential addresses for these areas.

Finally, a third operation, called Advanced Post Office Check Reconciliation, will be conducted in many small cities, towns, suburbs and rural areas. In this operation, census workers go through neighborhoods verifying those addresses that were added or marked as duplicates or undeliverables during an earlier address listing check completed by the U.S. Postal Service. Census employees also will update the address list and check for any additional living quarters.

All Census Bureau workers will display official red, white and blue identification badges. Residents are asked to cooperate with them. Public cooperation will mean a better, more accurate and complete address list.

Cancer hotline available

Residents of Haskell now can have all their questions about cancer answered by calling a toll-free number which will be staffed by trained American Cancer Society volunteers with access to a comprehensive database of information, according to Wendell Faught, president of the Haskell County unit of the American Cancer Society.

The toll-free number is 1-800-ACS-2345 and can be called from anywhere in Texas. Hours of operation are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. (CST).

"People often have a lot of questions about cancer when they find out a loved one has the disease or when they suspect they have a warning sign of cancer or when they have read an article that leaves them with a question. Now anyone in Texas can have their questions answered with just a phone call---and it's free," said Faught. "Many people may be unaware of the variety of services provided free to to cancer patients in Haskell County."

Due date moved for ag payments

Producers who owe refunds for advance deficiency payments received under the 1988 commodity price support and acreage reduction programs will not be required to repay them until after Dec. 31.

The repayment deadline was changed June 30 when President Bush signed the 1989 dire emergency supplemental appropriation legislation. Before this legislation, refunds would have been due Sept. 1 for corn and sorghum producers, and July 31 for wheat, barley, oats, upland cotton and rice producers.

Those required to make refunds will be notified of the amount about Dec. 1.

Storm damages Lammert farm

A freak storm in the late afternoon of July 18, resulted in thousands of dollars in damage on a farm south of Sagerton.

The home of Danny and Helen Lammert was damaged and an implement shed was destroyed.

Theories vary from strong, sustained straight wind to a small twister, although no one reported seeing the latter. No one was home at the time of the storm.

The roof on a 30 by 70 foot allmetal shed was lifted from the threesided building, carrying two posts and their concrete pilings with it.

The roof traveled about 100 feet, striking the house on the roof. Shingles and decking were torn off, landing in the front yard. The attic was exposed in one location.

Apparently one of the posts set in concrete skipped across the roof, cracking rafters enroute. No serious damage was evident in the home's interior. One post was found in the front yard where the concrete left a small crater.

The shed's roof then clipped some limbs from a tree in the front yard before traveling more than 175 feet, then landing in the middle of FM 1661 in front of the home.

Traffic was blocked and a crude oil transport truck became stuck in the mud while attempting to drive around the debris. About six tenths of an inch of rain fell during the brief storm.

Ronnie Teichelman and Kraig Kupatt, both nearby neighbors, used a tractor that had been parked in front of the demolished shed to drag the roof from the road.

Teichelman's wife, Kathy, was one of the first to discover the blocked highway and summoned the men.

Neither the tractor or any other machinery or equipment inside the shed appeared damaged.

However, the three walls of the shed were twisted and left leaning, making it impossible to rebuild using them.

Also damaged in the storm was a section of chain link fence and a television antenna. However, a trampoline between the shed and house was undamaged and unmoved.

While the metal roof traveled east to west, one sheet of metal was found more than a quarter of a mile north of the roof in the ditch beside FM 1661. Other metal, siding from the house, was found in a field west of the highway

The Lammerts, including their children, Jonathan and Paige, were at New Braunfels visiting Mrs. Lammert's mother, grandmother and other family members.

They said they were glad they weren't at home during the commotion. However, they are grateful for their friends and neighbors who assumed the responsibility of clearing the highway and surroundings of debris.

Customer relations of prime concern

By Steve Byrns Texas Agricultural Extension Service

MASON---Consumer relations and how shoppers feel about the city or town where they spend money helps determine the success of businesses in those locations.

Customer relations, therefore, are a prime concern to many Texas areas. Business leaders and others in Mason, in West Central Texas, wanted to improve their economic community and provide for its future expansion.

Debbie J. Christian, extension home economist serving Mason, Irion, Callahan and Sterling counties, said the Mason Home Economics Advisory Council pinpointed the area keeping shoppers close to home. "Leaders are concerned with keeping business in Mason," said Christian. "The town's relative proximity to larger metropolitan areas puts it at a distinct disadvantage. People just don't always stay home to shop.'

of customer relations as critical for

She said Mason's business leaders are actively trying to improve their city and bring in more customers. The town's efforts have included extensive downtown restoration and longer business hours.

Two real successes were a pair of back-to-back seminars held earlier this year. The educational seminars conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Chamber of Commerce have since spawned a third, with others possible in the Christian said the seminars dealt with many facets of customer relations. Each session included general discussions and demonstrated principles of approved practices.

"We expected about 20 people to attend the seminars, but ended up with more than 90 business owners, sales clerks and other interested citizens. People really want to see their community expand. The successes we've had are strictly due to the merchants' willingness to do something positive," she said.

Christian said good customer relations directly affect increased

"Good relations are critical to any business. It is imporant to enjoy the customer and the business," she said.

Surveys have shown that the greatest number of shoppers, 58 percent, quit buying from a store or business because of an indifferent attitude by sales people.

"The real secret of good customer relations is to sincerely care about people and show it," Christian said.

Austin summer sizzles with heat

By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN-If this summer seems hotter than most, it's not the dwindling ozone layer—it's the record political heat being generated in Austin. It comes from several sources, including:

· Quarreling factions in the Legislature blaming one another for the failed special session;

• A governor determined to let lawmakers feel the heat back home before calling them back in November to complete the workers' compensation mission;

• An attorney general who said the three public utility commissioners should resign for political infighting; and

• Warring aspirants for higher office, backed by prematurely large war chests, who have removed the gloves early.

And almost lost in the heat wave was a breath of fresh air that is truly Texas: the state highway commission approved a newly designed license plate which includes the state flag and motto: "The Friendly State."

"Don't Mess With

Remember the "Drive Friendly" signs along highways which have now been replaced with "Don't Mess With Texas?" Perhaps more appropriate are signs, "Don't Mess With_ and then one could fill in the blanks with the several choices: Senate conferees, Jim Mattox, Ann Richards, Bill Clements, or Mark White, etc.

Mark White? Yes, the former governor is close to officially joining the hopefuls running for governor, according to sources from several directions.

Some private polls indicate he leads Mattox and Richards in enough categories to spur his camp to hope for a comeback.

Home for the Heat

Gov. Clements made no bones about it: he wants lawmakers to face the political heat back home for failing to resolve the workers' compensation issue.

Then, he thinks the stubborn trial-lawyer senators who blocked progress in conference committee will see the light before he calls them back in November.

But one of the trial-lawyer conferees, state Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, retorted flatly that "Clements doesn't know what he's talking about."

Finger Pointing

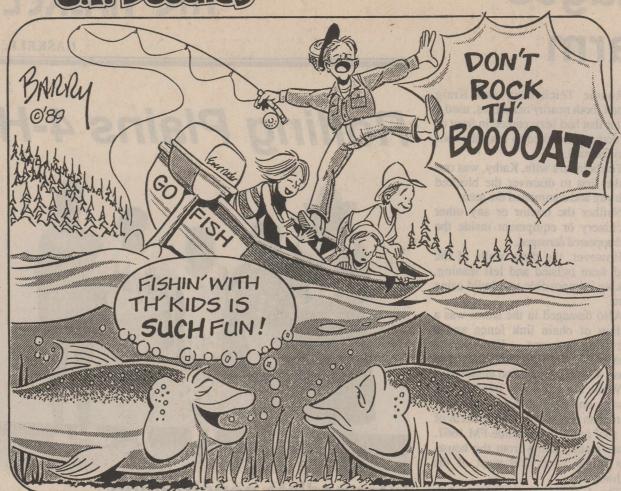

Lawmakers are embarrassed by the poor results from the 30day special session which cost taxpayers about half a million dollars.

Even as the session ended in failure, the name-calling and finger-pointing grew hot and heavy, but included some humorous exchanges as senators tried to

In floor debate, Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, accused Sen. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington, of spending more time playing golf than in studying workers'

Don Henderson, R-Houston, responded, "I'd like to say I've been with Sen. McFarland on the golf course and what he does there isn't golf."

Then McFarland said he'd Continued on page 8

Bunker Hill

(The following letter was addressed to Fred Brown, author of an article on the Bunker Hill School in The Free Press' special rural school edition published in November 1986.)

Dear Sir: A few days ago I received a clipping from your paper concerning Bunker Hill School. Thank you for writing that article as it brought back many fond memories of some wonderful days in my teens.

I attended Bunker Hill from 1922-27. I could not graduate from high school there and because of economic reasons I could not attend Stamford High School. So I was encouraged by Mr. McKenzie to go another year there and take a course in geometry and Spanish II to help with my courses in my senior year at

So I went an extra year at Bunker and graduated at Stamford on May 28, 1928. I was one of the McIntyre girls and played tennis, basketball and volleyball. However the girls did not have the record that the boys did.

I was on the spelling team and won for three years. I also won an International cultivater after writing an essay on its merits.

All the names you mentioned were familiar to me and I really enjoyed it. I will be 80 years old in October--have lived in the Rio Grande Valley most of the time. Spent three years in California where I attended Bible School, then moved to Weslaco with my husband where we worked with the Mexican people for about 40

Mr. Mc and the Baker girls really brought new life to many there, and encouraged us to make something of our lives. I was invited to our 50th anniversary in 1978 and went. Saw a few of the classmates---Vernon Wofford was one of them.

We were renting and lived on the E. J. Budekus place for four years. In fact I was born on Mr. Lovvorn's place. We were a large family and our very fondest memories are the times spent at Bunker Hill. I had two brothers, Bart and Robert, and a sister, Velma, who attended school

I am now living with my daughter in Azle. Thanks again for the article and may God bless.

Markey's to close

Editor: This letter is to all of the people of Haskell and surrounding area. I would like to thank all of the people who supported me at Markey's Place. I did my best to make everyone feel welcome. To you I will always be grateful.

To all my "friends" who encouraged me to open the restaurant, and then never patronized it, I also want to thank you. You taught me a lesson that I will not soon forget. Most of these people have been my friends for as long as I can remember. I always told people, in all the places I have lived, that the people, friends, in Haskell would do anything to help another friend. I was wrong, and to prove that point on July 29, Markey's Place will open for the last time.

Again to the people who supported me, I will always be in your debt. Kirk Markey

Markey's Place

Gossip

Editor: Such few words speak so loudly! Please print this in your newspaper as we all need to be reminded how harmful gossip can be. THE SNAKE THAT

POISONS EVERYONE

It topples governments, wrecks marriages, ruins careers, destroys reputations, causes heartaches, nightmares, indigestion, spawns suspicion, generates grief, dispatches innocent people to cry on their pillows.

Even its name hisses. It's called

Office gossip, shop gossip, party gossip, church gossip. It makes headlines and heartaches.

Before you repeat a story, ask yourself: Is it true? Is it fair? Is it necessary? If not, forget it.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

If a lot of people have their way, one of the most difficult lessons many English students ever had to learn is going to be for naught.

There's a serious move underway to eliminate the apostrophe (') from all words except contractions.

This old English student will find the demise of the apostrophe distasteful. Many others, perhaps most others, should rejoice. They eliminated it long ago.

"Mens Furnishings" says a sign in a department store. Wrong. It should be Men's Furnishings. "Employees Cafeteria" says another sign. It should be "Employees' Cafeteria." Or as was observed recently: "Employee's Cafeteria" which actually says the cafeteria is for a single employee.

So confusing that a lot of grammarians today are willing to eliminate the apostrophe, reasoning this would be better than using it

The neighboring town of Old Glory has received tremendous publicity of late, in view of the attention being focused on the American flag.

Sunday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram had a lengthy article on the once-thriving community. A week earlier, the Austin American-Statesman featured the town in a front-page spread.

There will be a definite Haskell flavor to Midwestern State University athletic teams this coming year.

Three 1988 graduates of Haskell High School have signed letters of intent with the school. Dusty Meeks plans to compete in both track and basketball. Josh Reid will be on the track team and Paul Harvey will play Still another 1988 HHS grad will be playing college football. Derrick Billington will be on scholarship at Angelo State.

And Haskell girls will be represented in college athletics, too, Joy McKeever received a scholarship to UT-Arlington where she will participate in track, and Dala Harris has signed a letter of intent to play basketball at McMurry.

This just might be a record for the number of graduates headed for college athletic careers. But, record or not, it's quite a mark.

Health Options

This column is a public service of Scott and White Memorial Hospital and Clinic in Temple. If you have a question, please write to Dr. Scott White in care of The Haskell Free Press, P.O. Box 1058. Q: My child seems to bruise very easily. He can bump into something and come away with bruises. I too have this problem. My doctor said it was a skin characteristic and hereditary. Can you tell me more about this phenomenon? A: Bruising, the occurrence of

"black and blue" skin marks secondary to trauma, is a common complaint among parents of young children. Generally, bruises occur when the child incurs injury. Bruises below the knee are of little concern if the child is not bruised on other areas of the body. Bruising secondary to obvious trama should not be considered abnormal. When trauma occurs, a bruise may be especially tender due to an injured muscle beneath the bruise. Bruising may be abnormal if it occur and there has not been any obvious injury or when the injury appears extremely mild and the bruise occurs "too easily." On those occasions, it is a matter of judgment, and if it does not happen very often, it is probably normal.

Petechiae, bruising characterized by small purple or brown marks under the skin the size of a pin head, may occur in areas of high venous pressure such as around the ankles or around the eyes. If there is any concern about the occurrence of bruising or petechiae, a doctor should be consulted.

Another problem is encountered in individuals who have a decreased elasticity of the skin or in older individuals who have lost some of the skin elasticity. In those individuals, bruising can occur more easily, but that is not likely to be seen in children or young adults.

By Myrtle Phemister Weinert enjoyed a half-inch of rain Sunday morning, and the cool front was a welcome relief.

The hail and high wind last week caused a lot of damage to crops in the Mattson area, but Weinert was not hurt, for which we are grateful.

Crops are holding up well, despite the need for rain.

We extend congratulations to Karen Harlan, our school secretary, who has accepted a position as secretary to the Haskell School Superintendent, and has begun her duties there is the administration

We regret losing Karen from our school; she has been a part of it for so many years we shall miss her very much. But we realize it is a "promotion", and we are proud of her.

Haskellite in group recognized

A Texas Tech University professor and a group of his students, one from Haskell, was recognized as semifinalists in the Take Pride in America National Awards Ceremony, hosted by President George Bush. The ceremony was Monday, July 24, on the South Lawn of the White House.

Don Horton, a 1986 graduate of park administration from Haskell, was a member of a planning team that was chosen as semi-finalists for work done on a site analysis and field guide of the Fort Stanton Recreation Site in New Mexico.

The Take Pride in America campaign is a national program to recognize the stewardship of public Each state has a complimentary program that recognizes the efforts of individuals and groups who have made voluntary contributions to improve state public

In January, the group was given a second place Take Pride in New Mexico award for their work done on the project. The state award then was forwarded to the national awards competition to be processed by the U.S. Department of Interior.

Other students on the planning team were Michael Bilbo from El Paso; John McDaniel of Center; and Cynthia Baxter from Seabrook. They were under the direction of James Kitchen, professor in the department of park administration and landscape architecture.

Old Glory seeks historical marker

An application has been submitted to the Texas Historical Commission for a historical marker for the town of Old Glory.

If the marker is granted it will commemorate changing the town's name from Brandenburg to Old Glory on Aug. 19, 1918. The site selected for the marker will be on the corner of Main Street and FM 1835. The land has been donated by Garrett and Odene Spitzer. Plans also are underway to erect a tall flag pole near the marker and purchase a giant U.S. flag to fly over Old Glroy.

Old Glory is the only town in the United States named in honor of the flag. The town has been featured in a number of news stories in light of the recent flag-burning controversy.

Hawkins, Vaughn families re-unite

The seventh annual Hawkins-Vaughn reunion was held July 21-23 at Abilene State Park in Buffalo Gap. There were 61 family members and 10 guests in attendance.

The main meal was Saturday noon. The meal consisted of brisket, red beans, cole slaw, okra, squash, watermelon, and cantalope, prepared by the women, was enjoyed by all.

After lunch a 42 tournament was held. Winners were Ronnie Vaughn of Haskell and Cathy Hawkins of Georgetown. Runners-up were Phillip Cockerell of Snyder and Pam Becker of Goldthwaite. Shirts were given as prizes.

Games such as the three-legged race, clothes swap and pass the life saver were held for the children. Prizes were given for winning and runner-up teams.

Business meeting was held Saturday evening being called to order by president Darlene Conn. Minister and treasury report were read by Joyce Hawkins, vice president. Election of officers were as follows, Darlene Conn, president; Joyce Hawkins, vice president and reporter; Margaret Tatum, secretary and treasurer; Cathy Hawkins, activity chairman; Tiny Vaughn, historian.

After the business meeting, an auction was held to replenish funds for next year and a family quilt was raffled off being won by Pam Becker of Goldthwaite. She donated it back for auction and Russell and Keri Magby of Lubbock bought and redonated it back for re-auction. It was bought again by Darlene Conn of Haskell.

Joyce Hawkins of Haskell was recognized as being the eldest family member present and youngest member was Amber King of Amarillo. Dolan and Karen Vaughn of Panhandle traveled the fartherest. Everyone had a good time with the exception of one mishap. Jimmy Cockerell of Snyder was hit in the head with a horseshoe resulting in three stitches to the top of the head. Plans are being made for next year's

Weinert homemakers meet July 11

The Weinert Extension Homemakers met July 11 in the home of Cordie Cunningham.

Betty Sanders, president, called the meeting to order. She gave a reading for opening exercise, "The Lord's Corner," by Dr. Pete Bradford.

The TEHA prayer and TEHA creed were read by all. Roll call was answered by five members: "Why I am a member of the Extension Homemakers."

Due to the absence of Alice Yates, secretary-treasurer, minutes of the previous meeting were read by Jimmie Weinert. They were approved

Betty Sanders and Faye Jetton are to attend the training meeting July 19 in the county extension office on "Let's Get Organized."

Agnes Winchester showed a beautiful red and pink quilt that she had purchased for a nephew's hideaway cabin near Arlington. The homemakers have been quilting on a quilt for the Rehab Center in Abilene in the Weinert schools' homemaking room. They have enjoyed trying to do a special job on an extra-pretty quilt.

The program for the day consisted of slides shown and narrated on the history of the beginning and early days of Weinert by Betty Sanders.

community was in the city Thursday. He reports that after all the storm, hail and other calamities, he got 900 bushels of wheat from 100 acres of land. He also has a large acreage of oats to thresh that will turn out equally as well, he said.

Miss Ethel Alexander returned home Tuesday from a visit in Graham

Dr. J. M. Moore and wife of Rayner were over last week trading with our merchants.

Messrs. W. L. Cason and I. T. Farmer are attending the Fifth Sunday meeting in Aspermont.

Mrs. J. S. Rike and daughter,

Miss Lillie, went to Graham on a visit to Mrs. Hall Morrison, Mrs. Rike's daugher.

Dr. A. B. King of Throckmorton was called over to see Capt. Killough, but arrived only a few hours before his death, and could do nothing for his relief.

Messrs. F. M. Morton and Joe Lee Ferguson who have been in partnership for a number of years in an extensive ranch venture, have dissolved their partnership.

Grigsby Mathis, while riding out last week saw a large rattlesnake going into a dog hole, and alighting from his horse, seized the snake by the tail with the intention of popping its head off by a quick twirl, a feat he has often accomplished, but for once the snake was too quick for him and bit him on the right hand. It was an hour or more before he got to a physician, but in the meantime someone had corded his wrist and made an incision in the wound. His hand and arm have been considerably swollen and he has suffered a great deal, but will recover from the bite, doctors said.

missed his chance when Parker played in the foursome ahead of him. "Maybe I should have hit into that group a few more times."

But Parker outsmarted him, he said. "Carl knew he was safe because he stood by the flag."

Mattox Rips PUC

Going beyond a request for an official opinion, the attorney general said the entire PUC panel has succumbed to political infighting and should resign.

In an official opinion, Mattox said state law prohibits PUC chair Marta Greytok from simultaneously serving as the agency's executive director.

Greytok, a Republican, accused Mattox of partisan politics himself, saying several Democrat predecessors had already done what Mattox ruled illegal.

Campaigns, Hopefuls

Forecasters are calling next year's race for governor the costliest in Texas history, some $50 million, based on campaign spending reported to date.

During the first half of 1989, two candidates spent more than $500,000 while the third promises to catch up.

GOP candidate Clayton Williams of Midland led the field with $618,787 in expenditures, designed to boost his low name identification, and covered mainly by a loan to himself.

Democrats Ann Richards with $581,814 and Mattox at $308,057 were second and third, and each questioned the validity of the other's figures.

Mattox said he hopes Treasurer Richards keeps the state's books better than she keeps her own campaign books, and her campaign manager said discrepancies appear in the Mattox records, too.

Mattox led in campaign fundraising, including a $10,000 check from "chicken king" Bo Pilgrim, who made headlines passing out blank, $10,000 checks on the Senate floor.

Other Highlights

• Amarillo's Boone Pickens, a Republican possibility for governor, will move to the University Park area in Dallas.

• John Odom, Democrat candidate for attorney general, said he will use an interpreter in a bilingual debate challenged by John Bryant.

• Liberal House Democrats shot down a bill allowing the death penalty for persons convicted of child murder.

THE CURE

"Doctor," said the pretty nurse,
"everytime I take the patient's pulse it gets faster. What shall I do?"
"Blindfold him."

Theories are good if they work.
