Boy Scout Troop 136 will have its annual Roundup Monday at the First United Methodist Church. The Roundup, for all boys from age 11, will begin at 7 p.m.

Parents are encouraged to attend and learn what scouting has to offer.

The troop already has made plans for several events next year. A canoe trip in Canada is being considered, as well as a back packing trip to Philmont in New Mexico. In addition, the troop camps out at least once a month.

Last Thursday (Sept. 7), troop members attended the West Texas Fair for a "sneak-a-peak" night and all reported a good time.

The Boy Scouts now have traveled more than 1,000 miles in the bus during the nine months they have had it. They expressed their appreciation again to those who made the bus purchase possible.

Joel Fox ... moving to Abilene

Joel Fox moving to Abilene station

KVRP's news and music director is moving to a television job in Abilene.

Joel Fox, who joined the Haskell radio station shortly after it went on the air eight years ago, will present his last local broadcast Friday. On Monday, he reports to his new job as a television reporter for Abilene's CBS affiliate, KTAB.

Fox came here in October 1981, just months after KVRP had gone on the air in April.

Not only does he have what is probably the most recognizable voice in town, but his physical presence at just about every local activity has made him one of Haskell's most visible citizens.

And his activities have not been limited to business. He serves on the board of directors of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce and he has been local chairman of the Jerry Lewis Telethon since 1983.

He's also been extremely active in the Church of Christ and is a member of the Church of Christ Singing Group. Of the singing group, he says, "this is probably my most satisfying experience in Haskell." He added that he hopes to remain active in this group if his work schedule permits.

Fox grew up in the Ola community, near Kaufman, east of Dallas. He earned a degree in mass communications from Abilene Christian University. While in school, he worked part time for the college radio station, and also for KBGG in Merkel. After graduation, he worked full time for the Merkel station for several months before coming to Haskell.

KVRP has not designated anyone as Fox's successor. His duties will be divided between present staff members, Dave Harrison, Ron McCandless and Scott Alves, and new employee Cal McCaulley, who joined the staff last week.

Rochester grads plan homecoming

Rochester's homecoming will be Oct. 13-14.

Activities begin Friday (13th) with the firemen's chili supper at 6 p.m., followed by the pep rally and street dance downtown.

Registration will be Saturday in the school cafeteria, beginning at 8 a.m. A coffee for all former cheerleaders, twirlers and drum majors is scheduled for 10.

A concession stand will be operated by the senior class and will be operating all morning in the cafeteria.

The homecoming football game begins at 2 p.m. at Steer Stadium when the Steers host the Gore Wildcats.

The homecoming program will take place after the game in the completely renovated auditorium, followed by a catered meal in the remodeled old gym.

Individual class reunions will begin after the meal and will continue until 9 p.m. when a dance begins at the Haskell Civic Center.

County Fair begins 5-day run Tuesday

The 24th annual Haskell County Fair will be next Tuesday through Saturday--Sept. 19-23--at the Haskell County Fairgrounds.

Canned goods, crops, arts and crafts, textiles, educational exhibits, art, baked foods, photography and flowers.

There are three categories for adults only: Old Things and Collectibles, China Painting and Grandparents' Corner.

Entries in these categories must be made between 2 and 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 21, at the Civic Center in Haskell. The only exception will be baked foods which may also be brought in on Friday, Sept. 22, between 8 and 9:30 a.m. Judging of all exhibits will begin at 9:30 a.m. on Friday, Sept. 22.

All entries for the livestock show, which will be held Saturday, Sept. 23, are due in the Haskell County extension office by Sept. 15. There will be livestock classes in cattle, sheep and rabbits. All classes in the livestock show are open to 4-H and FFA members of Haskell, Jones, Shackelford, Throckmorton, Baylor, Stonewall, King and Knox counties.

Indian hopes high for home opener

Convinced that they are not as bad as last week's score at Munday would indicate, coaches and players had plenty of spirit this week as they prepared for the Haskell Indians' home opener against the Panthers of Seymour.

But they're not taking the invaders lightly. The Panthers got off on the wrong foot last week when they dropped their opener to Knox City, 20-14, but coaches have plenty of respect for the visitors. They didn't win a game during last year's dismal season, and just coming close against Knox City should give them some confidence.

Coach Nelson Coulter said

Seymour features the power I and "they'll run straight at us." He said the Panthers don't throw much, but "they might when they see what happened to us last week."

The coach said Seymour has a real solid defensive team, and it is this unit which has most impressed him.

Coulter said the team had done a good job of putting last week's fiasco behind it and spirits are fine. "We realize we're a better team than that," he said. "We just let it get out of hand too quickly."

Despite his disappointment, the coach took nothing away from the Moguls, the 61-20 victor last Friday. He said they were an even better team than he thought they would be.

Rick Perry gets teachers' award

State Rep. Rick Perry of Haskell has received the Distinguished Service Award for a State Legislator from the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas.

Presentation of a plaque and a briefcase to Perry was made Friday morning in a ceremony in the Haskell County extension building. Making the presentation was Donnie Kiker, Anson vo-ag teacher who represents this area on the board of the state association.

In announcing Perry's selection for the honor, W. H. Meischen, executive director of the state association, pointed out that Perry has been a strong supporter of ag science, technology, FFA and all accountable quality vocational education programs.

During the 71st session he served on the House Appropriations and Energy committees and was chairman for Budget and Oversight.

He also was an influential member of the House Calendars committee and the Conference committee on SB 20, the 71st session Appropriation committee. He was on the Conference committee on Workers Compensation during the 71st regular session and will play a leading role on this issue when the second special session convenes in November.

Meischen described the Haskell legislator as "a very likable person who represents his district in a very outstanding manner."

Theo Moore ends aviation career

When the FFA's Theo Moore retired in Chicago on Sept. 2, thousands of private pilots had stories to tell about the Texan who had something to do with their private or professional careers in aviation.

Over 28 years as an aviation safety inspector with the agency, and 20 years in the Army, the World War II combat glider pilot certificated thousands of pilots of general aviation aircraft, gliders, helicopters and balloons.

"I guess there are many airline pilots today who I checked out when they first began flying," he recalled in his slow Texas drawl. "Some I failed several times on their flight checks."

Considered by aviation leaders in Illinois as a legend in the state in certificating pilots of small aircraft, gliders, helicopters and balloons on flying, his seminars in Northern Illinois are generally standing-room-only affairs.

More than 350 aviation people from across the country were at the St. Andrews Country Club in West Chicago Aug. 22 on his retirement.

The affable Moore's FAA career began in 1961 in Wichita, Kans. In 1962 he was transferred to the Chicago General Aviation district office as an inspector. He was an operations inspector there until 1978 when he was assigned to become an accident prevention specialist.

He is known throughout the state for his thousands of aviation safety seminars over the years. His advice and counsel to pilots over the years had been for their safety while flying, and most, if not all, the men and women he certificated have never forgotten what he taught them.

A stockily built, soft-spoken father of four and proud grandfather of seven, Moore was born on a farm in Savoy, Texas, in 1919. His parents, Oscar and Gracie Moore, raised cotton and row crops, and early in life Moore learned the work ethic. Some of his colleagues today even say he has the energy of a mule. The Moore family moved to Haskell in 1929 and he graduated from Haskell High School in 1939.

His first career in the U.S. Army Air Corps was as colorful as his career in FAA. He enlisted in the Air Corps on Sept. 21, 1940, at Fort Worth.

Moore's name is enshrined on a plaque in the Fort Rucker Army

Aviation Museum in Alabama commemorating the first 100 pilots to earn the title of "Master Aviator," an honor of which he is extremely proud.

During World War II he participated in two major combat operations as a glider pilot, the Battle of Holland and the Rhine Crossing in Germany. He also served as a navigator on C-47s and participated in several re-supply missions.

In 1945 he was attached to a troop carrier group as support for the Potsdam Conference. The same year he flew demonstrations with gliders at Templehoff Airport in Germany for world leaders, including President plain talk

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

James Roberts of the Andrews County News comes up with a simple solution to the drug problem. The following words are from his column of several months ago:

It's a shame that our Uncle Buster is not here nowadays. He could help the government solve the drug problem.

Our four past presidents have all declared war on drugs and so far, we've lost all four wars.

According to the experts, drugs are overwhelming the domestic scene and there seems to be little that can be done about it.

The profits are so great in selling in the U.S. market that the tide of money is threatening to topple the governments in several Latin and South American countries. The drug dealers have more money than the governments that are supposed to control them.

Now we've called out the Army, Navy and Marines to try and stem the flow of illegal drugs.

In recent weeks, we've had proposals made by our statesmen that perhaps the best way to control illegal drugs is to legalize the sale and thereby remove the big profit picture.

But if Uncle Buster was still alive, he could offer a better solution than legalization.

Uncle Buster broke the Department of Agriculture from sucking eggs, as the saying goes.

Many years back, the Department, faced with declining prices because of a surplus of hogs in this country, launched a program to pay farmers not to raise hogs.

The program was similar to the current program to pay people to remove land from cultivation. But back then, the program was not near as sophisticated and didn't have as many built-in safeguards against over-zealous farmers.

Uncle Bus was never shy or hesitant about participating in a government program where dollars were involved. In Dawson County, in the 30s and 40s, you grabbed a dollar wherever and whenever you could.

After that first year of not raising hogs in Dawson County, Uncle Bus doubled his non-production the following year.

And the third year, he bought one of those war-surplus calculators in order to calculate just how many hogs he couldn't raise on 640 acres of shinnery and sand.

He had the expertise, the know-how, the past history to show that he was a Dawson County expert in not raising cotton, not raising corn, not having any luck with milk production. He was a genuine ace when it came to not raising hogs.

We need to send people like Uncle Bus down to Colombia and those other South American countries to sign them up for U.S. payments not to raise crops that yield illegal drugs.

If those poor farmers are just half as dollar-savvy as Uncle Bus was, in no time at all, non-drug production will triple.

Those South American farmers are much like crude oil producers in this country. A barrel of poppies sells for about the same amount of money as a barrel of crude and no one, especially the government, seems to care that it's the middle man, not the producer, who makes all the money.

By paying all those farmers down there not to raise crops, we would open up a brand new market for farm products from this country. We could start selling them food that our farmers have grown--and for which no market exists.

It's bound to be cheaper on the U.S. taxpayer to pay farmers to idle cropland worldwide in order to reduce the drug traffic than it is to spend billions calling out the Armed forces to stop the smugglers.

If enough of it is idled outside the continental United States, perhaps we can stop paying domestic producers to idle their land and return to producing foodstuff for the world.

Either that, or adopt another suggestion made by a congressman who sounds very much like our late Uncle Buster:

"Set aside one day a week to take all those people apprehended smuggling, running, selling and using illegal drugs, and shoot them at high noon--each Thursday."

How does Uncle Sam keep coming up with these bargains?

A proposed AIDS survey to ask 50,000 American household members about their sexual habits, will cost an "estimated" $25 million.

Doesn't that figure out to be $500

Munday offensive show buries Indians, 61-20

Any time a team can pile up 559 net yards, it's probably going to win any football game.

That's what the Munday Moguls did in Munday last Friday night, and win the Moguls did--to the tune of 61-20 over the Haskell Indians in the 1989 opener for both teams.

The offensive display by the No. 1-ranked 1A team in Texas posed two questions: (1) Are the Moguls that good? and (2) Are the Indians that bad?

Give a definite "yes" to the first question. There's little doubt that Munday has a powerhouse, and probably has legitimate claim to its top ranking. Only time will tell if the second question should be answered in the affirmative.

Largely, it was the big bomb that spelled defeat for the Indians. The Moguls threw only seven passes, but they connected on five of them for a whopping 298 yards, including touchdown heaves of 63, 68 and 75 yards and another 87-yarder which was just a yard short of a touchdown. The other completion was for 5 yards.

In addition, the Moguls ground out 261 yards on the ground.

Haskell had a respectable 281 yards total offense, 116 of it on the ground and another 165 passing. Of the passing yardage, 110 came on the high-percentage shovel passes.

The game was little more than three minutes old when Munday's Terry Collier went over from 2 yards out to cap a 5-play, 9-yard drive following Tyler Thompson's return of an intercepted pass.

Rodney Johnson then returned the kickoff from his own 15 to the Haskell 40 and it appeared that the Indians might get things going. With Jonathon Dever clicking off a 28-yard run, the Indians moved to the Munday 35, but a 2-yard loss, and a 5-yard penalty moved them back to the 42 from where Roger Roewe punted dead on the 20.

It took the Moguls just three plays to get their second score. Marc Andrade passed to Bobby Dockins for 5 yards, then ran for 7 more. He then hit Terry Collier with a 68-yard scoring bomb and the Moguls were out front 14-0 with 4:35 still to go in the opening period.

Still in the first quarter, the Moguls had their third possession and promptly scored their third touchdown. It came on a 63-yard pass play from Andrade to Terry Collier with 55 seconds remaining, to cap a four-play, 83-yard drive.

Less than two minutes into the second period, the Moguls made it 27-0 on a 75-yard pass from Andrade to the other Collier twin, Perry.

Haskell then made its first drive of the night. Taking over on their 20 after the kickoff went into the end zone, the Indians marched to the Munday 7, largely on the strength of a 14-yard Shane Osborne-to-Johnson shovel pass, a 27-yard run by Johnson and a 15-yard scamper by Dever. But the drive bogged down when Andrade intercepted Osborne's pass in the end zone.

Munday took over on its own 20 and it took the Moguls just four plays, despite two penalties against them, to cover the distance. From his own 12, Andrade passed to Perry Collier who ran 87 yards to the Haskell 1. Andrade sneaked over on the next play and it was 34-0 with 3:16 left before intermission.

Dever returned the Munday kickoff 44 yards to the Mogul 36 and the Indians marched on in for their first score. The touchdown came on a 21-yard pass from Osborne to Harper Stewart three plays after a Rusty Stocks-to-Dever touchdown had been called back. With 11 seconds remaining in the first half, the Indians were on the scoreboard, although they trailed 34-6.

From the second-half kickoff the Indians moved from their own 18 to midfield, but could go no farther. Munday took over on its own 25 following Roewe's punt and the Moguls got their next touchdown on a 12-play drive, all on the ground. Dockins scored the touchdown from a yard out and his extra point kick made it 41-6 at the 2:58 mark of the third period.

A wind blown Haskell punt which gave Munday possession at the Indian 10 set up the next touchdown. It took four plays for the Moguls to take it in, the touchdown coming on a 1-yard run by Dockins on the first play of the final quarter.

Next time Munday got the ball, Dockins, now playing quarterback, streaked 78 yards for a score as the route mounted to 55-6.

Dever returned the next kickoff 26 yards to the Munday 42. A 7-yard pass from Osborne to Erik Harvey moved the ball to the 35. After an incomplete pass, Johnson scooted 35 yards for the score. Stocks passed to Johnson for the bonus points which made the score 55-14.

Later in the period, Jeremy Fuentes went 19 yards for the Indians' third touchdown to cap a 49-yard drive highlighted by runs of 17 yards by Dever and 15 by Johnson.

Next time the Moguls got the ball, they went 49 yards, aided by two penalties against the Indians, for the game's final score. The touchdown came on a 5-yard run by Jerry Valencia.

Rochester wins over Paint Creek

Rochester got its new football season off on the right foot Friday by taking a 38-6 victory over the Paint Creek Pirates.

The Steers struck early, taking a 6-0 lead on Kevin Conner's 2-yard run. But Paint Creek's Dane Morgan returned the ensuing kickoff 72 yards for a Pirate touchdown and a 6-6 tie score.

Before the first period ended, Conner put the Steers ahead for good by going a yard for a touchdown. He added another on a 1-yard run in the second period as the Steers took a 20-6 lead into intermission.

Rochester got three more touchdowns in the third period, including one on a 65-yard kickoff return by Conner. Brad Bevel then passed to Todd Landis for a 61-yard touchdown and Ross Shaver ran 6 yards for another score.

The rain-soaked fourth quarter was scoreless.

Conner ended the game with 136 yards rushing on 23 carries, while freshman Robby Stickland had 54 yards in 6 carries.

On defense, Kurt Sloan, another freshman, had 12 tackles to lead the team. Shaver had 11 tackles. Bevel was credited with 8 tackles and 2 interceptions.

This Friday, the Steers travel to Roscoe to meet Highland, a team which also was victorious last week.

Boosters to meet players

Varsity football players will be introduced Monday night at the weekly meeting of the Indian Booster Club. The program begins at 8 in the Ag building and all parents of varsity players are invited to attend.

Club members viewed the film of the Haskell-Munday game at this week's meeting Monday and heard Coach Nelson Coulter comment on the upcoming game with Seymour. He said he anticipates a good game.

Ice cream was served after the Aspermont scrimmage and members expressed their thanks to those who made ice cream and helped serve it.

Indian scoreboard gets new facelift

Football fans this year will notice a face lift on the scoreboard and clock at Indian Stadium.

The new look is compliments of the Indian boosters at Haskell National Bank.

BUILDING A NEST EGG

You realize that you need to begin saving, but how do you start?
Be a smarter spender. Always go to the store with a list so that you are not tempted by compulsive urges to splurge. Try to buy your casual clothes on sale. Leave your credit cards at home.

Target what you can save. Keep a record for a month of your savings from shopping smarter, and use that dollar amount as your minimum monthly investment amount.

Pay off your credit cards. Consider locking up your credit cards until you are in a position to pay any charges currently. Use your monthly investment amount to pay off these cards, beginning with the accounts charging the highest interest rates.

Plan major purchases. Try not to buy on credit. Save the money in advance and plan to buy the item on sale. You can open a separate savings account strictly for major purchases.

Keep it simple at first. If you have less than $1,000 to invest, begin your compounding at a bank, credit union, or money market fund. You may want to accumulate an emergency fund of several thousand dollars where it is readily accessible.

Invest only in items that you understand. When you are ready to move on to more complicated investment vehicles, be sure that you understand how each one works. You need to know about the risks to principal and income in different economies, when and how you will be paid, whether there are penalties for early withdrawal, and whether the investment can be converted into another investment.

Most people retire broke. Ninety-five percent of all Americans need the government or relatives to assist them financially during their retirement years. The earlier you start your investment program, the better off you will be.

Local investing finances local farming.

Through the years, agriculture has been a major influence on the economic strength of our community. And during this time your local community bank has been a source of local farm financing.

Where do we get the money to finance farming? From you and the other people who invest their savings in our bank.

It's very simple. The more a bank has in deposits, the more it has available to loan out. And the more it has to loan, the more competitive its interest rates can be. Lower interest rates mean lower production costs for our area farmers. And that, in turn, is good for our community as a whole.

Thanks to our depositors, your local bank continues to serve area farming.

LL board to remodel concession

The Haskell Little League board of directors finalized plans to remodel the concession stand at their weekly meeting last Thursday. The remodeling will increase the work space inside the concession stand, provide more equipment storage and add two indoor restrooms.

The roof and outside walls will be enclosed in steel siding.

Construction will begin Saturday if structural pipe can be found. "We need about 250 feet of pipe," said Trey Burson.

Anyone who would like to donate pipe is asked to call Burson at 864-2260 or Mike Cook at 864-8010 (work) or 864-2226 (home).

Around town

Visitors in the home of Elmer and Bernice Hilliard on Saturday were Dusty Emery of Littleton, Colo.; Jesse and Dot Hilliard of Denison; Ellen Hilliard, Jean Ballard of Abilene; Debbie Dayh off of Tye; and Virgie Scheets of Haskell.

Election requested for Weinert school

Haskell County Judge B. O. Roberson told commissioners Monday in regular session of the Commissioners Court that he had received petitions from voters in Haskell ISD and Weinert ISD calling for consolidation of the two districts.

The petitions, representing at least ten percent of the registered voters in the two districts ask the County Judge to call a special election allowing the voters to decide the issue. Signers of the petitions ask that the election be called November 7, to coincide with the general election.

Before the two districts could consolidate, the majority of the voters in each district would have to approve the issue.

In his illustrious military career, Moore was one of the last 10 glider pilots in the military before they were disbanded.

After 1946 he was an artillery officer, and later a helicopter pilot. In 1957 he was assigned as army aviator advisor to the state of Iowa, and was stationed in Boone, Iowa. He retired from the Army after 20 years service with the rank of major.

Asked what he will do in his retirement, the laconic Moore said: "Not much. I'll do some work around my son's farm (in Huntley, Ill.) but I won't milk any of his 80 dairy cows."

"And my wife and I plan to travel--to Montana for the glider pilots' reunion in September and to visit a son and grandchildren. Then to Texas and Haskell High School homecoming and to Florida to see a granddaughter. I plan to visit Alaska next summer."

Moore's sister, Pansy Harris of Haskell, was with him at the retirement dinner and party.

You have to work at living alone

Whether you're divorced, widowed or single by choice, living alone takes concentrated effort. You have to learn to be both the giver and recipient in your own life. You develop rituals, schedules, habits and social graces just like any other household.

Living alone may, at first, feel strange. You have to feel civilized when you live alone. You need routines: hang up your clothes even if nobody is there watching you.

You'll learn to take pleasure in small rituals--fresh squeezed orange juice and burnt toast, just because you like both that way, developing habits that bring personal pleasure--buying fresh flowers or eating at a special restaurant on pay day, grinding your own coffee beans every morning to give you pleasure with privacy.

Living alone does not mean you have to feel alone or lonely. Neither does it initiate selfishness or self-centeredness. A single adult who begins to enjoy his or her privacy too much, though, may have to fight isolation.

Monitoring connections with other adults keeps the single surviving and socialable. To fight isolation is to face adult life.

Remaining single, like any other state of being, should provide a comfortable level of living, a satisfying social life and family sharing without family burdens.

Singles who are comfortable being single seldom find the need to defend their chosen lifestyle. It is when singleness is not a choice, but a forced state of being, that single adulthood offers little happiness or few rewards.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

For the past several weeks our nurse's aides have been busy preparing for their certification test. They will take their test on the 18th and 19th of this month. We wish them all the good luck they can carry.

This seemed the perfect opportunity to let our girls know how much we appreciate them. I could not think of a better way to express this than to print this article from Ann Landers' column:

JUST A NURSE'S AIDE

Someone asked what I did for a living. I said, "I'm a nurse's aide in a nursing home." The person made a sour face and sighed, "Oh Lord."

A lot of people think it's an awful job. "Not for all the money in the world" is what one of my friends said. Well, believe it or not, there is something special about this job. People really depend on me. I not only care for them, I care about them as well.

Being a nurse's aide is not glamour. There are many aspects of the daily routine that are demanding and physically difficult. But I take pride in my work. There is so much to learn. I try to improve my skills every day. Things do get hectic. Sometimes all the call bells seem to go off at once. Family members ask me to do extra things that take time. I do my best to accommodate them but sometimes it just isn't possible.

My work is the kind that many sons and daughters can't do or won't do, yet somebody must take care of the sick and the old. So I bathe and shower my patients. I want them to be fresh and clean. I comb and brush their hair. I want them to look nice. Their hands sometimes shake so I have to cut their food and help them to eat. I want them to get the proper nourishment.

Now do you understand why my job is important even though some folks look down on a nurse's aide? These elderly people really depend on

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

WASHINGTON - Obesity may be controlled naturally with a new type of pill, discovered by accident, a research scientist confirmed recently.

In studies, scientists noted an unusual side effect. Patients receiving an ingredient in what is now being called FS-1 all lost weight, while body weight in control groups remained constant.

Scientists say the mechanism behind the weight reduction is not clear, but suggest it is partially due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calorie-rich dietary fats. Although scientists for some time have known of substances with the capability of producing this effect, the dramatic impact on weight reduction was not known until recently.

The director of research and development at National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the investigation and research of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, stated, "The mechanism by which FS-1 works to decrease body weight is actually a more complex and sophisticated process called nutri-bonding. When chewed and swallowed immediately before meals, FS-1 releases nutrients with low calorie content into the body, while high-calorie fats are eliminated, thus providing optimum nutrition and a minimum number of calories."

Studies with FS-1 indicate weight loss results clearly superior to products currently available for the treatment of obesity. In a comparative study by NDR, whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent medical and nutritional journals, FS-1 was found to be the most effective treatment for obesity and the most acceptable to patients.

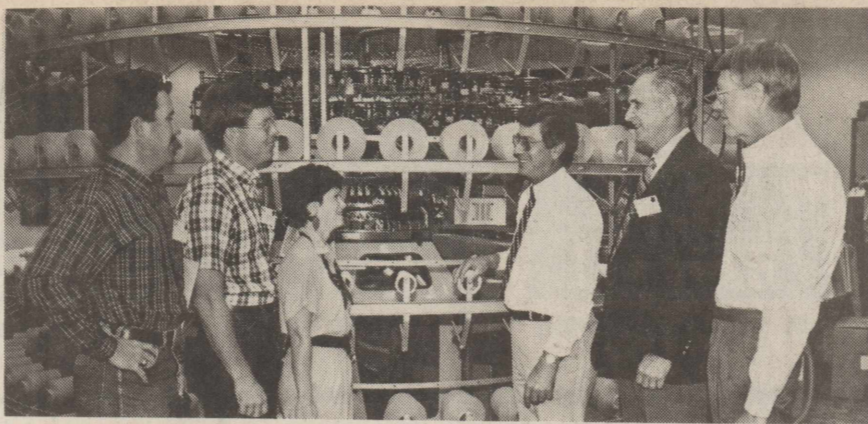

The discovery comes as welcome news to thousands of obesity sufferers waiting years for this type of breakthrough. According to a spokesperson at NDR, "FS-1 can be made available to the public immediately, because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients recognized as safe. A drug with essentially the same weight loss capabilities might take as long as eight years to be available, due to lengthy delays encountered in the approval process." FS-1 is currently available on a limited basis through physicians and pharmacies. An instruction sheet for proper use and optimum results is provided with each bottle of 100 tablets.

me. Being here for them makes me feel very special. ***

Most of the time we neglect to thank someone for doing their job well. Working in a nursing home is not a regular job. When you come to work here, you join a whole new family.

We want to let our girls know how proud we are to have them as members of our family. Any job done well is not just a job, it's a profession.

SCHOOL EMBLEMS—Hamlin, Stamford, Haskell, Anson

--Weinert--

by Myrtle Plemister

The cool front that blew in Saturday night was a welcome relief from the hot weather, and the 1.5 of an inch of rain was just a part of the 3 inches Charlie Stenholm promised we'd get! We accept it, gladly, and wait for the rest.

Rex Herricks is responding to treatment, and is improving in his battle for recovery at St. Mary's hospital in Lubbock, where he suffered a heart attack last week and had to undergo bypass heart surgery.

Buck and Helen Turnbow rushed to Midland on Thursday night to be with their daughter, Jeanene Perry who was hospitalized there. She had emergency surgery on Saturday for the removal of a kidney. Our prayers are on her behalf, also.

Many are suffering with hay fever, sinusitis, allergies and sore throats, as is usual for this time of year, as well as viruses and such.

Among them is Tabitha and Malorie Sadler, granddaughters of Linda and Leonard Mahan, who were quite ill over the weekend, and Jean Forehand was also quite ill last week.

We are so appreciative of our streets since the highway department did such a good job of the street through town, and on to the main highway. Those who walk each day also say "thanks a million!"

We know the highway north to Munday will be great when it is finished.

A record crowd attended the Haskell Indian vs. Munday Mogul game on Friday night, and some were confused as to whom to cheer for, as we are a divided city. The Moguls came out very victorious. The bands of both schools performed extremely well.

The Home Extension Club has revealed plans for their Arts and Crafts Show that will be presented in the Weinert School Gym on Monday night, Oct. 2, 6 to 9 p.m.

Betty Sanders, president, has announced there will be no charge for booths, and participants may sell, or take orders for sales, for their handmade crafts. Please contact Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Harlan Weinert, or Mrs. Toby Yates for reservations.

Myrtle Plemister and Alice Yates left Tuesday morning for Corpus Christi where they are voting delegates to the Texas Extension Homemakers Association Convention to be held this week in that City. They will return on Friday.

Lucinda Davis, Calvin and Frank were surprised with a visit from her nephew, Oscar McCamons, whom she had not seen in close to thirty years. Oscar travels to where his job takes him, and Weinert was not included, he said. He is the son of Mrs. Davis' sister.

The Canton Flea Market seems to be a major attraction for antique buffs, and every first Monday (or the weekend before) many in our area head for East Texas.

Mary and Ed Murphy with Joe and Caron Yates, were in the crowd on Labor Day. Brenda Sanders has an old rocking chair (on her front porch) that they brought back for her, at her request.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Welch of Beeville, were guests in the home of their daughter, Cherie and Wayne Hutchinson over the weekend.

Don says, "Beeville is nice, but is sure isn't Munday."

Dieter and Lisa Hutchinson, with Lauren, spent Sunday with his parents, and enjoyed a fish fry.

The Weinert Church of Christ had their monthly Fellowship dinner on Sunday, in the home of the M. W. Plemisters.

It was postponed from last Sunday to allow the Weldon Wallings to attend the Sunset School reunion.

Erma Liles attended a TFWC State meeting in Anson last week, held in the home of past-Mesquite District President, Mrs. A. J. Smith.

Erma is a life member of TFWC, and serves on that committee.

R. S. and Betty Sanders took a sight-seeing tour of East Texas last week, and toured the rose gardens in Temple and other scenic things.

R. S. also looked up some relatives he had never met, as is his usual "thing" since he loves genealogy and history.

Joshua and Justin Briles of Odessa spent several days in the home of their aunt, Doris and Dale Carroll, Diane, Denise and Douglas.

On their way home, the Carrolls took them on a camping trip, and met the boys parents who enjoyed the weekend visit.

Over the Labor Day weekend the Thurman Stouts and the Floyd Stouts had in their homes their sister, Myrtle Bailey and nieces, Kathy Russell, Heather and Corney Russell, of New Boston and Malta.

Also visiting were Mike Russell, a nephew, who with his brother and a good friend took advantage of the opening of dove season, and got their limit while here.

The Ladies class is making a quilt for the orphans home the church helps to support and they quilt some each Tuesday when they meet.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hester and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Miller were entertained on Grandparent's day in the home of Jerry and Wanda Hester, Stacy and Laurie.

Johnny Earl III dropped by for a visit in the home of his parents on Saturday.

Bob and Audra Schindler of Abilene spent the weekend with her mother, Bertie Alexander, and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Alexander.

Herschel has recovered well from his heart problems, and is again behind the wheel of his "18 wheeler".

Celebrating birthdays last week were H. H. Grimes, Gilbert Jimenez, Sr., Russel Rainey, Jerry Don Hudgens, Ruby Castorena, W. R. Hager, Jr., and Tinka Herricks.

This week we will sing the birthday song to Alton Sanders, E. S. McGuire, Bob Wood and Douglas Boling.

Happy birthday to each of you! and many more.

Opera house music show this Saturday

The country-western music show at the Anson Opera House will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Admission to the musical is free. "Pass the hat" donations will be accepted to offset expenses, and a concession stand will be open.

Among the area bands performing this month are Jill Haynes and Loose Change of Anson, the Tye Troubadours and Dick Jackson, a gospel singer from Clyde. Jay Haynes of Anson will serve as master of ceremonies.

Other bands are invited to come. All musicians volunteer their time and talents for this community entertainment event which is now scheduled at the Opera House on the third Saturday of each month.

FmHA borrowers invited to seminar

Haskell County farmers with loans from the Farmers Home Administration are invited to a meeting Sept. 28 on how FmHA's computer program is used in considering loan servicing options such as re-scheduling and writedown, FmHA County Supervisor Larry P. McDaniel, said.

The meeting will be at the Royal Inn, 5695 S. 1st, in Abilene and will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

McDaniel said the meeting is particularly important for FmHA borrowers behind in their payments and those having difficulty with their loans.

We will go over all the options available to those borrowers and explain how to go about finding one that will keep them in operation," McDaniel said. "We will be putting emphasis on the Debt and Restructuring (DALRS) computer program that was developed just for this purpose."

The supervisor added that DALRS does many mathematical calculations quickly and in a number of combinations in helping in the analysis of farm financial plans.

"If a restructuring plan exists that will keep the borrower on the farm, DALRS will find that plan, and that plan will minimize the cost of debt restructuring," he said.

DALRS was developed as a tool to help debt restructuring authorized by the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987. FmHA farm borrowers who are behind in their payments should, by all means, try to attend this meeting, McDaniel said.

Denise Collins heads sophomores

Denise Collins was elected president of the Haskell High School sophomore class at a recent class meeting.

Other officers are Jeff Brister, vice president; Kim Gilly, secretary-treasurer; Deanna Scheets, reporter; and Lee Decker, homecoming chairperson.
