Season ends for Rule

The football season for the Rule Bobcats finally came to an end Thanksgiving night, but the 1989 season finale will be one that will be remembered for a long time.

When all the calculations had been figured up, the Jayton-Rule regional playoff showed the two teams tied 50-50 on the scoreboard and also tied in penetrations at 8

But Jayton advanced in the playoffs by virtue of 23 first downs to the Bobcats' 16.

Rule entered the fourth quarter with a 42-36 lead, but Jayton scored two touchdowns and a two-point conversion to go out front, 50-42. Less than a minute and a half later, Rule's Keith Vanderbilt ran 16 yards for a score and a 2-point kick tied the score at 50-all.

For the game, Vanderbilt rushed for 345 yards and five touchdowns

AUSTIN-Rebellious state senators ambushed the train carrying the pro-business workers' compensation package, adding several amendments sponsored by trial lawyers and labor unions.

The once-conservative, nowliberal package was approved and sent to the House in what is, though minor, the first setback for lameduck Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby in

The underdogs in the battle were state Sens. Carl Parker and Kent Caperton, two key lieutenants for Hobby in the past. Both were relentless in their attack of Hobby's reform package.

A disappointed Hobby said the approved version will increase insurance rates for employers.

Effort to Fail Again

Speaker Gib Lewis said the issue, already a failure in previous regular and special sessions, "is back to square one," with failure again a real possibility.

Some of the sticking points: ■ What role, if any, trial juries will have in deciding the size of financial awards;

■ Whether coverage will be voluntary or mandatory, and whether large companies can self-insure;

• Whether, and how, the medical profession will standardize awards for injuries.

Business At Bat

The Senate vote was the liberal's home field advantage. This week the action is in the House, where pro-business forces will be at bat.

After Thanksgiving, the House battle started in the Business and Commerce Committee, where pro-business forces hope to reinstate the Hobby plan.

Gov. Bill Clements, who waits at the end of the line with a veto stamp, expressed hope for a conservative result.

The governor speculated that liberal senators facing primary elections this spring were posturing for campaign leverage.

Clements several times has threatened to keep senators in special session until Christmas if they do not pass a satisfactory bill. Take Inmates Or Pay

Once again, a judge has ruled that the Texas Department of Corrections has an obligation to either house state convicts or pay local jails for the cost of doing it. State District Judge Joe Hart of Austin wrote: "I hold that responsibility for the proper care. treatment, feeding, clothing and management of the TDC-ready prisoners is on the state, not the counties."

Attorney General Jim Mattox said Hart's ruling is unrealistic. "There is just not enough room in the inn. We can't violate the federal court order prohibiting crowding and take additional prisoners."

Rossanna Salazar, press secretary to Clements, said: "The governor believes that the decision should be appealed on all fronts." Ann Snell, the Austin lawyer

Insurance Law Struck In an unrelated case, another state district judge ruled unconstitutional a new law allowing insurance companies to bill the state for attorney fees incurred in suing other insurance firms and agents for fraud.

Mattox applauded the ruling, saying the bill was "a shameful piece of spoils legislation."

More Passing Exam

State education officials announced more high school students are passing the state graduation exam, especially the juniors. The number of passing juniors, 77 percent, outperformed the '90 senior class which passed only 59 percent (higher than the 55 percent last year).

The scores indicate growing improvement, but TEA commissioner Dr. W.N. Kirby expressed concern for the seniors who failed and must retake the minimum skills examination.

Lawmakers Rip Judges

A group of lawmakers urged the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals "to get off their rear ends" and grant a new trial to a death row inmate they feel was railroaded by local police.

Clarence Brandley, a black janitor, was found guilty in 1980 of the rape and strangulation of a 16-year-old girl at Conroe High

An administrator for the court said there is no undue delay since the case was not officially submitted until January 1989.

The lawmakers, composed of black, Hispanic and liberal white Democrats, have a House resolution seeking Brandley's new trial.

Other Highlights

State Rep. Chris Harris, R-Arlington, said he will be a candidate for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington. Harris, 41, is in his third term in the House.

CRP land can be a fire hazard, especially during the dormant or dry periods of the year. This winter and spring could be such a time.

One recommendation would be the use of fireguards around the perimeter of the field or in selected areas, such as near farmsteads or farms. These fireguards are disked or bladed areas 10 to 16 feet wide. Some fireguards may need to be sown to small grain each fall and plowed under during the summer if the soil is subject to blowing or washing.

We do not recommend burning the CRP land during the fall. Removing the topgrowth would leave the grass plant more susceptible to freeze damage this

"Residents of the suburbs will continue to be politically and culturally dominant. Church programs will move to many newer issues while also continuing their past role of 'baptizing, marrying and burying' congregation members," Fehrenbach said.

"Ministers in the future will continue to deal with death, sorrow, salvation, emergencies, drugs and other youth issues and newer concerns as they work with a smaller human base," he said.

Fehrenbach said the agricultural base, as far as people are concerned, also will continue to erode.

He said some economists predict, however, the U.S. could lose a million farmers and still raise enough food to supply domestic and foreign needs.

Fehrenbach said the immense cultural, ethnic and linguistic differences of Texas communities impacted the state's early town and church structures.

"But many benefits have resulted from this diversity, and rural ministers have found ways to bridge the cultural changes in their communities for highly positive results," Fehrenbach said.

Gilmer-Akins

Editor: In 1949, the Gilmer Akins Bill was enacted, creating the Texas Public School System under the direction of the school superintendent of Texas. It has taken 40 years to prove beyond a questionable doubt that it hasn't worked and it is not going to work. I'm wondering how long we Texans will stand for this screw-up.

In order to control the local superintendent the state appoints a state superintendent of schools to control the local superintendent of each school district. Now he needed a system whereby they could force the local school districts to comply with all their wishes. (Some of the local school districts were going back to the voters, the property owners, for more money and they were saying "No".) So they created the automatic tax increase every year without your approvai. Then they needed a uniform way of levying taxes, which led to the formation of the central appraisal district. Now the unfairness issue showed up a few months back.

I wonder whta law they will pass to overcome that problem. There is an old saying that when you are trying to create something and it begins to show signs of failure, go back and do one of two things: Use the old system you were using or create a better one. I'm sure hoping they won't try to create a better one, because they are apt to screw up like they have on about everything pertaining to taxes that they have put their hands on.

If we eliminated the three above programs, look at all the money the state would save and the taxpayer would have control over their property taxes.

Now if we want to save Texas, and clear all of this mess up, I'm hoping you will contact your state representatives and ask them to return the control of the schools back to the local people (which it should have never left), so it can be run as it had been operating by local authorities for over 100 years. # Washington

There's only one place in the world where a major industrialized country borders a developing nation—the United States border with Mexico. This unique situation presents Texans who live along that border with special problems, like high unemployment, low income, poor environmental conditions, too little health care and too much disease. Along the border unemployment is higher and per capita income lower than anywhere else in Texas, or most of the rest of the United States. In fact, four out of 10 of the lowest per capita income counties in the nation are located on the U.S./Mexico border. Along the border Texans must suffer the consequences when cities on the Mexican side of the border pump tens of millions of gallons of raw sewage each day into the Rio Grande River. These conditions have a devastating effect on the health of our citizens. Compounding these health problems is the fact that tens of thousands of people along the border are living in unincorporated communities known as colonias. These colonias lack running water and the basic sewer services that most of us take for granted, providing an ample environment for

And the border area lacks the doctors needed to cope with these increased health hazards. There's only one doctor for every 1,150 patients compared to 600 patients per physician in the rest of Texas.

I grew up along that border and as a Senator from Texas I want to see these problems solved. That's why Congressman Ron Coleman of El Paso and I have proposed legislation that establishes a coordinated strategy for tackling the special problems found on the U.S./Mexico border.

Our legislation would establish a Southwest Border Regional Commission to address border needs. The commission would be comprised of two members appointed by the President, the governor from each border state, two U.S. House members from border districts, and two Senators from

The Commission would help direct financial, human and other resources toward efforts to improve education, public health and public facilities. It could serve as the catalyst that sparks investment and business interest in an area that is rich in opportunity.

The border area is an attractive site for manufacturing facilities and joint ventures between the U.S. and Mexico. The Regional Commission can get the ball rolling by building roads, bridges and airports, as well as educating workers. Then it will be up to the private sector to step in, create jobs, help train people, broaden the tax base and seek markets on both sides of the

Creating a border commission will not alone solve the problems along the U.S./Mexico border, but I am convinced it can get the private and public sectors working together, which will help set the stage for economic de-

We must bring the economy along the border up to par with the rest of the nation. Recognizing the special needs of our border region, and laying the groundwork to meet those needs is a good first step towards offering Americans who live there a bigger share in the American dream.

Come on now, Dick Gebhardt. Can a congressman's courage to raise his pay really be compared to an electrician's courage to lead a revolt against the Soviet Empire? Well, the day Congressmen voted themselves a 40-percent pay hike, the man from Missouri said this, in reference to Lech Walsea's speech the day before:

"We heard a hero yesterday who talked about courage. Today is the day for us to be leaders to do what's right for this body, for this institution."

A trillion seconds ago, Australopithecus roamed the earth. So says a newsletter from the McDonald Observatory.

Since there are 31,536,000 seconds in a year, a trillion seconds ago must have been about 3,000

It's almost impossible to imagine a trillion of anything, except dollars.

To write 1 trillion, just jot down the figure "1" and add 12 zeroes. That's quite a figure. But put a dollar sign in front of it, and you're just a few billion short of the national debt.

The 1990-91 edition of the Texas Almanac is off the press and there's some updated information on Haskell County.

In 1987, Haskell County had 82 births and 111 deaths; there were 70 marriages and 25 divorces. The population consisted of 5,098 white, 352 black, 1,222 Hispanic and 31 "other." Females outnumbered males, 3,437 to 3,266.

A Haskell housewife, who requested anonymity, has learned it pays to shop at home. She responded to one of those television ads where you order a piece of merchandise and have it charged to your credit card.

It sounded like a bargain, at $19.95, about a third less than the price of a similar product bought locally. There was a $6 handling charge, bringing the price to $25.95, still a few bucks less than the locally bought merchandise.

But then the ordered merchandise didn't come. After waiting six weeks, she called the number she had ordered from. She was given a number in California to call. When she called California, she got a recording, telling her to write to an address in Florida. This she did, but another six weeks have passed and she hasn't heard a word. Nor received her goods.

So instead of saving four dollars or so, she has lost $25.95, been through much frustration, and still doesn't have the stuff she ordered.

mWomen of style have always known what a potent tool an accessory can be in creating a mood, providing excitement and enhancing a fashion statement. With one attempt, the right scarf, handbag or careful assemblage of jewelry can turn a familiar outfit into something new.

After a decade of consumer rebellion against fashion extremes, trend forecasters predict the '90s will usher in a change in attitude toward dressing.

Classic simplicity, comfort and a more relaxed mood will prevail, providing women greater freedom to experiment with accessories to create their own personalized, self-assured looks. Once the finishing touch, accessories—particularly jewelry-will become the starting coveted, award-winning, dramatically

The fashion power of silver in the '90s

Jewelry designers, along with big Seventh Avenue names, recognize the future power of accessories

Bayanihan Ltd., a manufacturer of high fashion sterling silver jewelry sold at prestigious specialty and department stores nationwide, recently introduced an exclusive collection of sterling silver jewelry by the internationally acclaimed design team, Diana Vincent. The line ranges in price from $80 to $500.

In only six years, young designers Diane Chrambanis and Vincent Polisano have achieved world-class status for their opulent, yet modern, diamond and gold jewelry designs.

Diana Vincent's premier sterling silver collection for Bayanihan features an attention to detail, uncompromising quality and distinctive styling that distinguishes these designers in the fine jewelry world.

As Diane Chrambanis explains: "This new jewelry collection is designed for women such as myself, who appreciate well-made jewelry with classic styling coupled with fashion panache. Our busy lives require an affordable and diversified jewelry wardrobe that can easily transform a day look to an evening look without compromising a woman's per-

Club members have program on turkeys

The Philadelphian Club met Nov. 16 in the banquet room of the First Baptist Church instead of the club house due to the work being done because of vandalism.

Joe Harold Cloud conducted a most interesting slide presentation and talk on wild turkeys in this area. Surprisingly, all pictures were taken in Haskell County on the Cloud and Jones ranches. He showed turkeys at birth up to two years. Their coloring is beautiful. Background showed beautiful wild flowers and grass.

Fourth-graders get books from firms

Students in the fourth grade at Haskell Elementary School have received the gift-book entitled "Feeling Good About Me." Is is a handsomely bound book of stories abut learning traditional values and self-estem.

"Feeling Good About Me" contains eight stories about realistic problems young people might encounter and how, using traditional values, they are resolved.

Each story has a full-color illustration and teaches such lessons as right and wrong, appreciation of family, what it means to be a good citizen, living up to one's full potential, and why (and how) to stay away from drugs.

stay away from drugs.

In the first story, ,"A Day With Granddaddy," young Wendy is mad. The most popular girl in school has invited her to a slumber party but she has to go to her grandparents' house on the lake, a visit she usually enjoys. During a conversation that takes place as Wendy fishes with Granddad, she learns the relative importance of the party and the visit (her values are put into perspective) and she feels good about herself and visiting her grandparents

Other stories involve the meaning of friendship, family relationships, respect for others, loyalty and the importance of being your own unique self, lessons not always covered in school curriculums. They reflect positive influences tht build a child's self-esteem.

Each story is accompanied by a teacher's guide, which covers discussion starters, lesson objectives and follow-up applications. The purpose of the lessons is to teach young people good values and encourge discussion of values between children, their parents and other family members in a home setting.

In "Real Heroes," a war game among a dozen boys and girls results in several broken windows at school. At the principal's office, the youngsters learn from an Army veteran that being an American hero isn't something that must happen on a battlefield, but also occurs by being a good citizen, doing whatever they can for their country.

The beautiful books are made to last and are likely to become keepsake editions for the students. Local sponsors provide this imporatnt gift to the children. Sponsors are Haskell National Bank, State Farm Insurance (Brian and Jennifer Burgess), Lane-Felker, McGee's Lumber Yard, Haskell Butane Co. and Boggs and Johnson.

Area school committees to meet

Several area schools will conduct Parent Advisory Committee meetings next week for each of their special programs---Chapter I Regular, Chapter I Migrant, Chapter II, Vocational, English as a Second Language, Special Education, Library and Lunchroom.

All parents of students in special programs, as well as elected members of the committees, are invited to attend. The agenda will review the programs in each of the schools and elect officers for the coming school year.

--Weinert--

by Myrtle Phemister Thanksgiving is an "attitude" of mind-a "season" of expressing gratitude for gifts received- a "day", set aside, when each can, in their own way, give "Thanks."

I prefer the "attitude" of Thanksgiving-it should be a part of our daily life to always be in a thankful frame of mind. There are so many things to be grateful for that we could never name them all, the list is endless.

We are grateful for the good road that 277 has become, with the recent re-construction done north of town to the county line. The road is

We appreciate the seven "entrances" to Weinert, off of 277 (just count them, they may say "Exit", but that's off the highway, and not "from" Weinert). If you miss the first, you can expect the next one.

We appreciate so many of our "exes" who come home, and especially the many who come on such a time as Thanksgiving Day. We had so many visitors this week, and the weather was so beautiful, we will remember Thanksgiving of '89, -1989, that is!

We extend sincere sympathy to LaRoque.

the family and friends of "Bub" Adams who passed away last week, and was interred in the Munday

He lived all his life in our part of the Big Country, and was an honorable, honest, hard-working man. We love his family, and express our sympathy to Chat, Anna Mae and Ronnie, as well as to his grandchildren and others who loved him.

We extend sympathy to Faye Jetton and others of the McMillen family at the demise of Mrs. Stanley (Helen Condron) McMillen, who died in a Wichita hospital on Saturday, after a long bout with lung cancer. They resided in Newcastle.

Her memorial services were conducted in Throckmorton Presbyterian Church and she was interred in the Throckmorton cemetery, on Monday.

Francis Mahan announces the arrival of her newest great-grandson, Mark Sanford, Jr., who arrived on Nov. 19th, a healthy 6 lb. boy and will bless the home of Tonya and Mark Sanford of Odessa, with approval of grandmother, Ruby

We would like to thank all the people that helped us in anyway, during the loss of our darling brother, Bro. Paul for the memorial service, Ford Cole, for the beautiful songs, to the one that played the piano, all that served as pallbearers, and for the food, cards, flowers, visits, most of all your prayers. God bless each of you.

Chunky and Viola, Minnie Holt

We are happy that Harvey Griffis was able to spend Thanksgiving at his home here, with his whole family together for the day. Harvey resides at the Haskell Nursing Center, and feels well most of the time.

Bertie Alexander enjoyed having several of her children getting together for a fish-fry on Thanksgiving Day, with the fish and the frying-attributed to Terry Alexander of Munday who came with Terra Kay, Brianna and Brittany.

Roy and Leta Phemister of Edinburg were up for the holidays and visited relatives here.

They attended worship services at the Weinert Church of Christ on Wednesday night, and hosted their children from Odessa and San Angelo on Thanksgiving Day.

A few of the local people who had their families home for the holidays includes: Jerry and Doris Walker; Johnny and Marilyn Earp; Eddie and Myrnie Sanders; Chet and Jeannie Forehand; Ted and Faye Jetton; Marvin and Myrtle Phemister; Herschel and Merle Alexander; Donald and Gracie Griffis; Mattie and D. I. .White; Gilbert and Sophie Jimenez; Bob and Melanie Wood; Rex and Tinka Herricks; Mildred Offutt-and those of us who did not have company, took the opportunity to be "out-oftown". Bless us all!

Roy Herricks had a safe return home from his trip to California to visit relatives and friends.

Watch Your Credit Cards When Holiday Shopping

This is the season to be "jolly," but this is also the season to be extremely careful when holiday shopping. Consumers are often victims of credit card fraud or stolen credit cards due to the high activity of holiday shopping

The cost of credit card fraud to credit card holders and to credit card companies alike may be as high as $500 million a year. Everyone pays for credit card fraud in higher prices, whether or not they are personally defrauded.

While theft is the most obvious form of credit card fraud, fraud occurs in a variety of other ways.

- A thief may go through the trash to find discarded receipts or carbons to use the card number illegally.
- A dishonest clerk may make an extra imprint from your credit card for his or her personal use.
- You may receive a postcard or letter asking you to call an out-of-state number to take advantage of a free trip or a bargain-priced travel package. When you call, you are told you must join the travel club first. You are asked for your credit card number so you can be billed for your membership fee. The Catch? New charges may continue to be added to your credit card at every step, and you may never get your free bargainpriced vacation.

PROTECT YOURSELF

You can take precautions to protect yourself against credit card fraud. You may also want to instruct any other person who is authorized to use your account to take these same precautions.

- Sign your new cards as soon as

- Keep your card in view, whenever you can, after you give it to a clerk. Retrieve it promptly after using it.

Haskell firemen defeat Throckmorton

A paragraph in the "Out of the Past" column in The Free Press last week revived the memories of the still-talked-about football game between the fire departments of Haskell and Throckmorton.

The game was played Nov. 19, 1959, and the following is an account of that game as it appeared in The Free Press. (The accompanying photograph was Surprising both spectators and Eaters" defeated the Throckmorton "Fire Dogs" 20-6 in Indian Stadium Thursday night in the first and only (and probably the last) football game between members of the volunteer fire departments of the two towns.

Witnessing what turned out to be a creditably played, leather-• Void or destroy all carbons and in- popping football game were some 600 paying customers, along with a small army of athletic directors, managers, coaches and team physicians from both fire departments.

Fortunately, an ambulance which had been thoughtfully • Notify card companies in advance provided for the occasion was unused. However, stocks of liniment and pain-killer in Haskell's three drug stores reportedly had been exhausted by noon Friday.

Playing 10-minute quarters, Haskell scored in the second, third If your credit card is lost or and fourth periods, and held a 20-0 lead until the final minutes of the game when Throckmorton left halfback Hartsell Ash intercepted a Haskell pass on his own 35-yard line and stepped off 65 long yards to paydirt. Scoring Haskell's initial TD in the second was Fullback (Bulldozer) Don Garrett, who plowed through from the two-yard stripe. Conversion try, an aerial from QB If you have a complaint about Ray Overton, overshot Halfback

In the conversion try, Overton's pass hit in the hands of End Tom Watson for an added two points to up the score to 14-0.

Early in the fourth, Medford hit again, this time struggling through from the 9-yard line. Conversion try was no good.

Thockmorton's break came late in the fourth, with Haskell on the visitors' 35. A pass intended for Medford was intercepted by RE Jack McNutt whose burst of speed slowed to a lumbering trot as he traveled 65 yards for a Fire Dog

TD. Conversion try failed, ending the night's scoring.

After the game, members of the two departments and their wives, were guests at a supper in the Highway Drive In, courtesy of Haskell firemen.

Listed on the local squad were Sonny Seynolds, Jim Alvis, Alton Middleton, Dude Mercer, George Tyler, E. J. Stewart, Bull Barnett, Jack Speer, Dent Atchison, Dugan Starr, Chester Hodgin, Olen Bartley, Bob Dumas, Earl Correll, Brooks Middleton, Jim Byrd, Tom Watson, Olen King, Alvis Bird, Ray Overton, J. B. Managers were Emmett Starr and Frank Reynolds; head coach, George Neely; line coach, Ray Lusk; backfield coach, Lon Pate; athletic director, R. A. Lane; and team physician, Belton Duncan.

Financial report showed gross receipts of $505.50 which was divided equally between the two departments.

Munday pays tribute to melon developer

The Munday Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture will throw an appreciation day luncheon to honor the developer of the seedless watermelon.

The luncheon will pay tribute to Dr. O. J. Eigsti. It begins at noon Thursday (Nov. 30) at the Perry Patton Community Center in Munday.

Dr. Eigsti is a renown scientist who has spent more than 50 years researching and developing the seedless watermelon. In 1964, he brought the seedless watrmelon to farmers in the Munday area from Chicago, where he was professor of botany at Chicago State College. He felt the climate, soil and water in the Rolling Plains area would be conducive to the watermelon's growth on a commercial basis.

A free tour of American Sunmelon, producers of seed for the seedless watermelon, will begin the day's activities at 10:30 a.m. American Sunmelon is located nine miles west of Munday on SH 222. Also scheduled is a tour of the Jim Dillon commercial greenhouse, a half mile west of American Sunmelon.

During the noon luncheon, Rep. David Counts of Knox City will present Dr. Eigsti with a Texas flagwhich has flown over the state capitol. At 1:30, the program will continue with a tour of the Texas A&M vegetable research station in Munday.

Luncheon tickets are $10 each and are available from the Munday Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

New Texas Almanac on sale

No better summation of the diversity of the peoples and places of Texas can be found than in the 55th edition of the Txas Almanac and State Industrial Guide.

Published by The Dallas Morning News, the Almanac presents special features on the hisory of West Texas, science in Texas, a review of literature produced in the state and a survey of the top high school football teams in the state's history.

Additionally, the book has broadened the base of demographic inforantion offered about each of the 254 counties and provides informative and entertaining facts for researcher, traveler, student and curious Texans alike.

In the leadoff science section, there are feature articles on the Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) and robotics research, as well as prehistoric Texas---discoveries of bird and animal fossils, Indian burial sites and examples of Indian rock art found around the state.

The SSC, which is planned for Ellis County just south of Dallas, will probe the basic structure of matter. In contrast to the pure research coducted with the SSC, the Amtomation and Robotics Research Institute in Fort Worth does applied research geared to solving today's industrial production problems. How the ARRI was conceived and developed and the research being conducted there is the heart of another science section feature.

How to farm in a region that has little rain and a falling underground water table is also discussed in the Almanac's science section. Water use and conservation research in Texas is as immediate and vital as today's headlines, and ranges from use of the latest in electronics to decades-old techniques.

Continuing the Almanac's series of regional histories, the 1990-91 Texas Almanac features the history of West Texas. In the story of West Texas, you will discover reality more fascinating than fiction. Covered are the larger-than-life, people who gave West Texas its flavor, such people as Comanche Chief Quanah Parker, cattle and trail blazer Charlie Goodnight and military leader Gen. Ranold S. Mackenzie. Discover how railroads, windmills and barbed wire were the keys to shaping the West.

Texas history cover such subjects as the first Thanksgiving in Texas (and was it really the first Thanksgiving celebration in the Unied States?); the flourishing coalmining operations at Thurber, now a ghost town, at the turn of the century; the excellent record left by the black Buffalo Soldiers, who were stationed at frontier forts after the Civil War; the operations of the legendary Butterfield stagecoaches across western Texas; and a rash of reports of UFO sightings across Texas just before the turn of the century, reported in all seriousness by the newspapers of the day.

Lest Almanac readers conclude that Texas is all cowboys, Indians and pump jacks, editor Mike Kingston has written a history of literature in Texas, tracing its development from the oral tradition of American Indians to the latest novel-turned-TV-series, Lonesome Dove. In between lies a discussion of such literary giants as J. Frank Dobie, William Sydney Porter (O. Henry) and Katherine Ann Porter, along with some seldom-known but nonetheless important contributors to Texas' literary history.

In another section, the Almanac names the winningest and losingest high school footbll teams in Texas.

The new Almanac also presents updated information about varied aspects of life in Texas, from county demographics to recreational opportunities, from a list of lakes and reservoirs to a list of chambers of commerce, from election results statewide and by county to membership of state agencies to a comprehensive list of over 5,000 cities, towns and communities that make up the fabric of the Lone Star

The Almanac can be purchased at The Haskell Free Press.

Texas leads nation in deaths on the job

According to officials at the Texas Department of Health (TDH), more than 700 job-related deaths occur yearly in Texas, more employee deaths than are reported in any other state.

These fatalities and the thousands of injuries suffered by Texas' workforce have created a crisis, affecting the state's health care, insurance and regulatory systems. In response, the state's lawmakers are proposing reforms throughout the Texas workers' compensation system.

However, Dr. Robert Bernstein, commissioner of health, has said, "In the search for a better workers' compensation system, thus far the greatest emphasis has been placed on containing costs. There needs to be more attention given to increasing worker safety and on preventing injuries.'

A recently completed TDH study is perhaps the most accurate measure to date of the number of the state's occupational deaths. The federally funded study compared fatality information from four government sources to reach its

In addition to its own collected data, the department's Occupational Safety and Health Division used records from the Texas Industrial Accident Board, the U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), and the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics to create a single list for the 1986 calendar year.

After eliminating duplicated cases, victims of heart attacks and other illnesses not directly related workplace incidents, the study confirmed that 715 people died in 1986 because of traumatic events traced to their work.

Day honors grandparents

After working for years with the elderly in her native West Virginia, Marian McQuade believed people needed to focus more on the nation's grandparents.

"I wanted people to think about their grandparents, to realize the value of their families and to go visit them," McQuade said.

She took her idea to West Virginia Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr., and Grandparents Day became an official state holiday in February

On Sept. 6, 1979, President Jimmy Carter declared the first national Grandparents Day. Since then, the first Sunday in September following Labor Day has been set aside to pay special tribute to

Cable notice clarified

The manager of the local TV cable system says residents need not be alarmed by a recent notice mailed to their homes saying that cable systems no longer have to carry local stations.

Gigi Barnett, general manager, Harmon Communications will continue to carry local stations. "We were just complying with the FCC requirement in sending out the notices," she said.

The FCC formerly had a "mustcarry" rule that required cable systems to carry local stations. The rule was rescinded, and the FCC is requiring the notification for consumer protection, said Barnett.

"The FCC ruled that cable companies didn't have to carry local stations, but the companies had to have available for the subscribers a switch to change from cable to antenna if the cable system did not carry the local stations," Barnett explained.

"If we did drop one or all of the local stations, the FCC doesn't want to leave the customer without an alternative. They just want to make sure that local residents are able to view local channels.'

Now is a good time to weed out records

Winter is a good time to reassess your financial habits because a year is ending. If you're like most people, your financial papers and records could probably stand a little overhauling.

But before you begin a reorganizing, consider what you really need and what you can prune out. Most of us save more paperwork than necessary and it just takes up a lot of space.

Start by setting out boxes and files to hold three types of records: those you can toss, those you need to keep six or more years, and those you need to keep for the rest of THINGS YOU CAN TOSS: If you don't need the record for tax purposes or if you are sure it can easily be replaced, don't save it.

Receipts for small daily purchases do not have to be saved, especially if they have no tax consequences. But keep receipts for expensive items to settle insurance claims in case of loss, theft or damage.

It isn't necessary to keep monthly mutual fund and brokerage statements once a comprehensive year-end statement is issued. Howver, you should save trade confirmations and dividendreinvestment statements. This information is needed to determine your cost basis when you sell a security. Without it, you may overpay taxes when you sell the security.

You can safely discard most business receipts for less than $25 and your credit card bills after your bank returns the cancelled check verifying that you paid the bill. However, if you need your credit card statement for analyzing itemized deductions at tax time, keep those statements with your tax records.

RECORDS TO KEEP SIX OR MORE YEARS: Plan to keep tax records for as long as they are important for any Internal Revenue law. Keep records that support an item of income or a deduction appearing on a return until the statute of limitations for the return runs out. Usually this is three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the date the tax was paid, whichever date is later.

Sometimes you may have to keep tax records for a longer period, such as in property transactions, when the basis for the new or replacement property depends on the property's basis. Keep these records for as long as they are important in figuring your property's basis.

RECORDS TO KEEP FOREVER: These records include birth and death certificates, list of financial assets, medical records, powers of attorney, trust agreements, wills and W-2 statements. Also keep divorce decreees and custody agreements, military papers, naturalization papers and prenuptial agreements.

FROM V SOWER Michael A. Guido

It was Christmas, and a little boy was asked to play the role of the innkeeper who turned away Mary and Joseph.

"I won't!" he said. "I won't be that man. He wasn't nice."

But the teacher insisted, and he obediently learned his lines.

The night of the performance came. Mary and Joseph knocked on the door. The boy, dressed as the innkeeper, opened the door and said, "There's no room in the inn..." but he added, "if you like, you can rest a while and have some cookies and tea."

Just now the Lord says, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock." You will say, "Lord, come into my heart," won't you!

O: Maintaining a safe level of cholesterol has been a hot health topic over the past few years. As a result, many individuals like myself have altered their diets to include more poultry and fish. Recently, I read that shellfish may contain high levels of cholesterol. Is this true? How much is too much cholesterol (per serving)?

A: You may have heard that a diet to control cholesterol excludes shellfish. However, it is acceptable to eat all kinds of shellfish within limits. There are two groups of shelfish. One group contains the clams, mussels, oysters and scallops which eat only plant food in the sea and are therefore vegetarian shell fish. All of these have a very low concentration of cholesterol and saturated fat. The other group is the crustaceans which includes the crabs, crayfish, shrimp and lobsters. The crustaceans are meat eaters and therefore contain some cholesterol, but they are still quite low in saturated fat. Six medium size shrimp contain only 120 mg. of cholesterol and a very small amount, 0.3 grams, of "bad" saturated fat. When you consider the amount of cholesterol and fat together, six shrimp have about the same effect on blood cholesterol as a skinless chicken breast.

It is recommended that individuals limit their daily dietary cholesterol intake to 300 mg. per day. One can certainly eat a half dozen shrimp and stay within this limit. It is best to eat fish, clams, mussels, oysters or scallops. However, it is also acceptable to cat reasonable amounts of chicken and turkey breast, shrimp, crab, crayfish and lobster.

Pioneer families to be recognized

Pointing to the importance of recognizing and remembering the pioneer farm and ranch families. State Sen. Steven A. Carriker has invited long-time farming families to participate in the Texas Department of Agriculture's 1990 Family Land Heritage program.

Registration for the program, which recognizes families who have had land in agricultural production for 100 years or more, is now open and will extend through July 15, 1990, Carriker said.

One property in Jones County has qualified for the 1989 Family Land Heritage program. The P-2 Ranch, founded by P. R. and Martha Jordon in 1889, will be among the 103 farms and ranches added to the list this year. Since the program was established in 1974 to honor pioneering families, 2,090 such families have been recognized.

The basic requirements of the program include continuous agricultural production on the farm or ranch for 100 years, land ownership within the family, complete operation or supervision of the farm/ranch production by family members who are Texas residents, and a size of at least 10 acres with a minimum income of $50 from farm or ranch products. If the farm or ranch is smaller than 10 acres, sales must total $250 per

"These families are living, productive symbols of our family farm unit," Carriker said. "We celebrate their past achievements, and acknowledge the importance that such family farms hold for us in the future."

This year's certified registrants will be honored at a state ceremony on Nov. 16 in Austin. Honorees will receive a certificate with an official sign/marker to be placed on the recipient's gate or home designating the property as a "Century Farm" or "Century Ranch." Additionally, a Family Land Heritage registry will later be published and distributed to all honorees

Those who wish to apply may obtain an application from their county judge or by writing to: Family Heritage Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin 78711.
