The Texas Farm Bureau broke new ground in political broadcasting last Thursday (June 21) with a television special via satellite, introducing the Republican Agriculture Commissioner candidate, State Rep. Rick Perry of Haskell, to its county Farm Bureaus.

Originating at KWTX-TV in Waco, the hour-long broadcast, "Meet Rick Perry," was sponsored by the TFB's political action arm, AgFund, for Farm Bureau members only in some 162 county Farm Bureau offices around the state.

The political broadcast included videotaped endorsements from Nolan Ryan, baseball hero and South Texas rancher, as well as state and national political and agricultural leaders, some of whom blasted Perry's opponent, Jim Hightower.

"This is the largest live audience of Farm Bureau leaders and members for any event in our history, and we believe it will kick off a successful campaign leading to Rick Perry's election as Texas Agriculture Commissioner," said S. M. True, TFB president.

On the program with Perry and True were Vernie R. Glasson, TFB executive director; and moderator Gene Hall, director of radio-television for the state's largest farm organization.

Perry and other members of the panel answered questions from county Farm Bureaus that were telephoned in during the show.

Perry told the audience of farmers and ranchers watching in FB conference rooms across the state that he plans to make changes in the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"Basically, mainstream agriculture has been left to fend for itself in the last eight years as Mr. Hightower has taken his niche in agriculture," he said. "And those very small products that you don't hear much about bring in less than one-half of one percent of all the gross revenue in agriculture in the state. I'm going to re-focus the department back on mainstream agriculture."

"Agriculture contributes something over $10 billion to the economy of Texas each year," True said. "Agriculture is important and this race is important. Rick Perry can win this race because he's qualified."

Glasson said agriculture needs new leadership.

"We need a spokesman within government that we can depend upon," said Glasson. "Rick is that man. He's dedicated to agriculture, he's well educated, he's articulate.

Perry, a Haskell farmer and rancher, serves eight West Texas counties in the Texas House of Representatives. His opponent in the Nov. 6 general election, incumbent Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Hightower, is finishing his eighth year in that office.

The TV program included a videotaped segment of Perry on his ranch and also videotaped endorsements from baseball hero Nolan Ryan of the Texas Rangers baseball club, U.S. Sen. Phil

Geologists elect David

The son-in-law of a Haskell woman has been elected treasurer of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists (AAPG), an international scientific organization.

Roswell, N.M., geologist Eddie David will serve a two-year term, starting in July. He is married to the former Nabeela Hassen, formerly of Haskell. His wife is the daughter of Mrs. S. Hassen and the sister of Raja Hassen, both of Haskell.

The AAPG is the world's largest geological society with approximately 36,000 members in 106 countries. Its purpose is to foster the spirit of scientific research among its members and to advance the science of geology--particularly as it relates to petroleum and energy minerals.

David, 56, president of David Petroleum Corp., and partner in LDM Associates, has been an independent petroleum geologist for 24 years. He began his career with Texaco Inc. after receiving his BS degree in petroleum geology from Texas Tech University in 1956.

David's other AAPG activities include currently serving a three-year term in the House of Delegates and being an associate trustee of the AAPG Foundation since 1986. His professional affiliations include the American Institute of Professional Geologists, Roswell Geological Society, West Texas Geological Society, Independent Petroleum Association of New Mexico and New Mexico Landman's Association.

David and his wife reside in Roswell, where he is also active in the community as chairman of the board of directors of First Federal Savings Bank of New Mexico, a member of the Board of Education for the Roswell Independent School District, a member of Roswell Rotary and the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Rule memorial has been erected

The Rule Veterans Memorial has been erected and walkways constructed in front of the memorial. It is located on the east side of Slim Sorrells Park.

The memorial will be dedicated during homecoming activities Oct. 20.

Until the dedication, work at the site will continue. More landscaping will be done, more walkways constructed and a sprinkler system installed.

Throughout the planning stage, members of the Rule Community

Memorial Foundation made every effort possible to include the names of all veterans, although they feel that some may have been omitted. The monument was designed so that more names can be added.

Anyone with knowledge of a veteran whose name is not included on the memorial should contact Geraldine Pool or A. B. Arnett.

Contributions are still being accepted. Those wishing to make contributions may do so by sending them to the Farmers National Bank, P.O. Box 10.

DPS predicts 15 holiday deaths

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated that as many as 15 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the brief July 4th holiday period in Texas.

DPS Director Col. Joe Milner reminded motorists that the traffic volume increases during holidays, raising the chances for fatal collisions.

"Even though July 4th falls on Wednesday this year, we believe additional patrol hours are necessary," Milner said. "All available troopers will be on duty, closely watching for the most life-threatening violations--DWI and speeding over-the-limit.

Milner said the DPS 30-hour fatality counting period will start at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, July 3, and continue until midnight on July 4.

Last year, the Independence Day driving period ran 102 hours. Thirty-four traffic fatalities were reported during the extended counting time, far below the DPS estimate of 52.

"We're hoping for the same result this July 4th," Milner said. "And we're relying on the motorists who respect Texas officers and traffic laws to help us meet the challenge."

Haskell athletes sign with colleges

Two more Haskell High School athletes will be performing on college campuses this coming year.

Harper Stewart has signed a letter of intent to play football for McMurry College in Abilene, and Roger Roewe has been awarded a track scholarship with South Plains Junior College in Levelland.

Stewart, an outstanding receiver for the Indians last season, caught 39 passes for 671 yards. He averaged 17.2 yards per catch and scored 60 points.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stewart, he was an all-district basketball player and was an academic all-state selection. He was a hurdler on the Indian track team.

Roewe was one of the state's top discus throwers as a member of the Indian track team last spring. His best throw was 175-3. He won the district and the regional meets and finished second in the state track meet.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Roewe, he was an all-district performer on the Indian football team and was a member of the basketball team.

The signings of Stewart and Roewe bring to five the number of 1990 HHS graduates who signed with colleges for next year. Earlier, James Rike received a basketball scholarship to Clarendon Junior College and Missy Davis signed a basketball letter of intent with Sul Ross State University.

2nd Saturday to feature patriotic theme

"Proud to Be an American" will be the theme of the July 14 Super 2nd Saturday in Haskell.

This will be the fourth monthly celebration sponsored by the Haskell Business Association of the Chamber of Commerce in which participating businesses display Super Saturday flags, employees wear clothes to depict the theme, special entertainment is provided, games, food, arts and crafts are featured and bargains are offered in local stores.

The steering committee for all the monthly events will also be in charge of the July activities. Committee members are Suzanne Starr, Conrad Roewe, Peggy Lane and Lois Richardson.

A city-wide sidewalk sale will be one of the promotions, with even better sale prices in each store.

Each business is asked to decorate its windows in red, white and blue, and to dress accordingly.

Due to the hot weather, the activities on the square will be held in the morning instead of the afternoon.

From 10 to 11 a.m. there will be music, entertainment and games.

From 11 to 12, a salute is planned to honor a special American--Tom Watson, longtime Haskell fire chief and civic leader.

Service clubs, other organizations and church groups are invited to set up booths each month with proceeds going to their own groups. Those wanting to participate should call Conrad Roewe at 864-3891. Space will be provided on a first-come, first-served basis.

Roewe states that persons seeking family entertainment, good food and a town full of bargains are urged to spend the second Saturday of each month in Haskell.

Bridgeport coach to replace Stone

Randy Stone has resigned as Haskell High School basketball coach, but will remain on the coaching staff.

Replacing him will be Mark Coffman, who has been coaching at Bridgeport for the past three years and who formerly coached at Weinert.

Coffman is one of four new coaches added to the Haskell staff, which has been increased from five to seven.

Other new additions include former coach Richard Holloway, who coached last year at Anson. Holloway will be head track coach, defensive coach in football and assistant girls' basketball coach.

Another new coach will be Alan Phillips, who comes here from Hamlin. He will be offensive coordinator in football, junior varsity basketball coach and assistant track coach.

The fourth new coach will be Rito Hernandez, a recent college graduate who will be an assistant football coach and will coach junior high basketball and track.

Only holdover head coach on the staff will be Kerry Gartman, who will return for a second season as girls' basketball coach.

Earlier, Walter Hargrove was named head football coach to succeed the resigned Nelson Coulter.

Signs with McMurry

Harper Stewart signs a letter of intent to play football next year for McMurry College. Looking on are his father, Bill Stewart, left, and his coach, Nelson Coulter.

Signs with South Plains

Roger Roewe signs a letter to attend South Plains Junior College on a track scholarship. Behind him are his father, Conrad Roewe, and his coach, Walter Hargrove.

Cowboy Reunion next week

Stamford is excited as final plans and preparations are being completed for the special 60th anniversary celebration of the Texas Cowboy Reunion on July 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Many colorful new events, including team roping, ranch chuckwagon competition, a bit, spur and western collectible show, a brisket cookoff, cowboy poetry gathering, catered breakfast after the dance and a downtown garage sale have been added.

Several events of earlier years have also been incorporated in the program with the regular rodeo events in an effort to carry out the theme of "Bringing Reunion Back to the Rodeo."

The authentic rodeo events, the nightly western dances under the stars to the continuous music of Jody Nix and "The Texas Cowboys", and the 17th annual Western Art Show, assure everyone of a great time.

This year, Reunion officials say they truly want to "Bring Back Reunion to the Rodeo" as old and new friends gather together in the great tradition and heritage and reminisce about the good old days in the presence of the real working cowboys from the surrounding area.

Hartsfield Agency founded in 1891

In 1891, County Judge H. G. McConnell established an insurance agency in Haskell. This agency has been in continuous operation since that time.

In 1963, Hess and Dorothy Hartsfield purchased the agency from W. I. "Scotch" Scoggins. They moved to their present location at 417 S. 1st in August 1978.

Employed by the Hartsfields in the insurance agency are Bonita (Bo) Tatum, Becky Isbell and Julie Martin of Rule. Real estate associates of Hess and Dorothy are Mary Rike, Pat Speer and Ester Conn of O'Brien.

The owners want to show their appreciation and are inviting past, present and future customers to stop by the office for coffee and cookies on Friday (June 29) between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. Visitors also may view the Hartsfields' collection of pictures of Haskell of yesterday. Many of these were used by the Haskell National Bank in the 1990 calendar. The firm also has one of the first policies written by the agency on display, dated May 20, 1892, and signed by Judge McConnell.

The Hartsfields said they plan to continue in the insurance business, contrary to recent rumors. They invite all to come by and talk to them about their insurance or real estate needs.

Photos published in The Haskell Free Press are filed by date of publication. If you want to pick up a picture, please let us know when it ran.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The oil spill off the Galveston coast disappeared, but the hard-fought, expensive public school finance reform issue surfaced its ugly head.

Attorneys for poor school districts asked the court to declare unconstitutional the Legislature's hard-won school finance reform plan, and to substitute a plan prepared by the court-appointed master.

But early indications are the judge will let the plan stand for next year's planning while the lawsuit works through the court system. The first hearing will probably start in a few days.

The old system was declared illegal because of differences in money available to property-rich and -poor school districts, Attorney Al Kaufmann of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund, argued the new bill does not correct the differences.

The court master, former Texas Supreme Court Justice William Wayne Kilgarlin, billed the state for $18,688 for his work, including time spent at media interviews.

Campaign Trail

Gubernatorial opponents Clayton Williams and Ann Richards locked horns over his campaign statement that the private sector should pay for some federally funded research.

The Richards camp targeted campus-area media with releases charging Williams' stance would hurt state colleges by implying that Williams was opposed to all research.

The Williams camp denied the charge by saying "she's lying," and quoted Williams as saying he was opposed to federal funding on a blank-check basis.

Instead, funding dollars should be awarded on a case-by-case basis, a Williams spokesman said. Meanwhile, other Republican candidates began TV campaigns which a top Democratic operative called "more campaign dollars than sense."

Lieutenant governor GOP nominee Robert Mosbacher started a $500,000 TV and radio campaign to boost his name identification and agriculture commissioner nominee Rick Perry hosted a satellite telecast to county Farm Bureau meetings statewide.

Ed Martin, director of the Texas Democratic Party, said the efforts were wasted during the summer TV rerun season.

Martin, by the way, was probably a Texas first when, after offending some women delegates with an off-color joke at the recent state convention, apologized and declared, "I am a feminist." All was forgiven.

Appointed Judges Endorsed

U.S. Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, speaking in Houston, said she prefers appointing judges rather than electing them.

After her home state Arizona adopted the appointive system,

"the overall quality of the bench improved significantly." She also said:

■ Judges should resolve cases out of court wherever possible to allow docket room for the poor to receive justice.

■ Legislatures should put a limit on the number of habeas corpus appeals a prisoner on death row can make, and,

■ Numbers are increasing for women in the judiciary. "If the hours are long enough, and the pay is short enough, someone will decide it women's work," she joked.

Other Highlights

■ The state's liability could total about $48 million in taxpayer dollars, money which could have been spent for public education, in policyholder settlement claims of two failed insurance companies.

The two failed companies, National County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Dallas and Best Lloyds Insurance Co. of Houston, were allegedly looted by top executives to finance lavish lifestyles.

■ A state appellate court dismissed a request for more time from Lone Star Greyhound Park, the group which was the Texas Racing Commission's apparent choice for a racing license in Galveston County.

But following a challenge by four losing applicants, a state judge ruled Lone Star had never actually won the license and ordered rehearings for all original applicants.

■ Four Texas banks—Centre National Bank-Farmers Branch, Peoples National Bank in Caldwell, Bank of East Texas in Tyler and Lakeland State Bank in Austin—were closed last week by regulators and reopened the next day as branches of acquiring lenders.

■ The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that Texas and other states cannot bring federal antitrust suits on behalf of consumers charging energy producers with price-fixing.

-Hobby Club-

The Rochester Hobby Club met June 19 as members enjoyed quilting and visiting.

Annie Marshall's "Little Dutch Doll" quilt was completed and work was started on the "Lone Star" quilt.

Eron McGuire was hostess for the day. A delicious meal was served to 13 members and two visitors.

Eddie Faye Pounds of Knox City was welcomed as a new member.

Members were saddened by the death of a member's husband, Fay Wilson. He was a good and faithful worker for the club and a friend to all.

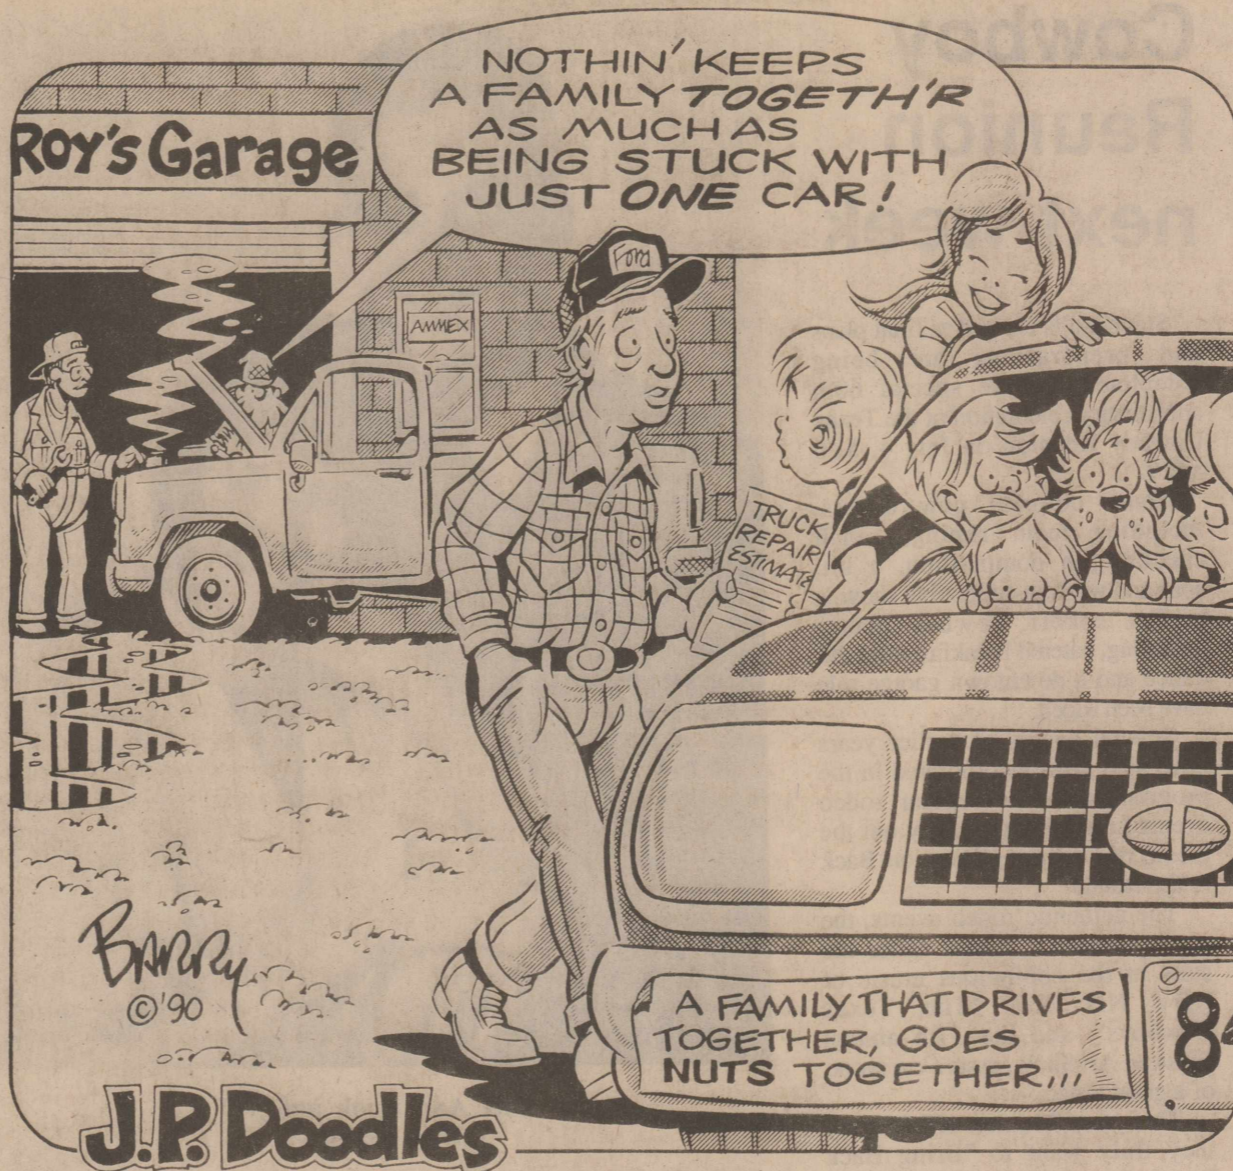

Ida Pack will be hostess for the next meeting July 3.

Stamford plans fiddlers' contest

All fiddlers 45 years of age or older are eligible and invited to enter the fiddlers' contest in Stamford July 7.

The contest will be at 9:30 a.m. at Roundup Hall.

A prize of $50 will go to the first-place winner, with the second- and third-place prizes of $35 and $25.

The young soldier said that several U.S. soldiers who had deserted and joined with the Filipinos had been captured recently, court martialled and shot for desertion. The desertion of any of our soldiers to the Filipinos is a phase of the situation there that we have not noticed reported in the general news nor official dispatches from the Philippines.

Boy Scouts

Editor: Paint Creek ISD Boy Scouts did a fantastic job of sprucing up the grounds around the school.

The cedar trees were trimmed, all waste was cleared out and hauled off. Unwanted grass and weeds were sprayed so everything was clean and safe for the students to enjoy the playgrounds.

The attitude of the scouts was wonderful. They worked as a team without complaint. The boys were working to help earn merit badges. Wallar Overton and Kenny Thompson, scoutmasters, were with the boys during their workday.

It was a blessing to the families living on campus, and to everyone who passed by the school. We are very proud of our scouts.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

We don't say a lot of things w used to.

Remember when someone had mental illness and was confined to an "insane asylum"?

That's a no-no these days.

I was reminded of this the other day when I received a release from the Mental Health Association of Texas, with a few suggestions about avoiding "stigmatized language in the media.

Among the suggestions:

1. Put people first.
- Say "person with a mental illness" instead of "mentally ill person."
- Say "people with mental illnesses" instead of "the mentally ill."
- Say "people with depression" instead of "depressives."
2. Avoid jailhouse analogies.
- Say "discharged from the hospital" instead of "released from the hospital."
3. Avoid terms that conjure negative images.
- Say "long-term" or "persistent" instead of "chronic."
- Say "psychiatric hospital" instead of "mental hospital."

I've probably been guilty of all of these--except one. Never do I recall referring to anyone as a "depressive."

Along the same line, I'm amazed at the media in this area which often implies that a Hispanic is something other than white.

We see it all the time: "One of the suspects was a Mexican-American, the other was white"--or something like that.

You can't get by with that in El Paso, or in New Mexico. I remember once when such a reference was made in a story in an El Paso newspaper. Next day, there was an apology which referred to the "stupidity" of the reporter who had written it.

Any school child knows that all Hispanics are of the Caucasian race, just as we English, Irish, Germans, etc.

The media out west make a distinction by referring to the non-Hispanic whites as "Anglos", a term you seldom see used in these parts.

The vastness of this state which is Texas is illustrated clearly in the many miles which auto visitors to this state drive.

The latest Texas Auto Visitor Survey reveals that more than 50 percent of the out-of-state visitors to Texas travel at least 800 miles while visiting us. Only 1.8 percent travel 100 miles or less, while 8.3 percent travel more than 2,000 miles.

And they don't exactly foot around while they're here. Nearly half of them spend four days or less in Texas--with a 3-day stay being the most popular visit.

But they do spend money. The most popular activity while visiting Texas is shopping, in which 58.8 percent of the visitors participate. Historical tours attract 46.1 percent of them, while 41.2 percent visit museums and historical sites.

One-third of the visitors (33.2 percent) spend time in San Antonio, 25 percent in Dallas and 19.5 percent in Houston.

Other top-10 cities include Austin (14.1 percent), El Paso (13.2 percent), Fort Worth (11.2 percent), Galveston and Corpus Christi (each 8.3 percent), Amarillo (7.5 percent) and Del Rio (5.2 percent).

Abilene ranks 22nd, behind Fort Stockton, Brownsville, South Padre Island, Harlingen, Fredericksburg, Waco, McAllen, Laredo, Arlington, Van Horn and Beaumont.

No doubt, the high rankings of Fort Stockton and Van Horn have to do with the locations of those cities. It's pretty hard not to stop in one or both while traveling the lonely I-10 route to or from El Paso.

The 10 top points of interest among the tourists, in order, are the Alamo, San Antonio River Walk, Big Bend National Park, LBJ National Park, Capitol Complex, NASA, San Antonio Missions, Sea World, LBJ Library and Museum and Padre Island National Seashore.

Six Flags Over Texas ranks 17th.

Stenholm explains amendment vote

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-TX) was on the prevailing side on Thursday when he voted against a constitutional amendment to protect the American flag.

In a 254 to 177 vote, the House of Representatives decided to abide by the Supreme Court's ruling that burning a flag is protected by the First Amendment right of free speech. To become part of the Constitution, an amendment must receive two-thirds vote from both the House and Senate and must be ratified by 38 of the 50 states.

"One of the precious rights we are given as Americans is the right to an opinion, whether it is the same as anyone else's or not," said Stenholm. "While I loathe anyone who would burn a flag in protest, I believe the Bill of Rights does protect them through the First Amendment."

Another bill known as the Flag Protection Act of 1990 was also defeated with a 179-236 vote. It would have banned flag burning in very limited circumstances.

"I do love and respect the flag because it symbolizes the United States and because it stands for the ideals put into words by our Constitution. If we punish those who desecrate the flag, this dilutes the very freedom that makes this emblem so revered by the majority of Americans," explained Stenholm.

The Congressman added that the Constitution protects the expressions of every American, even speech we hold in contempt.

"Last year when the Supreme Court first upheld the freedom of speech ruling in the case of Texas v. Johnson, my emotions compelled me to support a constitutional amendment to protect the flag. But now, after much thought and deliberation about both sides of the issue, I realize that to chip away at our principles and the Bill of Rights is wrong. The antics of a few shabby flag-burners are of no significance, unless we give them significance. What they do does not matter because it will all be forgotten. How we treat the Constitution will endure as part of our history. While protecting the flag from damage, I don't want to be guilty of vandalizing our Bill of Rights."

Stenholm explained that leaving the Bill of Rights as it is does not in any way show disrespect to those who revere the flag or those who have sacrificed their lives to protect the values the flag represents.

The flag amendment issue started in June 1989, when the Supreme Court ruled that Gregory Johnson, of Texas v. Johnson, had the right to burn the flag as a sign of protest at the 1984 Republican National Convention in Dallas. Congress then passed a law outlawing desecration of the flag but this was overturned by the Supreme Court on June 11, 1990, in U.S. v. Eichman.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, ● even before it can be felt.

A CENTURY of VISION
by Pauline Couch
Vice-President & Cashier (Retired)

Mrs. M. S. (Margaret Rice) Pierson

The uniqueness and durability of Haskell National Bank can be traced to its' very beginning. The traditional values that it still prizes as its' greatest asset, started with the hardy pioneers who founded it. At the death of one of the original founders, and President--M. S. Pierson in 1909, his widow, Margaret N. (Maggie), became the bank's second President--a very unusual event for that era. She proved to be a very capable replacement, and served in that capacity for thirty-eight years, before turning her leadership duties to a son, Alfred--continuing a dynasty that was to span almost seventy-five years. The first three Presidents of Haskell National Bank were named Pierson.

Mrs. Pierson was a valued citizen of the Community. She was the mother of six children, and in addition to her domestic duties, and banking, she had the responsibility of overseeing the extensive family farming and ranching interests. She was a very active member of First Baptist Church, being among the first to be baptized there. She was most instrumental in helping to raise funds to build the second church building here.

The original home-site for the Pierson Clan was located where Rob and Amy McKnight presently live. A daughter, Ruth Cunningham; a granddaughter, Nancy Perkins; and a grandson, Sam Waldrop, now lives in Abilene. A granddaughter, Louise Pierson Isbell, still lives in Haskell.

Mrs. Pierson led a long and productive life before her death at age 85. She can still be admired as a woman who met her responsibilities "head-on", without ever considering that "mere-women" were not capable of handling the many duties thrust upon her. Of such qualities were nations built, and institutions founded!

Haskell National Bank stands a little taller, and maybe is more equality conscious, because of the wonderful like and example of people like Mrs. Pierson --building for the future.

Grasshoppers invade cotton fields

(Sporadic infestations of jumbo (lubber) and different kinds of winged grasshoppers are being reported in many areas across this region, according to Louis D. Chedester, entomologist. Keeping these pests under control could be a problem, he says. Farmers need to scout their fields two or three times per week and damaging numbers of hoppers need to be controlled early while they are small, a half inch to an inch and a half, Chedester said.)

Jumbo grasshoppers, those big flightless rascals that make highways slick and farmers sick, are starting to emerge and head for West Texas cotton fields.

Tom Fuchs, San Angelo-based extension service entomologist, said there are many theories concerning the intermittent onslaughts of grasshoppers, but none have been tied to just one reason.

"Moisture probably has something to do with it," he said. "Many old timers say that a wet February means jumbos in the spring. Last year, we had a real wet February but no grasshoppers, so who can say?"

The jumbo grasshopper, a native of the Southwest, is a large, brown, clumsy species with wings reduced to mere pads. Sometimes it is called a buffalo grasshopper because of its slightly humped appearance. It is strong and has greatly enlarged hind legs, but it cannot fly.

Fuchs said problems occur because the jumbos, or "lubbers" as they often are called, emerge about the same time as cotton.

"A jumbo on an emerging cotton plant spells death. One bite and the seedling is gone. A few hoppers can do a heck of a lot of damage. In a two-day period, a single hopper will take out three or four plants. High populations of the pests can reduce a stand very quickly."

The entomologist said the counties normally affected are from Tom Green north to Scurry and Mitchell and west to Glasscock and Reagan. But the grasshopper can overtake larger areas and move north to the High Plains.

Fuchs said the grasshopper's voracious appetite is not limited to cotton. Grain sorghum, corn, fruit trees and even gardens also may be hit. Cotton suffers the worst because unlike the other crops, it is a dicot, meaning the growing point of the plant is above the ground.

A grasshopper kills the cotton plant with a single bite to the center of this growing point, he explained. The critical time occurs when the young plant is less than two weeks old. After that, the plant has more leaves and can take some grasshopper pressure.

Sorghum plants also can be heavily damaged by the pests, but because their growing points are below the ground, Fuchs said they simply send up another shoot once one is bitten off.

Fuchs said jumbos are generally most damaging around a field's perimeter. Because they don't fly, jumbos jump or walk, eating as they go. Their grazing patterns are similar to deer: they start at a field's edge and work toward the middle. The entomologist said four or five days of heavy pressure by the insects is often all that is needed to take out 20 percent or more of a crop.

"If a farmer has more than one jumbo hopper per row-foot of cotton, he's got problems," said Fuchs. "Unfortunately, any estimation is hard to determine because the pests are transient. They don't just go into a field and stay. They tend to move into the field early in the morning and out again later in the morning, then it's in again in the afternoon and out again at night."

Fuchs said this constant movement can be used to help control the pest.

"One of the things that has been very successful for us is the use of a baited ditch," said Fuchs.

He said once in the ditch which is dug around the field, most of the critters will move along the bottom rather than try to climb out. He said it's then a relatively simple task to drop a handful of bait every three to five feet along the bottom of the ditch. Hoppers moving down the ditch will eat the bait and die.

The entomologist said the bait is very cost effective. In many instances, only one or two sides of a field must be treated, often at a cost of less than $1 per acre.

The technique is also environmentally sound. Fuchs said the baiting is done only every two to five days over a relatively short time period. At the completion of the baiting, the crop is cultivated which closes the ditch, thus covering any remaining bait. Fuchs said the pesticide used, Sevin, is also quite safe.

Luckily, the jumbo annually is way down the list of the economically damaging pests of West Texas cotton. As a pest, Fuchs said, the jumbo is usually localized, returning to the same general areas every three to five years.

"The jumbo is a lot like a hail storm. Generally a hail doesn't take out a large percent of the area, but for the ol' boy who got hit, it's pretty devastating," he said.

--Library Notes--

By Joan Strickland
Week before last, I got a call from Mrs. Stapleton asking if I could meet her at the library for just a minute.

When I arrived, two cars loaded with children from the fifth grade Vacation Bible School of the Methodist, Lutheran and Presbyterian churches drove up and presented me with a big laundry basket full of books. They had been studying friendship and wanted to present these books to the library as a token of their friendship.

The following children were present:

Shannon Sanford, Kaki Stapleton, Nicklaus Goss, Jeremy Simmons, Johanna Payne, Misty Vilvas, Chrystal Watson, Aaron Kirk and Shelly Hester, along with teachers Wendi Watson and Mrs. Stapleton.

Later in the week, the director of the same Vacation Bible School came by and presented the library with a $200 donation to purchase more children's books.

I would personally like to thank each child, teacher and preacher involved for their generous donation. We now are processing the books and hope to have them out and ready for circulation this week. There will be Berinstine Bears, Dinosaurs, Sweet Wally, Chocolate Rabbit, Legend of the Indian Paint Brush and even a Mutant Ninja Turtle or two.

This week, Betsy McManamon will have the story time Saturday from 10:30 to 11. Kids, we want to be sure and thank our story tellers for taking time out of their summer to help us out.

There are only seven more weeks left in the reading program. If you haven't signed up, there is still time. We have 57 kids signed up for the State Reading Program as of June 25.

Other book donations for June are: Maxine Grand, B. Evans, Janice Smith, Dusty Garison, Mrs. Blankenship, Starla Whitaker, Billie Cadenhead, Mary Jennings, Susan Cox, R. H. McKinney and Karen Livingston.

TSTI honor rolls list 5 from here

Five students from Haskell County have been named to honor rolls for the recently finished spring term at the Sweetwater campus of Texas State Technical Institute.

Named to the President's List were Charlotte Arendall of Haskell and Ross Anderson of Weinert.

Named to the Dean of Instruction's List were Johnny Campbell, John Land and Kendall Medford, all of Haskell.

In order to qualify for the President's List, a student must maintain a 4.0 grade-point average for the term. The dean of Instruction's List requires a 3.5 to 3.99 grade-point average.

An accredited two-year college which offers programs of study leading to either certificates or associate degrees, TSTI is the only state-supported technical college in Texas. As such, the college has a state-of-the-art curriculum designed to meet the growing and changing needs of the students, industry and the state's economic future.

Using too much electricity is fuelish. Switch to propane gas.

Propane heats more than two homes with the same original energy it takes to heat one home electrically. Propane dries over three loads of clothes for every one load in an electric dryer. Propane heats nearly 2½ gallons of water for every one gallon heated electrically.

Don't waste energy or money. Make the wise choice and switch to clean, efficient, and economical propane gas.

Public Notice

TO ALL FORMER AND CURRENT INTRASTATE WIDE AREA TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE (WATS/800) SUBSCRIBERS:

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has instituted a Class Action Lawsuit seeking judicial approval of a settlement reached in Docket No. 7297, an inquiry of General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission of Texas into possible overcharges which occurred between September, 1976, and February, 1987, due to rounding practices, on bills of intrastate WATS/800 customers sent by Southwestern Bell and other telephone companies which concur in Southwestern Bell's tariff. The suit is styled "Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Plaintiff, vs. MCI Telecommunications Corporation, A Member of the Class of Texas Intrastate WATS and 800 Service Customers Who Paid Overtime Charges From September 1976 Through February 1987, Defendant," and identified as Cause No. 471,460 in the 126th Judicial District Court of Travis County, Texas.

Pursuant to the settlement, while not admitting liability, Southwestern Bell, the other local exchange telephone companies in Texas, and AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. have agreed to pay refunds to those WATS/800 customers who paid overtime charges attributable to the rounding practices for intrastate WATS/800 services at any time between September, 1976, and February, 1987. The refunds will be based upon either the actual or estimated amount of overtime charges attributable to such rounding practices. An exact refund will be determined for customers able to produce copies of their WATS/800 service bills. For customers who do not have copies of their WATS/800 service bills to establish actual overtime charges paid, an average refund of $4.53 to $5.95 per WATS/800 service line per month will be applied. All claims will be subject to verification. The refunds will also include interest at the rate of 7.80% per annum.

Claim Forms And Additional Information

Those customers who think they may be entitled to a refund or who desire more information must call 1-800-782-3026, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, or write to WATS Refund Pool Administrator, One Bell Plaza, Room 670, P. O. Box 650376, Dallas, Texas 75265-0376, to request a WATS Refund Information Package. The WATS Refund Information Package will contain further information regarding the lawsuit and eligibility for a refund, a description of documentation required to support a customer's claim for refund, and a refund claim form to be filled out and submitted requesting a refund. REQUESTING A WATS REFUND INFORMATION PACKAGE DOES NOT OBLIGATE YOU IN ANY WAY.

All claims for a refund must be received by the Refund Pool Administrator by Friday, October 5, 1990, and all rejections of the settlement (that is, requests for exclusion from the class action lawsuit) must be received by the Court by Wednesday, September 5, 1990. Only those who respond by filing a claim or by filing a rejection of the settlement, as explained in the WATS Refund Information Package, will receive notice of future developments in this proceeding.

Persons who wish to obtain further information may also contact the Public Utility Commission, Public Information Division, at (512) 458-0257 or (512) 458-1221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

TV special introduces Perry

Gramm, Rangers' owner George W. Bush, and Clayton Yeutter, USDA Secretary of Agriculture.

"In the 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, there is only one Agriculture Commissioner that is deemed so untrustworthy by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that he does not oversee federal-state agriculture programs in his own state. That Ag Commissioner is our own Ag Commissioner, Jim Hightower," said Gramm in his videotaped statement from Washington, D.C.

"And he doesn't oversee programs of the USDA because they don't trust him to oversee the spending of taxpayers' money," Gramm said, alluding to the recent lifting by USDA of crop inspection responsibilities from the TDA because of alleged misuse of federal-state funds.

"There is only one Ag Commissioner in America that leaves his state to go picket with union members in the bartenders' and waitresses' union in Las Vegas," Gramm said. "And he's ours, Jim Hightower. We need an Agriculture Commissioner that's from agriculture and puts us first."

Rangers' pitcher, Nolan Ryan, said he was "proud" to endorse

Perry. "Rick's family has ten in farming and ranching or six generations," he said. When elected, Rick will be the first Commissioner with a working background in agriculture."

Bush said he was attracted to Perry because of the rancher-candidate's strong belief in family.

"I was raised to believe that the family is the backbone of our society. It's important to have a strong family representation in our government, and Rick's got a great wife and two fine kids," he said.

In his videotaped endorsement, Agriculture Secretary Yeutter said Perry's candidacy has been greeted with enthusiasm in the NAB's Capital.

"All of us are excited about his candidacy in Texas," he said. We want to see a solid individual who's credible, reputable, hard-working and reasoned and rational in his approach to issues emerging in the agricultural leadership in Texas. Rick Perry fits that mold," he said.

In Appreciation

So many kind words, kind thoughts, and kind acts were done for us in memory of Grace Mitchell Ledbetter that we want to reiterate our thanks to our friends, both the old and the new, and to our relatives who did so much in helping alleviate some of our grief at Grace's passing. We are very grateful to the musicians, the pallbearers, and the flower arrangers who performed so beautifully. The well chosen words by the Reverend Dale Huff brought comfort and solace to our hearts. Words are inadequate in expressing our appreciation to Gwen and Durward Campbell who so graciously and efficiently opened their home to meet our every need; to their four daughters and families, we offer a heartfelt "thank you".

May the God of the universe bless and keep in peace each of you.

Cotton Briefs

Why Buy Cotton?

Cotton and the Consumer...

For many consumers, cotton and comfort are synonymous, whether thinking of shirts or socks, jeans or slacks, underwear or towels, consumers associate cotton with the comfort they want. And tests prove comfort is a determining factor for consumers in selecting clothing. Just what are the elements of cotton's comfort?

SOFTNESS. To consumers, the feel of the fabric next to the skin is a key factor in determining comfort. Why does cotton feel softer than other fabrics? Because cotton's fiber surfaces are finely textured, trapping air, which cushions the contact with the skin. The naturally tapered ends of the cotton fiber yield to the touch and contribute to the pleasurable sense of cotton's soft touch.

BREATHABILITY. Another primary criterion for personal comfort is the removal of body moisture. Cotton facilitates this process by absorbing moisture and wicking it away from the skin. Through its fiber structure, cotton also transmits water vapor more easily into the air.

ABSORBENCY. Cotton is also highly absorbent because it actually absorbs water within the individual fibers themselves. This extra capillary storage accounts for cotton's impressive absorption properties, familiar to anyone who has ever used a cotton towel, and particularly important for physically active people.

PROTECTION. Cotton's fiber structure translates into fabrics with good bulk and cover that weigh less. This structure also allows for a greater insulative protection than could be provided by garments made from other fabrics.

TEMPERATURE CONTROL. The cushion of air that makes cotton soft also insulates and is responsible for the warmth of cotton fabrics. In cold weather, cotton fabric protects against the wind without trapping body moisture. In warm weather, cotton garments help keep the wearer cool by facilitating evaporative cooling of body moisture and release of moisture vapor.

Imitated but never duplicated, cotton is nature's own miracle fiber. Cotton fiber has proved amazingly adaptable to all sorts of fabric forming and finishing processes, while retaining its basic desirable properties. That's why consumers buy cotton.

by Vicky Anderson

It was good to see George Rhoads back at work at Ceramics Plus following his recent surgery. We wish him well as he convalesces.

On June 15th Vicky Anderson took her granddaughter, Susan Saffel, to meet her sister-in-law, DeDe Saffel in North Platte, Nebraska, which is the half-way point to Minot, North Dakota. Kevin was unable to leave the base for a 600 hundred mile trip. Susan returned to Minot, with DeDe. To our surprise, the early morning hours in Liberal, Kansas where we spent the night were quite chilly; and upon stopping in Childress on the way back to Texas, it was a shock to step out of the car into the hottest temperature in the state on Sunday afternoon. Temperatures reached 107 degrees. Of interest, we thought, was the fact that the author of "The Wizard of Oz" was from the Liberal area. Much memorabilia of the movie was housed in the gift shop at our hotel. There is also a museum called: "Dorothy's House", which is a replica of the house used in the movie and one which we hope to visit when we go after Susan.

As my youngest brother, Ed Crow, was stationed at the Liberal Air Force Base during World War II, the city held a special significance for me.

Isn't the weather something else? We all dread receiving our electricity bills for this month, don't we. At least, the Andersons do!

Your writer spent a most enjoyable morning with Ruth Wilcox on Tuesday, the 19th. On Monday also had a good visit with Bobbye Anderson and her husband, Andy of Stamford. Bobbye seems to be getting along fairly well now. The respiratory therapist, Candy Clayton came by as well as the home health nurse, Pat Escobedo.

Laugh of the week: The night clerk at our motel in Liberal, Kansas said that he and his wife would love to live in Texas, but it is too wet! Told the young man that it might be humid in parts of Texas, but we were far from being "wet" in our part of Texas!

Does anyone else love this time of year when garden vegetables are ready to eat! We enjoyed fresh squash and cucumbers from the M. L. Powell garden. Don't get me wrong--it's not the weather that I love, but garden stuff.

Lawrence Camp was admitted to an Abilene hospital on Monday, the 18th, for more surgery. He is now at home, and is doing fairly well.

E. N. (Chick) Norwood has been a patient in the Haskell hospital suffering from pneumonia and a kidney infection. He has returned to the nursing home.

The Andersons had a nice visit on Monday afternoon, the 18th, with Doris Rainwater of Stamford.

Ruth Wampler of Rochester is ill at this time, and is staying with her son, Howard and family in Breckenridge.

Sallie Whittemore's condition remains about the same.

Rayberne Oliver continues to make progress in St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock. Other health problems that developed last week have been taken care of, so hopefully, he will be able to come home soon.

The John Greensons along with several area young people will be going to Quartz Mountain Christian Camp near Lone Wolf, Oklahoma this week.

Recently at Wal-Mart the Andersons visited with Bill Goree and Frank Vasek. That is a good place to see old friends, we have found.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Weldon Boyd are requesting the pleasure of your company at a reception in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, July 1 from 2 until 4 in the afternoon at the Fellowship Hall of the Rule Church of Christ. They request no gifts, please.

Nikki and Danny Kitley of Abilene visited Nikki's grandparents, Parnell and Vicky Anderson Wednesday afternoon. Their son, Luke, was at a cousin's house.

Taylor Sego, father of Jere Kitley, has recently been a patient in Hendrick Medical Center with a heart condition.

Visitors in the Dick and Jeanne Burleson home on Wednesday were Ruth Wilcox and Vicky Anderson. The ladies studied their Bible school lessons.

Velma Gann is a patient in Room 11 at Haskell Memorial Hospital. It is thought she more than likely had a stroke.

Visiting with Jeanne and Dick Burleson is Miranda Fisher of Electra.

Your writer and a granddaughter visited Bobbye and Andy Anderson on the 21st.

Think about this: "Knowledge humbles great men, astonishes the common man, and puffs up the little men."

STUDENT SMOKERS

In 1988, 17.4 percent of male and 81.1 percent of female high school seniors smoked one or more cigarettes on a daily basis. About 9.7 percent of high school seniors smoked a half pack or more daily.

Beef management

Duane Gilly of Haskell, left, took part in a beef management seminar held recently on the campus of Tarleton State University. John George, center, and James Patterson, two agricultural science teachers from Baytown conducted the two-day clinic which was sponsored by the university's Department of Agriculture Services and Development. At right is Dr. Don Knotts, department chairman.

We, the family of Mabel Turnbow, would like to express our appreciation to all her friends and neighbors for their sympathy at the loss of our Mother. Thanks to the doctors and hospital staff for their care and kindness in our time of sorrow. Our deepest thanks to her pastor and everyone at the First United Methodist Church.
