Hail to the Chief

Highlighting this week's fourth Super 2nd Saturday activities in Haskell will be a program on the courthouse lawn honoring longtime fire chief and civic leader Tom Watson.

The "Salute to a Special American" will begin at 11:05 a.m. Mayor Greg Melton will be master of ceremonies for the program and special guests will be fire chiefs from area communities, heads of service clubs and other organizations with whom Watson has served, military affiliates, friends and relatives.

The program will be preceded by another program, stressing a patriotic theme. Conrad Roewe will be master of ceremonies. It begins at 10 with a performance by the Texas Tumblers, followed by special music and other entertainment, a flag raising by the American Legion and a pledge of allegiance, led by the Boy Scouts.

A special feature of program will be a performance by a youth group from the Foursquare Gospel Church of Knox City, directed by Sequoah Reynolds. The group, made up of youngsters from the first through ninth grades, will do a 20-minute play.

As usual, the Super 2nd Saturday will feature special sales by cooperating Haskell merchants. Many merchants will have sidewalk sales, in addition to in-store specials.

Sponsoring businesses are being asked to have their personnel attired in red, white and blue to promote the patriotic theme of Super 2nd Saturday.

As was the case in the three previous Super 2nd Saturday promotions, various civic organizations will operate food and craft booths.

Decline continues in city sales taxes

Haskell's check this month for city sales tax collections was in the amount of $8,562.74.

The figure represents a decrease of 4.39 percent from the $8,955.66 received in July of last year.

For the year, Haskell has received $81,789.33 from its one-

Football schedule announced

Haskell will play only three non-district football games, due to the expansion of district 7-2A which necessitates playing seven district games.

As usual, the Indians will open the season against Munday, considered again as one of the top 1-A teams in Texas. The Haskell-Munday game will be played Sept. 7 in Haskell.

The other two non-district contests will be played on foreign soil, at Seymour Sept. 14 and at Electra Sept. 21.

The Indians will be the first 7-2A team to test Winters, one of the two new district members. Haskell will host the Blizzards Sept. 28 in the district opener.

On Oct. 5, the Indians will travel to Hawley, a team they have been playing in the next to last game of the season.

The Hawley game will be followed by two consecutive home games, against Jim Ned Oct. 12 and against Hamlin Oct. 19.

The Indians will be at Albany Oct. 26 and at home against Stamford Nov. 2 before winding up the regular season at Anson Nov. 9.

The addition of Winters and Jim Ned to district 7-2A brought about some site changes for Haskell games. The Stamford game will be played in Haskell as it was last year, while the Indians will have to travel to Anson for the second consecutive year.

The first scrimmage for new head coach Walter Hargrove's Indians will here Aug. 23 against Roscoe. The next week the Indians will scrimmage Knox City, also here.

The 1990 schedule:
Sept. 7: Munday here
Sept. 14: Seymour there
Sept. 21: Electra there
Sept. 28: Winters here
Oct. 5: Hawley there
Oct. 12: Jim Ned here
Oct. 19: Hamlin here
Oct. 26: Albany there
Nov. 2: Stamford here
Nov. 9: Anson there

Non-district games will begin at 8 p.m., while district contests will start at 7:30. Times for the scrimmages are indefinite at this time.

percent sales tax, compared to $89,325.30 for the same period in 1989. Collections are 8.44 percent below a year ago.

Rule received a check for $954.29, bringing the year's collections for Rule to $10,646.43, compared to $11,152.89 last year.

O'Brien, Rochester and Weinert did not receive checks this month.

For the year, all county cities combined have received $94,358.38.

Statewide, cities and counties received $75 million, an increase of almost 10 percent over last July's payments. For the year, receipts are up 8 percent over the state.

This month's checks include taxes collected on May sales and reported in June by businesses filing monthly tax return.

Merchants collect the state and local sales taxes and send them to the State Comptroller's office with their tax returns. The state keeps its share and sends cities and counties monthly payments reflecting the local portion of the sales tax. (Haskell County does not have a sales tax.)

Area gets bypassed on prison

Hopes of getting a state prison built in this area were doused last week as the Texas Department of Criminal Justice announced its semifinalist list of eight possible sites for four planned prisons. That list did not contain the proposed Stamford site submitted by the Rolling Plains Industrial Foundation.

Stamford was one of five Big Country communities eliminated from the selection process last week. Other communities not making the list were Eastland County, Seymour, Big Spring and Breckenridge.

A total of 20 counties and cities had become eligible this year for a possible state prison site after the Legislature approved $130 million in bonds to finance four new prisons.

The 20 eligible communities were semifinalists in last year's competition for state prisons, but were not among the six sites selected in December.

Those communities making the semifinalist list last week included Hondo, Jasper, Lamesa, Pampa, Fort Stockton, Angelina County, Bell County and Polk County.

Mini-cheerleader camp scheduled

The Haskell mini-cheerleader camp will be July 23 through July 27 at the Haskell High School gymnasium.

The camp is for those 6 years and older. Cost is $20.

Sessions will be from 9 a.m. to noon.

Famed cartoonist to be here Sunday

The well-known editorial cartoonist for the Baptist Standard will be a guest Sunday of the First Baptist Church of Haskell.

Doug Dillard will be speaker at a men's breakfast at 7:30 a.m. at which 150 men and boys are expected to attend. He then will bring the morning message at the 11 a.m. worship service of the church.

"It took 25 years of wrestling with a pen-and-ink alter ego before I threw in the towel," cartoonist Doug Dillard asserted as he sipped coffee from a "Brother Blotz" mug.

Congressman visits

Congressman Charles Stenholm visits with a Haskell group following his talk last week to a combined meeting of the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs.

Stenholm explains flag vote; pushes budget amendment

By Wendell Faught

Congressman Charles Stenholm explained why he voted against one constitutional amendment and why he favors another when he addressed a Haskell group last Tuesday at the Haskell National Bank Community Room.

Appearing before a joint meeting of the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs, the congressman said "I am not here to apologize" for voting against the amendment which would have outlawed the burning of the American flag.

"I believe I voted correctly," Stenholm said, "and my vote was based on a lot of prayer and study," adding that a handful of dissidents should not be able to stampede congress to amend the constitution. "We cannot let some emotional issue force us to make fundamental changes in the constitution," he said.

But the congressman voiced his strong support for the balanced budget amendment which comes up for congressional vote July 17. Stenholm is one of three principal sponsors of a resolution calling for the amendment. "This is a restriction on congress and future presidents from spending money we don't have," he explained.

"If we had had this in 1981, we would never have spent that $2 trillion in eight years that we didn't have," he said.

Stenholm quoted Thomas Jefferson as having said that the constitution needed one more amendment---something to make it more difficult for the government to borrow money.

Under the proposed amendment, the president would be required to submit a balanced budget and the House and Senate would decide how much money there is to spend. "This is getting the cart behind the horse," said Stenholm, "or just opposite of how we do things now."

"The amendment is not to balance the budget, but it would prevent future presidents and congresses from doing what we've been doing," said the congressman.

Earlier, Stenholm had referred to the "out-of-control" national debt which increased by $2 trillion during "the most conservative administration and most conservative congress in history."

He said that Congress spent within $285 billion of the president's requests, but still increased the debt by that amount.

He predicted that the next fury with congress will be to reduce spending. The 1991 budget will call for a deficit of $232 billion. To meet the Gramm-Rudman mandate of $64 billion, spending would have to be cut $168 billion. Stenholm said this would require a reduction of 80 percent of all spending, except for defense, social security, veterans' benefits and interest.

In view of this, he sees no chance of meeting Gramm-Rudman. He said he hoped spending could be reduced $91 billion, but a more realistic goal would be $50 or $60 billion. Personally, he said he would like to see $2 in reduced spending for every $1 in new taxes.

Stenholm blamed congress for the savings and loan crisis, and he admitted he voted for deregulation. "The idea was good; it made sense, but it went too far," he said. In 1983, when it first appeared that deregulation may have gone too far, he said David Stockman, the president's budget director, soothed the warning by saying "This president was elected to get government off the backs of people."

Stenholm feels that congress may pass some punitive legislation aimed at Texas where the savings and loan scandal has hit hardest.

Another concern expressed by the congressman was the "sick economy" and the health care facilities of rural America. "Take away health care and agriculture and see what happens to the Haskell and Stamford," he said.

Stenholm said the president's policy on Medicare will close 11 hospitals in his 17th district. "The No. 1 issue of the 102nd Congress will be health care," he predicted.

He also predicted that environmental concerns and animal rights will be top issues of the 90s.

The congressman sees a different makeup of the House as a result of the 1990 census. He said there would be a shift of 22 to 24 seats from the northeast to the Sunbelt. "This change will be significant," he said.

In his own district, Stenholm said he hopes there will be no change in boundaries. "We 'guesstimate' that we have about the right number in this district, so I hope they don't touch us," he said. But he added that districts to the north and west have lost population so it may be necessary for them to take a piece of the 17th.

Madderra, Tooley marry in Austin

Jan Carol Madderra and Kent Anderson Tooley, both of Austin, were united in marriage at the University Avenue Church of Christ in Austin in a 5:30 afternoon ceremony June 30. Officiating minister for the double-ring ceremony was Mike Carvell of Austin.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Madderra of Port Mansfield, formerly of Lancaster, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Kenneth Tooley of Austin. The groom is the grandson of Mrs. Allie M. Anderson of Rule and the late O. W. Tooley of Haskell.

Guests attending were registered by Mona Yates. Programs which included a special message from the couple were handed to those attending by members of the houseparty.

A prelude of wedding music was played during the arrival of guests. Mothers of the couple were seated as the Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet was played. Candles were lighted by Joe Ciccarella and Don Hoover during a rendition of "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face."

The wedding party entered the church to the playing of Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin and lace designed by French Lace of California. The mermaid style, featuring a fitted gown with a trumpet skirt, was an overlay of Alencon lace accented with cutout designs outlined in iridescent sequins and pearls. The bodice design featured motifs with iridescent sequins, pearls and pearl drops completing the pattern. The satin cathedral train was edged in lace and accented with lace motifs decorated with sequins and pearls. A sweetheart neckline and point sleeves inset with Alencon lace completed the design. A band of white silk roses and pearls accented with a spray of silk lily of the valley held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white bridal silk roses and stephanotis highlighted with pink and deep rose sweetheart roses. Greenery of maple leaves and English ivy, complemented by pink picot and white satin streamers, completed the bridal bouquet. She wore a pearl necklace belonging to her sister.

Cathy Harvey, sister of the bride, attended the bride as matron of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Donna Scott of Plano, a cousin of the bride, Kellie Foster, JoAnn Reynolds, all of Austin, and Sally Hubbard of Mansfield. Lacy Tooley of Pflugerville, niece of the groom, was a junior bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of daphne rose satin with intermezzo hemline. The elongated bodice featured a shirred line complemented by a bow and a sweetheart neckline. The short puffed sleeves were shirred from the shoulder. Daphne rose satin shoes complemented the attendants' attire. They each carried a cascade of roses in various shades of pink and rose. Greenery of maple leaves and English ivy with streamers of pink picot, daphne rose satin ribbon and string of pearls completed the floral bouquet.

Flower girls Rebecca Harty of Austin and Courtney Tooley of Pflugerville, nieces of the groom, carried small lace covered white wicker baskets filled with rose petals and decorated with rose and pink miniature roses, pink and pearl hearts and daphne rose streamers. They wore identical dresses in pink satin styled with boat neckline, puffed sleeves and intermezzo hemline. The dropped waists were accented by a satin bow.

Ring bearer Master Kasey Tooley of Pflugerville, nephew of the groom, was dressed in a white Eton suit. He wore a miniature daphne rose boutonniere.

The groom wore a Pierre Cardin white tuxedo with white shirt and tie. His boutonniere was a white rose and stephanotis. He was attended by his brother, Kevin Tooley of Pflugerville, as best man. He was attired in a pearl grey Raffinati tuxedo with daphne rose cummerbund and tie. Groomsmen were Kirk Tooley, brother of the groom, and David Lopez, both of Pflugerville, Tom Hall and Dwayne Williamson, both of Austin. Ryan Tooley of Abilene, nephew of the groom, served as junior groomsman. They wore tuxedos identical to the best man. Their boutonnieres were daphne rose silk roses.

Serving as ushers were Joe Ciccarella, Greg Lane, Steve Born, a cousin of the bride, Dickie Wrightsil and Larry Clements, all of Austin, and Don Hoover of Pleasanton. They wore pearl grey Raffinati tuxedos with grey accessories. Their boutonnieres were daphne rose silk roses.

Escorted by Steve Born, the bride's mother wore a two-piece dusty rose chiffon tea-length dress with heavy lace bordering the long sleeves and bodice. Her corsage was of rose and pink silk roses.

The groom's mother, escorted by the groom, wore grey lace over taffeta featuring a lace tunic with long sleeves and flounce skirt. Her corsage was of rose and pink silk roses.

Vows were exchanged in a candlelight setting before a curved brass candelabra, graced on either side by brass candelabra trees and nine-branch candelabrum. Greenery of commodore palm, leather leaf palm and English ivy entwined the candelabrum which held cathedral tapes. The unity candle, flanked by two lighting tapers, was on a stand decorated with a satin bow centered with silk flowers in the bride's chosen colors, cascading English ivy and leather leaf palm. Special pews were marked with satin bows centered with rose and pink silk flowers and wedding bells tied on streamers of satin ribbon and accented by strings of pearls.

As the couple stood before the altar and preceding the exchange of vows, Kirk Tooley sang "The Wedding Song." Following a charge to the couple and prior to the exchange of rings, Kirk Tooley and Tracy Miles sang "Just You and I." The unity candle was solemnized as Kirk Tooley sang "Whither Thou Goest." After the exchange of rings, the duet sang "Loving You Is Easier." Russell Scanton accompanied the duet on the guitar. The ceremony was concluded by the singing of "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" and presentation of the couple. Recessional was Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride was graduated from Lancaster High School and attended East Texas State University and Austin Community College. She is an accountant with the Texas Department of Health. Mr. Tooley was graduated from the University of Texas with a bachelor of business administration degree. He is a building contractor in Austin.

Following a wedding trip, they will be at home in Austin.

Reception
A reception was held in the Church Activities Center immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was draped with white antique satin accented with satin bows with silk flower centers in the bride's colors. The bride's bouquet and her attendants' bouquets decorated the table complemented by silver candelabra decorated with floral arrangements. The tiered wedding cake was decorated with shades of pink and rose colored silk rosebuds. Center tiers were separated with tall Grecian pillars surrounding a fountain. Side cakes were joined to the four-tiered cake with stairways. The cake was topped with a crystal heart decorated with roses. Crystal swans on beds of white tulle completed the bridal table decoration. Punch was served from a silver bowl. Silver and crystal accompaniments were used.

The groom's table was covered in antique satin accented with satin bows. A red velvet cake was styled as a tiered sheetcake featuring a softball field, a favorite sport of the groom, as the decoration.

Members of the houseparty were Mona Yates, Nancy Roberts, Carol Tom, Gina Shaw, Esther Garza, Terri Phillips, Kay Harty, sister of the groom, Linda and Lori Tooley, sisters-in-law of the groom.

Rehearsal Dinner
A rehearsal dinner was held Friday, June 29, at Carmen's LaTapatia Restaurant in Austin. The banquet tables were decorated with bright Mexican paper flowers and sombreros. A Mexican dinner was served and guests were entertained by a strolling mariachi band.

Pre-nuptial Parties
A luncheon honoring the attendants of the bride and members of the houseparty was hosted by Sue Carpenter of Austin. The luncheon was held at Pecan Street Cafe in Austin.

Other parties honoring the couple included a personal and miscellaneous shower for the bride and a couples' party.

Weinert Homemakers

The Weinert Extension Homemakers Club met June 28 in the home of Marvin and Myrtle Phemister.

The business meeting was around the dining table with Betty Sanders, president, in charge. Seven members attended.

The club has finished quilting the beautiful golden wedding quilt the club had up at the school house and it is now ready for the rehab telethon in Abilene at the appropriate time.

Alice Yates and Jimmie Weinert were appointed to be leaders to attend a training meeting on Joint Health Conscious Consumers at the county extension office kitchen July 25.

Husbands joined wives in the games and fun times and then the group enjoyed ice cream, cake, cookies, and sandwiches.

Next meeting will be Aug. 7 in the home of Henrietta Rueffer.

VFD Auxiliary to sell melons

Members of the Haskell VFD Auxiliary will have a watermelon stand on the courthouse lawn between 9 and 11 a.m. Saturday.

Proceeds from watermelon sales will be used to purchase flashlights for the city's fire trucks.

Auxiliary members, as well as firemen, are accepting donations for the fire training center at the airport.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - The committee membership in the Texas Senate has had a face-life by lame-duck Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, surgery designed to groom new leaders to replace departing ones.

Hobby named Sens. John Montford, D-Amarillo, and Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, to chair the finance and state affairs committees, respectively.

Montford replaces Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, a Hobby favorite who did not seek re-election.

State Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, the formidable education chairman who sponsored Hobby's education reform plan, will fill Caperton's seat on the powerful Legislative Budget Board.

Hobby apparently checked with the Democrat who may be his successor, Comptroller Bob Bullock, before making the assignments.

However, if Republican Robert Mosebacher beats Bullock in the lieutenant governor's race, these and four more committees will have no incumbent chairmen.

Politics Risky

Running for office can be risky in several ways, as Nikki Van Hightower, a Democrat running for state treasurer, found out last week when a window blew out of her small plane.

She credited her pilot, Karen Winter, for the safe landing.

Meanwhile, Van Hightower, a former head of the Houston Area Women's Center, also was criticized for making the agency vulnerable for an IRS slap for back taxes.

Houston auditor John Braden, who helped certify the women's center as a charitable agency in 1970, said he told Van Hightower in 1983 he would not continue as auditor unless major bookkeeping changes were made.

Three years later, the IRS fined the women's center for failing to pay $650,000 in taxes for 1984-86.

Van Hightower denied Braden's version and said Braden was terminated because he offered no record of how he charged expenses for his work. She said the tax liability was caused by an auditor who was fired for falsifying records.

Van Hightower's Republican opponent is Kay Bailey Hutchison, a former state legislator from Dallas.

Foreclosure Precedent

In what may be a Texas precedent, two farmhands have obtained a lien and may seek foreclosure on a Panhandle farmer they claim owes them $17,000.

The pair, Joe Garcia and Baldemar Garza, are represented by an attorney for Texas Rural Legal Aid, a federally funded service which defends migrant workers.

The attorney, Milo Mumgaard, cited 1937 law which allows hired hands to file a lien on an owner's property if they are not paid.

Census Count Challenged

Because of a 20 percent increase in population this decade, Texas is expected to have at least three, and maybe four, new seats in Congress drawn during redistricting.

But Attorney General Jim Mattox and Land Commissioner Garry Mauro told federal officials the census effort is vastly undercounting Texas minorities, and the state stands to lose millions in future federal aid.

Mauro said he is disappointed that the counting procedure was so unfair to minorities and is omitting thousands of homeless and poorly educated persons from the rolls.

Richards Missed NOW

Ann Richards, described as the "undisputed darling of the progressive women's movement," did not attend the National Organization for Women convention in San Francisco last week, but then neither did most of the 7,000 Texas membership.

The Texas delegation was noticeably small, mainly because of the recession here, not politics, said its Texas leader.

Phyllis Tucker, president of Texas NOW, said, "Financially, there are more drains on women now than there were 20 years ago."

Other Highlights

■ Comptroller Bob Bullock's office is investigating officials of the Texas-based Ku Klux Klan for cheats who don't pay the state sales tax on robes, books and other items sold by the Klan.

Bullock said his office received reports that some Klan groups were not registered for sales and franchise taxes.

■ Gov. Bill Clements named his former appointments secretary, James Huffines, to the Alcoholic Control Board.

■ Clements also named W. Thomas Beard III to the Agricultural Resources Protection Authority, which regulates pesticide use.

McAllen Mayor Othal Brand, an earlier nominee, bowed out because of controversy over his philosophy on pesticide use.

■ The Texas Supreme Court ruled that a taxpayer must appear before the local appraisal review board before protesting a property valuation with a court appeal.

■ The state treasury returned $12 million in lost money to rightful owners this year, a record according to Treasurer Richards.

■ Texas exported $34.58 billion worth of products and services in 1988, a feat ranked second to California and accounted for 11 percent of the nation's total exports.

California, however, spends 26 times the Texas level of state dollars spent promoting those exports.

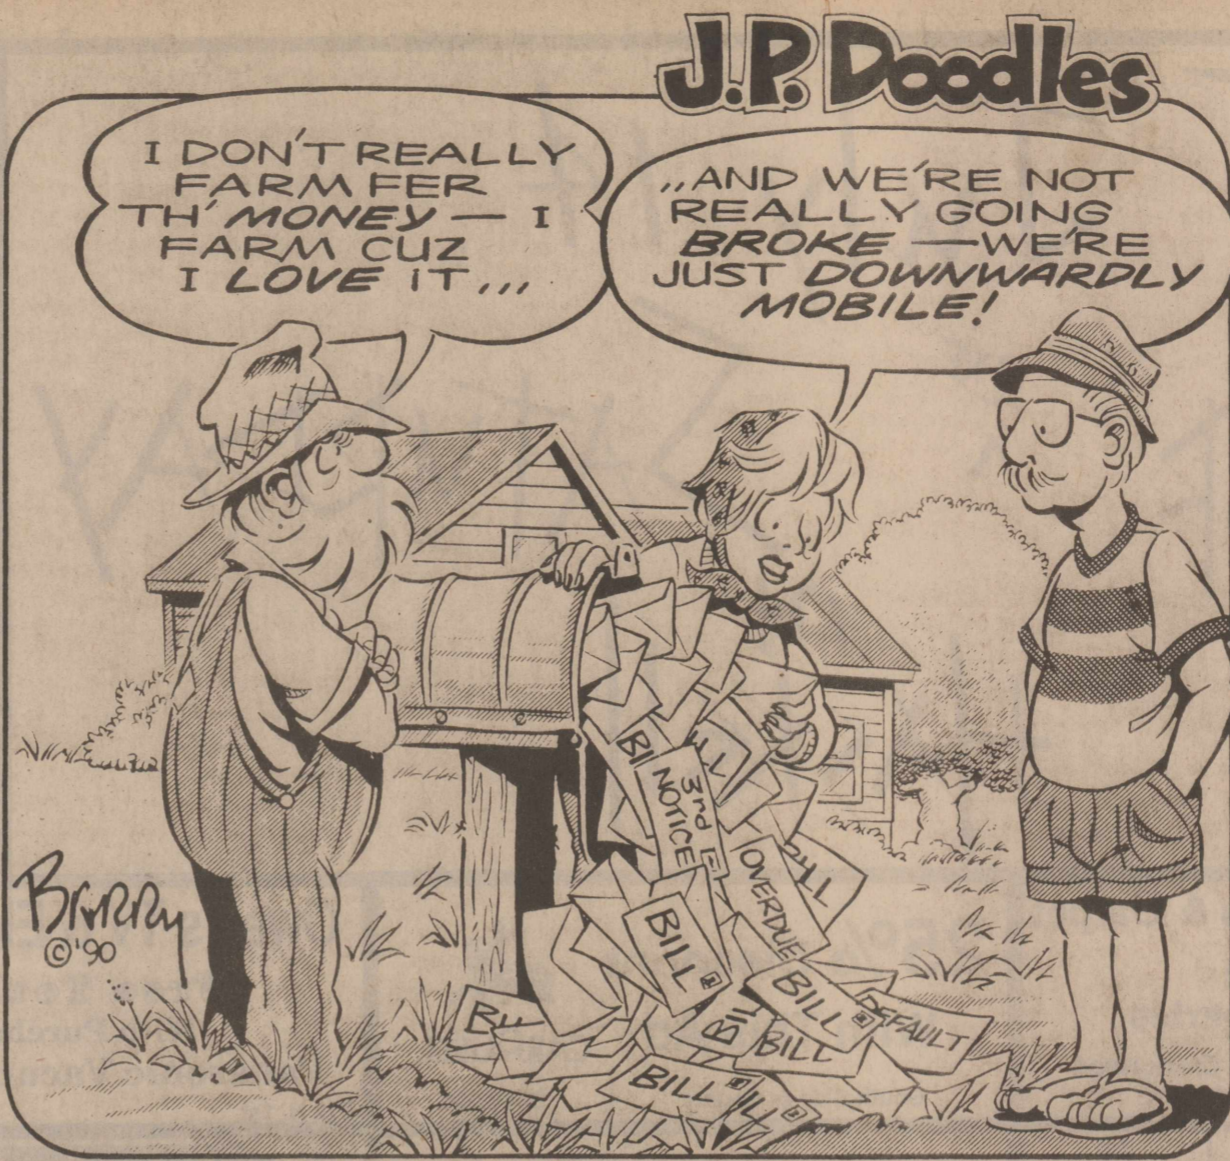

Texas ranked 34th in the nation in promotion, spending $398,503, according to the National Association of State Development Agencies.

HHS athletes to get physicals

Haskell High School boys who plan to participate in athletics next year will take their required physical examinations next Tuesday and Thursday (July 17 and July 19).

Physicals will be given Tuesday for ninth- and 10th-grade boys. Juniors and seniors will get their physicals on Thursday. They will report to the Hospital Clinic at 12:45 p.m. on those days. Cost will be $5.

The school will run a bus from the field house to the clinic at 12:30 p.m. on each day.

State tax man to visit Haskell

A representative of the Comptroller of Public Accounts office will be in Haskell Friday to answer questions about Texas taxes and to assist taxpayers with paperwork and problems.

"I don't want to see state taxes turn into a burden for folks who can't get to a field office," said Bob Bullock, state comptroller. "Our visits are a service we're happy to provide to Texas taxpayers."

Baker Rudolph, enforcement officer in the Abilene office, will be at the county commissioners' courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse from 10 a.m. to noon. The public is welcome and there is no charge.

The left foot is just a little bit larger than the right foot on most people.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

There's gold in them thar holes. Planters Life Savers has pulled a new product out of thin air by hitting the market with packages of tiny candies appearing to have been punched out of the familiar Life Savers.

A package of the new product has half the amount of candy as Life Savers, but sells for the same price.

The idea of re-treading a well-known commodity is a growing concept among the nation's manufacturers. By capitalizing on an established brand name, manufacturers can save millions on promoting a new product.

Newsweek reports that last year, two thirds of the 5,779 packaged goods introduced to the marketplace were improved formulations, new sizes or new packages for existing brands. Kraft is introducing a Jell-O brand cake mix, Mars is coming out with a "Son of Snickers" candy bar and Church & Dwight Co. has introduced an Arm & Hammer deodorizer and oven cleaner.

A classified ad for a reporter, published in Editor & Publisher, trade publication of the newspaper industry, says applicants must be able to pass a test of "grammar and spelling."

There's a better way to say it: Instead of saying that President Bush is going back on his pledge not to raise taxes, Keith Jordan, a Republican candidate for the State Senate in Tennessee, put it this way:

"I don't know too many people who are delighted at the prospect of having their taxes raised. But if taxes are going to be raised, you'd rather it be by someone who has to be dragged kicking and screaming all the way rather than someone who is leading the raise."

Remember Willie Sutton? He said he robbed banks because that's where the money was.

But he hadn't heard of Jane Lunbeck.

Ms. Lunbeck and her four other female gang members didn't bust through any bank doors brandishing machine guns, but they did fleece a bunch of Seattle banks of a bunch of money--$250,000 at last count.

They would go through dumpsters behind banks looking for loan applications, credit reports, signature cards, deposit slips and checks.

When arrested, they told police they used the checks and other material to make it seem they were depositing funds, then asked for part of the proceeds in cash.

They stayed away from one bank's dumpster after they uncovered a memo to employees warning of the gang's activities.

Why do big city newspapers, like those in Dallas and San Antonio, cost only a quarter while newspapers in Abilene and other smaller cities cost a half buck?

That's simple. They have competition in Big D and SA.

A different kind of advertising always attracts attention--which is the purpose of advertising in the first place.

A TV ad for the Outpost, an Abilene restaurant, says meals are $9.95 or less.

There's an apparel company in Fort Worth which has never had a complaint from the wearer of one of its garments in its 58-year history.

And people are dying to wear them.

Vera Lee Garment Co. produces what it tactfully calls "premade funeral fashions." That's a fancy way of saying clothes for dead people.

The company makes about 125 styles of burial clothing, ranging from frilly nightgowns and dresses to sober business suits.

Last year, the company sold nearly 400 dresses a week as it chalked up sales of about $1 million.

Since no one complains, the company can take a number of short cuts. Suit pockets and zippers are fake, and waists are elastic so that one size fits most everyone. Dresses are fitted with Velcro fastenings down the back.

Cartoonist...

fiddle to a bunch of squiggly lines," says Dillard, "but I've finally admitted that if I am ever remembered at all, it will probably be as a cartoonist."

"Nobody knows Doug Dillard," he said, "But Bro. Blotz speaks Spanish in Central and South America, and the little character has thrown his pointed bars in Africa, Europe and the Far East."

His assessment could be correct about being "upstaged" since more than a thousand "originals" representing 22 years as editorial cartoonist for the Baptist Standard, Texas Baptists' news weekly, now reside in the archives at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. Dillard made the gift on the occasion of his 20th year with the Standard, which coincided with the 100th anniversary of that publication.

"The entire sweep of Baptists for two decades is portrayed in these drawings, and they will provide useful insights to serious students of our denomination for years to come," noted Dr. Russell Dilday, Southwestern's president.

Dillard became a cartoonist by accident, even though he had expressed childhood ambitions in that direction.

He was 27 years old and well into a career in religious education when he drew his first one. "I was on the staff of a church in San Antonio," he recalls. "I had a very ticklish problem with an influential Sunday school class. When I couldn't address it directly, I illustrated a joke and placed it on the church bulletin board.

Humor made his point, and after the "first olive was out of the bottle" a steady stream of satire began to flow.

A couple of years later, "Bro. Blotz" became a regular feature in a denominational periodical. Thirteen different features followed in as many as 30 religious periodicals. And a syndicated church bulletin service, born the same year, has reached as many as 1,400 churches with a single issue.

In 29 intervening years have come three "Bro. Blotz" books, illustrations for four others, a Freedoms Foundation honor certificate and a couple of award-winning color filmstrips.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Gerald Rodgers, CPA

IRS AUDITS - THE 2-MINUTE SURVIVAL GUIDE

You have just received a letter from the IRS telling you you're being audited. What should you do?

- Call the IRS to confirm the time and place for the audit.
- Review and organize your records.
- Get a copy of IRS Publications 1: "Your Rights as a Taxpayer."
- Call your tax accountant.

You can do any or all of these things, but do the last one first. Of course, you can prepare and represent yourself in an audit, but consider the following:

- The IRS auditor may also be an accountant. Accountants speak the same language (which you may not understand).
- You may not have the time to do an adequate job of preparation, nor the knowledge to effectively represent yourself. Your accountant does this for a living.
- Tax accountants specialize in IRS work and have dealt personally with the auditors on many cases.
- Limiting the scope of an audit is a skill that is acquired through experience. Your accountant knows what to say (and what not to say).
- Most importantly, in an audit you must substantiate what you have stated on your tax return. Presenting your own case may prevent you from remaining objective and sticking to the issues. If you decide to "go it alone" and then change your mind, you can retain an accountant at any time during the process.

Remember that the auditor is the personification of the awesome authority of the IRS. On the other hand, your tax accountant is an expert on your side. That levels the playing field.

The bridal bouquet was a silk cascade of white roses and small white and black flowers, with long black and white lace and pearl streamers.

In keeping with tradition, the bride carried a white embroidered handkerchief for something old, that belonged to the groom's grandmother. Something new was her wedding gown and something blue was her blue garter.

Best man and ushers wore black tuxedos and their boutonnières were white carnations.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony in the church fellowship hall.

The serving table was covered with a white linen embroidered tablecloth. The white tiered cake was decorated with red roses. The center table arrangement was red and white carnations. Lyla Mary Isbell served at the reception table.

Rule firemen receive pagers

On June 28, the Rule Volunteer Fire Department went to a paging system for all fires.

Each fireman has a pager and can be notified immediately in case of a fire. This will save time in responding to fires as firemen will not have to go to the fire station to find out the location of a fire.

The system was purchased through donations and firemen expressed their appreciation to all who gave money. Donations still are being accepted to help defer the cost of the new system.

The siren will only be used for severe weather, extreme emergencies and monthly tests.

Rule monument plans continuing

At the regular meeting on June 26, chaired by Malcolm Hertzenberger, members of the Rule Community Memorial Foundation proceeded with work at hand for the community's memorial monument.

Excitement over the monument having been erected and the landscaping proceeding, moved the group to enthusiastically develop further plans to provide two flag poles for flying Old Glory and the Texas flag over the edifice, lighting and other arrangements.

A. B. Arnett, chairman of the landscaping, requested and was authorized to obtain support in that work. D. J. Vernon is to contact the Department of Transportation on obtaining appropriate signs for directions to the monument. J. C. Lewis is to investigate availability of flag poles.

Invitations to those who are to officiate at the dedication ceremonies on Oct. 20 are to be confirmed, as are other parts of a very appropriate and inspirational program for the occasion. Announcements of these developments will be forthcoming.

Special recognition was given to R. C. Pool, A. B. Arnett, Tom Kutch and others for their dedication and efforts in bringing the monument to this degree of completion.

A report from the treasurer, D. J. Vernon, indicated that 95 percent of the fund's goal has been achieved. Funds are still being solicited for completing the goal, and to provide for future maintenance of the monument. Further planning on perpetuating the monument is to be taken up at the regular July 24 meeting. Donations can be made to the Rule Community Memorial Foundation in care of the Farmers National Bank, Rule 79547.

Everyone is encouraged to go by Sorrell's Park, walk up and examine the monument. This is yours to be proud of, to receive inspiration from, and to be reminded of the sacrifices made by so many that we can relish the freedom we enjoy. You will derive a great deal of satisfaction from the experience. And, all are encouraged to join in the culmination of planning and work for this beautiful addition to the community.

16 girls to attend camp

Sixteen girls from Haskell were signed up for the Texas girls Basketball Super Camp at Hardin-Simmons July 16-20.

The camp, directed by Carlos Ratliff, coach at Boswell High School, is for girls between 9 and 18 years old.

Local participants will be Tréci Burson, Joni Martindale, Mandi Pope, Shelly Stewart, Heather Stewart, Andrea and Jessica Bridwell, Betsy McDermott, Janice Johnston, Nacole Lefevre, Tara Moeller, Dacia Pheister, Heather Hobgood, Tenille Mathis, Natonia Anderson and Brandi Briles.

During his 14 years of coaching, he has developed an all-American, six all-regional players, four all-staters and five college players. His teams have been in the state playoffs six times.

Terraces provide flexibility

No one likes to farm terraced land. Most farmers realize, however, that terraces are needed on many fields to prevent excessive erosion. After all, terraces are easier to farm than ditches, says Harry Kochler, technician with the Haskell SCS.

The 1985 Farm Bill requires that conservation plans be written and applied on highly erodible fields in order to maintain eligibility for USDA programs. By a combination of management and structural practices, erosion in these fields has to be reduced significantly.

If the reduction in erosion is done through the cropping system alone, this limits the farmer in the type and frequency of crops that can be planned on the field.

Installing a terrace system can greatly improve the flexibility of the cropping system. The question is asked, however, "Are terraces really worth what they cost?" Perhaps the following will answer this question.

On a field of two percent slopes, planted to cotton two years out of three, the erosion is approximately 13 tons of soil loss per acre per year. If the field has three percent slopes the erosion will increase to 21 tons of soil loss per acre per year. Installing a terrace system will reduce the erosion to four and five tons loss per acre per year respectively.

One of the major obstacles is the initial cost. On most fields it will cost approximately $55 per acre to install parallel terraces. While this cost sounds high, the cost is only $3 per acre per year when it is amortized at 12-percent interest over a 20-year period. This price sounds even better when you consider that a ton of topsoil is being saved by an investment of only 25 cents.

Several other less tangible, but important, benefits can be considered also. They are increased yields, less fertilizer loss, no farming across gullies, and land that retains its value on the real estate

In addition to the benefits to the field, several off site benefits are just as important. One of the most important is water quality. Fertilizers and pesticides stay on the land where they are needed and not in our water supplies. Lakes don't fill up with silt. Road maintenance is easier when silt doesn't have to be removed from roads and ditches. It has been estimated that the off site benefits of soil conservation are at least as great as the on site benefits.

The price can also get better. The ACP and GP programs provide financial assistance to build terrace systems when funds are available. Contact the Haskell Soil Conservation Service for additional information (864-3212).

Pitman reunion

The home of Dick and Karen (Pitman) Godbout was the setting as older family members renewed acquaintances and all ages made new ones at the first reunion held for descendants of William Edward and Elizabeth Adeline (Moore) Pitman on July 4.

Five of the nine children of Edward and Adeline were represented as 47 descendants gathered for the event. Only the families of John B./Corrie Pitman, Lela (Pitman)/Sampson Newsome and Lillie Belle (Pitman)/ W. B. Riley were not represented. Phone calls and letters, many including old and current pictures) were received from descendants in Arizona, Alabama, Missouri, Oklahoma, New York and points in Texas who could not make the trip.

Having celebrated her 86th birthday on June 24, Verna Beatrice (Pitman) Childress, only surviving child of Edward and Adeline, was the oldest descendant in attendance. Her fun filled day included climbing the stairs of the two-story home to view family pictures. A retired teacher, Verna lives in Houston.

Traveling the greatest distances were Archie "Ike" Pitman of Aztec, N.M., with his daughter and son-in-law, Lola Marie and Myron Crockett of Bloomfield, N.M. Archie is the son of Drayf D. Pitman.

By numbers, the five children represented were: Riley Franklin/Emma Pitman, 15; Drayf "Dray"/Bertha Pitman, 17; Calvert/Grady Pitman, 2; Calvin/Abbie Pitman, 7; Wm. Hudson "Hut"/Robbie Pitman, 2; and Verna (Pitman)/Olin Childress, 4.

After all enjoyed a noon meal, officers were elected and a vote taken to hold the reunion every two years.

Offices for Reunion '92 to be held in Haskell are Karen Godbout, president; Jewel Pitman, vice president; Kathie Galle, secretary; Anna Marie Jones, treasurer; and Rex Pitman, reporter.

Those attending from Haskell were Virginia Pittman, Roy and Jewel Pittman, Cecil Pittman, Billy K., Winnie, Angie and Kenneth Pitman, Rex, Cam and Ross Pittman, Billy D., Kathlyn, Tina and Cotton Pitman, Janice (Pitman) Blackburn and Robbye Joe, and Ernest Stewart, step-father of Karen (Pitman) Godbout.

William Edward (1858-1947) and Adeline (1860-1943) moved to Haskell from Bell County in 1908. Their nine children all eventually joined them, many of whom spent the remainder of their lives in Haskell. William E. and Adeline are both buried at Willow Cemetery as are their children, John B., Drayf D., Riley Franklin, Lela Mae, Calvert and Wm. Hudson.

These dates are the only two dates the doctors are available. I know this is earlier than before. If you come at these times the cost to you is $5.00, otherwise you will have to make an office visit and the cost is $25.00. The 9th and 10th graders will be done Tuesday, July 17 at 12:45. Juniors and Seniors at 12:45 Thursday, July 19. We will take a bus from the fieldhouse at 12:30 or if you want to go to the clinic yourself at 12:45 that will be fine. The doctors will allow about an hour to do these so don't be late. Remember you must have your physical before you can begin workout. These physicals are for all athletes—not just football. These are the only dates you can get your physicals for $5.00. Bring your money when you come. See you the 17th or 19th.
