Pushmobile races attract 150 boys

Cub Scouts of the Double Mountain disrict held their annual pushmobile races in Haskell Saturday. More than 150 boys and 20 pushmobile cars were registered for the competion held on North Avenue A between 11th and 14th streets. The event was hosted by Haskell Cub Scout Pack 136.

Scouts from as far away as Sweetwater and Roscoe participated in the afternoon's activities. Other communities represented were Rotan, Stamford, Rule, Rochester, Knox City, Throckmorton, Lueders, Avoca and Haskell.

According to Bob Cass, cubmaster of the Haskell Pack 136, pushmobiles are small, unpowered cars which the boys build with the help of their adult leaders. During the races, one boy rides on the car and helps steer it, while another boy pushes. Every 100 feet, a different pair of boys takes over. After 400 feet, the boys must turn the cars around and switch positions for the return trip. Total length of the race is 800 feet.

Cars were judged for quality of their construction, as well as for their appearance.

Winners of the competition for best built car were:

Wolf: Haskell Den 3; Bear: Haskell Den 5; Webelos: Haskell Den 1; Tiger Cubs, Rotan pack175.

Winners of the best looking car were:
Wolf: Haskell Den 3; Bear:

Sweetwater pack 147; Webelos: Haskell Den 1; Tiger Cubs: Rotan pack 175. In the races, the Tiger Cub Den of Rotan won first place in its age division. In the Wolf division, Haskell Den 3 took first place with Samford winning second and Rule taking third.

Haskell Den 5 won first place in the Bear division. Second place went to Haskell Den 2, while the Bear scouts of Rotan took third.

In the Webelos competition, Knox City finished in first place with Haskell Webelos Den 1 coming in second. Third place went to Lueders/Avoca.

After the individual age divisions were completed, a final sweepstakes race was held to determine the overall fastest team. Haskell Bear Den 5 won this competition with the fastest time of the day---1:00.65. The Knox City Webelos Den came in second and Haskell Wolf Den 3 finished third.

"We had a great time hosting these races," said Cass. "We want to thank the City of Haskell for their kind help in putting this together. We appreciate the work of the Haskell Kiwanis Club, our chartering organizaiton, for all the work they did with their concession stand. We also need to thank the Boys Scouts of Troop 136 and others who helped as lane judges and timekeepers; and a special thank you to Chris Arendall for his fine work in keeping the score sheets and the win-loss brackets."

And among the participants will be a retired lieutenant general, who once practiced medicine in Rule, and a native son who rose to the rank of captain in the U.S. Navy.

It all begins at 10 a.m. with the playing of patriotic, religious and inspirational music as the audience assembles at Slim Sorrells City Park. Color guards will post colors at 10:20.

The band will then play "The Star Spangled Banner" and flags will be raised. The unveiling of the monument will then take place during a fly-over by the Confederatre Air Force. This will be followed by the invocation by Beraline Barbee.

Lt. Gen. M. A. Chesney, U.S. Army Ret., will serve as master of ceremonies. He will give an account of the spirit of the monument and a brief history of the development of the monument project.

An honor roll of war dead during a muffled drum roll will be followed by the playing of "Silver Taps" and a firing squad salute.

Gold Star mothers will then be honored by the laying of a wreath at the foot of the monument. The names of the Gold Star mothers will be called and those in attendance will will be presented with flowers.

At 11:25, Gen. Chesney will introduce the speaker, Capt. Jon R. Geer, U.S. Navy Ret. His address will be entitled, "Small Town America: Bulwark of Freedom."

At noon, Malcolm B. Herttenberger, chairman of the Rule Memorial Foundation, will perpetuate the spirt of the monument.

Following closing remarks by the master of ceremonies and the benediction, planes from Dyess Air Force Base will fly over. Color guards will retrieve the colors and the band will provide patriotic music as the crowd disperses.

The dedication date falls on the date of the Rule Homecoming. Homecoming activities will begin Friday night with the Rule-Goree football game at 7:30.

Former students will start registering Saturday morning at 9, after which transportation will be provided to the park for the memorial dedication.

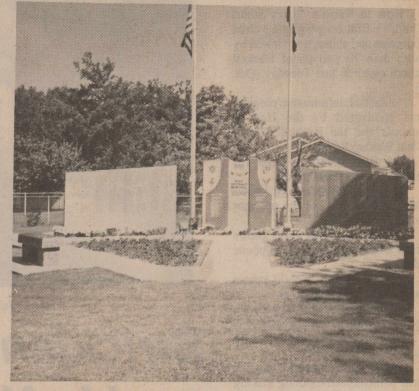

After the dedication, exes will gather for lunch at the high school cafeteria. The general assembly will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Haskell to host Hamlin in 7-2A tilt

Their confidence bolstered by a smashing victory over Jim Ned last week, the Haskell Indians host the Pied Pipers of Hamlin Friday night in a district 7-2A encounter which could keep their playoff hopes alive.

Hamlin is 0-3 in district play, but the Pied Pipers should be in a vindictive frame of mind as they are coming off two consecutive one-point losses. They lost, 14-13, to Anson last Friday after losing to Stamford, 15-14, the previous week. Their other district loss was to unbeaten Albany, 30-14 in their district opener.

In their pre-district schedule, the Pied Pipers defeated Merkel, lost to Rotan and beat Baird. Their overall 2-4 record is the same as Haskell's.

"They have a good team," said Indian Coach Walter Hargrove. He added that turnovers have cost the Pipers dearly this season.

They operate from the wishbone offense which features the running of two outstanding backs, Wayland McGee and Anthony Hooper. Another top-flight performer is split receiver Dee Marshall.

Haskell is coming off a big win over Jim Ned, 48-6, in a game in which the Indian offense came alive after two lack-luster performances against Winters and Hawley.

Jonathan Dever had a seasonhigh 227 yards rushing, Jeremy Fuentes added another 60 and Rusty Stocks threw three touchdown passes as the Indians exploded.

While Dever, Fuentes and Stocks got the headlines, Hargrove was most pleased with the overall team effort, especially the other offensive players who made things happen.

He cited Erik Harvey's blocking as instrumental in springing many of the big plays. Guard Mike Layland also was singled out for an outstanding game.

The coach also praised the work of center Chad Gibson, guard Greg Williams, tackles Reneé Garcia and Jason Davis and split ends Chris Tanner and Craig Hanson.

"We were doing things right and blocking the right people," the coach said.

The defense also came in for praise. Jim Ned had only 109 yards rushing and connected on only one of 10 passes with two interceptions. Harvey had both thefts, returning one 21 yards for a touchdown and the other for 33 yards.

Going into the fourth week of district play, Albany and Winters are atop the standings with 3-0 records. Anson and Hawley are 2-1, Haskell and Stamford are 1-2 and Hamlin and Jim Ned stand 0-3.

Perry gets his support from many

Rick Perry's hefty campaign finance report filed last week indicates nearly 4,000 donors--mostly farmers and ranchers--contributed to his campaign for Texas Agriculture Commissioner duirng the period from July 1 through Sept. 27.

"This drives home what we've known all along," Perry said. "The agricultural producers of the state are demanding a change and they are using all of their spare change to help me end the rampant corruption at the Texas Department of Agriculture."

Perry's campaign reported total donations for the period of $482,178 by 3,949 donors, for an average, of $107 per donor. This brings his total campaign income to $982,075.

The largest donor in the period was the 83-member "San Angelo Friends of Rick Perry" who organized a July fund-raiser. These supporters, who brought the donor number to 4,032, contributed $7,599.

Two other contributors making

$5,000 donations were Judy Jones Matthews of Abilene, and EMPAC, the employee political action committee of Dow Chemical. EMPAC, the only chemical company PAC to contribute to Perry's entire campaign, gave about 1 percent of the total raised in the last quarter.

Perry's contribution list differs greatly with that of incumbant Ag Commissioner Jim Hightower. Seventy-three percent of Hightower's financial support came from Austin, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio, and another 21 percent was raised outside of Texas.

Tax rebate increases

A downward trend in local sales tax collections was halted---at least temporarily---this week when the City of Haskell's rebate check showed a 5.37-percent increase over the check for the same period of last year.

Haskell's one-percent sales tax for the month of August netted the city $9,658.66. That was the amount of the check sent to the city by the state comptroller.

It compares with a check of $9,166.48 received for the corresponding period of 1989.

For the year, Haskell is running

7.35 percent behind collections in 1989---$119,007.88 this year, compared to $128,452.46 last year.

The City of Rule saw a hefty 67.12-percent increase in this month's check. The city received $1,459.01 this week, compared to only $873.03 last October for August collections.

Only other Haskell County municipality to receive a check this month was Rochester, which received $724.54.

So far in 1990, the cities of Haskell, Rochester, Rule, O'Brien and Weinert have received $139,401.80 from their one-percent sales taxes. Rule's modest 1.41-percent increase this year represents the only case where collections are ahead of a year ago.

The factual, informative program was sponsored by the Haskell Schools and the Haskell County Child Welfare Board.

The film listed 10 tips for making a child street smart:

1. Make sure your child knows show to dial "911" or the operator to ask for help.

2. Make sure your child knows his or her name, address and phone number.

3. Make sure your child knows exactly what a "stranger" is.

4. Make sure your child knows a secret code word only you share.
5. Make sure you play "what if"

games with your child.

6. Make sure your child does not wear personalized clothing making him or her an easy target.

7. Make sure your child knows the difference between a "good touch" and a "bad touch."

8. Make sure your child knows how to say "no" to adults.

9. Make sure your child knows, if lost, to look for a person in uniform, such as a police officer or bus driver.

10. Make sure your child knows to trust his or her instincts, and knows that if something suspicious happens, he or she should act on it; run to a crowded place and shout for help

The film will be available in the school libraries for interested parents to check out.

Haskell's School's next parenting meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 25, when Dr. Lynn Thibodeaux will speak on "Helping Your Child Survive Competition" at 7 p.m. in the elementary cafeteria. Parents of all school age students are encouraged to attend. Free babysitting is provided.

Thirty-six students came from states outside Texas and five are from foreign countries.

Mayor addresses club

The Progressive Study Club met Oct. 11 in the Community Room. Thirty members and Mrs. S. Hassen, an honorary member, were present.

President Mary L. Kaigler called the meeting to order and introduced the program director, Franciene Johnson, who introduced Mayor Greg Melton, a history teacher and assistant principal of Haskell Secondary School. After a brief biographical sketch of Mr. Melton had been given, Mrs. Johnson said they had something in common as she had served as Haskell's mayor.

Mr. Melton's topic was "Visions in Perspective: International Understanding," a very timely topic, even more so than when the program committee planned it. His opening remark was that it is hard to understand today because we didn't understand yesterday.

He reviewed the events in the European Balkan countries which took place during June 1914 and began World War I. The U.S. became the aresenal, "making a killing" economically, and did not become militarily involved until after Woodrow Wilson was reelected on the slogan, "He kept us out of war" in 1916.

Germany challenged the U.S. neutrality and by 1917 war was declared. Mr. Melton stressed that no country is an island and that nations are dependent upon each other physically and economically. He also pointed out that dictatorships continue as long as dictators keep people looking outward and feeling threatened; they fail when the people begin looking inward.

When questioned about Israel, he went back to AD 70 when Rome completely destroyed the country. When Israel again became a nation in 1948 and claimed the land where the Palestinians had been living for centuries, a conflict began that is still going on.

Mr. Melton concluded that we need to see a correlation between what happened yestereday and what is happening today to understand the present, that compromise is important to a democracy, and that technology, science and transportation change but that people do not change as they still have the same basic feelings and Club members entered into the discussion and responded to Mr. Melton's questions that it was difficult to conclude. A quote from the yearbook, "You don't live in a world all alone. Your brothers are here too," by Albert Schweitzer, was certainly well chosen.

Hostesses Sandy Forehand, Evelyn Cobb, Ruby Turner, Frances Lane and July Ray all dressed to represent different countries, served individual pumpkin pies decorated with candy pumpkins, candy corn, tosted nuts, hot cider and coffee. The speaker's table had a globe, American flags, bells and trinkets from various countries, and a sign which read "Vote in November." An additional table was covered with a cloth from India and displayed some children's garments which Dr. Cliff Ray brought from India.

During the business session, Frenciene Johnson read the club constitution and by-laws, a requirement: Oleta Cornelius, secretary, read the minutes of the Sept. 13 meeting; Helen Fouts read a thank you note from Trudi Spring; and Linda King made announcements concerning the chicken spaghetti dinner, the club's yearly fund raiser on Oct. 12..

Treasurer Sharee Gardner reported that Erma Liles, Angie Combs and she had attended the district meeting where 93 were present. There would be a change in reporting procedures. She gave the treasurer's report. The club made a contribution to aid the Young Homemakers with the Haskell County Library repair on the children's room.

Absentee voting open until Nov. 2

The extended absentee balloting period opened Wednesday for those registered to vote in the Nov. 6 general election.

During the extended absentee voting period, which runs through Friday, Nov. 2, registered voters can appear at the county clerk's office to cast ballots for the election. The deadline to register to be eligible to vote in the Nov. 6 election was Oct. 9.

Under a 1987 state law that relaxed absentee voting requirements, registered voters need not give a specific reason for casting in-person ballots during the extended voting period.

This year, Haskell County voters will help elect a U.S. senator, governor, lieutenant governor and scores of other statewide officeholders, including the state agricultural commissioner, a position being sought by Haskell's Rick Perry.

year since 1890.

That's the year Congress voted to create a "Weather Bureau" in the Department of Agriculture.

This month, the National Weather Service is marking its centennial year.

Judge P. D. Sanders was Haskell County's first weather recorder. Mrs. Fred Sanders then kept the records for many years. Several others served as local weather recorders for short periods of time.

On Sept. 18, 1941, Sam Herren started sending the temperature and rainfall reports to the National Weather Service from his farm nine miles northwest of Haskell. In April 1956, he became the official weather observer for the City of Haskell. Next year, he will mark his 50th anniversary as a recorder of local weather.

On the first day of each month, he gives a report of the previous months' rainfall and temperatures to The Haskell Free Press, Haskell National Bank, Soil Conservation Service and West Texas Utilities Co. He also dispenses weather information to oil companies and private citizens, and has, on occasion, supplied information for law suits.

In his long career, Herren recalls two major events which brought widespread publicity to Haskell. The tornado of May 1962 and the big flood of August 1978 stand out in his memory.

The 1978 flood resulted from

The 1978 flood resulted from 15.65 inches of rain in 30 hours. A weather official from the Fort Worth regional bureau of the weather service who visited Haskell following the flood, said "a flood like this may not happen again for 100 years."

Herren is part of a 10,000-strong cooperative observer network. The information they provide is often used in strategic and tactical decisions by agriculture, manufacturing, construction, hydro and electric power and transportation industries.

The livestock safety weather index, crop maturity index, plant hardiness zones, ventilation and air conditioning designs, sewer and irrigation system design, highway construction and maintenance strategies have evolved from climate data provided by the observers.

Good kids

Editor: Two young men in our community deserve public recognition for their honesty: Jason Roysdon and Cory Green.

During Firday night's football game, my small, black purse slipped between the bleachers. I was unaware of its departure.

The first time I knew anything was amiss, Doyle High stood, held up my purse, and asked it it was mine. It was, and an interesting tale of honesty began to unfold.

Two Haskell students (both are Boy Scouts) were walking beneath the bleachers when my purse dropped from the stands, nearly striking one of them.

Without hestitation, Jason Roysdon picked up the purse and noted the location beneath the stands. Then he and Cory Green went into the bleachers to find the owner.

Jason said they didn't want to open the purse, so they asked several ladies if it belonged to

When the purse went unclaimed (I was too far away to hear them), Doyle opened the purse and learned the identity of the owner.

What a surprise for me to learn the purse not only was missing but also found---all in the same

As surprise gave way to relief, I realized how close to disaster I had been.

How fortunate for me that two honest young men were walking beneath the bleachers when the purse dropped from above.

How fortunate for Haskell that theese two young men reside in our community, attend our school, and have set such a positive example for others to follow.

Thank you, Jason and Cory. Jiii Druesedow

Great help

Editor: The Haskell Business Association extends its personal thanks to Roy Forehand and John Perdichi of Waco for building the town set for "The Outlaws" who performed during the Super 2nd Saturday activities on the southeast corner of the square.

Thanks also goes to the sponsors for "The Outlaws" who are as follows: Hassen's, Sears, Holden-McCauley Funeral Home, Frazier's Appliance and Furniture, Conrad's Sport-About, Barbara's Boutique, Johnson's Pharmacy and Walling TV & Electronics.

The Outlaws made a statement that Haskell was the biggest and best audience they have ever had. There were many who commented that Haskell was such a friendly and accomodating town.

The Haskell Free Press and KVRP FM radio also did super jobs on the coverage and public service announcements. We are so grateful to have such wonderful and super media in Haskell as these fine businesses who give our town such great coverage on events in Haskell.

Thanks to Dusty Garison who emceed the morning events Saturday. Thanks to all of the judges on all of the events. Judges

Pushmobile races

Editor: This past Saturday, Haskell Pack 136 hosted the Double Mountain District annual pushmobile races. On behalf of the pack, I would like to thank many people for their help.

First, to the City of Haskell and administrator Bob Baker for letting us use the 1100-1200 blocks of North Avenue A; to Thomas Rodriquez for the paint and striping machine to set up the race course.

We want to thank our chartering organization, the Kiwanis Club, for the concessions and helping judge the event. Marvin McFadden and the Boy Scouts of Troop 136 provided our changeover and line judges. From our own pack, a special thanks to Dusty Garison for being the emcee, to Chris Arendall for running the many heats, Tom Dewey for being a timekeeper, Lisa Shaw for taking care of printed materials and mail outs, Fran Cass and Katy Roysdon for registration.

A special thanks to Conrad Roewe of Sport-About for the use of stop watches, taking care of our awards and designing us an "awesome" iron-on patch. To Randy Cass for helping his old man stripe the race course instead of watching cartoons. Also a special thansk to Rev. John Lewis of the Hopewell Baptist Church for the use of their restrooms.

We had perfect weather, a perfect race course, perfect kids, perfect parents, perfect workers, a perfect day in Haskell. I received a big "paycheck" just watching all of this and being a small part of it.

Thanks, Haskell, for being Haskell.

Blood donors needed

By Brian Burgess Red Cross Blood Service Chairman

Red Cross bloodmobile visits held at the beginning of the holiday season offer Haskell County residents an opportunity to add someone they may never meet to their "gift-giving list."

Though blood needs are ongoing, requiring 100 donors daily to meet the Red River region's patient needs, there is an increased demand during the holidays. With this in mind, we need to have 50 productive units by the end of our "Holiday Bloodmobile" visit this Tuesday, Oct. 23, from 1 to 4:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Haskell.

Please note the time change. The bloodmobile for many years has been held from 1 to 5 p.m., but due to extra expenses and overtime for the nurses who come to draw the blood, the Red Cross has shortened the donating period by 30 minutes. We have great professional and non-professional volunteers, and dozens of folks who give blood every time the Red Cross comes to town, but our biggest need is more first-time blood donors.

As time goes by, people who have been regular donors, because of a move out of the county or the development of a chronic health problem, or some other reason, are no longer able to donate. And we are just not replacing them quickly enough with new people. If you are a regular donor, come to the bloodmobile and bring a friend with you who has never before donated. If you are physically able and have never donated blood, please give this wonderful lifegiving gift.

Employers, encourage your employees to give blood and give them an hour off to do so. The bloodmobile is a noble and compassionate county effort. Be a part, give blood; give someone another Christmas, another birthday, another Father's Day or Mother's Day. Give someone the gift of life.

latest edition of The Old Farmer's Almanac, North America's oldest almanac which has offered a fascinating mix of history and science, gardening and cooking, humor and folklore for nearly two Today's Old Farmer's Almanac is as educational---and as much fun--as ever. Filled with entertaining stories, recipes and puzzles, it is still the place to look for longrange weather predictions---they've been proven to be 80 percent accurate---tide tables, gardening tips and much more.

In the 1991 edition, now available on newstands, you'll find:

·Daily weather predictions for the whole year. You can consult the almanac to pick the perfect wedding day---one with no rain. Note that the current issue predicts an oldfashioned "traditional" cold winter this year for most of the country.

•Read up on some of the nation's most offbeat museums. Did you know there's a museum in Rocksprings, Texas, devoted entirely to goats?

•From Texas Tamale Pie to Dakota Buffalo and Beer Pie, learn about America's love affair with pot pie and experiment with some stick-to-your-ribs recipes.

Or you can chuckle over these amusing bits of baby folklore:

·Heartburn during pregnancy signifies a child with lots of hair.

·Carry a new baby upstairs so that he/she will rise in the world.

·If a woman wears her husband's hat while she's in labor, her pain will be lessened. The Old Farmer's Almanac will celebrate its 200th anniversary with its 1992 issue, to be published in the fall of 1991. Founded by Robert B. Thomas, the first edition of the best-loved almanac was nearly the last. Back in 1793, a smallpox epidemic broke out in Boston. Just after finishing the copy for the first almanac, Thomas became critically ill and was sick for several months. Not only did he recover, but he went on to edit the almanac for 53 Another close call occurred in 1943 when a copy of the almanac was found in the possession of a Nazi sabvoteur on Long Island. The U.S. government considered shutting down almanac publication for fear that the enemy would be able to use the long-range weather forecasts to its advantage.

Indians break slump as Jim Ned falls, 48-6

On the ninth play following the opening kickoff Friday night, Haskell's Jeremy Fuentes ran 23 yards for a touchdown against Jim Ned.

But that's not all, folks.

Before the night was over, Rusty Stocks threw three touchdown passes (to Erik Harvey, Chris Tanner and James Espinosa), Jonathan Dever ran for two touchdowns (including an 89-yard scamper) and Harvey returned a pass interception for a touchdown. Cody Josselet kicked four extra points and Stocks passed to Harvey for a two-point conversion.

With two ticks remaining on the clock before the end of the third period, the Indians found themselves in the unfamiliar position of holding a 48-0 lead over a 7-2A rival, also known as the Indians.

It mattered not that Jim Ned finally pushed over a score with 2:15 to go. The final score told the story: Haskell 48, Jim Ned 6.

The Haskell victory halted a three-game losing streak and "boosted" the Indians' district record to 1-2. And with the victory, the Indians clung to the possibility of becoming a playoff representative of the expanded eight-team 7-2A.

Only a little more than four minutes had elapsed when Fuentes' scamper broke the scoring ice. It was on the end of a 69-yard drive, highlighted by a couple of Dever runs of 12 and 10 yards, and aided by a 15-yard penalty against the visitors.

The Indians scored again on each of their next two possessions. Dever capped a four-play, 52-yard drive with a 15-yard scoring run after Fuentes' run of 26 yards had put the ball in scoring position. The touchdown came with two and a half minutes remaining in the first period.

Next time the Indians got the ball, they went 47 yards in eight plays. Big gainers were a 13-yard run by Fuentes, a 7-yard run by Dever and a 9-yard pass from Stocks to Harvey before Stocks hit Harvey again for 3 yards and a score less than three minutes deep into the second period.

Nineteen seconds later, Harvey crossed the goal again following a 21-yard return of an intercepted Stocks passed 5 yards to Tanner for Haskell's fifth touchdown late in the second quarter. The score came following a five-play, 49-yard drive featuring a 46-yard pass completion from Stocks to Josselet, just after a 10-yard penalty against the Indians.

After the third period opened, Jim Ned ran three plays and punted, the 41-yarder by Stacy Johnson rolling out on the Haskell 19. After an errant pitchout lost 7 yards and Dever was stopped for a one-yard loss to put the ball back to the 11, Dever broke loose and ran 89 yards for a touchdown, equalling his previous longest run against Munday. The third quarter was still less than four minutes old.

The next time the Indians got the ball, a holding penalty erased a 57-yard touchdown strike from Stocks to Espinosa. But the same combo clicked for a 25-yard TD pass and run on their very next possession as the Indians completed their scoring two seconds before the end of the third period.

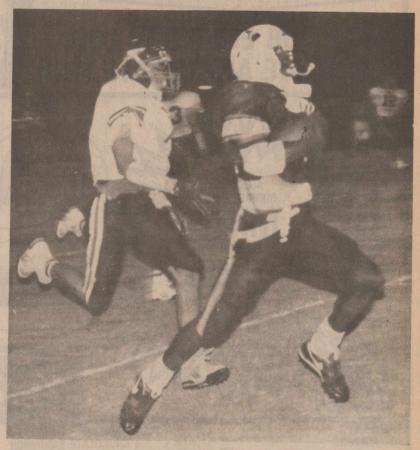

Jim Ned's score came on its last possession four plays after a fumble recovery at the Haskell 17. David Mangum got the touchdown from a yard out.

Rule student earns honors

Thomas Rusk White has been named a commended student in the National Merit Scholarship program.

The Rule High School senior will receive a letter of commendation from the school and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation which conducts the program.

About 35,000 commended students nationwide are being honored for their outstanding performances on the 1989 PSAT/NMSQT, which places them in the top five percent of more than 1 million students who entered the 1991 merit program by taking the qualifying test.

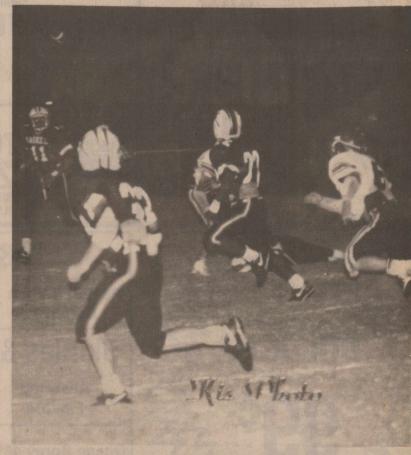

TD run

Jonathan Dever breaks into the clear for an 89-yard touchdown run against Jim Ned here Friday night, one of two touchdown runs of the game for the Indian tailback.

Back in the lineup

Jeremy Fuentes returned to the Indian lineup last week after a two-week absence with a hand injury and immediately made his presence felt. He ran 23 yards for the first Haskell touchdown as the Indians dumped Jim Ned, 48-6, and had other runs of 26, 20 and 13 yards.

The Indians' Erik Harvey, shown here about to catch a pass from Rusty Stocks, played his usual bangup game against Jim Ned. He caught one pass for a touchdown and another for 2 extra points, and intercepted two passes, returning one for a touchdown.

WATCH YOUR CASH FLOW

In assessing their businesses, most owners focus on growth in sales and profits. Yet these do not guarantee business health and success. Another important gauge is cash flow. Simply put, is there enough cash inflow to cover cash outflow? Cash-flow needs change on a daily basis. The more you're aware of cash-flow needs, the more control you'll have over your business.

Cash flow can be calculated by taking net profit, adding back depreciation and amortization (noncash outlays), subtracting increases in accounts receivable and inventories during the period and adding increases in accounts payable. This can be done on whatever operating cycle time frame is most meaningful to you (monthly, quarterly, etc.) Best results are ususally obtained by using monthly cash flow statements and projections based on prior experience. Building a history of cash flow needs by using historical financial records will provide an invaluable tool for projecting the timing of receipts, expenditures and fi-

Periods of negative cash flow can seriously hinder expansion plans and may even lead to business failure. Cash flow statements and projections can forewarn you of cash needs and allow you to implement changes. Proper management of accounts receivable and inventory can stengthen cash inflows. Review billing procedures to reduce lag time between shipping and invoicing. Reexamine credit and collection policies. Consider offering discounts for early payment and charging interest on delinquent balances. Review inventory levels. Be alert for stockpiles and excess inventory. Dispose of obsolete inventory by reducing prices or selling for scrap.

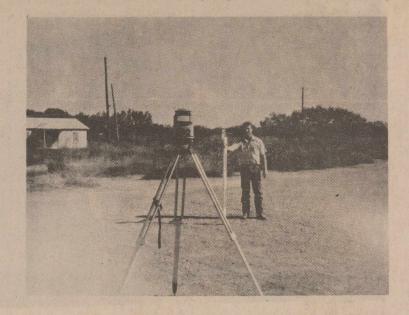

Effective cash flow management will permit better utilization of cash, generate additional funds from internal sources, and provide advance notice of financing needs. Knowing your cash flow requirements is imperative for business success.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed an application with the Texas Public Utility Commission to introduce two experimental services called Call Forwarding – Busy Line and Call Forwarding – Don't Answer.

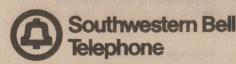

Call Forwarding – Busy Line and Call Forwarding – Don't Answer are optional call management services that will automatically forward a customer's incoming calls to a pre-designated number whenever that incoming call encounters a busy or don't answer condition. These services are for both business and residence customers. The company proposes that the services be available beginning November 19, 1990.

The monthly rates for Call Forwarding – Busy Line and Call Forwarding – Don't Answer are $1.00 for residence customers and $3.00 for business customers. The monthly rate for subscribing to both services is $1.75 for residence customers and $4.00 for business customers. During this experimental offering period the installation charges will be waived.

Call Forwarding – Busy Line and Call Forwarding – Don't Answer are expected to generate first-year revenues of approximately $752,000.

Call Forwarding – Busy Line and Call Forwarding – Don't Answer will be offered on an experimental basis in selected areas throughout the state for 12 months. The availability of these services after that time will depend on Southwestern Bell's decision of whether to offer the services on a permanent basis.

Persons wishing to comment on these services should notify the commission by November 9, 1990. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Bud Hunt came home from the hospital on Oct. 6. This was his third trip to the hospital, and this time he stayed almost a month. His ankle and foot were fused together, but he seems to be going better this time. Bud was injured in the same oil-field accident as Rayberne Oliver on May 16. He expects to be off his feet for a while yet, and would like to see any old friends, who happen to be in the neighborhood. He sends Rayberne back his challenge for a "crutch-race" until a later date.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, ● even before it can be felt.
