

College degree called big bargain

"A degree from a Texas college or university continues to be one of the best buys in the country," State Comptroller John Sharp said.

"Historically, tuition and fees at Texas colleges and universities have been lower than in most other states and this remains the case even with the 20-percent jump in tuition rates scheduled when classes begin this fall.

"Although the new $24 per semester hour cost is an eight-fold increase over tuition levels in 1984, in the 1991-92 school year Texas still ranked 48th in the nation with an average $1,275 in tuition and fees paid by in-state students at four-year public institutions," Sharp said.

"Texas ranked among the lowest in tuition of the 10 most populous states. Even out-of-state students who study in Texas receive a bargain. The average $4,788 in tuition and fees paid by non-resident students ranked Texas 42nd nationally, the lowest of the 10 most populous states," Sharp said.

The latest issue of Fiscal Notes, a publication of the Comptroller's Research Division, explores the costs of attending state colleges and universities. Effective this fall, the Texas Legislature has ordered an acceleration of tuition rate increases which began in 1985. Tuition rates are scheduled to reach $32 per semester hour by the fall of 1996.

In the recommendations made by the Texas Performance Review to the legislature last summer, Sharp proposed that colleges and universities use local sources of funds to offset higher operating costs.

It has been estimated that Texas colleges and universities have accumulated more than $2 billion in these discretionary funds.

"Twenty-one states this year had double-digit increases in tuition, the biggest hikes since 1982. The magnitude of some tuition increases is staggering. At the University of California, tuition fees rose 40 percent last year and are expected to rise another 22 percent next fall to an average of $4,046 per student," the Fiscal News article says.

"Tuition rates increased by as much as 29 percent in Connecticut, and rose 15 percent in Florida after students paid a 10-percent increase the year before. In Texas, annual tuition for undergraduates at the state's four-year institutions will climb to an average $720 this fall, and mandatory fees, including student services and building use charges will add up to about another $500," the report continues.

"Regardless of how you look at it, Texas colleges and universities remain among the least expensive in the nation. College costs in the U.S. range as high as New Hampshire's 1991-92 rates for out-of-state students--an average of $9,840 for one year of study, up 30 percent from 1989," Sharp said.

Texas does enjoy one unusual advantage. The Permanent University Fund, a trust fund based on land and mineral holdings, provides almost 7 percent of current biennial appropriations for higher education. With a market value of $3.9 billion, the fund is the largest public university endowment in the country.

The exact proportion of costs that students at state-supported colleges and universities should pay is the subject of considerable debate in legislatures across the nation. As it becomes more difficult for state governments to operate within existing revenues, pressure grows to increase college tuition.

The alternatives are not happy ones. Cut costs, limit student enrollment or raise more revenue from other tax sources. None of the options is painless. Significant cost reductions, for instance, would mean a direct hit on salaries and personnel, the Fiscal Notes article said.

Dark-skin people can sunburn, too

It is a common misconception that dark-skinned people do not get sunburned. But the sun's rays can be especially harmful to dark skin because its damaging effects are hard to detect.

Army program helps to repay student loans

Several young men and women of West Texas chose the Army's loan repayment program during the first quarter of this year as the way to pay back their college debts.

"The Army will pay college-educated recruits up to one-third or $1,500, whichever is greater, of their outstanding student loan balance at the end of each year they serve," said Lt. Col. Clyde L. Long, commander of Army recruiting in New Mexico and West Texas.

The repayment program, limited to a maximum of $55,000 in loans, is for qualified active duty service members with one of seven specific student loans. These include the popular Stafford Student Loans, Perkins Loans and Federally Insured Student Loans.

The unpaid principal balance will be paid by the Army for loans made before enlistment, but no payments will be made for delinquent charges or interest that may have accrued.

Interested college students can talk to their Army recruiter or call 505-266-1644 in Albuquerque for information.

Methodist group names new leader

A former seminary president will be leading the 130,000 United Methodists in the Texas Panhandle, West Texas and New Mexico for the next four years.

Bishop Alfred L. Norris was assigned July 15 as leader of the United Methodist Church's Albuquerque-based Northwest Texas/New Mexico Episcopal area until Aug. 31, 1996.

The area comprises the 54,000-member New Mexico Annual Conference, which includes congregations in Texas west of Odessa, and the 76,000-member Northwest Texas Annual Conference which covers the Texas Panhandle.

The largest denomination bill now being issued is the $100, but bills worth as much as $10,000 are believed still to be in private hands.

1918 epidemic was one of worst

The worldwide flu epidemic in 1918 afflicted 500 million people and killed 20 million. More than half a million died in the U.S.

Flu that year killed more people in less time than any other disease in modern history. The epidemic ranks with the Black Death of the 14th century as one of the few events in recorded history to reduce the earth's population by as much as 1 percent.

Child's play

Edinburg may be the only city in the country where students can begin their college education in the sixth grade.

It's the unique College for Kids at the University of Texas-Pan American. Students from grades 6 through 12 can enroll in up to four classes in each of two summer sessions.

Impulse buying

Most people know they should not drink and drive, but a psychiatrist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston says drinking and shopping don't mix either.

"Drinking alcohol can lead to impulse shopping," said Dr. Stuart C. Yudofsky, professor and chairman of the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at Baylor. If you have a few drinks at a holiday party, go home, not to the mall.

All should check record of earnings

By Martha A. McSteen
Have you ever checked your Social Security earnings record? If not, you may want to make a note to do so. It could mean more money in your pocket down the road.

Few people know that between 1978 and 1984, more than $5 billion in wages were not credited to the Social Security records of an estimated 9 million working Americans and beneficiaries. Additional errors between 1984 and 1988 raised the total to about $68 billion.

These errors are important because how much workers earn and how long they work are key factors in determining the amount of Social Security benefits they receive. Inaccurate records mean a possible loss of benefits.

The findings came from a General Accounting Office report that prompted the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare to sue the Social Security Administration and the Internal Revenue Service to correct those records and implement proper procedures to make sure they don't recur.

Finally, after a four-year battle, the fight is over. The lawsuit has been settled. The Social Security Administration and IRS have agreed to implement procedures that will go a long way towards ensuring accurate and timely crediting of employee wages.

Equally important, the government also agreed to make it easier for present and past workers to correct incorrect records and apply for any retroactive payments. For example, the agency also will accept a claim if the government has a record of a person's earnings in the year immediately before or after the year in question, and the claimed earnings are consistent with the worker's earnings history.

Currently, correcting an error error can be difficult because it requires all kinds of paperwork and records that may be difficult or impossible to obtain.

I strongly urge all working Americans and Social Security beneficiaries to call or visit their Social Security office every few years to request a Personal Earnings and Benefits Estimate Statement and check their earnings record.

A little effort now could save you a lot of unnecessary headaches in the future.

(Martha A. McSteen spent 39 years with the Social Security Administration and served as acting commissioner of the agency from 1983 to 1986. She is now president of the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare.)

Did you know?

That Texas is one of 28 states that still allows the use of a paddle as punishment of public school students?

Corporal punishment, as it is called, has been around since the Old Testament prophet warned that "he who spares the rod spoils the son." It was not until 20 years ago that Massachusetts became the first state to ban the practice.

We would like to express our thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness, cards, calls, food, flowers, memorials, and especially the prayers during the loss of our loved one.

A big thanks to Drs. Wayne and Frank Cadenhead and all the nurses that worked so diligently with him while he was in the hospital. Also a special thanks to Bro. Donny Harbers, Dale Huff and the ones that brought the special music.

The family of Ernest McGuire

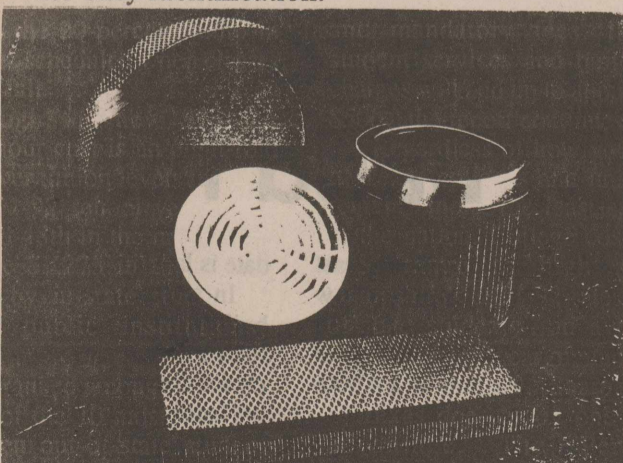

I want to thank my good neighbors and friends for the beautiful flowers and nice sweet cards they sent me after the death of my brother, Pack Smart, of Lubbock, Texas. May God bless all of you. Thank you all.

My Love,
Ola McClure

Salting problems affecting farm land

Salting out problems are developing in more and more cropland fields throughout the Rolling Plains.

In most cases these salted out areas are becoming larger each year. Above average amounts of rainfall the past several years have been the most active factor to cause salts to rise to the surface.

Most of the Rolling Plains is underlain by nearly impermeable "redbeds" of Permian clays and shales. These "redbed" materials contain large amounts of soluble salts. The most abundant types are sodium chloride (table salt), magnesium sulfate (Epsom salts), sodium sulfate (Glauber's salt) and sodium bicarbonate (baking soda).

As the water table builds up over the "redbeds" during periods of above normal rainfall, these soluble salts intermix with the accumulated water. The salting out begins when the water table builds to within about three or four feet within the surface.

Through capillary movement the salty water seeps to the surface. There water evaporates and the salt remains on the soil surface. This event usually occurs many times before the salts become so concentrated as to prevent plant growth.

Concentrations of 20,000 parts per million of soluble salts become so concentrated as to prevent plant growth. These once productive areas may become too salty to support plants. Without any vegetation cover, wind and water erosion run rampant.

The most likely places for salting out to occur are on or slightly above narrow flood plains. This occurs in areas where over the years the natural drainage channel has slowly silted in. The deep channel originally provided an area for seepage to lower the water table.

Another spot likely for salting out to occur is low areas behind old terraces. These terraces often hold eroded soil in their drainage channel. Here extra water accumulates. Then the saline water seeps down slope behind and under the terrace where it seeps to the surface.

There are other factors that may cause salting out to occur. These factors include spots in the field where the depth is shallow to impermeable "redbeds". Roads and other construction can impede down slope movement of water by compressing the soil and interfering with natural underground water movement. Any damage to the underground flow can cause the water table to back up and rise. Leaving soil fallow eventually will cause underground flow. This can allow the down slope water table to rise near the surface and begin the salting out process.

Management of saline areas begins with never letting them form. It is essential to keep the water table well below the soil surface. Never leave areas prone to salting out in a fallow condition, especially during periods of high rainfall. This is best accomplished by growing crops that have deep root systems and use high amounts of water. These crops are needed both over the seep area and up slope to intercept the water moving to the seep area.

Some plant species are better adapted to saline conditions than others. Crop species that are relative salt tolerant and have the ability to utilize deep moisture include sorghums, sunflowers and barley.

In rangeland areas, tall grasses and mesquite use water from deep in the soil profile. Several grasses that gave good salt tolerance are the improved bermudagrasses, the alkali sacaton and the cool season stall wheatgrasses.

Even the kochia weed, which has a high salt tolerance, is better growing on saline sites than having the area bare and exposed to evaporation and erosion.

As saline seeps become so concentrated with salts, plants may not have the ability to lower the water table. When this occurs, the use of underground drainage may be necessary to lower the water table. Installed systems lower high water tables by intercepting water with permeable pipe laid on the "redbeds" or in soil at a depth of about 8 feet.

As the water table is lowered, rainwater flushes salts from the surface and through the soil where it is intercepted by the drainage lines and piped to a natural outlet. Usually the soil starts improving in about two to three years as the drainage system and plants keep the water table lowered.

The brackish water drained from the field is usually less saline than the stream water with which it is intermixed. Underground drainage systems should be considered only as a last resort because of their expensive cost to install and the difficulty of obtaining easements to cross neighbors' property to a suitable outlet. Also, maintenance can be a problem. Roots clog up the drain lines and must be unstopped periodically.

For more information about salinity or other conservation problems, call the Soil Conservation Service field office at 864-8516 or come by the office at 1202A S. Ave. E in Haskell.

Diaper rash can be prevented

Whether you use cloth or disposable diapers, the bottom line is keeping the baby's skin dry.

Approximately 30 percent of visits to pediatricians are related to diaper rash.

Diaper rash is caused by substances in feces and urine, by friction from diapers, by prolonged wetting and by soap, said Dr. Moise L. Levy of Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

He said the popular "baby wipes" contain alcohol and other additives that can aggravate the problem.

If diaper rash is not treated immediately, a bacterial or yeast infection can develop and worsen the situation.

Frequent diaper changing is the best prevention, Levy said.

Carrots may prevent cancer

Carrots may be the favorite food of Bugs Bunny, but soon they may become a favorite of people with cancer.

In the past, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station vegetable breeders focused their carrot research on improving the plant's flavor, appearance and disease resistance, as well as increasing the amount of carotene---the substance that gives carrots their orange color.

But following recent medial reports linking slowed cancer cell growth or, in some studies, cancer cell regression with the ingestion of high levels of beta-carotene, the scientists have added increasing beta-carotene levels to their list of carrot improvements. Beta-carotene is a carotene-like substance, which, when broken down within the body, produces vitamin A.

Medical studies have that people who eat beta-carotene-rich foods are at a lower risk of having the following cancers: lung, esophagus, colon, rectal, oral, skin and stomach.

Selling point

El Paso has still another reason to sell itself as a tourist mecca and retirement center.

It seems that living in the Sun Bow city---or even visiting there--- may be a cure for stress.

Researchers at the University of Texas at El Paso have discovered that the city's water supply contains surprising amounts of lithium---a metallic salt used to treat manic-depressive patients.

Scientists think this may be why the city has one of the lowest rates of admissions to mental hospitals in the U.S.

A Service of Transamerican Diagnostic Services (Providing Mammography Services for over 5 years)

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of nine women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Guidelines For Screening Mammography Established by the American Cancer Society.

- I. 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.
- II. 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.
- III. 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.
- IV. Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.
- V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $70.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, Mastercard and American Express.

Public Notices

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST AND STATEMENT OF INTENT

Notice is hereby given that Stamford Electric Cooperative, Inc. (the "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service effective October 19, 1992, or as soon thereafter as may be permitted by law. The Utility has not had a general rate increase since September 1988. Based upon a test year ending March 31, 1992, the increase requested over actual test year revenues is $228,425 or 5.00%. The changes are applicable to all areas, all customer classes, and all customers served by the Utility.

The Utility proposes to change all rates for farm and home, irrigation, small commercial, large commercial, cotton gin, and security lighting, including demand, energy, minimum, and other charges. The proposed changes are expected to affect the classes as follows: for the 3336 customers in the farm and home class, the proposed increase will be $81,491 or a 4.98% change in revenues; for the 346 customers in the irrigation class, the proposed increase will be $9,281 or a 5.00% change in revenues; for the 2148 customers in the commercial and industrial-small power class, the proposed increase will be $106,601 or a 5.10% change in revenues; for the 55 customers in the commercial and industrial-large power class, the proposed increase will be $23,425 or a 5.00% change in revenues; for the 3 customers in the cotton gin class, the proposed increase will be $3,156 or 5.00%; for the 1079 customers in the security lighting class, the proposed increase will be $4,471 or 4.94%.

The Utility also intends to change its service rules and regulations, by adding a new line extension and line extension charges for industrial customers.

Information concerning the proposed rate changes, including the proposed revisions of tariff and schedules is available at the General Office of the Utility, located at 225 West McHarg Street, Stamford, Texas 79553. Inquiries, should be directed to Jerry Terrell, General Manager.

The Utility is required to give notice of the percentage increase in base revenues which is 10.50%. The percentage increase in base revenues is not an indication of how much your bill will increase. Rather, it is a measure of the increase needed by the Utility for its own operations, excluding payment for the cost of power purchased by the Utility from its wholesale power suppliers.

On or about August 10, 1992, the Utility will file with the Public Utility Commission of Texas, a Statement of Intent to Change Rates, specifying in detail each proposed change. Requests to intervene must be filed no later than 45 days after the application filing date. Thus, the Utility anticipates the deadline for intervening and objecting to the rate changes will be September 24, 1992. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf. 29-32c

Raughton joins Angus association

James Raughton is a new member of the American Angus Association, headquartered in St. Joseph, Mo.

The association, with more than 24,000 active adult and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records included detailed information on nearly 11 million registered Angus.

The organization records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association.

Harrell family has reunion

Descendants of Will, Ike, Nath and Charlie Harrell held their annual reunion Friday and Saturday.

On Friday evening, about 32 descendants met for supper in the city park.

On Saturday, about 70 met at the country club for a happy day of visiting, picture taking, eating and the crafts auction.

Viola Tidwell was the oldest descendant present with Rollo Harrell running a close second.

Carol Trueblood took the prize for coming the farthest. She is from Los Angeles and is the granddaughter of the late Hoie Harrell.

The youngest Harrell descendant was Lindsey Nicole Baker, 4 months old.

All left saying they enjoyed the reunion and are looking forward to next year.

HELP

Dear Friends,

We need your help and we will reward you handsomely for it!

At the Dallas Furniture Market we made fall commitments on 3 major lines of upholstered furniture, a new dining room line, plus desks and entertainment centers. These new lines will require floor space that we do not have at present. Due to the slow economy, some of this new merchandise is already on the way and more is coming soon. We have nowhere to put it all. We need floor space and we need it now!

In order to gain some room, we must close out many sofas, loveseats, chairs, tables, and dinettes without regard to cost or profit. You can save up to 1/2 on many items during this Inventory Adjustment Sale. To sell as much furniture as quickly as possible, we are selling cheap and delivering free!

If you are going to need new furniture any time soon, we invite you to come in and look around at the special low prices on every item in our huge store. It will really be worth your while.
