PALS coordinators conduct workshop

Duane and Lou Gilly, Haskell Project PALS coordinators, conducted a Project PALS training in Bowling Green, Ky., July 14-15.

Thirty-nine individuals from nine different school districts in Kentucky were involved in the two-day training.

Those involved included ag science teachers, elementary teachers, elementary and secondary administrators and counselors. Also present at the training were Dr. David Coffey, agriculture education professor at Western Kentucky University and the Kentucky Project PALS state coordinator, and Charles Lucas, with the Kentucky Department of Education, Division of Secondary Vocational Education Program consultant.

The Gillys were given the opportunity to conduct this training because of their success in implementing one of seven pilot Project PALS programs for the State of Texas in the Haskell schools during the 1992-93 school year. The Haskell program is unique for Texas because it a cooperative effort between the FFA organization, the 4-H organization, the high school campus and the elementary campus.

During the two days of training the Haskell couple shared their ideas and program successes, as well as those of other pilot projects in Texas, with the Kentucky representatives attending the training.

Kentucky plans to implement the Project PALS in 10 school districts during the 1993-94 school year. This will be done with support from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation and the national FFA organization.

The Gillys provided the information, printed materials and encouragement the school team members needed to go back to their respective schools and begin designing their own Project PALS programs.

Peanut contracts due soon

Contracts drawn up to sell 1993-crop additional peanuts for export or crushing must be submitted to the Haskell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service by Sept. 15.

"Additional peanuts are those grown in excess of the farm's poundage quota or on a farm that does not have a poundage quota," said Glenn R. Brzozowski, ASCS county executive director.

Brzozowski pointed out that peanut producers and handlers are responsible for contract agreements and they should examine the documents carefully before signing to assure that they are correct in all respects.

Peanut contracts submitted to ASCS for approval must contain certain specific information. Producers and handlers who are unfamiliar with the required information may contact the Haskell County ASCS office for assistance.

In addition to the required information, other items may be included, Brzozowski said. However, such items may not negate any of the required contract provisions.

In the event of a contract dispute, ASCS approval of the peanut contract does not constitute a determination of the respective rights and obligations of the handler and producer, Brzozowski said.

Peanut producers and handlers who have entered into contracts must submit the contracts to each respective contracting producer's local ASCS office by the Sept. 15 deadline.

Shot clinic scheduled Sept. 1

Texas Department of Health will conduct an immunization clinic from 1 to 3 p.m. Sept. 1 on the third floor of the Haskell County courthouse.

Adult Td also is available. A parent or guardian must accompany each child.

This will be the last free clinic of the month.

Tribe to scrimmage Quanah here Friday

In their final rehearsal before the opening of the 1993 season, the Haskell Indians will scrimmage the Quanah Indians here Friday night.

Junior varsity teams of the two schools will begin scrimmaging at 6. The varsities will take the field about 7:30.

Last Friday, the Indians scrimmaged Roscoe and "did pretty well", according to Coach Walter Hargrove.

"We saw some good things," the coach said, "and we saw a number of things we need to improve on."

Hargrove said the Indians were getting in the right positions, on both offense and defense, an encouraging sign in view of the number of players shifted to new positions. "But our intensity could be better and we need to be sharper in some areas," he said. He added that he didn't see anything that can't be "fixed."

The Indians moved the ball pretty well. The coach said offensive tackle Martin Limone graded real high for his efforts. He also singled out the other offensive tackle, Blake Henshaw, for a good performance.

The Indians begin the 1993 season on Friday night of next week when they travel to Munday for their traditional opener against the Moguls.

Mrs. Robert David Glass

Ceremony unites Bounds, Glass

Brooke Denise Bounds became the bride of Robert David Glass in a double-ring candlelight ceremony on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 7, at the First Baptist Church in Kaufman. The Rev. Jimmy Linn of Nogales, Arizona, friend of the groom, united the couple in holy matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Bounds of Kaufman. Her grandparents are Mrs.

Edna Callaway and the late Garland Callaway of Kaufman, formerly of Haskell, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Ralieg Bounds of Stamford.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Glass of Sterling City. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. David Glass of Sterling City and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ballenger of Garden City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a designer gown of candelite silk. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline with beaded motifs. The short sleeves had multi-tucks, forming fullness with a picture frame motif that accented the center of the sleeve. A full-flowing skirt was tipped with lace and extended into a chapel length train inlaid with elegant beaded motifs. Complimenting the gown was a fingertip length veil of illusion flowing from a halo of porcelain flowers. The bride carried a cascade of white and bridal pink roses, accented with baby's breath and English ivy.

Jamie Earnheart of Kaufman, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Kristen Edens of Mesquite served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tonya Leggett of Zwolla, La., Jennifer Ash of Shreveport, La., Cheryl Martin of Lubbock, Sherri Bedrick of College Station and Cristi Linn of Nogales, Arizona. Serving as junior bridesmaid was Jessica Brooks of Kaufman, niece of the bride.

Honor attendants wore off the shoulder navy faille tea length suits and carried nosegays of bridal pink roses. The flower girls were April Brooks, Lindsey and Ryanne Bounds, all nieces of the bride. They wore identical slipper-length candelite taffeta dresses accentuated with lace and carried candelite lace baskets with pink bows and rose petals.

Jeff Glass, brother of the groom, served as the best man. Groomsmen were Jorge Ellis of San Angelo, friend of the groom, the bride's brothers, Gary Bounds of Kaufman and Wesley Glass of Garden City, Malcolm Boger and Rhett Boger of Austin, cousins of the groom.

Ushers included Bryan Nowicki of Brazoria, Robert Holton of Midland, and Kevin Cox and Matt Mosley of Kaufman. The greeters were Angie Cox and Mandy Mosley, and Jamie Glass registered the wedding guests.

Pre-nuptial piano music was provided by the groom's father, as well as organist Tom Jones of Kaufman. Damion Roberts of Mesquite played guitar solos as the grandparents and parents were seated. Danny Terry of Kaufman and David and April Terry of Dallas were vocalists. Songs included "I Give My All to You," "Cherish the Treasure," "Refiner's Fire," and a benediction of "Let the Words." Scripture from I Corinthians was read by Ms. Len Sehested.

The mother of the bride chose an antique rose tea length suit. The jacket was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. Beautifully tucked sleeves completed the detail of the jacket. Mrs. Callaway, grandmother of the bride, chose a two-piece dress in jewel tones of jade. The mother of the groom chose an elegant aqua marine soft silk suit. The detailing of the peplum jacket set off the softly pleated tea length skirt.

Mrs. Glass, paternal grandmother, chose a gracefully tailored cornflower blue suit. Mrs. Ballenger, maternal grandmother, chose a patterned dress in an array of spring colors. Beautiful orchid corsages were worn by the mothers and grandmothers to complete their attire.

The church was decorated with a 15-light arch, two large arrangements of calli lilies, snapdragons and bridal pink roses, with a drape of English ivy placed on white columns between the two seven-branch candelabra and two nine-light trees.

A silver tray held unleavened bread and two silver goblets that were used on the communion ceremony. The communion table was covered with lace tatting that was over 100 years old.

Following the ceremony, a reception honoring the bride and groom was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's registry was attended by Ashley Cox. The piano music for the reception was provided by Tom Jones of Kaufman and George Campbell of Fort Worth.

The bride's table, covered with silk organza, overlaid with candelite lace, held a spiral Italian cream wedding cake donned with fresh flowers, flanked by silver punch bowls. Strawberry sherbet punch was served at the bride's table, also.

The groom's table was covered with navy satin, overlaid with candelite lace, and had a triple-tiered chocolate chip cake on an antique square silver tray. Strawberries dipped in dark chocolate decorated the cake and were also served from a silver tray. White grape punch with fresh sliced strawberries was served. The centerpiece for the groom's table was a beautiful arrangement of calli lilies, that was used at the head table for the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening.

Hostesses presiding at the bride's table were Darlene Walton of Haskell, aunt of the bride. Emily Fortner of Lubbock and Angie Cox of Kaufman, friends of the bride. Hostesses presiding at the groom's table were Selda Loe, aunt of the bride, Elizabeth Glass of Lubbock and Scarlett Squire of Fort Worth, cousins of the groom.

After a trip to Costa Rica, the couple will make their home in Fort Worth.

The bride is a graduate of Kaufman High School and Louisiana College and is now attending Southwestern Theological Seminary. She is employed with Minirth-Meier Clinic.

The groom is a graduate of Sterling City High School, Angelo State University and holds a master's degree from Texas Christian University. He is a partner in the Britt Group of Fort Worth.

--Letters to the Editor--

Editor: We truly appreciate your front page picture of Mr. Munoz and his trophy fish. It is with great satisfaction when a sportsman picks up a paper today and sees another true sportsman doing what he likes and being quite successful. Today there are too many attacks by the media on sportsmen who like the outdoors and love to hunt or fish. Again, we all say thanks to you and the paper for supporting the sportsman.

This the first time our organization has done something of this nature in your area. We would appreciate your forwarding the free application to Mr. Munoz to register his trophy catfish in the Sportsman's Trophy Database. This database is open to anyone who would like to enter their trophy. The information will be published using the CD-ROM for club and library use.

When Mr. Munoz fills out the application and it is recorded in our offices, a certificate of his trophy registration will be mailed directly back to him, unless the paper or some organization would like to present the certificate to him. This is supporting and holding the sportsman up as a good influence in our communities.

When does 4.3 cents equal a nickel?

Stay tuned--until Oct. 1, that is. That's the date the new federal tax on gasoline goes up 4.3 cents per gallon.

If gasoline is selling for $1.14.9 per gallon on Sept. 30, you can bet your bottom dollar that the price won't be $1.19.2 the next day. Here's two-to-one that it will be $119.9.

It doesn't take much of a scholar to figure out that the big winner will be the oil companies which will pocket the extra .07 cents.

Every day, the population of Texas increases by 524.

The 870 daily births are partially offset by 346 deaths, including 107 from heart disease, 79 from cancer, 17 from accidents and 7 infant deaths.

Of 4.7 million Americans who served in the military during World War I, only 30,000 are alive today. And the number is decreasing at an average rate of 25 per day. That means that nearly a third of those living today won't be around this time next year.

The median age of a living World War I vet is 95.

Of those who served, 4 million were in the Army, 599,000 in the Navy and nearly 79,000 in the Marines.

American service deaths totaled 116,500 with 53,400 of them dying in battle. Another 200,000 were wounded in action.

During the war, 4,120 servicemen were prisoners of war, with 147 of them dying during captivity. Approximately 90 of the former POWs are alive today.

You're just going to love the bowl lineup at the end of the upcoming college football season.

In addition to the John Hancock Sun Bowl, the Mobil Cotton, the Federal Express Orange and the USF&G Sugar, there will be these corporate-sponsored events:

Jeep Eagle Aloha, Weiser Lock Copper, Thrifty Holiday, Poulan/Weed Eater Independence, Outback Steakhouse Gator, CompUSA Citrus and IBM OS/2 Fiesta.

Despite the long-standing U.S. lead in technical innovation, 55 percent of all Americans remain resistant--even phobic--when it comes to taking advantage of technology in their everyday lives.

One-fourth of all U.S. adults have never used a computer, programmed a VCR or a car radio, according to a survey by Dell Computer Corporation.

"Technophobia is a sign of our times," said Dan Gookin, author of more than 30 books which seek to build greater understanding between people and machines. "Personal computers have been around for more than 20 years, yet Dell's research shows 25 percent of all adults still mourn the demise of the typewriter," Gookin said.

The Dell survey results show 92 percent of all teens are comfortable using a variety of technical devices, from answering machines and VCRs to compact-disc players and computers, compared with 74 percent of adults.

While 32 percent of all adults are intimidated by computers, teens are more comfortable using a computer than using an answering machine. Nearly a quarter of the adults intimidated by computers are even uncomfortable setting a digital alarm clock.

Gookin believes the fast accelerating gap between invention and understanding is largely to blame for the spread of technophobia in America.

Eager Housewives hear program on nursing homes

The Eager Housewives Extension Club met the second Thursday night of this month with five members and two guests present.

The club voted to deliver meals for the Experienced Citizens Center during the third week of each month, as asked by the director.

Mindy Smith O'Connor, social worker for Teakwood Manor in Stamford, gave a very informative program on "How to Choose a Care Home."

"Always Look at Daily Life," "The Care Residents Receive," "How the Nursing Home Handles Payment," "Look at the Environment."

A check list of the above things was handed out, along with a pamphlet of "Resident Rights."

Mindy had a lot of very good information for the club members on what to look for in a care home, now and later. A gift was given to her for her program.

The club discussed the upcoming program for the next few months. Delicious cake was served.

Kem Brossman gets prestigious award

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association announced the 1993 recipients of its Gold Key at a dinner served at The Princeton Club of New York in New York City. The dinner was part of the events of the CSPA's two annual conventions--the 15th College Media Convention, co-sponsored by College Media Advisers, and the 69th Scholastic Convention.

The Gold Keys are awarded annually to outstanding educators for their work to advance the cause of the student press. They have been awarded since CSPA director Joseph M. Murphy started the tradition in 1929. The association, international in scope, is sponsored by Columbia University and offers assistance to student newspapers, magazines and yearbooks at colleges and secondary schools. The Gold Key has become prized among publication advisers and journalism teachers as much as a Phi Beta Kappa key is respected in the realm of scholarship.

Named to receive the Gold Key was Kemberly Kemp Brossman of Houston. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William J. Kemp of Haskell.

Kem is a 1980 graduate of the University of Texas with a BS in Education and English. From 1981 to 1993 she worked in the Cypress-Fairbanks Independent School District as a seventh-grade team leader and taught Language Arts, Yearbook and Writing Workshop at Labay Junior High, a National Exemplary School.

Other accomplishments include the Edith Fox King Distinguished Journalism Teacher award given in

Kemberly Kemp Brossman

1991 by the University Interscholastic Press Conference, Austin. In 1992, the Houston Chronicle featured her as a Distinguished Educator and most recently she was nominated by students to receive the "Students' Choice" award sponsored by the Suburban Greensheet.

Her articles on writing, design and creativity have been published in Points & Picas, Taylor Talk, and Jostens Adviser magazine. Publication awards included silver and gold crowns from Columbia Scholastic Press, Pacemaker and All American from National Scholastic Press Association, Tops in Division and Gold Star and Golden Quill from the Interscholastic League Press Conference.

As a yearbook consultant, she has taught at the University of Texas, Texas A&M University, North Texas State University, the University of Houston, Auburn University, University of Alabama, Louisiana State University, University of Nebraska, University of North Carolina, Harding University and Columbia University.

She is a member of the Harris County Journalism Steering Committee and was the nominating officer for Columbia University Scholastic Press Association in 1989 and 1991.

This fall, Ms. Brossman assumes a new teaching position at St. John's College and Preparatory School in Houston where she will teach middle school English and advise the high school staff in publishing the Rebel yearbook.

Life was meant to be lived, and curiosity must be kept alive. One must never, for whatever reason, turn his back on life.

Emotions and Death: Some researchers are suggesting that positive emotions may help to prolong life, at least for a short time. In a study of the Chinese community, the death rates for older women dropped the week before a festival in which they take part. Similarly, some Jewish men appeared to prolong their lives briefly until after Passover. A more general study found that women are more likely to die the week after their birthdays, while men tended to die before their birthdays.

You may not gear up for electric safety everyday--but even with all the equipment a lineman wears, his most effective protection are his eyes.

LOOK UP and locate overhead power lines before trimming trees or using ladders around your home.

John Greeson, minister of the Rule Church of Christ, is scheduled to have surgery on his injured finger today. This finger was accidentally amputated some months back and was sutured back on. We wish John well with this surgery.

Mrs. John Duncan continues to receive breathing treatments at home, and she is coming along well. We hope this will continue.

David Lassitar had developed a recurrence of lymphoma. We worked with David's parents at Anson General Hospital from 1968-72. Best wishes for a speedy recovery to David.

The ladies of the Rule Church of Christ had a covered dish supper following evening services on Aug. 15. Gifts were exchanged, also.

The annual gospel meeting at the Rule Church of Christ will be conducted by Jerome Savage from Sept. 12-16; then in Stamford from Sept. 19-22. Jerome grew up in Stamford graduating from Stamford High School.

Congratulations to Dala Harris Young who will be teaching at Merkel Junior High School this fall. Dala is a recent graduate of McMurry University. She will be teaching English and will be coaching girls basketball and track.

Her great-grandmother is Blanche Corley of Rochester.

Vicky Anderson and guest, Mildred Smith, attended the annual "Back to School Coffee" on Aug. 16 in the Fellowship Room of the Stamford Church of Christ. About 12-15 were present.

It was wonderful to visit with Jonnie and L. D. Jones on Wednesday, also, Margaret Miller later at the grocery store. Jonnie was so good to my sister in her last illness. Jonnie was one fine nurse.

Congratulations to Cindy Kendall of Rule who received a special achievement award last week for assisting an elderly woman on her city route, who had fallen and broken her leg. Cindy is the daughter of Ann Tibbets of Lubbock and Lennis Tibbets of Denton.

Thought for the week: "Adolescence is when children stop asking questions because they know all the answers." (Borrowed).

Commodities

Surplus food commodities will be distributed in Haskell County in September. The schedule for the distributions will be announced later.

Thanks for all the nice things you did for our family during the illness and death of our brother, Morris Nicholson.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1992 by 11.2 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on September 2, 1993 at 1:00 p.m. at 145 N. Munday Ave. in Munday, Texas 76371.

FOR the proposal: Joe Clonts, Lee Bruce, Buster Echols, M.M. Booe, Kent Trainham & Royce Williams

AGAINST the proposal: None
PRESENT and not voting: None
ABSENT : Leon Burkhams & Claude Payne

(Names of all members of the governing body, showing how each voted on the proposal, if absent, indicate absences.)

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on August 11/12, 1993. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	$18,573	$19,717
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 0	$ 0
Average taxable value	$18,573	$19,717
Tax rate	.1805/$100	.1995/$100
Tax	$ 33.52	$ 39.34

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $5.82 or 17.4 percent compared with last year's taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by 0.019 per $100 of taxable value or 10.5 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.
