Cubs attend family camp

Cub Scout Pack 136 was well represented at family camp this past weekend with 14 members and their families participating in the event at Camp Tonkawa.

Activities included BB guns, archery, leatherwork, making slides for neckerchiefs, water gun shootout, silk screening of T-shirts, and campfire ceremonies.

Haskell had the largest group in camp with 53 in attendance. Because of its large attendance Pack 136 was in charge of the closing flag ceremony Saturday night.

Turner joins First National

Long-time Haskell banker Abe Turner has been named vice president of the First National Bank of Haskell. He began his new duties Monday.

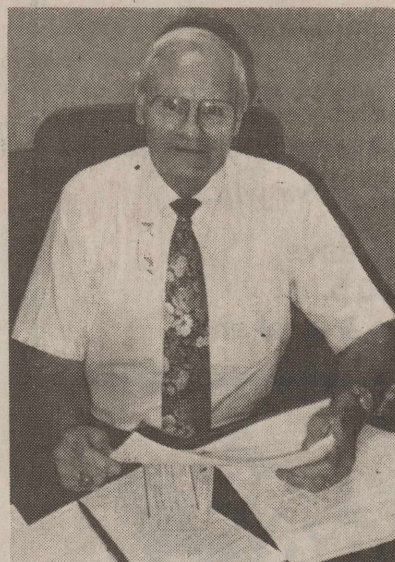

Announcement of Turner's appointment was made by Bobby Hobgood, president of First National. Hobgood said Turner will be in charge of business development and advertising.

"We feel fortunate to have Abe's expertise in our bank," Hobgood said. He also pointed to Turner's many years of service to his community.

Prior to joining First National, Turner had been with Haskell National Bank since 1958. He was president for 22 1/2 years.

In addition to his many years in banking, Turner has been involved in numerous civic activities. He is a former mayor of Haskell, former president and secretary of the School Board, and past president of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and the American Heart Association.

A member of the First Baptist Church, he is a former scoutmaster and assistant scoutmaster and he served several years on the board of the Chisholm Trail Boy Scout Council. He remains active in Boy Scouts and is a member at-large of the Chisholm Trail Council. He attended the National Boy Scout Jamboree last year in Fort A. P. Hill, Va., where he worked in the VIP dining lodge.

A veteran of the Korean War, Turner is commander of the local American Legion post. He has had perfect attendance at Rotary meetings since he joined the local club in 1966.

He was born in Jayton, but moved to Haskell when he was 16 months old. His father, A. M. Turner, was president of Farmers and Merchants Bank in Haskell in the 1930s and 1940s.

Turner graduated from Haskell High School and Texas Tech University.

He and his wife, Ruby, are parents of a son, Mike Turner of Arlington, and two daughters, Sharon Rinn of Belton and April James of LaPorte. Mike and his wife, Teri, have two daughters, Jessica and Lori. Sharon and her husband, Kevin, have a daughter, Amanda, and a son, Matthew. April is married to Ty James.

Ceremony opens new Modern Way

A grand re-opening of the all-new Modern Way IGA was held Monday morning with a good crowd on hand for the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Sam Bitner, owner, welcomed the guests and introduced the special guests attending, including officials from Fleming in Fort Worth and IGA in Lubbock. Mary Rike of the Chamber of Commerce welcoming committee spoke briefly, hailing the new Modern Way as a big asset to the community.

Renovation of the store began in June and included the addition of 7,000 square feet.

New features of the store include a full-service hot and cold deli with a sit-down area, a self-service bakery, a floral department and new interior decor. All perishable food departments have been upgraded, with additional facilities for produce, dairy, meat and frozen foods.

Bitner, who has owned the store since 1981, said, "I am excited about the additional services and items we are now able to provide to the citizens of Haskell and the surrounding area."

Indians begin district race at Stamford

Haskell's 4-1 record doesn't mean anything Friday night.

Nor does Stamford's 1-4 mark.

"We're both 0-0 in district," warned Indian coach Dwayne Gray this week as he prepared his Indians for their 7-2A curtain-raiser against the Bulldogs. The game will be played in Stamford, starting at 7:30, a half-hour earlier than non-district contests.

While the Bulldogs have won only once, they have played a murderous pre-district schedule. Their losses have been to a pair of tough 3A schools, Clyde and Eastland, and to a couple of 2A unbeatens, Winters and Jim Ned. Their lone victory was a 29-7 win over 2A Albany, a team the Indians beat 25-0.

Haskell's record has been compiled with victories over Munday, Knox City, Quanah and Baird. The lone loss was to 2A Quanah.

The district opener is a crucial game for both Haskell and Stamford. The winner of Friday's game will be expected to be the only challenger to district favorite Hamlin, and take a giant step toward a spot in the playoffs.

Gray said the Indian offense will have to be better than it was last week if the Indians hope to topple the Bulldogs. The 10 points the Indians scored against Baird was the lowest point total of the year for the district's top scoring team.

Just in time for the district opener, the Indians may be injury-free for the first time this year. Stacy Walker played last week for the first time. Brandon McFadden, injured before the season began, may see limited duty. The status of Casey Larned, who suffered a neck injury in the second period at Baird, was not known Monday, but Gray expressed hope the team's second leading ground-gainer and defensive safety will be able to play.

Next Friday, the Indians will jump from the frying pan into the fire when they host Hamlin.

Immunization schedule announced

The Texas Department of Health will hold immunization clinics in Haskell on Oct. 20 and Oct. 25.

The Oct. 20 clinic will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the American Legion Hall. The Oct. 25 clinic will be in the courthouse during the same hours.

Adult TDs (tetanus-diphtheria) also will be available. A parent or guardian must accompany minor children.

For more information, call 864-2609.

Family night for 4-H

Is your family currently involved in the Haskell County 4-H organization?

Have you been involved in the past, but haven't been active recently and would like to once again become involved?

Have you never been involved in the 4-H program, but are interested in knowing more about 4-H?

In recognition of National 4-H Week Oct. 2-8, and Family Week Oct. 9-15, Sharee Gardner, 4-H volunteer leader from Haskell, has organized an evening of fun, education and family fellowship.

The fun will begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 8 in the American Legion building.

Families and individuals who attend are asked to bring "vittles" of their choice to spread with other's goodies for a good old-fashioned chuckwagon type meal and a two-liter bottle of soft drink.

Admission fee will be $1 to help cover expenses for the evening. Families coming together will pay only $1 for the entire group. All 4-H-ers who come without their parent or parents and all guests will need to pay $1 per person. Fall families whose children have completed a new 1994-95 enrollment form before Oct. 8 will be admitted free.

In addition to enjoying the chuckwagon supper, those attending will hear a short program presented by current 4-H club members, 4-H parents and 4-H volunteer leaders highlighting the 4-H program in Haskell County.

After the program, time will be allotted for a question and answer period and a time for clubs and project groups to meet and/or organize for the 1994-95 4-H club year. The evening will conclude with a 4-H family country-western dance.

Senior 4-H members who attended the district 4-H Teen Leader Lab this summer learned the steps to many of the popular line dances as well as the steps to some brand new dances. They will be on hand during the dance to teach these new steps.

Incomplete

A pass sails over the outstretched arms of Ryan Olson in Friday's Haskell-Baird game at Baird. Haskell won its third straight game, 10-6.

Shot gun winner

Robert Hernandez of Arlington, right, receives the shot gun from Fred Horan, after winning it in the Weinert Fire Department raffle Saturday.

Arlington man wins raffle at Weinert

Robert Hernandez of Arlington was winner of the shot gun raffled Saturday by the Weinert Volunteer Fire Department.

It was an appropriate prize for the Arlington man who was in the area hunting with a borrowed shot gun, said Fire Chief Fred Horan.

Horan expressed the department's appreciation to merchants who contributed door prizes during the drawing. They were McGee's Lumber Co., Richardson Truck and Tractor/True Value, Johnson Pharmacy, Bill's Dollar Store.

Reedy Oil Co., Farm Bureau Insurance and State Farm Insurance.

He also issued special thanks to Conrad Roewe of Sport About, who not only contributed a door prize but helped in the sale of tickets and to the Haskell Chamber of Commerce which donated the tickets.

Horan said the fire department also was grateful to the Farm Bureau Insurance for sending a Weinert fireman to the training school at Texas A&M.

Boone signs pledge

Congressional candidate Phil Boone was in Washington last week to join House Republican leaders and candidates at the Capitol in signing a historic "Contract with America" pledge.

The contract consisted of a series of Congressional reforms and 10 legislative proposals that Republicans promise to bring to a vote within the first 100 days of the new legislative session if the GOP wins a majority in November.

The document contains more than 300 signatures, including about those of about 160 current Republican members of the House of Representatives and about 150 Republican challengers.

"Anyone can make a promise," Boone said. "But not since the Declaration of Independence has a group of leaders been willing to put in writing their vision for this nation."

House Republican Whip Newt Gingrich, one of the core organizers of the event, said Boone's participation in the contract showed a real commitment to serve the voters of the 17th district, even before being elected.

"There is clearly a feeling among the American people that Washington has failed its mission," Gingrich said. "Phil is part of the solution. He is demonstrating his sincerity and his ability to solve problems by taking part in this effort."

FCE week proclaimed in county

The Haskell County Commissioners Court proclaimed Oct. 9-15 as Family and Community Education Week in recognition of the 45 members in four clubs in Haskell County.

The mission of FCE is to work with the Extension Service to strengthen and enrich families through educational programs, leadership development and community service.

FCE is affiliated with the National Association for Family and Community Education (NAFCE), which has more than 300,000 members whose priority is strengthening families and working with other national groups which have the family as their focus.

Associated Country Women of the World (ACWW) provides the international link in the focus-on-families chain. It involves over 7 million women who are working to improve the lives of families with projects such as nutrition education via the "Women Feed the World" program. This helps strengthen the global perspective of local members.

In Texas, approximately 12,000 members are working to strengthen families through various educational programs and projects. The United Nations declared 1994 as the International Year of the Family and local clubs have been studying ways to build and strengthen families. Programs have included ways for families to celebrate, studying traditions and folkways from their ancestry, and discovering roots via oral history, artifacts, documents, pictures and foods.

Another initiative has been the involvement of individuals and clubs to help improve the literacy of the state. Currently, one in three Texans cannot read. FCE members have served as tutors for one-on-one training, distributed books at low-income health clinics, and donated books to head start programs, libraries and to new parents before they took their babies home from the hospital. One group gave a personally inscribed book to each of the 65 children in pre-kindergarten classes in its town.

Last year, the state organization gave scholarships totalling $7,000 to 4-H members and $2,000 to their own members who are seeking further education. In addition, each of the 12 extension districts is the recipient of $375 for use in the district 4-H program.

Anyone interested in joining one of the Haskell County clubs or organizing a new club should contact county FCE chairman Estalynn Liles at 864-2029, or the county extension office at 864-2546.

TAX PLANNING

Written By Richard Rodgers, CPA

Good Records Eliminate Audit Anxiety

Did you know the IRS conducts exhaustive Taxpayer Compliance Measurement Program (TCMP) audits to gather the data that it uses to select returns for "normal" audits? Next year, 150,000 1994 tax returns will be randomly chosen for intense TCMP audit scrutiny. This is in addition to the regular IRS audits.

Good tax records are the best defense against both TCMP and regular audits. Taxpayers who can substantiate their tax return numbers can get through an IRS audit more quickly and painlessly than taxpayers with poor records. Here are some tips on what records to keep and for how long.

Records supporting income amounts (Forms W-2 and 1099, annual mutual fund and brokerage statements, business bank statements, etc.) should be kept for at least six years after you file. Records supporting deductions (annual mortgage interest and property tax statements, etc.) should be kept for at least three years. If you want to play it safe, follow a six-year retention policy for all tax-related documents.

Sometimes, even six years is too short. For example, records showing tax basis in assets you still own (stock, real estate, etc.) must be maintained so the tax results can be determined when the assets are sold. Tax returns themselves should be kept permanently. General business and legal documents like financial statements, stock records, and corporate minutes should be kept indefinitely.

Recordkeeping isn't fun. But the benefits can include "audit defense," a lower tax bill, and less time and expense in preparing your returns.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grinstead

Couple surprised on anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grinstead had double surprises the weekend of Sept. 24-25. During the Grinstead reunion held on Saturday, they were surprised by a 50th anniversary celebration held in the middle of reunion festivities.

A beautiful Italian cream cake topped with fresh flowers was the center of attention on a gold-covered table filled with wedding memorabilia and a flower arrangement, all under a canopy of wedding bells.

Grinstead and Pace relatives from California, Nebraska and Texas gathered around to wish them their best. Flo's niece, Shelly, from California, was a real surprise (it had been 14 years since her last visit).

More surprises came on Sunday when they were taken out to Haskell (to just eat lunch, they thought). Instead, they were honored with a surprise buffet at Beaver's House. Flo's grandfather was named Beaver and she had lived there as a child. It never seemed to end for the astonished Paul and Flo as guests began arriving for a reception at 2 p.m. Friends just kept coming all afternoon to congratulate the happy couple on their 50 years together.

Paul and Flo were married at Abilene at the Church of the Heavenly Rest by the Rev. Gerhart on Sept. 25, 1944. Flo's sister, Nannie Mae Pace, and Paul's brother and wife, Ira and Thelma Grinstead, stood up with them in the ceremony.

Following a honeymoon in Abilene, Paul went back to his Navy duties. He served from 1942-45. After completion of his service, Paul worked at Oates Drug Store in Haskell for a year before he and Flo started farming and ranching north of Rochester.

They were blessed with two daughters, Linda Archer of Hamlin and Lisa Grinstead of Austin. Grandchildren are Jo Paul Archer of Vernon and Vonda Archer of Lubbock.

Party honors Bessie Hanson

Bessie Hanson was honored with a birthday dinner Oct. 1 at Luby's in Abilene. Her family hosted the event.

After dinner and birthday cake, plaques and tributes were presented by her grandchildren. Gifts were given by all.

Attending were James and Patsy Hanson, Odessa; Lil Phillips, Janet Crane, Wanda and Frank Ransom, John Hanson, La Sunja, all of Fort Worth; James and Rhonda Webbs, Earlene Wheeler, Abilene; Verda Calloway, Haskell; and a host of great grandkids and friends.

A new "upscale" Mexican restaurant is opening soon in Abilene.

Personally, I prefer the "downscale" type. The food is often as good, and always less expensive.

The Alaska Zoo in Anchorage is getting all kinds of calls and mail from horrified Alaskans urging retaliation since its polar bear mauled a couple of visitors in separate incidents during the summer.

Support groups are organizing and people are taking up collections. There's been talk of lawyers.

But the outpouring of concern is not for the victims. It's for Binky, the bear which has been housed at the zoo since it was orphaned 20 years ago on the frozen shores of the Beaufort Sea.

"We need to protect the bear from the people, not the other way around," says Robert Patterson, a wildlife artist and organizer of Binky Buddies, an informal group that hopes to raise money for improved security for the zoo's animals.

The way his group sees it, the people who were clawed and chewed had it coming. (Both survived.)

One was a camera-toting Australian tourist, who climbed two outer fences to reach Binky's widely spaced bars. The bear darted forward, stretched out and grabbed her. The other was a beer-drinking teenager who allegedly broke into the zoo at night bent on a dip in Binky's pool.

The first attack made the international media, drawing two Australian TV crews to Anchorage. A news photo of Binky with one of his victim's Nikes dangling from his mouth appeared as far away as Hong Kong. As a result, pro-Binky mail from the U.S. and abroad is still pouring into the zoo, some of it addressed merely to Binky, Binky Bear, or Binky's Zoo, in care of Alaska.

Meanwhile, Binkymania is gripping Anchorage. Competing T-shirts based on the running-shoe picture are going for as much as $16 in gift shops. "Send More Tourists. This One Got Away," exhorts the smiling bear on one version.

We've known for years that agriculture has become a business for the big boys.

Solid proof of this fact is a report from the census bureau which reveals that 57.9 percent of the market value of all Texas agricultural products sold in 1992 came from 1.5 percent of the farms.

Other interesting facts contained in the report:

--Texas' leading agriculture products were cattle and calves with sales of $6.83 billion.

--Average age of farm operators in Texas was 56 years.

--Farming was the principal occupation of 85,937 of the 180,644 farm operators.

--The number of Texas farms has decreased by more than 8,000 since 1987.

Focus on family

The United Nations General Assembly in its resolution 44/82 of Dec. 8, 1989, proclaimed 1994 as the International Year of the Family. The theme of the year is Family: Resources and Responsibilities in a Changing World.

In proclaiming the year, the Assembly decided that the major activities for its observance should be concentrated at the local, regional and national levels, assisted by the United Nations system.

On Dec. 6, 1993, President Clinton signed a proclamation designating 1994 as the International Year of the Family. The proclamation begins with these sentences:

"Families are fundamental to the lifeblood and strength of our world. They are the nurturers, caregivers, role models, teachers, counselors and those who instill our values. Generation upon generation have first experienced love through family bonds. We all must work toward the goal of preserving these ties, society's most valuable resource."

Also in a Joint Resolution by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States, President Clinton proclaimed 1994 as the "U.S.A. Year of the Family."

On May 2, 1994, Haskell County Judge B. O. Roberson signed a proclamation sponsored by the National Association for Family and Community Education (NAFCE) which has 300,000 members in 42 states and two territories. Haskell County has 45 members in local FCE clubs. FCE clubs are sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The creed of the FCE clubs is: "We believe in the sanctity of the home. We believe in the home as the place where love, faith, trust and devotion must be lived each day, where obedience and reverence grow, and God is known. We believe those within its walls should be taught to work, to play, and to have compassion for those less fortunate. We believe sharing responsibilities is necessary and that from the fireside will come the citizens who will uphold the best ways of life."

And now, the week of Oct. 9-15, has been designated as the Week of the Family. The Home Economics Committee, a program area committee of the Haskell County Extension Program Council, decided at its quarterly planning meeting on Sept. 21 to designate Sunday, Oct. 9 as Church Family Day to encourage all families to attend church together and plan special family activities for Oct. 9 and the rest of the week.

Haskell County cherishes family life and is working to assure that family services are available for its resident families, including such programs as those sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The local office is located at 101 South Avenue D in Haskell. Phone numbers are 864-2658 and 864-2658.

The county agents, Lou Gilly and Max Stapleton, provide numerous services to families in Haskell County to help resident improve their way of life. Their services are free of charge and are open to all residents regardless of race, color, sex, disability, religion, age or national origin.

Information is available on all aspects of parenting, family life and other topics free for the asking. Contact the county extension office for ideas on how to celebrate the family. Available is a copy of a list of 101 ways to strengthen family ties.

Editor: Now that the football season is well underway and the district games are about to begin, first I'd like to express my appreciation to Dave Middleton and Carl Shearer, the commentators, for the excellent job they are doing in giving equal credit to all the players on the team as far as possible. It is only human nature, not only for young people, but for all people, to want to be recognized for good work they are doing.

I have been places where some who listened on the radio might think that there were only one or two players on the team. Please remember that if a player makes a touchdown, several teammates cleared the way. If a player catches a pass and runs all the way, several teammates blocked the opposition so that the ball could be thrown. Many a good player has gone through four seasons with little or no recognition.

Also I'd like to say a few words to the parents and relatives of the players. Some years ago a lady said to me: "We attended the games when our son played football and our daughter played basketball, but we don't go anymore." That wasn't in Haskell, but it might be said over and over again. I ask this question: "Are we loyal to the team, or are we only loyal to our children?"

In case one may say, "Now look who's talking," I'll make this comment: Truly, I don't go anymore. The last night game I attended was about nine years ago. It was the last game of the season between Haskell and Anson. I was living in Anson then, but had lived in both towns. I sat on the Haskell side until halftime, then I went over the the Anson side. Although I was sitting on the second row from the ground, a good gentleman steadied me so I could get up. I was 76 years old.

Please support your team all the way, not your children only.

Auction

Editor: The Haskell Business Association wants to thank the many people of the area who donated and consigned items for the auction, those who came and made purchases, set up food booths and arts and crafts booths, and Ben McGee for letting us use his truck.

The auction was a big success. The HBA raised $430 which will be used for future promotions on Super Saturday.

The auction will probably be an annual event with plans already being made for another in April of 1995.

Thanks again, and see you on the square Oct. 22.

Indians beat Baird to lift record to 4-1

When your offense produces only one touchdown, you have to call on your defense to win for you.

That's exactly what the Haskell Indians did in Baird Friday night as they defeated the pesky Bears, 10-6, for their third straight victory and their fourth in five games.

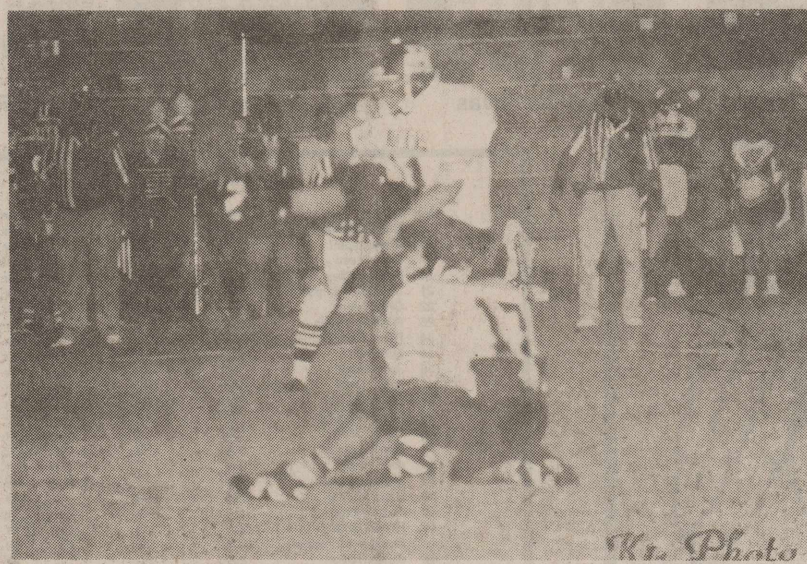

Although the Indians led throughout the game, it was not until defensive end Stephen Campbell dumped Baird quarterback Kirt Harle for a 13-yard loss to kill a late Bear drive which had reached the Haskell 13, that the Indians could breathe a sigh of relief.

It was second and 9 from the 13 with less than a minute to go when Campbell dumped Harle on the 26. The Bears had driven from their own 25 on the strength of Harle passes of 17, 12, 14 and 15 yards. He threw two more after the sack, the first incomplete, and then a 6-yard gainer to the 20 on fourth down where the Bears surrendered the ball.

"Our defense played better," said Indian Coach Dwayne Gray. "We missed some tackles, but we made the big plays."

The Indians went out front in the first quarter when Justin Lisle bolted over from a yard out to cap a 40-yard drive which had been highlighted by Lisle's 33-yard run from the 37 to the 4. Cody Cypert's extra-point boot gave the Indians a 7-0 lead at the 6:34 mark.

The Bears matched the Indian touchdown midway through the second period with a march of their own. After the Indians surrendered the ball on downs at the Bear 41, and a 5-yard penalty moved the ball to the 46, Jim Kerbow carried for three consecutive times for 23 yards, 13 yards and then 18 yards for a touchdown. Those 54 yards accounted for more than half the Bears' 106 rushing yards for the night. Harle failed to connect on a 2-point passing attempt for the extra points, so the Indians still led, 7-6.

After getting the ball on its own 27 after the Baird kickoff, the Indians picked up four first downs while driving to the Bear 22. But from there, three running plays netted only 7 yards and on fourth down, Cypert booted a 31-yard field goal to complete the night's scoring with 1:06 left in the half. The drive was keyed by Cypert's only two pass completions, 14 yards to Kurt McCord and 6 yards to Bucky Harvey, and the running of Lisle and Keiland Riley.

Baird threatened in the third quarter after recovering a Haskell fumble on the Indian 44. After a 10-yard penalty set them back to their 34, Rusty Crane ran 26 yards to the Indian 40. Crane then added 3 more, Kerbow was stopped for no gain, Harle passed 6 yards to J. W. Harle. On fourth down, Kerbow was stopped just short of the 30.

Until Baird's last drive, neither team threatened again.

Led by Lisle's 120 yards in 20 carries, the Indians rushed 49 times for 180 yards. Riley had 13 carries for 37 yards and Casey Larned picked up 15 in two carries before being injured in the second quarter.

Tackle Robert Ortiz led the Indian tacklers, being in on 10 stops. Martin Limones and Ryan Olson had 8 tackles each and Jamie Hodgins had 7.

Sidelines

Baird got 64 of its 106 yards rushing on three consecutive runs by Jim Kerbow on the Bear's touchdown drive.

And the Bears got 64 of their 129 passing yards on five completions in their final possession, and 47 yards on four completions just before halftime.

The Bears drew three penalties for 30 yards in the opening minutes of the game, and just three more for another 30 yards the rest of the way.

Baird did not have a turnover. The Indians had one, a lost fumble in the third period.

All 10 Indian opponents lost Friday night.

In addition to the losses by all five district 7-2A foes, Monday lost to Bryson, Quannah lost to Holliday, Knox City bowed to Windthorst and Albany lost to Roscoe.

Haskell's 4-1 start is the best for an Indian team in years, but no one seems to know just when there was a better record through the first five games.

The Indians' last playoff appearance was in 1987 when as district runnerup, Haskell lost to San Saba in a bi-district game in Coleman. The Indians were 6-4 in the regular season that year.

And the last playoff team before that was in 1985 when the Indians, who had lost 6 in a row, won three straight to finish in a three-way tie for second place. They won a coin flip and made the playoffs, only to lose to Shallowater in the bi-district game in Colorado City.

The Indians won't have to wait long to find out how they stack up with the pre-season picks in 7-2A.

Hamlin was predicted to come in first and Stamford second.

The Indians get them on successive Friday nights, in reverse order.

All 6-man teams on road Friday

This week's schedule will find all three Haskell County 6-man football teams playing away from home.

Rochester will be at Patton Springs and Rule at Jayton in district 4 action, while Paint Creek will play at Woodson in a district 10 contest.

In non-district games last week, Paint Creek defeated Highland, 38-34, Rule defeated Trent, 20-6, and Rochester bowed to Lueders-Avoca, 56-35.

District 7-2A has bad week

It was a bad week for district 7-2A teams with the Haskell Indians claiming the only victory in the final week of pre-district play.

While the Indians were besting Baird, 10-6, Hamlin was going down to 3A Childress, 21-14.

Stamford and Anson took their licks from a pair of former 7-2A members, Stamford losing to unbeaten Jim Ned, 46-12, and Anson falling to undefeated Winters, 28-6.

Rotan fell to Cisco, 46-6, and winless Hawley was on the short end of a 49-0 score against Coahoma.

As the teams enter district play this week, only Haskell, 4-1, sports a winning record. Hamlin is 2-2, Rotan is 1-3-1 and Stamford is 1-4. Anson and Hawley are both 0-5.

Last week: Haskell 10, Baird 6; Coahoma 49, Hawley 0; Jim Ned 46, Stamford 12; Winters 28, Anson 6; Childress 21, Hamlin 14; Cisco 46, Rotan 6.

This week: Haskell at Stamford, Hamlin at Anson, Hawley at Rotan.

Young golfer featured in youth magazine

Ten-year-old Jarryd Foreman of Odessa was featured last week in the Odessa American's Weekly Youth Magazine, a Sunday supplement of that newspaper.

Jarryd is an outstanding young golfer who says "I'm going to be a professional golfer and play on the PGA tour."

He started playing golf when he was 6. During this past summer, he won 10 of 12 junior West Texas events and finished fourth in his age group at the Junior State Golf Tournament.

Jarryd started playing in the 10-11-year-old age group when he was 8. He has played the past four years in the annual Zimco Golf Scramble in Monahans with his father, L. V. Foreman III, his grandfather, L. V. Foreman Jr., and his great-grandfather, L. V. Foreman.

He is a fifth-grader at Reagan Magnet Elementary School in Odessa. His favorite food is pizza, favorite movie, Home Alone II, favorite music group, Bon Jovi, and favorite sport to watch on TV is golf.

Butch and Jona Foreman of Odessa are Jarryd's parents. He has a younger brother, Bryan. His grandparents are Vern and Charlotte Foreman of Odessa. He is the great-grandson of Lois Redwine and the late Charley Redwine of Haskell.

Voter apathy concerns official

By Ronald Kirk
Secretary of State

As we approach the November general election, I am concerned with the amount of voter apathy and disinterest in the electoral process in the State of Texas.

The most fundamental right we have in our democratic system of government is the freedom to vote. That freedom stands as an invitation to take part in a government where the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised by them directly and indirectly at the ballot box. But, only half of the Texas electorate registered to vote take part in the system.

If we are to successfully address the policy issues in this state and nation, we must first address the issues of voter apathy and voter disinterest. We must aggressively and emphatically attack the conveniently and popularly held political fictions that government is not responsive to the people, and that one individual vote does not make a difference in the outcome of an election. I characterize these as political fictions, because we know they simply are not true.

Television has brought us amazing footage from around the world. Pictures that prove that the economic and political philosophy of this country--our country--is intellectually, emotionally and spiritually preferred.

In 1989 we observed the dissolution of a communist Soviet Union. Shortly thereafter, we witnessed the citizens of East and West Germany tearing down the Berlin wall. This very year we were spectators to the most inspiring elections in history as the citizens of South Africa went to the ballot box to vote in the first open, free and all-race election in their history. And who can forget the record number of people turning out to vote in Mexico. In each case, these countries used our government as their prototype. Ultimately, they want what you and I have--a voice in government.

Individuals with practically little or no portfolio and of modest means have altered the course of history and changed the world in which they lived. It is indisputable that measures such as civil rights, voting rights and equal rights have radically changed the power individuals have to change the community and ultimately the country in which they live.

Mohandas Ghandi in India, Dr. Martin Luther King and Caesar Chavez in the United States, and Nelson Mandela in South Africa changed the world in which they lived through their action. The common denominator in each case was determination. Determination to have a voice in their government and consequently a voice in their day to day lives.

You have a voice in government. A government for the people and by the people. Declining to exercise your voice in that system leads to a passive surrender to the status quo. If you find a failing within your government, take a good look at your activity in its process, and when you find a flaw in it address it on the next election day at the ballot box. Your vote is your voice.

Lack of participation is not confined to Texas. It's a national problem. Let your voice be heard at all levels of government.

We feel certain that Dorman Holub along with the youth of the church had a wonderful afternoon and evening at the Haskell Church of Christ Youth Rally this past Sunday, Oct. 2nd.

Your writer spent a delightful day and evening in Rule this past Monday, Sept. 27. visiting relatives and friends. Then, that evening the ladies had a combination secret pal and early Halloween party.

Costumes ranged all the way from scarecrows, little Red Riding Hood and the big bad wolf to baseball player, "Slick" Willie, a very wicked looking witch, Minnie Pearl to many other characters. A delightful party was enjoyed by all with games, refreshments and fellowship. That was the first party that I can recall ever "crashing", but it certainly was worth it! Looking forward to their next one.

It was indeed nice to visit briefly with Harold and Betty Wood of Rule this past Sunday. They formerly ran Woods Pharmacy

--Social Security--

By Glyn Hammons
District Manager

A Social Security study found no evidence to support allegations that many disabled children are fraudulently receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments.

Of more than 600 cases studied none of the children received benefits as a result of being "coached" to fake mental disabilities.

In general, the study showed that the rules and guidelines for determining disability in children were being applied correctly and correct decisions were being reached. There was no evidence of widespread coaching or malingering.

The study resulted from allegations by school teachers and others that some parents are trying to manipulate the disability process by coaching their children to "act up" in school, do poorly on tests and fail subjects, and mangle at disability examinations. SSA also received allegations that benefits were being paid to children with "mild" disorders, such as behavioral disorders or hyperactivity, rather than severe mental or physical impairments.

Poet reads works

A good crowd was on hand Sunday evening for the John Allen Medford poetry reading at the Haskell National Bank community room.

Poems read by Medford included the award winning At the Lake, and A Castle Dreamed, both of which will be in the National Library of Congress.

The Withered Rose is being published by the Famous Poets Society in the anthology Today's Great Poems, and The Thornbird by Sparrowgrass in the spring.

Also read were The Grassy Knoll, which is among the "Poems for Peace" which was several football fields long at the time of submission.

Other poems were Wheelin' and Dealin', Texas Style, Unknown Fear, Silvered Bell, Depression

Days, Back in the Forties, The Dashing of a Dream, Bout Snuff and Dippers, The Songs He Used to Play, Ebony and Aged, The Caring Hands, That Glory Train, The Book and Mountains High.

Hostesses for the program were Marie Ivy, Ernestine Herren, Kathleen Diggs, Doris Jordan, Carol Grand, Mary Kaigler, Pauline Derr, Ruby Holt, Delma Mathews, Kathryn Medford, Lorene Harris, Ruth Ann Klose, Marianne Ballard and Dwanna Klose.

Dwanna Klose introduced the speaker and thanked the bank for use of the building. Thanks also were given to Bill Holley Sr. for videotaping the readings, and to Bill Holley Jr. and Cliff Holley for furnishing and setting up the speaker system.

Farm Bureau elects new board members

Tom Hairgrove, Tom Turner, Tim Weise, Joey Thomas, Steven Lehmann and Leon Kretschmer were elected to two-year terms on the board of the Haskell County Farm Bureau during the organization's annual convention and barbecue Sept. 26.

Robert Ace Turner as presented a plaque in appreciation of "a job well done" as president, a position he has held since 1991.

Turner greeted the 250-member group and thanked them for their continuous support.

Outstanding achievements by the Farm Bureau during the past year were:

--Having Jennifer Burson, Jonathan Lefevre and Casey Thompson represent Haskell at the student Citizenship Seminar where students are provided with information on their American heritage and the capitalistic free enterprise system.

--Sponsoring Tonya Burson as queen at the district queen contest. Scholarships are presented to the winners.

--Sending Fred Horan III to the fireman's training school at Texas A&M.

--Contributing $10 to each exhibitor who made the show in the County Junior Livestock Show.

Kevin Bullock, a sixth-grader from Olney, provided the dinner music as he played a variety of country/western songs on his fiddle.

Spooks to meet Wednesday

Members of the Haskell Spook Association will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 12, in the home of David Davis, 1001 N. East 4th.

It is important that all Spooks attend, to plan a "Spooktacular Halloween" night for the children and adults of the community.

Anyone who would like to work with this fun-loving group is invited to attend.

In the past, the group has been able to give $800 in scholarships. The goal this year is $1,200. Spooks will be out collecting donations in the next few weeks.

Also needed are cakes for the cake walk. Anyone wishing to bake a cake may call 864-3703 and it will be appreciated.

Plan to attend the "Spook House" and the "Carnival" this year, on Halloween night, Oct. 31, the spookiest night of the year, for a frightful night.

Help keep the little spooks of Haskell safe this Halloween.

"DECISIONS MADE EARLY"

Many people plan for what might happen—fire, burglary, injury, and accidents. Now more and more people are planning for what will inevitably happen. It simply makes good sense to prepare for that which we can not avoid.

Pre-need funeral arranging allows one to control the type of service they would prefer, select a means of financing it, freeze the prices at today's price, and save loved ones the anguish of deciding these matters at a later date. Really it is the loving thing to do for your family.

Simply come by or call and we will come by to see you.
