A Father's Day tribute

By Joyce Jones

Father's Day is this Sunday, June 18 and we here at the paper offer best wishes and father's day greetings to all of the fathers in Haskell County and throughout the country.

In today's changing world, many children are growing up without the influence of a father in their home which is sad, because a father should be a very special part of a child's growing up years. However, there are a lot of young fathers who are raising children on their own without the influence of a mother in their homes, which is also sad. Children should have special memories of both of their parents, even if they live apart.

To describe a good father, I can only go by my memories of my own daddy, who was a hard working, God-fearing man and put his family before anyone else. He wasn't a real talkative man, but he was kind and good and always tried to help others as well as his family. He was stern with us children and wasn't one to voice his feelings, but we always knew that he loved us by his actions.

He was never a wealthy man, but he provided for his family and made sure that we always had the things that we needed. Many times he did without himself to provide for us.

When my daddy died, "Daddy's Hands" was one of the songs played at his funeral, because that is the way I always thought him. It is ironic that our featured father, Duward Campbell, is also thought of in that way.

The following is a very special tribute to a very special father, from his four daughters, on Father's Day.

Kathy Rea, the third daughter of Duward and Gwen Campbell, said, "Everytime I hear Holly Dunn's song, 'Daddy's Hands,' it reminds me of my dad. He is a kind, gentle man and big and strong." Lines from the song are, "I remember the love in daddy's hands, soft and kind when I was crying, Daddy's hands were hard as steel when I'd done wrong, Daddy's hands weren't always gentle, but I've come to understand there was always love in daddy's hands."

Kathy said "He is a dad we've all shared with kids from everywhere including around the world. I've had friends who asked, 'how can you let other people come in and share your home like that?' Well when parents are as good as our parents were, it was an honor to share them with other kids."

Kathy is the third daughter of Duward and Gwen Campbell and has two children, a daughter, Tracie and son, John Michael. Her daughter had this to say about her grandpa, "My grandpa Duward Campbell has been the greatest grandpa ever. He is kind and generous and he cares about everyone. The days he spends with me are the best days of my life, and I will never forget him." - Tracie Rea.

The oldest daughter, Kim Crawford has two children, a son, Jim and a daughter, Amanda. Kim thinks of her daddy as a big soft marshmallow. She said, "He is one of the most compassionate men I have known. Sometimes he acts grumpy, but he's just a big soft marshmallow. He wants to take care of everybody. My daddy wants to take care of the people that nobody else wants or that nobody else wants to take care of. He is always taking in the strays and always loaning people money, helping them out."

Kim said, "He always made us work, but I'm glad that he did. We worked from the time we were little girls, we learned to work, working with our daddy, we got to know our daddy."

She said that both parents always supported them in everything they did, "They really never set house rules, but if dad told us something, I always respected it. He told us not to and we didn't. We always looked to our father as an authority figure. He told us to make our own decisions and he really never tried to boss us around."

Kim said, "My daddy is the kindest person I know, he was never bad to his family. He was the 'rock' of the Campbell family. He always took care of my grandparents and his brothers and sisters."

The second eldest daughter, Kay Smith, thinks of her daddy as a toasted marshmallow, crunchy and crisp on the outside, soft and squishy on the inside and more bark than bite.

Kay said, "My daddy hates to see someone alone, he thinks that everybody ought to have somebody, if they don't then he tries to be it. He feels that our family always has room for one more. Our house was always open to everybody. We always had friends over for lunch and after school, it didn't matter if it was one or 49."

She said, "I've always thought he was a good daddy because he was mine. He had to be a good daddy, he had a good example, he learned from a good daddy; papaw Charlie was a good daddy."

Kay said that he never got mad at them even when they broke something, "Kim and I worked, helping him on the farm and when we broke something, he was never mad. I would cry and my daddy would just laugh. He seems crusty and gruff, but he's really just a marshmallow, he loves kids." She said that he takes the grandkids to work with him and is teaching her seven-year-old son, Charlie, to drive. She also has a daughter, Jennifer Maxine, whom papaw calls Max (and only papaw can call her that). "My kids love to go with him and he always makes an effort to go to his grandchildren's activities."

Kay said, "I am really honored that my daddy was picked for this story. I've always felt he was a good daddy, but I'm glad other people feel that way."

The youngest daughter, Kristen

Grand has two children, a daughter, Katie and a son, Levi. Kristen said that Levi is the only one of the grandchildren that was born without the presence of her parents. Duward was in the hospital having surgery at the time of his youngest grandson's birth.

Kristen also thinks of her daddy when she hears the song, "Daddy's Hands." She said, "When we ever needed anything he was always there for us. He would never tell us what to do, but he would give us advice and encourage us to make our own decisions. We knew what was right and what was wrong and we knew what he expected of us. Most of all, he expected us to be honest, to tell the truth."

Kristen said, "He's got the tenderest heart of anybody you'll ever know." Her mother Gwen agreed, "Especially with kids."

Kristen said that even though Klaus, one of their exchange students, was the son that her daddy never had, he never treated the girls any differently than if they had been boys. She said, "We worked cows, drove tractors, broke land and went hunting with him. It didn't matter that we weren't boys."

Kristen said, "My daddy worked so hard all of his life and made sure that we had what we needed and most of what we wanted. He worked from before daylight until after dark."

Fewer USDA commodities to be available

If your household is one of the millions which has been receiving U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) commodities on a monthly, bi-monthly, or quarterly basis, you can expect to get fewer commodities over the next 12 months than you have received in past years.

The reduction in this program—called The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP)—will be due to fewer surplus commodities as well as non-surplus commodities. During 1994, there was surplus cornmeal and butter in USDA storage which was available for TEFAP; however, there is no longer surplus cornmeal in storage. In 1994, Congress appropriated $80 million for USDA to purchase additional (non-surplus) food for TEFAP, but in 1995, Congress appropriated only $25 million for additional TEFAP food.

However, it is important to note that TEFAP was never intended to serve as a household's sole—or even primary—food source. TEFAP was designed as an outlet for surplus commodities in order to reduce the huge surplus inventories of food being stored in warehouses at taxpayers' expense. As such, it effectively achieved that goal. It is among the smallest of USDA's numerous food assistance programs, accounting for less than one-half of one percent of the $39 billion spent on the programs.

From 1989 to 1993, at a time when funding for TEFAP decreased by $40 million, total USDA funding for all of its food assistance programs actually increased by $13 billion. The Agriculture Department feels it can better use its food dollar by targeting its funding on the programs that are designed to be the mainstay of Federal food assistance—the Food Stamp Program, WIC (the Supplement Food Assistance Program for Women, Infants, and Children), and the Child Nutrition Programs (nutrition program for schools and child care facilities).

The history of TEFAP explains why funding is being decreased. During the 1950s and 1960s, needy households that required food assistance were given U.S. Department of Agriculture commodities. In the 1970s, however, the Food Stamp Program—which gave recipients more flexibility in meeting their nutritional needs—replaced the distribution of USDA commodities to needy households. Since that time the Food Stamp Program has remained the government's primary food assistance program for needy households.

However, beginning July 1, 1995, an excess of Section 110 commodities is unlikely because food banks, who are eligible for these commodities but have never before applied for them, are now filing applications. Federal regulations specify the distribution priorities for Section 110 commodities as follows:

Priority 1: to soup kitchens and like organizations that prepare meals for homeless persons and to food banks for distribution to such organizations.

Priority 2: to food banks for distribution to institutions that exclusively serve the needy. When such institutions distribute commodities to individuals for home consumption, the individual's eligibility must be determined by using a needs-based test and.

Priority 3: to food banks for distribution to institutions serving predominantly needy persons but do not employ a needs-based test.

EXCEPTION: USDA has identified circumstances under which TDHS may offer Priority 2 Section 110 Commodities to Food Pantries, which include TEFAP Contractors. Distribution is allowed for a particular area of the state, if food banks: (1) serve the area but do not participate in distributing soup kitchen commodities or lack sufficient capacity to handle the full volume of commodities OR (2) do not serve that particular area.

In perhaps the most sweeping alternative, the General Accounting Office (GAO) proposed pooling the $133 million currently used to purchase commodities for three of the Department of Agriculture's programs: The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP), the Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP), and the Soup Kitchen/Food Bank Program. This arrangement—similar to that proposed in the House legislation—would allow for more equal distribution of funds among the states, and offer states administrative savings and more flexibility to target their resources, said the GAO. "For example," said the report, "if states believed that homeless people needed more food assistance than other low-income individuals, more of their allocation could be targeted toward this population."

But the agency cautioned that the merger could result in current recipients losing some of their existing benefits. But as of this date no permanent decision has been made.

The Aspermont Small Business Development Center, Inc. (ASBDC) serves the counties of: Stonewall, Kent, Jones, Knox, Haskell and Throckmorton. Various individuals have indicated that Taylor county is receiving more commodities than the six counties served by the ASBDC. This is true. The reason being, Abilene has a Food Pantry. Unfortunately, the ASBDC is not equipped to maintain a Food Pantry. The ASBDC has neither the resources nor the funds to handle or distribute Food Pantry Items.

Due to the above explanation and also the insufficient amount of funds available at this time, the scheduled distribution will be postponed until the week of July 10 thru July 14, 1995. Check your local newspaper for additional information concerning times and dates.

Sanders reunion held June 2-4

By Lona Mae Phelps

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Sanders, their children and grandchildren were hosts for the 21st annual reunion of the late Jack and Sallie Sanders family of Weinert. The reunion was held Friday through Sunday, June 2-4, at the Brownwood State Park with fifty-five members and two visitors attending.

On Saturday evening, Sue Cox and Elaine Campbell directed a talent show. Several enjoyable skits were performed by the grandchildren of Andy and Marlene Sanders and Doyle Mitchell led the Jack Sanders children in a performance. Several others gave performances and sang.

Eight of the Sanders children were present for this year's reunion; also twelve grandchildren along with their families, 18 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Attending were: Lona Mae Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, Doyle and Allison Mitchell, all of Haskell; Mr. and Mrs. Travis Sanders, Pam and Leigh of Coleman; Brent, Yvonne, Karmen and Jeff Key of Cross Plains; Darwin and Ethel Slade of Zagar, Ariz.; Andy and Marlene Sanders, Ricky, Tina, Megan and Austin, Netha, Renetha, Crystal and A.J. Carrouth, all of Cross Plains; Marcus Shane and Amber Herrington of Mississippi; Tommy, Lesa and Tiffany Lambright of Austin; Andra, Candra and Andrew Poole of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. John Hardman and Paul of Raleigh, N.C.; Eva Hardman of Irving; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Maupin, William Mark Maupin and Loretta Maupin of Odessa; Hank, Susan and Shawn Grey of Kilgore; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cox of Daingerfield; Brenda and Casey Sartain of Simms; Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Sanders and Shambry of Irving; and Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Sanders of Abilene.

Visitors were Peggy Poole and her grandson of Pampa.

This was the first time many of the family had seen the new babies of John and Carol Hardman and Ricky and Shanna Sanders.

Lots of visiting, eating, games, picture taking and swimming was enjoyed by everyone.

We missed Marie's, Jacky's and Scarlet's families this year. Marie was attending her daughter-in-law's father's funeral; Jacky and Sandra were ill due to food poisoning; and Scarlet had to go back to Houston for tests. We all had a real good time and want to thank Andy and Marlene and their family for a great job. We enjoyed Renetha and Crystal's singing.

It is hoped that each year, relatives and friends of the Sanders family can meet and memorialize the people in whose honor these happy get-togethers are held.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Martha) Maupin will host next year's reunion in Odessa.

Dr. Barnett re-attaches finger, using leeches

In a six-hour surgery, Dr. Marguerite Barnett re-attached the index finger of Doug Battaglia, 25, in a Venice, Fl. hospital. Leeches were used to help circulation after the surgery was completed.

Leeches were placed on the re-attached finger to draw on the blood and keep it flowing. The leeches also have an anti-coagulate in their saliva.

Cindy Smith, Vice-President of patient services at the Venice hospital, said it was the first time leeches were used at the hospital.

Dr. Barnett has become widely known for her abilities in the plastic surgery field, where she specializes in hand surgery.

She served 15 years in the US Army, where she received her training. During her service years, she spent time in Germany and Honduras, and was assigned to the Tripler Army Hospital in Hawaii for three years.

Dr. Barnett is the daughter of Chaplain and Mrs. Robert Barnett of San Antonio and the sister of Lee Barnett of Haskell. Chaplain Barnett is a native of Haskell.

Dear Editor:
Occasionally someone says to me: "T, when are you going to send another poem to the Editor?" or "I enjoyed your last poem," or "Have you quit writing poetry?" I must admit I feel honored by these comments.

Recently I received a letter from The National Library Of Poetry in Owings Mills, Maryland inviting me to write a new poem of twenty lines or less to be published in "Best Poems of 1996".

Now, how am I going to write a poem that short and tell of an experience, as most of my poetry is based on an experience I have had? I'll try.

A few Sundays ago I was driving south toward Stamford to have lunch at the Cliff House. My pickup hadn't been running well, so I decided to speed up a little so it would run better. I looked straight ahead and no traffic was in sight, but I didn't notice a Highway Patrol Officer going north. The split second we became parallel I knew I was in trouble. It didn't take him long to cross over and flag me down.

The penalty for speeding is adjusted according to the speed one is going. The penalty of speeding between 80-84 MPH is eighty-five dollars. NOW THE POEM - - -

Highway Hazards
by "T" Jackson

'Twas about noon on a Sunday,
I was making a short run,
When an Officer named Davis

Said: "You're going eight-one."

The Officer was courteous,
But had little more to say,
Only this: "Please sign the ticket",
Then he wished me a good day.

Now the J.P. was quite friendly,
She is never known to frown,
If one fails to render justice,
THEN THE NAME AIN'T
GINA BROWN.

When speeding, don't just look ahead,
But glance the other way;
For five and eighty dollars
Is, for me, A LOT TO PAY.
- Amen -

Father's Day: Not just about fathers, but families

By Att. Gen. Dan Morales
How a child feels about Father's Day has a lot to do with the father. If he takes an active involvement in the child's life, it can be a very happy day. If the father is absent, however, Father's Day can be a lonely and painful day.

In commemoration of Father's Day, we acknowledge fathers who have provided for the welfare and future of their children. Whether or not the parents are together, taking an active role in your child's upbringing is a gift that is immeasurable.

As the state's child support enforcement agency, our primary purpose is to establish paternity, which is the legal establishment of fatherhood. There is no other child support function more important than paternity establishment. Under Texas law, a child born to unwed parents does not have a legal father until paternity is established. If it is not established, a father has no legal relationship or legal right to visitation or custody of his child, nor does he have an obligation to pay child support or carry medical insurance for his child.

Establishing paternity can provide access to important medical information about the child's heredity that could be helpful in identifying genetically linked diseases. The child also may gain legal access to future financial benefits that may come to him or her through the father, such as Social Security, veteran's benefits and inheritance.

Children derive a sense of identity from their families. A child who does not know his or her father's identity may have low self-esteem, or feel inadequate or abandoned. Unless it is clearly against a child's best interest, it is important for him or her to have a relationship with both parents, even if one is unable to contribute financially.

Society has the right to expect parents to support their children, and children have even more of a right to expect support. Children learn about themselves and acquire values from their parents. Children look to their parents for the rules they are to follow, for comfort when things go wrong, and for the sure sense of being loved.

Establishing paternity may be the greatest gift a parent can give to a child. If paternity has not been established for your child, do it for Father's Day.

In today's society, it is imperative that children have positive role models. Ideally, the first two should be ones that brought them into the world - their parents.

Unfortunately, there are situations where a parent or even both parents are absent from their children's lives. If our children are to have the best chance of being productive citizens, it will take fathers being fathers, mothers being mothers, and the two permitting their children to be children.

On this Father's Day, we salute fathers and mothers who have given their children a sense of home, family and support.

Members of the Board of Trustees of Haskell Independent School District met in regular session Tuesday night and increased the local tax rate from the present $1.30 to $1.50 per $100 valuation. According to Kenneth Sams, Supt., the increase was brought about by the school finance bill recently passed by the State Legislature and signed into law by Gov. Briscoe. The bill called for an additional $8,000 to be raised from local funds.

Five Haskell boys attended the thirty-fifth annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the Department of Texas and held on the campus of the University of Texas in Austin. Those attending were Johnny Von Hawkins, Roy Don Kloese, Cris W. Love, Jackie Virgil McAdoo and Jamie Lawson Mickler, all sponsored by the local American Legion Post.

There were three rural accidents in Haskell County during the month of May, according to Sgt. Frank Jircik, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area. These crashes resulted in two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $2,125. The rural traffic accident summary for this county for the first five months of 1965 shows a total of 28 accidents resulting in three persons killed, 23 persons injured and an estimated property damage of $35,710.

Firemen made a call to 1308 North Ave. A, just a little after 5 p.m. Wednesday of last week. Ossie King, who lives alone in the little frame house, had put on some meat to cook, but in the meantime dropped off to sleep. With the exception of some damage to the ceiling of the house, and Ossie's meat "all gone up in smoke," little damage resulted, as firemen soon had everything under control.

The advisability of the erection of a County Hospital was discussed by a citizens committee with the Commissioner's Court here Monday afternoon, and it was decided to feel out the sentiment of the people in parts of the county regarding the proposition and report to the Commissioner's Court during the coming week.

W.O. Walton has reopened his studio upstairs over Gholsen Grocery and is now ready to serve this section with high class photo.

An election has been called in precinct 2 for Saturday, June 29, by members of the Commissioners Court at the request of 52 qualified voters who wish to again vote on whether or not legal beer can be sold in the precinct. The voters of precinct 2 have voted upon the question twice—once with the state as a whole, and again last year, with a majority of the voters balloting in favor of the sale both times.

A dog belonging to John Kendall began acting strangely early in the week and Tuesday while a number of men were at the Duncan Gin, he became enraged and made repeated attempts to get to them; finally the dog was shot and killed by Dr. A.Q. Gentry, who happened to have a shotgun in his car. The men who saw the dog said it had gone mad.

Last Tuesday morning, beginning about 2 a.m., .88 of an inch of rain fell here. The precipitation was reported very light at Weinert and parts of the county report good rains. The sandy section near Rochester and Rule had been blown out during the several days of winds preceding the rain and some had just been replanted and the strong wind in front of the cloud which was reported in some localities to have almost reached damaging velocity, covered up many acres of the newly planted fields and the farmers are again busy planting their crops for the third time.

The Haskell County Fair Association reports many entries coming in for their Motorcycle Speed Classic to be held July 4.

Part 4: Understanding Medicare

How claims are paid

Under Part A, Medicare is paid by an "intermediary," Part B, by a "carrier." What that means is that there are insurance companies that have contracts with the government. You can look at your last claim form and see the name and address of the carrier. Also, the Health Care Finance Administration or the Social Security Administration can give you the name of the carrier that will process and pay your claim.

Charges that are to be paid by Medicare are billed by the hospital to the intermediary that pays them. Some physicians and suppliers of covered medical services can submit charges directly to the Medicare carrier—commonly called accepting Medicare assignment. The physician receives the amount paid by Medicare, then he will bill you for your $100 deductible (if you have not met your deductible), plus the 20 percent co-insurance payment. The supplier and physician who accept assignment cannot charge more than the amount allowed by Medicare.

Even if your physician or supplier does not accept assignment, they must send the claim to Medicare for you. Medicare pays you directly and you are responsible for paying the charges yourself to the physician or supplier. Sometimes, the charges are more than the allowable by Medicare, but the physician cannot charge you more than 15 percent above the allowable charge. Since your benefit or payment will be based on the allowable charge, your part of the cost is the allowable cost over the allowable charge—the $100 deductible, if not already met, and the 20 percent co-insurance payment.

Remember, Medicare does not cover all health care costs. Some non-covered services includes the following: Services not reasonable or medically necessary, items for which you are not legally obligated to pay, services paid for by the government or workers compensation, services performed by a relative or household member, routine physical exams, routine eye exams and glasses, hearing aids, dental services—except surgery on fracture of jaw or facial bones, routine foot care and orthopedic shoes—except for diabetics, custodial care, cosmetic surgery—except after an accident;

most prescription drugs and medicines taken at home, acupuncture, most immunizations, first three pints of blood each year, meals delivered to your home, private nurses, extra charges for a private room—unless medically necessary, certain services for employees and their family members who have primary coverage under employer-provided health plans, certain services in the first 18 months of treatment for chronic kidney disease when covered by employer-provided insurance, and certain services covered by liability or automobile insurance.

These articles have been only a brief description of Part A of the Medicare program. The best way to get answers about specific cases is to contact your Medicare provider. If you would like additional information, please contact the Haskell Memorial Hospital and we will be happy to assist you.

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — A few months after Martha Whitehead was appointed state treasurer by then-Gov. Ann Richards, she shocked capitol observers by saying the office should be abolished.

In 1994, Whitehead, a Democrat, ran for a full term on a pledge to give voters a chance to merge the agency with the state comptroller's office. She won, kept her campaign promise and voters will decide the issue on Nov. 7.

Other proposed constitutional amendments on the ballot would:

- Permit the issuance of $500 million more in bonds for veterans' housing assistance.

- Allow the Legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxation certain property having a value insufficient to recover the cost of collecting the tax.

- Let local governments exempt from property taxes commercial fishing and shrimp boats.

- Allow the Higher Education Coordinating Board to issue $300 million more in bonds to finance loans to Texas-resident college students.

- Tax land used exclusively for wildlife management (i.e. hunting leases) on the basis of its agricultural productivity.

- Halt bond-issuing authority of the Superconducting Super Collider research facility, which is being shut down.

- Abolish the office of constable in Mills, Reagan and Roberts counties.

- End the constitutional prohibition against investment of the Texas Growth Fund in companies that do business in South Africa.

- Allow the Legislature to exempt Masonic Lodges and other state-chartered charitable groups from property taxes.

- Permit home-owners to refinance their houses to pay off an income tax lien or settle a divorce.

- Re-direct $200 million in bonds from the state farm and ranch purchase program to be used for loans to build or expand agricultural-related businesses.

- Allow the homestead property-tax exemption of a person over 65 to be passed on to the surviving spouse, if the spouse is at least 55 years old.

- Raise the exemption from property taxes on property owned by disabled veterans or by the surviving spouses and surviving minor children of disabled veterans.

Senator Denies Conflict

Harris County District Attorney John B. Holmes Jr. confirmed last week his office is investigating state Sen. John Whitmire's $4,000 a month consulting contract with the Harris County Adult Probation Department.

Whitmire, a Houston Democrat who rewrote the Texas penal code in the 1993 legislative session, defended the propriety of the two-year-old contract after it was made public that he had been paid more than $80,000.

Whitmire said his contract was approved by a group of state district judges who serve as the board of the adult probation department, and that he was assured his compensation would come from locally generated funds, not state funds.

New Security System

Those familiar prison towers occupied by armed guards is beginning to give way to more advanced security methods, according to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

An automated system called "perimeter security" is being installed at the Ellis Unit north of Huntsville.

Ellis Warden M. Bruce Thaler said a network of motion-detection cameras soon will be on line, backed up by sensitive fencing that sounds alarms if disturbed. Thaler said at least one roving guard will always be on duty to retrieve would-be escapees.

Although expensive, officials say the new technology will be cheaper in the long run.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
James E. Rodgers, CPA

What About A Flat Tax?

You'll be hearing a great deal in the coming months, as politicians gear up for the 1996 elections, about alternative tax systems. While everyone seems to agree that the current income tax is so complicated it all but defies comprehension, there is little agreement on what would be better.

Probably the tax proposal drawing the most interest is the flat tax. In its purest form, a flat tax would impose a single tax rate on the tax base; all deductions and special provisions would be eliminated. A flat tax is attractive because it's simple and it treats all taxpayers the same.

Current proposals are modifications of the flat tax. One proposal would apply a 17% flat tax to wages, salary, and pension payouts, but would not tax investment income, such as interest, dividends, and capital gains. (Not including investment income in the tax base is intended to encourage savings and investment.) An exemption for yourself and your dependents would be allowed, but all other deductions would be disallowed, including those for mortgage interest, charitable contributions, and state and local taxes.

A major concern with a flat tax is that it would not raise adequate federal revenue, and the deficit would increase. Another concern is that a flat tax tends to be regressive; those who earn less would pay a larger proportion of the total income in taxes than those with more money. The current income tax system is progressive, with higher income taxpayers paying tax at higher rates.

While public opinion seems to favor a flat tax, that support may wane when taxpayers start analyzing the details of various proposals. To illustrate, compare two couples, each with the same number of children. The first couple earns $70,000 a year from wages, and the second earns $250,000 from investments. With a flat tax such as has been proposed, the first couple would pay a 17% tax on their $70,000 minus a "personal exemption" amount, and the second couple would pay nothing. You'll want to stay tuned as the discussion about alternative tax systems continues.

Father's Day tribute

She said that he also welcomed other children into their home, he always made them feel they belonged with their family.

The Campbell's "adopted" daughter, Ginny Kloog had this to say about "PaPa" Duward:

"I have lived in Haskell for the past 14 years and have known the Campbell family for that long. I grew up in Minnesota with my grandparents. My mother died when I was very young and I did not have a relationship with my father until I was a teenager. We are close now, but we live 1100 miles apart which makes it difficult to see each other.

When my husband and I first moved here we didn't have any children, so the holidays were lonely for the two of us. Gwen and Duward Campbell would always invite us to have dinner with them on Thanksgiving, and then it became customary to include Christmas Eve. They have always opened up their home to the "stray pups," and they "adopted" us into their fold. After our daughter was born, they included her as one of their grandchildren.

My daughter, Larissa loves both Gwen and Duward, but has always had a special relationship with "PaPa." Of course, all of his grandchildren feel the same way, but in this day and age, society says that blood is thicker than water. Duward has proved that love is what is most important. He shares that love with all of his children and grandchildren and also with those of us that have been so fortunate to have been brought into his loving fold. Duward is a very "wealthy" man, but perhaps not in monetary value, but in the number of people whom he loves and who love him.

I thank God every day for allowing me to have been blessed by the life of this wonderful father and grandfather, and to have been included as a member of the Campbell family."

Duward who is 57, was born at Matteson on a farm and is still working the same farm. He graduated from Mattson High School and married Gwen Gilliam, a native of Haskell, on Feb. 4, 1959. He has farmed all of his life and was also in the trucking business for a while.

His hobbies are his children and cowboy dances. Duward said, "I like children and I like to dance, I have fun at everything I do."

Besides the four children of their own that they raised, they have had eight interstate and six foreign exchange students. They have also had a lot of drop-ins, students traveling through the state. One of their exchange students, Klaus who lived with them 11 years ago, comes back to see them regularly and will be visiting them for a short stay this month.

Duward who is the oldest of seven children, said that he helped to raise his younger siblings. Wife Gwen said, "It was just natural with him being a good father, he always had a car seat in his pickup. He took the girls with him everywhere, even to work. The three oldest girls delivered freight with him around the square."

Gwen said that Duward never complains, even after his surgery a few months back, "He says that you can be happy, just as well as being unhappy. His philosophy is the title of a book given to him, 'Stick a geranium in your hat and be happy.'"

Duward said that it has been easy for him to be a good daddy because, "I had a pretty good bunch of kids, the Lord blessed me with that, including our exchange kids."

Green Thumb

By Gladys O'Neal

It is time to mulch chrysanthemums and feed them every two weeks with a liquid fertilizer. Pinching back your chrysanthemums will produce compact and bushy plants with lots of flowering stems; everytime you pinch back, you delay blooming time by three to four weeks. A good cutoff date for our area is the second week of July.

Also, now is time to plant zinnias, marigolds and cosmos for autumn brightness. Stagger your color, select plants with different bloom times for a bed full of color throughout the seasons.

Red makes a flower bed seem larger and closer, while blues make it appear smaller and more distant. Pinks do well with purple and red with violet. White is a good complement for any color.

Prepare planting beds by digging the soil 12 to 18 inches deep. Work in plenty of peat moss, leaf mulch, or cottonseed meal or compost to have good drainage.

To get perennials off to a good start, they should be fertilized with an all purpose fertilizer for flowers. Use it lightly when planting them.

Soaker hoses and drip irrigation systems are efficient ways to water plants.

Since the bluebonnets is our Texas flower, I hope we can see more of them growing in our town. To have them blooming in the spring, sow the seeds in late summer or early fall. They need cool weather to germinate. Planting early will allow time for the plants to become established over the winter months.

Before planting, soak bluebonnet seeds in warm water for three or four days, changing the water daily. Sow the treated seeds one-half inch deep in a well-prepared bed. Cover them lightly and firmly as they must have darkness to germinate. Water thoroughly after planting.

In mid February when flower buds begin to form, pinch out the first flowering stalk of each plant as soon as it develops. Doing this extends flowering for at least one month.

If nematodes, a kinsman to the earthworm, is a problem, try planting marigolds with flowers or vegetables. They find marigolds distasteful.

When squirrels are digging in your flower beds or pots, sprinkle black pepper on the dirt around the plants. They soon will not be around.

Flowers always make people better, happier and more helpful; they are sunshine, food and medicine to the soul. — Luther Burbank

Summer is a perfect time to become more active

Summer is a great time for swimming, walking, gardening or playing sports. In other words, summer is a perfect time to become more active.

That doesn't mean pushing yourself to the limit. In fact, scientific evidence shows that just 30 minutes a day of physical activities as mundane as walking and housework can make a difference in your health.

The American Heart Association points out that regular physical activity can protect against coronary heart disease, diabetes, high blood pressure and other physical problems such as certain cancers, osteoporosis and even depression.

Healthcare experts used to believe that one should exercise for fitness, which means improving endurance. The new thinking is that low-to-moderate-intensity exercise, done three to five times a week, can be highly beneficial.

Even better, people don't have to exercise or be active continuously for 30 minutes. The physical activity can be done in bits and pieces throughout the day such as two, 15-minute walking breaks.

The change in thinking about exercise resulted from several studies, which showed that sedentary men face greater risk of heart attacks and that habitual exercise is linked with low risk. Another study found that exercise reduced heart attack risk in women by one-third.

While evidence pointing to the value of being active is growing, the fitness boom, which began in the 1960's and grew for the next 20 years, seem to have reached a plateau.

WORSHIP TOGETHER

*Be kind to thy father, for when thou wert young,
Who loved thee so fondly as he?
—Margaret Courtney*

*"Hear, ye children, the instruction of a father..."
—Proverbs 4:1*

HONOR YOUR FATHER, WHO TAUGHT YOU THE WAY TO LIVE

Your dad was there when you were small.
He showed you how to throw a ball,
Whenever he had time to play
And wasn't working hard all day,
Providing life's necessities
So you could live a life of ease.
He punished you for doing wrong
And taught you how to get along,
Plus all the things you had to know
That he learned many years ago;
Although you'd often disagree,
Convinced that you knew more than he.
Our House of Worship tells us of
The many ways he showed his love;
So as its message will convey,
Let's honor him on Father's Day.
