A tribute to veterans

World War I and World War II memorabilia displays

The United States Post Office at Haskell has a collection of military and war memorabilia on display in honor of Veteran's Day this Saturday, Nov. 11. The display also ties in with stamps issued by the postal service commemorating the Indian War, World War I, World War II and the Civil War.

The memorabilia is from the private collection of military gear owned by Greg Melton, principal of Haskell High School. Melton said that part of the memorabilia belonged to his grandfather and great-grandfather who served in the Civil War and WWI respectively. Melton, a historian, said, "My hobby of collecting military gear fits into my love of history. Being a historian is my first love."

A $20 confederate bill that is on display, belonged to Melton's great-grandfather, John D. Jackson, who served in the Civil War. Melton said, "My great-grandfather was wounded in the Battle of Gaines Mill in Virginia during the Peninsula Campaign in 1862 and was taken prisoner by the Union Army. He carried the $20 bill while he was in prison camp and brought it home. He considered it a good luck piece."

Melton also has a World War I Wound Certificate that was presented to his grandfather who served in that War and was wounded in action in France. Melton said "Wound Certificates were given instead of Purple Hearts at that time. I also have a cane that was presented to my granddaddy by the Red Cross and post cards that he wrote to my grandmother."

The WWI, WWII and Indian War displays tie in with the 29 cents stamp that was issued in '94. The Civil War display ties in with a stamp issued in '95.

Noah Project offers safe haven for domestic violence victims

By Joyce Jones, Editor

If the O.J. Simpson trial did nothing else for this country, it brought attention to the domestic violence going on every day all over America. Many people think that domestic violence only happens among the poor and in the larger cities, but that is a misconception. Domestic violence happens in all classes, cultures and races of people; in small communities to large cities. It is one of those problems that has been kept behind closed doors so to speak. Most people who are being abused or have been abused are too ashamed to tell anyone, even other members of their family. Some do not know there are agencies that can and will help them. One of those agencies in Texas that provides help is the Noah Project, Inc.

Noah Project, Inc. is a center for victims of domestic violence with its corporate office in Abilene. They provide services to family violence victims in 20 West Central Texas counties. They operate a 24-hour crisis hotline and provide services in the areas of shelter and safety, food and clothing, transportation, medical care, employment referrals, educational support, legal advocacy, outreach and in-house counseling. They provide an atmosphere of family living with emphasis on the comfort and security of its residents. They meet with other service agencies to help meet the physical and emotional needs of victims of family violence.

The Noah Project-North was started in September of 1987 here in Haskell County with one part-time worker. The service now has one full-time worker, Donna Sue Anders who is the Service Area Director and Janice Brzozowski who works on a part-time basis, crisis line volunteers and advisory committee volunteers.

Anders said that if clients need shelter, they are first put in a safe place in the county and then transferred to Abilene, Brownwood or Snyder to shelters where they can stay up to six weeks; and if the clients do not want to be placed close by, the Noah Project has a directory of shelters all over the state where they can be placed.

She said that once they are in the shelter, Noah encourages them to become independent if they choose not to go back into the situation they were in. They will help them find housing, direct them to other agencies who can help them or refer them to agencies for any kind of counseling they may need.

Anders said that one of the counseling services available is BIP-Batterers Intervention Prevention for men. It is a counseling program that helps them deal with being an abuser and how they can overcome it.

Anders said, "There is a misconception about the Noah Project, we do not encourage people to get divorced or break up the family unit. The family unit is the most important thing to think about. We are there to help them and to encourage them to make their own choices. Precaution is advised if there is family violence involved."

Anders said that Haskell County is very supportive of the Noah Project, "If we didn't get the support from the county, we could not be here; they furnish us an office space free of charge. A grant from DHS pays my salary, and the funds to operate are raised through fund raisers by the advisory committee."

Anders said also that she appreciated the cooperation that the Noah Project received from the County Attorney and law enforcement officials in the county, "Haskell County is very fortunate to have the county attorney, (Bill Jones) that we have; he is very cooperative in working with us and our clients."

"The law enforcement in Haskell County is also very cooperative and works closely with the Noah Project. If they answer a call on family violence, they will explain their options to the complainants and will contact the Noah Project if the need is there."

Anders said that the Noah Project provided shelter for 38 clients in Haskell County for 1995 and did outreach service for an additional 35 clients in the county. (Outreach services provide everything but shelter, such as counseling, medical referrals, legal referrals, or any other kind of help they need).

The Noah Project has an 800 number that is answered 24 hours a day, seven days a week. When a person calls that number from Haskell County, the call is referred to Anders, who in turn will call one of the crisis volunteers who will then meet with the client on a confidential basis. The crisis volunteer number is 1-800-444-3551.

Peggy Darden, a former member of the Noah Project-North advisory committee wrote the following poem:

Too Much to Ask

She came to us for help tonight, she had nowhere else to turn.
"He beat me again," she said, "you'd think I would learn."
He had promised to do better, even sealed it with a kiss;
then once again her hopes & dreams were shattered by his fists.
His violence was worse than usual, so she didn't take time to pack.
Now all that's left after all those years are the clothes upon her back.
The tears escape through swollen eyes, running down her battered face;
as she talks about the years of pain, the humiliation...the disgrace.
The children sit in unmatural silence, clutching tightly to her hand, frightened...confused...insecure; they're too young to understand.
"What did I do to deserve this?" she asks; her voice become strained and curt,
"Why can't he be loving and gentle and kind? Why does love have to hurt?"
"I dreamed of a safe and happy home, it became an impossible task; all I ever wanted was love...and peace, was that too much to ask?"

Domestic violence - a serious crime

Domestic violence is a serious crime that should be reported and stopped. Zero tolerance is the only acceptable community response. Victims of domestic violence come from all walks of life, all cultures, all income groups, all ages, all religions. They share feelings of helplessness, isolation, guilt, fear and shame.

On an average night last year (1994) in Texas, 1104 women and children sought refuge in shelters because home was not a safe place to be. 10,000 were denied shelter. Almost 155,000 hotline calls were answered by Texas shelters. There were 163,223 reported incidents of domestic violence. Approximately, five percent were against men.

Contrary to what one O.J. juror told the press after verdict heard around the world, homicide does correlate markedly with prior domestic violence. Thirty-nine percent of Texas adult women homicide victims in 1994 were slain by men who had once professed to love them, honor them and cherish them. Of all women killed in Texas in 1993, 38 percent (161) were murdered by their intimate male partners.

Break-in and theft at High School

Three juveniles and one adult are in custody after being apprehended for the early Monday morning break-in and theft at Haskell High School. The main classroom building, the big gymnasium and the Home Economics building were involved in the incident.

Sheriff Johnny Mills said that at approximately 1 a.m. Monday morning, the dispatcher at the Sheriff's office heard someone in the main building of the high school over the alarm system and alerted local Police and Sheriff department personnel. The suspects were still in the building when the officers arrived, but managed to flee the building and escape. A deputy reported that he saw four people running down the hallway.

Sheriff Mills said that it is not known how the offenders got into the main building and the gym, but that a window had been broken in the Home Economics building.

Sheriff Mills said that the items stolen had been partially recovered, but that some items were still missing. The stolen items had an estimated value of between $6,000 and $7,000. Some of the items stolen include a video camera, four port-a-phones, football jerseys, 2 telephones, a VHS analyzer, a P.A. system amplifier, a TV and a VCR. The Sheriff said that he and Haskell City Police Officer, Roman Morgan, discovered the TV and VCR outside the Home Economics building when they returned to the school later Monday morning.

Two of the juveniles were apprehended around 3 a.m. in the morning, the adult was caught a little before 4 a.m. and the last juvenile was caught around 8 a.m. when he showed up for school, according to Sheriff Mills. One of the offenders was caught as he was walking down the street in front of the Sheriff's office.

HIGHLIGHTS

AUSTIN — Most Texans thought George W. Bush was doing a good job at the nine month-mark in his term as governor, an October telephone survey by the Texas Poll indicates.

Fifty-seven percent of 1,010 respondents gave Bush high marks for his performance over the last three months, while 31 percent felt the governor performed fairly or poorly. The remaining 12 percent had no opinion.

Though Bush said he would continue to do his job and let the numbers fall where they may, he added that he is grateful "people think I'm doing a good job."

Bruce Buchanan, a political scientist with the University of Texas at Austin, said Bush has avoided controversy by emphasizing bipartisanship, and looks moderate when compared to some of the nation's leading Republicans.

With a year to go before the general election, the poll shows Texas Republicans are split between U.S. Sens. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and Bob Dole, R-Kan., with 32 percent favoring each man in the GOP primary. Down the list were Pat Buchanan with 5 percent, Steve Forbes with 4 percent and Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Penn., with 2 percent.

President Clinton's job-approval rating, at 36 percent, has improved four points over the last six months.

Respondents rated national problems facing Texas, in order of importance, as follows:

- the economy and the deficit;
- crime and violence; and
- racism and race relations.

The Texas Poll was conducted Oct. 12-23 by the Office of Survey Research at the University of Texas at Austin for Harte-Hanks Communications Inc.

School Funding Task Force

How can Texas do a better job of funding its public schools while providing tax relief to property owners and not imposing a tax on personal income?

A task force formed by Gov. Bush and other state leaders has begun meeting in Austin to explore various types of taxes that could replace the $9 billion in local property taxes the state government spends every year to run its public schools.

"The governor made it very clear we weren't to come up with the option," said Jared Hazleton, a Texas A&M finance professor named to the task force by Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

"We're just doing some background work so that someone who wanted to look at this could say, 'Here are the options.' There's only a few. If you don't tax income, you clearly have to tax sales in some way, though that doesn't necessarily mean a sales tax," Hazleton told the Austin American-Statesman.

Already Bush has tested ideas of:

- increasing the state franchise

tax on corporations;
■ increasing the state's 6.25 percent sales tax; and
■ creating business taxes on profits.

But all of these ideas have been criticized strongly.

Regarding Bush's ideas, Bill Allaway, president of the Texas Association of Taxpayers told the American-Statesman, "Each one has its opponents, and it looks like nothing is possible if you do it that way. ... If you jump too early, you open yourself up to all sorts of demagoguery."

Bus Driver Records Eyed

More than 200 certified bus drivers in Texas have traffic convictions, the Houston Chronicle reported last week in a copyright story.

About 150 of those were convicted of speeding, according to records of the state's 55,000 certified school bus drivers during a three-year period ending Aug. 31, 1994.

According to the records maintained by the Texas Department of Public Safety, school bus accidents in Texas have increased 20 percent in the last four years, from 1,198 in 1991 to 1,449 in 1994.

DPS records also show injuries to children are up more than 55 percent from 826 in 1991 to 1,282 in 1994, the Chronicle reported.

A law that went into effect Sept. 1 transferred the state's school bus driver certification program from combined enforcement by the Texas Education Agency and the DPS to the DPS alone, with the intent of promoting more efficient monitoring.

Jim Templeton, manager of the DPS accident records bureau, said there will be a reassessment of the certification program.

Other Highlights

■ Texas is in competition with three states to land a multimillion-dollar facility to train 2,000 new Border Patrol agents and Immigration and Naturalization Service inspectors. Military bases in El Paso, Charleston, S.C., and Anniston, Ala., are under consideration as training sites. A fourth site, at now-closed Eaker Air Force Base in Arkansas is being reviewed to handle the training of only the Border Patrol agents.

■ Capital Metro, which operates Austin's bus system, won't allow concealed handguns on its buses. The CM board voted 4-1 to impose the ban. In September, Houston's Metropolitan Transit Authority passed a similar resolution after Attorney General Dan Morales said the state's right-to-carry law doesn't prevent transit authorities from banning concealed handguns.

20 Years Ago Nov. 6, 1975

Christie McAdams was selected as the 1975 Haskell Homecoming Queen during half time ceremonies Friday night. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy McAdams. Christie is a senior in high school. Her escort was Mike Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Turner.

The classes of 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1924 held a get together Saturday, Nov. 1 from 5:30 until 8:00 in the home of Miss Mary Belle Taylor. A Bicentennial theme was used in the table decorations and throughout the house. Hostesses were Miss Taylor, Mrs. Cody West, Mrs. Mildren Green, Mrs. John Rike, Mrs. Mildred Crandal and Mrs. C.G. Yost. Thirty five people called during the evening.

A happy group of Indian football players carried Coach McAdams off the field Friday night after defeating the Munday Moguls to the tune of 53-14. It was the Homecoming game and the Indians gave the homecoming crowd a good game to talk about during the activities.

30 Years Ago Nov. 11, 1965

The old political pot began to simmer last week...but this week it began to get hot, with the first primary not until May of 1966. The political pot is bubbling, way before the snow flies. It may be true as the song goes... "It's a long, long time from May to December"...but politics in Haskell County is already hot. Since last week's edition of the Free Press, six more Haskell Countians have pitched their hats into the political ring, making a total of 13 to date, which are seeking county offices.

Paint Creek, or right here in our part, there have been two light showers this Monday morning. Mrs. Martin Coleman said it was only foggy and cloudy over by the lake where they live. This kind of weather will bring cotton stripping to an abrupt halt, although most farmers have had to wait until noon to start stripping because of the heavy dews we had all last week. Two weeks of beautiful weather as we have had are rare this time of year. The farmers are still sowing wheat. (From the Paint Creek Community News by Mrs. Gene Overton)

60 Years Ago Nov. 7, 1935

The Haskell High School football team downed Anson 29-0 Friday night. Jack Kimbrough starred in the game with two beautiful runs that were carried over the goal line. In the last quarter, Kimbrough let loose again and scampered 49 yards for a touchdown.

Roy Ratliff, District clerk of Haskell County, made a business trip to Austin the first part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Gholson and son, Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Gholson, LeRoy O'Neal and Miss Gladys Fouts accompanied Marvin Gholson to Abilene Sunday afternoon, where he is a student in Hardin-Simmons University.

70 Years Ago Nov. 6, 1925

The Ford Coupe which was stolen from the garage of R.E. Sherrill of this city, Sunday night, was found by Sheriff J. C.

Turnbow in Abilene Thursday and according to reports the car was in good condition.

The Howard school term of 1925-26 will open Monday, Nov. 9. Mr. Bob Covey and Miss Thelma Livengood, as assistant teachers. School will open at McConnell Monday, Nov. 9, with Mrs. Stone as principal and Miss Ratliff as primary teacher.

E.E. Eastland has sold his home place on South Lamar, and will move this week north of town to the Pace place, where he will take up farming. Mr. Howard from the Howard Community has purchased the Eastland residence and expects to move here by Dec. 1.

90 Years Ago Nov. 11, 1905

The copious rains this week, extending over two or three days, have put a thorough season in the ground, making it a propitious time for sowing grain. The mud and slush through which we have had to wade for several days this week accentuate the desirability...the necessity of improving our streets...if we wish to be considered a progressive, or up-to-date community.

Quite a number of our subscribers are coming forward and settling up and renewing their subscriptions. Needless to say we appreciate this, as it requires money to run a paper.

Mr. David Livengood, an old settler, was in town the first Monday with a fine span of mules for sale.

Mr. M.S. Shook had to delay the shipment of a lot of cattle to market this week on account of the rains.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We really had a "spooky Halloween Night" this year. The lightning effects, along with the crackling of thunder and terrible thunderstorm, really added drama to our "Haunted Cave."

We did become quite concerned at times and finally were forced to shut down the cave for safety purposes. We still had a very successful night, in spite of the weather.

Our thanks to the workers: Loutina White, Don Haynes, Mark and Gale Bailey, Lisa Sherman, Sheila McMeans, Linda Straw, Tammy Gordy, Tony and Charlene Williams, Bill Markunas, Debbie Miller, Judy Patterson, Debbie Earles, LaKay Gibbs and Servando Rodriguez.

A "Spook Salute" to Jack Lane for the "Cave," David Frierson for the tarps, Daniel Riley for the props, Sue Smith, the Rickey Deckers, Doug Davis and Larry Keys for their help.

Our special thanks to Joe Ray, Stephen Grand and the Haskell Police Dept. for keeping us informed of the approaching storm and helping the spooks keep the kids safe, during and after the storm.

Last but not least, we thank those who came and we hope you enjoyed our "Haunted Cave."

We were saddened this year at the loss of Phil Henshaw, who was a part of our organization and a dear friend. Vicki, may you and yours be comforted by our thoughts and prayers.

Sincerely,
Jennabeth, David & Loretta

The holiday season is fast approaching and I hope that all of our readers will remember the true meaning of the holidays—Thanksgiving: giving thanks for all our many blessings and for living in a country where we still have the freedoms afforded us by our forefathers—Christmas: a time of peace, joy, hope and goodwill and the birthday of Christ.

Christmas has become so commercialized that I think many children and adults do not remember the true meaning of this special day. There was a time when Christmas merchandise was not displayed at retailers until the month of December; now they begin displaying it in the month of August.

The toy manufacturers have made a fortune off of American families. The majority of children receive so many toys for Christmas, that they play with half of them once and then they throw them into a toy box, where sometimes they stay until the next Christmas. And I am sure there are many children who would appreciate receiving some of these cast off toys. For there are a great number of children who do not look forward to Christmas, because they know there will be no Christmas stockings hung nor no tree with presents under it.

It would be wonderful if all parents taught their children that it is more blessed to give than to receive. If each child in America that has plenty of food, clothing and toys at Christmas would just give one of their gifts to a child who has none, then it would be a happy Christmas for every child.

And there are those adults who have no children, but have plenty of money; how nice it would be if they were to adopt some of these needy children for Christmas and buy them a gift of clothing and a toy or both. There is nothing that can enrich a person's life more than seeing a happy smile on a child's face that would have ordinarily been sad, or to know that they have made a difference in a child's life in some small way.

I do not give toys to my grandchildren as they always have too many. But most of them have been taught to share with those who are less fortunate than them. My two grandchildren who live near Nashville, always take a week's allowance each Christmas and donate it to a homeless shelter to help feed the children. They also take toys they no longer play with and clothing that they no longer wear, and give to the needy.

As we go into this holiday season, let us all search our hearts and dig deep into our pockets to help someone have a happy Christmas. There are elderly in the nursing homes that have no family to visit them or bring them a gift. You can contact the administrators for names of those who are alone. And if you cannot afford a gift, I am sure a visit would be appreciated. The Noah Project and the Texas Dept. of Human Resources can help you with ages and sizes of children that you can buy gifts for. They can not release their names or addresses, but they can deliver the gifts for you.

Let's all strive to make a difference in someone's life this holiday season; remember that shut-in who is all alone, that person in the nursing home who has no one to care, that child with a sad look in their eyes because there will be no warm clothing or gifts on Christmas morning. Let's all show that we truly care and that Christmas is a blessed time of the year for everyone.

Saturday, Nov. 11, is Veteran's Day, a day to remember all of the veterans of all of the wars this country has involved in since the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776.

Most of us can relate to Veteran's Day in some way. Many of us have had fathers, brothers, husbands, grandfathers, sons or close friends who have served in one or more of the wars. Many of us have lost loved ones to those wars. So as you reflect on Veteran's Day this Saturday, remember that the veterans of this land, both living and deceased, are one of the reasons that we still live in the home of the free and the brave.

Week of Nov. 2

Greetings to all people who read this paper and are interested in the activities of the people of the Sagerton community. Your new correspondent, Dorothy M. Clark (Mrs. Joe Clark) will try to keep abreast of all current events in our community and keep you all informed of what we are doing in the surrounding area. To report any news items, please call 817-997-2179.

The monthly fellowship of the Sagerton Methodist church was held with Sue Guinn and Peggy Tabor hosting a stew supper. The birthday cake was served to honor Jacky Tabor and Hazel Letz who celebrated their birthdays in October. Members present included Eunice Guinn, G.W. and Ophelia LeFevre, Charles and Dorothy Lee Clark, Herbert and Christine Stremmel, Alvin and Ev Ulmer, Delbert and Joyce LeFevre, Carol Crumpton, Hazel Letz, Johnny and Sue Guinn and Jacky and Peggy Tabor.

The community thanks Bill Hertel and his crew of Joe Clark, Alvin Ulmer and Delbert LeFevre for repairing the seats on the merry-go-round at the community center and to Jacky Tabor for the paint job. All former students of the Sagerton School remember the good times spent there.

Harvey and Marion Stegemoeller of Chicago were recent visitors in the home of Delbert and Joyce LeFevre. While here they also visited with Harvey's mother, Henrietta Stegemoeller of Rice Springs Care Home in Haskell and Frieda Knippling. They also visited with the Leon Stegemoellers to see the remodeling job that is being done on the C.E. Stegemoeller homeplace. After leaving, Sagerton, they went to Seguin where he preached.

Delbert and Joyce LeFevre were recent visitors to the State Fair of Texas. They also visited in the home of their daughter, Jack and Linda Pierce of Wylie.

WORSHIP TOGETHER

Without a sign, his sword the brave man draws, And asks no omen but his country's cause. —Alexander Pope

"I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." — II Timothy 4:7

TO THE VETERANS WHO HAVE FOUGHT TO DEFEND OUR FREEDOM:

TO THE VETERANS WHO HAVE FOUGHT TO DEFEND OUR FREEDOM:

You have "fought a good fight," as the Bible conveys, When you served in some faraway land; And for that we extend you the highest of praise, For your valor in being on hand. You were putting your lives on the line every day, Till the time when at last you returned; And we owe you a debt we can never repay With the honor and help you have earned. So we welcomed you home with all gratitude due, For your efforts were never in vain; Giving thanks to the Lord for such heroes as you, And the freedom you fought to maintain.

Fall is the time to manage turf disease on lawns.

As night time temperatures drop and autumn rains begin, so do the fungi that cause take-all patch and brown patch. Proper fall turf management strategies can help lawns survive their attack, says Janell Stevens Johnk, Extension Plant Pathologist.

Brown patch fungus attacks the base of a leaf. Affected leaves turn yellow and pull off easily and the base of the leaf is slimy and rotted. "Since brown patch attacks the leaves, and not the roots, the turfgrass will recover. However, affected turf is more susceptible to cold injury during a hard winter," she says.

Take-all patch fungus attacks the roots. While take-all patch symptoms don't appear until spring, infection begins in early fall and continues during the cool, wet conditions of fall and winter," she says.

"Because the roots are rotted, entire stolons may be lifted easily from the soil," she adds. The damage is similar to white grub damage; however, grubs can be seen in the soil if they are the cause of the damage. Grub-damaged roots don't appear rotted, either.

Cultural practices that encourage deep vigorous root systems reduce the damage caused by these fungi. Proper water management is critical. Adequate surface and subsurface drainage is necessary. "Water your lawn only when needed, when you can see footprints after you walk across it. Early morning is the best time to water because the grass leaves dry quickly," she explains.

The brown patch fungus needs a number of hours of leaf wetness to cause infection, such as from evening watering and dew formation. Infrequent but thorough watering produces a deeprooted turfgrass. Lawns should be fertilized one last time before winter, however, applications that are too late stimulate growth and delay dormancy in the turf making it more susceptible to disease. Recommendations for the last fertilization date vary across the state.

Gypsum blocks can help with soil moisture

To get the most from your irrigated wheat, consider scheduling your irrigations this year using gypsum blocks. Gypsum blocks are cast gypsum around a pair of stainless steel electrodes. Six foot wire leads are attached to the electrodes. The blocks are buried in the soil at 6, 12, 24 and 36 inch depths.

Soil moisture is measured by attaching a special meter to the wire leads of the gypsum block. A small electrical current is sent from this meter to the block.

The electrical resistance measured by the meter varies with the amount of moisture in the soil and the gypsum block. A gypsum block reading of 95 to 100 indicates the soil is wet while a meter reading of 70 shows about fifty percent available moisture.

Irrigations should be conducted before the meter reading is below 50 percent available moisture. By knowing the amount of moisture in the soil profile, excessive irrigations can be avoided saving time, money and reducing the potential of leaching nutrients out of the root zone of the plant.

For more information on using gypsum blocks for irrigation scheduling or to have a set of blocks installed and demonstrated on your farm, call the Seymour Aquifer Project office at 817-864-3334.

Taking some good advice on cattle

For the first time in several months, there is some optimism in the cattle industry. A new report shows the number of cattle down to what they were last year at this time—indicating ranchers are working toward getting a better price for their product.

Extension Livestock Marketing Economist Dr. Ernie Davis says a lot of cattle were marketed in August and the price during that month only dropped below $60 per hundred weight a couple of days. He says cattle feeders did a good job of moving cattle to keep the industry current.

Davis says if cattle producers keep marketing aggressively through the end of this year, the risk of seeing the price drop below $60 dollars again is slim. He says prices through the end of the year should range from $62 to $65 per hundred weight. That is good news for an agricultural industry that is going through tough times. But the cost is still high to raise those cattle. As pastureland dries up for winter, grain prices are high because the supply is short. Davis says feed in the Panhandle costs about $15 a ton. Also, interest rates are up about two percent over a year ago, so production costs are up.

Davis says cattle prices may take a dive again next year as ranchers liquidate their herds. He says it will probably be 1998 before the oversupply of beef cattle is brought under control and ranchers are able to get back on good financial footing.

Words cannot express our appreciation to each of you dear friends and relatives who called, visited, and sent food and cards when our Mother and Grandmother was returned to Haskell for her final service.

She loved her church, neighbors, and friends in Haskell and we will always treasure the kindness and thoughtfulness of the citizens of Haskell, Haskell Clinic, Dr. Frank and Dr. Wayne Cadenhead and to the staff and members of the First Baptist Church.

VETERANS DAY

A Special Thanks To All Our Veterans

We salute all of the Veterans of Haskell County and pay tribute to all of the American heroes, whose names we may not know, but whose efforts have made it possible for all of us to enjoy the many freedoms that we have today. To all those brave servicemen, who paid with their bodies and souls, we pay our respects and offer our gratitude. Their contributions have not been forgotten. Featured on this page are pictures of Haskell County servicemen from the files of The Haskell Free Press. The pictures will be returned to the serviceman or his relatives on request.
