Haskell passes Extended Local Calling Issue

The Haskell School Board of Trustees met in a regular session Nov. 21.

The District Champion Cross Country team and regional qualifiers were presented to the board by their Coach Mrs. Sandy Williamson. Tiffen Mayfield presented each team member with a certificate commemorating their accomplishment.

Richard Rodgers presented the district's audit report for 1995-96. He commended the board for their role in insuring that the district was adequately funded for the 96-97 school year. Rodgers commented that the fund balance was up substantially and that in times when state funding is questionable this is good business. He also stated that if Haskell CISD had not raised taxes last year, state funding would have been cut drastically. Some districts are having trouble with funding because they did not raise taxes.

Construction on the gym is progressing. If progress continues, the front entrance of the gym will be usable shortly after Christmas. Temporary concession stands will be set up and lighting will be provided for the football stadium restrooms to be used during basketball season. An alternative entrance will be made available until construction is complete.

New regulations will apply to students who move or drop out. No grades, transfer papers or student withdrawal will be given until all school property such as textbooks and library books are returned. Last year, these costs amounted to $2200.00.

The charter for the Haskell Foundation has been approved. Organizational by-laws are being approved and hopefully this organization will be in place by next year's Homecoming.

School Board receives district audit report

The Development Corporation of Haskell, Inc. is pleased to announce that the Expanded Local Calling issue has passed by an overwhelming margin by the citizens of Haskell and the "864" telephone prefix.

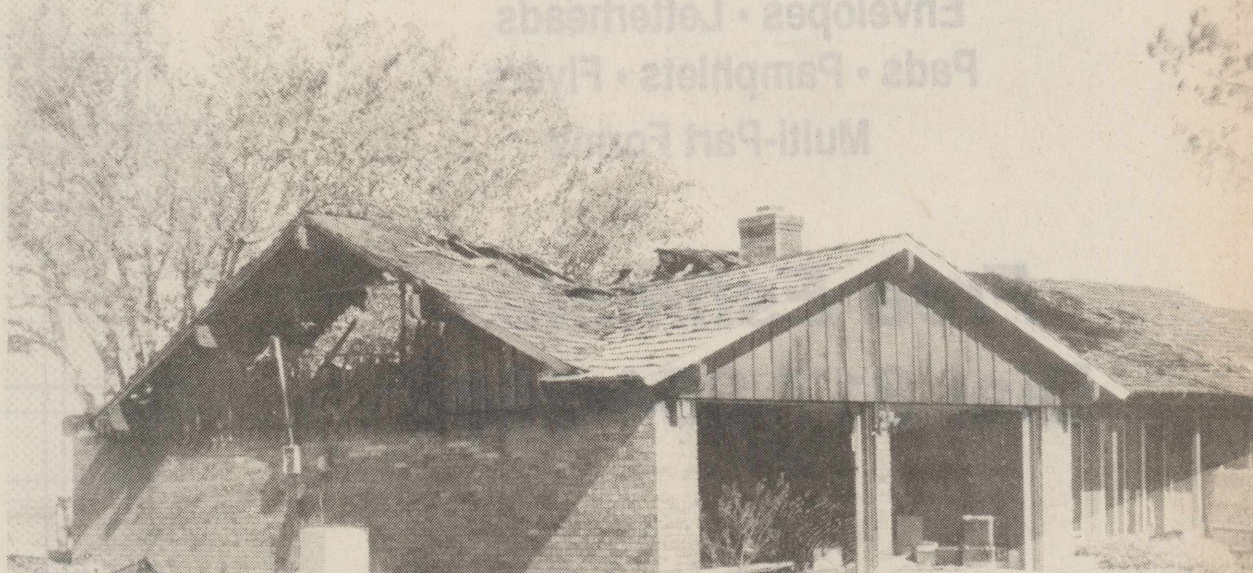

Expanded Local Calling (ELC) will allow all telephone calls to Abilene, Aspermont, Seymour, Munday/Goree, and Throckmorton to be local calls. The election had a ballot return ratio of 63 percent. The average ballot return rate is 40 percent.

Haskell had one of the highest ballot return rates ever recorded by the Public Utilities Commission for an Expanded Local Calling election. The election percentages were as follows: Abilene 90.64 percent, Aspermont 88.60 percent, Munday/Goree 89.29 percent, Seymour 88.51 percent and Throckmorton 88.39 percent.

GTE will spend the next thirty days assessing its current capacity and requirements to implement the ELC. Once this study is complete, GTE will announce the date local calling will become effective. GTE has 160 days from Nov. 21 to begin ELC. If federal approval is needed, this process could take longer.

"The approval of Expanded Local Calling by the citizens of Haskell will greatly assist our local merchants, and is proof that Haskell is a very progressive rural city that is positioning itself to be a continued success story in years to come," said Monty Montgomery, Executive Director of the DCOH.

EARLY MORNING HOUSE FIRE—The home of Charles and Judi Chapman in northern Haskell burned early Sunday morning. Firemen fought the blaze during very high winds and heavy rains. Fire damage occurred to the garage, master bedroom, kitchen and living room area, mostly above the ceiling line. The remaining living areas suffered smoke and water damage. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Haskell Elementary celebrates National Children's Book Week

Reading, reading, reading!! That's what was taking place in Haskell Elementary School all last week as part of National Children's Book Week. Over forty guest readers came to the Brownings' classes, reading fifty-five books to seven classes during the five-day period. Second grade classes also celebrated Book Week with readers. Some of the guest readers were parents, grandparents, the city police chief, cooks, office personnel, a minister, spouses of teachers, administrators, a school board member, Chamber of Commerce manager, teachers and students. The classes want to thank everyone who came and shared their love of reading with them. We heard some very good stories which encouraged children to read more on their own. Some guest readers came in costume and some brought treats other than the story.

If anyone would like to be included in sharing a good book with children, call the elementary school and leave your name and phone number. Thanks to all our readers. It was a fun word-filled week.

Smokers cravings begin in the brain

Smoker's cravings begin in the brain.

"With the first puff of the day, nicotine goes to work at the synapses, the places in the brain where nerve cells communicate," said Dr. John Dani, a neuroscientist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Dani and his colleagues are studying how nicotine affects cellular and molecular "reward pathways" in the brain.

Nicotine receptors may enhance the release of a neurotransmitter called dopamine, Dani said, which provides a feeling of reward.

If researchers can determine which receptor is responsible for addiction, they may be able to inhibit it.

Clubs

Progressive Study Club

Haskell Progressive Study Club met Nov. 7 in the Haskell National Bank Community Room with guest speaker, Mary Putnam Vandeventer of Leuders, speaking of Women In the Military.

President Kim Meredith welcomed members and guests. Anita Herren led the pledge to the American Flag and Franciene Johnson led the group in the singing of the Star Spangled Banner and introduced Mrs. Vandeventer.

A resident of Leuders, Vandeventer spoke of her years in the military serving in Wasp and showed a film. She was attending school in the Dallas area when she returned home and learned to fly at Stamford. She joined the Womens Air Service Patrol when she was 18 and trained in Sweetwater where she learned to fly different types of planes, which the Wasp would shuttle to the area where they were needed.

Her husband died in the 60's and she returned to Leuders, where she taught school for 22 years. She spoke of the difficulty the Wasps had in being recognized and it was not until 1987 that they were first recognized, even though they had served during World War II 1945. Today in Sweetwater there is a statue of a Wasp, dressed in their jumpsuit (they called them zoot zoot's) and also a museum.

Discussion was held on amending the club constitution, article 3, changing the meeting time from 7:30 to 7:00 p.m. It was tabled until the Dec. 12th meeting which will be held in the home of President Kim Meredith. Members will bring a new toy for the Child Welfare Department.

Refreshments were served to members and guest by hostesses: Ruby Turner, Mattie English, Helen Fouts and Mary Kaigler.

Program Director was Mildred Chambers who led the group in the pledge to the United States Flag, and introduced Janis Brzozowski, associated with the Noah Project.

Mrs. Brzozowski handed out questions for members to answer and then discussed the questions and answers, pertaining to family violence. Noah Project, Inc. is a center for victims of domestic violence with its corporate office in Abilene. Noah Project provides services to family violence victims in 20 West Central Texas counties, and operates a 24-hour crisis hotline. Services are provided in the areas of shelter and safety, food and clothing, transportation, medical care, employment referrals, educational support, legal advocacy, outreach and in-house counseling.

Scottish visitors enjoy Texas sites

Jane Lindow and Flora (Flo) Linton from Aberdeen Scotland are visiting in Haskell with Jane's daughter Michele and husband Joe Worrell. The Worrells have recently moved to Haskell from New Orleans.

The ladies have enjoyed many activities while in Haskell. They have visited craft shows in Haskell and Abilene where they got many ideas to try in their craft business in Aberdeen.

They have sampled the local cuisine from the Branding Iron, Hatahoe, Burkett's Ward's Camp and the Dairy Queen. Flo especially liked the "help yourself" ice-cream machine at Burkett's.

A tour to the Haskell Co-op Gin proved interesting. They also saw cotton strippers, something that cannot be seen in Scotland. The attended East Side Baptist Church where they witnessed two American baptisms and visited with a lot of friendly people.

Like Scotland women, these ladies like to shop. They have shopped local stores plus craft stores and home improvement stores in Abilene.

Throughout everything that they see and do, they feel the old saying "Everything is bigger and better in Texas." But the rattlesnake on the back porch and the scorpion in the utility room left the "biggest" impression of all.

Both ladies had fun trying their hand, or feet at Texas style Line Dancing, Square Dancing, bowling, Texas style bingo and lots of shopping.

Lindow visited in Haskell sixteen years ago and although some things have changed, she says one thing has stayed the same—the friendly people. Linton had been impressed with the welcome she has received on her first visit to the United States.

They plan to take a trip to Dallas and Southfork, the home of "J.R.", who is well-known in Scotland.

Jane's interest also include a thimble collection. She has 314 coming from all over the world.

Flo has an interest in dolls. She collects and dresses dolls of all kinds.

They have visited in the home of Barbara and Bobby Roberts, Don and Coleta Whitfield and Jeri Burk of Abilene while staying in Haskell.

They will join Barbara and Bobby Roberts for a Texas Thanksgiving before returning to Scotland around the first of December.

Jane and Flo would like everyone to know how much they have appreciated the kindness and hospitality shown to them during their visit.

Legal Matters

by Dan Morales, Attorney General

How would you like to get rich quick, lose fat fast, or travel around the world for free? All this and more is promised in the thousands of scams we at the Office of the Attorney General come across every year.

The hard facts of the matter are that the only people who get rich quick are the con artists, the only thing lost is your cash, and the only travel involved is the quick exit across state lines when the law gets hot on the trail.

Computer crime
Claims like these used to be restricted to the mail, newspaper classified ads, and the telephone. Now a new front has opened in the war to snatch your cash—the personal computer and Internet.

One reason criminals are using the Internet is that there are effective—and very strict—laws on the books against mail fraud, door-to-door scams, and telemarketing schemes. The Internet is relatively new, and the law has not completely caught up with the technology yet.

Common come-ons
Just as a good angler needs good bait to get his fish, a "good" scam artist needs a good line to catch a prospect. Some common—and enticing—offers include:

- "Junk e-mail on the Internet. You may get an e-mail message promoting "quick and easy" weight loss programs. Junk e-mail is particularly annoying, because unlike regular mail, you pay "on-line" time to receive this stuff.

- "Disguised advertising. Many commercial services provide live discussion groups called "chat rooms" or "forums." Some marketers use these chat forums to promote their products without disclosing their interests.

- "Multilevel marketing. "Be your own boss and have lots of people working for you," goes the line. Usually the only people to profit are the ones who started the whole thing.

- "Use your home PC to make money fast. This is nothing more than the old "work at home stuffing envelopes" fraud with a new face. Instead of selling you tons of stationery, they sell you expensive—and useless—software.

Tip-offs to fraud
How do you know a fraudulent offer when you see one? Well, the old saw still holds true: If it sounds too good to be true, it usually is.

Exaggerated claims of potential earnings or profit, exotic investments such as ostrich farming, and the use of type titles are frequently tip-offs to fraud.

Use common sense when reading offers. Many ads claim "inside information." But who sends such information on the Internet? It's not very "inside" if tens of millions of people see it. Some ads claim a "lifetime guaranteed income" with no work or investment. Just think about that for a moment.

Remember, when you make any decision about an investment or product, be very careful. Check a number of sources of information before you decide.

How to protect yourself from Honest Abe

The most important defense you have is a healthy dose of skepticism and a willingness to ask others you trust for advice.

Don't trust an e-mail address simply because it sounds good. Anyone can get the address: Abraham.Lincoln@honest.abe.com. It may sound good, but it's utter nonsense.

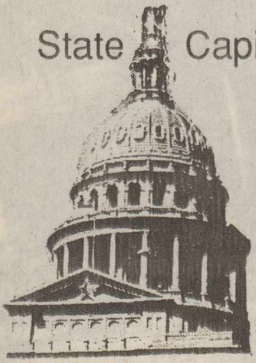

Never give your credit card, social security or bank account numbers over the phone unless you are absolutely certain that the company is reputable. Be wary of anyone who insists that you send payment through a commercial overnight mail service, rather than the U.S. Postal Service. That person may be trying to avoid federal mail fraud charges.

Finally, never give your e-mail password to anyone.

For more information
If you have a question or complaint about an on-line ad or promotion, contact your commercial service provider. You can file a complaint by writing the Consumer Protection Division, Office of the Attorney General, P.O. Box 12548, Austin, TX 78711-2548, or the Correspondence Branch, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, DC 20580.

Contact the Consumer Protection Div. at 800-621-0508.

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

State Comptroller John Sharp last week said the Legislature would need about $1.6 billion more to pay for public education in the 1998-99 biennium.

A few days earlier, Gov. George W. Bush, citing figures provided by House Appropriations Chairman Rob Junell, D-San Angelo, said the amount needed would be about $1.2 billion.

According to a report in the Austin American-Statesman, Sharp, Education Commissioner Mike Moses, a Bush appointee, and other state officials, said $1.2 billion is not enough to meet a court order to maintain financial equity among school districts and construct school buildings.

Those costs are between $354 million and $400 million—the difference between Sharp's estimate and the House Appropriations Committee's estimate—which did not account for court ordered funding equalization, the report said.

Sharp said he intends to release, within the next three weeks, a list of budget cuts and savings equal to the $1 billion Bush said should be rebated to local property taxpayers.

Bush's tax relief plan is tied to money left over from the 1996-97 budget and projections of a healthy economy.

Meanwhile, last week, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock forwarded a draft of his plan to Bush. The plan would lower taxes paid by homeowners, raise the homestead exemption and replace the resulting lost revenue with an increase in the state sales tax.

Education Fund Cost Increase

Texas Tomorrow Fund contracts went up about 16 percent this year, Comptroller Sharp said in announcing a new enrollment period last week.

The fund lets parents pay future college tuition and fees at today's prices, but contracts increase in cost as tuition and fees at state schools increase.

Evidence of tuition inflation: A contract purchased now for a newborn's four-year education costs $9,652.98 if paid in a lump sum. Last year, the same contract cost $8,320.80.

Water Issues Heating Up

Texas' rapidly growing population, long droughts and overwatering may result in some changed state laws in coming months.

"Nothing is more critical to the state's future than water," said Mike Hailey, a spokesman for Lt. Gov. Bullock.

Bullock's office, along with Gov. Bush, Speaker Pete Laney's office and the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission are considering legislation to monitor and protect surface and underground water.

The right of landowners to pump water from beneath their lands and also to capture water from rivers are big issues.

Some officials say it is time to start developing a comprehensive drought plan for the state. Texas, the Dallas Morning News reported, is one of only three Western states without such guidelines.

Food Stamp Cutoff Notices

Texas has begun notifying certain food stamp recipients that they will be cut off if they don't find employment within three months.

The 1996 federal welfare law cuts off food stamp benefits to able bodied childless adults under age 50 who don't work at least 20 hours a week.

Nearly 80,000 Texans who fall in that category receive food stamps totaling $9.6 million a month. Eighty-eight percent of them do not claim any earned income.

Texas Workforce Commission figures show that Texas counties on the border with Mexico, where unemployment rates are more than 10 percent, will be among the hardest-hit by the food stamp cutoffs.

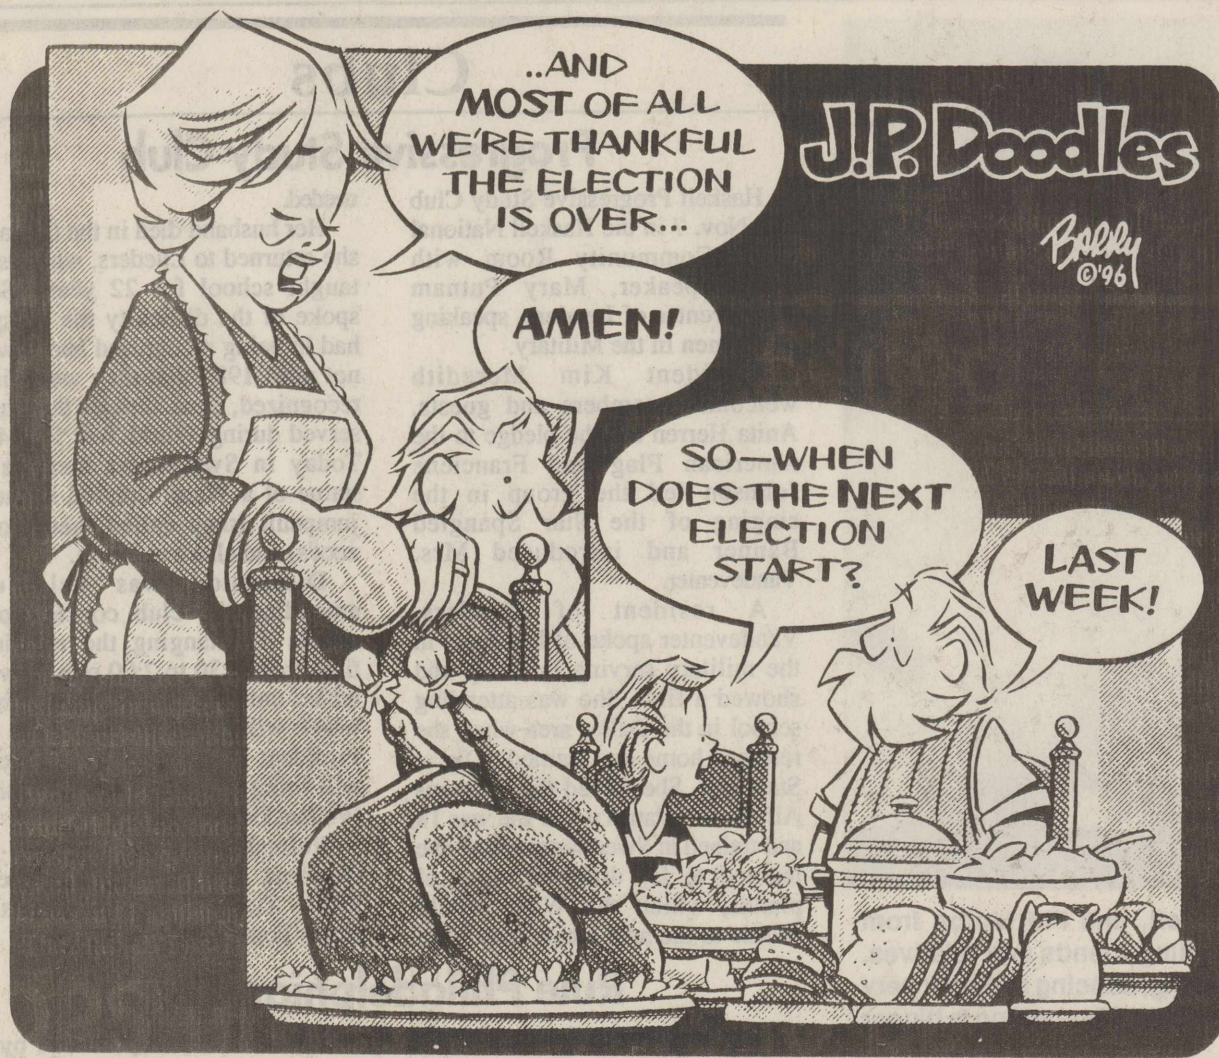

Other Capital Highlights

- The Texas Department of Criminal Justice has approved a program that will devote prison space to Christian study as a rehabilitation. Volunteer inmates will be screened for the program. Gov. Bush lauded the program, saying, "Faith has the power to change lives."

- Texas Republican Party Chairman Tom Pauken has been mentioned recently as a candidate to become the GOP's next national chairman, to replace Haley Barbour in January. Pauken played down his prospects.

- The first school voucher program in Texas, which allows students to attend any public or private school using tax dollars, has been approved by a small Central Texas school district. The Texas State Teachers Association said it will file a lawsuit to halt the program.

- Comptroller Sharp recommended shutting down the Texas Department of Commerce and privatizing most of the agency's functions, such as promotion trade, investment and tourism. He proposed replacing the agency with a partnership between the state and private business while transferring most of its 20 employees and 365 workers at 10 other state agencies to a new organization to be called Partnership Texas.

Cotton prices were down from 5 to 15 dollars per bale this week according to Sidney Ferrell, in charge of the Munday Classing Office. About 8,000 samples were classed by the Munday Classing Office during the week ending Friday, Nov. 19. The season total now stands at 13,600. Gins in the city of Haskell have already received over 3,000 bales.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Haskell Band Boosters would like to thank each and everyone for their support at the concession stand at the football games this year.

We would like to thank our local merchants who worked with us on buying food to resale. Our scheduling for workers was prepared by Debbie Miller. She did a great job.

We would also like to thank David Middleton and Mr. Pheil for their speeches given to the mighty Haskell Indian Band before they achieved a #1 at marching contest. The Haskell Fire Dept. is to be thanked for their escorting the buses into town on the band's arrival from marching contest.

And last but not least, the many other spirited people of Haskell who sent banners, balloons, candy, etc. to the band for a job well done.

"Keep Up the Good Work" Ed Walling,
Reporter

To the editor:

We always hear things about kids that are not good...down right bad!

Well, here's something good.
Haskell 7, 8 and 9 girls played in Olney tonight (Nov. 18). Some of the Olney teams won, some of the Haskell teams won.

Before they loaded onto the bus to head home, the 7th and 8th A & B cleaned up the stands where they and their fans had been sitting.

This is an amazing thing in Olney because we cannot even get our students to bother to clean up after themselves!

I thanked the coach and asked her to pass it on to the girls, but decided everyone should know how proud they can be of these students.

DPS urges drivers to be prepared for winter driving

The Texas Department of Public Safety wants to remind motorists that the winter season is fast approaching and it is once again time to prepare our vehicle and especially the driver for one of the most dangerous time ahead, winter driving.

Drivers are faced with many more dangers than they usually have during the rest of the year, such as driving on icy or snow packed highways, freezing temperatures, freezing rain, sleet, all creating dangerous conditions for the driver.

The most important safety tip for driving in winter time when the streets are slick is to remember to slow down. Remember, it can easily take from two to three times longer to stop compared to when the roads are dry.

When temperatures drop below the freezing point, drivers must remember to scrape the frost and ice from all windows before driving, to keep your headlights clean of mud and snow, and above all keep plenty of windshield washer antifreeze mixture in the window washers for those unexpected "splashes" from other cars.

When driving during adverse weather conditions allow plenty of time to start your trip a little early because there is no way to make up time on streets and highways. If you are driving a four-wheel drive vehicle, you may be able to start off better and the steering may seem a little better, but it takes just as long to stop a four-wheel drive as to stop a two-wheel drive.

Let's use a little more caution and have a safe winter.

Pizza by the acre

Americans eat 100 acres of pizza each day.

SOURCES: John Sharp, Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts, and Texas Restaurant Association.

Texas pizza facts

The average Texan spends about $57 a year on pizza.

The pizza capital of Texas is Killeen-Temple, with one of 10 restaurants serving pizza. Other top markets are El Paso, San Angelo, Wichita Falls, McAllen, Brazoria, and College Station.

2,360 retail pizzerias in Texas had annual sales of $1 billion in 1994.

Half of all pizza orders occur from Friday to Sunday.

Each consumer eats pizza an average of two to three times a month.

The popularity of pizza decreases with consumer's age.

Food for thought

by Charles H. Spurgeon
"Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep; so shall thy poverty come as one that travelleth; and thy want as an armed man."—Proverbs 24:33,34

The worst of sluggards only ask for a little slumber; they would be indignant if they were accused of thorough idleness. A little folding of the hands to sleep is all they crave, and they have a crowd of reasons to show that this indulgence is a very proper one. Yet by these litle the day ebbs out, and the time for labour is all gone, and the field is grown over with thorns.

It is by little procrastinations that men ruin their souls. They have no intention to delay for years—a few months will bring the more convenient season—tomorrow if you will, they will attend to serious things; but the present hour is so occupied and altogether so unsuitable, that they beg to be excused. Like sands from an hour-glass, time passes, life is wasted by driblets, and seasons of grace lost by little slumbers. Oh, to be wise, to catch the flying hour, to use the moments on the wing!

May the Lord teach us this sacred wisdom, for otherwise a poverty of the worst sort awaits us, eternal poverty which shall want even a drop of water, and beg for it in vain. Like a traveller steadily pursuing his journey, poverty overtakes the slothful, and ruin overthrows the undecided: each hour brings the dreaded pursuer nearer; he pauses not by the way, for he is on his master's business and must not tarry. As an armed man enters with authority and power, so shall want come to the idle, and death to the impenitent, and there will be no escape.

O that men were wise be times, and would seek diligently unto the Lord Jesus, or ere the solemn day shall dawn when it will be too late to plough and to sow, too late to repent and believe. In harvest, it is vain to lament that the seed time was neglected. As yet, faith and holy decision are timely. May we obtain them this night.

Dual-exhaust systems now available

Dual-exhaust systems are now available in the Haskell area for late model Ford and GM pickups.

The light-truck market is one of the fastest-growing segments in the motor-vehicle industry. In fact, most domestic car companies now sell more light trucks and minivans than passenger cars. Muffler shops can benefit from this trend by stocking dual-exhaust systems and letting customers know they have the right parts to provide a performance sound and appearance.

Originally popular for the sportsman and blue-collar worker, these vehicles are fast becoming status symbols for many Americans who might have opted for an Asian or European passenger car a few years earlier.

Most of these light trucks are purchased "loaded" for everyday around-town driving. For their owners, appearance is equally as important as performance. While many will install a performance system when the original muffler and pipes rust out, some will have the system replaced from the converter back as soon as they drive it off the car dealer's lot.

Check with local muffler shops in Haskell for dual-exhaust systems available for late model pickups.

For all the good times we have known
And friendships we can call our own,
Which let us know we're not alone
But cherished, come what may;
For illnesses that we've been spared,
And all the memories we've shared
With people who have shown they cared,
Whom we cannot repay;

For all the freedom in our land,
Which our forefathers wisely planned,
That all of us should understand
Far more than we can say;
For all the ways that we've been blessed,
Which make us strive to do our best,
Our gratitude should be expressed;
So thank the Lord this day.

When visiting relatives, ask them to put all medicines, toxic cleaning supplies and other potential hazards well out of reach of young ones, Hanfling said.

The petition for the Sagerton community has been placed on a table in the narthex of Faith Lutheran Church for interested parties to sign.
