Local calling to Abilene to be available April 9

GTE Telephone Operations will extend local calling for all customers in the Haskell telephone service area, beginning April 9.

Under the plan, all calls from Haskell to Abilene will be local calls. Calls from Abilene to Haskell will also be local calls.

"Prior to the start of the Extended Local Calling, each call between these areas was billed separately as a long-distance call, and customers would see a long-distance charge per call on their monthly bills. Now these calls are equivalent to local calls," said Danny Ferguson, Area Manager-Customer Operations, Plains district.

The implementation of this service may require modification to some telecommunications equipment such as fax machines, speed calling, PABXs, key system, automatic dialers and other equipment that may restrict or automatically dial long-distance numbers.

Customers are not required to take any action to take advantage of the new service offering. Once extended calling is operational, it will no longer be necessary for customers to dial "14" before the number when placing calls between these communities, but you must dial the area code and the seven digit number for local and ELC calls.

This is a result of balloting which took place in the Haskell telephone service area under the rules of Senate Bill 632 and the Public Utility Commission Rule 23.49 (c). Under those guidelines, certain communities were allowed to petition for extended toll-free local calling to nearby communities.

You currently have Expanded Local Calling to Aspermont, Munday-Goree, Seymour, Throckmorton, Benjamin and Knox City. With the addition of toll-free calling to Abilene, the charges on your bill will be replaced with the following monthly charge: $3.50 per line (residence) and $7.00 per line (business). The charges will be listed as "Expanded Local Calling/Surcharge" in the tax portion of the telephone bill. More information will be provided to affected customers in their monthly telephone bill as the service becomes operational.

Commissioners purchase two motor graders

Topping the agenda at the regular commissioner's court meeting Mar. 24, was the purchase of two motor graders and the sale of two used John Deere graders.

Since public bid brought only one offer of $105,378.00 from Dixie Surplus, Commissioner Billy Wayne Hester exercised the buy-back contract of $121,000.00 for each of the two 1995 John Deere graders.

Bids for new machines came from Darr Equipment (Caterpillar) for $159,897.00, and Airmaster (John Deere), for $144,446.73. The motion by Commissioner Hester to purchase the John Deeres was tied, requiring Judge David Davis to vote. He voted for the motion.

The Court authorized Judge Davis to sign the agreement for the study of the jail facilities that Haskell is trying to acquire. Commissioners Hester and Bud Turnbow reported that commissioners from Winkler and Pecos Counties said the jails in their counties were a boon to the economy and were very successful.

Work on the 911 road signs was reported progressing, with the pipe being bought for the posts. Some signs have been installed in Pct. 3.

The county will purchase a zip drive for the Highway Patrol computer.

Commissioners Turnbow, Hester and Thompson reported on a seminar they attended in Odessa.

Reporting that the state requires a written Equal Opportunity job program, Judge Davis said the county just has to put their policy on file. This is required for the hiring of a Dist. Court coordinator, who will be subject to a quarterly drug testing. After a discussion of a drug testing of county employees being overdue, it was decided that a random testing will be done at some time.

Pct. 3 will hire Billy Ray Reeves full time with a six month probation period. Reeves has been working part time.

A Republican run off was announced for April 14. The court house will be open.

School board hears concerns regarding hiring of new A.D.

At the regular Mar. 24, meeting of the Haskell CISD Board, public comments were heard from Donnie Rieger, Mark Wallace and Wanda Thompson, centered on concerns regarding a new athletic director, and the need for additional women coaches for girls athletics.

Campus reports were heard from Jim Ramage and Jimmy Lisle. Reports concerning various counseling programs at both campuses were given, as well as a report on girl's softball.

Textbook adoptions were approved as presented by Lisle.

The 1997-98 Haskell High School Calendar was amended due to the UIL moving the state track meet date after the calendar was adopted. May 8 is now a regular school day. May 15 is the bad weather day. The amendment will be published in the Haskell Free Press. Notes will also be sent home to all parents.

Resignations were accepted from Gil Cowan and Dwayne Gray.

Athletic concerns were heard from Haskell High School student athletes, wanting to have an athletic director secured in a timely manner.

Superintendent Bob Pheil's comments were on the conference in San Antonio for Trustees and Superintendent, and new flooring in the high school cafeteria. Also mentioned were new dishwasher and fire suppression systems installed at both schools.

In new business, all Haskell High School and Elementary School Staff were re-hired for the 1998-99 school year.

Coach Gray submits resignation

The resignation of Haskell High School's athletic director and head football coach, Dwayne Gray, became final Tues. Mar. 24, when it was accepted by the Haskell CISD Board of Trustees.

Gray had been on suspension with pay since his Feb. 7 arrest in Jones County on misdemeanor charges of driving while intoxicated.

During his four seasons at Haskell, Gray compiled a record of 24-18-1. Last fall he led his Indians to become runners-up to District 2A champion Holliday, but lost in bi-district to finish with a record of 7-4.

Interviews for head coach and athletic director will be conducted April 7-10.

April is Child Abuse Prevention month

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month in Texas. It is a time to reflect and act on what we need to be doing as individuals and as a community to support children and families.

Children depend on those who care for them to provide for their health, safety, and emotional well-being. When parents and other caregivers are not able to meet this responsibility, the result to children and to society is often tragic.

Last year in Texas more than 34,000 children were victims of abuse and neglect. No place in the state is exempt from this breakdown in family nurturing. In 1997, Haskell county Child Protective Services received 31 reports of child abuse, with 18 confirmed victims. Seven children from Haskell county are in foster care because of abuse.

During the month of April, the Haskell County Child Welfare Board will be sponsoring activities to build within the community an awareness for the prevention of child abuse.

Different activities in the Haskell county public schools will be scheduled throughout the month to educate students about the signs and symptoms of child abuse. Pencils, bookmarks, ribbons, a poster contest and an essay contest are all planned to help students to become involved in learning about prevention of child abuse.

The Haskell County Child Welfare Board wants to remind everyone that there are many opportunities for reaching out to parents in families, neighborhoods, places of worship, and places of employment. Their goal in April is to make sure that people in Haskell County are not only aware of Child Abuse month, but also that they can do something that will mean a better future for children and for the community.

Contact lens must fit properly

Your eye doctor may not let you have a contact lens prescription for two reasons: Your eyes.

"If you fill your prescription elsewhere, the doctor has no way to make sure the contact lenses were supplied correctly and fit properly," says Dr. James McCulley, chairman of ophthalmology at UT Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas.

Ill-fitting contact lenses can cause major problems, including corneal abrasions or other surface injuries that may lead to infection.

McCulley says most ophthalmologists will release contact lens prescriptions to other eye doctors if they believe the patient will be fitted properly and receive appropriate follow-up care. However, if one does order a contact lens from a mail-order firm, they should be sure to use a current prescription and check with their doctor to ensure the product they receive is a correct fit.

Kaase offers fertilizer tips

by Greg Kaase
Haskell Co. Extension Agent

Recent heavy rains in many parts of Texas have left some farmers wondering about possible losses of fertilizer that already has been applied. The three plant nutrients required in greatest amounts by most crops are nitrogen (N), phosphorus (P) and potassium (K). These nutrients are essential for the normal growth and development of plants. Of the three, N is by far the most dynamic and the one most subject to loss. Weather conditions and soil microbes play important roles in these processes.

For most agricultural crops, except legumes (such as clovers, soybeans or alfalfa) which can fix their own N from the atmosphere, N must be supplied as fertilizer each year to furnish adequate amounts for crop production. Once in the soil, N can undergo a number of chemical changes which influence its availability to crop plants and the potential for loss. When organic matter (plant or animal residues) containing a good supply of N is applied to the soil, soil microorganisms break down the material releasing the N in a process called mineralization. This N is in a mineral form and is immediately available for plant uptake. In contrast, if the added organic matter is low in N (corn stalks, wheat straw), a process called immobilization occurs where the N is used by the microbes for their own growth and is not available to plants.

Mineral N also is subject to various transformations in the soil. Once organic N has been mineralized into ammonium-N (NH₄+N), other soil microbes can convert it into nitrate-N (NO₃-N) through a process called nitrification. Because it has a positive (+) charge, NH₄+N is attracted to and held by negative (-) charges which occur on particles of soil. The soil basically acts like a magnet to attract the nutrient. In contrast, the negative charge caused by the chemical structure of NO₃-N prevents it from attaching to the soil. As a result, NO₃-N is much more subject to loss by leaching. This is of greatest concern in coarse-textured, sandy soils which have a high permeability and rapid water infiltration.

Nitrogen loss also can occur from fine-textured, clayey soils under high rainfall conditions. When the soil becomes saturated, some soil microbes may utilize the oxygen from NO₃-N for respiration. In this process, called denitrification, nitrate is converted into N gas which can volatilize into the atmosphere. This process is only of concern when the soil is waterlogged for an extended time (3 to 5 days), but can result in significant losses of N (30 to 50%).

Phosphorus and potassium are less dynamic than nitrogen. That is, they are not as subject to leaching and do not volatilize. Heavy rainfall may move these nutrients downward in the soil, somewhat, but only in sandy soils. Of course, any nutrient which has been applied on the soil surface may be lost in runoff. Timely and effective incorporation of surface applied fertilizers is important to minimize such losses.

Several best management practices related to timing and methods of fertilizer application can help minimize such losses of N due to leaching and volatilization. Applying fertilizer as close as possible to the time of crop demand is very important. Applications made just prior to planting are less likely to experience environmental conditions that may result in loss. In addition, most crops do not require large amounts of N in the very early stages of growth, but do require an adequate supply throughout the growing season. As a result, split applications of fertilizer N can help ensure a steady supply, and reduce chances of loss due to heavy early-season rains.

Predicting nitrogen losses following high rainfall conditions is difficult. Application of supplemental N fertilizer may be required to compensate for losses. Careful monitoring can be used to follow crop progress in fields suspected to have a problem. Sidedress applications should be made as soon as possible if any early symptoms of deficiency are noted, such as yellowing of lower leaves. Soil and/or tissue testing also may be used to evaluate soil nutrient status, and to make decisions about the need for additional fertilizer.

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

A six-year spending plan that would give Texas $1.9 billion for highways, bridges, buses and rail systems was unanimously approved by the House Transportation Committee last week.

It is part of a total spending plan of $218 billion that is expected to win approval from the full House next week, but still must be merged with a similar bill passed earlier by the Senate.

"This bill is a major victory for the people of Texas. The committee vote means that Texas should finally get its fair share of funding for badly needed infrastructure projects," said House Majority Whip Tom DeLay, R-Sugar Land.

Both bills give states much more money than they received under the previous six-year plan, primarily because a 4.3-cent gasoline tax would be dedicated to highway construction rather than general government spending.

And, both bills offer new formulas for disbursing the tax money so that Texas receives a greater share.

"For years, Texans have dutifully paid federal gas taxes, and for years we have not received our fair share of highway funds — only 77 cents on the dollar," said Max Sandlin, D-Marshall, a member of the House Transportation Committee.

Under the committee's new plan, Sandlin said, every state would receive at least 90 cents for every dollar they send to Washington in federal gasoline taxes.

Utility Hearings Under Way

The state Senate Interim Committee on Electric Utility Restructuring is holding a series of public hearings across Texas and will issue a report on electric utility deregulation to Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock in October.

Last week, at a hearing in Grapevine, electric cooperatives urged the committee not to move too quickly toward opening the industry to competition.

Libby Linebarger, a former state representative from the Austin suburb of Manchaca who is now a director of the Pedernales Electric Cooperative, said co-op customers "are not beating down our doors now asking for choice," according to a report in the Austin American-Statesman.

Other co-op representatives made statements similar to Linebarger's at the hearing, and some predicted deregulations would increase costs to residential customers, rather than force electricity prices down, as proponents of deregulation have asserted.

Mike Williams, president of the Texas Electric Cooperatives Association, said co-ops doubted all customers would benefit from competition. "One of the ways you keep rates low for everybody is not letting everyone come and go as they please," Williams said.

Meanwhile, the Clinton administration is supporting efforts to bring nationwide competition to the industry with the promise of saving electricity consumers $20 billion a year and helping the environment.

EnviroMedia Wins Contract

The Austin-based firm, Tuerff-Davis EnviroMedia Inc., beat out eight Austin-area and national advertising agencies for the Texas Department of Transportation's $1.5 million "Don't Mess with Texas" anti-litter campaign.

Doris Howdeshell, director of the travel division for the highway department, said she was impressed with EnviroMedia's plan to recycle the existing campaign and improve it. Although most Texans have heard the "Don't Mess With Texas" slogan, some think the ads are about Texas pride, not litter prevention, Howdeshell said.

"Our ads will focus on the remaining litter that's out there," she said.

The year-old agency, which specializes in environmental advertising, takes over the campaign created by GSD&M Advertising of Austin.

Last year, EnviroMedia organized the first national "America Recycles Day." Its clients include the Recycling Coalition of Texas, H-E-B Food Stores Inc. and the City of Fort Worth.

Other Capital Highlights

•The 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin is scheduled to hear a case in May that could affect the ability of the public to watchdog agencies that regulate the insurance industry and many other industries. The case stems from insurance industry efforts to keep confidential certain reports it gives to the Texas Department of Insurance. The reports allegedly contain information identifying neighborhoods where insurers award or deny auto coverage.

•About $500,000 in refunds from Farmers Insurance will be split among about 8,000 Texans under an agreement between the company and state regulators. The Texas Department of Insurance accused Farmers of overcharging some customers from July 1996 to January 1997 based on how long policyholders had insurance before applying for coverage from Farmers.

•Former Housing Secretary Henry Cisneros' one-time mistress Linda Jones was sentenced last week to 3 and a half years in federal prison for obstruction of justice and bank fraud. Jones, a star witness in an independent counsel investigation of Cisneros, became a target herself in 1996 when prosecutors caught her in a series of lies about evidence.

From The Inside Out

By Mary Kaigler

Louisa Peyton Clark Herren, wife of Col. Samuel P. Herren, was the only woman that my mother-in-law, Mrs. C.M. (Lela) Kaigler said she'd ever envied. She said it was because Mrs. Herren, who was no social "tea sipper", was a doer; daring to speak out and help people in ways that weren't the accepted norm for women of her time. One who found a need and filled it.

Intrigued by stories and even jokes passed down about her open crusade on behalf of family planning, I wanted to find out more about this local welfare pioneer.

Born in 1877 to a well-to-do Virginia family, she finished the Episcopal Female Seminary in Winchester, and as no well brought up young lady was expected to do, entered nurses training at the Presbyterian Hospital in Philadelphia, graduating in 1902. Later she became superintendent of a hospital in Trenton, New Jersey.

Becoming an army nurse, she was stationed in San Francisco, and was there during the earthquake. There she met Lt. Samuel P. Herren, who fell in love and persuaded her to marry him. In August, 1906 they were sent to Manila in the Philippine Islands.

When Col. Herren retired from the army, they moved to Haskell during the Great Depression. Surprised that Haskell had no charitable organization for family health care, she set about organizing a free clinic. Persuading the owner of some vacant rent property above a drugstore to let her have it rent free, she scrubbed it from top to bottom and found some old pieces of furniture for it. Getting all the free medicine samples she could beg, she also bought medicine by the gallons, pouring it into bottles she had everyone in her family save for her.

At that time the State Health Department allotted cod liver oil to each county. But some counties didn't have anyone to dispense it, so Mrs. Herren got their allotment too. (One man in Rochester was found to be using his children's cod liver oil in his car.)

Concerned for the health of children, Mrs. Herren gave garden seed to families in hopes that they would grow fresh vegetables for their children. At Christmas she helped the firemen repair and repaint toys for the black children's tree that she set up at their church. She also gave a blood test for venereal disease to every person who would let her.

When some people who had big families and could not provide care for them told her, "Oh, it's just the Lord's will," Mrs. Herren replied, "Lord's will my foot, it's your own darn laziness."

Determined to help them, she started trying to get the men to have a vasectomy. Informed and concerned for their families, many did consent to the operation. One appreciative couple named their eighth and last child for her and Dr.

Gordon Phillips.

She persuaded doctors and dentists to give their skill and time to the clinic on Wednesday mornings. Few people could afford a filling, and doctors could not afford to do them free. So, doctors were said to have had a field day pulling teeth.

When out riding her horse on the fine English saddle that caused comment in West Texas, she was always looking for children to inoculate for diphtheria. She went to every rural school that would let her come.

After Col. Herren died in 1941, Mrs. Herren eventually moved away. Cremated at her request, when she died at age 73 in 1950, her ashes were scattered over Virginia. She proudly never forgot that she was born there. Her great-grandfather was the first president of Phi Beta Kappa at William and Mary College, and she was descended from ancestors who fought in the Revolutionary War.

Certainly controversial and ahead of her time, there is no doubt that Louisa Herren did much good for Haskell County, giving her time and much of her money to the free clinic. She was indeed a doer, and was said to be able to get everyone else working, too. It seems more than fitting that the first cup given for Haskell's most useful citizen was awarded to her.

No wonder Lela Kaigler, who was an impelling personality herself, admired this woman.

Legal Matters

by Dan Morales, Attorney General

Last fall, two elderly Texans set out for a 15-minute drive to a nearby town. The driver was an 83-year-old woman who had early symptoms of Alzheimer's disease. Her husband, who was 88, also occasionally experienced memory lapses following surgery. The elderly couple was found dead 15 days later following an automobile accident in Arkansas, more than 350 miles from home.

Two Arkansas officers stopped the wandering couple two separate times for traffic violations but failed to recognize their impairments. If the officers had been able to quickly check for a special ID showing memory impairment, Arkansas police might have safely returned these two people to their families.

A preventable tragedy

This unfortunate episode could have been prevented. To keep similar tragedies from happening, we at the Office of the Attorney General have joined with the Alzheimer's Association to promote the Safe Return program.

For a nominal fee, the association provides an identification bracelet and a communication network for a memory-impaired person. On the back of the bracelet is a toll-free number that links the person to a national network of law enforcement agencies and Alzheimer's Association Chapters.

The Safe Return program has proven very effective at reuniting lost registrants with their families. Authorities find a lost person who is registered in 99.8 percent of the cases. Only 28.6 percent of the wanderers who have not registered come home.

Good Samaritans use ID bracelets to help

In another recent case, an elderly woman was freezing, alone in the dark, without the jacket and shoes she had not remembered to wear. The 65-year-old didn't know where she was, or where she lived, or her daughter's name, or even her own name. Two other women, coming back to their car after some holiday shopping, saw the lost woman wandering around the mall parking lot. Because the lost woman looked distressed but not dangerous, the two shoppers asked if they could help. Eventually, one of the women noticed the Safe Return bracelet. While she stayed with the Alzheimer victim, her friend called the 800 number on the back of the bracelet and set in motion a process that reunited the elderly woman with her family.

Safe Return works

The Texas Alzheimer's Association estimates there are 265,000 persons with this disease in the United States. One person in 10 over the age of 65 has symptoms of Alzheimer's disease. Fully half of all persons over age 85 have this impairment. Of those who do have the disease, 70 percent will wander off and get lost at some point in time.

Since 1993, more than 36,298 people nationwide have registered with the Alzheimer's Association's Safe Return program. The program facilitated more than 2,672 safe returns to their families or care givers. To date, 1,408 Texans with Alzheimer's disease have registered with the Safe Return program.

Registrants get personalized I.D. bracelets and other identification materials. Information about them goes into a national computerized database. Safe Return's toll-free 800 number is linked to a computer network of 17,000 law enforcement agencies nationwide. The confidential database is accessible to police 24 hours a day throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico through a toll-free number. If a registrant wanders or becomes lost a call to the toll-free number will begin the search process.

Green Thumb

By Gladys O'Neal

I want to write about designing a garden. I especially have the incentive to design things, so why not a garden! There are several ideas that come to my mind. I will have to be imaginative and have some creative pictures in my thinking by bringing up memories of former years. I have dreams of what I want which is a colorful garden to sit in and stroll in.

Memories of early childhood are the roots of my garden. It is a journey of discovery which opens ourselves to the world around us. We will then find long lost memories.

Formal but modest in scale, the garden I have in mind reflects the style of our old farm house, and my mom and grandmother growing beautiful irises, petunias, roses, day lilies and some ferns on the porch.

Well so much for my reminiscing. Maybe I'll have my garden in the future.

I want to talk about the day lily which is perhaps the easiest garden plant to grow. It can be transplanted anytime the garden is worked. Very wet or dry conditions do not seem to faze it. The nice thing about the day lily is that it is virtually pest and disease free.

A display of day lilies is as close as most of us will ever come to a "plant it and forget it" garden.

Daylilies can be divided to make a good display. Once they are divided, replant them as soon as possible about two to three feet apart. Be sure and water them thoroughly.

April is called the vine month. If you want to plant vines, this is the month. Plant caladiums and elephant ears where they will not be exposed to hot afternoon sun. Remember they need watering almost everyday during the summer.

Plant castor beans for a screen. Plant a small herb plot. Lilacs need a feeding of superphosphate with a little lime this month (April).

Nutrition tips for better family health

In a series of nutrition briefs, doctors at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston have underscored some tips for having better health for the whole family though better eating habits.

Dr. Janice Stuff at the USDA/ARS Children's Nutrition Research Center in Houston stresses the fact that breakfast is important for children. "Children who eat breakfast get a head start on essential daily nutrients because the morning meal provides one-fourth to one-third of the day's energy and nutrient needs," she said.

Some tips she gives for a healthy breakfast include:

*Dairy products such as low-fat milk or yogurt

*A grain such as high-fiber bread or a cereal

*A protein such as peanut butter, cheese or a lean cut of meat

*Fruit or 100 percent fruit juice

Dr. Stuff believes eating breakfast will help a child's classroom behavior, overall attitude and mental and physical performance in school.

Dr. John Foreyt, professor of medicine and director of the Behavioral Research Center, Houston, warns that "supersizing" your fast-food order may be a better value, but it may not be what you bargained for in terms of your health.

"Buying a large order of fries and a 32-ounce cola instead of a small order of fries and a 12-ounce soft drink may cost only a few cents more," he said. "But your caloric intake in most cases will almost double."

Ordering large portions of food at inexpensive prices is tempting. The key is knowing how to make sensible food choices.

Believe it or not, fat in your diet is not that bad. Some fat is even good for you.

Dr. Lynne Scott, a registered dietitian and director of the DeBaKey Heart Center at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, said, "Certain dietary fats are essential to maintaining life."

She points out that fat has several important functions in the body. It is the most dense source of calories, providing more than twice the calories of carbohydrates or protein. Fat spares protein so that protein can be used to build and repair instead of being used for energy. Fat also helps with absorption of vitamins A, D, E, and K.

The American Heart Association recommends a diet with no more than 30 percent of calories coming from fat. Choose foods that have three grams of fat or less per serving. Don't make the mistake of thinking fat-free foods are calorie-free foods. Some brands of fat-free foods are higher in calories than regular foods.

Food for thought

by Charles H. Spurgeon
"This I recall to my mind,
therefore have I hope."

Lamentations 3:21
Memory is frequently the bond slave of despondency. Despairing minds call to remembrance every dark foreboding in the past, and dilate upon every gloomy feature in the present; thus memory, clothed in sackcloth, presents to the mind a cup of mingled gall and wormwood. There is, however, no necessity for this.

Wisdom can readily transform memory into an angel of comfort.
That same recollection which in its left hand brings so many gloomy omens, may be trained to bear in its right a wealth of hopeful signs.
She need not wear a crown of iron,
she may encircle her brow with a fillet of gold, all spangled with stars.

Thus it was in Jeremiah's experience: in the previous verse memory had brought him to deep humiliation of soul: "My soul hath them still in remembrance, and is humbled in me;" and now this same memory restored him to life and comfort. "This I recall to my mind, therefore have I hope." Like a two-edged sword, his memory
first killed his pride with one edge, and then slew his despair with the other.

As a general principle, if we would exercise our memories more wisely, we might, in our very darkest distress, strike a match which would instantaneously kindle the lamp of comfort. There is no need for God to create a new thing upon the earth in order to restore believers to joy; if they would prayerfully rake the ashes of the past, they would find light for the present; and if they would turn to the book of truth and the throne of grace, their candle would soon shine as aforesaid. Be it ours to remember the loving kindness of the Lord, and to rehearse his deeds of grace.

Let us open the volume of recollection which is so richly illuminated with memorials of mercy, and we shall soon be happy. Thus memory may be, as Coleridge calls it, "the bosom-spring of joy," and when the divine comforter bends it to his service, it may be chief among earthly comforters.

long jump; Ernie Flores in the 1600 and 2400. Elisio Flores is the manager for the teams and she spent the entire two days helping coach Jill Brown with all the events.

The Men's breakfast was held last Friday at Faith Lutheran Church with the following in attendance Pastor Jeff Zell, Lewis Corzine, Marvin Stegemoeller,
Fred Kupatt, Dean Quade, Ronnie
and Ross Teichelman, Carl Lunn, Clancey Lehrmann, Leon
Stegmoeller, David Letz, Jack
Jones, Leroy Nehring, Marchel Nauert, Gene Teichelman and Clayton Stegemoeller.

Guests in the home of Joe and Dorothy Clark for the weekend were Don and Patsy Bivins and Jack and Janice Gattenby of Valley View and Emmalee Bivins of Haskell. They came for the Hee Haw on Saturday night. Ray Clark of Stamford joined them for dinner Saturday.

Carl, Beth, Mindi, Jonathan and Maegan Stegemoeller spent the weekend with his parents, Leon and Mae. It was little Maegan's first visit to her Texas grandparents' home and while here, they also visited with great-grandmother, Emma Raphael of Stamford.

Minnie Monse received word
Thursday that her only brother passed away at Orange Grove. He was 87 year old Herbert Brand. Our sympathy is extended to the Monse family.

Rachel Ward and her daughter,
Georgia Ann from Silver City,
N.M. and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Turner
of Sylvester, were here for the Hee Haw and visited with Frances Clark.

Warren and Aline Ables of Georgetown attended the Hee Haw and spent Saturday night with Delbert and Joyce Lefevre. After the program Saturday night they joined Frances Clark, Ronny and Lou Landes, Kenny and Debbie Tanner, Darla McCandless, Freida
and Gerald Van Zandt of DeLeon, Jill, Kinsey and Cade Brown for a surprise birthday party honoring Larry LeFevre in his home at Rule.
Larry will be commemorating his 50th birthday on April 1 and his daughter thought it would be nice to have a party for such a special occasion. His family of Susan and Shane LeFevre, Laressa and Eric Earthman were hosts.

Relatives and friends were saddened by the death of a former resident of our community, Bueford Letz, who passed away Sunday, March 22 at Stamford Memorial hospital. Funeral services were held at St. John's United Methodist Church in Stamford on Tuesday
with Rev. John Erwin and Rev.
Jeff Zell officiating. Bueford was raised in the Sagerton community and graduated from Sagerton High School. He married Paula Jean Petty of Avoca. After his return from the service of World War II, he owned and operated a grocery store and service station here. He had the old-fashioned, (now unique) type of grocery store where you could go in and have him slice up a nice fresh cut of steak, or lunch-meat, to your desired thickness and then "charge it" until the beginning of the following month. Also, he was noted for his friendly service to all his customers in the fact that if you had unexpected guests arrive late some night or on the weekend and didn't have enough milk and bread in the house, you could always count on Bueford to run down to the store for you and supply your needs. Since their move back to Stamford a few years ago, old friendships were renewed and we considered them part of our community again.

Denise Wilson of Rule was honored at a bridal shower Sunday afternoon at Faith Lutheran Church. She is the bride-elect of Tony Manske of Stamford. The bride-elect's chosen colors of hunter green and burgundy were used in room decorations. Denise is the daughter of Jackie and Susie Wilson and Tony is the son of Jerry and Shirley Manske of Stamford. The couple plan an April wedding. Hostess for the shower
were Tami Baitz, Helen Lammert, Annella Baitz, Brenda Turner,
Verlene Stegemoeller, Sallie
Macias, Mrs. Ronnie Teichelman, Mrs. Jimmy Teichelman and Dorothy Toney.

Vanessa Lehrmann, a Junior at Sweetwater High School was named to the All West Texas Super Basketball Team recently. She was also named MVP by the San Angelo Standard Times.

She is the daughter of Randy and Carla Lehrmann and granddaughter of Doris Lehrmann and the late Norvell Lehrmann of Rule.

The Community Supper will be held Tues., April 7 at 6:30 p.m. at the Community Center. Ladies are asked to bring a dessert.

Moderate exercising can improve health

Whether the motivation is a new year, the first day of the month, boredom with television reruns or just that day when the waistband won't button, the reaction is often the same: Now is the time to get in shape.

According to Jennifer Smith of the Chronic Disease Community and Worksite Wellness Program at Texas Department of Health (TDH), the benefit from this reaction is that people are in the mood to take on physical activity.
The drawback, she said is that people often try to do too much too quickly and become sore, tired, and discouraged. The key is moderate physical activity on a consistent basis.

"You don't have to do strenuous aerobics or run a marathon to improve your health and fitness," she said. "It's good just to become more physically active than you have been."

Physical activity is doing anything rather than just sitting.
Even a moderate amount of exercise
such as brisk walking, bicycling, pushing a baby stroller, playing a game of volleyball, vacuuming the house, or digging in the garden will reduce the risks of developing coronary heart disease, hypertension, colon cancer and diabetes, Smith said.

"And it does not have to be all at once—people can spread physical activity throughout the day."

Small things such as parking farther away from the door, taking stairs rather than the elevator, or playing games with children in the park rather than watching from a bench can increase physical activity

and improve health.

A report from the Texas Department of Health states that regular physical activity helps reduce the risks of dying prematurely, dying from heart disease or developing diabetes and high blood pressure, developing colon cancer or feelings of depression and anxiety.

Also, it will help control weight, build and maintain healthy bones, muscles and joints, help older adults become stronger and better able to move without falling,
and promote psychological well-being.

To avoid soreness and injury,
people who are increasing their physical activity should start out slowly and gradually build up.

Couch potatoes who start out by exercising too aggressively might be experiencing chest-wall pain near the rib cage.

Dr. Wayne J. Riley, an internist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston said "It's not uncommon at this time of the year to see patients who made a resolution to exercise and tried to achieve their athletic goals immediately by playing basketball for six hours or doing 50 stomach crunches."

Such patients usually complain of chest-wall pain caused by a sprained muscle or an inflammation of the rib cartilage.

Food safety is important when packing lunches

by Lou Gilly
Haskell Co. Extension Agent
When packing lunches, food safety should be a major concern, whether the meal is adult- or kid-prepared. Most dangers associated with food are due to the way we handle it in our own kitchens. Many people die from food poisoning each year and even more get sick for a few days and think it is the flu, when it was really something they ate.

Food-borne illnesses are usually caused by bacteria. Some are caused by viruses or poisonous chemicals. We usually refer to bacteria and viruses as germs. Germs are found everywhere but most are not harmful and those that are harmful, are so when they are large in number. Germs need food and water, time to reproduce, the right temperature and a way to get around (like on our fingers) to survive. Children are at the highest risk of food poisoning because their immune systems aren't as strong and their bodies are much smaller, so it takes less bacteria to make them sick.

Personal Hygiene
Always wash hands before handling food. Children's hands are often dirty, so practicing good personal hygiene in the kitchen is very important. Also washing hands after handling raw meat is important in preparing to handle other foods that will not be cooked. This is a common way of spreading germs and is very dangerous. If a child eats a salad that has been contaminated by germs from raw chicken it can make him very sick if the chicken contains a bacteria called Salmonella.

Safe Temperatures
This means simply keeping cold foods cold and hot foods hot. Never leave meat out all day to thaw or serve leftover foods that have been left out all night. These foods have reached temperatures that we call the "danger zone". This is when a food was either not kept cold or hot enough and was at the right temperature for bacteria to grow and reproduce. When thawing foods, it is best to place them on the bottom shelf of the refrigerator in a pan or bowl to catch the juice, the night before preparation. Leftover foods also should be stored promptly after the meal in a sealed container and heated thoroughly when eaten at a later time. When kids have leftovers for lunch, make sure that the food is no more than three days old.

Handling Food
Keeping perishable foods at safe temperatures is just the beginning. Cooking fish, poultry, eggs and meat thoroughly is very important.

Using utensils to handle food instead of your hands is another way to avoid spreading germs. Washing fresh fruits and vegetables before serving is essential to avoid getting sick from the chemicals that may have been sprayed on them for preservation. It is also important to inspect canned foods and avoid those that are bulging or are dented. These foods could contain the bacteria Clostridium botulinum, which is very dangerous. You should always refrigerate any foods containing meat, fish, eggs, milk products or cheese. These foods have a specific shelf life and should not be kept longer than is printed on the package.

Clean Kitchens
Involve your children in regularly cleaning equipment, counter tops, eating areas and even the dishes. Replacing or sanitizing sponges and towels can greatly prevent spreading of bacteria. Having separate cutting boards for meat is another important way to reduce chances of food-borne illness and plastic cutting boards are best because they don't provide housing areas for bacteria. By keeping the food preparation area clean and teaching your children about the importance of food safety, both you and your children can enjoy meal time.

FCE members attend Tri-County Rally Day

The annual Tri-County Rally Day was held March 25, in Seymour. This event is enjoyed every year by FCE members from Knox, Baylor and Haskell counties. Next year's fun day will be hosted by Knox County.

Forty-five members gathered at the Baylor Co. Extension center. Paulette Schultz was emcee. She gave the welcome and led the Pledge of Allegiance. Response was given by Delores Medford of Haskell County. Devotional was read by Lula Beatty of Knox County.

Tony Liebel, Attorney-at-Law of Seymour, discussed Elder Law. Booklets were available for all members with extensive information concerning Elder Law.

A Show and Tell session followed with a chance to show-off crafts and collections. Alice Yates entertained with a harmonica solo. She shared her collection of harmonicas and the stories behind several of them.

Baylor County Sheriff introduced deputy Jonathan Lloyd and deputy Harley. Harley is the Baylor County narcotics dog. Deputy Lloyd told the process of obtaining the dog and training. He gave a search demonstration with Harley.

FCE member Feiona Hostas showed how to make salt shaker angels and friendship soup in a jar. She had information sheets for all. A business meeting concluded the day.

Road courtesy needed

by Lou Gilly
Haskell Co. Extension Agent
Set the example and be a courteous driver. According to recent new reports, common courtesy on the road has nearly disappeared. One of the biggest safety hazards on our roads today is the growing number of discourteous drivers.

Discourteous drivers commonly tailgate, pass improperly, cut off other motorists, engage in unnecessary horn honking, weave in and out of traffic, flash headlights to get others out of their way, and sometimes display other inappropriate behavior over perceived affronts.

Losing self-control is the issue. Seemingly insignificant incidents such as parking space disputes, fender benders, obscene gestures, loud music, or failure to use a turn signal, can lead to violent behavior.

To become a more courteous driver, experts recommend:

- Use the passing lane only when passing.
- Allow plenty of space between your car and the car in front of you—do not tailgate.
- When driving slowly, stay to the right.
- Pull off the road to use your cell phone, otherwise, it may distract you.
- Park in only one parking space.

To avoid becoming the victim of a discourteous driver:

- Never underestimate the other driver's capacity for mayhem.
- Avoid eye contact with trouble making motorists.
- Don't challenge hostile drivers or react in any way. Instead, make every attempt to get away from them.
- Get the license plate number of a discourteous driver and report them to the police.
- Don't return gestures.
- Use your horn sparingly.
- Keep your distance from those who are driving erratically.
- Keep your cool

The roads are dangerous enough without provoking drivers who are capable of violent acts.

New petunia tested

by Lou Gilly
Haskell Co. Extension Agent
If you've ever grown petunias, you know they keep coming back whether you want them or not. They seed out and return year after year. Extension horticulturist Dr. Jerry Parsons says consumers will find the new "junior" petunia more exciting. He said the problem with old fashioned petunias is that they've lost their luster.

Texas horticulturists have corrected the color problem through cross breeding. They went back to the original, as Parsons puts it, the mother of all petunias, the V-I-P. V-I-P stands for very important petunia or Violet in Profusion. Researchers crossed it with the old fashioned petunia and came up with a beautiful purple bloom and vigorous green foliage.

The junior petunia incorporates the attractiveness and the hardiness of both plants. Junior is Texas tough. It tolerates 100 degree summer heat and has proven to withstand temperatures down to 15 degrees. The junior petunia is being test marketed in San Antonio.

This Week's Devotional Message: FAITH BIDS US OBEY THE LAWS OF THE LAND

The citizens of a free society know that the laws they must live by are the very guardians of their freedom and the safeguards of their lives and property. These laws are kept to the irreducible minimum required to protect us from each other and from the conceivable abuses of government, while at the same time allowing us the widest possible margin of personal liberty. God's laws were set forth throughout the Bible for these very reasons, along with many admonitions to obey the laws of the land as well. It will be to your advantage to learn all about this, by your regular attendance at the Church of your choice.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

KNOW THE RULES FOR PLAN PAYOUTS

For people who participate in retirement plans, age 70 1/2 has long been an important milestone. But recently, the rules in this area have changed. Here's a quick review of the current situation.

As a general rule, you still must take your first retirement plan payout when you reach age 70 1/2. Actually, the law gives you some leeway, and you have until April 1 of the year following the one in which you turn 70 1/2 to take your first distribution.

To illustrate, suppose you were born January 2, 1928. You will turn 70 1/2 on July 2, 1998, so you have until April 1, 1999, to take your first distribution.

Recently, two major exceptions have been added to this general rule:

- Owners of Roth IRAs are never required to take mandatory distributions.
- If you are still working at age 70 1/2, you may be able to wait until April 1 of the year after your retirement before taking distributions from your employer's qualified retirement plan. The administrator of your plan can tell you if this feature is available. This new exception does not apply to regular IRAs, SIMPLE IRAs, or Simplified Employee Pensions (SEPs).

If you have relatively large balances in your retirement plans, you'll be pleased to know that the penalty tax on "excess accumulations" have been eliminated. But that doesn't mean planning for retirement distributions has become easy. For example, if you are required to take your first payout after turning age 70 1/2, you don't necessarily want to wait until April 1 of the following year. Postponing your first distribution means you'll then have to take two distributions in the same year, and that could push you into a higher tax bracket. Even if you aren't required to take distributions at age 70 1/2 because you are still working, it could make good tax sense to start your payouts sooner rather than later.

If you would like assistance working through the numbers and getting the best tax treatment on your plan, contact our office.

Bostick wins model sailplane contest

They came to fly and fly they did. Despite the afternoon winds, model sailplanes filled the air

Saturday at the Haskell Model Airport. Modelers from Dallas, Tyler, Odessa, Amarillo, Oklahoma City joined local fliers in the first contest of the season. Wind forecasts proved correct and some models suffered damage.

Eight fliers made perfect scores in the first round and it seemed that the winner would have to put in four more perfect scores. And that almost proved to be the case, as the winner only dropped down in two rounds. Duration, combined with spot landings, was used to determine the results.

Top winner for the day was Henry Bostick of Dallas. 2nd and 3rd places went to Amarillo fliers Mark Hassinger and Bill Irwin. 4th place finisher was Jay Schultz from Tyler and 5th was Mark Hoffman of Dallas.

The Texas Chiefs Model Airplane Club, sponsor of the event, wishes to thank Rollings Plains Well Service of Knox City for preparing the fajitas dinner.

Local modelers will be competing in Amarillo April 18.

Around Town By Joyce Hawkins

Dee Sprayberry's children, a daughter and husband, Adelle and Doris Herring of Junction and a son, Jerry Sprayberry of Dallas spent the weekend of March 21 with her. While here they did several repair jobs and helped her celebrate her birthday.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Jess Leonard went to Mineral Wells and visited Clarence and Junita Ramsey and daughter Joyce and also went to Bryan and visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Ramsey on Saturday though Monday.

On Friday night Joyce had a surprise, her daughter Yuvonne Hulhines of Dimmitt came for the weekend. On Saturday, Phillip Floradean, Steven and Jimmy Cockerell of Early came. Later on Saturday, son James with wife Shirley and grandson Jordan Rhems of Wichita Falls visited. Children from here coming by were Margaret, Creora, Christopher, Melissa, Tatum and boys, Darlene, Daniel, David, Denise and Sabrina Conn, Gary and Vickie Hawkins to help Joyce celebrate her birthday. She also had phone calls from several other children and grandchildren and friends making her birthday a great one.

Visiting with Emma Bland over the weekend was her daughter Dana Gibson of El Reno, Okla. Emelie Gibson visited also.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Tidwell this weekend were Pat and Sue Glover from Richardson. Imagine Dobbs from Abilene and Mike, Julie and Robin Harrell of Haskell.

Visiting with Neat Bevel on Wednesday morning was a nephew, Trey Turner from near Stephenville where he is a pastor of a church. He was holding a revival at the First Baptist Church in Rochester. He did a lot of visiting with relatives in the community of his Grandpa Willie Mac Turner and Dad, F.F. Turner, Jr. and lots of old friends.

Herbert and Henerita Fischer went to visit their daughter, Caryl Sagebeil in Seigivene. They flew to Michigan to visit another daughter and family for a week, Marylon (Tweedy), Jim, Johauea and Jonathan Johnson. Snow was a cover on everything all the time they were there but it was beautiful, more especially the Huron National Park. As they returned home they spent a couple days visiting Dr. Freddie and Caryl in Seigivene.

Rev. Camellia Wade of the Greater Independent Baptist Church and Rev. Sammy Wade of the Macedonia Baptist Church was in Greenville, this weekend at the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Ann Davis. Rev. W.M. Hodge was in Corpus Christi, where he was at the Homecoming celebration for his wife, evangelist Mable E. Hodge, where he held her eulogy.

Greater Independent Baptist Church Mission had their 5th Sunday Mission program. They presented the pageant church house on wheel, and Rev. L.C. Johnson, Sr. brought the morning message.

Mary Catherine Whitaker is in the Hendrick Hospital and is asking everyone to pray for her.
