Theatre Screen Destroyed By High Winds Friday

The high wind which hit Muleshoe about 7 p. m. last Friday destroyed the screen at the Cox Drive-In Theatre here. Workmen are hurrying to install a new screen and add new strengthening braces to prevent a recurrence if possible. Howard Cox, theatre proprietor, said he hopes to be ready for business again Tuesday, or Thursday at the outside.

It is the second time the theatre has had its screen blown down. Last year a twister angled across from the Muleshoe airport where it destroyed a plane and the hangar, and the theatre screen got in the way. Huge poles on which the screen was fastened were twisted in two. Lots of limbs were blown off trees around Muleshoe in the hard wind Friday evening, but no other property loss was reported. Some hail fell and a light rain accompanied the wind here.

Fly Overs Are Being Canceled

Reese Air Force Base, May 13—Due to the oil strike and the resultant gasoline shortage, Headquarters USAF today announced that all formation fly-overs scheduled for Armed Forces Day have been cancelled. Therefore, the planes from Reese Air Force Base will not make the tour of nearby cities as previously stated. Other events scheduled for the Reese Open House, Saturday, will be as announced, including static (on the ground) displays of aircraft, from other bases. McFarland, will display its flight planning problem room, its link trainer section, its equipment laboratory, and a full-size mock-up of the famous TB-25 "Billy Mitchell" bomber. Bailey Co. People, Thru C of C Are Seeking Solution To Water Problem Developments came thick and fast this week as Muleshoe and Bailey County people continued to explore courses of action they might take in the water controversy with Lubbock, which city a week ago announced acquisition of an option to water rights to more than 50,000 acres in Bailey County.

The Chamber of Commerce has taken the lead in investigating the situation, and principally have made these two moves: 1. Officials have made a formal request for a conference with Lubbock officials in the near future. 2. Chambers of Commerce in ten Plains towns near Muleshoe have been asked to arrange a meeting where representatives of the Muleshoe C of C might state the case of local people and solicit their support. City officials in three other Plains towns will be contacted and solicited for their cooperation and support.

Al Hall, Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, yesterday wrote Mayor Murrell E. Tripp, of Lubbock, requesting a meeting of representatives of the two towns and suggested that the meeting be open to the public. Copies of that letter went to each member of Lubbock Water Resources Board, who are: Ruel C. Martin, chairman; George P. Kuykendall, Irving L. Jones, Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Charles A. Guy, J. Ray Dickey, Spencer A. Wells, Joe Nisler, Roy Furr, Elmer East, John Hughes, Robert Maxey, Harold E. Humphries, Clarence Whiteside, and E. K. Hufstedler, Jr. Mr. Hall also made public a letter the Chamber of Commerce addressed to C of C officials, or city officials where there is no such organization, in the following Plains towns: Hereford, Plainview, Dimmitt, Friona, Bovina, Portales, N. M., Farwell, Morton, Sudan, Littlefield, Olton, Earth, and Amherst. People of these towns will be asked to help in the fight that appears to be developing. That such cooperation will be extended is indicated by the reception received by W. M. Pool, Jr. and Harold King, who conferred with Friona Chamber of Commerce officials Tuesday night. The latter promised wholehearted cooperation and support to the people of Muleshoe and Bailey County. These things are reported to inform the people of this area who are wondering who is doing what. Through the Chamber of Commerce, it can be said, everything that appears practical and feasible and which appears to be helpful is being done and quickly. This paper reported in its issue of last week that the people are very much perturbed by the cities' move to tap the very source of supply for the deepest part of the Plains underground water basin. The paper can now report that it seems that the feeling of uneasiness has not abated, and in fact has intensified with every passing day, particularly in view of ominous reports being heard. It is the sense of the people at this time that they will do whatever is within their rights and is open to them to save the underground water of their part of the Plains.

Problems and obstacles that have been encountered by the Hi-Plains Underground Water Conservation District since its organization by vote of the people in parts of 13 Plains counties, and the state law under which the district was formed received a thorough going over when the precinct director and the county directors for Bailey, Farmer, and Castro Counties met here with their general manager Tuesday night. A sprinkling of local men, some business men representing the Chamber of Commerce, and a few irrigation farmers sat in on the meeting. The 18 men attending ate a steak supper in the dining room of the Post Office Cafe. Toward the end of the conference, the discussion turned to a consideration of possible effects on this irrigation district of the cities' securing water rights to large areas of land. The City of Lubbock recently acquired an option to purchase water rights on a large tract of Bailey County land. McFarland Presides

Water District Directors Study Problems, Policies In Meeting Here

Tom McFarland, manager for the district, presided and called upon every man present for comment. The round table produced a welter of facts and information about irrigation and the Plains water supply that ought to be produced and supplied to every inhabitant of this great area. In fact, a large part of the discussion was focused upon the need for an educational program, to reach all the people, and so designed as to furnish vital information not only upon the nature and source of our water supply, and its possible exhaustion, but actual facts about the law which permitted creation of the district and the limitations placed upon its directors, as well as the authority given to them by this law. Three Cents Tax Assessed

For instance, it was explained, the district has imposed a tax of 3 cents on the $100 of valuation on real and personal property in the district. McFarland estimated that on an average quarter section this tax will cost the landowner about 40 cents a year. One of the directors said some believe the tax will be much higher, confusing the 3 cents tax with a levy of 3 per cent. Another point was cleared up in regard to proration. The district does not have the power to prorate water, the law plainly says. As to well spacing, the district sees education as needed here, too. Recharging Is Feasible

McFarland said the board of directors has learned that recharging is not beyond the bounds of the practical. Some men, he pointed out, are drilling their wells on the lowest point of the field, rather than the highest, permitting the overflow to come back toward the well area. However, much has yet to be learned about recharging. And if and when the district goes into a recharging program, the full 5 cents tax allowed under the law might have to be used. Well spacing is another problem that will have to be studied, and no two communities will present the same conditions. County directors, however, should be men who know their own conditions and thus local counsel will be available. There are 13 counties or portions of counties in this Hi-Plains Water Conservation District, and 19 incorporated towns. Each county has three directors, and each three counties has a precinct director. In this district, McFarland estimated, there are now under irrigation some 5 million acres of land. He reviewed possible Federal and State future legislation that might affect the control of underground water. Conservation of water resources of the Plains was considered by several speakers to be vital to the continuance of a good supply of water to future generations of inhabitants.

Alfalfa Harvesting Is Underway In The Muleshoe Country This Week

First 1952 crop of alfalfa is being harvested in the Muleshoe country this week. The National Alfalfa Dehydrating & Milling Co., local mill, began the season by cutting hay on the farm of Allen Harris, northeast of town, toward the end of last week. This week they have been cutting hay on the farms of Roy Kruger, J. D. Kelly, Claude Sanders, Allison Bros., and C. W. Grandy. Onard Upton, mill manager here said the company started this season paying $20 per ton dry weight at the mill. The company sends its own crews into the fields, cuts and loads the loose hay, brings it to the mill where it is dehydrated and sacked in their modern plant. All the grower has to do is to water the hay. As soon as the hay is off the ground the grower begins to irrigate again, to speed the growth of the next crop. Mr. Upton said the local mill is operating enough of the time to keep up with the flow of the hay, but that later if enough hay is secured they will operate on a 24-hour a day basis.

FORBES DISCUSSES Picking Young Executives son Park, Mass., May 9—open season now for the executive hunt! Hundreds company recruitment officers in the chase, hopeful that they may bag "promising" colleges for their company grave mistakes will hunt costly in the long (1) colleges will give the with the highest grades the recommendations; and (2) anies will fail to interview of the best executive possible because the men are outcasts."

Myth Of Good Grades years now many educators promoted the notion that some qualities which bring a man high grades in school so makes for success on the job.

 Nothing could go further from the truth. One hundred and fifty years ago when the purpose of our colleges was primarily to educate for the learned profession, there may have been some direct relationship between grades and job success. But college is a vastly different institution today from what it was then.
 Several research students indicate that good grades have little or no bearing on a man's job success in business.

I am assuming, of course, that job success is measured by dollars and cents. I know that some teachers will challenge the financial yardstick. If the financial yardstick is not adequate measure, why is it that so many teachers have left the profession for jobs in industry? Or why do hoards of high school teachers slave to earn their Masters' Degrees? Certainly, with inflation today, college students and their parents place an ever-increasing emphasis on the monetary value of a college education.

Grades And Job Success For years now I have been an employer, and since 1919 and the foundation of Babson Institute I have been seriously interested in education. My observation is that in the average college the ability to sit, read, comprehend, memorize and reply parrot-fashion to the professor will insure good grades.

Do these particular abilities pay off in business? Not especially, except in the profession.
 Of course, if the college, in addition to developing scholastically competent individuals, has done something about character and personality development, then we have a different situation. But too many colleges give only lip-service to character education.

What Business Needs
 I hope company recruitment officers won't let the schools and college over-emphasize the grade aspect of a job recommendation. What business needs most today are men with the character qualities of wisdom and honesty, a personal philosophy of self-reliance and the ability to act and get things done.

Employment experience has shown that some of these qualities are best developed outside the classroom—editing the school paper, managing a team, representing the student body in student government, being social chairman of a fraternity. The extra-curricular record also measures best drive and follow-through. Wisdom should have been developed in the classroom.
 The scholar is often wise but has poor judgement. The scholar sees people acting as he believes they ought to act. The successful businessman, however, sees people as they really are.

Importance Of "Drive" Practical application of good judgement can be measured in a man's personal conduct record.

work record, campus participation, and in a variety of ways.
 A high degree of self reliance and competitiveness as measured by hobbies, part-time jobs, and the kind of extra-curricular activities in which one has participated are character traits absolutely essential to success in any free enterprise economy.

I want to know what kind of an economic philosophy the young graduate has picked up in college. The successful young executive must learn to drive himself and deprive himself—perhaps even his family—because he sees in the long run that it is for the good of all. The high turnover of young executives on their first jobs suggest that both college and company recruitment officers ought to pay more attention to some of the practical requirements for success in the profession, manufacturing, commerce, and in even farming.

BAILEY COUNTY'S WATER FEARS UNDERSTANDABLE They Want Proof — We Should Supply It

(The following is an editorial which appeared in The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal in its issue of Sunday, May 11.) The widespread concern caused in Muleshoe and environs, when the City of Lubbock acquired water rights on some 51 sections of land in Bailey County is understandable and not to be criticized.

Residents of Lubbock can appreciate the feelings of Bailey county people. Faced with the same situation here, they would react to it exactly as Bailey County citizens have. If some other city should attempt to get water supplies in the Lubbock area which might affect our own reserves, we would want to know all the facts before approving the action.

Bailey County residents, as a whole, are giving a splendid example of broadmindedness in this matter. Most of them, apparently, are keeping an open mind on the question of whether the development designed to insure Lubbock adequate water for many years would, or would not be prejudicial to their own interests and future.

But, sensibly, they do not propose to take chances of allowing their water reserves to be imperiled for the benefit of anyone else, if they can avoid it. They probably want conclusive proof that supplies for Lubbock from a Bailey County source would not be detrimental to their welfare—and the burden is upon Lubbock to satisfy them on this score, if possible.

We are quite sure citizens of Bailey County, many of whom we esteem as friends and acquaintances, would not begrudge Lubbock any water they know they safely can spare. But they are not willing to help build Lubbock at the expense of their county and communities—and, in their shoes, we would feel exactly the same way.

We are equally sure that fair and farsighted Lubbock citizens would not condone attempt to build a bigger city by tearing down any part of the surrounding territory. Common sense, as well as fair play, dictates this attitude. Lubbock's growth and prosperity depends on South Plains growth and prosperity. If the surrounding area should stop developing, or slip backward, Lubbock will do likewise.

The immediate need, it seems to us, is to make every effort possible to prove to Bailey Countians

 THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

GOD'S WATCHFUL CARE Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee. (Isaiah 41:10.) Read II Thessalonians 3: 1-5.

Like priceless jewels in a box we find the promises of God as we open His Word. Think of the countless ones of earth who have looked into the Bible and have claimed those jewels of promise as their own! They have found the gems to be genuine and flawless. Countless people have become rich beyond all measure through faith in those promises.
 How many hours of agony have been lightened by God's promises! How many troubled ones have found comfort in them! The godly grow less dismayed as they lean upon the One who has promised to uphold them by His love and watchful care.

 It would be a difficult world in which to live were not for the promises of God, although so often we lack faith to depend upon them as we should. We go forth far more bravely and courageously when we are strengthened through an unwavering faith in God's promises to be with us and to uphold us. God means His rich promise for us.

PRAYER
 We thank Thee, our Father, for Thy words promising Thy love and watchful care. Help us at all times to put faith in Thee.
 Uphold us, keep us, and strengthen us for whatever trials may be ours this day. We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY God's promises prove God's watchful care.

SAND HILLS PHILOSOPHER: SAYS Texas Is Slipping When It Comes To Certain Types Of Transactions

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Odd Idea this week, his letter reveals.
 Dear editor:

I would like to know if you think Texas is slipping?
 It's generally recognized we got the biggest state, the biggest ranches, the biggest oil supply, the widest highways, the most cattle, the worst droughts, the roughest riders, the prettiest women, the most boll weevils, the biggest hats, the richest millionaires, the longest ears, the best football teams, the fattest wallets, the only Dallas, the biggest Houston, etc., but there's one thing we ain't doin so well on.

It's bank robbin.
 Not only bank robbin, but generally robbin in the higher brackets any type of dereliction of a financial nature. You take Boston, they had a million dollar robbery up there last year. Or Nevada, where they had a two-million dollar burglary. Or that place where robbers took three quarters of a million in cash out of an armed truck while the drivers were drinkin coffee. And it ain't nothing to read of $100,000 or $50,000 robberies or big jewel thefts in other states.

But what happens in Texas?
 Two or three thousand dollar loots is about all we can manage.
 Measly jobs probably pulled by outsiders from Oklahoma. A first that Lubbock can obtain water from the Sand Hills without penalizing them. We think this can be done. We hope this will be done as soon as possible, and to the complete satisfaction of our Bailey County neighbors.

mention em in his paper, and if somebody does embezzle a few hundred thousand from his bank, what happens? He puts it back.
 Now I'm not proposin that Texas surge to the top in this profession, but I would like to know how it is those other states come to have so much loose change lyin around. Seems to me they're goin to a lot of trouble and ex-posure to out-brag Texas.

Or take the ordinary tax collector, it looks like Texas ought to be able to produce some just as dishonest as those they got in New York or Boston or St.
 Louis. Can't Texans make off with as much tax money as a Yankee? Thunder, Texans just ain't tryin. Why, we haven't even had a basketball scandal, and when a government official resigns down here on account of his health, he's actually sick.

Texas is gettin left out in the cold. Ain't we worth influencin just as much as anybody else?
 Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

"I'll take the Quonset 'Steel Route' from now on"

"When you see an erection job done smoothly, quickly and (apparently) easily, you can be sure that it was well planned and engineered. I am well pleased with the 40' x 80' Quonset that was recently erected on my farm, southeast of Enochs," states Mr. A. P. Fred, cotton and grain farmer.

"I feel that I have a permanent barn that will take care of all my implements and grain storage needs, with good lighting and easy access."

"My son will probably find this Quonset just as valuable to him when he grows up and takes over the management of this farm. I consider the Quonset Steel Building a valuable asset to any farm."

Reasonable initial cost, fast delivery and erection, rodent and weather resistance, extended durability and versatility put Quonset in a class by themselves.

You can swing it if you try

HAVE you, by any chance, been casting eyes at a Buick, and promising yourself that someday you will take the Big Step and have one all your own?

Let us whisper something to you. The "big step" isn't big at all.

We know that's true, because such a high percentage of present Buick owners traded in a car tagged as belonging in "the low-priced field."

So why not set your sights on this star performer?

Why not enjoy big-car comfort—big-car power—big-car prestige for your money?

There's one of these lively lovelies waiting for you to come in and try it.

Get the feel of its mighty Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head. You could pay $300 to $400 more for a car that doesn't match its horsepower.

Get the feel of Dynaflo Drive*, that lets you ride relaxed—feeds a silken flow of power—and at the same time cuts down on upkeep costs, by protecting the engine, the rear end, and even the tires, from driving strains.

Get the feel of a ride that cost a million dollars and more for controls of end-sway and side-roll and vertical "throw"—for X-bracing the frame and V-bracing the torque-tube keel—for a total of 15 ride-engineering features.

One thing you'll know for sure when you've tried it. This car wasn't "built to a price." It's a Buick through and through.

But the fact remains that—when you check the price of a Buick SPECIAL against the price tags on so-called "low-priced cars"—you'll find out you can swing it if you really want to.

And brother, will that make your family happy!

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. †Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster only.

ONLY BUICK PROVIDES THEM ALL

DYNAFLOW DRIVE*—great boon to easier driving, proved on more than a million Buicks

FIREBALL 8 ENGINE—of valve-in-head design, makes high compression count for more

NEW WIDE-BAND BRAKES—for smoother, more positive control

MILLION DOLLAR RIDE—with 4-wheel coil springing and road-steady torque-tube

TOP-CAPACITY TRUNKS—in rare luggage room than ever in most models

NEW TWO-TONE INTERIORS—in most models, grace Buick's Body by Fisher

SWEEPSPAR STYLING—adds gleaming smartness to all models

Plus These, Too, On ROADMASTER

AIRPOWER CARBURETOR—with highest horsepower in Buick history, MORE MILES PER GALLON . . . POWER STEERING†—greatly eases parking and turning, without losing that firm feel . . . SILENCE—so complete you can speak in whispers under way.

Sure is true for '52

NEW WAY TO RAKE HAY

faster... better!

SIX-BAR OFFSET REEL MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE

The Ferguson Side-Delivery Rake is designed specifically for tractor operation. It greatly reduces leaf-shattering . . . safeguards the quality and value of your hay!

This rake is truly unique. New six-bar offset reel handles hay gently. No pitching, kicking and tossing even at high speeds. Instead, your hay is lifted gently, up and over into light fluffy windrows with the precious leaves turned inward.

True "sideward" raking action reduces the distance from swath to windrow by 50 per cent. There is far less rolling and churning . . . no sudden jarring.

Tractor-mounted . . . power take-off driven . . . Finger Tip Controlled. And it's surprisingly low in price.

Printing Career Open For Youths

A great career in the printing business awaits many boys now about to graduate from high school.

This is the opinion of leaders in the printing and publishing industry who have launched a program to show the advantages of a printing education.

First step in the program is a series of ads released by Texas Press Association. The ads show that the printing trade offers some of the best possible opportunities for advancement to choice positions. One ad states: "Printing needs trained men. It pays a high wage and is a fact-making trade. Why be satisfied with less when a printing school can make it possible for you to have the best?"

Fred Massengill, Jr., Terrell, President of Southwest School of Printing in Dallas and past president of Texas Press Association, asserts that "many young men now heading for the crowded professions would be better fitted for the skills and craftsmanship required in printing."

The advertisements direct attention to the Southwest School of Printing, 3800 Clarendon Drive, Dallas 11, Texas, for free information. The school's next class opens June 9.

KEITH GAEDE SANG

Last week The Journal forgot one of the mainest things about the joint civic clubs luncheon at which Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, was the speaker. The paper omitted to say that Keith Gaede, high school student, sang two beautiful songs, accompanied at the piano by his instructor, Mrs. C. W. Grandy.

Mrs. Roy Carney Hobby Described By Magazine

By Katharine Randall IN FARMER-STOCKMAN

Leatherwork is an entertaining hobby as well as a practical way of adding to the family income, according to Mrs. Roy Carney. She learned leather tooling "just for fun, but it turned out to be a good part of our living when crops failed." She added, "This extra cash income helped keep our 4 youngsters in school."

Mrs. Carney learned leather work at a leader training school for Home Demonstration Clubs and was fascinated by her new-found art. She claims that "you have to have a knack and love to do it." She first made billfolds, belts and purses for family and friends. Then requests came in from "those who heard about her or saw some of her work." Others wanted to be taught how to tool leather. So she taught tools and held small schools.

The first year Mrs. Carney held 11 short courses each lasting 2 days. "Most women catch on in that time and can learn more by doing." She made no charge "just traveling expenses and keep." But she sold supplies and built up a steady business.

She takes the articles to class "readycut" to save time. Then she shows the women how to tool leather, put in eyelets and fasteners, and how to lace the pieces together with leather thongs. "We usually start on billfolds because the women can learn tooling, lining and lacing and finish in 2 days."

She recommends cowhide for purses, calfskin for billfolds, and a "slick finish leather for lining so powder won't stick." She glues in linings with rubber cement, "shaping the article when gluing in the lining."

Her stamping tools include cutter, tracer, backgrounder, shaver, beveler, and other decorating implements for making veins and flower centers. She uses a space marker, bodkin and punch.

Mrs. Carney draws many of her own designs and varies the flowers and swirls in those she copies. She gets ideas from needlework and stencil patterns.

Vacation Jobs For Minors Should Be Of Concern To All Employers

Vacation jobs for minors, already beckoning to boys and girls soon to leave their classrooms, are a matter of concern for Uncle Sam again this year. Field Office Supervisor Beu W. Ferrel of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage-Hour office here, points out that although having a summer job is worthwhile, the far reaching effects of an education, which boys and girls should continue when schools re-open in September, "far outweigh the money earned on a summer job."

And before they start to work, he insists that teen-agers should know the jobs they may legally do under the two Federal labor laws administered by the U. S. Department of Labor. Those laws are (1) the Fair Labor Standards Act and (2) the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act.

Both laws restrict the employment of child labor, the first in interstate commerce, and the second on work connected with U. S. government contracts. The accompanying chart tells the story.

Child labor provisions in the Fair Labor Standards Act apply to any employer who employs any minor in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for commerce, and to any producer, manufacturer, or dealer who ships goods or delivers goods for shipment in interstate or foreign commerce. Generally the minimum age or such employment is 16 years; however there are 10 so-called hazardous types of jobs for which a minimum age of 18 years has been set.

The Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act applies to manufacturers or dealers contracting to make or supply materials valued in excess of $10,000 for the U. S. government. On such work, the minimum age for boys is 16 years and the minimum age for girls is 18 years.

Mr. Ferrell also would like for youngsters to know about the type of age certificate needed for employment. For employers who wish to protect themselves from unintentional violation of these Federal laws will require boys and girls to obtain age certificates before they start to work.

Lt. Smith Attends Instructor School

First Lieutenant Robert Smith, son of Denfil O. Smith is one of the class of civilian and military pilots now attending the current six-week course at the Pilot Instruction School at Craig Air Force Base, Ala. The Pilot Instruction School, the only training program of its kind in the Air Force, offers a six-week course in both academic and flying instruction to qualified pilots who will later be assigned to various air bases throughout the country to teach aviation cadets how to fly. Lt. Smith is highly recommended for this assignment, having a great deal of past flying experience to his credit.

those who are 18 and 19 if they work in occupations declared to be hazardous. Minor girls of 18 and 19 will need such certificates if they work on government contracts, he says.

In Texas, such certificates of age are issued as a public service by any of the 82 offices of the Texas Employment Service.

Finally, he advises young workers to find out about the legal minimum ages and other conditions for employment which are set by the state child labor laws of the state in which they work. Some state laws have higher ages for employment than the two Federal laws, and whichever sets the higher standard prevails.

Further information about the legal minimum ages for employment under Federal laws may be obtained from the Wage-Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, Fort Worth, Texas.

Use Of Rotary Hoe Is Cutting Crop Expenses

Cotton chopping and hoeing rank next to harvesting as top labor consuming operations in the production of cotton. In some sections of Texas, almost one-fourth of all man hours required to produce a cotton crop are spent on chopping and hoeing. Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the use of rotary hoes will reduce the item and increase the income from cotton.

He says farmers last year reported savings up to 60 percent on these two items by using the rotary hoe. The number of rotary hoe equipped farm tractors has increased from 7,000 in 1949 to almost 19,500 in 1951. Last year such equipment was used in 111 counties.

Elliott is a strong believer in using the rotary hoe for early weed control. He is quick to point out however that the ground speed of the tractor must be right and the hoe must be properly adjusted. A common mistake often made by the tractor operator is driving the tractor too slow. For best results, he says the tractor should be operated in third gear at speeds up to five or six miles per hour and even faster under favorable conditions and with an experienced operator.

As for the picker wheel adjustments, he says the wheels should be set so they will break the surface crust to a depth of one-half to three-fourths of an inch. This not only breaks up the surface crust but also tears up the soil so that seedling weeds and grass are exposed to the action of the sun and wind before they have a chance to come through the ground or before their root systems become established.

He reports that many farmers reduce the ground speed of the tractor because they are afraid of covering up the small cotton plants or damaging them as a result of the thoroughly torn up

Better Hogs Are Being Raised In Texas These Days

Better hogs are being raised in Texas. This improvement has resulted from the long time improvement program sponsored by the swine breeders association, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and many other educational agencies.

Figures from the annual report of Extension Swine Husbandman, E. M. Regenbrecht, show that last year Texas farmers produced 2,308,000 hogs. He points out that Texas production could be increased and cites as an example what has happened in one corn belt state. In this state, 45 per cent of the grain feed produced is utilized or hog production. If this were done in Texas, Regenbrecht says, the state could profitably produce 4,000,000 head of swine. Quality Is Bettered Even though Texas may not be producing the maximum amount of hogs, progress has been made in increasing quality and the number of pigs per litter. A look at swine statistics for Texas in the past reveals that litters of pigs have been very small. Hogs on the open ranges in East Texas and other range hog areas are included in the statistics, and the small litters from these areas pulls down the average for the state.

The average number of pigs raised per litter for Texas from 1938 to 1947, spring farrowed, was 5.9 pigs while the fall average for the same period was 6.1 pigs. The corresponding national average for the same period was 6.21 for fall, and 6.37 for spring. While the cornbelt averages were 6.32 and respectively. More Pigs Cared The Texas figures for pigs saved has risen, and in 1951 Texas surpassed the national average for both spring and fall litters and also surpassed the cornbelt for fall litters. The Texas fall average in 1951 was 6.17 pigs per litter, Regenbrecht says. Twenty-seven hundred thirty-two white 4-H club boys in 165 Texas counties and Negro 4-H boys in 30 counties last year participated in a program of herd improvement. The Sears-Roebuck Foundation has for many years cooperated in this program by supplying pure bred breeding stock. Sows owned by these 4-H members last year far-owned an average of 8 plus pigs per litter.

Reasons given by Regenbrecht for this improvement start with the use of better breeding stock. As a result of demonstrations conducted by 4-H members and adults and supervised by county agricultural agents, Texas farmers are using improved practices such as better hog lot equipment, improved rations, grazing crops, sanitation and control of diseases and parasites. The use of these practices has helped to make hog raising in Texas more profitable.

Holland Student Talks At Local Group Meetings

Peter van der Veen, young Netherlands man who is here to study American agriculture at first hand for six months before returning to his native Holland, was the speaker at the Rotary Club at noon Tuesday and told many interesting things about his country. At the end of his talk he was bombarded with questions from those present.

Peter is to stay in the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Maltby, northwest of Muleshoe the next five months, and will make a regular hand about the place. Mrs. Maltby accompanied him to the Rotary luncheon Tuesday, Monday night Mr. van der Veen spoke before the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church.

His home is in Wageningen, in the province of Gelderland, in the eastern part of Holland, very near the German border and in the vicinity where the River Rhine crosses from Germany into Holland.

He has received his bachelor's degree from the University of Wageningen and now is working toward his master's degree, a part of which study must be practical work on a farm. He and four other Holland students came to America this time; two are studying forestry and are stationed in Washington state; one is near Austin, another is near Lubbock.

His trip to the U. S. is under sponsorship of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Extension Service. At the end of five months he is scheduled to leave here and make two tours of a week each with USDA and Extension Service men.

Peter is studying to qualify himself for instruction in tropical farming. Upon completion of his studies, he will go to some overseas country, possibly Indonesia, or wherever some farm operator wants him to begin his career.

Young van der Veen expressed the appreciation of the people of Holland for the help American Armed Forces gave in liberating them from the Germans in World War II, and for the continuing interest of U. S. people in the prosperity and well being of the people of Holland; and for the help extended through the Marshall Plan to advance the economic recovery of his country. Because of this assistance Holland enjoys many freedoms, he said.

Water -

Directors in attendance at the meeting were: Willis Hawkins, of Hart, precinct director for Bailey, Castro and Parmer Counties;

Ross Goodwin, Troy Aetkinson, and H. E. Schuster, Bailey County directors; Bruce Parr and Raymond Euler, Friona, Parmer County directors; G. I. Clinging-smith, Hart, Gene Ivy, Dimmitt, and Judge Posey Cunningham, Dimmitt, Castro County directors. The general office of the district are in Lubbock.

Bob Thurmond, irrigation expert of the Extension Service, from Texas Tech College, was present and spoke briefly, urging community cooperation in studying water problems, and a continuing research for facts about water and irrigation methods.

Local men attending besides those mentioned were Buford Butts, Jim Cox, Joe Sooter, W. T. Millen, Jesse Osborn, J. M. Forbes and Al Hall.

The local meeting was one of several such gatherings, both to gather ideas of the local directors, to help them in their work, and to acquaint the general public with the aims and objects of the district.

Holland is now able to export some things which she produces or manufactures and this helps the economic status of the country, he said. Holland has a population of about 10 million, of which only about 200,000 are on the farms. The population is gaining at the rate of 100,000 per year, and in recent years it has been necessary to create new land by adding dikes so that more farm land will be available for these additional people.

In response to questions van der Veen gave many statistics Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be May 21 in the home of Mrs. John West.

Pleasant Valley Club Has Meeting

The Pleasant Valley Community 4-H Club met Tuesday night at the Pleasant Valley School house. The sponsor, Bill Rogers, presided over the meeting.

Bill Rogers then discussed the calves and hogs to be shown at next year's show. He reported that 5 acres of cotton will also be grown by the 4-H group.

THAT'S WHAT I CALL REAL SERVICE

And You ALWAYS Get It When You Use McCormick Equipment

One day, right in the middle of harvest, a customer hurried in and asked for a replacement part for his 10-year-old combine. I went to the parts bin, and as I came back and plunked the part down on the counter, he grinned and said: "That's what I like about using McCormick equipment. When I do need a part, you always have it or can get it right quick."

He started to walk out, and I said, "How about letting our service man put that part on for you? Your machine might need a little adjustment here and there, and he can do that at the same time."

He thought it over for a minute, and laid the part back on the counter. "Go ahead," he grinned. "I've got a couple of other things to take care of here in town anyway. The combine is standing in the field south of the house."

He turned to go, and I mentioned, "If you're not at home by the time he puts on the part, I'll have him try the combine and look it over thoroughly and give you a report. Maybe we can get together and arrange to fix it ahead of time for next season and save you time and trouble."

"Go ahead," he agreed again. "That's what I call real service!"

"Just a part of our regular IH 5-Star Service," I said.
