Sonic to serve free root beer Thurs.

Summer is officially here and Sonic Drive-In is offering a great way for its customers to cool off as the temperatures rise. This Thurs., June 7, Sonic Drive-Ins will offer customers free root beer floats between 8 p.m. and close. Sonic Drive-Ins plan to serve up more than 3 million free root beer floats to customers coast to coast during this special event.

"One of Sonic's core values is to surprise and delight our customers. Free root beer floats offer us a great way to do just this by providing our customers an unexpected sweet treat to kick off summer," said Todd Townsend, vice president and chief marketing officer of Sonic Industries Services Inc. "Sonic is the place to go this summer when you need something sweeter after dark."

Sonic is stocked up on the delectable, sweet, cool and frothy treat to keep you cool all summer long. The root beer float is a unique treat; you can have it old-fashioned style or blended-whipping the soft serve into the bubbly root beer for a smooth, delicious drink. And, at $99 during the month of June, the classic root beer float has an even sweeter price. The root beer float is just one of 168,894 drink combinations at Sonic.

This summer, Sonic has a variety of ways to satisfy your sweet tooth, including Sonic Blast® treats, floats, shakes, malts, CreamSlush® treats, cream pie shakes, banana splits, ice cream sundaes and cones.

Obituaries

Nancy Porterfield

NANCY PORTERFIELD

Funeral services for Nancy Porterfield, 74, of Buda were held Sat., June 2 at Buda United Methodist Church. Graveside services will be held Mon., June 11 at 10 a.m. at the Eastview Cemetery in Vernon.

Born Aug. 17, 1932 in Haskell, she was the daughter of Veta (Weaver) and Stanley Furrh. She was raised for the early part of her life on a rustic farm and appreciated the arrival of modern conveniences.

After graduating from Haskell High School in 1949, she was off to college at Texas Tech in Lubbock. She met her husband of 37 years, Marion 'Davis' Porterfield, during that time and when she received her BBA in Commercial Teaching in 1953, the two had life plans set. They married June 21, 1953, and lived most of their married life in Corpus Christi. She worked as a secretary until 1989 and carried those skills into every part of her life, taking notes and making lists of things that were important to her.

She had many gifts. She was a kind and fair person. She was organized, thoughtful and generous. She enjoyed hearing about both the important and the everyday things in peoples' lives, especially her children and grandchildren and was supportive of them in many ways. She was a very good cook and loved to offer you her hospitality in that way. She prepared her sons well for this world giving them a stable and loving base from which to grow.

She was preceded in death by her parents and her husband.

Survivors include her two sons, Larry Porterfield and wife, Susan of Houston and Rev. Mark Porterfield and wife, Margot of Buda; six grandchildren, Laura, Eliza, Leah and Trent Porterfield of Houston and Maxwell and Maggie Porterfield of Buda.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Buda United Methodist Church Building Fund, P.O. Box 1196, Buda, Texas 78610. PD. NOTICE

Dudley Bob Myers

Funeral services for Dudley Bob Myers, 90, of Haskell were held Thurs., May 31 at Seymour Memorial Funeral Home Chapel in Seymour with Bob Myers, nephew, officiating. Interment was in Riverview Cemetery, under the direction of Seymour Memorial Funeral Home.

Mr. Myers died Mon., May 28 at Haskell Healthcare Center in Haskell.

Born June 18, 1916 near Roby, he was the son of Ralph Myers and Hannah Ubben Myers. He married Ruby Horne March 11, 1942.

He was with the 704th Tank Destroyer Battalion, a part of the 4th Armored Division. He was deployed to Normandy, France on July 23, 1944 after leaving England. While advancing across France, he was engaged by General George S. Patton to determine the delay of the convoy, and questioned by him as to his personal well being.

Meeting General Patton was an extraordinary moment of his tour in World War II. He was also engaged in the Battle of the Bulge, and his division was instrumental in freeing prisoners of war at Ohrdruf, Germany. The 4th Armored Division received a Presidential Unit Citation for three major tank battles.

In May 1945, as a Technical Sergeant, Myers returned to the United States to begin a life-long commitment to farming in the Red Springs Community, and to raising six children.

He was preceded in death by his wife of 62 years, Ruby LaVerne Myers on Feb. 18, 2004; his parents; two brothers, C.E. Myers and C.C. Myers; sister, Lois Myers; grandson, Eric Myers; and granddaughter, Heather Myers Barnes.

Survivors include three daughters, Linda Kaye Powell and husband, Bill of Whitehouse, Margie Myers of Van Alstyne and Diane Karr and husband, Kevin of Pampa; three sons, Gene Myers and wife, Lois of Joshua, James Myers and wife, Janis of Corsicana, and Jerry Don Myers and wife, Linda of Rule; one brother, C.R. Myers of Toney, Alabama; 20 grandchildren and 29 great grandchildren.

Memorials may be made to the Knox County War Memorial Building or a favorite charity. PD. NOTICE

SOME TIPS FOR THE TWENTY-SOMETHING GENERATION

Young people generally feel pretty good about life, but once in a while, they may wonder if they're making the right financial moves. Here are some simple (yet effective) financial strategies for people in their early twenties.

•Pay yourself first. Every time you get paid, put something aside in a savings or investment account. As a general rule, save 10% of your income. Even smaller amounts add up over time.

•Watch your plastic. Credit cards are an expensive form of debt, and it's easy to lose control of them. Try to pay your entire credit balance every month, even if it's a stretch. If you've been carrying a balance, buy nothing more on credit until the balance is zero.

•Keep a clean credit record. If you plan to own a home, buy a car, or start a business, you're going to need squeaky-clean credit. Keep all of your financial obligations current, and never make a financial commitment that you can't keep. If you fall behind on any obligation, talk to the creditor immediately to make alternative arrangements.

•Make sure you have top-notch medical coverage. You may not see a doctor even once this year. But if you do need medical care, it could be for something serious and expensive. Anything less than a good major medical policy could ruin you financially.

•Watch your expenses. At this point in your career, you may not receive large or frequent pay raises. But you can achieve the same effect by cutting expenses. Shop before you buy. Very similar—and sometimes identical products—are sold at widely varying prices. Wise shopping can be the equivalent of having a good-paying second job.

For assistance with financial strategies suitable for your particular age and situation, give us a call.

HIGHLIGHTS

Legislation passes, speaker survives challenges

AUSTIN—The 140 day regular session of the 80th Texas Legislature ended on May 28.

The House and Senate completed the essential task of settling on a budget—$153 billion—covering fiscal years 2008-2009.

The state budget for 2008-2009 includes a set-aside of $7.5 billion for property tax relief in 2010-2011.

Commanding the bulk of attention, however, was House Speaker Tom Craddick's battle to withstand challenges to his authority in the final days of the session.

Members from both major political parties cited parliamentary precedents and House rules in attempts to be recognized on the House floor so they could move to conduct a vote to vacate the chair.

Had such a motion been recognized and a vote taken, Craddick, R-Midland, might have been forced to step down. Then members could have elected another speaker to serve out the remainder of the session.

Three days before the session's end, Parliamentarian Denise Davis and Deputy Parliamentarian Chris Griesel, who had advised Craddick all session long, abruptly resigned their posts.

A short time later, Craddick appointed former state Reps. Terry Keel and Ron Wilson as parliamentarian and deputy parliamentarian, respectively. The pair guided Craddick through a maze of questions from the floor.

Craddick, Keel and Wilson ran down the clock, repeatedly responding to members with rulings that it is the speaker's absolute right to choose to recognize or not recognize a member to make a motion. In effect, "You will not be recognized to make that motion," was the pat response. Attempts to be recognized subsided as lawmakers saw the opportunity to pass legislation slipping away.

Craddick said he plans to run for a fourth term as speaker, but he will face competition. The list of House members who have expressed a desire to succeed Craddick includes Republican Reps. Fred Hill of Richardson, Jim Keffer of Eastland, Jim Pitts of Waxahachie, Robert Talton of Pasadena and Brian McCall of Plano, and Democratic Reps. Senfronia Thompson and Speaker Pro Tempore Sylvester Turner, both of Houston.

The 81st Legislature will convene in January 2009. Craddick and challengers will have 18 months to get promises of support from colleagues.

Major legislation gains passage

Despite time lost in efforts to unseat Craddick, legislators still managed to push through and pass about 1,500 bills. Here are the effects of a few of them:

- A water plan benefiting Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and other thirsty metro areas and giving rural areas some control over interbasin water transfers.

- A $425 minimum pay increase for public school teachers and a set of standards that if met can qualify a teacher for an additional raise.

- Funding for the Childrens Health Insurance Program will give coverage to an additional 127,000 children.

- Enhanced felony charges possible for owners of dogs that attack other people.

- Elective Bible education classes for schools that have enough students who express an interest in taking them.

- A toll road bill that puts a two-year hold on construction of the Trans Texas Corridor project but allows the planning to continue, while granting local and regional toll authorities control over their own road projects.

- Random steroid testing of Texas high school athletes.

- A requirement for all public schools to have at least one automated external defibrillator on campus.

- More than $200 million for additional law enforcement officers and technology to aid in border and homeland security operations.

- Constitutional amendment letting voters decide in November if the Legislature should be required to record each member's vote on final passage of substantive bills.

- Constitutional amendment letting voters decide in November if the state of Texas should borrow $3 billion for cancer research over the next decade.

Deadline for the governor to veto bills is June 17.

Everyone is all about makeovers these days—from extreme personal makeovers to extreme home makeovers. Perhaps we also should consider a financial makeover, before it gets to be extreme. Here are some simple suggestions for your financial makeover.

Develop a Plan

It is much easier to focus on a goal if you can see it. Develop a written plan to rid yourself of debt and focus on what it will take to attain that goal. To get a true perspective of your financial situation, list all of your assets—everything you own. Then list all of your debts—what you owe. When you subtract your debts from your assets, then you will see your net worth. Now make a list of all of your sources of income to determine your cash flow. List all of your expenses, such as mortgage, car, food and credit card expenses. Subtract your expenses from income and you will come up with your positive or negative cash flow. If you have a negative cash flow, it is definitely time for a financial makeover.

Develop a Budget

This will allow you to better understand where your money goes each month. Track your spending habits by keeping a daily log of all of your expenditures. At the end of the month, you may be surprised to see how much money you could save.

Implement Your Plan
Begin your makeover by reviewing your credit report and your credit score at least once a year. Under federal law, you're entitled to one free credit report on an annual basis. To learn more, call 1-877-322-8228. Many people wait until they need to make a major purchase before paying attention to their credit report and score and could be shocked at their low rating. If you find an error in your report, fix it immediately.

Be sure to reconcile your bank and credit card statements each month for accuracy. And while debit cards have made our lives easier, be sure to enter all debit card transactions into your check register. Failure to do so could result in overdraft charges and fees and a major hit to your carefully crafted budget.

Use Credit Cards Wisely
Credit cards, when used wisely, are a valuable and convenient tool for money management and dealing with unexpected circumstances. It is, however, imperative that you fully understand the terms and conditions of any credit card agreement and ensure that you abide by "the rules" to avoid

E-mail scams

The Internal Revenue Service has alerted taxpayers to the latest versions of an e-mail scam intended to fool people into believing they are under investigation by the agency's Criminal Investigation division.

The e-mail purporting to be from IRS Criminal Investigation falsely states that the person is under a criminal probe for submitting a false tax return to the California Franchise Board. The e-mail seeks to entice people to click on a link or open an attachment to learn more information about the complaint against them. The IRS warned people that the e-mail link and attachment is a Trojan Horse that can take over the person's computer hard drive and allow someone to have remote access to the computer.

The IRS urged people not to click the link in the e-mail or open the attachment.

Similar e-mail variations suggest a customer has filed a complaint against a company and the IRS can act as an arbitrator. The latest versions appear aimed at business taxpayers as well as individual taxpayers.

The IRS does not send out unsolicited e-mails or ask for detailed personal and financial information. Additionally, the IRS never asks people for the PIN numbers, passwords or similar secret access information for their credit card, bank or other financial accounts.

"Everyone should beware of these scam artists," said Kevin M. Brown, Acting IRS Commissioner. "Always exercise caution when you receive unsolicited e-mails or e-mails from senders you don't know."

Recipients of questionable e-mails claiming to come from the IRS should not open any attachments or click on any links contained in the e-mails. Instead, they should forward the e-mails to phishing@irs.gov (the instructions may be found on IRS.gov by entering the term "phishing" in the search box).

The IRS also sees other e-mail scams that involve tricking victims into revealing private personal and financial information over the Internet is known as "phishing" for information.

The IRS and the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration work with the U.S. Computer Emergency Readiness Team (US-CERT) and various Internet service providers and international CERT teams to have the phishing sites taken offline as soon as they are reported.

Since the establishment of the mail box last year, the IRS has received more than 17,700 e-mails from taxpayers reporting more than 240 separate phishing incidents. To date, investigations by TIGTA have identified host sites in at least 27 different countries, as well as in the United States.

Other fraudulent e-mail scams try to entice taxpayers to click their way to a fake IRS Web site and ask for bank account numbers. Another widespread e-mail tells taxpayers the IRS is holding a refund (often $63.80) for them and seeks financial account information. Still another email claims the IRS's 'anti-fraud commission' is investigating their tax returns.

More information is available on IRS.gov.

Pet safety tips for summer

The "dog days" of summer are just around the corner, and unlike humans, dogs can't drive to the pool, the beach, or an air-conditioned mall to cool off. Help your canine companions beat the heat with these tips:

- Never leave a dog in a parked car, even for a minute. On a 78 degree day, the temperature inside a shaded car is 90 degrees, while a car parked in the sun can reach 160 degrees in minutes. Animals can die of heat stroke in just 15 minutes. If you see a dog in a car, have the owner paged inside the store or call police.

- On walks, choose shady, grassy routes (hot pavement can burn dogs' paws), rest often, and bring plenty of water. Only take your dog jogging on cool mornings or evenings.

- Keep dogs indoors. If they must stay outside, avoid the hottest part of the day. Provide all-day shade, a kiddie pool, and clean drinking water in tip-proof bowls and buckets.

- Make sure any chained dogs in your neighborhood have food, water and shelter. If you see a dog in distress, provide water and contact authorities.

Paint Creek FCCLA and Student Council visits nursing homes and sponsor contest

The Paint Creek Family Career and Community Leaders Association (FCCLA) and the Paint Creek Student Council visited Rice Springs and Haskell Healthcare Center nursing home facilities the last week of school. They decorated grapevine wreaths with travel sized soaps, shampoos and toothpastes. The students presented them to each nursing home facility as part of their community service program.

The students enjoyed visiting and singing to the residents. They also gave each resident a travel sized bar of soap.

The Paint Creek FCCLA and Student Council, along with the Haskell County Child Welfare Board, recently sponsored a child abuse prevention and awareness poster contest at the school for child abuse prevention month. The winners in each division received an ice cream bar party. The winners were the PreK- 2nd, the seventh grade and the Junior Class.

The Paint Creek FCCLA and Student Council Advisor is Darlene Hopkins.

Grilling season safety tips listed

Memorial Day weekend starts the summer season of outdoor barbecue cookouts and picnics for many people, but unsafe food preparation or handling can spoil the fun, says Dr. Vickie Vaclavik, a registered dietitian at UT Southwestern Medical Center.

Dr. Vaclavik suggests these tips for safe, healthy cookouts:

- Make sure grilled meats are cooked to at least 145 degrees and poultry to at least 160 degrees. Keep an inexpensive meat thermometer for your grill to monitor temperatures.

- Foods spoils fast when outdoor temperatures rise into the 80s, 90s and 100s, so be sure to not leave out dairy products, cold cuts and raw meat for longer than one hour.

- Pack plenty of ice in coolers to store raw and/or leftover foods.

- Leftovers should be refrigerated within an hour of cooking during hot weather.

- Wash your hands or use hand sanitizer after you've handled raw meat or food.

Sports Museum to host open house

The Sports Museum in Sagerton will host an open house Sun., June 10 from 3 to 6 p.m. at the Joe and Dorothy Clark farm. The museum, dedicated to 'The Clark Boys' memories, houses over 250 sets of deer horns, along with moose, caribou and elk collections belonging to Whit, Reece and Joe Clark spanning yearly hunts from 1930-2001. Also on display are pictures of large catfish caught by the brothers from area lakes, softball trophies and memorabilia, a rattlesnake rattler collection, antiques and collectibles. Enthusiasts are invited to the big yellow barn to enjoy the displays and stories connected with the trophies. The farm is located 2-1/2 miles north of Sagerton on the Fairview Cemetery road. The museum is open by appointment only.

Armstrong is Lone Star State Scholar

SHANA ARMSTRONG

Paint Creek ISD has announced that Shana Armstrong has been named a 2006 Lone Star State Scholar. Armstrong is among approximately 1,500 3rd-8th graders from across Texas that received such acclaim. Hundreds of schools participated in the project to select and honor students who not only excel academically but show that they are well-rounded individuals. To find a qualified individual, teachers were asked to only consider students with a B average or higher. From there, they were asked to nominate students who were involved in extra-curriculars, athletics, participate in community or church groups and are involved in community service. Students nominated then submitted an application to complete the process.

Lone Star State Scholars was established to inspire children to achieve with the hope that it motivates students at a young age level to show that achievement counts, hard work matters, and actively participating in school and community events is important.

"We are certainly honored to have a student of Shana's caliber attending Paint Creek School. She is a blessing to our district," said Kristi Exum, Principal of Paint Creek ISD.

"It is inspiring for us to see all that these young people have accomplished," said Mike Gill, President of the organization. "As I read the applications that came into our office, I was amazed at how active and involved these students are in so many activities. We have a wealth of developing talent in the state. A Lone Star State Scholar is a classroom leader today who will be one of our country's future leaders."

2006 marks the first year of Lone Star State Scholars, but students have been honored in other states for the past nine years.

This Week's Devotional Message:

THE BIBLE COULD BE THE MOST VALUABLE BOOK ON YOUR SHELF

You are a very busy person, both in terms of getting ahead in the world and in doing good works for others; therefore, you have very little time for reading anything other than the newspaper headlines. Nevertheless, occasionally you find yourself with a free evening at home and no program on TV that appeals to you. So with some time to read, perhaps you would enjoy a little history, some biographical sketches, descriptions of natural wonders of the world, tales of people who saw the error of their ways, or just some good how-to lessons in self improvement. You'll find all of these things and a lot more in one book that you should have on hand—the Bible. Take it down from the shelf and read it, a little at a time, whenever you can. The time you spend learning about the Bible could be the most rewarding of your life, because it will help you understand the true meaning of it.

Student in the News

ROBBYN TRIBBEY

Robbyn Dyanmond Tribbey, a 2006 graduate of Haskell High School, was named to the Hardin Simmons University's President's List for the spring 2007 semester. Students who receive this honor maintain a 4.0

GPA. Tribbey is working on her BBA in Accounting at the Kelley College of Business.

On April 17, she was awarded a banquet and an academic award for receiving the Kelley Tucker Scholar Award for being an outstanding student. Only four students received the Kelley Tucker Scholar award for the 2006-07 school year. Doyle Kelley presented the award.

On April 24, Tribbey was inducted into the Hardin Simmons University Chapter of Gamma Beta Phi, the national honor society for universities, consisting of students who are in the top twenty percent of their class.

Tribbey is the daughter of Robert and Lynette Tribbey of Haskell and the granddaughter of Luther Meier of Old Glory. She plans to graduate from Hardin Simmons in May of 2009.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH... AT HOME!

Haskell Home Health Agency

Is angina dangerous?

The pain is not dangerous but it is a serious warning sign of heart disease.

How is angina diagnosed and treated?

Angina is diagnosed on the basis of symptoms, physical examinations, and tests such as an exercise stress test or coronary angiography, a special x-ray study of the heart's circulation. Many people can control angina by making life-style changes that lower the heart's workload and reduce stress. Rest and the use of nitroglycerin usually relieves an attack within minutes.

The heart's demand for oxygen also can be modified with drugs. Beta blockers, for example, reduce blood pressure and slow down the heart rate, thus reducing the heart's need for oxygen.

What can I do myself?

Decrease the risk of an angina attack by identifying and controlling factors that trigger chest pain. For example, yoga, meditation, and other stress-reduction techniques may reduce angina attacks.

A medically supervised exercise conditioning program can sometimes decrease the frequency of angina attacks by increasing tolerance to physical activity. Exercise also helps to build collateral circulation small auxiliary blood vessels, to nourish the heart muscle.

We would like to thank The Drug Store for helping sponsor the Wild Horse Prairie Days Queen's Contest. Their name was inadvertently omitted last week and we regret the error. Again thanks to them and all the others who helped make the Contests a success.
WHPD Queen's Pageant Coordinators

We would like to thank everyone for the special thoughts, prayers, and phone calls during the illness and loss of our Dad, Dudley B. Myers. A special thank you to Dr. McSmith and his staff, Charlotte Welch, D.O.N., and her staff at Haskell Memorial Hospital, and to Cindy Guess, D.O.N., Julie Sanderson, Assistant D.O.N., and Steve King and their staff at Haskell Healthcare Center, for the wonderful care and love that you gave to him and to us during his stay. It takes very special people to do the jobs that you all do. We pray that God will bless each one of you. You will always hold a special place in our hearts!
Jerry Don and Linda Myers

The Committee to Help Haskell County would like to give a very sincere thank you to all those who supported our trail ride on June 1. We had an excellent turnout from folks within Haskell County and outside the county. Our success would not have been possible without your kind generosity. Much can be accomplished for our communities and our future when committed citizens work together.
