Segars Has 25 Years With Highway Dept.

Jessie S. Segars of Ozona was recently presented a Certificate of Service and a lapel emblem in recognition of his 25 years of service with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Mr. Segars began his career with the DHT in District 16, San Patricio County, in 1953 as a Rodman. Before he transferred to Ozona in June 1969 he had advanced to Engineering Technician III. After he began work under the leadership of Supervising Resident Engineer W.F. "Bill" Dixon he continued his upward climb to his present position of Engineering Technician IV and was Certified Senior Engineering Technician by the Institute for the Certification of Engineering Technicians in 1976.

In March of this year Jessie received a 3 year

No-Injury award given in recognition to those employees who avoid personal injury in spite of occupations which expose them to greater hazards than most persons otherwise employed.

Jessie belongs to the First Baptist Church where he sings in the choir. He has one child, Karen and one grandchild, Barbra. Needless to say they are his pride and joy. His hobby is photography. He processes his own black and white pictures. People in Ozona often see samples of his work in the Ozona Stockman. He has sold a number of his pictures for use in various publications.

District Engineer D.R. Watson from San Angelo made the presentation and congratulated him on his long service with the Department and wished that his continued service would be pleasant and productive.

New Material Revealed On Founder of Ozona

Some new biographical material on E.M. Powell, one of the founders and most generous benefactors of Ozona and Crockett County, came to light recently when the Crockett County Historical Commission made application for an historical marker on the Ozona Waterworks system.

Before an application for a marker is approved extensive research must be done. It was during this time new material on Mr. Powell came to light. For Mr. Powell gave Ozona its first water well, as well as sites for churches, schools, parks and the jail.

The new material was sent to Mrs. R.A. Harrell, president of the Crockett County Historical Survey Committee, by Mrs. Deolee Parmelee and her research staff in Austin. Several excerpts from the Dallas Morning News make mention of Mr. Powell and his connections with West Texas. The first, Oct. 9, 1885: "Mr. E.M. Powell returned yesterday from the west, whither he went with a party of Minnesota capitalists who are anxious to settle in Texas..."

A notation in the same newspaper Nov. 15, 1885, "NEW COLONIZATION SCHEME...Mr. E.M. Powell, of this city, has taken a cue from the success of the Marienfeld colony, and is preparing to open up a large body of well-watered land in Crockett County to settlers seeking farms in a productive and healthy district. In order to start the undertaking with a rush, he offers as a gift forty acres each to a number of first settlers. He is satisfied that their efforts will prove the productiveness of the region and hurry up its occupancy."

May 16, 1886, the San Angelo Standard said "E.M. Powell of Dallas and a large party of farmers from different portions of the State arrived this week. They represent 150 families. About 40 wagons left for Powell's 185,000 acre tract in Crockett County Thursday morning, where they intend, if the country suits, to locate on forty acres each. The land.. is situated fifty-five (we believe this is in error-ed.) miles south of San Angelo, and the principal drawback is the scarcity of water."

From an advertisement, also Dallas Morning News, Sept. 1, 1886: "Non resident affairs such as payment of taxes, making of renditions to the different county assessors...Titles to Texas Lands/ Millions of Acres Are in My Hands.../E.M. Powell, office in Grand Windsor Building, Dallas." Mr. Powell was a surveyor who took his pay in land, an early account tells us.

In another apparent reference to West Texas and possibly Crockett County, the News, Sept. 2, 1886, entitled RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERERS tells us, "Citizens of Dallas met yesterday, E.G. Bower, J.M. Hunt, and E.M. Powell were appointed a committee for the relief of the sufferers of the west." It also goes on to name Powell as one of a committee for supplying sufferers with seed wheat.

There were several items concerning Mr. Powell's involvement in the Texas Trunk Railroad, a society note of a church social in the Powell home, mention of Powell and a partner laying out a $25,000 on a foundry in East Dallas and the building of the new Powell dwelling (Jan. 1, 1888. The home was later torn down.

The early life of Mr. Powell is told in a brochure published by the Central Congregational Church of Dallas on its 50th anniversary, November 1952.

The brochure tells us that Ernest Malapert Powell was born at Greenville, Ill., Oct. 6, 1847. He died August 9, 1925.

According to the records in the family Bible, his father was Henry M.T. Powell, the son of Peter Powell who came from England about 1825 with his wife, four sons and two daughters. As Ernest's parents died young, the record tells, he was raised by a friend of the family, Jacob D. Lansing, a man of considerable means.

As a youth, Ernest was educated as a surveyor, according to the brochure, and by 1870, he was a Resident Engineer of the Cincinnati Southern Railway. The panic of 1873 caused railway work to cease, and he accepted a job at $1,000 per year as station agent in Kentucky, before heading for Texas in 1874.

From 1873 to 1881, Ernest Powell surveyed and took pay in land, traded, bought land certificates and put all he could accumulate into more Texas soil. In Presidio County he had 53,000 acres which he called the Almyra Ranch, in honor of his wife, Mary Almyra. He later sold it for $3.00 per acre.

The material is sketchy about Mr. Powell's domestic life, but does state he married Mary Almyra Durrell of Cincinnati, August 3, 1882. They had one son, Durrell Powell, born July 21, 1883, who died in El Paso, Dec. 11, 1900 of tuberculosis.

The brochure states: "Mr. Powell believed that the money he received was the Lord's money and that he was responsible to Him for the way in which it was used." It tells of the establishment of a mission in Costa Rica in 1891, and of a diary kept of the voyage, however, excerpts from the diary were not received with the material.

The brochure lists many of Mr. Powell's good works and contributions to church, missionary and educational projects as well as the education of many boys and girls.

The only note about Mrs. Powell says she died at her home in Dallas, March 22, 1951.

Mrs. Harrell hopes additional information will come to light with receipt of the 1891 diary mentioned above. This material was made available by the committee for the benefit of all who call Ozona "home."

DON'T BE FOOLED BY TAX "CUTS"

By Edwin Feulner

Though it contains some very desirable and long overdue revisions, the tax bill enacted into law during the closing hours of the 95th Congress will do little to relieve the tax burden on middle-income Americans.

In fact, according to an analysis by a Heritage Foundation economist, "...the middle-class income taxpayer will still see his total tax bill go up."

According to the U.S. Department of Commerce, per capita federal taxes increased 105 percent in the past 10 years. In 1976, for example, the average American paid $1,311 a year in federal taxes. He paid another $730 in state and local taxes — a 152 percent increase from 1966.

How will Mr. Middle Income fare next year?

Art Pine, economics writer for The Washington Post, has determined that more than 80 percent of the nation's 88.5 million taxpayers will face a tax increase on January 1, despite the $18.7 billion in cuts made by Congress.

The increase will hit virtually all but 16 million taxpayers. Depending on earnings, tax increases will range from $4 to as much as $1,800.

As the earlier Heritage analysis showed, the reason for the boost is that the income tax cuts simply are not enough to offset the combination of higher Social Security taxes which go into effect January 1 and the push of inflation.

The Heritage analysis showed that over the next five years taxes will increase a total of $215.5 billion. This will include $114 billion in new Social Security taxes, $58.7 billion in inflation-induced tax increases, and $42.5 billion in new energy taxes.

Over the same five-year period, the congressional tax cuts add up only to $93.5 billion.

The bottom line, of course, is that in a practical sense the congressional actions mean only that we will not have as hefty an increase as we would have otherwise. I guess it's what you call being thankful for small favors.

Of related interest...The Commerce Department reports that state and local governments upped their tax take 10.5 percent in the past year.

This included an 18.7 percent increase in corporate income taxes, a 13.9 percent increase in sales tax revenues, and a 15.4 percent bigger bite on individual income tax payers.

State and local governments, Commerce said, collected a total of $192.2 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30, compared with $174 billion in fiscal 1977. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1976, the figure was $156.8 billion.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Republican Governor-elect Bill Clements has launched surveys and transition conferences with state officials preparatory to taking over the governor's office.

Clements returned to Austin this week to resume the planning after spending three days at the Republican Governor's Conference.

He also conferred with top state officials from Gov. Dolph Briscoe to regulatory agency heads last week.

Clements said his conversations included the budget, revenues, appointments, energy problems, reduction of the bureaucracy, citizen power to initiate legislation and needed prison system improvements.

He also suggested in talks with House Speaker Bill Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby that consideration be given to dedicating a cent of the state's four-cent sales tax toward further school property tax reductions.

And he again advocated eliminating the state's 10-cent property tax for college buildings.

Clements said he was assured of "leadership cooperation in the legislature," and repeatedly predicted no difficulty in dealing with majority Democrats.

The governor-elect has established a transition headquarters near the state capitol, and has staff members interviewing job applicants. He also has an inauguration headquarters established in his old state campaign command post.

Suit Filed

Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana filed their federal court suit to overturn key portions of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978.

"Issues go to the heart of the question of where state sovereignty ends and federal authority starts," said Oklahoma Atty. Gen. Larry Derryberry.

The three major producing states sued the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission in Oklahoma court.

They challenge provisions of the federal act allowing the federal government to control price of natural gas sold within a state and which require states to take part in enforcement.

The case is expected to take at least 18 months for a final decision.

Atty. Gen. John Hill said he is optimistic Texas can make a strong case for freedom from federal controls over pricing on state-owned lands, because the state reserved its public lands when it entered the union.

Employees Counted

As though in answer to Governor-elect Clements' recommendation to reduce the state employee work force by 25,000 over a four year period, Comptroller Bob Bullock said Texas government ranks below the national average in employees per 10,000 residents.

Bullock said there are 83,917 non-academic employees, 62,058 university and college employees and 22,944 part-time and seasonal workers.

That comes to 129 employees per 10,000 residents. The 1977 national average was 134 fulltime equivalent state employees per 10,000 population.

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the murder conviction and 66-year prison sentence of a Dallas man in the death of a store clerk.

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the involuntary manslaughter conviction of a Fort Hood couple in the starvation of a five-months-old girl.

Third Court of Civil Appeals disapproved a State Board of Dental Examiners suspension of an Austin dentist's license for allowing an unlicensed assistant to give "laughing gas" to patients as a relaxer before cleaning teeth.

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the sentence of a Houston man who allowed his 11 year old son to be subjected to such severe radiation burns that he was partially castrated.

Lawmakers Gather

Texas legislators gathered early in Austin this week at their biennial orientation conference for the 1979 Legislature.

The three-day sessions were held at The University of Texas Thompson Conference Center, under sponsorship of the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs in cooperation with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton.

Lawmakers received information on legislative rules, the state budget, "sun-set" review of state agencies called on to prove their existence, energy and utility rates, tax relief and reform, products liability and public school education programs.

Short Shorts

Gross sales in Texas climbed to $44.2 billion during the second quarter of 1978, an increase of $1.8 billion over first quarter sales.

The Railroad Commission set a November 27 hearing to receive oral arguments on jurisdiction in the application of United Parcel Service Inc. to transport packages of less than 50 pounds.

The commission approved increased gas rates by Entex Inc. for 143 residential and 16 small commercial customers in Kilgore and nearby unincorporated environs.

Legislation already has been prefiled to give Texans (via constitutional amendment) the right to initiate legislation by petition and election.

John H. Garrett of Deer Park will serve as vice chairman of Texas Water Development Board, succeeding Robert B. Gilmore who regional average in employees per 10,000 residents.

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: During a recent thunderstorm the wind blew down my neighbor's sizable tree. It crashed through my fence and into my storage building doing considerable damage. My neighbor says he is not responsible because the fallen tree resulted from an act of God. What do you say?

A: Your neighbor will probably have the upper hand in this case. Although an act of God is not easily or accurately defined, the Texas courts have done their best to clarify such events. In Maryland Casualty Company vs. Massie, (CCA, Beaumont 1964), the Court defined 'Act of God' as "any accident that is due directly and exclusively to natural causes without human intervention and which no amount of foresight, pain, or care, reasonably exercised, could have prevented. The act must be one occasioned exclusively by the violence of nature, and all human agency is to be excluded from creating or entering into the cause of some resulting mischief. The term implies the intervention of some cause not of human origin and not controlled by human power". As a practical matter, insurance policies generally exclude accidents resulting from acts of God.

Q: How can I be assured of disinheriting two daughters from a first marriage? They have no love for me. Should I have everything in my present wife's name, or can I leave these two greedy brats $1.00 each? Also, how can I be assured they can't break my will in court, after my death? They live in Ohio. I'm a resident of Texas.

A: Texas law does not require that you include any person (including your children) in your will. A properly drafted will can completely disinherit your children if you so desire. There is no way you can prevent your daughters from attacking your will in court. Such an attack, however, would have to be based on the fact that undue influence was exerted on you by the beneficiaries of your will or the fact that you were incompetent to execute a will. If a substantial estate is involved your attorney can take various precautions to minimize the possibility of a will contest.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12187, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

Dear Mrs. Montgomery:

During the 65th Legislative session, House and Senate members introduced 3,603 bills. Fortunately, only 896 of these were enacted.

Approximately the same number of bills, if not more, will be introduced during the 66th Session which begins January 9, 1979. In an effort to keep you and your coverage area informed of the Legislature's progress during the new session, I will be sending you a regular report which I hope you will be able to use. In addition, there will be periodic news releases.

As a communicator and community leader, you must have given some thought as to what I can do for your area. Your thoughts are important if I am to be effective representing the 25th Senatorial district.

Please don't hesitate to contact me when you want to express an idea or inform me of your needs. Someone in this office will be available at all times during the session. I urge you to voice your concerns. Together we can make the new session work for us.

With all good wishes and best personal regards, I am

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Here's an amazing oddity...The player who scored the most points in the history of major-college football, Tony Dorsett, and the player who scored the most points in the history of major-college basketball, Pete Maravich, are BOTH from the same small town! They both grew up in Aliquippa, Pa. What are the odds on that? It's amazing that the same little town produced the 2 men who became the highest scorers of all-time in major-college football and basketball!

Did you know that 5 of today's National Football League teams had different nicknames when they started? The Washington Redskins original nickname was Braves. The New York Jets started as the Titans. The Chicago Bears first nickname was Staleys because they were sponsored by the Staley Starch Co. The Kansas City Chiefs' franchise originally was in Dallas where the team's nickname was Texans. And the Pittsburgh Steelers began in 1933 as the Pirates and didn't become known as the Steelers until 1940.

I bet you didn't know...L & B Motor Co. has a large selection of cars and pickups for you to choose from. Come by and talk business with Jerry Lay and the guys.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by
Mrs. Bailey Post

Again another year is about to be in the past. What can we look forward to for the next few months? One writer says, the South will be at its fickle best. November can be shirtsleeve or overcoat; December cold and white, wet or like early spring. January, frigid, or even mild; February wet and cold, or wet and almost balmy; and March, the most fickle of all, may be anything from beach weather to ski conditions.

Now that everyone is beginning to groom their gardens and yards, it is a good time to make your list of goals and plans for next year. Jot them down so you will have the whole list when you are ready for spring jobs. Maybe these suggestions will help:

Planting-Fruits, nuts, fruiting vines, bush fruits, shrubs, trees, English peas, asparagus, strawberries, early vegetables-Thanksgiving to Easter.

Soil preparation and care-November to Jan., late winter and spring garden to be turned.

Composting-Make pile early, turn it regularly, put on the garden when the soil is turned.

Pruning-Fruits by February 15; roses by March 15. Winter flowering shrubs, after bloom; summer flowering shrubs by March 1. Evergreens-shaping by mid-March, heavy pruning during March.

Fertilizing-Manure on vegetable and flower gardens, asparagus beds, rosebuds, and strawberries by February 1. Cottonseed meal on boxwood, camellias, azaleas and other evergreens by February 1, fruits by Feb. 15.

Propagating-Root dormant wood cuttings by February 1; evergreen cuttings by March 1.

Dormant spraying-Fruits, flowering fruit trees, roses by February 1.

Weather is very important in gardening. You may have only one or two days in January dry enough to prepare soil. These things need to be done in sequence before plants start producing next year.

WTU To Install Meters For Study

West Texas Utilities Co. within the next few weeks will install special meters and recorders for about 350 customers as it initiates a comprehensive study of electric usage patterns in its service area.

The 350 customers comprise a random sample chosen by computer from throughout the WTU system. Only residential and small commercial customers are included.

"These are the two classes of customers we know very little about, so far as their electric demand habits are concerned," said Darwin Breeding, manager of WTU's Rate and Regulations Department.

Breeding emphasized that the information provided by the special recording devices will have no effect on the individual customer's electric bill, but will provide valuable information about the entire system which eventually could benefit all customers.

"This data will improve our decision making," he said, "especially in rate structuring, marketing, engineering analysis, and corporate and systems planning."

Probably the most important use of the research results will be in electric load analysis for future rate structuring. Breeding said President Carter's new Energy Act had made it "absolutely mandatory" that utility companies take the initiative to form load research programs that will provide accurate data for future rate issues as well as information to be utilized in the regulatory process. However, WTU's plans were underway before the Energy Act was passed.

State regulatory bodies, including the Public Utility Commission of Texas, also are requiring load research data from electric companies.

The first step in WTU's program will be to make personal contact with each of the 350 customers and to have them fill out questionnaires. The questionnaires will be administered by personnel from WTU's Customer Technical Services Department, headed by Bill Baxter. The questions will concern such basic facts as size of house, type and number of electric appliances, amount of ceiling insulation, and number of persons in the family.

The special equipment then will be installed at the site of the old meter, and the information recorded by magnetic tapes will provide specific details on electric demand by each customer.

"With the information from the questionnaires and the accurate load data from the tapes, we'll have a better knowledge of our customers' electric use patterns," Breeding said. "It's possible that we can use this information to improve the utilization of our generation and transmission facilities, and this could be beneficial to all customers."

"For one thing, it will enable us to better define the loads that cause our system peak demands," he said. "This can help us decide such things as the feasibility of time-of-day rates for these customer classes."

Time-of-day rates for residential customers are under study by the Texas PUC, and already have been implemented on a limited basis by some companies in the state.

The initial phase of the load research program will last at least a year, and the project likely will continue as a permanent program, involving different types of customer samples. Also initiating such programs are WTU's three sister companies in the Central and South System. The four companies are sharing computer facilities in order to reduce the cost of the operation.

Investigate Before Buying Firewood

Investigate before buying firewood to insure "money-wise" spending and quality product, advises a consumer information specialist, Claudia Kerbel.

Ms. Kerbel is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

First, know the price for a "cord" of wood--"cord" is the standard unit of measure for firewood, she explains. A cord is 128 cubic feet--for example, a cord of wood will fill a box eight feet long, four feet wide and four feet deep.

To check for a full cord, mark a 128 cubic foot area next to a fence--away from the house, and see that the wood fills this space, the specialist recommends.

Don't fall for advertisements for "stacks" or "loads" of wood--get the price per cord.

Also, find out if delivery and stacking charges are extra or included in this quoted price, she suggests. Type of firewood is just as important as price.

Hardwoods--like oak and mesquite--have the best heating qualities and generally burn slowly.

Softwoods--like pine and cedar--work well as kindling but tend to burn quickly and spark frequently.

Proper Slip Length

Proper slip length contributes to an attractive appearance with this year's longer or varied-length fashions, says a clothing specialist, Becky Culp.

Mrs. Culp is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To check slip length, align slip and garment waistlines.

The slip hemline should fall between the top of the garment's hem allowance and about one inch above the garment hemline, she explains.

A too-short slip is a noticeable distraction--especially with the lightweight and/or semi-sheer fabrics popular this season.

To lengthen a too-short slip, add a softly gathered ruffle or tailored band, or inset a similar fabric or decorative lace, the specialist suggests.

If a too-short slip already has an attractive hem finish, consider lengthening by inserting a suitable fabric at the waistline to drop the hem the amount needed.

A too-long slip is just an unattractive one that is too short, unless of course, it's designed to show, Mrs. Culp continues.

When sewing to lengthen or shorten tricot slips, use a fine ball point needle in sizes 9/70 or 11/80 and a lightweight synthetic thread, she recommends.

Straight, zigzag, stretch and other specialized machine stitches are suitable with seam allowances most often one-fourth inch wide.

For additional information on sewing with tricot, call the local county Extension agent and ask for the free publication "Tricot Knit Looks All Sewn Up" (L-1035).

Special Christmas greeting begins at the front door. With a little extra time and a smidgen of imagination, even a simple doorway can pronounce a warm welcome with expressive creativity.

For example, let a wreath or arrangement express nature by using such items as pine cones, shells, sand dollars, or cactus skeletons. Or, small, cleverly arranged accessories from the kitchen will express a gourmet meal theme.

Wooden spoons or small copper molds held together with copper wire will alert a visitor to "goodies" inside.

Also, consider these special door greetings:

Attach miniature God's Eyes (ojos de Dios) to wreath forms with toothpicks and metallic thread.

Wrap apples, oranges, or other fruit in plastic and attach them with bright red ribbons.

Small wooden ornaments, tiny mirrors, or other small items can spruce up any store-bought wreath. Consider children's toys, also.

Use dried articles such as flowers and corn with a bow for a harvest season look.

As an added bonus, use small wreaths on tables as rings around candles throughout the holidays.

Questions... Answers!

Why giraffes, with their towering necks and peculiar patterns? Why zebras, striped in black and white? Why cardinals, scarlet against the winter snow?

For that matter, why man? Why can only man speak? Yet so often he fails to understand those around him. And only man can think, but the riddles of life elude him.

Questions. The world is full of questions, and none are so provocative as those that concern the "whys" of how it all began. Where can you find some of the answers? Try the Church.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas

Activities Program Director

Have to catch up on a few back news items--first of all, Ella Dorris, better known as "Lightning" retired from the kitchen staff and on November 8 was given a surprise party. Punch and cake were served and she received a gift.

Lightning started to work nine years ago at an age when most folks are retiring! As her name suggests, she is still full of pep, zip, and go, but is now going to channel it all into enjoying her garden and following leisurely pursuits with her husband. We miss her, already. Come back and see us often, Lightning.

Three new residents have joined us and they are L.D. Long, Ignacio Rios and Hank Poeller. The latter gentleman was with us once before and has been readmitted to the Center. We welcome all.

On Tuesday, Dill Eversole passed away quite suddenly. Of late he had become active in our Bible class, reading group and Bingo. Sometimes he worked with ceramics. His wife, Opal, survives him at the Center, and our sympathy is extended to her and all the family.

I went out to the Center about noon, Thanksgiving Day, and found a happy crowd of residents and family members all eating dinner together in the dining room. Took some pictures which are now in the album for all to see. Also, I found family eating with staff in their dining room. Approximately eleven residents were able to leave for the holiday. At night, Charlie Beaird and his band paid a return visit, and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the music this Big Lake group brought.

We shifted some activities around last week because of Thanksgiving. Volunteers worked with the ladies in the beauty shop on Wednesday morning so I moved my Bible class up to Tuesday afternoon. We had ceramics in the morning, Bible in the afternoon and Bingo at night. We took a break in class for exercises, and then talked about our feelings this Thanksgiving; everyone had an opportunity to voice what, in particular, he or she was thankful for this year, and there was much interchange of conversation.

Evelyn Bryant is sharing an interesting plant with us, and it is perched on the nurses' station, --an Amaryllis.

lis Hippeastrum, or in other words a Christmas flower--it is tremendously fascinating as it is growing faster than Jack's Beanstalk! Also, Dorothy Montgomery shared her Christmas Cactus plant with us over the Thanksgiving holiday, and that is the most prolific one I have ever laid eyes on! A little early for Christmas, but a mass of beautiful blooms.

We have been having a little trouble receiving films from the Abilene Library System the last two weeks, but hope to get things back on schedule this week with the aid of volunteers Glenda Winkley and Thelma Janes.

Bingo gift certificate last week was won by Juana Hernandez. In dominoes Monday morning, Verna Talley and Evelyn Bryant took on Swede Lundgren and Paul Cavin, but the menfolk walked away with the game. Don't give up ladies! We'll show them what's what one of these days soon!

Glad to report that Jessie Deaton is doing well and visiting around; her roomie, Eleanor Yeager, went to visit relatives in Austin Friday and returned to us Monday after a fun time. Leona Harris, a little bird tells me, was caught playing the piano very well the other day and I think it's high time she shared her talents with us all, so look out Leona! Paul Cavin, after Thanksgiving Day, made a trip to relatives near Mason.

Carol Carlisle tells me that we have had some orders for ceramic Christmas ornaments, so we will have to get busy.

Make A Will To Protect Survivors

If parents make wills, they make estate-settling less painful for their children, advises a family resource management specialist.

A will also ensures that a parent's wishes are respected since it says how he or she wants property to be distributed, Nancy Granovsky explains.

In addition, a will allows the parent to name an executor to carry out the terms and provisions of the will, the specialist says.

Mrs. Granovsky is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Without a will, property is distributed according to the state laws of descent and distribution.

In making a will, naming an executor is important, because an executor is the key figure in settling an estate.

Ideally, the executor should live in the same state, be on good terms with the family and be familiar with the parent's finances.

Executors have three main duties: to collect assets, pay bills and distribute the remaining assets among the heirs.

Many parents name an adult child as executor of the estate.

A will also encourages parents to organize their important papers and documents.

Eventually, the executor will need to know where important papers and assets are located.

One easy way to summarize that information is by compiling a family records notebook.

A free booklet, "Setting Your Household In Order"--from the local county Extension office--can help parents compile a family records notebook.

It includes special forms for listing family financial advisors, business interests, life insurance, hospitalization insurance, real estate, savings and investments, credit cards and other important papers.

Money Management Tips

From the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants CHECKING FOR SAFETY

Interest paid on bonds often reflects the degree of risk involved. Another way of estimating the safety of an investment is by referring to bond rating services such as Moody's and Standard & Poor's, which periodically assign ratings to each entity that issues bonds for public sale. A rating of AAA is the highest expression of confidence that a rating service gives and a rating of A or higher is considered to represent a reasonably safe investment.

STOCKS VS. BONDS

A bond differs from a share of stock in that the former represents a loan on the part of the bondholder, while the stock represents part ownership in the issue.

PecanShow

Mon & Tues

The annual Crockett County Pecan Show will be next week, December 4 and 5, at the Civic Center. The pecans will be judged December 4 and the food entries will be judged December 5. The show is sponsored by the Crockett County Program Building Committee. Although there were adverse weather conditions and the crop is not as large as last year, officials expect to have a good show.

A total of $200 prize money will be awarded in the pecan show and food show. To enter your pecans-pick up 45 pecans from the same tree. You don't need to know the variety. Put the pecans in a sack and bring to the Extension Office (top floor of the Courthouse Annex). All entries must be in by noon, Monday, December 4.

To enter the pecan food show-select a recipe that has pecans in it. Place food on disposable dishes and cover with plastic wrap. The recipe for your entry must be turned in with your food. Bring food entries to the Civic Center on Tuesday, December 5, between 8:00 and 10:00 a.m. The food categories are cakes, pies, cookies, candy, bread, and miscellaneous.

The Pecan Show is open to the public at 2:00 p.m., Tuesday, December 5. Free cookbooks will be available. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

ing company. Bonds pay interest at regular intervals and as a rule are considered safer investments than most stocks. But a low-rated bond-in the C or D category-may in fact pose a greater risk than do many stocks.

INCOME STABILITY

When investing for steady income, remember that as a rule bondholders can depend upon interest payments to a greater degree than stockholders can depend upon dividends. The reason: interest on bonds represents payment of a debt at a fixed rate; dividends represent distribution of profits, which can vary dramatically.

MUNICIPALS NOT FOR EVERYONE

State and municipal bonds are exempt from most income taxes but pay a lower rate of interest than many corporate and federal issues. If you are in a modest income bracket, it may not pay to concern yourself with the tax advantages of municipals. Some federal treasury bonds and many high-rated corporate bonds can pay as much as three percent more than municipals.

GIVE "BEARER" BONDS SPECIAL CARE

Special care should be taken to safeguard a "bearer" bond, which is not registered in the name of its holder. Such bonds are fully negotiable and difficult to trace if lost or stolen.

AVOID PENALTY FOR UNDERWITHOLDING

At this time of year it might be worthwhile to make a quick calculation concerning your 1978 income taxes: will the taxes withheld from your paychecks cover less than 80 percent of your total tax bill? If so, you might wind up paying a penalty for underwithholding. The problem perhaps can be eliminated by having your employer increase withholding from your last few paychecks of 1978. If you file declarations of estimated tax, you can increase your final payment.

SHIFTING DEDUCTIONS

If you are planning to take the standard deduction on your 1978 return, you might

Weekly Fur Report

By Bill Williams

The first Bobcat pelt to be tagged was brought in by Cliff McMullen. He received $100 for the pelt and a $10, bounty to bring a total of $110. Erby Chandler brought in the second pelt.

Next week when the season is open for fur, a run-down on opening prices will be given. At present racoon is looking to be a good item. Grey fox and red fox should bring high prices as soon as the pelts become prime. To get top prices on all pelts use only a .22 to kill the animal or if trapped pick ax handle will do as well. Skin all animals to case the skin turn the fur out and put it in a plastic bag in the refrigerator or deep freeze. All buyers will pay more for skins taken care of in this manner.

Be sure to take the pelts out of the plastic bags when you take them out of a refrigerator or deepfreeze because the fur will slip and the pelt be damaged if left in. The frozen pelts should be thawed out by the time the fur is presented to a fur dealer.

Remember to take the unfleshed skull and pelt to the game warden's office every Tuesday to have it tagged. The game warden will be present from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. one day a week for this purpose. He also has trappers license which are needed for other furs. Cost is $5.00.

Holiday Garage Party

Throw an elegant "garage party" for the holidays.

Some planning and originality can go a long way in turning a garage into a party room, says Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To really fancy up the garage, cover the walls with wrapping paper, sheets, quilts, or other attractive fabrics, she suggests.

Use saw horses, barrels, or any other items to hold long wood boards or hollow doors to make tables.

Cover these "tables" with paper, coordinating quilts or fabric.

Then, bring out the dishes and food, and everyone will have room to enjoy themselves.

Or, use picnic supplies to help set the table, the specialist continues.

For example, open a picnic hamper and use it for bread.

Wicker baskets or metal buckets could hold silverware and napkins.

Also, use other wicker and bread-dough baskets to hold other items, she adds.
