Commissioners Court Meeting----

Fire Station Approved Along With Budget

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday in regular monthly session and other than routine business discussed the building of the new fire station.

County Judge Johnny Jones informed the court the architect for the new facility would be in his office at 2 p.m. to submit preliminary plans. There was some discussion about when the court had actually approved construction. A search of minutes and records failed to show approval, but County Auditor Dick Kirby said the court approved the project when they approved the budget in September. The budget had $140,000 in federal revenue sharing funds earmarked for the fire station and the court approved the budget September 11, without any changes. A search of records and minutes failed to show approval by the court in any motion. Further discussion revealed the architect, had been instructed to hold the cost to $175,000, with revenue sharing funds to pay $140,000 and time warrants to finance the balance. Atmar Atkinson of Lubbock has been employed as architect. Earlier in the year county property on 14th Street had been discussed as a site and it is assumed that is where construction will take place.

Following the discussion, a motion was made and passed that the court purchase a recorder to be used at all meetings.

The court instructed the county auditor to look into attaining higher interest rates on county monies, and authorized him to transfer funds to the hospital and care center.

The court discussed bump gates on county roads. The road department is attempting to eliminate the gates and replace them with cattle guards, to avoid the tremendous cost of repairing the gates constantly. However, some landowners object to the cattle guards and insist on having the gates, especially to keep goats in. A new type bump gate, which is relatively damage proof, was discussed. The gates are widely used in Sutton County, according to Commissioner Bill Black. The court instructed Judge Jones to have the road department head look into the feasibility of using these gates.

Judge Jones read a letter from Pritchard and Abbott, the county's tax firm, in relation to the new law which requires a 20 day notice in writing if an individual taxpayer's tax is raised $100 or more from the previous year. The firm, which handles taxes in many Texas counties, wanted to know if Crockett County would be interested in using a service set up by them for this purpose. After explaining it would be almost impossible for a county tax office to tend to this matter, the court instructed Judge Jones to indicate an interest.

A jail inspector from the Jail Standards Commission found 50 areas of non-compliance when he visited here last week. Judge Jones said the main violation was the lack of a 24-hour jailer, otherwise nothing serious. Since the standards apply to large jails as well as small ones, some of the violations were ridiculous for a small jail such as the local facility. It was decided that Judge Jones and Sheriff Billy Mills would get together and go over the list of violations to determine what must be done to meet the standards.

The court authorized the purchase of a reverse print Xerox machine in the amount of $2,124. The county had previously been leasing the machine.

Bids were opened on the Ingram Trap Lease, which is approximately 100 acres of county land near the cemetery. Weldon Maness was the high bidder at $405.75 for a year's lease. The other bidders were Sam Houston who bid $1.05 an acre, Fernando Sanchez and Jesus Sanchez, bidding $350 each.

He was born Aug. 17, 1906 in Hext. He had been a resident of Ozona since 1948. He was a retired equipment operator for Crockett County and a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his wife, Jessie Wagner; two sons, J.B. Wallace of Arlington and Owen Wagner of Odessa; a daughter, Mrs. Shirley Lobstein of Fort Stockton; one brother, Howard Wagner of Odessa; one sister, Mrs. C.M. Davis of Hext; nine grandchildren; and one great grandchild.

New Store Opens Here

Thornton's Supermarket, Ozona's newest, will open tomorrow, Thursday, at 305 Ave. E. The new, modern supermarket features 13,000 square feet of store space plus a large parking lot.

The old store, formerly Jack's Supermarket, will be open Thursday night for the last time featuring a close-out sale, from 6 until late.

Bill Thornton and Jack Rotan built and own the new store. Thornton is manager and will operate the store with twelve fulltime and five parttime employees. There will be four check out counters.

Thornton says the new store has been stocked with twice the merchandise and much more variety than the old store. Besides a full stock of grocery items, there is a greeting card section and a housewares section.

An old fashioned over-the-counter meat market will be featured as well as a self service center. A large selection of cheeses and frozen foods will be offered. Many items will be offered at discount prices and case-lot sales will be a regular feature.

A grand opening sale will be held in January, according to Thornton.

Lionettes Split With Junction

The Ozona High School girls basketball teams split a double header with Junction here last week.

The Lionettes downed the Eaglettes 34 to 15, with Lori Clayton high point girl with 10. The junior varsity lost 20-27.

SANTA CLAUS MAKES PRE-SEASON VISIT at Small Fashions Saturday morning, courtesy of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Dozens of children had pictures taken visiting with Santa. Jamie Porter, six weeks old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Porter, was probably the youngest visitor Santa had. Andy Wheeler, left, seems to be curious about just what kind of doll old Santa is holding. Santa will make his regular pre-season visit Friday, Dec. 22.

Cable Officials Deny Responsibility For Channel Switch

"We didn't do it! It wasn't our fault!"

Thus the spokesman for the Ozona Television System disclaims local responsibility for the yanking of Fort Worth independent TV Station, Channel 11, from the local cable television system. The system admits to bringing Atlanta station (WTCG) to the system via the earth station installation by which new fields of TV entertainment can be brought to local viewers off satellites.

Texas Cablevision Corp., owners of a number of cable systems over the country, suppliers and owners of the San Angelo system and including in this area the systems in Sonora and Eldorado, decided it had other uses for the microwave equipment which brought us Channel 11. Ozona TV System purchases from that corporation signals at Eldorado from Stations KCTV and KRCT San Angelo-Abilene, WFAA, Dallas, KERA (13) Dallas, and formerly KTVT, Fort Worth. The Ozona system provides its own microwave system to bring signals from KOSA, Odessa, KMID, Midland, and KMOM, Monahans, plus FM radio.

Despite months of fruitless arguments, the Texas Cablevision carried through with its plan to cut off Channel 11, Fort Worth, and use the microwave equipment that brought that signal to the Eldorado pick-up point in a new link to provide TV signals for the Junction system, which it owns, thus saving it a $15 to $20 thousand investment for the Junction line. What the big company has in mind for a substitute if any has not been revealed, Oscar Kost, Ozona TV manager, says.

The Atlanta Station, WTCG, now being received here via the satellite transmission to Ozona's earth station dish, happened to be ready to put in the system and Channel 11 was chosen. Later, the earth station will bring to local viewers the Home Box Office (HBO) service, the uninterrupted showing of top rated movies. In addition, another station (religious) is due to be received via satellite and other goodies, now being studied may be forthcoming, Mr. Kost said. HBO has leased several channels from the satellite to provide the modern way of interference-free signal transmission from the "bird" now orbiting over 22,000 miles from the earth's surface at the equator.

Efforts are now being made to secure program plans for the Atlanta station so that viewers may find something they wish to watch, Kost said. The station broadcasts 24-hours a day, with movies, sports and other events. The Ozona systems owners are disappointed in the station's offerings, along with many of its customers, but "we occupy a share-cropper status" so far as influencing the company which dishes up service to us, says the local manager, and can only hope that time will bring more and more improvements as it has through the years, making the Ozona cable system one of the finest in the state.

Auxiliary Donates Equipment

The Care Center Hospital Auxiliary recently donated a Spirometer and ultrasonic nebulizer to the hospital. The Spirometer is used in the screening and diagnosis of pulmonary disorders. The Spirometer enables the attending physician to more closely follow and evaluate the patient with chronic pulmonary disorders.

The ultrasonic nebulizer is a recent development in the treatment of patients with both chronic and acute respiratory problems.

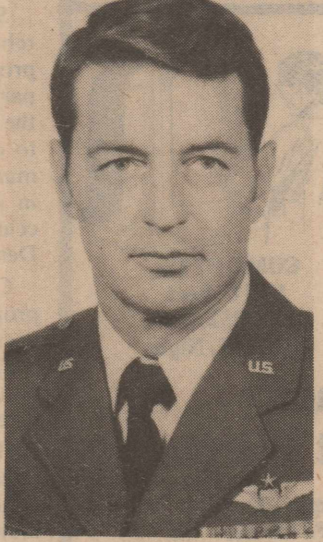

The ultrasonic nebulizer works on the principle that the smaller the particles to be inhaled or absorbed, the more that will be absorbed. The nebulizer emits a cool mist which the patient is able to inhale. With the winter months here both pieces of equipment will enable the hospital to provide a more comprehensive treatment for the patient with respiratory problems,

Capt. Freeman In SAC Competition

Captain James D. Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Freeman of Ozona, recently participated in "Giant Voice," the Strategic Air Command's bombing and navigation competition held at Barksdale AFB, La.

Captain Freeman is assigned at Carswell AFB, Tex., as chief of the bomber standardization branch of the 9th Bomb Squadron.

Giant Voice was conducted to improve bombing and navigational operating procedures and techniques. It also tested the readiness and overall ability of individual crews to perform their primary mission.

Also taking part in the competition were crews from the Tactical Air Command, Air Force Reserve, Air National Guard and the British Royal Air Force Strike Command.

Captain Freeman, a 1961 graduate of Ozona High School, received his bachelor's degree in 1966 from North Texas State University and was commissioned through Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Tex.

His wife, Billie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Huddleston of 1417 W. 24th St., Odessa, Tex.

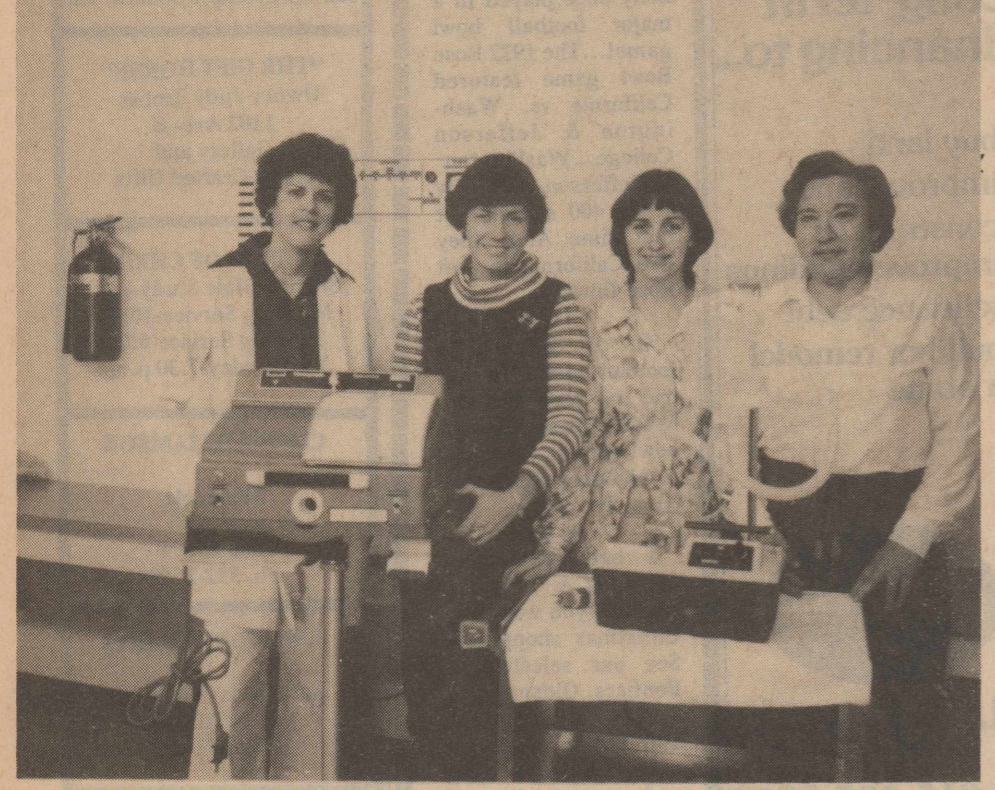

Terms Expire For Three Hospital Board Members

The Crockett County Hospital Board met last week in the final meeting of the year and named eighteen nominees to be submitted to the Commissioners Court for selection of three new board members.

Board members whose terms expire January 1, 1979, include Steve Sessom, Pon Seahorn and Matt Gutierrez.

Named to the list of nominees were Beth Boyd, Bill Thornton, Dick Webster, Martha Gries, Peggy Holden, Deane Holden, Clay Bedner, Joe Galvan, Curly Sharp, Lloyd Winkley, Charles Huffman, J.W. Johnigan, Gene Perry, Betty Perry, Locky Sue Bissett, Bekie Diaz, Raymond Adcock and Dennis Clark.

The court will name three from the list in the January court meeting.

Clean Up Week Is Scheduled

Ozona's annual fall clean up week will be next week. The clean up is sponsored in the spring and in the fall by the Ozona Garden Club in conjunction with the county.

County trucks will be covering all areas of the town during the week and will pick up trash, debris and unwanted items. It is not necessary to call, but residents are asked to place items at the curb or where they are easy for trucks and employees to reach.

An Effective Job Program

By Kenneth W. Ryker, Academic Dean
Northwood Institute, Texas Campus

Americans are concerned about the high level of unemployment. Job creation has become a high priority of organized labor and the Carter administration. We want all our work force employed, but how we achieve this is very important. There was no unemployment in Nazi Germany; and there is none in Communist China or the Soviet Union. We must go about it on a sound economic basis.

Jobs are created by saving and investment. It requires over $40,000 today to create the average job in American industry. Of course a job in a small business might require much less.

This investment money comes from the savings of those who consume less than they produce. In a small business it might be the owner's savings. In large businesses it might come from savings of others which have been deposited in a bank, then loaned to the business. Or savings may be invested through the purchase of stocks or bonds of corporations. A large part of capital investment comes from retained earnings, about half of after-tax profits which companies reinvest in the business.

It is important to understand exactly what investment is—the creation of new productive capacity: new factories, new machinery, in a word, new tools.

Only with the increase of productive capacity will the total national output grow. Only in this way is there a larger "pie" to be divided among us all.

How do we induce people to save so there will be investment capital? By interest paid to savers and dividends paid to stockholders. The profit motive, the desire for personal gain, is the vital requirement.

Those businesses which satisfy consumer demand earn a profit. Profits accrue only through service to customers. Thus we see profits and capital accumulation are interrelated.

What about the Carter program to create hundreds of thousands of jobs? First of all, it is important to realize there is no demand for those jobs, or else, if capital were available private enterprise would have created them. The mere fact that government is to create jobs tells us there will be misallocation of scarce resources, including capital.

Where will the government get the capital required for its job program? As government has no savings, it must come from taxes, borrowing or inflation—all three of which are taxation in one form or other.

Higher taxes mean less savings, less capital for jobs by private enterprise. What the government in fact is doing is creating make-work jobs, for which there is no demand, at the expense of jobs in the private sector for which there is consumer demand.

The cure for our unemployment program is less government, not more; repeal of minimum wage laws; repeal of special privileges for organized labor; rescinding all wage and price controls. Only by returning to flexibility of the price mechanism will we solve our economic problems.

Take Note

WHEN HEW was created by act of Congress 25 years ago, it had 35,000 employees and a budget of $5 billion. Today, it has 159,000 employees and is spending $160 billion for the current year. It operates 350 programs.

The budget of HEW is about one-third larger than National Defense spending. It consumes about a third of the entire federal spending.

FANCY THAT!
Solar energy is pretty important to plants. Green plants create their own fuel in a process called photosynthesis. They turn sunshine, water and basic nutrients from the soil into a starch they need for growth energy.

Solar energy seems pretty important to America's electric utilities. Some 150 of them are sponsoring 468 research projects in solar energy, according to a recent survey by the Electric Power Research Institute. This represents a significant increase over last year, when a similar report identified 245 such projects.

Solar energy has a big effect on water. Every year the sun evaporates and lifts 100,000 cubic miles of moisture from the seas, rivers, lakes and streams.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

AUSTIN—Legislative Budget Board, dealing Governor-elect Bill Clements $2 billion tax cut proposal a severe blow, recommended more than $2.4 billion in new state spending for 1980-81.

LBB, headed by presiding officers of the House and Senate and including some of the most-powerful senators and state representatives, said increases are necessary due to inflation and growth.

The budget, as drawn, would use up most of the revenues in sight, although Comptroller Bob Bullock conceivably could estimate more is available when he makes his new income projection next month.

House Speaker Bill Clayton said it is possible to curb increases in some areas and thereby to bring about some modest state tax relief. However, he said the reduction may come closer to $200 million or $300 million than the $1 billion-plus talked about by Clements and outgoing Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The proposed budget includes a $269 million increase in state costs for the foundation school program and $330 million to provide a 5.1 per cent a year pay raise for school teachers (and for other state employees).

Another $450 million was placed in the appropriations bill draft to reimburse school districts for mandatory property tax cuts ordered by the tax relief constitutional amendment approved by voters November 7.

The LBB recommendations are the starting point for legislative budgetmaking. Lawmakers increase the budget board figures during most sessions.

Products Law Studied
A House committee has come up with a lengthy study report and recommendations to change products liability laws—generally regarded as one of the hottest issues before the 1979 legislative session.

About 20 bills drafted for legislative consideration would make it more difficult for those damaged or injured by defective products to collect in court.

The committee report noted many manufacturers are having trouble getting insurance against faulty products and that their liability premiums are skyrocketing.

Recommendations include a six-year limit from the date of manufacture to the date a products liability case is filed, elimination of punitive damages in such cases and a provision that damages will be paid only to the extent the manufacturer's negligence is greater than that of the user.

Courts Speak
The Supreme Court upheld an intermediate court ruling that Webb County commissioners did not violate the Texas Open Meetings Act when they fired a county road and bridge superintendent in 1975.

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the conviction of a prominent Dallas man on a cocaine possession charge.

A Houston man convinced the Court of Criminal Appeals to reverse his aggravated robbery conviction due to prosecution reference to extraneous offenses during his trial.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld an Austin lawyer's disbarment.

A Dallas man won a new trial on burglary charges, when the Court of Criminal Appeals determined he did not waive his rights to be charged in an indictment.

AG Opinions
An ad valorem tax on refinery production or crude oil would not be subject to laws governing motor fuels taxation, Attorney General Hill said.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:
—The municipal franchise charge on telephone bills represents a rental payment for city street use and is not a tax.
—The Henderson County auditor's pay may be increased at any time, as long as it does not exceed the county tax assessor-collector's salary.
—There are no exceptions to the requirement that governmental bodies meet in open session.

Demos Regroup
Texas Democrats, who lost the governor's race for the first time in a century, met here last week to consider plans for the future and to hear from potential leaders.

Attorney General John Hill, loser in the governor's contest; Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Attorney General-elect Mark White addressed the State Democratic Executive Committee at its Austin session.

SDEC applauded a 1979 rebuilding program, approved expulsion of local party officers who defect to the GOP, gave the go-ahead to explore purchasing a permanent party headquarters in Austin and voted to hold celebration for victorious Democrats here January 9.

Chairman Billy Goldberg proposed a $370,000 annual party budget, an enlarged staff and expanded education, local organizational and voter registration programs.

Hill and Hobby volunteered their services as Democratic leaders, and White indicated he is also ready to serve. Hill said he is willing

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Did you know an 8-year old girl helped name the Super Bowl game?...When football leaders were deciding what to call their final championship game, Sharron Hunt, 8-year old daughter of Lamar Hunt, who owns the Kansas City Chiefs, had been playing with a black rubber ball called a "super ball"—and from that she got the idea to suggest to her Dad that pro football could name its final game the "Super Bowl"...Lamar Hunt made that recommendation, and so the famous Super Bowl game really owes its name to a little girl.

It seems hard to believe, but a school that had only 400 students in the whole student body once played in a major football bowl game...The 1922 Rose Bowl game featured California vs. Washington & Jefferson College...Washington & Jefferson had only about 400 students at that time...And, they tied California in that Rose Bowl.

Of all the college football teams, which one has played in the MOST post-season bowl games?...Answer is Alabama which has been in 31.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Christmas would not seem like Christmas without the lustrous foliage and cheerful red berries of hollies. But if you like variety, try making sprays and wreaths for your doors or table decorations from some of the other evergreens available in our gardens. Among these are pines, junipers (especially the blue native), cherry laurel, podocarpus (Japanese Yew) magnolia, loquat, photinia and nandina.

Now that you will be receiving foliage plants for the holidays, you may have problems so here are a few hints how to recognize the problems.

Brown tips or burned margins of leaves are caused by too much fertilizer, plants too dry, windburn, or fluorine or chlorine damage.

Yellowing and dropping of leaves are caused by gas fumes, chilling, too much water, poor drainage, or poor aeration.

Weak growth, light green or yellow leaves are caused by too intense light, lack of fertilizer, or a poor root system.

Wilting could be due to too much heat, lack of water, or root injury.

Spindly growth and small leaves are caused by too little light or too high temperature. To keep poinsettias thriving during the holidays, put them in bright light, but avoid direct sunlight. Keep soil slightly moist, but avoid soaking the soil. Avoid drafts and warm air from heating outlets. Feed monthly with soluble liquid houseplant fertilizer according to label.

If the beautiful and colorful blooms of the crepe myrtle last summer weren't enough to convince you to plant one or more, then take a look at them this winter. Now that leaves as well as flowers have disappeared, the plant is stripped to its barest identity, and it's just as distinctive as it was last summer. The smooth, exfoliating bark of crepe myrtles is one of the plant's most valued characteristics. They can be grown as either single- or multi-trunked trees. The effect of the stark trunks against a background of evergreens or ground cover is in harmonious contrast.

It has a three-month blooming period but has proved itself to be the plant of 365 days. Planting season for crepe myrtle lasts all winter and spring. Look over the nursery stock carefully, and choose plants with the best natural form so you won't have need to train or prune later on. They can be left to make trees or kept pruned for more and larger blooms as a shrub. Locate them in full sun and well-drained, loamy soil to ensure best performance.

Baubles hanging from a tree . . . rainbow colors shining bright . . . music wafting through the house, telling tales of Rudolf or promising that Santa Claus will be coming to town. Frantic last minute shopping, settling for second best for some of the people on the list because it is so late in the day.

Sometimes it seems a long way from Bethlehem.

There's nothing wrong with celebrating Christmas. True, the build-up is commercial, yet there's more good than bad in the tree ornaments and the Christmas records and even the last minute gifts.

But, it is a long way from Bethlehem.

Get back some of the basic spirit this Christmas. Remember the Manger, the Star in the East, and the three Wise Men who traveled by its light to see the Saviour. Celebrate at least part of Christmas in church.

Crockett County Care Center News

Activities Program Director

A big "thank you" to all our faithful volunteers who have served during the month of December, so far. They are Georgia Kirby, Doris Karr, Carol Carlisle, Grace Dorsey, Velma Marley, Nana Fierro, Martha Flores, Glenda Winkley, Kathy Skalak, Thelma Janes, Terry Adams and senior Girl Scouts-Kathy and Tammy Adams, D'Anna and Carla Koerth and Janice Janes. Junior Auxiliary members-Denise Hedrick, Yvette Martinez and Cathy Castro. There may be others who forgot to sign the volunteer book.

It seems to be holiday-time every day at the Center these days. As I write this (Monday night), music is still ringing in my ears as I have just returned from the Center where Charlie Beard and his musicians from Big Lake are playing to a full house. They arrived after supper and everyone was out in the lobby to welcome their return visit. In the afternoon Glenda Winkley and Thelma Janes hosted a wonderful birthday party honoring Delfina Lara, Gertrude Daniels, and Mary Seelye. They looked so pretty with their corsages (compliments of Maxine's) and Delfina was wearing one of her lovely new dresses in the latest style. Mary had a new permanent styled in the fashionable curly-do, and Gertrude was dressed in pink.

Gifts brought out during the past week are some crocheted tree decorations from Blanche Walker, flowers from Totsie Hagelstein, a large box of books and Geographics from J.O. Wallis, the most beautiful floral arrangement I have seen in a long time of white carnations and mums from Mrs. Roy Henderson, and some very welcome films and flashes for our camera from Mrs. Jeff Owens. Floy Clare Short is making us all fat with a huge box of candy. Thank you all, so much. We finally talked Leona Harris into playing the piano for us. She says she has never had a lesson in her life; she suffers from arthritis in her hands, but one would never know it as she has a lovely touch and a keen musical ear.

I want to thank Ray Boyd for making room in his store, again, for a display of our ceramics that are for sale. These are near the pharmacy under the camera supplies. We have put the cream colored Nativity scene in our display cabinet across from our nurses' station. This was made by our residents. I managed to borrow some black velvet from the jewelry store as a back drop which really shows up the figures to advantage.

Last Wednesday afternoon a film was shown by Glenda Winkley and this time we toured Dublin, Ireland.

Two new residents joined us last Wednesday and they have really lit up the place with their jolly smiles and warm friendliness. They are Edd and Lorene Cade. They have had many problems of late: long hospitalization and surgery, but they are still smiling and we are all full of admiration for them. Eunice Graham has moved in with Opal Eversole and Mary Lou Simpson has moved in with Leona Harris, and I hear that we may have more people moving in shortly.

I forgot to announce the winner of the Baker Jeweler's gift certificate for the month of November when we played blackout Bingo for the losers of the month. Winner was Frances Tolson after a tie-play-off with Evelyn Bryant who received a prize. Weekly play was won by Gertrude Daniels with Eleanor Yeager coming in second. This past Friday Frances Tolson won and again, Eleanor Yeager won second.

Dominoes was won by Mike Pena with Verna Talley a close second. Forty-two ended up in a tie between Edd Cade, Eleanor Yeager, Paul Cavin, and Eleanor Bradford.

We had a guest with us for our reading and conversation session in the Day Room last week, Rebecca West. We read about a man who saved his fingers after they were severed. Swede Lundgren shared his experience with us on how he lost a finger in a threshing machine some years ago.

Sunday afternoon the senior Girl Scouts put up and decorated our tree and again used the lovely decorations that the Woman's Forum made for us last year. We will be hanging our ceramic ornaments in the next day or so. After the girls finished the tree they gave a Christmas reading and sang carols and residents joined in.

We will have groups from Big Lake Wednesday afternoon and Sunday--more on that next week.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR!!!!

Generic Foods Are Cheaper

Consumers can shave 20 to 30 percent off their grocery bills by buying "generic" products instead of brand name items. But they must be willing to sacrifice a little quality.

"With more and more generic labeled (no brand name) products appearing on grocery shelves, consumers need to be aware of what they're getting," contends Al Wagner, food technologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "While there is a substantial savings on generic products, the quality will probably not be as good as the top private label or company label brands. Generic canned products, for instance, tend to be somewhat over-mature, yielding a fibrous, tough texture. They are generally less appealing in appearance and flavor."

From a nutritional standpoint, though, generic and top brand label products are about the same, emphasizes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"While generic products do have a label, the information is limited. This particular aspect tends to run counter to the demand by consumers for more information about the products they buy," notes Wagner. "With the movement toward more generic products, especially canned food items, the canned fruit and vegetable industry is feeling the impact, points out the food technologist. Whether or not the demand for lower grade fruits and vegetables can be met is undetermined at this time."

"Only about 20 percent of the vegetables produced each year across the United States are of the lower grades. Weather is the big factor contributing to lower quality fruits and vegetables, but manmade mistakes also affect quality. However, it makes little sense for producers or processors to purposely aim for the low grade market and lower profits," notes Wagner.

On the other hand, generic products do provide an outlet for lower grade fruits and vegetables that has not existed before. The big question at this point is related to demand and supply.

Fifteen million Americans are obese to a degree that actually shortens their lives. The obese are getting fatter, and the absolute number of obese Americans is increasing each year.

Goat News

All the hullabaloo in recent months over the Texas bobcat pelt export situation may turn out to be an exercise in wasted time.

Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association executive secretary Bill Sims recently returned from a hearing in Washington that may eliminate the federal stranglehold on pelt exports and the need for the Texas tagging program thrown together under the coercive pressure of that grip.

The hearing concerned the proposed U.S. stand when our nation's delegates attend the upcoming Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Fauna and Flora. The Convention is an offshoot of U.S. cooperation in an international treaty regulating trade in plant and animal species.

At its last meeting in 1976, the Convention moved (and the U.S. delegation failed to oppose) to include all wild cats under its protective wing. As a result, all cooperating nations with wild cat populations were required to establish beyond any doubt that their various wild cats would not be harmed by export prior to allowing such export. This led to creation of a new federal agency that then ordered a ban on bobcat exports from the country until it could determine that such export "would not be detrimental to the survival of the species." To its credit the new agency, the Endangered Species Scientific Authority, chose to do its fact-finding on a state-by-state basis; this meant that bobcats could be exported as long as they came from states that satisfied ESSA's data requirements.

As it turned out, the states where bobcats were most plentiful were the least able to meet the data requirements. There had never been any need to prove bobcat abundance in these states, including Texas, so no data was available and no state agency had the legal authority to expend state funds to gather that data.

The problem was eventually worked out in Texas and most other states, but the end result was that these states were forced by the federal government to adopt new rules or laws they would otherwise not have adopted. Now the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, ESSA's parent agency, has decided to ask the Convention to delete the bobcat from the protected list. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials have predicted that if the cat is deleted from the list, the Texas tagging will eventually be discontinued because the federal regulators will have no way of forcing its continued acceptance.

Deletion from the list may not be as simple as that, however, the bobcat was added to the list without any indication whatsoever that it belonged there (in fact it appears the inclusion was made before Convention delegates ever decided just what qualified a species to be on the list). Rules for deletion, on the other hand, are very rigid.

One deletion provision required proof that there has been a substantial improvement in conditions that were "sufficient to require the species to be placed on the appendix initially." In other words, the rules automatically assume that conditions were bad when the species was placed on the list and thus require proof that they have improved. In the case of the bobcat, there were no such bad conditions and, consequently, not much improvement since. There are also, other catches, but they may be unnecessary from the point of view of those who would block deletion of the bobcat from the list.

Even with the official U.S. position calling for deletion, opponents of the move are in a fine position to frustrate it—14 advisors allowed to accompany the U.S. delegation to the upcoming Convention meeting in Puerto Rico, two represent environmental groups opposed to deletion and another four represent the federal agency which owes its entire existence to the protection of the bobcat and three other species. That leaves eight advisors and the majority of those are government representatives. Not one of the 14 specifically represents deletion advocates.

If any foreign delegation for any reason objects to deleting the bobcat from the list, the anti-deletion "advisors" could offer a united front in pressuring the official delegation to back down from its position.

"There's no such thing as a 'super breed', and there never will be," explained Dr. Tom C. Cartwright, "but crossings of breeds have made valuable contributions to the cattle industry. And, this practice will continue." Cartwright said that "cattle cycles" and rapid shifts from one type of animal demanded by the market, to another type, will not permit development of such a breed.

Also, the myriad of conditions under which cattle are produced, changing almost from fence line to fence line, and from rancher to rancher, prevent development of a single breed to fulfill all reasons for all seasons.

"A big advantage of cross-breeding is that a cattleman may produce within a year the type calves which bring top market prices," Cartwright added, "compared with 25 years, or maybe more, to produce similar genetic changes when using only one breed."

Cartwright assured that promotional schemes to cash in on higher prices of exotics—new blood—was not all bad, because bulls of much higher quality than most individual producers could afford were brought into the Southwest.

Semen from these higher quality bulls for use in artificial insemination provides cattlemen with a more economical way to upgrade their herds.

Cartwright said there are "52 or 53" breeds from which to choose for crossbreeding.

Crossbreeding in the Southwest began a century ago when meatier European breeds were imported to mate to the rangier, more rugged Texas Longhorns.

RCA Range Findings Announced

The ability of farmers and ranchers to continue to produce adequate food and fiber was the number one natural resource concern expressed in Texas during a series of statewide meetings held earlier this year.

Soil erosion by water, deterioration of rangeland, shortage of municipal and rural water supplies, and irrigation water management came in second, third, fourth, and fifth-respectively in a tabulation made by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

George C. Marks, state conservationist for SCS in Texas, said that some 8,500 Texans established these priority concerns during a series of 377 public meetings held last spring and summer. The meetings were held in compliance with the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act of 1977.

C.H. Sinclair, district conservationist for Soil Conservation Service at Ozona, said the number one resource concern expressed in the local Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District was Perennial Vegetation or (deterioration of rangeland).

Food and fiber production, and soil erosion by water on rangeland came in second and third in a public meeting held June 6, at Ozona Civic Center.

SCS and local conservation districts sponsored the meetings in each of the states 198 soil and water conservation districts.

Weekly Fur Report

By Bill Williams

There has been a fair amount of selling of fresh collection American wild furs this past week. So far all the selling has been confined to the heavy and semi-heavy raccoon from the northern states. A small amount of grey fox from Pennsylvania has also been sold. The manufacturers are not wanting to pay the high prices being asked but since the people who have the furs are standing firm, it is expected that they will pay them. The only trouble with this system is that as more sellers enter the market, there will be more willing to take less to move furs. If this happens their prices in the country will drop. When this happens the fur buyer will drop prices to get well below the market. The trapper is the one who suffers.

Remember to take your bobcat pelt and unfleshed skull to the game wardens office on Tuesday of each week to have it tagged. He is in his office from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. He also has trappers licenses. The cost for the licenses is $5.00.

Other statewide concerns listed in order of ranking were flooding, loss of rural lands to urban sprawl, soil erosion by wind, rural development, increased demand for recreational facilities, and loss of wildlife habitat.

The public inputs from Texas were forwarded to Washington where they will be combined with responses from the other states. National concerns will be announced in 1979. At that time, the public will again be asked to help SCS and conservation districts decide what conservation programs should be used to solve local concerns.

A national conservation program will then be presented to President Carter to concentrate on the Nation's top natural resource concerns on a priority basis.

A confirmation and an outpost were scheduled in Crockett County.

International Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Parker Unit "20", as a 5/8-mile southeast outpost to its No. 1-2 Dudley, fourth Devonian producer and a 4 1/2-mile south extension to that pay in the Perner Ranch multipay field, 28 miles southwest of Ozona.

Location is 467 feet from the north and 1,036 feet from the west lines of 20-J.H.

Gibson. Contract depth is 9,800 feet; ground elevation, 2,493 feet.

The field has two Simpson gas wells.

The No. 1-2 Dudley, drilled as a wildcat to 10,950 feet, was reported Aug. 11 as an unidentified gas discovery, gauging a calculated, absolute open flow of 1,340,000 cubic feet of gas daily through perforations at 10,276-950 feet. Official potential was filed as a confirmer to Devonian production for the same gauge through perforations at 9,408-538 feet, however, the top of the Devonian was picked at 9,558 feet on ground elevation of 2,496 feet.

Anderson Petroleum, Inc., Ozona, will drill the No. 3-13 Elmer Hoover Hatton Estate "M" as a 1 1/4-mile northwest outpost to Canyon gas production in the southwest portion of the Ozona multipay field, 29 miles southwest of Ozona.

Location is 700 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of 13-MM-T&StLRR. Contract depth is 7,500 feet.

Sales Tax Rep. To Visit Ozona

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on Thursday, December 21, 1978, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Esther Esparza will meet with local taxpayers at the County Library in the Crockett County Courthouse from 1:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. "If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Ms. Esparza will be there to assist them," Bullock said. "We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added. The San Angelo office, headed by Thomas M. Goff, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.
