The telephone company serving this area is the only business in the private sector I know of that's run like a government entity. That is everytime the rate goes up, the service goes down. Along the same lines as the U.S. Postal Service is run, if you know what I mean.

Our telephone here at the office was out of order when I got to work around 5:30 Tuesday morning. The line was dead and we couldn't call out. Those who came by said when they dialed our number they got a busy signal.

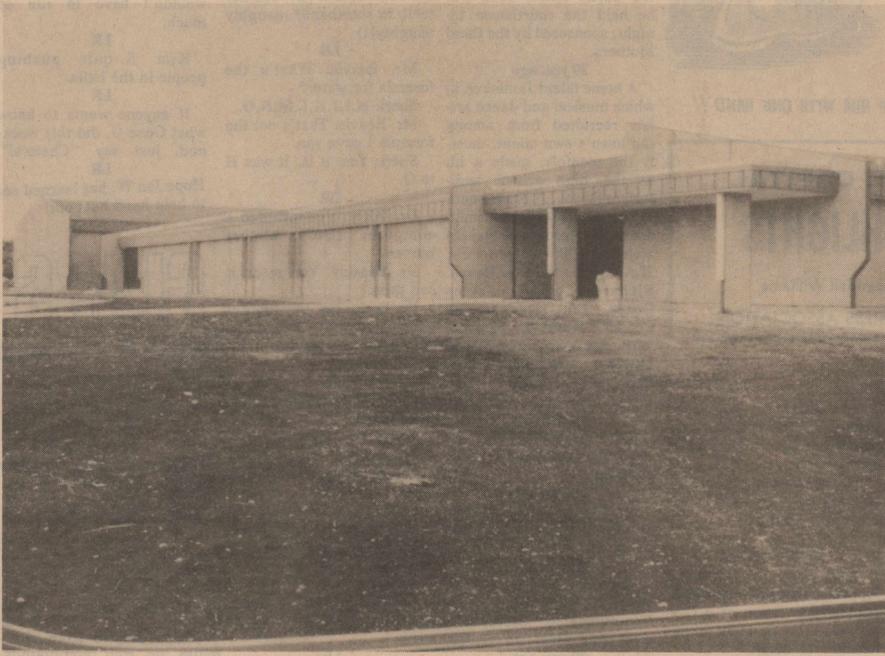

We reported it twice early in the day and were told it would be repaired immediately when we explained we were the weekly newspaper and this was our deadline day. As of this writing, it's 3:30 p.m. and the phone is still dead as a door nail (whatever that is). Not, you understand, that it hasn't been peaceful and quiet. But, along with the calls to inquire if we have paper clips, poster board, etc. we quite often get ads and news by way of telephone on Tuesdays. So the loss of telephone service on Tuesday cuts into our revenue as well as our news service to you, our readers.

It was almost as bad Monday. We could call and take calls, but we couldn't hear nor be heard.

The telephone service is not like this all over the world, I'm glad to know. Willa Perry placed a call to her son, Ricky, in England and said she could hear the operator perfectly, while I sat here trying to talk to someone at the bank next door and we couldn't even make conversation for all the static.

Do you suppose they will take two days off my local service charge on next month's bill?
With the exception of the Chinese visit about all we hear on the news is inflation, wage and price guidelines, etc. I believe the American public would take the President's concern over inflation and holding down wages and prices more seriously if he would show his good faith by cutting not only his own salary, but that of Congress and the million or so other bureaucrats whose inflated salaries feed on the economy. Then he could ask labor to cut salaries. This would be no hardship on anyone, since wages and salaries are 90% of the cost

OZONA'S NEW ELEMENTARY SCHOOL is ninety percent finished, according to school officials who made an inspection of the facility Tuesday afternoon. The school, which is part of a $5 million school improvement project, had a projected finish date of September, 1978. The entire program has fallen far behind schedule, and when the primary school burned last fall just before the final coat of paint was added, bad matters became worse. As of this date nobody really knows what the final finish date will be for the project.

McMullan to be stock show guest

A boy and girl prominent in area 4-H activities will be special guests of the San Antonio Livestock Exposition there February 9-10.

Among 20 4-H Club members and 20 members of the Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America, they will be guests of the 25th annual honor banquet Friday evening, February 9, sponsored by the San Antonio Kiwanis Club and the Exposition's Rural Youth Committee. They also will be hosted by stock show officials at the rodeo performance Saturday.

Attending Texas Agricultural Extension Service District 6, will be Cliff McMullan of Ozona, and Sharyl Holcomb of Stanton. Cliff McMullan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMullan of Ozona. In nine years of 4-H work, Cliff has centered his leisure activities around horse, beef and lamb projects. The rifle team and horse judging teams also have claimed his interests. The Ozona High School senior was chosen Gold Star boy in 1977. He plans a major in Agriculture at Texas A&M University.

Weekend weather brings rainfall

The sleet and snow which gripped this area Monday failed to materialize in Ozona, and Tuesday morning dawned with clear skies and bright sunshine. However, 1.17 inches of badly needed rainfall was recorded here for the three day period ending Monday. Some ranches in the county reported 1.5 inches with the rainfall general throughout the county.

The rain began to fall early Saturday morning and fell slowly but constantly throughout the day Monday. Shortly after noon a flurry of sleet fell, but after a few minutes returned to rainfall. The temperature, which had dropped to 31 degrees at 3 p.m. Monday was up to 32 degrees by 5 p.m. Before daylight Tuesday it was 30 degrees and some icing on bridges was noted, otherwise the streets were clear.

After the coldest January on record with no rainfall recorded in December and only .31 of an inch in January, the rainfall was a most welcome element. The three-day rain brought the rainfall for the year up to 1.48 inches.

Bad weather was still in the forecast for Ozona Tuesday morning.

Montgomery named to honor society

Jim Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Montgomery and a junior student at Baylor College of Dentistry in Dallas, was one of ten students chosen from his class of 160 to membership in the Baylor Odontological Honor Society. The society, made up of ten junior and twenty senior students, selects members who rank in the top percentage of their class scholastically, who display strong character and leadership abilities and desire educational pursuits outside the dental school curriculum, according to the formal announcement made this week at the school.

IMMUNIZATION CLINIC RE-SCHEDULED

The Immunization Clinic which was scheduled for Tuesday was cancelled due to weather.

It has been re-scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 8, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Ozona Community Center.

Murder suspect arrested here

Crockett County sheriff's officers and two Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested a pair of fugitives at an apartment in Crockett Heights here Friday night.

Arrested were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Craighead of Oklahoma. One of the subjects was wanted for murder in Oklahoma. They were charged with interstate flight to avoid prosecution for murder. The pair had been in Ozona about three days and had rented an apartment in the addition four miles east of Ozona, and the man had been employed here.

Assisting the two FBI agents, who had received a tip as to the couple's whereabouts, were Sheriff Billy Mills and deputies Wayne Wahl, Aldo Gonzales and Don Smith.

The couple was lodged in Crockett County Jail until Tuesday when they were transferred to San Angelo and arraigned before a U.S. Magistrate.

Family disturbances kept officers busy during the weekend, with one investigated Thursday, three on Friday and three again on Saturday. Officers also quelled a disturbance at the Circle Bar Thursday.

Several citations were served during the week, along with two warrants for Sutton County. Department members assisted motorists in two instances Saturday, one three miles out of town and the other 18 miles out.

Reports of indiscriminate air rifle shooting and reckless driving were investigated in Chandler Heights Friday, along with a suspicious person report. A false alarm for burglary sent officers hurrying to South Texas Lumber Co. Sunday, and an emergency blood run for a hospital case was also made. Officers investigated a report of a motorist shooting a pistol out of a car window on

I-10 Saturday, but were unable to locate the subject.

On the lighter side, one of the deputies and a local garage operator had a bit of amusement as the result of a stolen vehicle. Deputy Aldo Gonzales ran a stolen car check on a vehicle with Nevada license plates he had been seeing around town. The vehicle was confirmed as stolen, but when the word came back officers couldn't find the car. After some searching, it was found parked in front of a residence in Crockett Heights. As it turned out, someone left the vehicle at Crawford Garage for repairs early in December and failed to return for it. Bill Crawford, owner of the garage, had been driving it around town after repairing it.

Crucial game Fri. for Lion Cagers

The Ozona Lions face a crucial test for the District 7-AA basketball title Friday night when they host Kermit. Kermit is leading in District play and the Lions have lost only one game, that to Kermit by two points in the final moments of the first game played in Kermit.

The Lions will have the advantage of the home court Friday night and a win over the Yellowjackets would surely throw the two teams into a tie for the title. In that event, there would be a play-off game after the close of district play, the winner to represent 7-AA in the play-offs.

The Lions have another district game Tuesday with Sonora, but the possibility of defeat seems highly unlikely, as the Lions defeated the Broncos handily in the first district game.

The Lions got a big win over Crane here last Friday night, downing the Golden Birds 70-61. Rocky Stephens was the big gun for the Lions, swishing the nets for 25 big points. Clair McDaniel scored 18 points for the Lions, followed by Bubs Huffman with 16.

The junior varsity lost 61-44 to the Crane JV and the Lionettes were downed 44-36 by the Crane girls.

The junior high teams finished play last week with the seventh graders winning district for the third year in a row and the eighth grade Cubs ended with a district tie for the championship.

C of C banquet tomorrow

Tickets are $3.50 and may be purchased at the door. Guest speaker will be former Ozonan and football standout, Gary Sutton, who is presently head coach and athletic director at San Saba High School.

The city with the highest population is Shanghai, China with nearly 11 million inhabitants.

Tech Honor roll lists 5 Ozonans

More than 4,000 students at Texas Tech University qualified for the deans' honor rolls in the six colleges during the fall semester.

Among them were five from Ozona, Shannon Dockery, Drew M. Ingram, Karen Kirby, Gigi McKinney, and Luann Perner.

To qualify for a dean's honor roll a student must have a grade point average of 3.0 or more on a 4.0 scale and must have taken as many as 12 semester hours of work.

Texas Tech University has an enrollment of more than 22,000 students in six colleges: Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Home Economics.

Child abuse figures told

No less than 283,000 children in Texas aged 14 and under are likely to be the victim of child abuse during 1979. The figure may be as high as 400,000.

The finding is the result of a survey conducted by the Survey Research Program of the Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University for the Texas Council of Child Welfare Boards.

A scientifically selected sample of 1339 Texans participated in the study which was designed to measure the extent of child abuse and neglect in Texas, as well as what the people of Texas would like to see done about the problem of child abuse and neglect. The study was conducted by Allen Sapp and David Carter, research associates at the Criminal Justice Center.

A total of 14.3% of the respondents reported that they were abused or neglected as children. Also, 8.5% reported that their children have been abused or neglected, 15% reported that children of their close friends have been abused or neglected, and 16.7% reported abuse or neglect of neighbors' children. Regarding the reported cases of child abuse, it was found that 67% had experienced emotional abuse, 54% physical abuse, 37% sexual abuse, and 26% had experienced neglect.

Moreover, 98% of the physical abuse cases and 93% of the sexual abuse cases were accompanied by some type of emotional abuse.

Of the respondents who reported that they had been abused as a child, 54% reported physical abuse, 37% sexual abuse, 67% emotional abuse, and 26% neglect. Many of these respondents reported that three or more types of abuse occurred. However, only one-fourth reported the abuse to anyone. The primary reasons for not reporting were fear of retribution, did not know who to report to, or a belief that other children were treated the same way.

Of the respondents who indicated that their own child had been abused, 47% reported physical abuse, 13% reported sexual abuse, 67% reported emotional abuse, 23% reported neglect. Over one-half (54%) of the abuse cases took place in the home, 21% occurred in the outdoors, 21% in an automobile, 17% at a relative's home, and 5% in a movie or public place. Only one-fifth indicated that alcohol was even a factor in this type of abuse activity.

The findings also revealed that less than one-half of the abuse or neglect cases involving the children of close friends or neighbors are reported. With regard to close friends, about one-third of the cases were reported to someone in authority and four out of every ten cases involving a neighbor's child were reported. Reasons for not reporting included ignorance of where to report the abuse, a belief that others would control the situation, and fear of lawsuits or reprisals.

Approximately one-third (35%) of the respondents expressed the belief that abusing adults should be handled by the criminal justice system (police and the courts) and 31% indicated that abusing adults should be handled by a counseling or treatment agency (mental health/mental retardation, psychiatrist, psychologist). Another 13% indicated that this problem should be handled by a minister. Other responses included the family physician and the county welfare board. Regardless of who the respondents felt should be responsible for the abusing adult, the study did reveal a strong concern that not enough is being done with this type of person.

According to Sapp and Carter, the most revealing finding was that three-fourths of the respondents believe that state tax money should be used for the care of abused and neglected children. Also, over two-thirds believe that state tax money should be used for treatment of adults who abuse children.

Only 54% would like to see federal tax money used for treatment of these children, 49% would approve of county tax money being used, and 36% would approve of city tax money being used. A similar pattern was found regarding treatment of the abusing adult. Only 49% would like to see federal tax money used for this purpose, 37% would approve of county tax money being used, and 26% would approve of city tax money being used.

Respondents could, of course, indicate approval of more than one source of tax money being used for these purposes; however, it is noteworthy that in this day of dependency on federal funds, Texans would prefer to see state monies used for care of both the abused child and the child abuser.

Dr. Raymond Teske, Jr., Director of the Survey Research Program at the Criminal Justice Center, confirmed that this is the first comprehensive survey of the people of Texas regarding the problem of child abuse and neglect. Also, he indicated that the sample of 1339 Texans representing 178 different counties is statistically representative of the Texas adult population.

"MODEL CITIES" FAILURE

Late in 1966, the model cities plan was started. Atlanta was given an appropriation of $173 million. The objective was to eradicate slums, improve education, reduce crime, improve housing, food, culture, and entertainment. The big idea was local control.

The authorities in Atlanta entered into the project with great good will. An area of 3,000 acres in downtown Atlanta was chosen for the experiment. The need for social change and physical improvement was clear, and the desire to "do something" was evident.

What happened to the people of the Atlanta Model Neighborhood as a result of six years' effort and $173 million spent?

One-third of the people have moved away. The percentage of substandard housing in the neighborhood remains 2.6 times that of the city at large, only one-tenth of a percent lower than in 1970. Since 1969 welfare expenditures have risen from $3.5 million annually to a projected $5.8 million. The Food Stamp program along with AFDC has increased welfare spending by 13.2 percent excluding old age, disability and blind assistance.

In 1968, 33.9 percent of the work force was "service/unskilled." By 1970 that had increased to 40.7 percent while the equivalent city-wide level of 18.6 percent remained constant. The median income, based on purchasing power of the 1967 dollar declined from $4,900 to $4,399 real dollars in 1970. Based on standardized tests in education, there is plainly a progression of deficiency, the gap between Model Neighborhood and national achievement widening with each year of school attendance.

The percentage of crime in the area to all crimes within the city declined fairly dramatically from 1968-1973; yet the crime rate for the Model Neighborhood has increased since then.

Very little of permanent value happened in the "model cities." There are some new public buildings, housing units, paved streets and sidewalks, but for the most part, life in general is about the same except maybe a little worse.

We learn from the program that money builds schools, but not minds; improves some slums, but not personal defeat; builds dwellings but not lives.

The Nobel's in Russia

It is not generally known that members of the Swedish Nobel family of Peace Prize fame spent about 80 years in Russia, emigrating to that country from Sweden in 1838. Starting in about 1873, they developed the oil industry there much the same as the Rockefellers did in our country.

They built a pipeline to the Black Sea, offering fierce competition for American and European oil producers. They had large refineries and used diesel engines on their oceangoing tankers. By the turn of the century, Russia was supplying more than half the world's oil. In 1916, the Nobels owned or controlled one-third of all Russian crude production and 40 percent of refined, and were supplying two-thirds of the oil used for Russian domestic consumption. At that time, they had the world's largest oil tanker fleet.

After the Communist revolution, this whole industrial empire was destroyed. The hundreds of oil wells filled with water, the refineries were abandoned, two of the brothers were imprisoned and a third fled the country, barely escaping with his life.

Communism destroys the ablest people who can move the world forward, and enthrones the bureaucrats whose only concern is the perpetuation of their own jobs.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas' economy is in good shape, but is not recession proof, the comptroller's revenue forecaster told the House Ways and Means Committee last week.

Bill Allaway said the state's economic growth rate will likely decline from four per cent to three per cent in 1980, in line with a national drop.

Comptroller Bob Bullock's estimate that revenue for the next fiscal period (1980-81) will exceed $21.2 billion—or $2.8 billion more than the current budget—is based on these factors, Allaway indicated:

—A declining inflation rate, which would slow the growth of sales tax revenue.

—A possible recession this year or next.

—A good chance that the federal revenue sharing program will be reduced or cancelled. The program will expire in September 1980 unless extended. About $11.2 million a year is now received from revenue sharing.

"We are not recession proof, as popularly believed," Allaway told the committee, "and probably less so as Texas becomes a more mature economy and a more-diversified economy."

Bullock's estimate is based further on assumptions that there will be a gradual recovery from the feared recession, and that federal policies will bring inflation under control by the middle of 1981.

Exports Soar

Texas has become the sixth largest exporter of manufactured goods among the states.

Department of Commerce statistics show the value of Texas exports jumped to $5.2 billion in 1976 (last year available)—a 160 per cent increase over 1972. Exported goods were then valued at $1.9 billion.

An estimated 96,200 jobs in Texas were dependent on exports of manufactured goods, and nearly 60,000 of those were related directly to making goods for overseas shipment.

Texas is the top exporter of chemical products, but the industry provided only 6,300 jobs. Two-thirds of the machinery shipped for foreign sale from the state was construction equipment.

Early Primary Urged

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said he will back legislation calling for revival of a Texas presidential preference primary on the second Tuesday in March next year.

The lieutenant governor indicated the bill would be introduced this week.

House Speaker Bill Clayton said he probably will go along.

The legislation also would move party primaries for selection of Democratic and Republican nominees from May to July and runoff primaries from June to August.

Hobby said March is the earliest date the Texas presidential primary could be held under Democratic party

Q: If I die without a will, is it true that my wife would have to get permission from the probate court before she could sell our home and move into an apartment with our children?
A: State law provides that one-half of the community property accumulated by you and your wife during your marriage automatically is transferred to your children if you die without a will. If your home was purchased with your salary or other community income during your marriage, the law would require your wife to obtain permission from the probate judge before she could dispose of any property in which your children had a one-half interest as a result of inheritance from you. These complications can be avoided by having a will which specifies that all of your property will pass to your wife when you die.

Q: If I mail a traffic ticket with a check or money order sufficient to pay the fine for a traffic offense, is this an admission of guilt?
A: Most traffic tickets have a blank where you must sign to enter a plea of guilty. If you desire not to plead guilty, you can mail the ticket without your signature along with the payment of the fine, and a plea of nolo contendere will be entered for you. A plea of nolo contendere, commonly called a "no contest" plea, could become important should a lawsuit be filed as a result of the traffic offense. In a personal injury suit, a plea of guilty in a traffic offense is admissible as evidence to be used in determining who was legally at fault in an accident.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

After such a long and cold two months of winter, we will likely have a late flowering spring. Now we are in transition between seasons. So it is time to get busy in your garden on warm, sunny days.

Don't attempt to plant seeds of warm season flowers and vegetables too early; seeds planted at the wrong time are likely to rot in the ground before they can germinate. Instead, enjoy the plants that do thrive in cool weather, and set out some pansies. Violas and calendulas this month if you haven't already done so.

Calendulas are popular, semi hardy annuals something like marigolds. They are prized for their large, bright flowers and ability to bloom outdoors one to two months before the true marigolds. Plant this month or nurseries may already have blooming plants that will provide instant color in your garden. Plant calendulas in loose, well-drained soil where they will receive full sun. Add peat moss, leaf mold or compost to ensure thoroughly every 3 or 4 days with no rain during dry weather. Fertilize established plants monthly.

If you're anxious to get a start on the vegetable garden, February is a good month to plant cabbage, brussels sprouts, onion sets, lettuce, beets and the other cool-season vegetables in our area. Some of you may want to plant lettuce for a pretty border in your flower beds. Mrs. W.W. Mitchell grew beautiful heads of Bibbs and Butter Crunch varieties last year. Where too thick she transplanted it and didn't lose a plant.

For one of early spring's finest displays, try a deciduous oriental relative of the (Southern Magnolia grandiflora) the star magnolia (magnolia stellata). It is a profusely flowering tree with large buds that begin to unfold as the weather begins to warm. The bud scales are forced apart until the rays of the flowers open into a spectacular star-shaped, fragrant bloom. One of its features is its small mature size and its form which rarely exceeds 10 feet in height and 5 feet across. The branch structure is informal and slightly irregular. It can be planted as an accent tree in a small garden, or tucked away in the shrubby border of a naturalistic planting. The flowers are extremely showy, if viewed against a dark backdrop like an evergreen shrub or shady gray woodland edge. The foliage of leaves are held upright and is a medium green that blends with other plantings. The star magnolia prefers a moist, well-drained, slightly acid soil and needs some shade to be protected from the direct rays of early afternoon sun. Most widely dis-

Woman's Forum sets annual Sunday buffet

The Ozona Woman's Forum will have its annual buffet Sunday, Feb. 18, at 12:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. This year's event, "Southern Hospitality Buffet," will feature foods cooked by club members as in the past.

Tickets are $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for children under six years of age, with 50c extra for take-out plates. Take-out food will be available from 11:30 until 12:30. Tickets may be purchased from members or at the door.

This is the Forum's annual fund raising event and finances the many civic projects planned by club members during the year. The club's most recently completed project is the purchase of three new electric beds and a crash cart for the hospital. The cart will be used in the emergency room or wheeled to rooms where emergency care is indicated and will be equipped at all times for any emergency.

Other projects include the support of a girl at Sky high in Midland, the Rehabilitation Center in Abilene and many others. Another new one is care packages for M.D. Anderson Hospital.

Everyone is urged to attend the buffet and support the annual forum project.

Cold days, opportunity to make homes safer

Jack Frost and friends--snow and sleet--are expected to keep home owners inside the home a good deal during the winter ahead.

This spare time will give home owners the opportunity to take some simple precautions against home accidents, personal injuries and property damage, says the Insurance Information Institute (I.I.I.)

The Institute suggests home owners add these simple precautions to their list of things-to-do during winter:

Clean out closets and attics, removing old rags, papers, mattresses and other odds and ends that present fire and safety hazards.

Tightly cap all combustible materials and store them in cool, high places, out of children's reach. Warn family members never to use gasoline, benzine, or other flammable materials inside your home during the winter months. Improper ventilation could result in an explosion or fire.

Remove all clutter from steps to prevent falls. Safety check and cover outside plugs and electrical units.

Check gutters to make sure no objects are blocking entrances. Otherwise, snow and/or water could back-up and ruin the roof and walls of your home.

Keep all outside walkways and steps clear of snow and ice.

Take a personal inventory of all household goods and personal effects and photograph each room. Store inventory list outside the home in a safe deposit box.

The Institute also suggests that home owners visit their local police station and borrow an identification pen to mark their social security number or name on valuables to deter burglars. The pens can also be purchased in most hardware or department stores for a modest amount.

In Texas, the Institute represents various insurance organizations interested in loss prevention, including the Texas Insurance Advisory Association and the Fire Prevention and Engineering Bureau of Texas.

New health angle for pregnancy

From the Texas Medical Association

A Texas doctor is taking a new angle to encourage proper care for pregnant women. Health authorities always have stressed the medical importance of prenatal care. But Linda Cecil, M.D., has added that investing a little time and money in prenatal care can save money as well as avoid pain.

For instance, a doctor can do two tests that help avoid hyaline membrane disease, a lung problem that is the tributed selection is the white flower variety. Others available-Royal Star, double white flowers; Rubra, red-tipped buds; and Rosea, pink non-fragrant flowers. They all bloom early before the foliage appears like the early red Flowering Quince that blooms this month.

major killer of premature infants. Maximum cost for the two tests is about $200. But even one day's care in an intensive care unit for infants can run well over $200. If the baby survives, it may be several weeks before it gets out of intensive care, said Dr. Cecil, an assistant professor at The University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston.

Education is another important cost-cutting factor, Dr. Cecil said in an article in the January issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal. If a pregnant woman knows about complications, medical advice often can help her handle problems at home. Pregnant patients with diabetes, high blood pressure and other diseases especially can use counseling from doctors and community resources.

Cut main-dish costs--and the entire food budget gets stronger.

Main-dish foods generally take the largest part of any food dollar, so cutting their costs can mean a major step toward economy.

Here are some ideas: Buy less-tender cuts of meat.

To make them more tender, cook them slowly with moisture-pot roast, braise, simmer or stew them.

Also grind, cube, pound or score them--or use a commercial tenderizer.

Another tenderizing idea is the marinade. Marinate less-tender meats in tomatoes, vinegar, wine or lemon juice.

Instead of serving big pieces of meat at every meal, use small pieces of meat sometimes--in casseroles, salads or sandwiches.

Use meat bones to flavor soups, stews or vegetables. Or use them to make broth, and then use it in sauces, soups, stews and gravies.

Extend meat, poultry or fish dishes with pastas, dried legumes or starchy vegetables. Tomato or other sauces can add flavor to these combination dishes.

Make meat stuffings using breads or cereals.

Use meat alternates for some meals.

These include dry beans, peas or lentils, peanut but-

The little frame church in this snow-blanketed mountain village lifts its tall spire above its rugged environment like a sentinel guarding a sacred trust or a lighthouse on a rockbound coast.

Wherever man has pushed his habitations--in the bleak wastes of the polar regions, under the blazing tropical sun, or in the milder climates of the world--he has built his churches dedicated to the worship of God.

The fact that no community seems complete without its house of worship bears eloquent testimony to the universal recognition of man's need of religion.

The village church plays a vital part in the life of the community. The spiritual standards of the people are fashioned there; marriage vows are spoken at its altar, and the honored dead sleep in its sacred soil.

There it stands in every community--the little frame church--pointing the people to God, teaching them the way of life, giving them strength and faith for every need.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Here's a basketball oddity...Only once in the last 25 years has the team that had the scoring leader in the National Basketball Association also won the championship of the NBA...The only time it's happened in the last 25 years was the 1970-71 season when Kareem Abdul-Jabbar won the scoring title and his team won the NBA championship. You'd think having the scoring champ would help a team win the league title, but it hasn't worked out that way.

Has any basketball team ever gone through an entire game and not scored a point?...It seems hard to believe, but there was once a shutout in college basketball when Dartmouth in 1900 beat Boston College, 44-0.

What are the most games in a row any basketball team ever won?...The all-time record for any team in high school, college or pro ball was the amazing streak by Passaic (N.J.) High School...Between 1919 and 1925, they won--not just 100 straight or 150 straight--but the unbelievable total of 159 consecutive games...No other team--in any organized sport--has ever come close to winning that many games in a row.

I bet you didn't know... Valentine's Day is going to be here soon and our new cars could be just the thing for you to take home for your sweetheart. We have a variety of Chevrolets, Buicks, Oldsmobiles, Cadillacs and Pontiacs to choose from.

Activities Program Director

We had several residents under the weather, with mostly seasonal ailments, who missed Friday morning bingo, and they really do hate to be absent. We usually have about twenty playing, and it is so good to be able to depend on our good volunteers who always let me know if they cannot show up (which is rare). This is true dedication.

Right now, Juana Hernandez and Ramona Lugo have been transferred to our hospital, and Inez Jennings is in Shannon Hospital for some surgery. We wish everyone a speedy recovery.

Winner of the January $10 gift certificate was Carlota Villareal, this is the contest between the losers of the month. Winner of the $5 weekly certificate was Verna Talley after a play-off with Paul Cavin. Paul received a prize. We thank Baker Jewelers and Watson's Department store for donating these certificates.

While on the subject of appreciated volunteers, I have been asked by the administration and the Care Center Auxiliary to remind prospective volunteers that all volunteer activities must be coordinated through the Activity Director, either direct, or by contacting the president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Dub Carlisle (Carol), or Mrs. Leonard Boyd (Beth), sponsor of the Junior Auxiliary. We wish to avoid any misunderstandings and overlaps; so, if you wish to help with an activity, give a program, throw a party, or whatever, please without fail, make contact with us first. We also have chairmen who head the various activities—Mrs. Doris Karr for Friday morning bingo, Mrs. Casiana Fierro for Tuesday night bingo conducted by our Mexican-American volunteers and Jr. Auxiliary, and Mrs. C.O. (Blanche) Walker for Thursday morning beauty shop service. If you can't show and can't find a replacement, let them know so that they and I can plan accordingly.

We have some wonderful people working and donating much of their time, and we urge all volunteers to join the Auxiliary and this way we can channel assistance where it is needed and can perform more efficiently. The dues are only $1.50 per annum. You may send your checks to Mrs. Blas Vargas (Veva), Treas., Box 1123. A short workshop for all volunteers will be conducted in the not too distant future—a recommendation of the State Health Department. We think you will find this helpful and worth an hour or two of your time.

We'll be doing a spot of decorating in the next day or two with St. Valentine Day theme. We will use, for the most part, felt decorations made by our residents last year which are still in good shape.

The birthday party will be Monday, February 12 at 3:30 p.m. honoring Gordon Smith 2nd; Evelyn Bryant, 4th; and Paul Cavin, 27th. Ignacio Rios went home, Monday, but he celebrated his birthday on February 1 and perhaps he can return for the party, if convenient.

Tuesday ceramics class has commenced again and that makes everyone happy; we started work on many new and interesting looking pieces.

Thursday afternoon we used the Readers Digest as material for reading and discussion group, and read about Walter Cronkite's grandfather, an old-time pharmacist loved by all, and an old gentleman who influenced Walter a great deal in his early life. This item is an excerpt from Cronkite's book "Remember, Remember." Then, for both humor and education, we learned that the lowly pig is a highly intelligent creature, and one that is aiding in many areas of medical research. The item "Praise Be to Pigs" was originally in the National Geographic. Evelyn Bryant added some interest by telling of a pet pig she once had. We owe many, many thanks to Mrs. Bill Watson for the two lovely crocheted lap robes; flowers from Mrs. Jack Baggett, and some new bibs made by Mrs. Hank Poeller, whose husband is one of our residents.

In domino play, Monday, table No. 1 winner was Paul Cavin with Verna Talley second, table No. 2 winner was Eleanor Yeager with Ruby Cooksey second, and table No. 3 winner was Gertrude Daniels with Frances Tolson second.

Volunteers last week were Velma Marley, Doris Kilgore, Carol Carlisle, Grace Dorsey, Ann McCartney, Bonnie Warth, Madye Jo Humphreys, Alice Ross, Mattie Cooper, Liz Mary Pipes, Doris Karr, Sophie Kyle, Georgia Kirby, Alda DeHoyos and Mickey Arredondo. Also Jr. Auxiliary members Phillis and Tasha Light and Melissa Layman.

The Rev. Larry Bailey was in charge of the Sunday service and this time he was accompanied by about ten members of the Lillian Henderson Sunday School Class.

Thanks to everyone from all of us.

Comptroller representative to visit Ozona

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on Thursday, February 15, 1979, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Stephen Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Crockett County Courthouse Annex from 9:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

"If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Mr. Mercer will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The heat pump

"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"

A good bargain!

A heating system that's more than 200% efficient may seem like something out of the future. But it isn't. It's yours today, with the electric heat pump. Because when correctly installed in a properly insulated home, the heat pump produces two units of heat for each single unit of electricity it uses. The heat pump operates by using the future's most abundant energy source, solar energy. It transfers heat that's always present in sun-warmed outside air into your home during the winter. And reverses the process, pumping heat outdoors during the summer.

Party fare for cold winter evenings

Cold winter's eve parties next to the crackling sounds of a warm fireplace need a light touch, says Frances Reasonover.

Epperson services Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Walker (Jane Greer) Epperson, 54, mother of Mrs. Tommy Stokes of Ozona, were held Monday in the Church of Christ in Rock-springs, with burial in Rock-springs Cemetery.

Mrs. Epperson died Saturday in Rocksprings, following an illness.

She was born Sept. 11, 1924 in Rocksprings. She was married to Walker Epperson Sept. 6, 1942. She had lived in the Rocksprings area all her life. She attended Rock-springs High School and Texas Christian University.

Other survivors include her husband, three sons, a brother and five grand-children.

"Light touch" snacks and beverages mean low-calorie, high nutrition items, she adds.

Here is an idea for a tempting party menu that combats "after-the-holidays bulge."

of goods and a reduction in employee compensation would naturally result in a reduction of prices.

It's almost time to make our annual payment to Uncle Sam, (so he can pay all those bureaucrats another year) and as I slave over deductions, tax forms, etc. I have come up with my hourly wage as a business owner in the private sector. I figure with all the work I put in during the year 1978, this takes in the worry between 2 and 4 in the mornings and deductions for taxes paid, my take-home pay is in the vicinity of 28c per hour. Now if I, as a private citizen making a wage of 28c per hour, can figure out how to stop inflation and cut prices why can't those highly-paid do-nothings in the nation's capitol come up with a similar plan? Of course, they are living off the tax money and I'm paying in the tax money, so that might make a crucial difference in the thought processes of the bureaucrat and the businessman.

Cub cagers win third dist. title

The Ozona 7th grade basketball boys won their third consecutive district championship last week. The 7th grade Cubs ended the year with 10 wins against 2 losses, 7-1 in district play. The 7th grade Cubs have dominated their district, winning the district championship the last 3 years in a row.

The Cubs had district wins over Big Lake, Sonora, Iraan, McCamey and also had a win over Rankin. The 7th graders also had a fine year in football, going undefeated.
