According to the Texas Attorney General's office, there is no state statute prohibiting the publishing of juvenile names by the press, however, most Texas newspapers do not publish the names of juvenile offenders as a matter of policy. Several states, having such laws, are repealing or changing them. Last year the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals ruled that a state statute prohibiting the use of juvenile names in newspaper crime stories was unconstitutional. A new bill introduced in the Georgia legislature would permit the news media to publish the names and pictures of first-time juvenile offenders unless specifically prohibited by court order. And in Cleveland, Ohio, a newspaper publishes the names of juvenile offenders in felony and misdemeanor cases. Juvenile authorities there say it's a deterrent to juvenile crime.

With juvenile crime on the rise, especially in rural areas, publishers of small newspapers must give serious consideration to changing policies. The public's right to know must eventually take precedence over the protection of the identity of the minor, especially if he has committed a prior offense. Several local incidents lately have given us pause for thought on the subject and common sense is on the side of publishing names of the offenders. Our responsibility is to inform the public and not to protect the privacy of a law-breaker of whatever age.

A purse-snatching incident in broad daylight here Saturday morning from an older lady has brought into focus the fact that Ozona is no safer than other towns for senior citizens. For some time the wide spread use of various kinds of drugs has been common knowledge. Acts of vandalism and petty theft have gone unreported. We are inclined to side with the Cleveland press and authorities and make the publishing of all offender's names a matter of policy regardless of age.

Law enforcement agencies can only function to their full capacities with the cooperation of the public. An alert, informed public can be a valuable asset. If we can

Chamber increases dues, fees

In the regular monthly meeting last week, the board of directors of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce raised minimum membership dues from $6 to $7.50 per month for businesses and increased individual dues to $3 per month, due to rising costs in all areas of chamber operation.

Beginning June 1, the chamber will offer employment referral service for all Crockett County businesses and residents. Businesses may call the chamber office anytime they have positions they need to fill, and individuals in search of employment positions. The office telephone is 392-3066 and open hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

It was decided to charge each landowner a fee of $50 per year to defray costs of printing the annual hunting lease lists. In the past free listings were given, but due to the costs of printing and mailing it has become prohibitive for the chamber to bear the cost of the service.

Crockett County wool sells well

A successful wool sale was held at both wool houses here Tuesday with a total of 231,459 pounds of wool going for an average of well over $1 per pound.

Bids and sales were brisk at Ozona Wool & Mohair where the bulk of the bidding took place. 58,805 pounds of 8-month paint-free wool went for $1 to 1.08½ with Clyde Young Wool Co. of Lampasas being the high bidder. 57,823 pounds of 8-month paint wool sold in a range of 96½ cents to $1.07, averaging $1.04 per pound. J.P. Stevens of Boston was high bidder.

Forte, Dupee, Sawyer and Co. also of Boston was the principal buyer of 46,010 pounds of 8-month crossbred wool which sold for 96-5/8 to 98-3/4 cents per pound. One lot of 10-month paint free wool went brought $1.04-3/4. The lot of 15,087 pounds went to J. P. Stevens Co.

A lot of 5,010 pounds of 12-month lamb wool was bid at $1.04 to $1.16-5/8 for an average of $1.09 per pound. Burlington Industries bought the entire lot. A lot of 8,783 pounds of 12-month wool went for from 95 cents to $1.14½ per pound for an average of $1.09. Burlington again was the principal buyer.

Crockett County Wool & Mohair sold a total of 39,941 pounds. 12,665 pounds of 8-month paint wool went for $1.06-3/4 per pound with Ballinger Bailing being the principal buyer. Two lots of 8-month paint free wool, a total of 3,824 pounds went for $1.02½ and $1.07½, with Ballinger B. again the principal bidder. 12-month paint wool, a total of 15,662 pounds ranged from $1.06-5/8 to $1.15-3/8, with J. P. Stevens the principal buyer. Paint-free lamb wool in the amount of 6,923 ranged from $1.04-3/8 to $1.23 with Burlington the principal buyer. A lot of 867 blackface wool went for 90½ cents to Forte.

Bids out for I-10 work here

Bids will be opened May 16 by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for the improvement of the pavement on a section of Interstate Highway 10 in Crockett County.

Doc Watson, district engineer of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in San Angelo, said the section extends from 6.6 miles east of Ozona to the Sutton County line, a distance of 8.7 miles.

The work is to strengthen and preserve the existing pavement. Watson said the work is somewhat unusual because it will employ the use of a fabric mat underseal on half of the project and the other half will receive asphalt-rubber seal coat prior to the placing of the asphaltic concrete pavement overlay. These and two other test sections will be used to evaluate these methods of strengthening and preserving pavements.

Baccalaureate services Sun.

Baccalaureate service for the 47 graduating seniors of Ozona High School will be held Sunday at 8 p.m. in the newly remodeled high school auditorium. Graduation exercises are scheduled for Friday night, May 25.

Seniors will march into the auditorium to the strains of Pomp and Circumstance, Miss Lupe Gonzales will be the pianist for both the processional and recessional.

Bill Morrison, minister of the Ozona Church of Christ will give the invocation. "All Hail the Power of Jesus"

OHS elects cheerleaders

The student body of Ozona High School elected cheerleaders for the fall term in an election last week.

Michelle Galvan was elected head cheerleader. Other cheerleaders include Rea Lynn Dews, Kim Sinclair, Connie Badillo, Sandra Tambunga and Molly Womack.

Name" and "Holy, Holy, Holy" have been selected for audience participation. Special music will be presented by Linda Wylie, soloist, "A Hill Called Mt. Calvary."

The sermon will be given by Fr. Larry Droll, pastor of the Catholic Church. Rev. Larry Bailey, pastor of Ozona United Methodist, will give the benediction.

4-H Trail ride is Friday

The 4-H trail ride has been changed from Saturday to Friday afternoon around 4:00 p.m. All 4-H members will meet at the arena with a sack lunch and ride south to McMullan Ranch. At the ranch, the group will eat and enjoy fun and games. The group will then trailer back to town.

Parents and leaders are encouraged to ride along on the ride or drive down and eat supper with the group.

Court turns down construction bids

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met in regular monthly meeting Monday with all members present. Monthly bills were approved for payment and reports heard in the morning session and two bids for construction of a new fire station were rejected in the afternoon session.

Von Parker gave the Road Department report and said the summer paving program was on schedule with the exception of streets with problem areas where the gas lines were too near the surface or water lines were leaking. He asked that a tractor-mower be replaced. The court approved the purchase of a new tractor-mower.

Terry Gries appeared to ask the court to approve his construction of a hanger at the airport. Some discussion followed with the court agreeing to the new construction, provided it is built with new materials and the location is coordinated with the airport manager.

Dudley McCary met with the court and reported his work running on schedule and asked if any member of the court had any questions.

Commissioner De Hoyos asked who was responsible for the courthouse grounds, noting the generally unkept conditions. McCary said the grounds were the responsibility of the courthouse maintenance man, Luis Martinez. After briefly discussing the ball parks he retired.

The court held some discussion on the various ball parks and noted how well attended the games have been as well as an abundance of ball teams. They relieved McCary of any responsibility for the parks and transferred care of the parks to the road department, using summer help for the work.

County Judge Johnny Jones reported P.K. Smith had been hired to supervise maintenance at the cemetery and was apparently doing a good job.

Raymond Davee, game warden, met with the court and presented the Texas Parks and Wildlife hunting regulations for their approval. The only change which effects Crockett County individually is the spring gobbler season. The court voted to add this regulation at an earlier meeting this year. The regulations were adopted and approved.

Two new members were added to the hospital board to replace Donnie Laughlin, who moved, and Sue Arledge, who resigned. Named to the board were Gene Lilly and Blas Vargas. Harold Taylor resigned last month as hospital administrator and with the two new members added to the board, the court expects the position to be filled soon.

The date for the opening of the swimming pools was set for Saturday, May 26. Gary Warren will manage the North Pool and Joe Borrego, the South Pool.

The County Auditor Dick Kirby presented the budget expenditures for the first four months of the year, and was authorized to reinvest county Certificates of Deposits. The court officially designated Ozona National Bank as the county depository.

Tom Stokes, Tax Assessor-Collector, met with the court and presented conditions for court members to review. The judge swore the commissioners in as a Board of Equalization for property taxes.

While commissioners were looking through renditions, Kirby announced he had hired another assistant in his office to begin work June 1, and would need some new office furniture. Stokes also asked for new desks for his deputies.

Some discussion followed about the court approving the salary of another employee in the auditor's office. During the February meeting both the auditor and county clerk asked for additional help and the court did not approve either additional salary.

The court reconvened at 2 p.m. and opened two bids for construction of a new fire station. Both bids were rejected by the court, the low bid being $213,439.10 from Tusha Building Contractors in Odessa. After some discussion, the court decided to build a metal building behind the present fire station. The structure will be a 30x60 foot metal building and will house four vehicles. The construction will be put out for bids next month. Specifications were drawn up Tuesday morning.

Annual honor roll announced

The annual honor roll for Ozona High School was announced this week by High School Principal Jim Payne.

To make the annual honor list, a student must be named to three out of the first five 6-weeks honor rolls. Band and P.E. do not count toward the yearly honor roll average, and the student must have a 90 or better academic average with no grade of C or lower.

Members of the senior class on the list include Kathy Adams, La Dawn Adcock, Margaret Dominguez, Becky Everett, Jose Gutierrez, Janice James, D'Anna Koerth, Bobby Longoria, Teresa Martinez, Clair McDaniel, Tracey Knox Preddy, Danny Sewell, Rocky Stephens, Wayne Sutton and Karen Warren. Juniors making the list are Wade Beasley, Gay Burns, Chris Carlisle, Deniese Hedrick, Jody Naron, Peri Pennington, Gregg Perry and Jeffrey Young.

Sophomore honor students for the year are T.J. Carlisle, Lisa Hohertz, Tilly Kramer, Jesse Moreno, Kim Sinclair, Gary Smith, Kaye Thompson, Connie Trujillo and Molly Womack.

Sen. Tower on Energy

Approval by the Senate today of the President's standby gasoline rationing plan is, "Just another step in the capitulation to a condition we need not endure," and "another instance where neither the Administration nor the Congress has shown any initiative toward solving the problem," according to Senator John Tower (R-Tex).

"It appears that the Administration has concluded that the best way to win acceptance of its position on energy is to continue to create the conditions which will assure a shortage of that energy," Tower added. "First we tried to deal with an ineffectual National Energy Plan. Then, after long delay, a reluctant decision to decontrol domestic crude oil prices, but with the hooker of a 'windfall profits' tax to degrade the benefits; and now, a 'standby' rationing plan which, in all likelihood, is the precursor of its implementation. We have yet to see anything from the White House which indicates any willingness to examine ways to increase production as a means of solving the problem."

Tower said that the Department of Energy estimates the direct program costs of gasoline rationing would amount to over $3 billion a year, including over $1 billion of oil industry costs, most of which would be passed on to the consumer. In addition, the estimate of federal personnel required to administer the plan runs as high as 15,000.

"We already have a Department of Energy which employs over 20,000 at an annual cost to the taxpayers of more than $10 billion. Now we are being asked to accept these added prospective costs, with still no plan to drill one single additional well. The industry could go a long way to solving our energy problem with $13 billion a year," Tower stated.

Tower said the best solution to the gasoline shortage, aside from steps to increase supplies in the long term, is to let the individual states, like Texas and California, come up with their own plans which would meet their own requirements.

"Although the President's plan is based on so-called 'historic' usage of gasoline, we still don't know how much will be available to each state after priority requirements are met. That should be left to local decision, not federal bureaucratic interference."

OIL PERSPECTIVE

by John M. Houchin

It seems that our government is either unable or unwilling to take corrective measures to prevent or minimize crises that may lead to such undesirable developments as the rationing of gasoline and perhaps even to nationalization of the oil and gas industries. The government's erratic performance amounts to encouraging such developments.

Consider for example the recent "shoot-from-the-hip" remarks of Secretary of Energy James Schlesinger, hinting that rationing may come in the not-too-distant future—a development which would add to the already long series of government policies and actions (or inactions) which interfere with market-place factors best calculated to result in maximum domestic petroleum production through enhanced recovery methods, as well as in alternative energy sources.

The government's efforts to assure greater petroleum supplies—as opposed to mere conservation—seem to center on far off places overseas, such as the OPEC countries; and, since the recent visit of Mainland China's vice-premier, the government appears to be urging the American oil and gas industry to participate in finding and exploiting sources of oil in that country. Overseas sources can be dependable in an unsettled world.

At the same time, the government appears to be lukewarm in trying to take advantage of the tremendous oil and gas potential of Mexico. An about-face as a result of the President's recent visit to Mexico cannot be ruled out, but it seems that thus far Energy Czar Schlesinger has had his way in blocking negotiations for Mexican gas, for instance, merely because the Mexicans would charge more than we pay for Canadian gas. The government ought to be giving top priority to obtaining maximum amounts of oil and gas from Mexico and Canada, our neighbors. Their oil and gas can be delivered to us cheaper and could not be developed as the rationing cut off should a hostile Soviet Union get control of certain strategic sea lanes now used for deliveries of Near East oil to the United States.

But above all the U.S. government should be encouraging the American Oil & Gas Industry to go all-out in finding new reserves and increasing enhanced recovery within our own borders, chiefly by deregulating domestic oil and gas prices. Our citizens are apparently ahead of our government. A recent Harris Survey, conducted in co-operation with ABC News across the country, shows a 65/23% majority favor decontrolling domestic oil prices.

Something also needs to be done about environmental extremists who demand that we purify our environment to an extent that would unduly limit badly-needed supplies of domestic gasoline and fuel oil, as well as the development of alternative energy sources. While some environmental action is justified, it must not interfere with the overriding need of our country for sufficient energy.

The world's largest onshore equipment and service oil show—officially known as the International Petroleum Exposition—has been held periodically in Tulsa, Oklahoma since 1923. The next show will be held September 10-13, 1979, and will feature improved equipment and technology developed to help provide us with more oil and gas. Oil men from all 50 states and over 60 countries of the world are expected. Note: Mr. Houchin is retired president and chairman of the Phillips Petroleum Company and current President of the International Petroleum Exposition.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—After the Senate said this week it would like to spend more than the House on state appropriations in 1980-81, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton each named five legislators to a conference committee.

While those five House members and five senators are bargaining over a state budget, another 10 legislators will be meeting in the second conference committee named this week to settle differences over tax relief amendment legislation.

It didn't take the Senate but a day to knock out its version of a general appropriations bill. The House had worked on its plan for almost a full week. The Senate bill would cost taxpayers $20.8 billion, while the House plan would spend $20.3 billion.

A real point of contention in the two budgets is salaries. The Senate would raise state employees' salaries by 5.1 percent, including teachers. Gov. Bill Clements says he can live with such a raise. The House bumped salaries by seven percent, including teachers.

While lawmakers are arguing over what to pay state employees, they will also be figuring out how much tax relief Texans will be getting.

Greedy vs Needy

The Senate passed its version of the Tax Relief Amendment on a 30-1 vote. Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy cast the one dissenting vote and said the bill would "benefit the greedy, not the needy." Mauzy argued that "timber barons and land speculators" would get "the big breaks" while the average homeowner, for whom the bill was supposedly designed, would get little tax relief.

The Senate bill would lower taxes for the elderly, the disabled, homeowners, farmers and timber raisers. The legislation exempts $5,000 in school property taxes for all homeowners, includes a $10,000 exemption for the elderly and disabled and farmers, ranchers and timber growers would get huge breaks, the costliest of all the exemptions, by computing the value of land according to its productivity rather than market value.

The Senate Finance Committee had added an income limit for those eligible for exemptions, but the full Senate knocked off that provision and Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene warned his colleagues that they might be placing an intolerable tax burden on those counties with many elderly and disabled persons.

While Jones and Sen. Carl Parker of Port Arthur were at odds over the income limitation, they teamed up to remove a provision exempting two cars or light trucks from state property taxes.

Jones and Parker said tax-assessor collectors could foresee an "administrative nightmare" developing if they had to figure out which cars were exempt and which weren't.

The Jones-Parker amendment leaves it up to local taxing entities to decide whether or not they want to exempt vehicles from property taxes.

To reimburse school districts for revenues lost because of the Tax Relief Amendment, the House put aside over $400 million. The Senate wants to take care of the matter in a school finance bill.

In The House

Almost three weeks ago, it appeared certain no legislation would be passed this session raising the state usury limit on home loans. Capitol observers had predicted before the session began that the usury law would be under attack but an announcement by Gov. Clements that he would veto any such bills stopped proposed legislation in its tracks.

Then along came Fannie Mae—the Federal National Mortgage Association—the prime buyer of VA and FHA home loans. Fannie Mae said it was backing off on accepting the low-interest VA and FHA loans in Texas because some lenders might be violating the usury law by charging "points." Just before Fannie Mae's announcement, the Department of Housing and Urban Development said it was hiking the interest rate on VA and FHA loans to 10 percent. That meant lenders in Texas that had been charging points on VA and FHA loans to get the interest rates up to present money market levels might be in violation of the usury law.

Clements had said he would re-evaluate his position on legislation raising the interest rate ceiling if developments warranted such a move on his part. Fannie Mae's announcement—meaning a tight money market would probably be getting tighter—moved Clements to reverse himself, and when the governor did, he called in Sen. Bill Meier and Rep. Jerry Donaldson to discuss their bills raising the legal interest rate allowed by law.

The House this week passed Donaldson's bill with provisions that Clements said he could accept. Meanwhile, there was still some question whether or not VA and FHA loans are exempted from the state usury laws. "Vagueness" over the law had been one of Fannie Mae's prime reasons for backing away from taking VA and FHA loans in Texas. And an investigation into whether there had been "collusion" between Fannie Mae and lenders was also underway. Sen. Bill Patman and Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard had leveled that charge after Fannie Mae's announcement followed so closely on the heels of Gov. Clements' revelation that he would veto bills hiking the interest rate unless something changed his mind.

We are the graduates of seventy-nine, We've known each other for such a long time.

We all know each other and will not forget, The very first time that we all first met.

In first we were devils still looking for heaven.

At second we found it, at the age of seven.

In three to six we found excitement,

From seven to eight we discovered new enlightenment.

From nine to twelve we gathered our friends,

And made a whole family to live within.

In it were students, old and new,

Favorite teachers, good friends too.

But now we are here and we made it in time,

And the memories will remain with the Class of Seventy-nine.

you and the LAW
PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: My independent school district has just sent me a bill for $38.25 for property tax on my car. If I do not pay this fee and continue to ignore their demands for payment and threats of penalties and interest, what can the school district do to me?

A: In Texas, an individual is personally liable for the taxes levied against his automobile if he owned the automobile on January 1st of the tax year in question. If the taxpayer does not pay the tax, the jurisdiction has the right after the taxes become delinquent, to file suit for the collection. The general rule is that the jurisdiction will take a personal judgment against the owner of the automobile which may be abstracted in the County Clerk's office.

Q: I live in the county, outside the city limits but I have a city postal address. Does the city have any right to tax my personal property?

A: In Texas, personal property is taxable at the domicile (residence) of the owner or the principal office and place of business of a corporation. The exception is if the property has been in a jurisdiction other than the residence of the owner for a long period of time, the property may acquire a taxable situs of its own. In order to avoid confusion with the taxing authorities, you are urged when you register your automobile to give the address of your residence so that the tax office will not be misled by a city address if you live in the county.

Q: About a month ago I was involved in an auto accident. The driver of the other car received a ticket and I didn't. The other driver didn't have insurance so my insurance company had to pay to fix my car. Now they're trying to raise my insurance rates. Can they do this?

A: A traffic ticket does not necessarily determine fault for the accident. Your insurance company could still determine that the accident was your fault and could then add a surcharge of 15% to your rates.

Not all companies are rate-regulated by the State Board of Insurance and do not have to charge the rates set by the Board. Your company may be one of these. If you feel you have a valid protest of the rate increase you may file a complaint in writing with the State Board of Insurance.

Q: My aunt died three years ago and left several hundred dollars in a safe deposit box. She left no will, and her sister asked me to help her open the safe deposit box because she's too ill to travel. A lawyer told me we'd have to go to court, even though there is no other relative who wants the money. I can't understand why we have to go to court to get the money.

A: State laws concerning the estates of persons who die without a will provide very strict requirements to protect the interest of all relatives and other persons involved. Before the bank can release the funds, you must submit proof of death, an affidavit of heirship, and an order of the probate court.

Q: Can I be put in jail because I cannot pay a debt I owe to the finance company?

A: The Texas Constitution protects you from imprisonment because you cannot pay your debts. However, if the finance company sues you, you must comply with court orders during a law suit, because the court can jail you for contempt if you do not comply, regardless of whether the suit is based on a debt. This means you cannot ignore subpoenas and requests for depositions, and you must make a good faith effort to answer all questions approved by the court.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Late spring is a good time to divide and reset crowded clumps of cannas. This will help avoid poor flower production and the foliage wilting rapidly in the summer heat. Reset plants at least 12 inches apart in reworked soil, and spread a mulch around the base of the plants. Water thoroughly.

Also this is mums planting season. Set out new plants or root cuttings of new growth from your old plants. If last years plants showed no sign of disease, dig the old clumps, divide, and reset in well-prepared soil. As plants become established, begin pinching out terminal buds every 10 days to promote branching and increase flower production.

Maintaining a beautiful lawn in Texas can be troublesome, especially during drought-prone summers. Nothing can guarantee a problem-free lawn, but your chances of success, will be helped if you keep a few basic rules in mind, particularly when mowing.

The first rule is to mow frequently, once a week for most lawns, so that you never remove too great a portion of the leaves at any one time. When you let the lawn go for two weeks and then mow at the regular height, you are probably removing up to half of the grass blade when you cut. Such a radical pruning weakens the grass, particularly during hot, dry weather. If this has happened, raise the mower blade to its highest level. When you do mow. Then now again within 4 or 5 days, lowering the blade a notch. In another 4 or 5 days, mow again, lowering the blade a notch. Repeat the gradual lowering until the grass is back to the desired height. During the warmest months, raise the height of the mower blade to allow the grass to grow higher. The longer leaves shade the soil from the scorching sun, reducing heat stress on the lawn. Raise the cutting height of your mower to about 3 1/2 inches for St. Augustine. A rotary-blade mower is fine for use on most lawns. Regardless of type of mower you use, keep the blade well sharpened.

Mrs. David Sewell, nee Beasley of Nassau Bay announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lee Ann, to James E. Bauer, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Bauer, Jr., of Refugio. The couple will be married August 11, at St. John's United Methodist Church in San Antonio. Lee Ann is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleophas Cooke of Ozona and Mrs. Sam Beasley of Marble Falls.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED-Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Stewart of Raleigh, N.C., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kerr, to Monty Arthur Pelto, son of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Jeanes of Richardson and the late Swede Pelto of Ozona. The wedding is planned for July 28, in Emporia, Kansas. The bride-elect is a graduate of East Carolina University. Monty is a graduate of Ozona High School and holds an accounting degree from Texas Christian University.

Gift tea honors Mrs. David Sewell

Mrs. David Sewell, nee Beasley of Nassau Bay, was honored with a Gift Tea on May 10, 1979, at the home of Mrs. C.O. Walker.

The bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were used to decorate the home.

Receiving guests were Mrs. Chester Wilson, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Sewell, Mrs. Basil Dunlap, the bride's mother, and Mrs. L.T. Sewell, the bridegroom's mother.

Serving at the registry were Misses Ann Hoover and Doreen Watson.

Other members in the house party were Mrs. Vaden Aldridge, the groom's sister, Mrs. Randy Crawford, Mrs. Aaron Hamilton, Miss Vonda Maness, Mrs. Gregory Stuart, Mrs. Jeffrey Stuart, Mrs. Ricky Webster, and Miss Jan Watson. Over thirty guests attended between the hours of 7:00 and 8:30 p.m.

Hostesses for the tea were Mrs. Ronnie Pennington, Mrs. Chester Wilson, Mrs. Jack Probst, Mrs. Jeff Owens, Mrs. C.O. Walker, Mrs. Billy Hoover, Mrs. C.W. Bednar, Mrs. Bill Watson, Mrs. Judy Farris, Mrs. Mary Huckabee, Mrs. Bill Crowder, Mrs. Gene Lilly, and Mrs. Terry McPherson.

Luncheon bridge club meets

The Salad Luncheon Bridge Club met last week in the home of Mrs. Frank McMullan with Mrs. Tom Stokes, cohostess.

Attending were Mrs. Jeffrey Sutton, Mrs. Tom Cameron, Mrs. Gary Vannoy, Mrs. David Porter, Mrs. Pleas Childress, III, Mrs. Randy Upham, Mrs. Bud West, Mrs. Cuatro Davidson, Mrs. Jim Bob Bailey, Mrs. Billy Carson, Mrs. Wesley West, Mrs. Tite Bishop, Mrs. Cheryl Clayton, Miss Kay McMullan, Mrs. Deane Holden, Mrs. Dwight Childress, Mrs. Jack Probst, and Mrs. Buster Deaton.

Garden Club holds officer installation

The Ozona Garden Club met Monday at the Methodist Church with Mrs. Charles Williams and Mrs. Gene Lilly as hostesses. Final reports for the year were given by the projects chairmen.

New officers were installed as follows: Mrs. Steve Kenley, president; Mrs. Tom Stokes, vice president; Mrs. J.B. Miller, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lee Graves, recording secretary; Mrs. James Montgomery, treasurer; Mrs. A.S. Lock, historian and publicity, and Mrs. J.W. Howell, parliamentarian.

Party honors seniors

The Ozona High School Seniors were honored with a party Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huffman. Swimming, washers, ping-pong, and a picnic supper were enjoyed by the class.

Other hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bebee, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Perry, Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Everett, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Rex Fenton and Colene Stephens.

WTU Spring graduates

Mr. and Mrs. Ken McCartney were spring graduates of West Texas State University in ceremonies Saturday. Ken is a graduate of Quanah High School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. McCartney of Ozona. His wife, Cheryl, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil West of Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McCartney and Danita made the trip to Canyon for the graduation exercises.

The program was a lecture and demonstration of the technique of plant drying by Mrs. Charles Williams.

Members were asked to meet at the courthouse annex at 9 a.m. Wednesday to weed the grounds.

Others present included Mrs. Earl Berry, Mrs. Fleet Coates, Mrs. L.B. Cox, Jr., Mrs. Lee Graves, Mrs. James Haire, Mrs. J.W. Howell, Mrs. Frank Justiss, Mrs. Steve Kenley, Mrs. J.B. Miller, Mrs. Jack Probst, Mrs. Bailey Post, Mrs. James Montgomery, and Mrs. Tom Stokes.

Duplicate bridge club winners

In Duplicate Bridge Club play Saturday at the Country Club Mrs. Sherman Taylor and Mrs. Hillery Phillips won high, and second place was a tie between Mrs. Robert Cox and Mrs. Gene Perry and Mrs. Clay Adams and Mrs. Jack Williams.

In play Sunday, using a Mitchell movement, the winners were Mrs. Robert Cox and Mrs. Tom Montgomery, north-south first, and Mrs. John Childress and Mrs. Gene Williams, second. East-west winners were Mrs. Gene Perry and Mrs. Kirby Moore and Mrs. Clay Adams and Mrs. Jack Williams, second.

Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Alford recently returned from a trip through the Northwestern States. They visited their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ketchum, in Paulina, Oregon, where they also visited with their grandson, Milton Ketchum, and his new bride of Walla Walla, Wash.

Debra Says

by Debra Price

Keep cool with cucumbers as days grow warmer.

The pulp temperature of cucumbers from the refrigerator can be 20 degrees cooler than the air outside on a hot day.

Cucumbers also make a low-calorie snack for waist-watchers—they have only 55 calories per pound.

An unpared cucumber contains a rich source of iron and vitamins A and C as well as other needed minerals and vitamins.

Cucumbers are available in two classes according to use—those used fresh for the table called "slicing cucumbers" and other varieties used for pickling.

Cucumbers are ideal accompaniments to summer meals.

For eating raw, slice or dice fresh cucumbers for relishes or salads.

Cut lengthwise into sticks with the skin left on or cut crosswise into discs, they add color to a relish tray.

Also slice them for use in sandwiches or serve with vinegar, salt and pepper. Store cucumbers in the refrigerator.

Try these recipes: SPRING VEGETABLE SALAD

- 1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
- 1 1/2 cups hot water
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup green pepper, diced
- 1/2 cup celery, diced
- 1/2 cup cucumber, diced
- 1/2 cup radishes, sliced
- 3/4 cup green onion, sliced

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Chill until syrupy. Blend in sour cream and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Add vegetables and pour into a 5- to 6-cup mold. Chill until firm. Makes six to eight servings.

CUCUMBER SALAD

- 1 package lime gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 cup chopped cucumbers
- 3/4 cup stuffed olives, cut up
- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Mix lime gelatin in hot water. When gelatin begins to congeal, stir in remainder of ingredients. Makes four to six servings.

CUCUMBERS AND SOUR CREAM

- 2 cucumbers
- 1 cup sour cream
- 2 tablespoons chopped pecans
- 2 teaspoons grated onion
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt

Peel cucumbers. Slice thin and chill. Mix other ingredients together. Toss all lightly. May be served on greens. Makes four servings.

The Revolutionaries

"He who shall introduce into public affairs the principles of primitive Christianity, will revolutionize the world."
— Benj. Franklin

Some Americans have called themselves "revolutionaries" and proclaimed their enmity toward "the establishment," including the Church.

They overlook the fact that Christianity stands out as the most revolutionary idea in history. Its method of reform is to make fundamental changes in the character and thinking of individuals.

This takes longer and is less exciting than bombs and manifestoes. But it has far more lasting results. Every church service is actually a lesson in improving the world, starting with one's self!

Why not give it a try next Sunday?

Texas Sheep

Goat News

As if coyotes aren't hard enough on lambs already on the ground, now researchers have shown the wily critters capable of preventing many livestock births entirely.

A Montana study of feces from 169 coyotes has found that 52.7 percent of the samples contain a microscopic parasite known to cause abortions and death in sheep, cattle, pigs and deer.

Different species of the parasites, Sarcocystis, infect different species of livestock. Because of similarities between types of the disease organism, the current practice is to identify the parasites' species by infesting test animals with suspect sarcocystis sporocysts, then watching to see which species of stock contract the disease. Symptoms include high fever, anemia and lack of appetite. Death, of course, is a relatively drastic symptom.

Sarcocystis parasites require two types of host in their life cycles--carnivores and herbivores. The carnivores ingest the cysts by eating the remains of infected prey. Protective membranes surrounding the parasitic organisms break down in the predators' digestive systems and the parasites reproduce in the hosts' intestines.

Myriad new generations exit in the carnivores' droppings to infest pasture and rangeland, where they are ingested by grazing livestock. It is these herbivores who actually suffer from the disease, induced as the parasites travel through the bloodstream to eventually lodge and become cysts in organ membranes. The process is repeated if another carnivore eats the remains of the diseased victim.

The Montana studies, headed by Montana Veterinary Research Laboratory scientist Dr. J.P. Dubey, echo other studies done in Utah, Idaho and disease symptoms in test sheep. Test cattle remained healthy up to slaughter, but necropsies showed sporocysts in their body membranes. By contrast, the previous Utah and Idaho studies induced the disease in test cattle, fatally in one case, but not in test sheep.

Research has already proven that coyotes can harbor and spread brucellosis, and these Sarcocystis studies reveal still another bad side of the destructive livestock predator.

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association has long urged stronger control measures for coyotes and other predatory animals. Such studies simply reinforce the need for control. TS&GRA hopes the powers that be will eventually recognize the importance of that need and act accordingly instead of persistently working at cross purposes with the realities of food and fiber production.

Summer skin care

Exercise proper skin care during summer months when emphasis on outdoor sports and the beauty appeal of suntans encourages people to spend more time in the sun.

Exposure to the sun can not only produce sunburn, but it also causes skin to age faster and increases the chance of skin cancer, says Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Damage caused by sun exposure is irreversible. Results may not occur immediately but will become apparent in later years.

Products are available on the market to screen or block harmful ultraviolet radiation which can cause sunburn. A sun screen can block 95 percent or more of the ultraviolet rays. A sun block is opaque and totally blocks ultraviolet rays and visible light.

For people who are sensitive to the sun, or who take certain drugs or hormones, or have a history of skin cancer in the family, sun screens and sun blocks are recommended.

Anyone under treatment for acne should be especially cautious with the sun exposure, Miss Rhoades cautions. Recent studies show that a prescription drug called retinoic acid or tretinoin used in the treatment of acne may increase the risk of skin cancer, especially when exposed to the sun.

Check medicine labels for this ingredient or consult a doctor for warnings, she advises.

Crockett County Care Center News

By Joan Nicholas
Activities Program Director

Sometimes I wonder why I didn't take a little vacation during the time I am attending night classes in San Angelo twice a week, as they seem to come around so quickly! Here I am, at midnight trying to put something together, having arrived home, had a bite to eat, fed "Biscuit" my cat, and now I am trying to recall the happenings of the week.

One thing is for sure - I am enjoying the classes and we have just completed several hours devoted to geriatric counseling, and counseling with families of new residents to make this important transition in their lives run as smoothly as possible.

Today I walked to work and back and figured that the four miles might defray the poundage accumulating from sitting for fourteen hours a week in car and class! I did miss Friday, was under the weather—but Ann Mayo kept things running as usual along with our good volunteers and I hear that Juana Hernandez won the Bingo gift certificate donated by The Teacher Store, and that Swede Lundgren won second prize. Congratulations!

Everyone tells me that they had a lovely Mother's Day with family visits and gifts. Opal Eversole was excited about company arrival all the way from California. It was a double celebration for her as she had her 76th birthday on Mother's Day. Liz Mary Pipes and Doris Karr were to host the birthday party Monday afternoon and Opal was the only May honoree! Before I left for San Angelo I did take a quick look at the beautifully decorated cake.

When Velma Marley came to crafts on Tuesday, she brought a host of lovely little pink roses for some of the rooms and out in the lobby. We again worked with decoupage but hope to get back to ceramics this Tuesday morning. Grace Dorsey was also present—how time flies, she was my first neighbor in Ozona over nineteen years ago.

This morning, my group was gungho for dominoes and forty-two. Usually on Monday mornings, everyone is trying to get wound up again from a lazy weekend as I go around on my morning pep-up visits, but not so this morning. Eleanor Bradford, instead of greeting me with one sleepy eye closed and one half open, pounced on me with gusto and said "go and get my chair, and don't take Mrs. Talley out until you get it!" Shorty Flores was singing at the top of his voice, and before I could turn around we had three tables of games going full blast. Nothing pleases an A.D.

more than a crowd of eager people!

It was a happy day to see our recently hospitalized patients returning to us—namely Sterling Baker, Edd Cade and Carlota Villareal. Unfortunately Enemencia Diaz is still in our hospital. We miss you Mencia!

August Prugel is becoming a little more familiar with his room location and had a pleasant surprise when Pete Jacoby came to visit him last Wednesday morning. It seems that when Pete was growing up the Prugels and Jacobys were neighbors and the boys were constant visitors in each others homes. August has a son James, in Austin, with whom he lived until coming to us recently, and another son, Emil, president of the Federal Land Bank branch in Sonora.

The Spanish speaking group, including Ramona Lugo, Mike and Elvira Pena, Frances Borrego, Jacinto Flores, Juana Hernandez, Delfina Lara and Carlota Villareal met in the Day Room Tuesday afternoon for Bonanza stories in Spanish on cassette tape, and the continuation will take place this Tuesday.

It is about time one of our bands, or both, appeared with us again. I am hoping to hear from Big lake any day on this. Also, in the not too distant future, Willena Holden has promised to bring her equipment down and give us one of her well known performances. This is a busy time with school functions abounding, so we must try to be patient! Anyone who can entertain on piano, organ, guitar, singing, etc. PLEASE call me. We need you all! And believe me, you too, will find it rewarding.

Pork prices brighten consumer food news

Beef prices have climbed to record highs, while pork prices are dipping to attractive levels, Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist, reports.

"Panic buying has helped push beef prices up, but they may drop a bit if consumer demand softens as some industry spokesmen believe it will," she says.

At the same time, consumers will see larger supplies of pork at lower prices throughout 1979 and into early 1980 due to increased pig production, she adds.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This week's price-quality trends at Texas grocery markets are the following:

BEEF -- Only scattered features are available, including chuck cuts, beef liver and ground beef which has higher prices due to short supplies of beef for grinding.

PORK -- In buying pork, look for a high percent of lean and little fat -- only enough to make flecks of fat in the lean. Choose pork that is firm and grayish-pink.

Features include end chops, whole loins, loin and rib halves and liver. Also expect values on center chops, whole loins, loin and rib halves and liver. Also expect values on center chops, fresh picnics and quarter-loin cut into chops.

In cured pork, watch for special prices on boneless hams, smoked picnics, bacon and frankfurters.

POULTRY -- Low prices appear on whole fryers and mixed fryer parts. Some stores feature turkey at attractive prices, while others offer it at reasonable prices.

High-quality protein at budget prices is today's egg buy. Specials may appear in most markets soon.

FRESH VEGETABLES -- Best buys at lowest prices are potatoes, dry onions, carrots, soft-shell squash, corn, cabbage, mustard, collards, turnips and greens.

In general, vegetable quantity and quality are up and prices are a bit lower.

FRESH FRUITS -- Strawberries are more plentiful, but watch prices. Two pints may be more economical than one-quart packages. Citrus prices are up as the season closes.

Prices are down a bit on cantaloupe, honeydew and watermelon, but the "really low prices" will come later. Pear prices are dropping, but watch quality. Avocado prices are a little lower, while apple and pineapple prices rose a bit.

GROCERY MARKET

AISLES -- Features include canned fruits and vegetables, spaghetti sauce, vegetable oil and sugar.

FROZEN FOOD SECTIONS -- Specials include several vegetables. Fish supplies are ample, but shrimp prices are relatively high.

DAIRY -- Features are milk, yogurt and several cheeses.

CONSUMER WATCH-

WORDS: In buying dry onions, look for bright, shiny and solid onions with dry crackly skins. Avoid those with signs of decay, such as moisture or mold around the neck or base.

Buy onions that are symmetrically shaped with thin necks. Those with double bulbs or thick necks are undesirable only because of waste, however.

County draws locations Fall webworms begin to show in Ozona for two wildcat wells

Crockett County drew locations for two wildcats and a confirmation, and confirmers were finalized in two areas.

Cummings Oil Co., Oklahoma City, will drill the No. 3 West, a 2,000-foot gas wildcat, 7/8-mile west and slightly north of the Tom T (Ellenburger) field and 15 miles north of Ozona.

Location is 4,620 feet from the north and east lines of Runnels CSL No. 1.

C.F. Lawrence & Associates, Inc., Midland, will drill the No. 1 University "H", a 1,700-foot wildcat, approximately 1,650 feet southwest of the depleted one-well Midway Lane, Northeast (San Andres oil) field and 16 miles north of Ozona.

Location is 990 feet from the south and 1,650 feet from the east lines of 18-45 University. Ground elevation is 2,656 feet.

The discovery, Tenneco Oil Co. No. 1-18 University was finalized Jan. 3, 1968 to pump 109 barrels of 32 gravity oil, plus three barrels of water, through perforations at 1,522-539 feet. It became depleted in Dec. 1971.

The Davidson Ranch multipay field gained its ninth 6200 Canyon producer and a 3/8-mile north extension to that pay with completion of Texaco Inc., Midland, No. 9 A.R. Kincaid Trust "D", four miles southeast of Ozona, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1,175,000 cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-liquid ratio of 359,712-1. Gravity of the condensate was 71.0 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 6,092-207 feet, which had been acidized with 5,000 gallons and fractured with 60,000 gallons and 110,000 pounds of sand.

Scheduled also as a 7890 Pennsylvania test, it was drilled to 8,100 feet where 5 1/2-inch casing was set, and plugged back to 8,050 feet. Location is 1,340 feet from the south and 1,100 feet from the east lines of 7-KL-GC&SF.

The Ecklaw (San Andres) field gained its current sixth producer and a 1,500-foot extension with completion of C.F. Lawrence & Associates, Inc., Midland, No. 1 Williams, 14 miles north of Ozona, to pump 41 barrels of 32 gravity oil, no water.

Production was from open hole at 1,402 feet, where 5 1/2-inch casing was set, and 1,421 feet, the total depth, feet, which had been acidized with 500 gallons.

It was drilled to 1,421 feet with 5 1/2-inch casing set at 1,402 feet.

Location is 1,871 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west lines of 38-OP-GC&SF.

The firm will drill the no. 1 Eck "59" as a 3/8-mile northeast stepout to the same field, 330 feet from the south and east lines of 59-OP-GC&SF. Contract depth is 1,500 feet; ground elevation, 2,579 feet.

Lung cancer increases in women who smoke

Although the number of women smokers has declined, those who do are smoking more, as the lung cancer death rate among women is increasing.

Most disturbing however is the increased rate of smoking by girls between 12 and 18 which nearly doubled between 1968 and 1974.

"As we begin our annual educational and fund-raising crusade we urge all women as well as men in their lives to give thoughtful consideration to these serious facts," declared Becky Childress, President of the Crockett County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

Heart disease, stroke, emphysema, cancers of the mouth and larynx are just a few of the other serious diseases women smokers are prey to. Women smokers also spend 15 percent more days sick in bed with less serious ailments, and lose nearly three times as many work days as women who don't smoke.

"Smoking by pregnant women is particularly hazardous for their unborn children," she said. "The nicotine and carbon monoxide in cigarette smoke retards the unborn baby's growth and affects its birth weight. The woman who smokes has a greater chance of having a stillborn infant that the woman who does not."

"That's one of the reasons the American Cancer Society has intensified its campaign against smoking through a new five-year program called TARGET 5."

"We urge those women who smoke to rethink their feelings about smoking. They should ask: 'What were my reasons for starting in the first place?' Then comes the hard question: 'Is it worth the consequences? Should I quit? If so, how?'"

The Society's Quit Smoking Clinics are being expanded throughout the country. Call any ACS office for information on these clinics—small groups of smokers who get together to break the cigarette habit.

"The evidence against smoking warrants thoughtful consideration by women of all ages who smoke," she said.

Fall webworms are showing up on trees, particularly pecan trees, in Ozona and Crockett County.

Large numbers of larvae (worms) can damage trees by completely stripping the leaves, explains Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Larvae group together and spin silken nests within which they feed for four to five weeks. Heavy infestations can defoliate trees and leave large unsightly webs throughout the tree.

Fall webworm moths emerge in early spring. They have a wingspan of about one-and-one-half inch and are delicate milky white in color. Some have their forewings peppered with small black dots.

Female moths lay from 500 to 800 eggs each. These are light-green to yellowish in color and are globe-shaped. The eggs are deposited in masses underneath leaves, usually near the tip of a branch. Egg masses are covered with hairs from the female's body, giving them a fuzzy appearance.

In 7 to 10 days the eggs hatch into small yellowish or (move from larvae to adult stage). Pupae may be found under bark, in cracks and crevices, or under debris. They are about three-fourths inch long, reddish brown in color and encased in a scanty cocoon of long hairs.

There are usually three to four generations of fall webworms along the Gulf Coast of Texas and Mexico, with pupae of the last generation going to diapause (hibernation) for the winter. Light infestations of fall webworms may be controlled by pruning out affected terminals while larvae are small and burning or crushing them. Heavy infestations may be controlled with malathion, carbaryl (Sevin) or zolon. For best results apply insecticide when larvae are small. Always read the label carefully before using a pesticide and follow all directions, cautions the agent.

The saxophone got its name from Antoine Joseph Sax, who worked in his father's 19th century musical instrument shop and invented several brass instruments.

Eggs are good buy now

Eggs continue to be outstanding food buy from both an economical and a nutritious standpoint. In fact, a high quality egg contains all the essential nutrients except vitamin C.

But consumers should know how to shop for "high quality" eggs, says a poultry marketing specialist.

Dr. David B. Mellor, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, says exterior egg quality is simple to determine. Make sure the shell is clean, unbroken and properly shaped.

Of course, interior quality is harder to evaluate. It's judged at the packing plant where an intense light is passed through the egg for examination of contents.

The consumer has to use the "break out test" to check interior quality, explains Mellor. Fresh eggs cover only a small area when broken out. The albumen in thick, standing high and firm around the yolk. It is frequently cloudy, indicating the carbon dioxide naturally present in a fresh egg hasn't escaped. As eggs age, the amount of thick white decreases and becomes thinner.

The white, twisted, rope-like strands in the albumen are chalazae. They are highly concentrated albumen cords which support the yolk in the center of the albumen. They are a natural part of the eggs, so there is no reason to remove them before cooking, says Mellor.

A high quality egg will also produce excellent results in cooking, has a good taste and odor when properly cooked, and gives maximum eye appeal to other dishes, notes the specialist.

Eggs are an outstanding protein buy in today's high food price market, adds Mellor.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

One of the most incredible baseball records of all-time was set by Shoeless Joe Jackson who had season batting averages in the major leagues of .387, .408, .395, .373, .354 and .382--AND NEVER WON A BATTING TITLE!...Jackson compiled those averages in the American League starting in 1910, but every season when he had such high averages, some one else had a better one...It seems unbelievable that a player who hit that well should not have won at least one batting championship--but Joe Jackson never did!

Here's a surprising fact...Did you know that when a good tennis player serves, the ball travels more than 100 miles per hour!...And, recent tests showed that some serves by great players measure up to 160 miles per hour!

Amazingly, a big league baseball pitcher once won EVERY game his team won over a complete season!... Pitcher Will White of Cincinnati won 43 games in 1879...Cincinnati won only 43 games that year--so White won 'em all!... There's a record that'll probably never be broken.

Soil Stewardship Week

Soil Stewardship Week, which had its origins more than 1500 years ago, will be celebrated in Crockett County and throughout the United States and its territories on May 20-27, 1979, according to an announcement by Billy H. Reagor, County Agent.

The theme for the 1979 celebration is "Interdependence," a concept endorsed by President Carter in his foreword to the descriptive Soil Stewardship Week booklet. The booklet and accompanying Soil Stewardship Week material is distributed by Conservation Districts to clergymen, lay leaders, civic and educational organizations and individuals interested in participating in the unique celebration.

"Americans have always understood the value of working together to achieve common goals," President Carter said. "We have learned that unity of purpose and mutual dependence are essential to our growth as a society of self-governing people."

"It is especially fitting, therefore, that interdependence...of city and country, of Americans and their resources, and of man and nature...is the theme of Soil Stewardship Week in 1979," the President observed. "Our nation can be thankful for our progress in repairing the damage we have done to our environment. But that is only a start. To achieve greater harmony with nature, we must continue to seek harmony with one another."

The concept of Soil Stewardship had its origins in the special Rogation Days set aside by the Bishop of Vienne, France, following bad weather and earthquakes that brought crop failures and widespread hunger to much of France some 1500 years ago. The Bishop called upon the people to offer prayers and penance, and to offer humble thanks to their creator "for the priceless gifts of soil, water, air and sunshine which make all living things possible."

While we are not faced with the immediate prospect of famine or hunger in the United States today, the reasons for Soil Stewardship commemorative activities hasn't changed very much, the sponsors believe. We still need to pause each year to express our thanks for the natural resources of soil, water and air which nurture our people and provide us with daily food and fiber necessary to carry on our daily existence.

Soil Stewardship Week has been sponsored in the United States since 1955 by the National Association of Conservation Districts, in cooperation with the nation's nearly 3,000 Conservation Districts.

The Scientists Tell Me ... Potatoes and Other Roots and Tubers Can Increase Our Food Supply

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Potatoes and certain other roots and tubers can help increase food production on existing cropland. With growing world population pressures and dwindling food and energy supplies, this marvelously productive food family deserves expanded usage by serious home gardeners as well as commercial producers.

Scientists say that more people can be fed from an acre of sweet potatoes than can be fed from an acre of rice, and with much less energy input.

If world population does grow by 2,000 million people in the next 20 years, as predicted, we'll need every advantage to feed them.

The root and tuber crops (potato, sweet potato, cassava, yams, taro, yautia) have amazing food potential, are relatively resistant to attack by pests, and produce high dependable yields with a minimum of such costly energy inputs as fertilizers and pesticides. For example, yields of as much as 57.5 tons of taro per acre have been grown under ideal conditions.

The corms of taro and yautia are comparable to the white potato in nutritive value.

It's true that at present most of the tropical root crops serve mainly as a source of calories, but efforts are being made to improve their nutritional content.

Many of them furnish other plant parts that are nutritious. For example, in parts of Asia the tips of the sweet potato vine are eaten as a delicious green vegetable. The young leaves of the "sweet" cassava varieties are edible as are those of yautia.

Texas, at present, grows only a small percentage of the white and sweet potatoes we consume each year. However we could readily expand the 21,000 acres now in production if growers were given enough economic incentive.

The present potato industry in Texas exists because of unique climatic conditions which allow production during months when other areas of the nation are unable to produce. In the Texas High Plains this period extends from early July, when shipments from California and Arizona begin to taper off, through August.

After this time, Texas is unable to profitably compete with the Columbia River Basin of Washington and other areas which are beginning their harvest. The principal reason for this inability to compete is the high cost of production of relatively low yields.

Texas' yields of marketable potatoes range from 150 to 175 hundred-weight (cwt) per acre, compared to over 400 cwt/A for the Columbia River Basin.

If yields could be increased, Texas could profitably compete with other areas and extend its growing season. Research is seeking to do this in a number of ways, including the development of new varieties.

To develop improved varieties specifically suited to Texas conditions, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has had scientists working on this problem since 1973.

They seek to develop an early, high-yielding russet potato variety with superior processing qualities, in order to help High Plains producers meet the demands of the present marketing period.

They're also developing a medium-to-late maturing russet potato with high yield and good processing qualities to expand the High Plains marketing period.

"Also needed are improved red and white potato varieties with superior shipping and processing qualities," according to Dr. Creighton Miller, an Experiment Station horticulturist in vegetable breeding.

A 47-cwt increase per acre with a 100% increase in yield of premium weight potatoes resulted from research with antitranspirants.

Dr. William N. Lips, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, who did the research, says this was due to continuous tuber (potato) enlargement made possible by elimination of stress between irrigations.

Other research is seeking to further increase yields through improved varieties, scientific fertilization, and better production and harvesting practices.

Lipe has already discovered that many producers are using too much nitrogen fertilizer with an adverse effect on quality of potatoes. He fertilizes only on the basis of soil test results.

Another finding was that West Texas potato growers can lose up to one-third of their potential yields if they use undersized seed pieces and wide spacings.

Random samples of machine-cut seed pieces being used by some growers were found to be less than one ounce in size. A minimum of 1 1/2 ounce is considered desirable for strong, healthy plants.

In tests, Lipe found that seeds of less than one-half ounce made 21 cwt per acre of 8- to 14-ounce grade potatoes, compared to 154 cwt from 1 1/2 ounce seeds, and 182 cwt from seed pieces over 2 1/2 ounces.

Spacing is another important factor reducing yields of Norgolds. Many varieties respond to higher density plantings by increased total yield but reduced yield of 8- to 14-ounce grade.

This has not been the case for Norgold russet and spacings of 7 to 8 inches have resulted in higher yield of 8- to 14-ounce grade, as well as total yield increases.

Two important problems in sweet potato production are extreme variability in root production and shape of roots at harvest.

Research by Dr. Don Patterson with the Experiment Station at Overton is aimed at discovering the means to improve both yield and shape of sweet potatoes.

In experiments to determine the feasibility of breeding for sweet potato weevil resistance, about 75 breeding lines have been rated each year for the past 5 years for crown and root weevil infestation at Yoakum, Texas.

Indications are that there is a 5-fold difference in weevil infestation between lines being tested.

Exposure of the root system of Red LaSoda potato plants to an 80% carbon dioxide and 20% oxygen atmosphere for 12 hours resulted in increased tuber formation.

Treatment of potato seed pieces in a similar atmosphere of carbon dioxide and oxygen resulted in an increase in sprout growth and tuber yield. This leads us to believe that such treatment of seed can increase both stand and yield in the field.

"We believe that research can give us the answers that producers need to greatly increase production of root and tuber crops that are so widely popular."

"We're Geared To Serve You Better"

MRS. GARY BARNES
...nee Jan Pelto

MRS. WADE CLAY RICHARDSON

Miss Jan Pelto became the bride of Mr. Gary Barnes in a Saturday ceremony in First United Methodist Church of Richardson. Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. Jack K. Jeanes of Richardson and the late Swede Pelto and Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Barnes of Dallas. The bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza over satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. The bodice and cuffs were heavily appliqued with re-embroidered French lace and beaded with tiny seed pearls. The applique was extended on the skirt and chapel-length train. The bride is a graduate of Ozona High School and received her bachelor's degree from Southwest Texas State University. She is a flight attendant with Delta Airlines. Her husband is a graduate of W.T. White High School and of North Texas State University and is employed as finance manager for an automobile dealership in Richardson.

Ms. Williams is bridge club hostess

Mrs. Jack Williams was hostess for bridge at the Country Club Thursday. Winning high was Mrs. J.B. Parker and second high went to Mrs. Joe Clayton. Mrs. Dave Matney was low and Mrs. Hillery Phillips won the bingo. Others playing were Mrs. Clay Adams, Mrs. Jim Bob Bailey, Mrs. Charlie Black, Mrs. George Bunger, Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. James Dockery, Mrs. J.J. Marley, Mrs. Ann Mayfield, Mrs. Beecher Montgomery, Mrs. Kirby Moore, Mrs. Byron Williams, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Gene Williams, Mrs. Larry Braden and Mrs. John R. Hunnicutt.

Texas tourist travel climbs

Texas tourist bureaus, already serving the highest volume of travelers in their 43-year history, experienced a 14 percent jump in demand this April compared to the same month last year. Most of the surge according to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, results from inquiries about gasoline availability.

Tom H. Taylor, director of the department's division that operates the tourist bureaus, said the bureaus have been swamped with inquiries about where to buy gasoline. "Actually," he said, "there's been no real problem so far, and our bureaus are able to advise travelers about any number of operating service stations in each bureau locality. However, there's no doubt that auto travelers are becoming more fuel conscious." "We've been urging more of a vacation and less of a trip," Taylor said, "and I think the public may be catching on." He said the concept, while especially useful for Texans, can be beneficial to visitors from out of state, too.

Milton Ketchum is married

Patti Lee Bardenhagen and Milton Lee Ketchum were united in marriage during a ceremony last month at Dalles, Oregon. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Dick) V. Ketchum of Paulina, Oregon, formerly of Ozona. Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Alford are the bridegroom's grandparents.

KITTY'S KORNER

[Con'td From Page One] contribute to that ideal situation, we will have done our community a service.

We are going to try. You can help too, by reporting suspicious acts or persons to the proper authorities. We'll do our part by publishing every criminal charge of public record.

Three dogs were poisoned in Chandler Addition last week. Two within minutes of each other. Some half-eaten Easter eggs were found and looked suspicious enough for officials to send them to be analyzed. The eggs were found in yards where children play.

If the dogs got out in pastures where poison is used to protect lamb crops it is one thing. If the report on the eggs comes back with traces of poison, it is another, and officials really have a problem. A problem they are going to need public assistance on. We will keep you notified. Meanwhile parents should exercise extreme caution to see that children do not pick up edible items outside their homes.

Schwartz-Richardson wedding ceremony

Miss Jane Schwartz became the bride of Wade Richardson in a ceremony Saturday evening at First United Methodist Church in Junction.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Richardson of Sonora and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Schwartz of Junction. Mrs. W.E. Friend of Ozona is the bridegroom's grandmother.

Maid of Honor was Kem Schwartz of Junction. Bridesmaids were Miss Clay Whitehead and Miss Amy Whitehead, both of Del Rio, Miss Kim Tomes of Houston, Miss Stephanie Forrest of San Antonio, Miss Jeanie Arnold of Dallas, Miss Cheryl Phillips of College Station, Mrs. Bob Price of Big Spring and Mrs. Steve Holz of Waller. Miss Lindsay Hart of Hereford was flower girl.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Wesley Richardson of Ozona. Ring bearer was Keith Wallace of Sonora. Groomsmen and ushers were Bryan Ator of College Station, Dan Davidson and Jack Baggett of Ozona, John Weston of Beville, Bob Whitten of Corpus Christi, David Wallace of Dallas, Joe Eustace of Dallas, Mort Mertz of San Angelo and John Crew of Austin.

A reception followed the wedding at Hill Country Fairground Pavilion.

Candlelighters were David Simon and Rob Spiller.

Following a wedding trip to St. Thomas, the couple will be at home in Sonora where they are in the ranching business.

The bride is a graduate of Junction High School and Texas A&M University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Sonora High School and also of A&M.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the Catholic Annex and was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Richardson, Wesley Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. F.H. Whitehead, Jr., Clay and Amy.
