In connection with apprehension of bank robbers--

R.L. Brown awarded for outstanding service

R.L. Brown, Police Communications Operator with the Ozona DPS, received the Regional Commander's Award for Outstanding Performance recently, for his part in the identification and apprehension of two bank robbers here January 10. Brown was performing his tour of duty January 10, when a young Negro male entered the office at mid-afternoon seeking travelers assistance. Brown informed the man he would need to get in touch with the Sheriff's Department to obtain such aid. The man left and returned to his vehicle where he talked with two other subjects. He then returned to advise Brown he and his companions thought they had enough gas to travel to the next town and would not need aid. He left the office and departed in the vehicle heading north.

As the car pulled away, Brown obtained the license of the vehicle and made inquiry through the Texas

Crime Information Center. While awaiting response from TCIC, he observed the vehicle's direction of travel as it turned west on I-10. A response from TCIC indicating the vehicle had been stolen in Houston. Brown advised a deputy sheriff about the stolen vehicle and the direction it took. Deputy Sheriff John Gayle, who has since resigned, gave chase and managed to stop the vehicle after speeds of up to 120 miles an hour. After an exchange of gunfire one subject was wounded in the chest and apprehended at the scene, the other fled on foot. A massive manhunt turned up the other suspect here in Ozona about 2:30 a.m. the next morning. Wounded in the arm, he had made it on foot the five miles back to Ozona and was hiding out near the rodeo arena.

The two suspects were brothers, Lester and Jerry Bell. The third man was identified as a hitchhiker and released. In the citation presented to Brown, he is commended for his alertness and efficiency which resulted in the capture of two suspects who, according to Louisiana authorities, were wanted in connection with two bank robberies, numerous armed robberies, and were also suspects in at least one murder. "If not for Brown's actions," the citation states, "the two suspects would probably have gone undetained. And if such were the case, there is no determining how many criminal acts and injuries to persons may have been committed before their apprehension."

"PCO Brown's performance during this incident reflects great credit upon himself, the Department of Public Safety and the State of Texas," the citation concludes.

New service for HBO subscribers

Still another interesting feature is being offered HBO subscribers of the Ozona Television System. It is a supplement to the HBO schedule offering viewers a wide variety of public information films that are informative, cultural and entertaining.

These series consist of individual films combined into one-hour shows. The programs are shown Mondays thru Fridays from 11 to 4 p.m., during the time HBO programs are off the air, and on Saturdays and Sundays 8 a.m. to 12 noon. The films are all professionally produced and sponsored by business firms, trade associations, government agencies and other organizations.

The services comes by way of satellite broadcast and from a different satellite from that transmitting HBO programs. It is from RCA SATCOM 1, a satellite approximately 22,000 miles high.

The Bell brothers were picked up by federal authorities. Lester, was picked up a few days after the incident. Jerry, whose wound required emergency surgery in a San Angelo hospital before a federal magistrate and returned to Louisiana following his recovery.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

This month may be difficult to keep everything watered sufficiently to help proper growth and bloom. And don't forget that evergreens need a deep soaking once every 10 days or 2 weeks.

I notice an article in August, Southern Living on the very popular Aaron's beard they call it. I've always known it as (Hypericum calycinum) Last fall we tried all nurseries for a few plants and none to be found. Finally, we put out roots at the county annex that Mrs. Lock gave us and I think everyone lived. They are an attractive evergreen with showy blooms that gives a touch of color for the summer and early fall. To control growth you can prune the plant back almost to the ground in early spring just before new spring growth begins. It will grow in full sun or a light shade does not flower as well. The plants need a well-drained soil and will not tolerate damp feet. They grow rapidly after first season or two. Revive faded caladiums for a second crop of colorful leaves late this summer. Do not fertilize or water for 2 to 3 weeks; then apply 1 tablespoon 5-10-10 per square foot of bed, and water well. Fresh leaves should soon appear.

Fall and winter berries-Pyracantha, holly, nandina, and other fall fruiting plants must be kept watered during dry spells to prevent premature fruit drop. Much to conserve moisture between waterings.

Prepare a planting area for strawberries this month so it will be ready for setting out plants in September. In our alkaline soil, adjust the pH to the desired range of 5.5 to 6.5. Also work in sand and organic matter to improve the soil structure. You may need a soil test. You can have perpetual indoor color this winter if your root cuttings of geraniums now. They should be well established by December. Make 4 to 6 inch cuttings from healthy stems, and remove leaves from the bottom half of each cutting. Fill 4-inch pots with a mixture of equal parts perlite, sand, and peat moss; water the mixture well to settle it. Make a small planting hole with stick or pencil and insert the cutting in the hole.

After this glorious most welcome rain, everyone should be grateful for the moisture and a few days of rest with the hose.

Debra Says

by Debra Price

Preventing medicine from deteriorating too rapidly is a key consideration in home medicine storage.

Over-the-counter (OTC) medicines usually are safe and effective for approximately two years-if storage conditions are favorable.

But if stored improperly, the medicine may lose quality faster.

Few OTC drugs have expiration dates printed for the consumers' information, so it is wise to print the purchase date clearly to keep track of their age.

Humidity and moisture speed deterioration of many drugs, especially tablets and powders. Vitamins are often sold in dark plastic containers to protect them from light.

In general, drugs need protection from intense light, heat and moisture. Some may need refrigeration.

The bathroom-a popular place to store medicines-is often steamy and warm.

The kitchen presents a better atmosphere, if the drugs are stored away from the stove-not above the refrigerator-and the kitchen is well-ventilated.

Cabinets with a special section used only for drugs should be clearly marked and set apart from regular food storage.

Wherever drugs are kept, a prime consideration is that they are out of reach of young children.

Some signs of deterioration may help consumers know when medicines shouldn't be used anymore.

Aspirin: a vinegar-like odor or the tablet may be puffy or have a change in color.

Liquid or syrup medicine: cloudy, residue collected on the bottom, and after shaking, the liquid immediately separates again.

Creams or ointments: Dry and caked means they are no longer effective.

Discard a drug with any sign of deterioration, rather than take a chance using it. The user does not know the effect that may result from chemical changes which have taken place.

To dispose of the medicine, flush it down the toilet, or dissolve it in water and wash it down the sink.

Also, rinse the container before throwing away.

Pre-schoolers to register at Ozona Community Center

Preparations are now underway for the new preschool year at the Ozona Community Center. The first day of Kiddie Klub (for 4-5 year olds) and Tinyville (3 year olds) will be September 4.

The educational director and lead teacher will be Mrs. Jewel Baggett. She brings to this position many years of experience as an elementary public school teacher with the Ozona School System. Working with Mrs. Baggett will be four teacher aides. Mrs. Stella Valadez and Miss Delfina Perez will work with the Kiddie Klub program. Teacher aides in Tinyville are to be Mrs. Beth Emanuel and another person yet to be determined.

There are to be some changes in the hours the preschool program will be in operation. Tinyville is to operate from 8 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. Monday through Friday. There will be two sessions of Kiddie Klub. The first session will be from 8 a.m. to 11:00 a.m., and a second session will be held from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Parents will have a choice of registering their 4-5 year olds in either session. Program service fees for any of the 3 hour sessions is $25 per month.

Registration for the preschool programs are scheduled for later this month.

Tinyvillers may register on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 21-22, and Kiddie Klub registration will be held Thursday and Friday, August 23-24. Any child registering in these programs must have been examined by a doctor within the past 12 months, and parents need to show evidence of this. Parents also need to bring their children's shot records. At the time of registration, the September program service fees will be collected.

who NEEDS this sign?

On a clear day when you turn into a dual-highway you know well, the "wrong way" sign may seem superfluous. Yet, for the stranger who doesn't know the area, when visibility is limited or driving conditions poor — that sign may avert a head-on collision.

The divided thoroughfare requires a new assessment of the dangers of confusion. It wasn't enough to design better highways. Men had to anticipate a whole new set of circumstances in which human error could invite disaster.

Our churches have been conscious of that kind of forward thinking for years. Religion is more than the quest for truth. It is the sound recognition of the costs, the hazards, of moral and spiritual confusion.

Part of following the right way is understanding why the wrong way is wrong.

Employees need more than work

Employees need more than work in their lives, points out Jenny Reinhardt, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Americans should seek self-fulfillment and emotional satisfaction from sources outside the world of work, she recommends, and they can improve happiness on the job.

Although the world of work is not designed to provide emotional satisfaction, some of the top corporations in the country spend thousands of dollars each year to provide human-relations training which does allow for improved personal happiness.

By offering training to improve interpersonal skills, companies as well as individuals enjoy enhanced productivity and intrinsic rewards, the specialist continues.

Employees improve their mental health and coping mechanisms on and off the job and companies benefit by having workers that relate more effectively with co-workers.

At the present time, most human-relations training provided by companies and agencies is for top-level executives only.

However, with the trend toward more self-growth and improved mental health, hopefully more companies will encourage in-service staff training that fosters emotional satisfaction—both on the job and off, Ms. Reinhardt adds.

Swede Lundgren, Grace Cotter and Carlota Villarreal are back with us from hospitals in San Angelo, all are on the mend, and we are so thankful.

We appreciate the group of Methodists who took over the Sunday afternoon service while their pastor was away; they were Mr. and Mrs. McCartney, Catharine Russell, Dorothy Montgomery, Lucille Harrell, and Georgia Kirby.

Last Thursday evening we again had the Jamie Knox Band to entertain, also our dancers were back with us—Leota Cox and Jean North. This is Jamie's newly formed musical group, and I hear they will be performing at the nursing home in Eldorado for their Fifth Annual Barbecue on August 17. I'm going to try and get over there and learn from daughter, Ruthella, how she puts this big event together, (and stays calm!)

Our sympathy is extended to Myrtle Post, one of our regular visitors, in the loss of her husband, Bailey.

I must thank Liz Mary Pipes for presiding over Bingo again last Friday. I was in the Center, but grappling with an emergency situation in the aquarium! I think the good Lord had mercy on me 'cos in walked Bill Cooper and, needless to say, I recruited him immediately! Thanks, Bill.

Bingo winners were: Elvira Pena receiving the gift certificate donated by the Auxiliary. Tied for second prizes were Mike Pena, Mary Pender, and Juana Hernandez.

In dominoes, the play at table No. 1 was close. Paul Cavin was first, Mary Pender second and five points behind were Ruby Cooksey and Mike Pena in a tie. The other table winner was August Prugel and Jessie Deaton wasn't far behind for second. Actually, our people never tire of this game. Monday afternoon, spurred on by his morning victor, August was instrumental in getting another game organized. I just record results of the Monday morning games on the bulletin board.

In Bible class, Wednesday, our lesson was on "How to Treat Our Enemies" with readings taken mainly from 2 Kings. We learned how the prophet Elisha dealt with this problem around 500 B.C. and how he set the right example for all who followed, including those of us living in the twentieth century A.D. We drew certain parallels from this valuable lesson.

There were no birthdays in June or July, but our August birthdays are: Pop Bonnell (4th), Leona "Granny" Carter (8th), Elvira Pena (11th), Eunice Graham (22nd) and August Prugel (27th). The party will be Monday, 3:30 p.m.

Other volunteers not named above, but serving during the week are: Mattie Cooper, Lois Lock, Alice Ross, Doris Karr, Velma Marley and resident, France Borrego who assisted in the beauty shop. Junior Auxiliary: Yvette Martinez and Doreen Watson.

NOTICE TO ALL VOLUNTEERS:

We have fixed up a new system for registering your service. Each one will have an index card in his/her name in a new card file. This gray box is on the nurses' station, so please enter details on these in future. If you just visit certain residents, other than family, this should be recorded also. This will facilitate the counting of hours served and residents served each month, and earn bonus points from the State Health Department toward our nursing home rating. It will also help when we make the awards again, next July.

Hot weather lawn problems

Summer means hot weather in Texas along with outdoor sports and long lazy days. It also means lawn problems—drouth, weeds, insects and diseases.

"Lawn problems can cause headaches for homeowners unless the problems are accurately diagnosed and properly treated before they become severe," points out Dr. Richard L. Duble, turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Dry spots, thin turf and weeds can result from improper watering, fertilizing and mowing practices," notes Duble. "Before applying a chemical to correct lawn problems, be sure that recommended cultural practices are followed."

Drouth stress most often occurs in mid-summer and shows up as wilted, discolored turf. Watering schedules should be adjusted to wet the soil to a depth of four to six inches, and only when the grass shows symptoms of moisture stress. Mowing heights might also be raised one-half inch to improve drouth tolerance in mid-summer.

"Lack of nitrogen or iron often creates a lawn problem. Grass with a nitrogen deficiency may have a pale color and be heavily infested with weeds."

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay
One of the least-known, and yet one of the most amazing records in big league baseball history is the one for a player handling the most chances in a row without making an error...The record is held by Stuffy McInnis who was once an American League first baseman...In 1921 and 1922, McInnis handled 1,700 consecutive chances without making an error! Just imagine handling 1,700 throws, pop-ups and grounders in a row without making an error...No one has ever come close to that record.

Oddly enough, the man who started one of the biggest sports ideas ever conceived, is hardly remembered today...Few people recognize the name of Carl Stotz of Williamsport, Pa...yet he is the man who thought of, and founded Little League baseball...Stotz started Little League baseball in 1939.

Here's quite a baseball oddity...There was once a pitcher who pitched only one complete big league game in his life—but that one game was, amazingly enough, a no-hitter! His name was Bobo Holloman

Perner receives certificate

Sam Perner, chairman of the Crockett County ASCS Committee, was recently presented a Certificate of Election for being re-elected to the County ASCS Committee. Members of the committee are elected for 3-year terms and at the completion of this term, Sam will have served 20 years on the Crockett County Committee. Serving with Sam on the County Committee are Earl Acton, Vice-Chairman and Erby Chandler, member.

ASCS County Committee members, elected by fellow farmers and ranchers, are part of the finest system of grass roots involvement in the federal government. Many decisions regarding programs administered by the ASCS are made at the county level. ASCS county committees now exercise a greater degree of local control in the administration of farm and ranch programs—a concept that is in best tradition of our nation, according to Van Wilson, local manager.

Sonora team wins first annual Ozona tournament

By Orlando DeHoyos

Commercial Contracting of Sonora trounced the Big Lake softball girls team by a score of 23-8 to capture the annual Ozona Girls Softball Tournament held this past Saturday. The tournament, which was held at the Ozona Little League field, drew a rather large and enthusiastic crowd despite the tournament's shaky start. The tournament, directed by Chris and Alice Martinez, fielded six teams including three local teams and offered a refreshing and entertaining look at girl's softball.

The Sonora team used good defense and timely hits as they defeated Ozona Waterwell, 6-3, in the first game of the tournament. Afterwards, the big hitting Purple Gang of Ozona fell six runs behind the Eldorado team in the first inning and never could quite catch up and consequently lost by a score 7-6. In the final first round game, the Big Lake squad cruised past the Ozona FM club, 13-7. Thus, the consolation final was played between two Ozona clubs, Ozona Waterwell and the Purple Gang. The Purple Gang used strong hitting to overcome the rapidly improving team of Waterwell by a score of 11-5.

In by far the most exciting and well played game defensively, Sonora shut out the Eldorado squad by a score of 3-0 to advance to the finals against the 2nd place Big Lake team which advanced to the finals with its initial victory over the young FM squad from Ozona. The FM team later lost to the Eldorado team by a score of 16-7 in the 3rd place game.

The games displayed a bit of everything, in regards to softball, throughout the entire tournament, such as several double plays, great catches and stops, one shut-out, and even a diving catch by a player after the ball had bounced out of her teammates glove. However, everything was well worth it as the team trophies were presented to the winning squads as well as to the fifteen all-tourney selections and one MVP selection. Receiving all tourney trophies included Debra DeHoyos, Delia DeHoyos and Joyce Tambunga from Ozona Purple Gang; Elizabeth Clark from Ozona Waterwell; Kay Thompson and Rea Lynn Dews from Ozona FM; Wee Wee, Pam, and Charlotte from Big Lake; Jill Yates, Mary, and Sherry from Eldorado; Tute Lumbreras, Bola Sentena, and Linda Duran from the championship squad of Sonora. Receiving the MVP trophy was the slick fielding and hard-hitting shortstop from Sonora, Jessica Robledo.

The tournament directors, Chris and Alice Martinez would like to gratefully thank all the sponsors of the trophies which include over 15 local stores, teams, agencies, and dealerships. They would also like to thank the umpires and announcers and everyone else involved in the making of the tournament.

TOP ROPER AT STATE 4-H HORSE SHOW was Will M. Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Black. He is shown here on the trophy saddle presented to the top roper. He accumulated the largest number of points in the breakaway and judged roping. Louis Bunger, another Ozona roper, won the breakaway roping and a trophy buckle.

Prevent football injuries

New rules and better equipment are slowly decreasing injury rates for Texas high school football players. But parents, players and coaches can do more to prevent injuries that occurred to more than 6,100 players in 1977.

About 7 percent of high school players were injured in 1977, compared to about 10 percent in 1973, said Bill Farney, state athletic director of the Interscholastic League.

Hopefully new rules will continue to reduce injuries.

One new 1979 rule is designed to reduce knee injuries by regulating blocking below the waist, Farney said in the August issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal.

Parents, coaches and players need to make sure such rules are followed in order to decrease knee and other major categories of injuries such as ankle and shoulder injuries. Jerry Julian, M.D., chairman of TMA's Committee on Athletics, said heat-related injuries also are a major source of problems, including death.

Few official rules protect players from heat problems so parents, coaches and players have to use common sense. The National Federation of State High School Associations says some steps to avoid heat illness include scheduling practices during cooler periods of the day, drinking lots of water during practice, providing rest periods of 15-30 minutes during a one-hour workout and cooling off immediately when signs of heat stress appear. Symptoms can include fainting, nausea, weakness, confusion and headache. Heat stroke, the most dangerous form of heat illness, has a major symptom that should be a signal for immediate first aid action. When the victim stops sweating and the skin is flushed and dry, cool the person down immediately and get medical help.

Football enthusiasts need to be alert to prevent other problems. Spear tackling is one especially tempting but dangerous practice.

Store canned goods in cool areas only

Don't store canned goods in a hot place, cautions Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Whether moving, going on vacation or having just too many canned goods on hand, storing them in the trunks of cars, garages, attics, near steam pipes, radiators, furnaces or kitchen ranges is not recommended, the specialist points out.

The best storage for all canned goods is a moderately cool, dry place.

The increase in temperature caused by storage in warm places may permit thermophilic organisms to grow. They grow best at temperatures between 15 and 250 degrees F. (8.3 to 13.9 degrees C.)

In canned goods, these thermophilic bacteria can survive the heating process. They cause gas formation in the canned good and a poor-quality product, Mrs. Sweeten explains.

However, they do not cause any significant public health threat. No toxins such as those produced by food poisoning organisms are produced by these bacteria, she adds.

Goat News

Predators, a perpetual problem for the sheep and goat industry, are a perpetual topic at industry meetings. The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association's annual convention in San Angelo recently was no exception.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown told convention attendees that the percentage of all sheep and goat losses attributable to predators has skyrocketed dramatically in the past 10 years. That assessment is based on a producer survey recently completed by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The first such survey since 1967, the TDA poll included responses from a large percentage of 1500 producers contacted.

Results of the survey, Brown said, show that predators, principally coyotes, were responsible for 58 percent of all 1978 sheep and lamb deaths, an alarming jump from the 25 percent recorded in 1967. Coyotes can claim discredit for almost half those losses, more, in fact, than can be attributed to weather and disease.

A recently-released environmental impact statement on predator control contained roughly 300 letters, about half from individuals and the balance from government agencies, organizations and institutions. No pun intended, but a goodly sampling of those from individuals read like they originated inside the walls of certain institutions; too.

Actually, the Fish and Wildlife Service, which collected the letters and published the impact statement, notes that there were a total of 1418 letters from "individuals." They declined to print 1288 of them in the statement, however, because they were "almost identical" duplicates of two other letters. The letter "writers" who engaged in this little exercise in duplicity were all opponents of predator control.

Many of the other respondents condemning predator control had obviously also let others do much of their thinking for them, judging from the fact that so many of them kept bringing up the same obscure points of complaint. Not that it would have been totally impossible for so many of them to have hit upon the same minor details—improbable, yes, but still possible. What gives them away is that they kept parroting each other, right down to the same sentences and even entire paragraphs.

Still, the apparent necessity these people felt to play copycat is not the most disturbing aspect of the letters. That distinction must be reserved for the high degree of ignorance so many of them displayed—especially when it's realized that Washington politicians and bureaucrats, in their own ignorance, will undoubtedly allow the poor thinking of such people to influence the future of predator control efforts.

Take for instance, the writer who demanded an end to predator control entirely, insisting that stockmen instead "train dogs and geese to guard duty."

Not was that by any means an unusual letter; most of the respondents insisted that livestock and livestock producers be controlled, rather than predators. A popular theme was that stockmen should be forced by law to manage their stock the way the urban letter writers think they ought to be managed—after all, who should be better qualified to dictate ranching procedures than a New Yorker who knows for a fact that meat comes from Safeway and livestock are just an excuse for crazy ranchers to murder helpless little coyotes?

Care in handling seafood

Seafood, whether oysters, shrimp or fish, requires extra special care, and any lapses in this special care can be disastrous, says a seafood consumer education specialist, Annette Reddell.

Once the consumer leaves the store, the investment must be protected, or all the careful handling leading up to the purchase could be for nothing.

Ms. Reddell offers these suggestions to keep consumers satisfied with what they buy:

First, if you buy fresh seafood, serve fresh seafood. Don't try to freeze it, or the premium price paid to get it fresh will be wasted.

If you want or need frozen seafood, there are many excellent commercial items available. These products were quick-frozen by professionals using equipment much more effective than the average home freezer.

When you do use frozen seafood, proper thawing is important. The best way is under cold, running water—never warm water.

Thaw it just enough for the pieces to separate easily. Thawing at room temperature increases the chances of spoilage.

If the trip home from the store is to take more than 30 minutes, take special precautions to keep the fish cool. A small chest with ice is perfect for this purpose.

Once the seafood is home, keep it under refrigeration or on ice.

If kept in moisture-proof and vapor-proof wrapping, seafood should retain its quality for 24 to 36 hours.

When charcoal cooking outside, never "freshen up" a fire by pouring a combustible liquid over smoldering coals. Instead, moisten a few pieces of charcoal separately with lighter fluid, then carefully add them to the grill.

A self-cleaning oven can help save energy during baking because of its extra insulation which is needed for the self-cleaning cycle.

Americans spend more for food

Americans spent $140 billion in food stores on domestically produced farm foods last year—11 percent more than the year before. The increase was the result of higher retail prices, since there was little change from 1977 in the volume of food purchased.

Another $68 billion was spent for farm foods in restaurants and institutions for a total outlay of $208 billion.

Of that $140 billion, farmers and ranchers received $55 billion—up $8 billion from the year before—or an average of 39 cents of each dollar spent in the grocery store for domestically produced farm foods in 1978. This was almost 2 cents more than in 1977 and the first increase in 5 years. Marketing costs took the remaining $85 billion.

Managing income for tax purposes

Managing farm and ranch income properly is vital to managing one's income tax liability.

Dr. Ashley Lovell, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, emphasizes wise management of all types of income during the current tax year.

Often livestock sales can cause problems in income management, says Lovell.

In 1977 and 1978, many Texas cattlemen were forced to sell excessive numbers of breeding livestock because of the drought. Normally, any gain realized would be recognized for income tax purposes. However, due to forced sales caused by the drought, if replacements are purchased within two years of the year of forced sale, producers can defer paying tax on the gain.

Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loan proceeds are considered as income the year they are received or the year a commodity is sold, whichever the producer chooses. The producer who chooses the first option can influence his taxable income situation by properly timing his commodity's entry into the CCC loan program. Once the decision is made, the producer must have IRS permission to change his election, Lovell explains.

According to the economist, a loss from a commodity hedging futures transaction is considered a necessary business expense. However, a speculative futures contract results in a short-term or long-term capital gain or loss. During 1979, a speculator should consider the six-month holding period required to establish a long-term capital gain or loss from liquidating a futures market contract.

The effect of additional off-farm income on an individual's tax liability situation should also be considered in income management. Such income may affect one's social security tax liability and future social security benefits.

A related concern is whether or not the off-farm income will enable one to "income average", says Lovell. Unless off-farm income offsets a poor yield or commodity price situation, income averaging may be necessary. On the other hand, a taxpayer may not qualify for income averaging if there is no off-farm income. Regardless, a taxpayer should compare this year's developing income situation against last year's in managing one's income tax liability.

The economist encourages producers to consult a tax accountant or attorney regarding business details.

Fabrics stretch for action

Popular fabrics stretch for action with increasing popularity, variety and availability, says Becky Culp, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Variety is the key with traditional non-stretch fabrics in the action. For example, think stretch corduroy.

Today's stretch fabrics are often created from the spandex fiber blended with others such as nylon or polyester, she points out.

The resulting action fabric usually stretches in both directions and can be styled into fashionable drapable or tighter form-fitting looks.

When selecting ready-made garments or fabrics for homesewing, check that the fabric recovers when stretched, the specialist recommends.

Stretch a short length, about four to six inches or 15 to 20 cm, against a ruler or marked length.

After stretching, check that the fabric returned to the same size.

He hears the silence. He sees the darkness.

He's the only one who can stop the killing.
